ROWAN HISTORY PROJECT . . . Dr. Stuart Sprague, standing, associate professor of history at Morehead State University, works with Michael Killian, an assistant librarian at MSU, on research for a history of Rowan County. Killian is among 12 graduate students involved in the history project this semester. He is a resident of Morehead.

Rowan County History Being Written At MSU

Researching and writing of the first definite history of Rowan County is underway at Morehead State University with 13 persons involved.

The project has been undertaken by Dr. Stuart Sprague, associate professor of history, and 12 graduate students enrolled in History 688, Historical Criticism, which Dr. Sprague teaches.

The class already is involved in research with early insurance maps of Morehead and Rowan County, old manuscripts, the history of Morehead State University and county censuses. Interviews with local individuals have published and early newspapers being started in Eastern Kentucky are being located. The project has received a research grant of $1,250 from MSU.

"This is quite a job for a group to undertake but the class is enthusiastic and eager," Dr. Sprague states. "We all are excited about the prospects."

Involved this semester in the year-long project are Pat Parke of Ashland, Michael Killian and Frank Flauto of Morehead, Ron Thomas of Flemingsburg, Nina Poynter of Worthington, Charles Perry of Tolleboro, Lucian Yates of Harrodsburg, Connie Caudill of Mount Sterling, Carolyn Stull of Sharpburg, Randy Burke of Jenkins, Anthony Vacca of Newark, N.J. and James Holtzman of Johnstown, Pa.

Dr. Sprague said the class needs documentary material of all types. Of special interest are photographs, diaries and newspapers. Donation or loan of the material is satisfactory.

Any items contributed permanently will be placed on display in the Kentucky Room of MSU's Johnson Camden Library. Loaned material will be returned as soon as possible. Persons assisting in the research will receive credit in the publication, Dr. Sprague added.

Material should be sent to Dr. Stuart Sprague, UPO 846, MSU, Morehead, Ky. 40351.

DEAR EDITOR: Saul Seifeff has long run a restaurant at 300 S. Second and I have eat with him for night on 40 years.

During the depression he sold plate lunches (meat, two vegetables and drink) for 25c. Now that same thing costs $1.50 at Saul's Place.

Saul says he ain't making money because of high prices he pays for meat produce, bread, milk and everything. But, his biggest complaint is that since this recession set in people aren't tipping his waitress, and they don't show up for work, or one quits almost every day.

Going through some old memories I came across the following, which a manufacturer at Ashland once posted on the employees bulletin board -

TO: All Personnel
DATE: As of now
SUBJECT: New Sick Leave Policy

It has been brought to my attention that the attendance record of this department is a disgrace to our gracious benefactor, who at your request has given you your job. Due to the lack of consideration for your job with so fine a company as shown by such frequent absenteeism, it has become necessary for us to revise some of our policies. The following changes are in effect as of today:

SICKNESS . . . No Excuse - we will no longer accept your doctor's statement as proof, as we believe that if you are able to go to the doctors you are able to come to work.

DEATH . . . (OTHER THAN YOUR OWN)

There is no excuse. There is nothing you can do for them and we are sure that someone else with a lesser position can attend to the arrangements. However, if the funeral can be held in the later afternoon, we will be glad to let you off one hour early, provided that your share of work is ahead enough to keep the job going in your absence.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE - For An Operation . . . We are no longer allowing this practice. We wish to discourage any thoughts that you may have about needing an operation as we believe as long as you are an employee here, you will need all of whatever you have and you should not consider having anything removed. We hired you as you are and to have anything removed would certainly make you less than what we bargained for.

DEATH . . . (your own) This will be accepted as an excuse, but we would like two weeks' notice as we feel it is your duty to teach someone else your job.

ALSO, entirely too much time is being spent in the restroom. In the future, we will follow the practice of going to the restroom in alphabetical order. For instance: those whose names begin with "A" will go from 8 to 8:05, "B" will go from 8:05 to 8:10 and so on. If you are unable to go at your time, it will be necessary to wait until the day when your turn comes again.

First Burley Sales Scheduled Monday

Burley sales at Morehead's three tobacco warehouses, and throughout the eight-state burley belt, will be held Monday.

Sales also will be held on Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday of the first selling week. No sales will be held Thursday because of Thanksgiving.

During the rest of the selling season, sales will be conducted the first four days of each week - Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Sales will recess Dec. 19 for the Christmas holidays and will resume on Jan. 6 and continue until the crop is sold, which is usually in early or middle February.

Each sales day will be limited to 8 1/2 hours of actual bid taking.

The warehouses at Morehead are expected to sell between nine and 10 million pounds this year, or perhaps 10 per cent less than last selling season. However, Morehead has continually gained in sales for more than a decade.

Growers are expecting a considerably higher price than last year's average of $92.92 per hundred pounds. The higher bids are expected because of increasing sale of cigarettes, low inventories in tobacco manufacturers warehouses, short crop due to unfavorable weather conditions, inflation, and foreign buyers, particularly from Japan and West Germany.

Weighing began last Friday at the Morehead warehouses and at others throughout the belt.

Court Will Make Judgment In Proposed Bond Issue

A civil suit, which was authorized last week by Morehead City Council, was filed Monday in Rowan Circuit Court for the purpose of the City receiving a declaratory judgment in connection with the proposed $5 million industrial revenue bond issue of the City for the new Browning Manufacturing plant being constructed here.

City Attorney Paul Blair said the suit will determine "the code" for making a final determination on several questions of fact regarding the proposed revenue bond issue so that those questions of fact can not be legally raised in the future.

The factual situations that the court will determine are - that unemployment does exist in the City or within its surrounding economic area; that the sale of industrial revenue bonds and the use of the proceeds thereof to construct the industrial plant will be a method of relieving the conditions of unemployment; and that the sale of the bonds will encourage the increase of industry within the state of Kentucky.

The City of Morehead is the plaintiff in the suit, and Glen and Ann Buckner of Morehead have agreed to be defendants, serving as representatives of the taxpayers and citizens of the community.

A notice of the suit will be published in the Morehead News for the purpose of giving other residents of Morehead, who desire to do so, a chance into court and become defendants in the action.

Zoning Commission Taking Action On Coal Operation

The Morehead-Rowan County Planning and Zoning Commission will hold a public hearing at 7 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 5, in the courtroom of the Rowan County Courthouse.

The hearing is for the purpose of considering the adoption of an interim zoning plan for presentation to the Morehead City Council and Rowan Fiscal Court.

The plan is as follows -

"In order to protect the public waters and air in and about the City of Morehead and to safeguard the general health, welfare and protection of the City and its residents contiguous thereto, it is ordered that no commercial mining of any nature, deep or strip, or any commercial mining operation, including tipping, loading or unloading facilities, and storing of mining products, of any nature, be permitted or allowed within a radius of 1/4 mile contiguous to the entire boundary and corporate limits of the City of Morehead."

Green Thumbers Offer Talent And Experience

The greatest productivity for minimum cost . . . that's the dream of every enterprising businessman. And that's what Rowan County is getting from Green Thumb, Inc. a federally funded program that employs men 65 years and older, recruited by the Department for Human Resources (DHR), Bureau for Manpower Services.

"Where in all the world can you get this accumulated experience and dedication, and for only two dollars an hour?" asks County Judge Otis Caldwell.

Funded under Title IX of the Older Americans Act, Green Thumb, Inc. employs men to restore and reclaim natural resources. They assist in community improvement projects and are ready to offer their talents and experience in any instance where an established service is not available.

Since its beginning in Rowan County, the 13 members employed in the program have built 24 bridges, cleared and erected a picnic area on a 10-acre site near Farmers Ky, and cut out more than a 100 miles of roadside brush.

One particular project is viewed with special pride by the Green Thumbers. Spanning Christy Creek is a new 275-foot suspension bridge. When word reached the County Judge's office that the habitants on the far side of the creek were having difficulty fording it in icy weather and were cut off when spring rains had poured down the valley, he promptly called on Green Thumb for a solution.

"I had some reservations," says Judge Caldwell, "but it wasn't long before I began to see the importance of this program."

Judge Caldwell relates how the men reported for work each morning in fair and inclement weather and how they went about their tasks with all the enthusiasm of men younger than they. "They're not clock watchers," he says. "Many a time we had to go out there and remind them that it was time for them to knock off."

"I'll tell you that," he says. "This county couldn't afford to hire these people and pay them what they're worth."

Harshal Moore, superintendent of the crew, sums up the attitude of the men. "We've grown up in Rowan County, and the land and the people have been good to us. Now that we've got leisure time we can repay them by making the county a more attractive place for the younger generation."

BRIDGING THE GAP . . . A new swinging bridge over Christy Creek of Ky. 32 has been erected through Green Thumb, Inc. federally funded program under Title IV of the Older Americans Act by men 65 years and over. The workers are recruited by the Department for Human Resources' Bureau for Manpower Services. The new bridge was constructed by Rowan County Green Thumbers.

M'head Post Office Stops Delivering Postage Due Mail

The Morehead Post Office, as well as post offices throughout the country, has discontinued delivering mail on which there is no postage.

A new policy announced last month by U.S. Postmaster General E. T. Klassen said, "It is unfair to burden the vast majority of mailers with costs created by the few who mail without prepayment of postage."

Letters mailed without postage are being returned to the sender if there is a return address, or to the dead letter office, instead of being delivered to the address as postage due mail as has been the custom.

Postal officials will attempt to find the sender of unpaid mail and return it for a light fee, if there is no return address.

The officials are urging all mailers to include a correct return address should a stamp come off in the mail or be inadvertently omitted prior to being mailed.

A car belonging to Diana Cox, 507 West Main Street, Trailer No. 1, was broken into about 4:30 a.m. Wednesday (yesterday) and items valued at $350 stolen.

Re: T.V. Cable service in Rowan County

Dear Editor:

Because of the strong interest which our constituents have shown regarding the possible discontinuance of television cable service to certain areas of Rowan County, the undersigned members of the Rowan Fiscal Court wish to make known their position on this matter by this letter to the Morehead News.

After examining some of the financial records of Morehead T.V. Cable, Inc., and conducting our own inquiries relative to the necessity of a T.V. Cable rate increase the below signed members of the Rowan Fiscal Court hereby announce that should Morehead T.V. Cable, Inc., discontinue service to the areas of this county which have previously designated, this Court intends, pursuant to paragraph 15 of the franchise of said corporation, to declare the service rendered by said coporation to be unsatisfactory, and, if service is not reinstated within 60 days after the corporations receipt of our notice of same, this Fiscal Court intends to cancel said franchise and invite bids from other television cable service company's which would express a desire to serve Rowan County with competitive rates for such a service.

Sincerely,

Eddie Thomas

1040 U.S. Individual Income Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q. Can I begin making tax deductible contributions now to an individual retirement savings program under the new provision?

A. No. The legislation does not permit such contributions until January 1, 1975. Starting next year, both employees and self-employed persons receiving compensation will be able to establish individual retirement savings programs if they are not covered under an employer plan. Government plans or certain annuities.

Q. While looking for a new job, I've had to pay for transportation to interviews, duplicate...

A. No. Job-hunting expenses—those you incur with the hope of future employment—and fees paid to employment agencies for seeking, rather than securing new employment, are not deductible. The fee you pay to an agency for actually getting you a new job is deductible.

Q. Which fees that I pay to my broker are deductible income-producing expenses?

A. No. Job-hunting expenses—those you incur with the hope of future employment—and fees paid to employment agencies for seeking, rather than securing new employment, are not deductible. The fee you pay to an agency for actually getting you a new job is deductible.

Q. I just found an error on an income tax return I filed two years ago. Is it too late for me to file an amended return to correct this mistake?

A. No. An amended return or refund claim (Form 8879 of 1040-X) must be filed within three years from the date you filed your original return (in return filed early is considered to have been filed on the due date) or within two years from the time the tax was paid, whichever is later.

Spirited COOKING

Sandwiches Sublime

Here's a sandwich idea that's really hot dog, even though it's full of bologna. It should cut the mustard with the whole family, especially for taking along on picnics or sandwiches in between innings or TV shows.

GIANT "HOT DOG"

1 whole bologna, about 3/4 pound
1 can (1 pound) sauerkraut, drained
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion dash of pepper
1/4 cup gin
1 long loaf French or Italian bread
Mustard

Place bologna in a skillet and cook over medium heat, turning occasionally, until browned and heated through. Meanwhile, rinse sauerkraut in cold water; drain well. Combine in a saucepan with chopped onion, pepper and gin. Heat through. Slice bread lengthwise. Place whole bologna in bottom half. Make a lengthwise slit, about 1 inch deep along top of bologna and fill with hot sauerkraut mixture. Cut into sections to serve, with remaining sauerkraut on the side. Serve with mustard. Makes 3 to 4 servings.

Morehead Man Certified As EMT

Kentucky's Department for Human Resources (DIR) has certified James D. Robinson Jr. of Morehead as an emergency medical technician (EMT).

He is among 1,900 persons who have completed DIR's Bureau for Health Services EMT training program. The course is intended to prepare ambulance attendants, rescue squad members, and public safety personnel to provide life-sustaining care until the patient can be taken to a physician or hospital.

For 12½ weeks, students receive 71 hours of classroom instruction and 10 hours of in-hospital observation. More than 20 hours of subject material are presented on videotape prepared by physicians from the UK Medical Center.

"Successful completion of the state's EMT course qualifies students to take the written and practical examinations for the National Registry of EMT's," says Thomas Thompson, EMT project training director with Emergency Medical Services. "Our students who pass the state course are also doing well on the national exams."

Under the "Good Samaritan Law" passed in 1972 by the General Assembly, EMT's are exempt from liability in civil damages for administering emergency care or treatment when pay for such services is neither expected or given.

MISHAP NEAR OWINGSVILLE FATAL TO ASHLAND MAN

A 56-year-old Ashland man was killed early Saturday morning when the truck he was driving veered out of control and toppled over a 150-foot embankment near Owingsville.

Phillis (Phil) Wells, 856 Montgomery Ave., Ashland, was pronounced dead at the scene at 6 a.m., three miles west of Owingsville on Interstate 64.

An employee of Wayne Supply Co. of Ashland, Wells was driving a two and one-half ton company-owned truck at the time of the accident. Police said the victim was traveling east on I-64 when he went into the emergency land, down the guard rail about 100 yards, crossed back to the north side of the highway where he went through a bridge abutment and dropper over the embankment to Kendall Springs Road beneath.

what's the use?

Hospitals have found a new use for foam cups that works well at home, too. A large foam cup filled halfway with water or concentrated juice, capped and frozen so the fluid's at an angle, will produce enough rock-solid ice to keep contents cool for hours. Perfect for picnics because of its light weight and temperature retaining qualities, a foam cup filled this way provides enough ice for many refills. It eliminates carrying leaky bags of ice cubes, too. Foam cups replace the old ice-cube-tray system in many hospitals with studies to show the foam cup-for-ice-water method to be three times as sanitary, more economical and easier to handle. Why not try the idea when someone is ill, and always keep some in the freezer ready for any thirsty member of the family now that you'll all be spending more time out of doors.

Football Eagles Finally Break Losing Streak

Morehead State University's football Eagles made last Saturday's final home appearance a successful one with a 30-15 win over Wisconsin-La Crosse.

The Eagles rolled up 370 yards in total offense and raised their record to 3-7 overall. MSU is 1-5 in the Ohio Valley Conference.

"We finally came up with a big play," said MSU Head Coach Roy Terry. "It has been lacking all season but we finally managed to sustain a drive or two."

Sophomore quarterback Terry Flowers, in his first starting assignment, completed nine of 15 passes for 151 yards and two touchdowns. His scoring strikes went to tight-end Keith Mescher and flanker Mark Alterburger.

"Terry did a fine job of directing the offense," said Terry. "He threw the ball well and generally we were quite pleased with his performance."

Tailback Frank Jones rushed for 127 yards in 30 carries and ran his season total to an even 1,000 yards. The stocky senior from nearby Owingsville needs 126 yards this Saturday to establish a new school record for rushing yardage in a season.

Linebackers Mike Jackson and Jerry Spatch led the Eagle defensive effort against La Crosse. Jackson recovered a fumble, blocked a pass and snared one of the four Eagle interceptions.

Spatch recorded nine tackles and three assists and blocked a field goal attempt.

"Our defense also came up with the big play," said Terry. "We have been lacking in interceptions this season and those four were good to see."

Defensive back Cal Long swiped two passes and end Steve Fleak grabbed another.

The Eagles close the season Saturday against arch-rival Eastern Kentucky at Richmond.

MSU has not beaten the Colonels since 1971. Saturday's meeting will be the 45th time. Game time is 1:30 p.m. EST at EKU's Hanger Field.

EKC Tourney Opens Monday

First round play continues Tuesday with Fleming County meeting University Breckinridge at 7 p.m. and East Carter going against Elliott County at 8:45 p.m. Quarter-final play begins Wednesday with Salyersville meeting the Lewis County-Maysville winner at 7 p.m. and Rowan County facing the West Carter-Menifee County survivor at 8:45 p.m.

Semi-finals are scheduled Thursday night and the championship game will be Saturday at 7:30 p.m.

The EKC women's basketball tournament will be held Dec. 4-7 at Rowan County High School.

Soccer, Volleyball Teams At MSU Win State Titles

Championship!

That sweet-sounding word was a distinct part of Morehead State University's athletic vocabulary last weekend as the Eagles won state titles in soccer and women's volleyball.

Laradean Brown's volleyball squad upset Eastern Kentucky to capture MSU's first state women's title in any sport.

"It was a great team effort," said Mrs

Brown. "We simply had outstanding play from our young players."

The Eagles marched past Kentucky State, Kentucky, Murray State, Louisville and EKU on their way to the title.

MSU advances to the Region II volleyball tournament this Friday at Eastern Region II consists of Kentucky, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee and Virginia.

MSU Basketball Season Tickets Now Available

Basketball season tickets are on sale at Morehead State University. Tickets for all 14 home games are $49 per seat. MSU opens the season Nov. 29 at home against Northern Kentucky.

Single-game tickets go on sale after Dec. 2. A reserved seat is $3.50 per game. Tickets may be ordered from Athletic Ticket Manager, MSU, Morehead, Ky. 40351.

The Eagles return two starters from last year's Ohio Valley Conference co-champions and new Head Coach Jack Schalow is optimistic about his first season.

"We think we will be competitive with every team on our schedule," said Schalow.

The home schedule includes: Nov. 29, Northern Ky.; Dec. 5, Baptist; Dec. 7, Akron; Dec. 16, Louisiana Tech.; Jan. 11, Murray St.; Jan. 13, Austin Peay; Jan. 22, Ball St.; Jan. 25, Tenn. Tech.; Feb. 3, Georgia St.; Feb. 15, Middle Tenn.; Feb. 17, Western Ky.; Feb. 22, East Tenn.; Feb. 26, Marshall; and Mar. 1, Eastern Ky.

Vikings Host Nicholas In Opening Home Play

Rowan County High's Vikings open their home season tomorrow (Friday) night, hosting the Nicholas County Blue Jackets.

Viking coach Zane Collins' team consists of eight returning lettermen and five sophomore hopefuls. Top returning player is 6-4 senior Daryl Thompson who averaged 14.1 points and nine rebounds a game last season. Thompson, however, has a throat infection which will keep him out of action for about three weeks.

The Vikings will exhibit one of the tallest teams in eastern Kentucky, with 6-5 senior Randy Barker, 6-4 junior Keith Skillern, 6-3 junior Don Haney, and 6-1 junior Chuck Gilley making up the front of the RCHS 1-3-1 offense. 5-10 junior guard Steve Hodges will direct operations from back court. Hodges averaged 9.2 points and over six assists a game last year.

Coach Collins, named Eastern Kentucky Conference "Coach of the Year" last season after piloting the Vikings to a 14-16 record (despite the loss of all-star Jerry Ravenscraft early in the year), anticipates a successful season. "We are going to win ballgames because of our size," he says. "We're not too fast and don't have many good shooters, but we hope to get a lot of second and third shots at the basket. We'll play mostly a zone defense which should make our opponents try to shoot over our big men."

Other Vikings expected to see a lot of action are senior guard Jim Kerns, 5-8 and senior forward Danny Kiser, 5-11. Kiser, better known for his baseball prowess, has not played basketball prior to this season; and Kerns has very little experience. Rounding out the varsity squad are 6-0 Billy May, 5-9 Robert Thomas, 5-11 Danny Wallace (all fresh from the football team), 5-8 Ronnie Day, and 6-0 Gerald Conn. All of the previous are sophomores.

The Vikings enter next week's EKCC Tournament as defending champions. They will play the winner of the West Carter-Menifee County game at 8:45 p.m. Wednesday night. Coach Collins feels the addition of Lewis County, Fleming County, and Maysville to the conference makes the EKCC one of the strongest in the state. "Fleming County won the 10th Region last year, and Maysville is always powerful," he said. "It's going to be an interesting tournament and an exciting year for Viking basketball fans."

Tipped for Friday night's game is 6:30 for the jayvees and 8 o'clock for the varsity game at the RCHS gym.

SOPHOMORE SLINGER. Morehead State University sophomore quarterback Terry Flowers fires a pass during MSU's 28-15 win over the University of Wisconsin-La Crosse. Flowers, in his first collegiate start, completed nine of 15 passes for 151 yards and two touchdowns. A product of Dayton Roosevelt High School, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Flowers, 153 Edison St., Dayton, Ohio.

Annual UBS Talent Show Set Friday

The University Breckinridge School's elementary talent show is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Friday in the Breck auditorium. The theme for this year's production is "A Galaxy of Talent." More than 36 acts have entered and will be judged by a panel of three judges. This is an annual event that strives to provide the elementary students with an opportunity to appear before an audience, to develop a healthier respect for entertainers in general, to develop poise and confidence, to encourage creativity, and to develop a desire to share feelings and ideas with others.

Vol. 81 MOREHEAD, KENTUCKY, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 21, 1974 No. 47

FAMILIAR SCENE . . . Persons who travel Morehead's Main Street no doubt have seen Rowan County's oldest citizen sitting in an antique wicker rocker on the front porch of his home at Main and Trumbo streets. The home, built in 1918, is the second oldest brick house in Morehead.

Rowan's Oldest Citizen Recalls Bygone Days

Journalism students at Morehead State University have written series of feature articles about Morehead, Rowan County and the area. The following (by Patricia Cox) is one of the series.

You can find him any sunny day sitting on his porch at the corner of Main and Trumbo streets. He is Norman Wells, a man who looks much younger than his 98 years, and who has a phenomenal memory and a zest for talking with people.

"I used to know everybody in Rowan County," he says. "Now I wouldn't know 25 people." Folks were friendlier back when I was younger. It's been at least 10 years since I've shook hands with anybody."

Wells lives in Morehead's second oldest brick house, which he built in 1918.

"I can remember when the streets of Morehead were dirt roads and it wasn't unusual for animals to run loose," says Rowan County's oldest citizen.

Former Rowan Sheriff

In 1917 he was elected sheriff of Rowan County. "I collected taxes and kept the peace," he remembers. "Once I captured 45 moonshiners at one time. I received my information of their activities from their wives who didn't like them going over the hill and coming home drunk."

Asked if he had ever come face to face with a hardened criminal, he related, "Once we heard this crook was coming into town on the train. My deputy and I went down to meet him. He saw us and shot my deputy in the side. I got him in the hip. As he fell, his leg

Thanksgiving Dinners Set At 12 State Parks

Twelve Kentucky state resort parks have set out to free housewives from the hours of stuffing and basting that go into their annual battle with the Thanksgiving turkey.

The dining rooms at Kentucky Dam Village, Lake Barkley, Rough River Dam, Barren River Lake, Cumberland Falls, General Butler, Lake Cumberland, Carter Caves, Greenbo Lake, Jenny Wiley, Natural Bridge and Pine Mountain State Resort Parks will be, in the words of one park chef, the "hiding place" from the kitchen for housewives this Thanksgiving.

Roast young tom turkey will be served with Kentucky cornbread dressing and cranberry sauce; the only work a housewife or any member of the family need do is raise a fork.

Folks who want to break with tradition can choose between baked Bluegrass sugared ham with holiday fruit sauce, and Pilgrim roast of beef au jus carved on the line.

There will be assorted congealed and tossed garden green salads, and a relish tray with stuffed celery, olives, radishes and pickles.

Vegetables accompanying the three entrees will be old-fashioned candied yams, Kentucky wonder green beans and Marylander whipped potatoes.

To finish the meal and satisfy any sweet tooth, Kentucky rifle rum cake, mince pie and pumpkin pie will be on the menu.

Dinner will be served in the resort parks from 12 noon to 2 p.m., at $1.95 for adults and $2.25 for children. No reservations are necessary.

Bicentennial Ball Will Feature Gordon Macrae

One of the master crooners of all time, Gordon Macrae, who became famous singing "Oklahoma" and "Oh, What a Beautiful Morning," is coming to Kentucky. Steve Wilson, the honorary chairman of the Kentucky Bicentennial Ball, announced today that Macrae will make an unprecedented performance in the Rotunda of the Capitol Building at the Bicentennial Ball on December 14.

The Ball will also feature the 60 piece Lexington Philharmonic Orchestra, and the "Re-Generation," a young group of patriotic singers who have stolen the hearts of millions performing with Roy Rogers and Dale Evans, Miss Kentucky 1974, Darlene Compian, and Miss Kentucky 1973, Lydia Lewis, will also entertain and serve as anchorwoman for the televised portion of the evening.

Mrs. Paul Westpheling, executive director of the Kentucky Historical Events Celebration Commission (KHECC) announced that no state funds will be spent on the celebration and that all cost will be paid by admission charges and sponsors.

She predicts that the Ball "will be the grandest and most significant event of its kind in central America. We in the KHECC have worked hard to commemorate the year of our first settlement and our proud heritage and we think that this will be a fitting way to reward the people in all of Kentucky's counties who have worked so hard to make their local events and our statewide programs so successful."

The Ball will be preceded in the afternoon by champagne receptions and tours of historic Frankfort homes, which will be opened especially for the patrons of the Ball. Governor and Mrs. Ford and Lt. Gov. and Mrs. Carroll as well as other noted Kentuckians will arrive at the Capitol in horse drawn carriages.

Kentucky Inmate Recipient Of National Jaycee Award

By Herb Brock

A Kentucky inmate has been named the first recipient of a newly created national Jaycee award recognizing outstanding contributions to the organization's alcohol education campaign.

George Maggard of Louisville, an officer of the inmate Jaycee chapter at the Kentucky State Reformatory near LaGrange, recently was awarded the "Operation Threshold" Award for leading a campaign (by the same name) seeking to rehabilitate and reform alcoholics and problem drinkers.

Maggard, in a telephone interview, said his "scraps with the law," which included a conviction on an armed robbery charge, stemmed at least in part from bouts with the liquor bottle. Thievery was needed, he said, to finance a growing dependency on alcohol.

"Most alcoholics - whether they're inmates or free men - refuse to admit they have a problem. And it wasn't until I came to prison that I had time, and plenty of it, to look at myself and my problem honestly."

Maggard added.

In dual roles as chairman of the reformatory's Alcoholics Anonymous chapter and leader of the Operation Threshold campaign, Maggard has spent much of his time counseling inmates.

According to Steve Smith, associate superintendent for treatment, participation in either Maggard's programs frequently boosts an inmate's chances for parole. Conversely, the parole board often denies parole, stipulating that an inmate first get involved in such programs.

"Parole or no parole, participation (which, unless prescribed by the parole board, is voluntary) helps alcoholics cope with the outside world filled with liquor stores and the same crowd pressuring, tempting," said Al Linder, treatment coordinator for the Bureau of Corrections.

According to Maggard, 75 per cent of the men in Alcoholics Anonymous and the Operation Threshold campaign have gone on to become counselors in alcohol or drug-related education programs upon their release from prison.

Policyholder Questions Answered by The Institute of Life Insurance, 277 Park Ave., N. Y., N. Y., 10017

Q. Can my widow still collect Social Security if she receives monthly payments from my life insurance policy?

A. Yes. According to law, monthly life insurance payments will not disqualify you from receiving her full Social Security payments. Monthly life insurance benefits do not count as earned income, regardless of how much is paid each month through a policy.

Q. I'd like to borrow some money on my life insurance policy. Can you tell me something about policy loans and about how much I will be allowed to borrow on my policy?

A. The table of cash values printed in your policy shows how much you may borrow from the company, the amount increasing each year as your policy grows older. The rate of interest you will pay on such a loan is stated in the contract.

Your policy also tells what arrangements are necessary for making a policy loan - how to assign the loan to the company, and how interest will be charged. It further explains what happens if the interest on the loan is not paid.

Any loan plus interest not repaid before your death will be collected from the amount payable to your beneficiary. For this reason, it is best to borrow only as a last resort. But the funds are there if you really need them. If you'd like to know more about policy loans, you can, in order to keep your life insurance program intact for your beneficiaries.

Policy loans are not usually on industrial insurance policies because of the cost of handling such small amounts. Nor are loans possible on most term insurance policies, since few term contracts have cash values.

Ann Landers

Copyright - Field Enterprises, Inc.

Dear Ann Landers: I have an answer to the woman who complained about never getting any time off. Her retired husband does anything he pleases (or nothing at all) and she is still "In The Harness." Her final line really got to me. It was, "Will I EVER enjoy the luxury of leisure time?"
"Tell her," "Yes. And it may be sooner than you think. Your time off will come when your husband dies." I know, because it happened to me.

My wonderful man dropped dead of a heart attack three weeks after he retired. His golf clubs and fishing gear are stacked nearby in the back closet. I will dispose of them soon. I can't bear to have them around. I stand by the stove and eat. Sitting alone at the table is more than I can bear. My housework, laundry and cooking take no time at all. It's amazing that the difference between one and two can seem like fifty. I've got plenty of leisure time now but believe me, I hate it. I'd give anything to be "too busy" again.

So, think, women, before you complain. — I Know

Dear Friend: I'm sure your letter will hit mighty close to home for many of my readers. Thank you for writing it.

Dear Ann Landers: I have the answer for all the decent, single fellows out there who are tired of meeting barmaids. I'm 27, considered intelligent, and am fairly attractive. What's more I'd like very much to meet a fine man, but I am not about to go "looking" for him.

Ann Landers is right when she says, "What you pick up in a bar is there to be picked up." So, where can you find me? I'm in the park watching my children. On weekends I'm at the zoo, or at the circus, or hiking, or in the bleachers, yelling my head off with my kids. On Sunday morning, I'm in church. At night, I'm at home. So, please don't look for me in the bars because I won't be there. — Cris From Conn.

Dear Cris: I was especially pleased to receive your letter because I've been thoroughly lambasted by dozens of women who wrote to say they go to bars but NOT to be picked up, they go because they are lonesome. I'm not sitting in judgment of these women. What I'm trying to tell them is this: Men who frequent bars know this. "Pick-up" isn't a very attractive name, but it's the best one I can think of for a dame who frequents saloons in the hope that some strange man will notice her and get friendly.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 16-year-old high school junior who has been dating for two years. I am a mature person and feel more like a woman than a child. The problem is my parents. I know they mean well, but there's this one thing they do that drives me out of my gourd.

I guess you might say we are a family of kissers — from my grandparents on down. I don't mind, except when I leave the house with a date. Both Mom and Dad insist on kissing me goodbye. Last night Ted and I were leaving and Mom was upstairs. Dad shouted, "Mother, come down and kiss Margaret goodbye." You would have thought I was joining the Foreign Legion. Ted looked embarrassed. I felt like a fool.

I appreciate it if you'd print my letter and your opinion so they will see it. — Tell them — I'm A Big Girl Now

KET Will Air Special On Cats

This Sunday evening at 7 p.m. EST on "Walsh's Animals," the topic is felines — from the noble African lion to the scuffy rag-tag alley cat.

Doctor Jean Holzworth, a world-renowned cat specialist, provides viewers with the necessary information to provide proper care for their cats.

John Walsh, host of the new 10-week series, tells about cats that have gained a certain amount of notoriety by performing heroic feats. Walsh also voices concern about cat overpopulation.

"Walsh's Animals" is the culmination of one man's love for animals — that of John Walsh. Since joining the International Society for Protection of Animals, Walsh has filmed the brutal deaths of seals, rescued water fowl from oil slicks, saved starving huskies in the Arctic, worked on the other redistribution program in Alaska, and directed the largest animal rescue ever — evacuating nearly 10,000 jungle animals from flooded areas in Surinam, South America.

Presently John Walsh is lobbying against the use of the common jaw trap and the shooting of animals from airplanes and snowmobiles.

John Walsh is dedicated to the precept of humane treatment of animals... So is "Walsh's Animals." Walsh originated a slogan that typifies his concern for animal population — "Extinct is forever."

Ideas On Wild Rivers Management Sought

State government wants suggestions on how it should manage its wild rivers system. The division of special programs in the Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection is working on a long range management plan for the wild rivers. "But," said Tommy Reed, division director, "there are some very complicated issues which must be resolved, and we're not sure what should be done. So, we're seeking suggestions from the public."

"We're not running a popularity contest," added Reed. "There are certain things the law says we must do. We want to know what the public thinks we should do."

According to the Wild Rivers Act of 1972, designated rivers must be preserved in their primitive state. That includes the land which extends 2,500 feet from the center of the stream or to the visual horizon, whichever is closer. Wild rivers designated by the state legislature includes parts of eight streams — the Cumberland River, Red River, Rockcastle River, Rock Creek, Green River and the Big South Fork, Little South Fork and Martin's Fork of the Cumberland River. According to Reed, the problem boils down to deciding how primitive the areas should be and how much money should be spent to keep them that way. "The law says we should leave these areas primitive," said Reed. "But, the law also says we must make the wild rivers accessible. And, within limits, the law says we may add certain conveniences such as foot trails, camp sites and comfort stations. If all depends on how primitive you want to be."

Reed also wants suggestions on whether the state should purchase clear title to the surface and mineral rights of the land bordering the wild rivers, or if it should secure use easements instead. If use means?

- + Should we establish foot trails?
- + Should we establish horse trails?
- + Should we develop camp sites?
- + Should we allow camping anywhere?
- + Should we allow campfires?
- + Should we build comfort stations?
- + Should we close wild river segments for overuse?

Similar questionnaires have been mailed to civic groups throughout Kentucky. Signed responses must be returned by Nov. 16 to the Division of Special Programs, Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, Capital Plaza

Tower, Frankfort, Ky. 40601. Easements are obtained, the present land owners would keep title to the land, but the state would have control over its use.

"Both of these options present problems," said Reed. "Buying title to the surface land would cost around $1.5 million and the mineral rights would cost millions more. On the other hand, some people may not want to let the state purchase use easements and control their property."

To help decide how to handle the wild rivers, the division is asking for suggestions and answers to the following questions —

- + Should we purchase fee simple (clear title to surface and mineral rights)?
- + Should we attempt to secure use ease-

Train Tunnels In Area Part Of Railroad History

By Heles Price Stacy

"Can you tell me how to get to the Wrigley Arch. I was asked recently, and for a moment it was a puzzling question."

"Oh, you must mean the Twin Tunnels just below Wrigley."

"No, it's a natural bridge across a road."

So began an explanation of the Twin Tunnels, with some history thrown in about other tunnels that once were roadways for the region's most colorful huff-and-puff trains.

The tunnels of the Morehead and North Fork Railroad make a unique contribution to its history. "Poppin' Rock tunnel was named because the rock popped when the 725-foot hole was being cut," Howard Perry of Croney once commented.

This tunnel eventually became part of the scenery at Cave Run Reservoir and according to engineers could be a passageway for boats when the lake is at certain pool stages.

Tunnels In Rowan

It was big, tough Clack Mountain in Rowan County that slowed progress on the railroad, for the tunnel through the mountain, Poppin' Rock Tunnel and the Twin Tunnels all were cut with manpower, horses and mules.

When Clack Mountain Tunnel finally was opened, William W. Wrigley, the railroad's bookkeeper and passenger agent, decided to be the first person through. He tried on a mule named Maude, which balked at the entrance. However, when the first locomotive was ready to try the tracks, Wrigley was at the controls.

A short distance from Wrigley on Ky. 711 north are the Twin Tunnels, one cut for the railroad and the other to divert North Fork Creek in preference to building a trestle-bridge. Through the years these man-cut openings, weathered and softened became so covered with moss and plant life that they look like natural arches.

Not aware of the story behind the tunnels, it would be easy to believe they are natural bridges or arches. The tunnel for the creek is a long one, almost as long as Poppin' Rock, and in the stream diversion, loops of North Fork were left to themselves in removed water pockets or pools. These pools, marked by cliff and boulder, became popular for fishing spots and picnic grounds.

Hickman's hollow is a long expanse of lawn stretching from the road to the house and on behind to a hillside vale. On one side is a wooden hill marked by a grassed-over wagon trail; on the other side is Clack Mountain Tunnel, still long and dark, still exciting and interesting.

Rocks have fallen in the years since the railroad's tracks were removed to aid war efforts in the forties and the tunnel approach had nurtured a growth of trees and plants. This growth has been cleared, once again revealing the tunnel that early in the 1900s proved too much for one railroad and a formidable undertaking.

These and other remaining features of the little railroad that made its last run in January 1973 — most of the road had long since been abandoned — could make it the region's top tourist attraction from a heritage standpoint.

A substitute primary teacher was having trouble getting across to a pupil. "L-E-G-S," the sub explained.

"What does that spell, Gladys?"

"I dunno," came Gladys' answer.

"Well, what does a cow have four of and I only have two?"

So Gladys told her!

She: "I cook and bake for you day after day, and what do I get? Nothing!"

He: "You're lucky, I get indigestion."

How long a minute it depends on which side of the bathroom door you are on...

A demure miss was employed by a manufacturer to distribute little boxes of a new kind of candy free to passersby. At the close of her first day's work she ran into an old friend, who asked, "Is it true you're going to be married soon?"

"Next month," was the answer. "That's wonderful," said the friend. "What are you doing in the meantime?" "Nothing much," admitted the miss. "Just giving away free samples."

What did the egg say to the chicken? Now that you've laid me, do you love me?

"Couldn't you think of anything better than coming home in this drunken condition?" asked the outraged wife.

"Yeah, m'dear," answered the inebriate husband, "but she was out of town."

Voters face a difficult choice around election time: whether to ask politicians "What have you done for us lately?" or "What have you done to us lately?"

After several years of living in a house trailer, a woman became fed up with lack of space.

"Look at that," she said indignantly, as she and her husband drove past a sprawling ranch-type house.

"Wouldn't you love to have a house that big?" she continued. "Why, I'll bet it's at least four lanes wide!"

Don't judge your wife too harshly for her weaknesses. If she didn't have them, chances are the world'd have married you.

The proud mother was bragging about her son in college. "He made the football team, you know," she announced.

"Isn't that nice," replied her neighbor, "what position does he play?"

"Well," boasted mom, "the sports-writer in the college paper referred to him as the greatest drawback the team ever had."

your week ahead by DR. A.W. DAMIS

Forecast Period: November 24 to November 30

- ARIES Mar. 21 - Apr. 19: Take care! Many members under your sign are prone to giving things away, this particular week. There's a difference between charity and the attempt to "buy" romance.
- TAURUS Apr. 20 - May 20: Advance with fixed bayonets! It seems as though, you, Taurus, face an ultimatum: Don't give ground, if you do... you'll concede far beyond your intention.
- GEMINI May 21 - June 20: The twin wolves, jealousy and anger, are hidden in the far dark corners of your thoughts. Try to get along with your associates and the opposite sex.
- MOONCHILD June 21 - July 23: You might feel secure in the knowledge that: Negative events, this week, will have little effect on your future. Actually, you're heading toward the bright light... at the tunnel's end.
- LEO July 23 - Aug. 22: Everybody knows that the same thing can't happen to all members of your sign. But, it's a safe bet, you'll be surprised by a promise that will be kept!
- VIRGO Aug. 23 - Sept. 22: You're in the mood for fun and games, especially with the opposite sex. And, your ability to persuade is at a peak. This week should be interesting.
- LIBRA Sept. 23 - Oct. 22: Thinking about breaking off a non-productive friendship? Any, you might not be aware of it, but, the feeling is mutual... you'll see!
- SCORPIO Oct. 23 - Nov. 21: Without conscious design, you'll spend most of this week living in the past, mentally. Your chart shows a rather pleasant series of events, nothing too emotional.
- SAGITTARIUS Nov. 22 - Dec. 21: Your hand is on the lever, all you need to do is... pull... and... you'll hit the jackpot! An insignificant project will blossom into a big thing.
- CAPRICORN Dec. 22 - Jan. 19: Strange, very strange, events are forecast for this cosmic cycle. Look for opposition to come from a friendly source, and, understanding to flow from your competition.
- AQUARIUS Jan. 20 - Feb. 18: There's a tendency, on your part, to enjoy mysterious and complicated members of the opposite sex. You'll meet or, at least, take the first step toward meeting such a person.
- PISCES Feb. 19 - Mar. 20: It's no secret, you always enjoy good news that comes from afar. Anyway, in one form or another, you'll hear about favorable things, from "far off."

House of Coal Burned

Daniel Williams, who preached the first sermon in what later would be Morgan County, built one of the first cabins in West Liberty. Williams later moved to Caney Valley in Morgan where he discovered coal and thought the material so black, shiny and beautiful that he built his house of coal. Before long, the house constructed of canal coal, pieces of which could be ignited with a single match, caught fire and was destroyed.

There are basically two types of nuclear energy. "Fusion" energy is actually the ultimate energy source in the universe. The sun and stars derive their energy from fusion reactions. "Fission" energy is derived from the controlled breakdown of radioactive materials, principally uranium.

The problem lies in the development of a safe fusion reactor. Some preliminary experiments are very close to success, and given enough time, fusion power may be the power of the future.

Fusion energy is environmentally much more desirable than fission energy. It requires no burning of fossil fuels. Air pollution and valuable resources use are held to a minimum.

There is not enough space to describe fission plants or the special facility known as a breeder reactor, which actually can produce more fuel than it uses. However, there are several serious environmental problems resulting from fission plant operation.

Business Reported Better At Kentucky State Parks

Kentucky Department of Parks officials have announced that a recent comparison of yearly records shows that the parks have been more successful this year than they have for at least the past three years.

A promotion theme designed to counter the energy crisis was pointed to as a major reason for the upsurge in parks visitation.

The theme, urging Kentuckians to "stay at home and enjoy the parks in your own state," should push the percentage of Kentuckians staying overnight in the state's resort parks to 50 per cent compared to 43 per cent three years ago.

Parks officials are quick to point out, however, that success for the system is not measured in the amount of revenue generated by the parks, despite the fact that more resort parks (five) are operating in the black than ever before.

According to Parks Commissioner Ewart W. Johnson, "The comment cards and letters we receive thanking us for fine service in our measuring stick for success."

Widespread visitation to the different types of parks is also used as an indicator of achievement and parks officials report a surprisingly heavy use of day-use parks or non-resort facilities during the summer.

Heavy visitation at Fort Boonesborough, the newest addition to the park system, has been especially pleasing to parks officials, particularly the number of out-of-state visitors to the fort.

Future promotion of the parks according to Johnson will be geared to promoting the parks that will be staying open later this year. Johnson added that the Parks Department, in cooperation with the Department of Public Information, "will be spreading out a little more than we did last year, and covering a wider area."

The future of the state's parks system has been termed by parks officials as bright, with special emphasis on renovation and expansion of existing facilities. This will include continued refurbishing of cottages and rooms at the resort parks.

Major projects for the future are the conversion of Kenlake State Resort Park into a "tennis resort" with the construction of five new courts.

Construction of the Kentucky State Horse Park also will be getting into full swing with a completion target of July, 1976 set for the twenty-one million dollar park complex located north of Lexington.

For what is a man profited if he shall gain the whole world and lose his own soul? Or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul?

For the Son of man shall come in the glory of His Father with His angels, and then He shall reward every man according to his works. — Matthew 16:26,27

For the State Capital Agree Or Not

I Say What I Think by S. C. VanCuren

The Department of Human Resources is still wrestling with the problem of how to provide more adequate facilities for the mentally retarded, and everyone knows the state will not be able to care for all of the estimated 200,000 plus retardates in the state.

The newest move is to contract the operation of Outwood at Dawson Springs to a private concern. Following a recent bidder's conference attended by 12 or 15 organizations, the proposal date has been extended to December 31. The state's proposal calls for bidders to construct a new modern facility capable of handling 200 patients where 200 are now housed in the state.

The cost per patient day will be one of the determining factors to be considered by the state from prospective bidders, but not necessarily the only factor. Daniel B. Howard, commissioner for the Bureau for Administration and Operations in Human Resources, said last week. The successful bidder must have the financial ability to design and construct a new place to replace the present Outwood facilities, acquired from the federal government when the veterans hospital was discontinued.

Howard said review of the proposals submitted by December 31 should be completed by March 15, 1975, but the successful bidder will not take over operation of Outwood until July 1, 1975, the beginning of the new fiscal year.

The state readily admits that a private operator can operate such a place more economically than government because private enterprise is not as cumbersome and there is not as much red tape or review involved.

Present per patient cost at Outwood is about $25 per day, Howard said, but the per patient cost at Oakwood near Somerset is $45 or more per day. At Hazelwood in Jefferson County where bed patients are kept, the cost is from $5 to $50 per day. Outwood is the only facility that the state is now projecting to turn over to a private operator.

Howard says he believes private enterprise can get a new building constructed cheaper than the state can. The private operator also must conduct classes and recreation suitable for the ambulatory patients. Presently most of the patients at Outwood are above 18 years of age. Most under 18 are now at Oakwood.

The state has had a plan of placing retardates in foster homes, but that program has been slowed some in recent months because of bad experience in some cases. Some are placed in personal care homes and the federal government, under Medicaid, picks up the tab of about $18 per day.

has placed responsibility on the State Department of Education for providing classes for exceptional children where they are physically able to attend classes, but this program will not care for all of the needs of the mentally retarded. Some need to be in state-operated or private facilities like Oakwood.

Stewart Home School, a private facility just outside of Frankfort, has 246 pupils, and its operating costs are below the state. Stewart Home School is ranked among the top of the United States. It has pupils from 30 states.

There's some lively legal debate here whether Lieutenant Governor Julian Carroll will become governor or acting governor after the first of the year when Governor Ford takes his oath of office as United States Senator. Provisions in the state Constitution are somewhat cloudy on this subject, but Lawrence Wetherby took the oath of office when Governor Earle C. Clements went to the U.S. Senate and there may be some practical precedence here.

But if Carroll takes the oath of office, he vacates his office as lieutenant governor, and then what happens? Technically, Carroll automatically will become acting governor and still retain his office as lieutenant governor if he doesn't take the oath as governor. He could draw both salaries.

If Carroll does take the oath, does Senate President pro tem William Sullivan become lieutenant governor? There's some debate about this. If Carroll leaves the state, Sullivan would be acting governor in his absence as he was last week when Ford and Carroll were both out of the state. If Sullivan should take the oath of office as lieutenant governor, under the constitution he would vacate his office as State Senator and president pro tem of the Senate.

This is a good topic for discussion, but nobody seems to have an answer for it.

Kentucky Inmates Receive Educational Assistance

By Herb Brock

A federal-funded program to help low-income and culturally-deprived students and veterans get vocational or collegiate education is being expanded to include a growing number of inmates in three state correctional institutions.

Educational Talent Search (ETS), which provides counseling and financial aid to low-income applicants trying to enter vocational and technical schools, or two-and four-year colleges, is sponsored by the University of Kentucky in 10 target counties. They include Oldham, Shelby and Fayette counties, where the state reformatory near LaGrange, Kentucky Correctional Institution for Women (KCIW) near Pewee Valley and Blackburn Correctional Complex near Lexington are located.

The decision to include those counties in the program was not a random one, according to Mrs. Lauretta Byars, state director for ETS. She noted that inmates traditionally rank near the bottom of the economic scale.

One of the ETS counselors helping inmates plan for their education is Sandra Trammel who makes monthly visits to KCIW. "How much can be done to help the individual while he or she is behind bars depends on that person's willingness to work with the ETS counselor and plan ahead," Ms. Trammel said.

For example, a highly motivated inmate can take a standard college entrance examination, gain admission to the college of his or her choice and obtain sufficient financial aid, all before leaving prison, she said.

Participating schools and colleges give ETS applicants an automatic boost through an open admissions policy. That means any graduate of a Kentucky high school who takes the American College Test (ACT) will be admitted, regardless of the score.

In addition, ETS applicants who have passed the high school equivalency examination (GED) also may be admitted through a special screening process reserved only for them.

Ms. Trammel said state schools and colleges in neighboring states offer ETS applicants similar advantages, including first choice for financial assistance.

The greatest service performed by an ETS counselor is to work with financial aid and admissions officers at schools and colleges in an effort to give applicants comprehensive, "top-to-bottom" services, she added.

"When our client files a formal application, we want the school official reading it to already know the applicant. It's kind of a fool-in-the-door policy which we find works," she said.

The financial aid offered through the program varies from partial to full coverage of tuition costs by way of federal education grants.

Established in 1972, ETS is an outgrowth of Operation Awareness, a Lexington-based program set up by Delta Sigma Theta sorority. The program operates under a $2,000 federal grant, which goes largely for staff salaries.

Last year, ETS assisted 757 students to enroll in colleges and universities. Of that number, 244 came from families with annual incomes of $3,000 to 5,999. The remainder were from families in the $6,000 to $10,000 income bracket.

About 20-25 per cent of the college or vocational school hopefuls expected to receive help through ETS this academic year (1974-74) will be inmates from the state reformatory near LaGrange, the KCIW or the Blackburn Correctional Complex.

Pesticide Applicators Meeting Set

By Marva Gay

Commercial applicators of pesticides and state officials hope to solve some of their problems soon.

The division of special programs in the Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, which regulates pesticides in the state, is holding four regional meetings Nov. 18-26, for commercial pesticide applicators.

According to Fred Waters, state pesticides chief, the meetings will give the applicators a bird's eye view of new federal regulations which require certification of persons who use restricted chemicals.

"With these meetings," said Waters, "we are seeking the cooperation of the commercial applicators. We believe we can work together to overcome many of the problems besetting these people."

Waters said a chief problem for applicators has been the cost of insurance. "It has come to our attention," said Waters, "that in some areas the insurance cost was so high that it wasn't economically feasible to obtain the insurance cost was so high that it wasn't economically feasible to obtain it.

To avoid buying insurance, some applicators have continued spraying commercially without a license. But, we believe the applicators may be able to lower the cost of insurance if they organize themselves and request uniform rates from the insurance companies. Hopefully, they will do that."

Meetings will be held Monday, Nov. 18 at the Somerset RECC Building; Tuesday, Nov. 19, at the Hopkinsville Fairgrounds, Bureau Building; Wednesday, Nov. 20, at the Elizabethtown Community College; and Tuesday, Nov. 26, at the Capital Plaza Tower in Frankfort.

All meetings will begin at 1 p.m. and be limited to one hour. Tests will be given to anyone who wishes to take them after the meeting. Test time is approximately one hour.

For further information contact Fred Waters, Division of Special Programs, Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Ky. 40601. (502) 564-7274.

WHAT'S NEW IN EDUCATION?

by William A. Fowler, M.Ed.
Women Are Returning to School

The adage that "a woman's place is in the home" has become more outmoded in our contemporary society than many persons realize. Of the 12 million new jobs added to the work force during the past decade, women have filled two-thirds of them.

U.S. Census Bureau figures also show that the more than 13 million women in the civilian labor force represent a cross-section of all women in this country. They are of all ages from 16 to 70 or more and are of every race and color.

The trend for increasing numbers of married women to become wage earners outside the home has created new job training demands. Many women are acquiring this training at vocational schools and community colleges. According to U.S. Office of Education figures, 55 per cent of all students enrolled in public school vocational education in 1972 were female, a jump of ten percent over the previous year.

Like wise, correspondence school educators report significant increases in female enrollment. Many of these students are housewives who are preparing themselves to return to work and are either taking "refresher" courses or are mastering new job skills.

New job opportunities for women in expanding occupations, advances in the educational attainment of women and the trend toward smaller families are among the signs pointing to the continued increase in the number of women in the labor force.

A directory listing home study courses that women are taking to improve their job skills may be obtained free from the National Home Study Council, 1601-18th St. N.W., Washington, D.C. 20009.
