Underwood Is Jefferson Day Speaker

Lexington Editor To Speak In Morehead On April 13

The Jefferson Day Dinner of the Eighth Congressional District, annually one of the political highlights of the state until its temporary discontinuance because of the war, will be resumed this year, Chairman Elijah M. Hogge announced today.

This year's dinner will be held in the Morehead College cafeteria at 7 p. m. on Saturday, April 13, which is Jefferson's birthday. Mr. Hogge said. Principal speaker for the event, which is expected to attract many leaders of the Democratic party in Kentucky, will be Tom Underwood, publisher of the Lexington Herald, and former Chairman of the party in the state.

Mr. Hogge pointed out that it will be impossible to provide for the dinner every year, and that only 300 tickets will be available this year. This curtailment, he said, was caused by limitations on scarce equipment, which the Morehead cafeteria has been unable to purchase.

Congressman Joe B. Bates, Eighth District Congressman, will be another speaker on the program. Among others who will occupy the speakers table are Governor Keen Johnson, Congressman Earl Clements, State Majority House Floor leader Jerry Fence Howell, State Majority Senate leader Dick Maloney, Secretary of State Charles K. O'Connell, Lyda Donaldson, John W. Brown, William H. May, John Whitaker, Ben Kilgore, and Harry Lee Waterford.

The year's leading Kentucky Democratic politicians have assembled to this dinner at which three such political strategies of the party has been worked out. With Kentucky's Senatorial and Congressional races coming up this year, it may be that the affair will provide an inkling of the candidates and the party line-up.

A limited number of tickets will be placed on sale here this week. The tickets are priced at $2.50.

An Appeal

Since the President of the United States has called upon the people throughout the nation, from a humanitarian standpoint, to make a sacrifice in the saving and production of certain foods in order to feed the starving people of Europe, and realizing that there is an insufficient supply of these foods in the nation at the present time to meet these needs.

We hereby urge that the citizens of Rowan County cooperate in the saving, preservation, and production of these food items, such as wheat, oats and fats as set forth in the request of the Production and Marketing Agency charged with the responsibility of setting up the goals for our county.

Given under our hands and seal this 30th day of March, 1946.

J. W. Riley, County's Most Colorful Politician, Quits On His 80th Birthday Closes Up Shop

Says He Will Always Keep Morehead As Voting Residence

One of Eastern Kentucky's most active political figures was 80 years old Monday—April Fool's Day. And, on his 80th birthday Judge J. W. Riley, the man whom the old timers say "came into Rowan County with a candidate card in his hand" locked his office, retired from 32 years law practice, and resigned his position as United States Commissioner.

Some 40 years ago Judge Riley vowed that when, and if, he became 80 years of age, he would retire. For the last two or three years he has been disposing of his property in Morehead and made plans for the time that he would lock the door forever at the office where he has practiced for more than a decade, situated down the street from the Rowan County courthouse.

The Judge (everybody calls him Judge although his last term as County Judge expired many years ago) held office in Rowan County longer than any other person, living or dead. In fact, during his 32 years, this dem. of the Eastern Kentucky bar, has held some kind of public office all the time with the exception of four years.

He retired from office, to use his words "comfortably fixed." But his colleagues and friends say that he accumulated considerably more money than just to be "comfortably fixed."

Judge Riley didn't retire because of poor health or because he was unable to continue his law practice as United States Commissioner. Rather he is as active as a man many years his junior. . . . has never been ill in his life and walks at a pace that is a marvel to his friends.

Judge Riley after locking the door to his office, and turning over the keys to Attorney Lester Hogge, who will now occupy the offices, boarded a Greyhound bus for Lexington to retire at his home 1918 Fontaine Road. He (PLEASE TURN TO PAGE SEVEN)

1,000 Veterans In Rowan Are Seeking Jobs

Government Has Set Up Program To Assist Employer

Editor's Note: The following article concerning the available number of unemployed persons in Rowan County who are seeking employment, was prepared by the Veterans Training Theoretical head office of the United States Employment Service.

The News editorially urges that employers investigate the advantages of "On-the-Job" and "Apprenticeship Training" programs. They offer outstanding benefits to both the veteran and the employer.

The United States Employment Service in an analysis of the file of unemployment applicants made in 1945, 1946 shows approximately 1,500 persons. Approximately 1,000 of the total number registered for work are World War II veterans. Theoretically these people are available for work. These applicants are without employment," but not all of them are "seeking" work. However, the majority of applicants are potential entrants to the labor market.

The purpose of the Job Development Program is to find better jobs for veterans. If we find the right kind of job to offer, most of these men would be employed. Veterans registered for work are qualified or potentially qualified for a variety of occupations in many fields.

Sixteen veterans are qualified for work in the professional and managerial fields.

Thirty veterans are potentially qualified for entry into the clerical and sales fields. This means that their interests in these fields are substantiated by leisure time, casual work experience or (PLEASE TURN TO PAGE SEVEN)

College Only 4 Short Of 500 Students

Enrollment Climbing; Large Increase In Fall Is Predicted

The largest student enrollment at Morehead State Teachers College since the second semester, 1940-41, was recorded in the office of the registrar there when registration for the Spring Quarter was completed last week.

The figure now stands at 496 students, of whom 223 are men. One-hundred thirty-eight of this number are returned veterans. (PLEASE TURN TO PAGE SEVEN)

Tragedy Hits Twice in Rowan County Home

Father Died Thursday; Son-Met Death In Accident Monday

Tragedy struck twice in a Rowan County home during the week claiming the father and a son, recently discharged from the Army.

The first death in the family occurred Thursday when James Edward Thompson, 65, father of five children, died at Haldeman. Monday afternoon a son, Plummer Thompson, 25, was killed almost instantly when struck by a car near the Walker-Caudill Store, Rowburn, one mile east of the Morehead City limits.

The elder Thompson, son of Daniel and Charlotte Thompson, was born December 18, 1880 in Rowan County and had lived almost his entire life here. He married Orla Barker, who preceded him in death a year ago. They were the parents of seven children, of which five survived: Mrs. Lee McMahon, Ashland; Mrs. Burt Madden, Soldier; Ernest and Coburn of Haldeman; and Plummer who was killed in Monday's accident. Funeral rites were conducted Friday.

Three days after his father's funeral Plummer met his death when struck by an automobile which authorities said was driven by E. A. Wihard, salesman for the Swift Meat Packing Company. Wihard said that he was blinded by an approaching automobile, and did not see Thompson until he had hit him. The youth's head was crushed and both legs broken.

The younger Thompson entered the Army in December, 1942 and was discharged last October. He was single.

Funeral services will be held at the home in Haldeman this afternoon (Thursday).

Arrangements for the father and son's funeral were handled by the Lane Funeral Home.

Warning Issued Against Animals Running At Large

A strict warning against people permitting chickens and dogs to run at large was issued today by Chief of Police Ed Hall. The Chief said that some people seem to be unaware that there is a City ordinance against allowing any animals "running at large" in the corporate limits.

There will be special entertainment before and after a business meeting later for the purpose of organizing a Service Men's Business Club for Morehead and Rowan County.

State Commission Orders 20 Percent Increase In Taxes

Frankfort Asserts That Property In Rowan County Is Now Assessed At Less Than 35 Percent Of Value

Another increase of 20 percent in the assessment of both rural and town property in Rowan County was ordered this week by the Kentucky Tax Commission. The Frankfort group also set out a flat increase of 15 percent on motor vehicles and livestock.

The order is another step in the long fight between local authorities and the Tax Commission in which the State claims that Rowan County assessments are "far out of line" with the rest of Kentucky.

Patrol Starts Crack-Down on Drunk Drivers

23 Arrested For Traffic Violations Here In Two Days

A campaign to jail drunken drivers and take defective automobiles off the road was under way here this week as State Patrolmen sought to eliminate an increasing number of wrecks which have given Rowan County one of the highest accident rates in Kentucky.

The patrol, led by Captain Fred Hall, of the Elkridge district, who was sent here expressly to "find out what the matter is" and by Lt. Callis, who is chief of the Morehead office, had made 23 arrests the first two days, and the drive has only begun. Many of the arrests were for drunken driving, and six convictions for this offense were obtained in 48 hours.

"We're going to take the drunks off the road and we intend to see that cars without proper lights and other defects, which cause wrecks, either keep off the roads or their drivers will go to jail," Captain Hall declared. "In only two days here I have found Rowan County to be one of the worst places I have ever seen for drunk drivers." He continued.

The Captain said that nearly half of more of the violations are by people who live in other counties.

Capt. Hall and Lt. Coyle pointed out that motorists had already had plenty of warning. "The only way we can curb these accidents is by marching them straight to jail."

The stretch of highway on U. S. 60 between Morehead and Farmers was described by the patrolman as particularly dangerous, with three and four wrecks a day.

Glennis Fraley Named Director On Ohio Valley Hereford Ass'n.

Glennis Fraley, Morehead business man and the county's top Hereford breeder, was named on the Board of Directors of the Ohio Valley Hereford Association in session this week at Huntington.

The association embraces Hereford breeders in this, Kentucky and West Virginia.

Fraley has built up a large herd of this pure-bred strain on his farm on the Flemingsburg road. Serving with him on the Board are some of the outstanding breeders in the United States.

Robert Bishop, another Rowan County Hereford fancier, also attended the Huntington meeting.

Rowan Gets Increase For County Roads

Allotment Almost Trenched Under New Setup In Kentucky

Rowan County will get almost three times as much for rural roads according to an allotment made this week from the rural highway department. The county is to receive $25,300 as against $13,025 they obtained last year.

Increase in rural county aid road money and adoption of a new formula by the Kentucky General Assembly will result in the $494,352 more money for the roads in the 16 counties comprising this district, Kenneth C. Frye district engineer, announced today. The budget adopted, $5,000,000 will be provided annually for county roads, and the new formula will make possible division of one third of the total on a basis of rural population rather than total population.

The change the population figures in cities of more than 1,000 from the division calculations. Mr. Frye said, "Rural population in Morehead all day on Tuesday and Wednesday, April 9 and 10. Anyone desiring to enlist in the army or who wants information on enlistments should contact them on these dates."

Local officials hold little hope of halting the increase. There is some opinion that the 20 percent jump on town lots and improvements might be averted or slashed since property in Morehead and vicinity is assessed at a higher percentage of its value than are Rowan County farms. This tax increase order was not unexpected, nor is it new to this county. A fifteen percent increase became effective two years ago while the Tax Commission has set up figures to show that Rowan County's average assessment is less than 35 percent. These Rowan figures are based on Kentucky tax assessments, pointing out that some neighboring counties are assessed between 60 and 70 percent, and very few counties in the state fall below the 50 percent level.

The World's Best Savings Account

It's a farm woodlot. It has many advantages over the ordinary commercial kind. Here's why:
It can be started for just a few dollars invested in seedlings. Sometimes the original investment is all that's there and waiting when a farmer buys a piece of land.
It grows larger every year with only the investment of a little time and labor during those months when farmers are least busy.
It pays an annual interest rate in excess of five percent.
It has a constant cash value.
An initial investment in a farm woodlot together with the investment of a little off-season time and labor is all that is ever needed. A farm woodlot bank account grows forever.
Of course there are certain DON'TS too.
Don't clear-cut a farm woodlot and expect to get an increasing annual return, along with increasing value of the woodland. After all, a person who draws the principal out of his commercial bank account can't expect as much interest out of the balance that remains. And if he draws it all out, nothing is left.
Don't carelessly allow forest fires to start. That is like making a sheet of paper dollars and setting a match to it.
Don't cut carelessly either. Selective cutting and thinning of farm woodlots is like pruning out wood investments—only in a farm woodlot all the wood that is cut becomes pulpwood . . . and cash.
The don'ts aren't any different than those that any cautious banker would advise for a depositor. And the advantages in having a farm woodlot make it probably the safest and best bank account in the world.

Sylvester Graham, the gent who gave us Graham bread, urged cheerfulness at meals. It might have worked in his day, but it's hard to be cheerful when you have to pay 60c for a soup bone.

Harbinger of Spring

Mother Mayme was dressed in an ensemble that was once her daughter's. But I must say it was very becoming. In fact she looked very much like Wally Simpson that married H. R. H. Wales. I don't know whether she was trying to out-do the bride or impress the new husband.

Barbara Ann Shaffer sang a beautiful song and I cried. Barbara is the daughter of Warren Shaffer who owns the Mills Theatre, which is now showing a double feature: "Who Bit the Dust" and "Why Cows Come Home." No change in admission.

The bride was dressed fit to kill and she was as pale as a ghost. She said "I" and it seemed to me thirty minutes before the finished with "Do." But, no one had called time out.

The regular minister of the church was busy all the time picking flowers from the numerous baskets and corsages that cluttered the beautiful interior of the church. He came to the Men's club that night with a gardenia in each lapel and they sure showed up that 14.50 he wear it.

This was one of the most beautiful weddings that I have ever attended and I do hope by now that the attending members will have found the proper owners from whom they borrowed suits and dresses.

Let Mother pay all the bills and furnish the groceries. Treat her like she is a queen. Let her be once in a while let her split the kindling and carry in the coal. She would not be happy otherwise.

I almost forgot the reception. It was beautiful, too. Most everyone said the same thing, such as "My, how beautiful and grand." "I thought he was just grand" and "I wonder if he has any money."

I later found out that everyone had brought a book from the Allen News Company entitled: "Questions to Ask at a Reception." Elwham Allen forgot to include the answers to the book. So everyone just asked questions.

There will be over twenty thousand dollars leave our fair city on Derby Day. And, that's cash! IT HAPPENED IN MOREHEAD (FROM A LETTER BY THE PRESS)

Happy Surprise Stonewall Jackson was awakened from a sound sleep at 2 o'clock in the morning Tuesday by someone knocking at his door. After the loud knocking continued for some time he finally got up and opened the door.

Standing on the doorstep was his son, George, whom he hadn't seen in nearly three years. Mr. Jackson thought that George was in Europe, and says it was the biggest and happiest moment of his life.

George plans to leave this week for New Orleans to join his wife and work for the Associated Press. He plans to go to school for a while, although he has been offered employment in New Orleans.

Dog Wake Miss Emma O. Bach, head of the department of Foreign Languages at the Morehead State College, and who can fluently speak some seven or eight languages loves a dog more than any one we know.

Miss Bach, however, suffered a real heart tragedy Sunday when her dog, Fanny, was hit by a car and killed on the back yard. Fanny's death has truly left a vacant spot in Miss Bach's kind heart.

Fishing Time If you don't believe that Moreheadians have spring in their blood, and are taking advantage of this beautiful weather, the records at the County Court Clerk's office will convince you. A new record for the sale of fishing licenses was set in March as Clerk Bernard Day issued 190.

Ninety-six deaths were recorded during the month, also a record.

Hazardous Residents on Sun Street are complaining that a serious accident will happen unless the bridge which crosses Town Branch is repaired. It appears that the concrete on the bridge supports froze up this winter, and when the thaw came they partially collapsed. The bridge has sunken considerably and now the approach or street level.

The city council has promised that it will be speedily repaired.

Wants Vacation: Most of us would be satisfied with a two weeks vacation. But Ernest Flannery custodial employee at the Morehead Postoffice, will have vacation for all the rest of the year.

It seems that there was a mix-up as to whether Flannery was entitled to a vacation when he first began work at the postoffice many years ago. Now, the postoffice department has decided he is entitled to all this back vacation, and told him to take the year off, with full pay.

Picked Up Around Town The Morehead Police Department is more than paying its dues. Fines, which have been steadily climbing (most of them on drunken charges) now exceed the cost of the department's operation.

FRIENDS OF JESUS

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 23: 1-12; Luke 6: 12-16; 11: 27-32; John 8: 12, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, 37, 38, 39, 40, 41, 42, 43, 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, 59, 60, 61, 62, 63, 64, 65, 66, 67, 68, 69, 70, 71, 72, 73, 74, 75, 76, 77, 78, 79, 80, 81, 82, 83, 84, 85, 86, 87, 88, 89, 90, 91, 92, 93, 94, 95, 96, 97, 98, 99, 100.

Jesus is our friend. We may be His friends. Simple words that present the most precious and satisfying experience of life. There is nothing more wonderful than friendship with Jesus!

We must know the friends of Jesus and make Him our friend, simply by putting our faith in Him as Savior and Lord and doing what He commands. He said, "Ye are my friends, if ye do whatsoever I command you" (John 14: 15).

What kind of friends are Jesus choose? Did He limit His interest to a select circle of very religious people, or to the cultured and educated folk of His day? It may surprise some Christian people who have made the church a sort of exclusive club to leave those who were the interested and the love of the Lord whom they profess to serve.

1. Children Were Welcomed (Mark 11: 14-16).
Observe that the scribes had fallen into that strange mode of thought which excluded the children. They were undoubtedly well-meaning men, but they were the Master from the intrusion (as they thought) of little ones. It was an attitude of friends to Jesus. He bore silently with their mistakes, but this was so serious that they must be rebuked.

Little children belong with Jesus. Let us not forget it, and let us not fail to make it easy and attractive to the children of the Lord in our churches and Sunday schools.

II. Witnesses Were Chosen (Luke 6: 12-16).

It is significant that these men were of simple childish spirit, uneducated, unlearned, unlettered, but with a real genius for friendship both with the Lord and with a needy world.

The close fellowship of our Lord with these men was their course of training for service. Their close friendship was the burning fire which kept their hearts warm through the difficult years ahead.

III. Women Were Helped (Luke 8: 1-3).
Yes, and they became the Lord's willing helpers, just as a multitude of His sisters in the faith have been down through the ages.

Women responded readily to the training of Jesus. He was able to look for loyal and sacrificial service.

Women were highly honored in His time on earth. They are more than usual creatures in judgment—kind, generous, unselfish, and true.

Some of the women were of a noble place of dignity and usefulness. Every woman ought to love Jesus, and to be a friend of His.

Note that some of the wealthy women gave of their means to serve Jesus. It is one of the effective ways of loving Him.

IV. Outcasts Were Received (Luke 15: 1, 2).
Publicans and sinners—who would they be in our day? Drunkards, thieves, gamblers, prostitutes, criminals of all kinds.

A beautiful and touching word of the Bible is that it is noted in Peleeb's words. Listen sinner, Jesus "negatives into Himself sinners. He takes them into His compassion, makes familiar friends of them, takes them to His heart, and in the gospel. He is not high-sighted and says, 'I will not take you and offering you pardon if you will kiss His scepter. He is by you in the pew. He is close to you in your sin. He is with you as you are with the poison and the virus within you, put His arms about you and give you a great embrace. His question will you let Him do it—how?"

V. Sinners Were Converted (John 8: 12, 24).
"No man mighty, not many notable are in our day. I would thank God, it does not say 'no any.' Some there were in high places who set aside their pride, their position, and to come humbly to Jesus.

Nicodemus was one of these. It is said that he was a Pharisee, but he came; and that is wonder enough for a man in his position. Read his defense of Jesus amid the scorn of the Pharisees and Sadducees (John 7: 45-53).

These, then, are the friends of Jesus. Do you find you are among them? There is room for you. He is waiting to receive you. Will you come to Him now?

Salt Lick Youth Recaptured After Escaping Jail

Junior Hardin, Salt Lick, who was arrested and lodged in jail in Owensville a week ago charged with cutting and wounding Floyd Link in a difficulty at Salt Lick, escaped from jail sometime during Saturday night by burning out the frame and cash from an upstairs window. After his recapture Sunday, he was arraigned before County Judge Walter Shroat Monday morning and held over to the grand jury at the May term of the Bath Circuit Court on his plea of guilty to the cutting charge and waiver of examining trial. He drew a fine of $50 for destroying public property and was released on bond.

Attempt Will Be Made To Enter Shaft Where 20 Men Entombed

An attempt will be made at an early date to enter the Kentucky Straight Creek coal mine near Pineville in which 20 men were left entombed after an explosion December 26, Harry Thomas, head of the State Department of Mines and Minerals, said today. Tentative plans for a series of steps leading to recovery of the bodies and an investigation of the explosion were decided on at a meeting of State and U. S. mining officials at Pikeville last week, Thomas said.

Because the operation will be hazardous, utmost precautions will be taken to minimize the danger to those participating in the work. As a result, progress may be slow, Thomas said.

Expect Fires Still Burn. An airtight seal was placed at the driftmouth after 50 hours of frantic rescue work. January 1, but mountaineer air leaks have kept the oxygen content too high to hope that fires left raging 10,000 feet deep in the mine might have been smothered.

Another meeting of mine officials was set for next week to determine a definite date for removal of the seal, but because of the death today of Thomas' father, R. C. Thomas, at Paintsville, the meeting will be delayed.

Thirty-one miners were trapped originally by the explosion, but eight were brought out alive and three were found dead. Two of the eight have died since that time.

May Be Classified "Gascon." Despite the heavy toll of the explosion, mining casualties in Kentucky declined last year, totaling 128 as compared to 157 in 1944, according to the first casualty bulletin issued by the Department of Mines and Minerals since the explosion. The 1945 total included the 20 entombed in the Straight Creek blast. A recommendation that when and if the Straight Creek mine resumes operations it be classified as a "gascon" mine was included in the bulletin. Special precautions are required by law in gasoline mines, including the employment of a special "fire boss" to precede mine crews into the mines.

A second bulletin issued by the department showed that mining fatalities in Kentucky for the first two months of 1946 totaled 18, the same number that died in state mines the first two months of 1945.

Comets Say Breck Toughest Team They Encountered

The Olive Hill Comets, rated by many fans as the second best high school basketball team in Kentucky this year, although they didn't get to the state tournament because champion Breck was in their way at the Regional, have rated Breckridgeway as the toughest team they faced all year.

Maysville was selected as their second toughest opponent, with Dayton third.

The Comets picked the following all opponent team: Sonny Allen, Don Battson and Frank Foley of Breck; Long John Thomas, Russell, Gene Wegner, Ashland; Kenney and Gene Reeves, of Maysville; Charles Simmon, Grayson; King Cole of Dayton; and Marvin Meredith, Catlettsburg.

Mr. Everett Amburgey left Thursday for San Antonio, Texas, to look after business affairs. He will return the latter part of the week.

RANGER'S COLUMN

Frequent rains and warm days have swelled the buds of the forest, coaxing the first spring flowers into bloom. The yellow-green blossoms of spicewood, the feathery white serpyllery, and the lavender-flowered redbud or Judas tree lend both color and fragrance to the swelled landscape while tiny violets and bluebells carpet the forest floor. It is the time of the year when the great pulse of Nature begins to quicken. For foresters this is the busy period, when forest fires are most liable to start and do most damage to the awakened trees; still, this is my favorite of all the seasons. To me the forest is never more beautiful than when its first dews cloak of fresh emerald green for another year of growth.

Forest fire No. 8 for the year was chalked up last Thursday afternoon when Chester Robinson at Clearfield burned a broom sedge patch and made plowing furrows next to the woods and the air was still, so he decided not to work until late afternoon to burn. The wind sprang up (as it always does), flames licked across the plowed strip and up the slope through the woods. The Caudill brothers, neighbors, came to Robinson's assistance and with the help of the Forest Service the fire was confined to 8 acres, most of it on Robinson.

As we stretched out on the ground to relieve tired muscles and catch our breaths after checking the fire I asked Mr. Robinson where he had made his mistake. He immediately answered that he should have waited till late in the day to start his grass fire. He will pay the cost to the Federal Government of suppressing this fire, an expense needlessly incurred, just because he couldn't wait till sundown to light that match.

A number of arguments pro and con are circulating freely these days with the opposition to the lion's share of the publicity at the moment. Personally, I can sympathize with the landowner, the old "resident" who has lived and toiled on these bottomland acres, the man to whom this soil is home. This is an intimate matter to him, to be uprooted from the land he loves. But I believe that the good Americans in this group, if shown the benefits that will accrue to so many who will be protected from devastating floods, will not grudge this sacrifice to help the big river. My sympathy does not extend to the "moneyed interest" or power companies. If we can get cheaper power incidental to flood control, let it come, and welcome.

But to return to some of the arguments presented by the opposition; I notice the statement that fishing and recreation is general will not improve, that soil and mud will cover the edges of the lake when the water level drops. I am wondering how many of the opponents have visited Norris Lake, part of the TVA development. It is considered one of the finest camping sites in the East, a fisherman's paradise. Another argument, that is far-fetched is the rumor that highway and railroad may be rerouted, by-passing Morehead. When the Falmouth-Letcher completed the present location of railroad and Route 60 will cross the lake at approximately its narrowest width, at the eastern tip. Furthermore, the Federal Government, it is understood, stands the cost of the overhead bridges or whatever it will take to span the lake.

I am holding no brief, pro or con, but I hate to see such specious arguments circulated. It is difficult to see how Morehead and Frenchburg and Mt. Sterling and all towns bordering these big lakes can do right but gain from their installation.

Surely it is reasonable that if we can bring the great mid-western country, in which the vast production of farm products which hides its natural resources and produces our surpluses grow, to a state of permanent prosperity, all the country will be the beneficiary.—Congressman Robertson of South Dakota.

45,000 Miners In Kentucky Out On Strike

Walkout In State Follows Nation-wide Halt By Unions

An estimated 45,000 soft-coal miners, members of the United Mine Workers, were out on strike in Kentucky as part of the 400,000 union members out in the nation-wide walkout.

From Madisonville, officials of U. M. W. A. District 23 said 5,500 members were involved in the Western Kentucky coal fields with 55 mines closed down in Hopkins, Christian, Muhlenberg, Ohio, Union and Webster Counties. A few scattered mines, those organized by the Progressive Mine Workers and small strip mines worked by independent miners, were not affected by the strike.

Meetings Held
 U. M. W. A. locals called meetings in Providence and Dawson Springs, but officers said the sessions were routine.

About 40,000 U. M. W. members in the five East Kentucky districts were out, with miners and their page as a gala event. The Progressive Mine Workers were still plying their trade in Kentucky mines—at Benham, Harlan County—and a few small ones. A few independent strip mines also were operating.

The state's large industrial centers reported, for the most part, adequate coal supplies for the present, especially if the present mild weather continues.

Deliveries Limited
 Frankfort reported the State Capitol and other Government buildings and power plants to last 10 or 15 days. Other State institutions were reported well supplied.

Distilleries reported three weeks' supplies or more on hand and other industries had similar stocks.

Retail dealers in many cities were limiting their deliveries to homes to a ton at a time. Their buildings had coal for their heating and power plants to last time present supplies would last were admittedly vague, being dependent on the weather, but none of the dealers questioned foresaw any prospects of critical shortages.

Highway Department Sets Up System To Handle Claims

Frankfort, Kentucky, March 28 —Creation of the new Board of Claims to expedite settlement of damage claims against the Department of Highways will save both the state and the plaintiff time and money, according to J. Stephen Watkins, Commissioner. The law treating the new Board becomes effective June 19 and will consist of a judge or commissioner of the Kentucky Court of Appeals, the Attorney General and the Commissioner of Finance. They will serve without added pay. Claims to be filed are limited to $1000, but can be settled by the Board without resorting to formal action by resolution by the General Assembly.

By ROBERT GRAY

The annual F. F. A. Pest Eradication contest ended on March 29, 1946. Only two boys collected enough points to compete for the prize money. They were 1st, Ralph Christian, 1700 points, 2nd, Richard Maxey, 700 points. To add to the list, Ralph killed, 28 rats, 5 mice, 120 sparrows, and 4 starlings.

To take second place Richard killed, 25 rats, 5 mice, 18 sparrows, and 11 starlings. There were seven boys that entered the contest. They amassed a total number of points amounting to 2725 points.

To do this they killed 54 rats, 16 mice, 156 sparrows, 15 starlings, 11 black birds, and 1 opossum.

The prize money for the contest was donated by two men who have always been interested in our F. F. A. chapter. They were Mr. Robert Bishop of the Bishop Drug Co., of Morehead, Ky., and Mr. Glennis Fraley of the Monarch Supply Co., also of Morehead. The prizes were $5 to Ralph Christian donated by Mr. Bishop, and $3 to Richard Maxey donated by Mr. Fraley and company.

Fight The Proposed Falmouth Dam
 and its associated reservoirs at Poole's Creek, Butler
 Station and Cave Run

The Following Editorial Is Quoted From January 3, 1946 Issue of the Cynthia Democrat, Cynthia, Ky.

This Power Plant Is Wrong

We read the details of the proposed Falmouth Dam without any enthusiasm. It is intended to be "primarily" a power dam with "incidental" flood control and recreational advantages. It was said that any other method would not be feasible.

In 1936 the Army Engineers planned to build flood control dams at Falmouth, Myers and Cave Run. No hydro-electric feature was contemplated then, nor would the dams were feasible then, why are they not feasible now?

As we have said before, hydro-electric uses of the dam are inconsistent with, and hostile to, flood control purposes on the Licking River. If the reservoir fills up with the first winter rains will the Army Engineers empty it immediately or will they generate electricity?

If the reservoir is kept full to generate electricity, and there is another heavy rainfall that makes dangerous flood conditions on the Ohio, this new fall of water will contribute to it and the flood control purpose of the dam will be rendered useless.

To us it seems that the Army Engineers are trying to go into the power business on a big scale and that flood control and recreation are being used only as a blind to win support for their projects. We resent this as an imposition on all others who are genuinely interested in developing the recreational possibilities of our state.

If the development of these dams for flood control purposes, with recreational facilities as an incident, is not feasible, then the dams should not be built at all.

We fear that the Army Engineers, in their efforts to out-T. V. A. the T. V. A. itself, will soon forfeit the respect and confidence of the people of the county. Certainly the generation of electricity for the benefit of a few does not justify the taking of tens of thousands of acres of privately owned lands.

Reading the expressed purposes of these dams, we find our long-standing admiration and respect for the Corps of Engineers dwindling to the vanishing point.

Unless We Act And Act Now

Court Upholds Dry Vote In Greenup Co.

Sale of Liquor, Beer, To Continue For 30 Days
 The Decision of the Greenup Circuit Court which declared the local option election as legal has been affirmed in the Court of Appeals. . . . the special election last May, Greenup county voted to go dry. The liquor interests contested the election in the Circuit court. When that court upheld the legality of the election the case was taken to the Court of Appeals. . . . The sale of liquor will continue there for at least thirty days and perhaps longer, officials have announced. It has been indicated that retailers of legal liquor will file a brief with the Court of Appeals asking for a review of the decision.

Prospects Look Bright For New Student Union Building, Says Vaughan

There will be no provisions for the construction of buildings in the College Appropriation Bill, but when asked for his opinion on the subject of a new student union building at Morehead, President Vaughan stated that the future looks bright. . . . He said that they are trying to get an appropriation for a Student Union Building at the next Binding. There will be every effort made to get one, he declared and even if the project fails, we will at least know that there was a fight made for it.

Tobacco Crop Requires High Plant Food Soil

It pays well to make land productive for burley tobacco, even when prices are low, according to John W. Irvine, county agent. A large supply of plant food is necessary for the production of high-yielding, excellent quality burley tobacco, and very little land is fertile enough to produce such crops without application of farm manure or commercial fertilizers or both. . . . Nitrogen, phosphate, and potash are the three plant foods which limit the production on most of Greenup County Soils. The use of green manure, such as vetch, adds to the nitrogen supply. The value of barnyard manures under tobacco is known to all tobacco growers. It is the nitrogenous manure which improves the weight and quality of burley tobacco. Barnyard manure, however, does not have any phosphate in it, and the more manure used the more phosphate that should be applied to balance the plant food in the soil. . . . Many farmers, however, it pays to use as much as 1,000 pounds of a good mixed fertilizer under tobacco even if a green manure, such as vetch, and phosphate has been used on the soil for several years. In applying large rates of fertilizer, it has been found that greater results are obtained if the fertilizer is broadcast on the soil and turned under.

May 5 Will Be 'Go-to-Sunday School' Day

From the headquarters office in Louisville, the Kentucky Sunday School Association announced that Sunday, May 5, 1946, will be observed as Go-To-Sunday-School Day in Kentucky. . . . It was announced by the late Dr. George A. Joplin, the observance of this day has become a part of the regular program of the Kentucky Sunday School Association. Its purpose is to focus attention on the Sunday school, emphasizing its importance in the communities of Christian character, and to encourage the Sunday schools of the state to participate in this united effort to increase attendance and enrollment. . . . Once again hundreds of Sunday schools throughout Kentucky, individually and by communities, will promote this observance. In many towns the Ministerial Associations and civic and business clubs and organizations will cooperate—sharing in the endeavor to see that every person in the community associated at least in invitation to attend the Sunday school and church of his choice on May 5th.

Farmers Must Register For Gas Tax Refund

Farmers who operate tractors, milk or stationary engines with gas, are entitled to a refund of the state tax they have been paying on their gasoline according to a recent bill passed by the state legislature. Farmers are required to register their gas burning equipment with the State Revenue Department, according to an announcement today by John W. Irvine, County Agent. . . . The forms for registering this equipment can be received by calling at the County Agents Office. Farmers should have their make, motor number, horsepower, and year model of each of their pieces of gas burning equipment in making their registration.

Grayson Girl Able To Walk Following Clinic Treatment

She still walks with a slight limp, but her leg is straight, and she doesn't have to wear braces, or use walking sticks now! Eight-year-old Anna Lee Coffee, Grayson, Carter County, is another one of hundreds of such success stories, written in real life by the Kentucky Society for Crippled Children and the Kentucky Crippled Children Commission.

It was to the Commission Clinic at Lexington that a young mother, Mrs. John Coffee, brought her two year old daughter in October, 1940. A victim of a congenital crippling condition, Anna Lee's right leg was completely paralyzed. Examination was made, a long leg brace and surgical shoes were furnished by the Commission. At intervals the child returned for examination, brace repairs and new shoes. She improved to some extent, but in October, 1943, she was admitted to the hospital for muscle training. Four months this training continued before Anna Lee could leave the hospital in February, 1944, using walking sticks. She continued to report regularly for check-up examinations. In April, 1945 she was permitted to discard her crutches . . . and she is improving slowly to the point where she can romp and play like other children, to the point where, thanks to the Commission and the Society she will grow up into a happy, useful citizen.

Anna Lee's success story was made possible by the work of the Kentucky Crippled Children Commission, the official public agency providing treatment for crippled children under 21 whose parents cannot pay. But the Commission's work made possible, partly, by the Kentucky Society for Crippled Children, which supplements the inadequate budget of the Commission, and assists the Commission in conducting clinics, providing hospitalization appliances and special training. The Society is now conducting its annual drive for funds through special contributions and sale of Seal Stamps. The goal for the state is $125,000.

has maintained two homes for over 30 years, remaining in Morehead during the week, and spending Saturdays and Sundays with his family at the Lexington residence.

Receiving his license to practice in 1897 Judge Riley immediately entered the race for the Democratic nomination for Judge of Rowan County. He was nominated and elected in one of the bitterest fights the county ever had. In 1909 he ran and was elected to the County Attorneyship. He was re-elected in 1914. From then until 1921 he served as Mayor, and on the City Council of Morehead and then again won the County Judgeship.

He then skipped four years as a public office-holder, although he did serve on the Tax Assessor's Board and various other appointive offices. In 1929 he was again elected Rowan County Attorney. Near the expiration of this term he was appointed United States Commissioner for seven counties in this area and in this place until his retirement.

Judge Riley has always been a Democrat party, and there is not a school-house, church or shady grove in Rowan County that has not heard his clear voice extolling the virtues of his candidate and pouring "fire and brimstone" on the opposition. He has been campaign manager for so many candidates that he can't remember them all.

Last week members of the local bar feted Judge Riley at a "retirement" party. The Judge told them that he would continue voting in Morehead so long as he lived, although he would spend most of his time with his family in Lexington. Judge Riley hasn't missed the opening day of Circuit Court in Rowan County for 25 years, and told Circuit Judge Bridges White, "I'll be back for every court."

Judge White said that he was reserving on opening day of each court the case-bottom chair, which sets just inside the roster, for Judge Riley. This is the seat that Judge Riley has occupied all his life.

Court Votes To Employ Home Agent

Group Urges Appropriation of Funds; Gets O. K. With Reservation

The Rowan County Fiscal Court voted unanimously at its meeting Tuesday to employ a Home Demonstration Agent and to recommend that the budget committee set aside the necessary funds, if they are available.

Motion to employ the Home Demonstration Agent came after a group of some 20 religious, educational and recreation leaders, headed by Mrs. W. H. Rice, appeared before the court setting out the advantages the county could secure by appropriating the $600 necessary to secure one.

The Home Demonstration Agent is paid by the University of Kentucky under a Federal set-up, in the same manner as the County Agent. The money appropriated by the county is used for traveling and office expenses.

Among those who attended the court meeting and urged the employment of the Home Demonstration Agent were: Mrs. Rice, Mrs. Helen M. White, Mrs. Leland Hall, Leland Hall, W. H. Johnson, Mrs. Sam Evans, John Caudill, D. C. Caudill, Mrs. Terry Winebaker, Miss Lucy Kesler, Mrs. Mabel Alfrey, Roy Corneet, Rev. Charles Dietze, Mrs. C. C. Mayhall, H. C. Haggan, Bill McClain, Mrs. C. O. Leavelle, Mrs. Lantia Minish and Mrs. Beulah Williams.

Increase For—

600 each year for urban highways in cities having more than 5,000 population.

"Added to this, many miles of federal secondary rural highways have already been designated and while some of these are state highways, some are country rural roads and will be built with money other than that included in the state's rural appropriations.

"Strong talk was used by Commissioner J. Stephen Watkins in discussing the problems of rural county highways with the district engineers who met in Frankfort Wednesday. We were instructed to consider rural roads our major problem. Definite policies were adopted relating to the proper expenditure of this money by round-table approval of district engineers and executives in the Division of Rural Highways."

Under the new formula, and with the increased program, the following comparative figures relating to the counties in his district were announced by Mr. Frye:

Ashland Plans Parade For Army Day

Major Pruett and Committee Plan Parade in Downtown

Highlighting Ashland's part in the nation-wide observance of Army Day, next Saturday, April 6, will be one of the largest parades staged here since the war's end, according to Major C. E. Pruett, parade marshal.

Most of the details for the organization of the parade have already been worked out by Major Pruett and Captain Audrey Mathews, commanding officer of the local U. S. Army Recruiting Station.

The head of the parade, which is to start promptly at 2 p. m., is to form on Winchester avenue at Twentieth street headed west. The line of march will be west to Thirteenth street on Winchester and north to Greenup, up Greenup to Eighteenth street, where it will disband.

Heading the parade will be the city police car and two state police cars followed closely by a car bearing Mayor Clyde R. Levi. Other units and organizations in the order in which they will be formed are: The Ashland Junior High Band, The American Legion, The Veterans of Foreign Wars, Reserve Officers' Association, American Red Cross, Kentucky Active Militia, Salvation Army, Blue Ribbon bus, advertising Army recruiting, Ashland Senior High School band, Reserve Officers' Training Corps, Civil Air Patrol, Boy Scouts of America, and the Parent-Teachers' Association.

A reviewing stand will be placed on Winchester between Sixteenth and Seventeenth streets.

Full cooperation of the Army in all matters relative to Army Day observation has been promised by General Dwight D. Eisenhower, who said he "wishes to assist commanders." "For the first time since 1941, the Army will be able to give its full attention to the celebration, and it is my personal desire that commanders throughout the United States take the initiative in making it day a memorable one."

In connection with this point in General Eisenhower's letter, Major Pruett was named by Major General Beighler of the Fifth Service Command Headquarters in Columbus, to arrange appropriate ceremonies in this area, and Captain Mathews was named to assist him in this program.

General Eisenhower outlines the purposes of the Army Day celebrations by saying, "The object of these ceremonies should be to recognize the great accomplishments of the Army through honoring the veterans of World War I and World War II. Through the cooperation of veterans' organizations all former members of the Army, now returned to civilian life, should be encouraged to wear the uniform and participate in parades and other ceremonies. Such arrangements should be sought as will permit the participation by as many members of the community as possible in honoring the wartime Army."

Our Home was lost.

But the Red Cross gave it back!

IT'S SOMETHING we'll never forget . . . the heavy rains . . . the darkness and cold . . . the river rising so rapidly we had to leave our home.

"We lost everything in that flood . . . the house and furniture . . . our clothes, everything. When you're faced with that, you're desperate. We knew no one to turn to . . . We had no money, nothing. Then—the Red Cross came to help us.

Facts Given On Emergency Flour Program

Food Content Very Little Different, But Buy Small Quantity

The following information has been released by the Wheat Flour Institute at Chicago, according to Mrs. W. H. Rice, Home Economics Teacher, Morehead High School.

In a little more than two weeks, the flour milling industry in the United States has had to undertake a completely new type of flour which has meant countless changes in milling methods, equipment and laboratory baking tests in all sorts of baked products for family use.

In order to answer many of the questions of housewives, the following facts are listed below in regard to Emergency Flour:

1. The name, "Emergency Flour" means it is being produced as an expedient for the period during which world food supplies are drastically short.
2. Food Value:
 - a. Vitamins - Emergency Flour contains somewhat more thiamine, niacin, riboflavin and iron than does plain white flour, but roughly only about about 1/2 as much as enriched white flour.
 - b. Proteins - contain slightly more protein than enriched white flour.
 - c. According to nutritionists, the proteins are better but they are unfortunately among the substances that interfere with baking quality. They tend to weaken the gluten-forming proteins found in standard flour. This gluten structure is essential to good batters and doughs.
 - c. Calories - same as white flour.
 - 3. Color: somewhat cream-gray due to the presence of some of the parts of the wheat kernel.
 - 4. Baking Qualities:
 - a. In making products leavened with baking powder or sour milk and soda-use the minimum amount of leavening. Sift the flour and liquid have been combined - follow the rule for products which mix only until flour is moistened.
 - b. In making yeast - leavened products - handle batters and doughs lightly, especially after they have risen once. It is also important that these products rise only until they are just doubled and not more than doubled in bulk.
 - c. Cakes are acceptable but not as velvety or delicate as those made with cake flour. However, quite good 2 egg cakes, chocolate and other favorites may be made.
 - 5. Thickening Qualities - same as enriched white flour.
 - 6. Keeping Quality and Storage:
 - a. Emergency Flour will not keep as well as white flour-but only quantities that will be used within a few weeks.
 - b. Keeps best like all flour in a covered container in a cool, dry place where air can circulate freely.

Surely it is reasonable that if we can bring the great mid-western country, in which the vast production of farm products which hides. Its mineral resources are produced our surplus grow, to a state of permanent prosperity, all

Education Journal Carries Article By Nolan Fowler

The March issue of the Journal of Higher Education carries an article by Mr. Nolan Fowler, professor of history and political science at Morehead.

The article, titled "Turn About's Fair Play," deals with the system of students rating faculty members, which was inaugurated on the Morehead campus last spring. As far as college officials have been able to learn, Morehead is the only college in the country which has such a pupil-teacher rating.

Kentucky has more undeveloped natural resources than any state east of the Mississippi River. This fact, considered in connection with her per capita wealth and income, her inadequate schools, roads, and public institutions, makes her the poorest rich state in the Union.

We must salvage and ration those resources that have been impaired thru years of depletion, and develop those that have been neglected.

This 250 acres is all in timber and lays back about 1,000 feet from the hard surfaced road with 30-foot lone trees. The timber consists of oak, pine and poplar, said to aggregate three-quarters to one million feet. It is all first class timber. The land lays well and is easily accessible; it is virgin soil and good strong land, and is on a school bus and mail route. If you are interested in a real boundary of saw and the timber with a lot of good white oak that will make staves, be sure and look this one over before the sale as it will be sold regardless of price and on easy terms, in order to settle the partnership estate.

Anyone wanting to see the property see Robert Hartgrove at the farm, Clell Johnson at Preston, or Arthur Maze at Salt Lick, phone 139W3.
