MOREHEAD, KENTUCKY, THURSDAY MORNING, MAY 15, 1976

No. 20

Water Service Interruption Announced

Herman Brown, manager of the Morehead Utility Plant Board, advised the Morehead News today that water service will be interrupted briefly late Monday night and early Tuesday morning to customers served from a 16-inch water main along U.S. 60 west of Morehead.

Brown said the interruption in service is necessary in order to make a 12-inch connection for the new Browning Manufacturing plant now under construction on U.S. 60 west.

The Plant Board manager said service will be affected during a five-hour period beginning at 11 p.m. Monday and ending about 4 a.m. Tuesday.

The area includes all customers along U.S. 60 west from Brady Curve to Moore's Suncro Service Station, including Green Valley Acres, Rowan Water, Inc., Line C serving McBrayer Road, Clearfield, Morgan Fork and Dry Creek areas.

The Clearfield School and Post Office and a small area near the Morehead and North Fork Railroad Club House will not be affected.

Caudill Renewed To Plant Board

Jim Caudill, who was filling the unexpired term of Curt Hutchesson on the Morehead Utility Plant Board, has been reappointed to the Plant Board for a term to expire Nov. 10, 1977.

Other members of the Board are Ernest Jayne, chairman; Clayton Perkins, Marvin Moore and Warren Cooper. Cooper was appointed last month to fill the unexpired term of Tom Queen who resigned.

The appointment of Caudill was approved by Morehead City Council during its meeting Monday night. Cooper's appointment was approved at a previous meeting.

Zoning Ordinance Amended By City

During a busy session Monday night of Morehead City Council, employees for the Morehead Recreation Park were officially hired, the zoning ordinance was amended, and two ordinances regarding the National Flood Insurance Program were adopted.

Council accepted and approved the recommendations of the Morehead Recreation Commission, chaired by Dr. John R. Duncan, for park personnel for the September opening May 30 and ending in September.

Don Hardin of Morehead, noted for his work with American Legion Baseball and Little League programs here and a teacher in the Fleming County School system, was employed as Park Director at a salary of $260 per week.

Palmer Adkins, a graduate student at Morehead State University was hired as Pool Manager at $150 a week. Jesse Daire was employed as head lifeguard at $100 per week.

Other park employees will be Nancy Smith, Mike Miller, Jennifer Rossell, Ed O'Steen, C.W. Cornett, Lynn Cordal and Pat Montgomery, all lifeguards at $2 per hour. Gacy Ferguson, maintenance, Sam Daugherty and Joel Salver, recreation leaders, and Jamie Lucke, pool concessionaire, all at $2 per hour.

Open Every Day

The park and pool are scheduled to open May 30 and the Recreation Commission has established rates to be charged for swimming and the hours of operation.

Swimming hours will be: Sunday - 1 to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday - 12 noon to 7 p.m.

Saturday - 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. The Recreation Commission has indicated that swimming hours may possibly change later in the season since there will be lights enabling the pool to remain open later at night.

Swimming rates, as established by the Commission, are —

- + Individual season pass — $20
+ Family of 4 members and under — $40
+ Family of 5 members — $45
+ Family of 6 members — $50
+ Family of 7 members or more — $55
+ Daily admission — 50 cents for those 12 years and under, $1 for those 13 years and over.

The ordinances adopted in connection with the National Flood Insurance Program were part of the requirement for the City's dignity in program.

Building Permits Required

Council voted in favor of amending the zoning ordinance of the City whereby building contractors will be liable for building permits as well as owners.

The action was taken following considerable discussion regarding building permits. Danny Blevins, manager of the City Streets and Sanitation Departments, advised Council that the City is in need of plan which would require prospective home builders to obtain building permits. City Attorney Blair pointed out that building permits are not a revenue producing thing but rather a means for getting things built the way they're supposed to be built.

The permits are $25 for a commercial building, $10 for a new home, and $5 for an addition. They can be obtained by calling Danny Blevins at City Hall.

Need Plumbing Permits

Attorney Blair stressed the importance of prospective builders also obtaining plumbing permits from the Rowan County Health Department. The City Attorney cited a case where a man built a structure and after completion could not get water run to the building because he had not obtained a plumbing permit. Blair said the plumbing was installed by a person who was not a licensed plumber, therefore he can not obtain a permit from the Health Department.

Herman Brown, manager of the Morehead Utility Plant Board, advised Council that the Plant Board has been notified in writing by the Health Department that if the Plant Board must, in the future, be presented a plumbing permit by the owner before making a water connection to buildings of any type Brown said, "If the owner doesn't get a permit, then we can't provide him water."

During other action, Council — Accepted the resignation of Roger Messer, patrolman on the Morehead Police Department.

Agreed to pay the expenses of four firemen to the State Fire School in Lexington next week. The request for paid expenses was made by Chief Joe Maulk. Chief Maulk also reported that the new fire truck should be delivered in late May.

Heard requests from Council members Eleanor Holloway and Marvin Moore as every effort be made to get a new bridge built on North Wilson Avenue as soon as possible since paving is anticipated to get underway within a couple of weeks.

Approved Mayor C.B. Cornett's recommendation of John Needham to the Board of Zoning Adjustments for a period ending April 25, 1979.

Heard a proposal for an auxiliary police force. The proposal was presented by Curt Mullen, former patrolman in the City Police Department. Council advised him to meet with the Police Review Board and Councilman Dr. John R. Duncan, after which the Review Board will report its findings to Council.

Will Review Policies

Mayor Cornett appointed all members of Council, with the exception of Dr. Duncan, as a committee to review the proposed Personnel Policies for city employees. Council member Holloway is chairman of the committee and will make a report at the next Council session.

Council heard a complaint from Maude Clay regarding violation of the zoning ordinance. She explained that a building was erected near her property and was done in violation of the ordinance. She said the structure was within five feet of her property line. Council took no action on the issue.

MSU With Its Fuel Deficit

Governor Julian Carroll this week allocated $76,300 to Morehead State University to meet increased cost of utilities and coal for its power plant.

President Adron Jorndan said that the MSU budget, prepared two years ago, did not take into account the tremendous hike in fuel rates, and the money would be applied to help overcome this deficit.

The Governor also allocated $1 million to Kentucky's state-supported universities to implement existing student loan programs which are underwritten by both state and federal funds.

Carroll allocated, in all, $1,422,700 in savings funds. This is money the state has collected over and above revenue department estimates.

The biggest amounts allocated by Carroll were $1,300,000 for a new program to aid families of the unemployed, and 2,401,500 to public schools for operating expenses.

Carroll said Saturday in an address at Morehead that financial emphasis during "the next term" must be given to elementary, secondary and vocational education.

The Morehead News learned that Carroll is so certain of victory in the May 27 primary that he has already instructed the Department of Revenue to project state income for the next biennium, and the Department of Finance to submit a rough outline of the next budget.

Russell McClure, one of the "policy" persons preparing the budget.

MSU Student Arrested In Campus Drug Raid

A 21-year-old freshman at Morehead State University, David Walter Holt, Lexington, was arrested and charged with possession of controlled substance and marijuana. He is out on $500 bond awaiting trial.

Holt entered a plea of not guilty when he appeared before Rowan Judge Ott Caldwell. He has been released on $1,500 bond awaiting trial. The student is majoring in medical technology at the MSU campus.

Morehead Police Chief James Pfeiffer said the raid was made under a search warrant for Holt. MSU Security Officer Russell Kirk and Chief Pfeiffer conducted the raid and made the arrest.

The officers seized 10 plastic bags of marijuana, one plastic pouch containing marijuana seeds, one tin container with marijuana seeds, one tobacco pouch and one plastic bottle containing marijuana and burnt-marijuana, one Old Gold cigarette package containing five marijuana cigarettes, one metal container of burnt marijuana.

Also, three containers used for smoking marijuana, 100 broken pieces of white tablets in a bottle, 15 broken pieces of broken white tablets in another bottle, one glass container of brown power substance, one syringe, and a glass bottle of liquid with a dropper.

Chief Pfeiffer said the substances have been sent to the Kentucky State Police laboratory in Frankfort where they will be analyzed.

Nuclear Officials Refute Charges

Charges of possible radiation leaks at Maxey Flats in Fleming County nuclear waste disposal site operated by Nuclear Engineering Company were refuted last Friday by high company officials who called a press conference and tour of the site.

Representatives of Fleming County newspapers and the Morehead News were advised by Jim Neel, president of Nuclear Engineering, and Dr. James Leonard, chief radiation officer, that the radiation level at the Maxey Flats site is far below any level which would present physical problems.

The officers explained that every possible precaution is taken by the company which, through laboratory processes, checks airborn samplings, water and vegetation in the Maxey Flats area every two weeks.

A special machine which converts environmental samples into units of radiation is used for analyzing site samples. John Razer of Morehead, assistant site manager of Nuclear Engineering at Maxey Flats, is in charge of the laboratory work.

Company president Dr. Leonard also explained that the state has another program independent of Nuclear's through which state officials gather their own samples of air, water and vegetation every two weeks. The results of the state's lab work are compared with those of Nuclear to assure that the radiation level is safe.

EPA Inspects Site

In addition to the state's checking process the EPA federal Environmental Protection Agency also takes samples from the area every two weeks for analysis.

Dr. Leonard pointed out that inspections are made by state and federal officials. He said both scheduled and unannounced inspections are made. "We believe the operation is totally safe and that there is no threat to the environment, if it weren't we would not get a license to bury."

The company official referred to Nuclear Engineering as the Environmental Guardian company whose objective is to protect the environment and not pollute.

The Maxey Flats site in operation since 1962 was selected for a disposal site because of the desirable geologic characteristics. Dr. Leonard explained that the clay soil is excellent for holding on to chemicals and that it has good ion exchange characteristics. He noted that when radioactive materials are buried they become attached to the soil and do not become airborne.

An authority on radiation, Dr. Leonard explained that water does not go through the clay soil which is another asset to the area. Sump pumps are installed at the base of burial trenches which serve as a water removal process should water get into the trenches.

No Liquids Accepted

Since 1972 all waste coming to Maxey Flats is in the form of solids. No liquids have been permitted since that time, according to Dr. Leonard who noted that the company developed the chemical process through which liquids are transformed into solids prior to being shipped to the burial ground.

Among articles buried at Maxey Flats are hospital robes, masks, gloves and other articles used by hospitals in treatment of patients with cancer which get too much radioactivity to become usable; radioactively tobacco smoke and other lab equipment using radio isotopes, and nuclear power waste in the form of grease wipes, gloves, etc.

The University of Kentucky, University of Louisville and Morehead State University are among agencies in Kentucky which send materials to Maxey Flats for burial. Dr. Leonard said these are materials used in cancer and diagnostic techniques.

The Kentucky site disposes of about 300,000 to 400,000 cubic feet of waste per year and is the largest commercial nuclear waste site in the free world. It has been visited by authorities all over the world interested in learning the process in an effort to establish such sites in other countries, according to Dr. Leonard.

Thirty per cent of the materials which go to Maxey Flats are from hospitals which deal in the treatment of cancer; 40 per cent from nuclear power reactors; and the remainder from the nation's defense laboratories and hospitals.

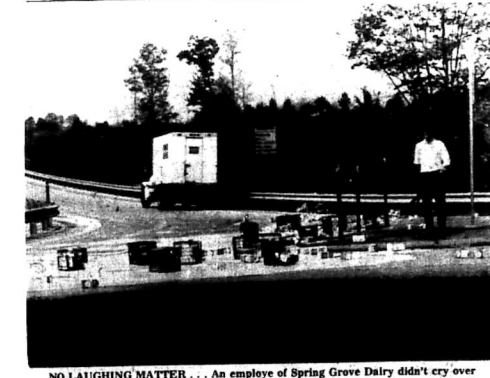

The Kentucky site is one of six commercial sites in the United States, four of which are operated by Nuclear Engineering. The other two are competitors and are located in New York and South Carolina. Other Nuclear Engineering sites are in Nevada, Washington and Illinois.

The federal government operates 13 sites but only accepts waste from prime contractors such as atomic energy operations. The Nuclear Engineering operation is the largest company in the United States dealing in radioactive waste.

NO LAUGHING MATTER . . . An employee of Spring Grove Dairy didn't cry over spilled milk; however, he wasn't happy about the situation. The employee, who would not reveal his name for a Morehead News photograph, was making a turn off Ky. 22 onto the 14th exit enroute to Mt. Sterling Friday morning, when a side door on the truck flew open causing milk to stream across the intersection.

DEAR EDITOR:

William Gerrier probably doesn't match up to Will Rogers as a down to earth grass-roots humorist, but he's the best we have today. Like Rogers, his humor often concisely tells a pathetic story.

I liked the following that Gerrier wrote — "A woman with a newly developed interest in government wrote to the editor of her local newspaper: "I want to get into politics. Do taxpayers have a party?"

"The editor replied: "Very seldom, lady, very seldom."

The truth is that minority groups are running and ruining this nation.

For example, there's no question in my mind that the vast majority of our citizens have become isolationists. They want the United States to cease all this foreign jid, secret agreements, and take care of our own business here at home.

The people of South Vietnam where we poured countless millions of dollars and thousands of the lives of our young men late as well as more than the Viet Cong. Cambodians see the U.S.A. brought war to their nation.

No other country in the world will take care of the refugees from South Vietnam, so again it's the hated United States that is bearing the burden.

Castro has been sending his best casts (Ruff-Ruff) he wants to get rid of to Miami and our government issues them big checks to live on.

U.S.A. dollars built the Panama Canal but the greedy politicians of Panama want it dedded to them along with our dollars to put the canal in first class shape.

During World War II we defeated Germany and Japan. Today, the highest standard of living in the world are West Germany and Japan — all possible from American tax dollars.

Today the majority governs as the Constitution says, the United States should immediately become an isolationist nation. Let the other countries conduct their own business; and take care of our own affairs.

We should fortify our own shores. I am reminded of a mongrel dog that used to be in our neighborhood. He roamed everywhere and every time a female dog had pups, it was almost a certain bet that this dog was the father. The world believes that the United States stood all those wars.

Everytime I read that Kissinger is making another trip to a foreign nation my thought is "there goes another $6 billion of taxpayer dollars." Kissinger makes my belly ache.

Dear editor, you will infer from the above that I am an isolationist. And I am. But, you should constitute the majority. YOURS TRULY, CLAIG SPROUT

Mabry High Bidder On School Buses

Ed Mabry was approved as the highest bidder on three Rowan County School buses advertised for sale, and Paul M. Wells' bid on a carry-all was approved as the highest on that vehicle by the Rowan County Board of Education.

The high bid, made by Mabry, were $865 for a 1964 Chevrolet 48-passenger bus; $1,312 for a 1966 Chevrolet 60-passenger bus, and $1,065 for a 1966 Chevrolet 48-passenger bus.

Wells submitted the high bid of $66 on the 1957 International Carry-All.

Other bids on the buses ranged from $200 to $799 and the only other bid on the carry-all was for $50.

Individuals submitting bid to purchase the vehicles were John P. Allen, George Archer, Bryant Kissick and Lawrence Arnett Jr. on buses, and John Hargis on the carry-all. Johnson First Church of God bid on one bus and the First Church of God Tabernacle of Clearfield submitted bid on two buses.

The Board of Education approved the sale of the buses and carry-all to the high bidders at its meeting Saturday.

Also during its meeting, the Education Board gave permission for the seniors of the class of 1975 to go to Florida on their senior trip. The senior sponsors and class officers presented a complete itinerary of the trip. The class will make the trip in a bus provided by Morehead State University.

The Board also approved a trip to King's by the Rowan County High Future Homemakers of America and the Future Farmers of America. A school bus will be used for the trip.

Upon recommendation of Acting Superintendent Kenneth Bland, the board gave approval for Lois Middleton to graduate with the class of 1975 since she has completed her state requirement of three credits in English.

GETTING ACQUAINTED . . . Lloyd Cassity of Ashland, right, vice chairman of the Morehead State University Board of Regents, welcomes the board's two newest members, James Richardson of Owingsville was appointed to fill an unexpired term and Debbie Poore, Hodgeville Junior at MSU, is the newly-elected student representative. Cassity recently was reappointed for his fourth term.

Earle Bach Announces State Senate Candidacy

Earle Bach of Quicksand today announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination in the May Primary for State Senator of the 27th Senatorial District made up of Breathitt, Elliott, Magoffin, Morgan, Jackson, Owsley, Menifee, Wolfe, and Rowan counties.

Bach is the son of Pryse Bach and Lena Combs Bach who was the daughter of Brack Combs, former sheriff of Breathitt County, who hung the only man that has been legally hung in the history of Breathitt County.

In making his political announcement, Bach said:

"I want to tell you the things I did in World War II to prove my love for my people and my country. In 1941 I volunteered for the Royal Canadian Air Force as a captain with 125 U.S. volunteers. Without them they could not have had an Air Force.

"We held off the Germans while the U.S. was getting troops trained and factories built to produce airplanes I serve with them for 11 months. I was the only man from Kentucky to fly for the RAF. After the U.S. declared war, I returned to USA and we were so short on pilots I was hired as a civilian transport pilot and the first trip was to take Douglas A20 dive bombers to Pearl Harbor as all of our ships had been blown up.

"I spent nine months with the Fifth Ferry group and took 41 bombers to Africa. The next 1/2 years I was a captain on the B24 four engine bomber. For nine months I was a captain on the B29 as a test pilot and was the first man to fly them when they rolled out of the factory. I put the first flight on the B29 that dropped the Atomic bomb on Japan and was the only man from Kentucky to fly the largest bombers built in the world.

"I think you should be able to trust and vote to send me to the State Senate to represent the people and no special interests.

"I will only vote for the best interests of the people.

Bach listed the things he wishes to accomplish as:

"I want to get a Constitution amendment through to let the people say whether they want parking meters or not. These meters are running all the city business out to the shopping centers. Other state have done it, so can we.

"I want to free all of the toll roads since they all are operating in the red.

"Pay all jurors $14 per day.

"I will be against any increase in taxes. The people can't stand what they have now and I will make an effort to reduce some of them.

"I promise I will get these things done if elected. I have heard politicians say they are for better roads, better education and for bettering the economic conditions and then do nothing about it after they get in office.

"I have proved my love for my country and my people. Help me get rid of men who make promises and don't fulfill them."

BURIAL SITE. The newest burial trench at Maxey Flats in Fleming County where Nuclear Engineering Company disposes of radioactive waste materials is about 50 feet wide, 30 feet deep and 650 feet long. During the past 12 years, an estimated 18 acres have been used at the Maxey Flats site for burial of nuclear waste.

Budget For University Approved; Record High

A record budget of $39,300, 232 for the 1975-76 year has been approved by the Morehead State University Board of Regents.

The figure includes an increase of nearly $800,000 in fixed operating costs, due primarily to inflation, according to MSU President Adron Doran.

The University will spend $2.3 million for fixed costs such as utilities, in the new budget. The same costs amount to $1.5 million in the current fiscal year.

MSU will receive $1,855,400 in state appropriations during the new year.

In other major action, the regents voted to increase financial support of women's intercollegiate athletics from $5,000 to more than $4,000. The figure includes 12 full scholarships. Support of men's athletics was reduced by the same amount.

Dr. W.H. Cartmell of Maysville was re-elected board chairman and Lloyd Cassity of Ashland was re-named vice chairman. Carol Johnson of Morehead remains as secretary and John Graham of Morehead was appointed acting treasurer. (Picture on Page 2)

The board authorized President Doran to seek final approval and financing of a $5.5 million expansion of Wetherby Gymnasium and a $2.5 million addition to Johnson-Carmden Library.

Cassity was administered the oath of office for a new four-year term and James Richardson of Owingsville was sworn in to fill the unexpired term of Clayton Bo Queen.

Other board members attending were B.F. Reed of Drift, Jerry Howell of Jackson, William Justice of Pikeville and Dr. Charles Pelfrey, the faculty representative, and Robert Byrd, the student representative.

Big Decision: Corps Controls All Streams

Such streams as the north and south forks of Triplett in Rowan County, Fox Creek in Fleming, Beaver Creek in Menifee etc. may soon come under the control of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

The U.S. District Court of Appeals in the District of Columbia, considered the highest tribunal in the nation outside the Supreme Court, ruled this week the present concept of streams is incorrect and the Corps, in fact, has authority "over all streams in the United States."

The Corps of Engineers has already acted to offer four alternative regulations with varying degrees and scope in regulation and enforcement. These have been printed in the federal register and can be obtained (75 cent a copy) by writing the Supt. of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402.

Final requirements and standards will be released by the Corps after June 6.

One of the alternatives appears that states will be permitted to establish their own procedures for evaluating the impact of placing fill materials in streams, regardless of the size of the streams. For example, Oxley Branch and Town Branch, both in Morehead, long controversial because of flood back-ups, could come under federal jurisdiction.

Federal permits may be required for any farmer desiring to build a pond or dig an irrigation ditch.

The court's ruling that "The Corps has jurisdiction over all waters in the United States" obviously opens many facets of controversy, and definition of procedures and compliance.

Sandy Hook Woman, 26, Found Dead In Alley

Louisville police have changed their belief that a native Elliott county woman was murdered near the downtown area early Saturday morning to "probable accidental death."

The victim was Mrs. Muri Gillum Del-Carpio, 26, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harve Gillum of Sandy Hook. Her body was found at 6 1/2 Saturday morning in an alley just off the 600 block of south 3rd Street and Ms. Del-Carpio died five hours later without gaining consciousness at General Hospital.

Initial police reports were that the woman had been beaten to death since her body bore multiple injuries. Police now believe that the woman fell from the YWCA building, but the theory has not been dismissed that she could have been pushed or thrown from a high story of the YWCA.

After leaving Sandy Hook several years ago Miss Gillum married Del-Carpio of New York, and listed her address as New York city.

The remains were removed, after an autopsy, to Sandy Hook. The funeral was conducted Tuesday at Wallow Hole church with interment in the family plot at Burke

Caudill Tire Burglarized; RCHS Students Arrested

Nine students at Rowan County High School, ages 15 to 17, were arrested Friday at the school by State Trooper Lanville Riddick at which time three of the juveniles were charged with burglary and the other six with receiving stolen property.

The arrests and charges were made in connection with the burglary on Tuesday, May 5, at Caudill Tire, Inc. on East U.S. 60.

Trooper Riddick said tires, wheels, a battery and air shocks valued at about $900 have been recovered. The RSP officer said the youths admitted having the property and

They have recovered all that we found out about.

The officer further reported, "The place of business also was broken into on May 1 and 2 and a tire or two prior to those dates which the owner did not know about until this all came up."

Among items recovered by State Police were six mag wheels of various sizes, 10 Uniroyal tires of various sizes, four air shocks and one 12 volt battery.

Hearings for the youths were scheduled yesterday (Wednesday) and today before Rowan County Judge Ott Caldwell.

APPROVED MAILBOXES - Postal employees in Morehead will be making inspections of mailboxes Monday through Wednesday. Morehead Postmaster Norman Gross noted there are two approved styles of boxes. Approved receptacles are pictured above. They are the traditional design, pictured at left that is available in three standard sizes; and the contemporary design, at right.

Mailbox Inspections Will Be Conducted Next Week

Morehead Postal employees will be riding with mail carriers Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday to make inspections of mail receptacles.

Norman A. Gross, newly appointed Morehead Postmaster, said the Postal Service designates a week during May each year when customers on rural, city motorized and contract delivery routes are encouraged to examine and improve, where necessary, the appearance of their mailboxes.

The purpose of the project is to call attention to the need for providing mail receptacles which are designed to protect the mail from the weather and are neat in appearance, conveniently located and safe to use, Gross stated.

The Postmaster said, "Mailboxes that meet the above four important requirements contribute to a more efficient delivery operation, and the result is an improved service to the entire route."

The new postmaster said mailboxes of the approved traditional or contemporary design are required whenever a mailbox is newly installed or an unsuitable receptacle is replaced. A list of approved manufacturers of traditional rural or suburban-type boxes appears in the Postal Service Manual, the postmaster explained.

Where box numbers are assigned, the box number must be shown on the side of the box visible to the carrier as he approaches, or on the door if boxes are grouped. Postmaster Gross said customers are encouraged to place their boxes wherever practicable, especially at or near crossroads, at service turnouts, or at other places where a considerable number of boxes are located.

'Grannies' Must Now Be Licensed In State

"Grannies" have always been loved and respected by families and communities, but now, practicing "Grannies" are required to have a license.

The practice of "granny" or lay-midwifery is several centuries old. "Granny-midwives" have performed a very needed service in areas where there was a shortage of physicians or none at all, but their day is passing," says Bett Witt, chief of nursing in the Department for Human Resources' Bureau for Health Services.

Kentucky was among the first states to recognize the need for a professional, or nurse, midwife. The Frontier School of Nursing was established in 1899 and in 1974, the University of Kentucky started a program in midwifery training at a master's level. Both programs offer a variety of courses which include anatomy, genetics, physiology and psychology.

Deliver 712 Babies

During fiscal year 1973, licensed midwives delivered 712 babies in the state of Kentucky. Because the profession is growing in demand and popularity, DHR has filed the following regulations for a nurse midwife. She must be:

- + A registered nurse
- + a graduate of a program in nurse midwifery approved by DHR and the American College of Nurse-Midwives.
- + Nationally certified by the American College of Nurse-Midwives.

When a nurse midwife has fulfilled these requirements, she is given the title of Certified Nurse Midwife (C.N.M.).

Primrose Bowling is one of Kentucky's 24 licensed midwives and has delivered more than 200 babies during her career. Named by the midwife who delivered her, she received both nursing and midwifery training in Birmingham, England. She came to Kentucky in May, 1962, and has worked for several years in the public health field. Mrs. Bowling is now the clinic coordinator for the Lake Cumberland District Health Department, which serves Clinton, Cumberland, McCreary, Pulaski and Wayne counties.

Takes More Than One

"I definitely takes more than one person to have a baby," quips Mrs. Bowling. In May, 1972, she and Mrs. Mary Berry, a nutritionist, started one of the first programs of its kind in the state, in which the nurse midwife demonstrates her effectiveness in prenatal and perinatal programs. The term "perinatal" refers to the five months preceding birth and the first month after.

The program is funded by DHR's Developmental Services. It differs from the maternal and infant care projects offered by DHR and county health departments as it provides intra-conceptual care for expectant mothers. This means that a professional nurse gives care before, during and after pregnancy.

Expectant mothers are seen twice by a back-up physician during the prenatal period. The "back-up" physician decides whether the baby will be delivered by a nurse midwife or a physician. All nurse midwives must abide by the final decision made by a general practitioner or obstetrician. They are allowed to use silver nitrate drops to prevent inflammation of the eyelids of newborns, but are not allowed to prescribe or administer any other medication to either the mother or the infant.

Detect Problems Better

Mrs. Bowling and Mrs. Berry see expectant mothers every two weeks until the thirteenth week after which they see them weekly. Although this schedule is more rigorous than most, both women contend they are better able "to detect any problems which might interfere with normal delivery."

Mrs. Berry calculates the number of calories needed by each expectant mother on the basis of age, height, weight and nutritional needs. She does not "bother the mother-to-be with figuring calories, but attempts to teach her about serving sizes and selecting foods from the basic four food groups.

The majority of the women who come to the clinic are under the age of 25 and at least one-third of the caseload consists of young girls between the ages of 13 and 17. Because of the age factor, Mrs. Bowling and Mrs. Berry must be ready to offer "a listening ear and a shoulder."

"In addition to caring for these young women physically, we have to help them learn to cope with some of the emotional problems brought about by their condition," says Mrs. Bowling.

Following the birth of the baby, the infant is referred to a well-baby clinic and the mother is referred for family planning. Both the mother and child receive follow-up services for at least one year.

For the State Capitol

Agree Or Not

I say What I Think by S.C. VanCuron

One of the tougher subjects the 1976 General Assembly should address itself to is equalization of taxes and a plan to insure that assessments are kept near the 100 per cent cash value goal set forth in our constitution.

There haven't been many amendments to the 1965 rollback tax law enacted after that Assembly Court decision that year that all property should be assessed at fair cash value for tax purposes.

The rollback tax law transferred the inequity in assessments to inequities in rates. Rates vary all across the state.

An interim legislative committee is now working with the State Department of Education trying to draft a bill that would equalize rates for school taxes across the state. This is sorely needed to finance primary and secondary education and distribute the tax burden with equality among all property owners.

Equalizing the tax rate alone will not solve the problem for one unless some method is proposed to keep assessments equalized through the years. While the Revenue Department is working on this, it's an impossible job without support of the public.

Knowing that Property Valuation Administrators are elected, it's just a fact of human nature that favoritism will develop and that it is an impossible task for the PVA to keep values equalized because of the transience of the job. It's really almost asking the elected official to do an impossible job. The public is the best policeman we can get to keep assessments at fair cash value.

I have proposed to the Kentucky Press Association that all property assessments in the county be published each year, just as the delinquent tax lists are published. There is no way that every citizen can go to the tax assessor's office and go through all of the assessments to see that his property is assessed fairly with all others similar in a county.

If these are published, the property owner can look over the list in his own home, taking his good leisurely time for the task. This would be an expense, it is true, and a county could not be expected to handle it without provision for income to do so.

On the delinquent tax lists, the sheriff assesses one dollar for advertising. The same could be done on property assessments to pay the publication costs.

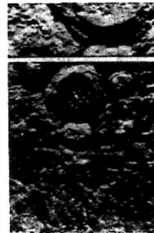

Since all property assessments for each county in the state is computerized, it wouldn't be too much of a problem to get this list for the newspaper. In the county for publication bill could provide that the list not be required to be published in its entirety in one weekly issue. It could be spread out over a period of four or five weeks. Or, if there is more than one newspaper in the county, the proper assessment could be divided up and across the newspapers cover to relieve too much of a burden on one newspaper.

Let's take Jefferson County as an example. In the St. Matthews area, the Vance-Jeffersonian could print those in its area. The Jefferson Reporter could cover its area, the Shively Newsweek could do the same, as could the Louisville Defender, and the Louisville Times could print the remainder not covered.

The legislature would have to work out the timing with the Department of Revenue, so the people could be given sufficient time to study the printed assessments and then appear before the Board of Tax Supervisors when they meet to hear complaints and make adjustments.

This seems to be a fair and equitable way to serve all of the property owners and to see that they get a fair shake in assessments. After all, the public should have a voice in policing equitable assessment of property.

No property owner should object to paying a dollar a year for each piece of property to have the entire property assessments in his hands to review and see that he is being treated fairly.

MERCURY Pictures released by Jet Propulsion Laboratory taken by Mariner II on the first and third fly-by encounters with mercury. The pictures were taken one year apart. The narrow strip at top was taken 2-17-73 and shows an area 12-miles wide. It was taken from a distance of 11,500 miles. The picture at bottom was taken by Mariner 10 on 3-29-74 and shows the same area from 20,650 miles. It measures 12.3 miles across. The large crater shows much terracing with degradation in secondary impacts from another nearby crater.

PEPPERS
We have word that the pepper plants for commercial growers should be arriving with 7-10 days. This means that we should be getting our ground in good condition before they arrive. Be sure to disk the field until you have a firm, smooth seed bed. Apply and disk in fertilizer unless you plan to put it in the row.

If you are going to use a chemical weed control you can use Treflan. This material must be disked into the soil before setting plants. Rates to apply are: 1-1/2 pints per acre of the Treflan 4E, or 10-15 pounds of the Treflan 5G. Enide is another chemical we can use for weed control. This material is put on after the plants are set. Be sure your tobacco setter is in good shape since it will be a good job planting peppers.

HAY
Do you want a good quality grass hay this year? If so, cut it early. Cut in the boot to bloom stage for high protein content. As grass plants approach seed stage their digestibility and protein content goes down.

Consumers' Corner HOME SAFETY

Whether you're in the market to rent or buy a home, several safety factors should be kept in mind. Inadequate electrical systems head the list of dangers common to older houses. The tremendous increase in the number of large and small appliances has added to the problem. Other factors include the desire for better lighting, the increased use of power tools, and the multiple use of television sets.

Now, when you rent or buy a home 10 or 20 years ago when such older homes were being built.

Stairways are often dangerous in houses old or new. Take care that your stairway has handrails that are at least 3 inches above the treads. Have a professional measurement of treads and risers; basement stair risers close the opening between treads; stairs are not too steeply pitched; and there is a good source of light in your stairways. Avoid winding stairways that tend to disengage with treads of varying widths and depths.

All rooms should have at least one window large enough for exit in case of fire. All fire-exiting devices should be visible to the outside; the chimney should be in good repair.

In the bathroom, a glass of safety or shatterproof glass - non-skid surfaces should be provided for tub or shower. A complete check-up on the gas, and fixtures should be made of reach of tub/shower units.

The following list of tips may be of some assistance. Consult with a building inspector or an architect concerning total home safety.

Governor Pledges Support For Education In Morehead Speech

Governor Julian Carroll, seeking reelection, said in a pancake and maple syrup rally on Morehead's courthouse lawn Saturday that education will be the priority consideration in state government for the next four years.

"We must elevate elementary and secondary education in Kentucky to an acceptable level... and no longer be 49th in the nation," the Governor told a cheering audience that overflowed the courthouse lawn.

With You. Please Help Our Schools." The placards did not go unnoticed by Carroll and he bore down on the words he said in almost every speech that "Kentucky's greatest need today is to elevate elementary, secondary and vocational education... and I intend to budget the dollars to get the job done."

Confident Of Easy Victory

He added that Kentucky's excellent ranking in the field of higher education will not be lowered in an interview with a representative of the Morehead News prior to the speech, Gov. Carroll said. "You can write that Morehead State University will have no fears or problems during my administration... their operating budget will be increased and Morehead will receive fair treatment as the President and Board of Regents have already been assured."

Carroll seemed most concerned about "getting out the vote." He said: "My election is assured by a majority of three or four to one. But, I want the strongest possible mandate from the people to carry through the programs I am charting for a greater Kentucky."

Sheriff Jack Carter, who introduced the Governor for his brief address, said: "Carroll is the surest and biggest winner in Kentucky's history."

The Governor ate pancakes, shook hands, and then sat on the edge of a table to talk with townspeople and farmers in an off-the-cuff manner. He was relaxed in a lighthearted mood, and obviously certain of victory on May 27 and in November.

The told the Morehead News "There's no question of winning... but only how big the majority will be." Carroll said he expects to carry 119 of the state's 120 counties, and probably all 120. He said the vote could be close in Jefferson County where his principal

The Carroll Committee for Governor said pancakes were served to over 500. In a brief address the Governor dwelt on dollars to upgrade Kentucky's elementary and secondary education, and told a representative of the Morehead News that the operational budget of Morehead State University will be increased. The Governor also pledged support to a modern highway from the Mountain Parkway to I-64 at Morehead, and expansion of health care facets at St. Claire Medical Center.

administration. Health Care — The Governor was reminded that St. Claire Medical Center has qualified for further expansion, depending on federal funds which are allocated and administered by state agencies. He replied: "Everybody is aware of the great hospital program at Morehead and that your community is known as a Little Mayo St. Claire hospital can depend on my support because it is in the best interest for good health in all of this part of Kentucky."

Sherman Arnett, Carroll's co-chairman in Rowan County, said he was pleasantly surprised at the large number of people who turned out so early in the morning (8 until 10). He estimated that "well over 500 people ate the pancakes" which were prepared and served by volunteer Carroll workers.

The Governor said nothing would be left undone to attract more industry, including foreign plants, to Kentucky. He added that the Browning division of General Electric, now under construction near Morehead, would not be here except for help from Frankfort.

Answers Reporters Questions
The Governor answered several questions asked by a Morehead News reporter, the most significant being:
Increased budget, because of inflation and other factors, for Morehead State University. He referred to MSU as a great institution under strong leadership and making a lasting and significant contribution to the Commonwealth.
Highways built to modern standards from Mountain Parkway in Morgan County to West Liberty to Interstate 64 at Morehead. Carroll said he had long been aware of the need for this road. "You can look at a map and see that this area looks like a desert," Carroll said. "I understand this proposal is before the Highway Commission, and is somewhat advanced." He added that all such highways depend on matching federal dollars, but this project wears high priority and he believed that it can become a reality during my

Jobs For 600 Ky. College Students To Be Provided

Julian M. Carroll announced Friday a campus work study program for approximately 600 college students this summer in a wide variety of community service activities. Up to $50,000 has been made available through a special grant from the federal Comprehensive Employment and Training Act.

The Kentucky Higher Education Assistance Authority has been given the responsibility to plan and coordinate the program.

Work site selection will be directed by Community Action Agencies (CAAs) as subcontractors throughout the state. The CAAs will work closely with the Area Development Districts in selecting public or private non-profit agencies to serve as work sites.

In order to qualify, a student must apply for financial aid with the student financial aid officer at the educational institution in which they are enrolled or plan to attend. To meet eligibility requirements the student must establish a need for earnings to enroll or continue their education. Based on family financial information the financial aid officer will determine whether a student needs additional money.

Applicants must plan to be enrolled as a full-time student at a Kentucky college or university next fall semester and must be a resident of the Commonwealth. Job referrals and job placement will be made by the Department for Human Resources' Bureau for Manpower Services office nearest the student's place of residence.

Students participating in the program will receive $2.10 per hour. The majority of job sites will fall into categories of clerical work, maintenance, recreation, social services, teachers aides, research assistants, health aides and others.

Gov. Carroll says "this summer may be the most critical Kentucky college students have faced in decades, in terms of finding employment that will enable them to continue their education."

He has often expressed a keen interest in the fortunes of young people finding work this summer and pledged the resources of state government to make this search as easy as possible despite the unstable economic picture.

Water Safety Stressed By Kentucky Agency

A tight knot of concerned people gather around the water's edge as rescue workers go about their sad task of tending to the victims.

Every summer the scene is repeated at lakes and rivers all across the country. It need not happen.

"Nearly all recreational accidents are preventable. And, all it takes is certain basic precautions and the consciousness that one must be prepared if a hazardous situation develops," said Kentucky Division of Water Enforcement Director Doug Shoulters.

The state's water enforcement agency operates on the premise that education is the best means of reducing fatalities. Shoulters believes that teaching young people in high schools and middle schools is one of the single most effective means of instructing all boaters.

Parents Reminded

He notes that the middle school students are especially observant of their parents' boating habits and do not hesitate to tell them when they are doing something unsafe. They don't forget their safety lessons - or let their families forget.

During the past winter, Shoulters reports, officers in the division conducted water safety presentations in more than 200 schools in Kentucky. They gave slide shows, lectured, and held question and answer sessions. Altogether they reached some 90,000 students, most of them in the middle grades.

"In the past two years, such off-season teaching has become one of our most important safety activities," Shoulters said.

The officers who taught the classes are now back on patrol on Kentucky's rivers and lakes, and will be until winter comes again. The state agency is working closely with the U.S. Coast Guard, the U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary and the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers. The Coast Guard Auxiliary, a volunteer group working as an educational branch, has been given invaluable work for boating enthusiasts in Kentucky, according to Shoulters. Through their courtesy motor boat examination program, the auxiliary runs a free inspection check for boat owners to see that a craft, and all its equipment, is safe and in compliance with the law.

Corps of Engineers Helps

The Corps of Engineers also cooperates and works closely with the state organization in planning safety programs. In addition to building the many facilities on Kentucky's waterways (except for Kentucky Lake, which was built and is managed by the Tennessee Valley Authority), they also act as resource managers of the installations.

An example of the cooperation between agencies is their sharing of various management functions on the state's larger lakes. For example, when an area of a lake is deemed dangerous or otherwise undesirable for particular activities, the Corps places and maintains marker buoys, the state Division of Water Enforcement patrols the area, and if it is a navigable river, the Coast Guard marks and supervises navigation channels.

The intent of state and federal boating laws and of the water enforcement agencies operating in Kentucky is to insure that every individual can engage in his or her favorite type of water recreation under the safest possible conditions.

Yet accidents, preventable or not, do happen.

Volunteers Risk Lives

And when accidents happen, the various rescue units throughout the state may be called in for emergency search and rescue operations. These dedicated volunteers give their time and efforts, often risking their own lives to save others.

"During low rescue and search operations, the team members are away from their homes and work," Shoulters continued. "For the majority of vacationers this will be a most enjoyable boating season. We urge the boating public to be safety conscious at all times."

Kentucky Afield

By Hope Carleton
Dept. of Fish and Wildlife

By John Wilson
Guest Writer

We're right in the middle of what is usually the best fishing time of the year in Kentucky—particularly for many anglers' favorite pan fish, the crappie. And as a pan fish, the crappie is hard to beat fresh from the frying pan and served with hush puppies and cole slaw.

But if that fresh fish dinner doesn't live up to your expectations, don't be too quick to blame the cook. Chances are you (or whoever caught the fish) are responsible for "strong" tasting or watery fish.

Probably, more fish are spoiled by improper handling between the time they're pulled from the water to the time they're brought to the kitchen than are ruined by improper cooking. To assure a tasty fish dinner, the fisherman should handle his catch with its ultimate destination—the frying pan—in mind.

First, the fish should be kept alive until they are ready to be cleaned. On boats equipped with live wells, this is usually no problem, but make sure that the well will retain water when the boat is running at speed. If the well is above the water surface while the boat is planing, it will drain and leave the fish inside high and dry.

If you use a strainer, strain the fish through both lips rather than through the gills, and don't drag them through the water while motoring from place to place.

Wrapping the fish in a damp cloth will allow them to survive fairly short periods out of water, but a long boat ride is necessary, it's best to put the fish in an ice chest or to "field dress" them by removing the intestines and gills and wrapping them in damp cloths. Any dead fish that before the trip is over should be treated the same way.

Never keep fish fish, cleaned or uncleaned, in water. This makes the fish flabby and watery. If you transport your fish in an ice chest, protect them from the melted ice by placing them in some kind of a container or in a sealed plastic bag.

Back at the dock, the fish must, of course, be cleaned and the method used can sometimes have an influence on how the fish taste. Most of the strong flavor or "fishy" taste is concentrated in the skin, bones, or kidney. Filleting removes all three sources of strong flavor and is thus advisable for those who don't like their fish strong or bony.

Fish are at their best if cooked as soon as possible, but if properly frozen, they can be kept for several months with very little loss in flavor. A handy way to freeze fish is to immerse them in a container of water (leave at least a half-inch space to allow for expansion and freeze. Most ice-cube tray compartments are refrigerators are available for long-term storage of fish, since they do not maintain the near zero temperatures required, to completely prevent changes in flavor or texture.

Eagles Capture 12 Of 16 Events In Dual Track Meet

Morehead State captured 12 of 16 events last weekend to double the score on Ohio University in a dual track meet at MSU's Jayne Stadium.

Coach Buck Dawson's thincadles roared to a 92-46 win over the Bobcats in the final action before this week's Ohio Valley Conference Championship at Eastern Kentucky University.

Two sets of brothers teamed together to run MSU's best time this season in the mile relay. Jerry and Steve Wyche combined with Mike and Kelvin Kelley to clock a 3:18.1.

MSU's Oscar Jones won the 120-yard hurdles in 14.6 seconds and freshman Bobby Jones won the 100-yard dash in 9.8 seconds.

The Eagles swept the first three places in the 220-yard dash. Jerry Wyche ran a 2:16 to be his best time of the year. Bobby Jones was second with 2:19 and Oscar Jones was third at 2:25.

"It was a total team effort," said Dawson. "We won 11 individual events and 11 different people were winners."

Dawson ran his career mark to 4:40 in dual meets in two seasons at MSU.

Frog Season Opens Today

A 170 day frog season opens in Kentucky today.

The season runs through midnight October 31. Frogs can be harvested with bow and arrow or firearm on a hunting license, by pole and line on fishing license, or by gig or per hunting day, which runs from noon to noon. The possession limit is 30 frogs after two or more days of frogging. No more than 15 frogs can be in possession in the field.

Most waters around Kentucky support frogs. Farm ponds and seldom frequented streams are considered the best places to catch frogs, though public lakes may be fished.

Most frog hunters take the amphibian by gig, though bow and arrow hunting is said to be the most sporting method. When hunting with a firearm, 22 shot shell is considered the best ammunition. The most sophisticated frog hunter usually takes his prey by hand. During the day to take a frog with pole and line, a hook can be baited with red flannel and swung near the frog's head until the frog jumps for the hook.

Frog hunting is thought to be best during moonless nights, when frogs will hold to a light. A six to twelve volt light is used for frog hunting.

Frog hunters should ask the owner's permission before entering private land.

Breck Soccer Team Wins 3-0 Over Lafayette High

University Breckinridge Soccer Team defeated Lexington Lafayette High School 3-0 at Morehead last Saturday. The victory raised the team's record to 9-2 for the year.

USC Captain Kevin Jullon scored the first goal of the game from in close. The Eagles maintained the lead at halftime. In the fourth period, Center Dillon scored again to raise his goal total to 12 for the year. The final goal was tallied by Wing Keith Haines as he drilled a passing shot from leftwing Chuck Ward into the net.

The game was primarily an offensive affair as both teams had numerous scoring opportunities. Much of the offensive portion of the game was minimized by good defensive play.

Forwards Dillon, John Sadler, Tony Bentley and Eddie Cox played together well as they had numerous shots on goal for the Eagles. Halfbacks Jay Roberts and Billy Calvert played outstanding at their positions both defensively and offensively. Fullback Joe Calvert was a defensive standout the entire contest.

The team remains home for their next two games against Lexington Tates Creek, Thursday night, May 15 and Oneida Institute, Tuesday night, May 20.

No-Fault Insurance Apparently Confusing

Many Kentuckians now receiving forms from their insurance companies are having trouble filling them out, according to Insurance Commissioner Harold McGuffey. McGuffey said the forms, which are being distributed by auto insurance companies who do business in Kentucky, are to be used by those who wish to reject no-fault auto insurance coverage. But apparently, he says, many policyholders are confused about how to complete them—incorrectly completed forms are being received by the Kentucky Department of Insurance.

your vehicle, you must continue to carry basic auto liability protection in the amount of $10,000-20,000 for injuries and $5,000 for property damage. And, unless you reject it, you must have a minimum of $10,000 basic no-fault benefits.

If you already have an automobile liability policy, it will be automatically changed by your insurance company to include the basic no-fault personal injury coverage.

Note, however, that in order to get this coverage, your right to sue will be limited in case of a minor injury. If you do not want this lawsuit limitation, you have the option to reject no-fault benefits.

If you decide to reject the lawsuit limitations, your rejection must be in writing on the form. If you don't receive a form, you can obtain one from your insurance agent, company or the Kentucky Department of Insurance.

A 10 per cent reduction will be reflected in bodily injury liability rates in the first year, if all members of a family accept the lawsuit limitation.

Under the new law, you will be allowed to sue when medical and rehabilitation expenses exceed $1,000 or if there has been death, permanent disfigurement, a fracture of a weight-bearing bone, a compound or comminuted or displaced or compressed fracture, a loss of a body member, permanent injury with reasonable medical probability or permanent loss of bodily function.

The purpose of the new law, enacted in the last session of the legislature, is to assure fast and automatic insurance payments to persons who are entitled to no-fault benefits and who are injured in Kentucky traffic accidents. It takes effect July 1.

No-fault payments will be made by the company insuring the auto in which the injured persons were riding, regardless of who caused the accident, hence the name no-fault.

Under the new law, if you are entitled to no-fault protection and are injured, your insurance payments will be made within 30 days.

The law requires that when you register

Conspiracy Charged In Vote On Local Option

Tom Yenowine, President of the Morehead Citizens Committee for Legal Control of Alcohol, charged today in a five page signed statement that Rowan County Judge Ott Caldwell has acted and illegally acted to prevent Morehead from having a local option election until summer "to stop a massive Morehead State University vote."

Yenowine said that "eventually the County Court's decision voiding the petition will be overruled... a local option election will be held... but, from the outset a legal and otherwise conspiracy has existed to prevent the vote from being taken while the University was in its first or second semester terms."

The head of the wet forces further stated "The question over the obvious breakdown of the local legal system was taken in a suit filed in Circuit Court against the County Judge. However, a week later the Circuit Court felt that it did not have jurisdiction and the suit was then taken to the Court of Appeals. After four weeks of indecision the Court of Appeals has ruled that it is a Circuit Court matter."

The Morehead News checked with Rowan County Clerk Wathan Armstrong. He said "Apparently the appeal on the local option issue was made directly from Rowan County Court and not from the Circuit Court."

Armstrong also said, Yenowine's Attorney Robert Hawkins of Frankfort apparently felt Judge Lane's ruling was correct... and the only recourse was to file the appeal from the County Court asking the Judge Caldwell's decision be overruled."

Judge Caldwell told the Morehead News on Friday morning that he had received nothing from the Court of Appeals. He said, however, that he received notice about two months ago from Attorney Hawkins notifying him that an appeal was being filed with the Court of Appeals Judge Caldwell said he received this letter shortly after the case was dismissed in the Rowan Circuit Court.

Two Hearings Conducted

Files of the Morehead News reveal the following chronological developments:

The Citizens Committee for Legal Control of Alcohol filed on January 31 a petition listing 1,021 signatures, asking for a local option vote on April 1.

Judge Caldwell set a hearing on the petition for April 18.

Testimony at the April 18 hearing was "heated" Judge Caldwell postponed making a decision on the legality of the petition until Feb. 24.

Additional evidence also heated and controversial was heard on Feb. 24, and Judge Caldwell postponed his decision until Mar. 3.

On Mar. 3 Judge Caldwell voided the petition. His ruling "This court is forced to deny a local option election since each page is not headed on the petition."

The following day, Mar. 4 Attorney Hawkins appealed to the circuit court over which Judge Caswell P. Lane presides.

On Mar. 7 Judge Lane ruled: "This court finds as a matter of law that it does not have jurisdiction on the subject matter. Following this ruling, Attorney Hawkins, representing the wet forces, placed his appeal with the Court of Appeals."

The statement, which makes many strong charges, released today under the name of Morehead Citizens Committee for Legal Control of Alcohol, and signed by Tom Yenowine as Chairman, is as follows: (Readers will observe that all of following consists of the statement itself.)

"The Morehead Citizens Committee for Legal Control of Alcohol was originally organized to circulate a petition and campaign for a Local-Option election. We've come out openly and repeatedly asking for a clean, fair election. However, after the unethical tactics used by a few of our more powerful opponents, we feel they have hidden the truth from the public too long. "We now feel the need for a local or state appointed investigation of this county's legal systems, the present authorities, and to destroy the 'Big Brothers' strangle hold on our community and your personal rights. "Their rightening power to sway legal decisions has been realized since a legal wet-dry petition was filed January 31, 1975. "What happened to the election and the petition? Why all the continuous delays? What is the true story?"

"It's a long list out in contains the fact of how you as Morehead Citizens, whether pro-dry or pro-wet have been cheated and robbed of your constitutional rights, probably not for the first time and undoubtedly not for the last."

It is noted that there are numerous citizens who have honestly opposed the petition and the election. They have, without doubt, celebrated the dedicated way that their associates have delayed, postponed and possibly denied Morehead of a wet-dry election. It is to these people we want to expose these willfully illegal acts which their representatives have used in obtaining these results. The honest people of Morehead, pro-dry and pro-wet, should be made aware of how these persons, hiding behind the cloak of righteousness, diligently spent hours reviewing a legal petition and by ignoring, misappellings, and even moving city boundaries, have misrepresented the truth. "Since they have refused to print our side of this controversy we now present the facts."

The petition contained around 1,021 names. The Temperance League's Analysis contained only around 930 names. STRANGE: The petition was composed of 67 pages of names. The League only managed to list names for 64 pages.

"3 City boundaries were slightly, but conveniently bent, placing Cadith Trailer Court, located behind Burger Queen as they termed it, "Out of City."

"4 Many present Morehead residents were listed as having "moved" Although some of these moves merely across town or even just to another part of Morehead, pro-dry persons were counted.

"5 Over 15 registered city voters names were supprisingly misspelled and thus not counted.

"6 Persons with similar names were counted as one and others who even signed twice or more were not even counted once.

"7 Any signatures of questionable legibility as simply disregarded.

"8 There were over 35 registered voters' signatures thrown out by the league for which no reasons were given.

"9 Due to a timely mathematical error, which gained the league two one-week delays. The number of their approved signatures was originally reported as 474. But, after having to submit their findings in written form, they did at the last moment raise that number to 480, which is still far short of the truth.

"10 Last, but not least, are the over-published forgeries. Of those numerous names which were "listed" as forgeries, only 3 or 4 were proven to be forgeries of registered city voters. More importantly though were that three of those names listed by the league as forgeries and stricken from the petition as such, were not forgeries. All three persons signed sworn, notarized affidavits that those were their signatures and that they knew what they were signing. Their names were still not counted.

"All of the above mistakes were taken directly from the list submitted to the County Judge by the Morehead Temperance League.

"Why have these mistakes been ignored? Why has the existence of these mistakes been ignored and denied?"

Prior to his decision, an appointment was made with the County Judge to present these findings. He never showed. "It took 4 persons over 50 hours to review the Temperance League's Analysis and to find and organize the ten categories of mistakes. The Judge gave, at the maximum 20 minutes to review the League's same list.

"During the County Court's proceedings, an itemized, undisputed list of the mistakes and the names of the petitioners affected was submitted and placed into the official court record. The Court was aware of these mistakes. Why were they willfully ignored?"

"State law was next to be ignored as the Judge allowed at least one person to withdraw his name after the petition was filed. [This is illegal under KRD 242.020].

"The County Attorney's advice on the legal procedure to strike a petitioners name was ignored, and the Judge even chose to ignore the Temperance League's Representative, who conceded that there were enough names to call for an election.

"Even an official computer print-out of all registered Morehead voters with those persons who signed the petition check marked and totaling 530 in number was disregarded.

"The last act of our court was to ignore the case examples set forth in Alcoholic Beverage Control Act, Section 24.2, prepared by the Legislative Research Commission, and to throw out 2 pages of the petition which the Judge felt did not contain a proper heading and of which he said, "The next paragraph says, "It is necessary that each or heading of the petition contain a caption or sheet" identifying its purpose." The next paragraph says, "It is sufficient to do this (identify the purpose) at the beginning of the first page of each unit."

"The truth is that the pages in question had the exact same heading as all other court cases. The heading was clipped to the top of these pages before being circulated, signed, or filed. They are still affixed to the top of those pages.

"The question over the obvious breakdown of the local legal system was taken in a suit filed in Circuit Court against the County Judge. However, a week later the Circuit Court felt that it did not have jurisdiction and the suit was then taken to the State Court of Appeals. After four weeks of indecision, the Court of Appeals has ruled that it is a Circuit Court matter."

"We know that even being run through delay after delay after delay and eventually a court that eventually the decision against the petition will be overruled or that the court may even acknowledge that a slight error was made in calculation.

"This whole sham is is not only tie the issue up in legal ribbons past the date asked for the election, but also past the April 25 deadline since no special election may be less than 30 days preceding any general election such as the May primaries."

"After April 25, the announcement that the petition was legal will force the election to be held at the next opportunity, anytime after June 26.

"The goal of all this conspiracy is, of course, to stop a massive student vote. Since their cover-up on the petition will soon be exposed, they want the election during the summer.

"Who are these persons who have used their power to deny you your rights? Why do they feel they can not win the election honestly? How high does this cover-up go? What else has been held back from the public? How many of these persons are in our political and administrative systems? Did pressure or money buy these results? Ask these questions and more.

"The boot-leggers, their suppliers, and their wealth are a part of this, because they need Morehead dry to continue their illegal activities in this and surrounding counties. Ask who are the other persons responsible for this cover-up?

"To those persons who hold the belief that there should be no election, do these means justify the end? Can you afford to allow your neighbors rights to be stolen? Couldn't you possibly be next? Ask your neighbor. Ask those persons that signed the petition why their families have been harassed. Ask why people were pressured from "High-ups" to have their name removed or to claim it was forged. Ask why local business people have been confronted and lost business after signing the petition. Ask people who circulated petitions about receiving threatening phone calls and why asking for the right to vote automatically transforms you into an alcoholic degenerate. Ask why the Wet Campaign Chairman's car was fire banded.

"Ask yourself Morehead, you may find the answers are not easy to live with. "These powerful people can be beaten. They are afraid. They obviously fear a fair and honest wet-dry election. They fear the student vote. They fear they will lose control over Morehead and its citizens."

"You can break their hold. Demand the truth. Demand a fair, honest election. Demand your legal rights. Demand an investigation and expose those persons responsible for this illegal cover-up."

"Wake-up and question those persons whose wealth you use to secretly control, and who possibly your very own life."

Future May Be Brighter For Nurse Anesthetists

Kentucky Commissioner of Insurance Harold McGuffey said Friday that the state's nurse anesthetists recently threatened by tremendous increases in the cost of medical malpractice insurance may be better off than was feared.

McGuffey said that in mid April, insurance officials were afraid medical malpractice insurance premiums for the nurses could climb to as much as $2,500 for full renewals. At that time, representative of the Kentucky Association of Nurse Anesthetists said the rates would amount to an equivalent of three months salary for nurses who perform anesthesia.

Now, however, the Nurse Anesthetists Association has received confirmation from March-McLennan, a national insurance brokerage firm, that malpractice coverage will be made available through Glacier General Insurance Company of Missoula, Montana.

Deputy Insurance Commissioner Jim Lamb said premiums will probably be about $775 per year for liability limits of $100,000. Lamb said that although this represents a rate increase of almost 425 percent, the situation has turned out to be far better than originally expected at this time. McGuffey and Lamb, both members of Gov. Julian Carr's Professional Liability Insurance Advisory Committee, said they still feel Kentucky is better off than many other states.

McGuffey cited news reports of a doctor's strike in California and continuing reports of vastly increased rates and cancellations in other states as evidence of the growing national problem in the area of professional liability coverage.

McGuffey said the governor's committee has already been reviewing legislative and administrative solutions to the problem, and may begin considering proposals for the General Assembly as soon as its mid June meeting.

Gov. Carrall created the committee composed of representatives of consumers, the General Assembly, Attorney Generals Office and the insurance, legal, and medical professions, when he recognized the threat to health care and medical costs posed by the malpractice crisis. He has directed its members to review and recommend solutions for the problem.

Reclamation Office Opens In Pikeville

By Jenny Pulliam

The door is open—and business is buzzing—in the new Pikeville reclamation office.

When last year's strip mine boom struck eastern Kentucky, more than twice as many acres were permitted for striping there as in the western part of the state. So, in April, the division of reclamation in the Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection established its fourth eastern Kentucky office.

The new branch lightens the work and travel loads of the Prestonsburg reclamation office, which previously covered that area. With its working force of eight, who already live in the Pike County vicinity, the office is ready for action.

Largest counties is not only one of Kentucky's largest counties in the area, but also one of the largest in coal mining. Because the steep land with its many scattered small mines makes it difficult for the inspectors to get to the mines, inspections were slowing down.

So the Prestonsburg staff recommended the new regional office. With the volume of mining and the remoteness of the area, it's economical to have an office in Pikeville to serve that area.

Personnel assigned to the Pikeville office are: Glenn Crumley, area supervisor, Alex Barkley, assistant supervisor, Tom Deskins, Rick Moore, Gary Hall, Dave Harvey, John Thacker and Andrew Daugherty, reclamation inspectors.

The location of the new office is RR 4, Box R-213 L, Pikeville 41501, and the phone number is 406-432-8126.

Carroll Recommends Allocations Of $17 Million In Surplus Funds

Gov. Julian Carroll has recommended to the Appropriations and Revenue Committee the allocation of $17 million from the general surplus fund to meet some of the most critical needs of Kentuckians.

According to Gov. Carroll, 51 per cent of this total will assist those people hardest hit by the recession and spiraling inflation; the aged, handicapped, disabled, unemployed and persons with no income or a very small income.

Education and educational programs will receive 43 per cent of this allocation and the remaining six per cent will be used in areas that Gov. Carroll says will provide greatly needed services and where funding at this time will lead to significant savings for the state in the future.

The Department for Human Resources will receive funds for five programs involving human needs. The Unemployed Fathers program, created by the 1974 General Assembly House Bill 94, will get $7.3 million to be eligible for $17.5 million in federal funds.

Helps Homemakers Services

The Homemakers Services for the Aged, Blind and Disabled gets $106,800 for $921,831 in federal matching funds.

The Area Agency on Aging will qualify for $12 million in federal funds after Gov. Carroll's recommended state surplus allocation of $660,000.

The Handicapped Children's program will receive $600,000 to compensate a reduced level of funding. A family practice care program to be implemented at Louisville Memorial Hospital will receive assistance amounting to $219,000.

The Education and Arts Cabinet will be allotted funds for seven projects, including $4010,500 for the Department of Education's Foundation Program. This will aid local school districts hurt by inflation - $200,000 to be used to aid nonprofit arts organizations throughout the state that agencies threatening to close. The assistance must provide matching funds - $87,100 to be coupled with matching funds for vocational rehabilitation.

- $86,000 to relieve overcrowded conditions in the department's space in the Capital Plaza. This includes renting additional space and purchasing additional office equipment.

- $20,000 to purchase laminating equipment for the Kentucky Historical Society to preserve historical documents.

- $15,000 for partial funding for two auditors in the cabinet.

- $61,000 to cover a financial and systems audit within the department. The audit was initiated last year.

Funds For Students

Gov. Carroll recommended to the lawmakers that $1.5 million be dedicated to assisting more than 3,000 post-secondary students in either the State Student Incentive Grant Program or the Tuition Grant Program.

A total of $1,173,300 will be distributed to the state's eight public higher education institutions to compensate increased operating costs and $250,000 to purchase equipment for the Louisville Technical Institute at the Jefferson Community College in Louisville.

The Secretary of State's office will receive $365,500 for the purchase of necessary computer equipment. The outright purchase of this equipment will produce a net savings of $151,008 in interest charges that would have occurred if obtained through a rental purchase agreement.

The Executive Department for Finance and Administration will receive $279,200. The state's centralized computer operations will be supported with $166,000 of these funds.

The state's assessment of the Spindletop property necessitates $20,500 for operation and maintenance and the funding of a staff of internal auditors will absorb $19,200.

Emergency Services Boost

The Department of Military Affairs is to receive $60,000 to expand the number of civil defense coordinators from seven to 15 to coincide with Kentucky's Development Districts. This action will result in quicker on-the-spot response in times of actual emergency.

The Legislative Research Commission was allocated $55,000. The 1974 General Assembly requested LRC to study the feasibility of locating a veterinary school in Kentucky and $50,000 will be used to contract with a management consulting firm for that purpose. The remaining $5,000 is to support LRC's Environmental and Economic Development Policy Project.

The Development Cabinet will be allocated $163,000 for administration, operation and expansion of its energy programs.

The Department of Revenue will benefit from $25,000 to hire property tax personnel with specialized expertise in the value of a specific kind of property. This allows for fairer assessments.

Better Junk Car Program

The Department of Natural Resources and Environmental Protection beautification (Junk Car) program is to get $45,000 to be matched federally and $5,000 from the Department of Personnel for staff persons to supervise the optional clauses in the life insurance program for state employees.

The Kentucky Public Employees Deferred Compensation System and the Financial Disclosure Review Commission will receive $20,000 for operating expenses and administrative purposes. The Department of Transportation got $15,000 for added security and services at the Capital City Airport.

In addition to the $17,322,700 contained in the surplus allocation is the $15 million previously allocated to the Department of Transportation for securing an additional $70 million in federal funds for highway construction.

Gov. Carroll also informed the Appropriations' Revenue Committee that Kentucky's diversified economy has spared the Commonwealth the fiscal calamities experienced by other states.

He, therefore, told the legislators that General Fund revenue estimates have been revised upward for the current fiscal year to $950 million and that Road Fund receipts are anticipated to be $266 million.

These revised estimates show increases of $50 million in the General Fund and about $8 million in the Road Fund.

The governor said he does not plan further supplemental allocations this fiscal year.

90% of today's prescriptions contain drugs unknown just a few short years ago.

Many of today's "wonder drugs" are only developments in the developing world of scientific miracles. The prescription drugs made their debut with Rowland in 1952. Dear Ann Landers: I am 29. My brother is 25. My sister is 23. We are all happily married and have children.
 Mother always "confided" in us the details of her sex life with dad. When we were growing up she would alternately complain and praise him on his performances. None of us was particularly interested. I had an idea such matters should be kept private, but I never said anything. I just listened, even though I was uncomfortable.

Now that we are married, Mom is always after us to tell her about OUR sex lives. My brother informed her it was none of her business. My sister and I decided he was right and decided to do the same. This has created a serious rift. Mom insists we are "hang up" and should seek psychiatric help. According to her, sex is a normal and natural part of life and should be discussed openly and freely without embarrassment. Her basic argument is, "I always told YOU everything. Why are you reluctant to tell me?"

Please, Ann. Give us your views. Is a psychiatrist in order? — We Three

 Dear Three: Yes. For your mother. She should have gone to one long ago to find out why she had the need to discuss with her children matters that should have been kept strictly between her and her husband.

You three are correct to refuse to discuss your sex lives with your mother. I can't think of a subject that is less her business.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a high school teacher who can't keep quiet now that I've read the letter from "Mind Of My Own."
 My heart aches for the parents of that girl. Nine months later, they'll be forced by conscience (or whatever) to raise the baby she couldn't "bear to give up."

How unfair to saddle parents with an infant just at the time in their lives when they have earned the right to enjoy themselves and be free of diapers, bottles, cribs — not to mention the expense that goes with raising a child.

I've seen dozens of pregnant teenagers who insisted on keeping their babies even though the boyfriend didn't want to get married, denied he was the father, and the girl couldn't prove it.

I say to every young girl who finds herself in this fix, please have some consideration for your parents. Go to a home for unwed mothers. (Your doctor will guide you.) Give a people a break — the baby, yourself, your parents, and some childless couple who would be thrilled out of their minds to take a newborn infant into their home. — Seen Too Much

Dear Seen: Good advice. I hope somebody out there listens.

Dear Ann Landers: The woman who signed her letter "Mistress To A Beautiful Hunk Of Man" sounds like the dummy my husband has been sneaking around with. She can have him. I've packed his clothes and begged him to get out, but he always ends up bawling and says he can't face life without me and the kids. I must be as crazy as he is because I love the skunk and am willing to keep him until he gets the foolishness out of his system. Since you ran HER letter I hope you'll run mine. Thanks. — His Wife

Dear Wife: I received 20 letters from wives who all believe the letter was intended for THEM. Don't fight, girls. He isn't worth it.

Publisher's Pen...

Day-by-day jotted-down, and editorial observations of the publisher of this newspaper.

MANY FACETS of an attempted local option election at Morehead are so confusing. The latest comes this week with a statement from the Citizens Committee for Legal Control of Alcohol Forces of the Court of Appeals has ruled in their favor; and the Circuit Court does have jurisdiction. We have been unable to find evidence to substantiate that the Court of Appeals has acted.

We have covered court news for half a century. The procedures as we have always understood them is that when an appeal is made from the lower (County) court, the appellant is required to prepare considerable papers, notices of service etc. And if an appeal is made from the Circuit Court to the Court of Appeals certain records etc. must accompany this petition and the action originate in the office of the Circuit Court Clerk.

Apparently no such appeal has been made from the Circuit Court, and such an appeal cannot be presented to the Court of Appeals directly to the Court of Appeals. We called two attorneys and they verified this. Really, we don't know the legal (in court) status of the proposed wet and dry election. We do know that the courts have made some strong accusations (elsewhere in this edition) but we fail to find where a valid appeal has been made to Kentucky's highest court. It's confusing and the committee desiring the vote on legal sale of alcoholic beverages appears uninformed of the legal steps required in such an action.

Again, there may be some process of law that this Publisher is unaware of.

STEVE PRICHARD, Head basketball coach at Pahokee (Fla.) High School, son of one of our adult lifetime friends, Henry Lee Prichard, writes:

"I am tipping you off to a basketball player that I coached and who is coming to Morehead State University. He is Andre Jones. "So, I'm telling you to watch Andre Jones. He has been compared to Leonard Coulter by those who have seen him play. He might be better than Coulter. I think he will set some sparks to the MSU basketball program."

Thanks, Steve. It's good news such as this that this sports-minded and Eagle oriented Publisher likes to receive. We hope you're right about Andre Jones, but caution that the going is rough in the Ohio Valley Conference, and Leonard Coulter is on our all-time MSU basketball team.

IT WAS OUR opportunity to chat a few minutes with Governor Julian Carroll at the pancake rally Saturday on the courthouse lawn. It was mentioned that the following appeared in this column: "We wouldn't be President of Morehead State University if they threw in all the buildings, the campus and the homecoming queen."

We told Julian we wouldn't cope with the Governors problems if they threw in the state capital, everything the state owns, and a harem of beauty queens.

It was our probing privilege to see some polls, made by the 'name' companies who conduct these, and Governor Carroll was evidently using these when he said he expected to win the primary by three to one, or four to one. Carroll, exuding supreme confidence, expects to carry 119 counties, and hopefully all 120. Only county in question, according to the polls, is Jefferson which is close and hard fought.

If we were Governor and a harem of beauty queens went with the office we probably wouldn't live more than a month after the inauguration. In fact, we might meek around the girls in advance and not live long enough to be indicted and office.

SINCE THE primary election is only nine days away, some political dissertation appears in order. First, we might mention that Memorial Day, May 26, is before the election, and surmise there'll be polking this year over many a grave.

For the past five or six years we have heard, and often so, about the mythical "golden triangle" or "polling triangle" in Kentucky. The inference is to draw a line from western Jefferson county easterly to include Fayette County and then north to the seat Campbell county line at the Ohio river; and if a state-wide candidate receives a majority within this triangle he is certain to win.

Many a politician has told us, "that's where the vote is."

So, we did some researching on our own, employing fact and not myth. Such a triangle would comprise the 3rd, 4th and part of the 6th congressional districts.

The Bureau of the Census places the Jan. 1, 1971 population of these congressional districts as follows - 3rd, 492,000; 4th, 492,000; and 6th, 252,000. (Bear in mind that not all the 6th district lies within the triangle. In fact, a sizeable part of that district is outside it). But, if all three congressional districts were contained in this triangle that politicians refer to so readily and often the total population is 1,436,000.

Let's look at the rest of the state's population. The Census Bureau lists these populations, as of Jan. 1, 1975 - 1st, 400,000; 2nd, 472,000; 5th, 491,000; and 7th, 400,000. That's a total of 1,763,000. The truth of the matter is that over two million Kentuckians live outside the golden political triangle, and about 1,250,000 reside within the triangle boundary.

When the Legislature meets, we believe such about this "political triangle" because the claim that he within it seems to want the lion's share of appropriations and good treatment.

The further truth of the matter is that we men who live outside that Louisville, Lexington, Covington and Newport triangle, just might get together and stomp hell out of them if it is necessary for us to get a fair shake. Further, any segment of the Circuit Court can form a block of votes in the General Assembly that will make the published "Louisville block" a somewhat insignificant minority.

Frankly, in political circles all we've heard, and continually so, is misinformation about the golden political triangle of Kentucky. The statistics don't lie like most politicians in the urban areas do.

KENTUCKY HAS GAINED in population by 149,000 since the 1970 census; and significantly so in eastern Kentucky. Only one congressional district - the 3rd, consisting entirely of Louisville, has lost in the head count.

The census bureau reports the following gains since 1970 by congressional districts: 1st, 23,000; 2nd, 43,000; 5th, 31,000; 6th, 32,000; and 7th, 25,000. Louisville (the 3rd) lost 14,000.

We're prepared to debate anybody about where the political strength of Kentucky lies; and we'll use the official figures, and not some of the political threats so often heard at the state capital.

A REMINDER that if there is a possibility you will be away on election day, applications for absentee ballots will be accepted by the County Clerk until May 20. The ballot is counted if received on or before election day (May 27).

BEHIND EVERY successful man there is a woman who keeps reminding him that she knows men who have done even better.

IT HAD BEEN a long day, and the mama snake wanted to take a short nap before she started supper. The only trouble was, her four baby snakes were hissing so loud that she was next to impossible with them in the pit. So the mama snake did the only thing she could, and told her four babies to go across the street and hiss in Miss Pott's pit. This they did until Miss Pott became so annoyed she angrily told the four babies to go back home and hiss in their own pit.

When they returned, the mama snake blew her top and angrily shouted: "Why, I can remember the time Miss Potts didn't have a pot to piss in."

ONE BRITISH WIFE in every four takes a lover at some time during her marriage, according to a poll taken among 10,000 women by Hull University. The survey also indicated that British men were good providers, but below par when it comes to love.

"As providers men do a satisfactory job," sociologist Robert Chester, who analyzed the data, said. "But when it comes to love, tenderness and intimacy, they seem to be sadly lacking." Chester said in many ways men had not kept pace with women's development in recent years.

"The modern woman demands much more of marriage than she did in the past," he said.

THIRTY VAGRANTS, many of them living on sidewalks and under Sacramento, Calif. buildings, have wired President Ford, asking for refugee status. They said ten of the South Vietnamese refugees look pretty good to us." Richard Young, their spokesman, said they "are not out to condemn the aid being provided Vietnamese refugees. But they want the same care... 'at least until work opens up.'"

THE SHIP'S CAT is becoming a thing of the past in Britain's Royal Navy. There probably won't be any more dogs, parrots or other pets aboard Her Majesty's fighting ships either.

The Navy says a memo has gone out to its 200 ships around the world reminding commanders of a recently passed anti-rabies law that makes importation of animals into Britain both difficult and time consuming.

Having a pet on board has not been banned outright, a Defense Ministry spokesman said, "but the rabies regulations make it extremely difficult to keep them." The tradition of keeping live animals on Royal Navy ships dates from the 18th century. Cats were used to catch rats and hens and pigs were kept as food.

By the early 20th century, every ship in the fleet had at least one pet, according to the Navy, but in recent years the practice has become less widespread.

THE LASTS TIME we had lunch in the U.S. House of Representatives dining room, four kinds of cornbread were available. It seems that Congressmen from various parts of the nation like their cornbread prepared differently.

We tried all four - and found that the one listed as "Kentucky and Tennessee cornbread" was the best and what we were used to. Most of the other contained sugar or were too hard.

Researching the Kentucky magazine this month we came across what the Publisher believes is the right mixture. The UK Extension Department says the following recipe has been handed down in Kentucky for generations.

Take 1 1/2 cups of cornmeal; 1 1/2 teaspoons of salt; 1 teaspoon of baking powder; 2 slightly beaten eggs; 1 1/4 cups of buttermilk; and 2

University Will Offer New Program In Reclamation

"Training minds for the mines" might well be the slogan of two new associate degrees at Morehead State University.

A two-year program in mining technology started last August and another in reclamation technology gets underway this fall.

Both programs are designed to prepare students for technical positions in the mining industry and each requires a summer of on-the-job experience.

"We have made sure that these programs contain only the material which is necessary," says Dr. Jerry Shuck, head of MSU's Department of Industrial Education and Technology. "We did our homework with mining companies and with the state and federal agencies concerned with tablespoons of melted shortening.

Mix the dry ingredients. Beat eggs and add them to the dry ingredients, along with the buttermilk. Add shortening to the dough. Mix thoroughly. Do not grease skillet or baking pan; bake at 450 degrees until done. The eggs can be omitted and the cornbread will be just as good. In fact, some prefer that the eggs be left out because this leaves the bread waxy and less crumbly.

To make the wonderful "crackling bread," all that is necessary, according to the home economists, is to add cracklings to the above mixture.

WE JUST looked at a dollar bill and Washington had his fingers crossed.

MARRIAGE is nothing more than a girl tightening her beads into a hard knot.

THE BEAUTY of the old-fashioned blacksmith was that when you brought him your horse to be shod he didn't think of 40 other things that ought to be done to it.

THIS RECESSION we are supposedly in is confusing. For example:

Tourist business was up 26 per cent in Florida last winter, an all time high. + During the first three months of 1975 casino winnings at Las Vegas hit $251.5 million, up 13 per cent from last year. Of course, the $21.5 million reported by the casinos to the state and IRS on which taxes were paid, does not include the "skim off the top" which mostly ended up, in numbered Swiss bank accounts.

MOREHEAD HAS changed for the better over the past 40 years in the number of people charged with public drunkenness. It's about half that of the depression '30's. "We pass on to the 'getting fewer' who regularly land in the calaboose for imbibing too heavily that they might move to Mull Island, Scotland," the distillery there has been producing so much whiskey there is nowhere to store it.

AN EASTERN KENTUCKY undertaker sent his best friend a birthday present. It was a card reading: "Good for one free funeral!"

NATHANIEL BROWN, a Charleston, W. Va., ex-Marine, looks like a walking target for knife and gun practice. Brown, 43, has been stabbed 15 times and struck by nine bullets in various "disagreements." He also has been hit by a train, truck and car. All the trouble has been in civilian life. He came out of a 1963-64 Vietnam hitch without a scratch. What puzzles him most, Brown says, is that most of the injuries were inflicted by friends.

OBSERVATION: A candidate will pick up thousands of votes by declaring for a bill to force the management of Churchill Downs to provide adequate toilet facilities on Derby Day. Women have to stand in line for almost an hour, and men for probably half that time. Porto-toledo would solve the problem, but it seems that Churchill Downs is interested only in making money and fattening the stockholders' pocketbooks. They treat the by-standers like suckers which we surmise we are.

TWO GAME GUY awards were added to the honor program at last week's Morehead State University commencement. They went to -

+ Mike Barnard of Mt. Sterling, who has been blind since birth. His seeing eye dog was there with Mike.

+ Life Daniels of Johnson County, a wheelchair patient because of an automobile accident. His mother moved to Morehead to care for Life while he struggled for his degree.

MSU's commencement was, as always, solemn, beautiful and impressive.

WE REMEMBER Phil Wicker, son of Prof. and Mrs. Monroe Wicker, as low-headed bright boy growing up in Morehead. Phil, who migrated to Somerset, has been elected Circuit Judge of that district without opposition.

ASK ANYBODY in Morehead who has a head and he'll tell you that spring has finally arrived and things are growing by leaps and bounds.

INSIDE INFORMATION is that the Historical Reversion Service has started issuing free rebates because tax checks provided by Congress to combat the recession. You should send 'em getting yours. Maximum is $1000.

If you think these additional Western paintings were quick on the draw, just open a joint savings account with your wife.

IN THE FIELD - Orris Watson, associate professor of mining technology at Morehead State University, explains strip mine reclamation procedures used by a coal company in Carter County. Watson and the students are standing on a silt dam. MSU offers two associate degree programs in the mining industry, mining technology and reclamation technology. Both involve extensive field studies.

SAN FRANCISCO — Blue jeans, says Yale law professor Charles Reich, "express freedom and wholeness of self."
 Expressive or not, this modest garment — once worn exclusively by the farmer, the cowboy, and the miner — is now at home in the world's most fashionable boulevards, in the finest restaurants, at the most elegant parties. The best estimate places current worldwide production of jeans at a billion pairs a year. Commonly in the Soviet Union, one of the few developed nations where jeans are not manufactured, have been known to pay as much as $140 a pair for a simple blue denim model which costs no more than $6 to produce. The incredible popularity of jeans, a phenomenon that began building in the early '50s and shows no signs of diminishing, has been attributed to more casual lifestyles, even to a desire for blurring distinctions. Whatever the cause, a prime effect has been to transform one San Francisco clothing store from an obscure wholesaler large into one of the largest apparel manufacturers in the United States with outlets in 15,000 retail stores. This is a company that in 1965 was doing $8 million in business, 75 per cent of that as a wholesale distributor of jeans. Last year, net sales exceeded $87 million and the company soon expects to join the exclusive list of America's top 200 corporations.

 Not surprisingly, Levi Strauss is a company with a passionate commitment to the concept of casualness. "The lifestyles of the world are changing constantly, and we try to keep up with them," says Walter Haas, the company's chairman and a great-grandnephew of the greatest gold rush entrepreneur of them all, Levi Strauss. "Jeans are a classic garment," says Haas, attempting to explain the popularity of his product. "People of all ages wear them, all races, all economic conditions. They're really the great equalizer."

 The altering of American lifestyles was the farthest thing from the mind of Levi Strauss, a Bavarian immigrant, as he boarded a New York sailing ship in 1850 and headed around Cape Horn for the California gold rush.

He landed in San Francisco with a large roll of canvas under his arm — planning to sell it for tents and wagon tops. Soon after his arrival, however, it was his good fortune to encounter an old timer who told him the real need was for a tough pair of pants that could withstand the rigors of the mining entirely and started marketing jeans nationwide. "I don't think I ever figured it would come to this," says Haas, who along with his brother Peter, the company's president, was responsible for molding Levi into its present structure. "Basically, what we've tried to do is serve society's needs."

 "Serving society's needs" has involved some shrewd decisions by the company's designers, regarding such trends, along with predictable misadventures. ("Striped jeans sure died fast," recalls one Levi executive.)

"The recycling operation is costly and time consuming. Each pair must be inspected (employees are constantly amazed at what they find in the pockets; even a little marijuana on rare occasions), washed, repaired, and stored."
 "And besides, it's all limited by the number of screws you make to the first place," says Sanguineti, shaking his head in wonderment at this newest fad.

State-Wide Health Planning In Kentucky Could Be Model

By Mary Gebant

"Kentucky is far ahead of most states in the development of a functioning Certificate of Need and Licensure Board and in state-wide health planning," says board member Delbert Gusley. He also serves as a nursing home administrator in Richmond and was elected this year as president of the Kentucky Association of Health Care Facilities. "Kentucky could be a model for other states," Gusley says.

Gusley made his comments during a recent visit to Redbanks in Henderson, a non-profit institution which has been cited by the state association for its community involvement. He was in Henderson in connection with the upcoming National Nursing Home Week, May 11-18.

Mrs. Georgene H. Fraley, Redbanks' administrator, says that she believes Kentucky has higher standards than elsewhere. "I've talked with administrators of homes in other states," she explained, "comparing our regulations and theirs. I feel we're ahead we have better regulations."

Gusley also points out that since the 1973 reorganization of state government, nursing home operators have "one-stop service" for licenses and regulations within the Department for Human Resources (DHR). The Certificate of Need and Licensure Board and the state Health Planning Council both receive staff support from DHR, and inspections are made by DHR's division of licensing and regulation.

Both administrators agree that the emphasis placed by the board on the distribution of facilities and on multi-level care within nursing homes means better care for the patient. "Nursing homes are long-term care facilities. The patient should be able to enter a home or near his own community, friends and family," Gusley says. "If someone enters a home, they should be able to move down the hallway instead of across town or even to another county."

There are three recognized levels of nursing home care:

- + Personal care, which involves supervision, a protective environment and only occasional nursing assistance in the activities of daily living;
- + Intermediate care, for patients needing assistance in their daily activities and occasional nursing services; and
- + Skilled nursing care, for patients who require continuous nursing services but not hospitalization.

"And if someone stays in his own community, he or she can continue to be cared for by his own physician. That's important," adds Mrs. Fraley.

She and Gusley both feel that it's important for their patients to continue to be a part of their own communities. "We the Kentucky Association of Health Care Facilities" supported one new regulation which is in line with our own goal of community involvement," he says. That regulation calls for nursing homes to meet the needs of the communities they serve and to work with other agencies within the community.

Jeans, Jeans, Jeans

He landed in San Francisco with a large roll of canvas under his arm — planning to sell it for tents and wagon tops. Soon after his arrival, however, it was his good fortune to encounter an old timer who told him the real need was for a tough pair of pants that could withstand the rigors of the mining

 "And besides, it's all limited by the number of screws you make to the first place," says Sanguineti, shaking his head in wonderment at this newest fad.

The company is quick to detect changing styles among young people; one of Levi's top executives likes to boast that he attended 11 high school football games last fall. It was this kind of insight which led Levi to a couple of years ago to start making pants with longer inseams, thereby accommodating the crotch platform shoe.

your week ahead by DR. A.W. DAMIS

- Forecast Period: May 18 to May 24
- ARIES Mar. 21-Apr. 19: A state of lethargy and indifference crosses your chart. Don't put your job project or routine tasks aside. Think you can get away with it — you won't.
  - Taurus Apr. 20-May 20: A few changes you've long held in mind will take place now. One other thing you're prone to want: direct. Stay in bounds with affairs of the heart.
  - GEMINI May 21-June 20: During this cosmic cycle, someone you've considered as being overlooked might surprise you. Actually a member of the opposite sex trying to build a social bridge — leading to you.
  - MOONCHILD June 21-July 22: This week when you hear "I'm strictly being professional and me — beware! One of your routine associates will be recruiting for a malicious scam!
  - LEO July 23-Aug. 22: You're entering a phase when it's going to be tough enough to understand yourself, without expecting someone else to know what you have in mind. So don't test "people."
  - VIRGO Aug. 23-Sept. 22: For most members of your sign, a series of subtle events are simply one word leading to another, could parlay into material gains. Look for a pleasant surprise.
  - LIBRA Sept. 23-Oct. 22: With you Libra, it's a case of mischief on the march — stay out of someone else's love quarrels. (Otherwise, you face some unpleasant quarrels.)
  - SCORPIO Oct. 23-Nov. 21: Many under your sign might find it hard to establish a pleasant romance pattern. Instead of the usual emotional approach, try a little perceptive logic.
  - SAGITTARIUS Nov. 22-Dec. 21: Suddenly you'll discover the someone you have overlooked has indeed become very interesting. There should be nice things going. Sagittarius! Have a pleasant week.
  - CAPRICORN Dec. 22-Jan. 19: Take care, there's a possibility of your sign buckling under too much outside pressure. So, recharge your emotional battery with those pleasanters you have long had in mind.
  - AQUARIUS Jan. 20-Feb. 18: This week's cosmic cycle gives you a window to see what's in store for your financial future. Keep close tab on what you hear and what you are promoting.
  - PISCES Feb. 19-Mar. 20: Keep a lid on your long term plan. Don't tip your hand during a casual gossip session. It seems as though your job task or project might be affected.
