Year's Hi-Lights At Morehead Are Featured

A Goal Achieved

Building Boom

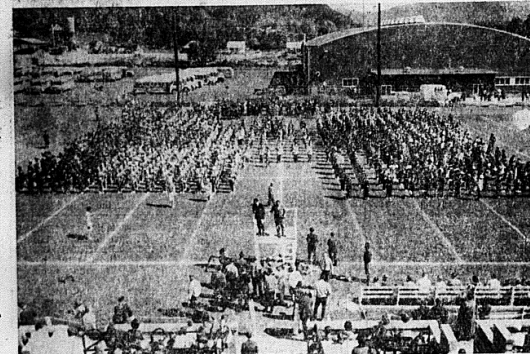

GRADUATION—For the 1962 seniors of Morehead State College, graduation was the highlight, not only of the year, but of their college careers. Many memories of their college life will remain with them, but this moment will forever be at the top of the list as it was the goal toward which they had been striving for four years.

A Big First For Eagles

OHIO VALLEY CONFERENCE CO-CHAMPIONS—The 1962 Morehead State College football team will have many memories to recall as they look back upon the year. They were tied for the OVC championship, something no Eagle team had ever achieved, and they also brought back the "Hawg" Rifle from Eastern.

Eighteen Bands Attend

ANNUAL BAND DAY—Eighteen high school bands attended the annual Band Day on the Morehead State College campus Sept. 29, 1962. They presented a mass half-time show with the Morehead marching band during the Morehead-Tennessee Tech football game, and then watched the Eagle football squad go on to post a 14-6 victory over Tech, their first OVC loss in 23 straight games.

First Year At College

MOVING IN—Campus campers helped the freshmen as they came to Morehead to begin their first year at college. For many of them, it will remain one of their most pleasant memories of 1962.

Top Stories From 1962 Trail Blazers Hold Many Memories

What were the biggest news stories on the Morehead campus during 1962? Here they are, the top events of the past year taken from last year's Trail Blazers.

JANUARY

Dr. Adron Doran, president of Morehead State College, considered as possible gubernatorial candidate in 1963, Kappa Delta Pi honored 20 outstanding scholastic co-eds by initiation into the honor society. The Morehead Press published Al Stewart's "The Unlabeled Hills" as second Eagle edition. The Student Council voted to erect a sign at the entrance to the campus and started a fund raising campaign to finance it. The first Student Directory was published by the Kappa Nu Commerce Club.

The Morehead Theater presented "Pictures in the Hallway." In the sports world, the Eagles defeated Tennessee Tech 89-49 to push their seasonal mark to 7-1 and 3-0 in the conference, and topped Villa Madonna 88-85. The Morehead five squeaked by East Tennessee 70-67. Murray fell to the Eagles 89-72, but Morehead ran out of steam and fell to Western by a scant 80-78.

FEBRUARY

Construction was begun on Morehead's new Administration Building. The Art Gallery of MSC featured the Third Annual Honor Awards Exhibition of outstanding American architecture during the month. Roscoe Drummond, well known journalist and author of the syndicated column "Washington" presented a lecture as the third feature of the Civic Celebrity Series. Al Stewart was honored at a reception given by President and Mrs. Doran.

Seventy-nine students received degrees at the close of the fall semester. Morehead Football Coach Guy Penny announced the signing of five more high school athletes for the 1962 campaign. The Eagles lost again to Western 77-51, in a crucial OVC III, and fell to Eastern, Ohio University, Layola, and Middle Tennessee. Morehead defeated Union, East Tennessee, Murray, and Marshall twice. In the season finale, the Eagles were clipped by Eastern again, 68-66, and settled for a tie for second place in the OVC with a 14-7 record.

MARCH

The campus was host to 3,000 students for the annual Future Farmers of America Day for the Eastern Kentucky district, and the Annual Regional Music Festival. The Intercollegiate Forensics Conference was held at Morehead, drawing students from ten colleges. The spring enrollment was officially set at 2,809 students. Dean's list included 338 undergraduates for the fall semester. The new residence halls were named by the Board of Regents to honor Mrs. Doran, Roger L. Wilson, and Wendell P. Butler.

The Intramural "All-Stars" lost to Marshall 70-68, and the Animals downed the "Big Green" 79-64 in extramural competition.

MAY

Student Council elections were held, with Paul West, Harold Greenstone, Nancy Patrick, Pat O'Bourke, Ed Hussey, and Ron Lykins winning posts. The Annual Fine Arts Festival was held, highlighted by the presentation of "The Medium" an opera by Carlo Menotti. President Doran was named Knight of Kentucky Derby Court. A new women's organization, the CAPA Tridents, composed of upperclasswomen, was formed. Rev. Gabriel C. Banks, a member of Morehead's faculty for 26 years, retired and was honored at a banquet given by the English Department.

Jerry Lucas was guest speaker at the annual Athletic banquet. The 205's won the intramural softball playoffs, and the Pinckneys captured the intramural bowling title. The Animals did it again and won the intramural track meet. The Collegiate Knights took the honors in the Campus Club's "Little 500."

282 Degrees were awarded at the 39th commencement exercises, held May 21st. John Sherman Cooper was the commencement speaker, and J. A. Dixon gave the baccalaureate address.

The summer finally came, along with summer school, post summer school, picnic, swimming, and all that the warm season brings. The most significant activity on the Morehead campus was the construction work on four new buildings which was swinging into high gear and changing the face of "dear old" MSC, striving to keep pace with the ever increasing enrollment.

But come September the campus was over-run once again by 3,000 students returning for the fall semester.

SEPTEMBER

Enrollment at MSC for the fall semester set a new record at 2,809 students. "Fresh Week" was held for the first time, as four organizations initiated the new freshmen. New rules regarding cars operated by students were put into effect, and for the first time, freshmen were not permitted to have cars on campus. Ray Hornback, director of public relations, and Russell McClure, budget analyst in the State Department of Finance, were named assistants to President Doran.

The Eagle football squad was defeated in opener to Middle Tennessee, 7-0.

OCTOBER

Homecoming was the highlight of October, which saw Carole Porter chosen as Homecoming Queen, and the Eagles roll to a 3-0 victory over Austin Peay. The new Aquila Camco-Jay League, led by Donald Damron, Linda Marshall, Gary Mills, Sue Galbreath, Jim Cable, Scottie Bush, Lance Murphy, Charlene Adkins, Berry Greene, Diana Davidson, Dick Robinson, Chris Lepper, Pete Swain, Carole Porter, Homecoming Queen for 1962; Dennis Doyle, Martha Smith, Tom Robinson, and Linda Wolfe.

Morehead downed the Violets at Richmond, 20-12. The football squad claimed a share of the OVC title in a four-way tie for the conference championship.

Thirty-four students were selected to represent Morehead in the 1962-63 edition of "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities." Kentucky Music Teachers held their annual convention on the Morehead campus.

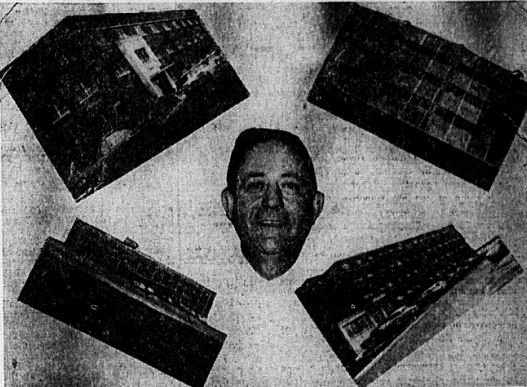

Danny Coker, popular sophomore from Fall's Church, Va. was fatally injured Nov. 29, when the car which he was driving swerved off KY 319.

DECEMBER

Wilson Hall, new residence hall for men, was opened Dec. 2nd. Cornelia Otis Skinner, humorist, actress, producer and playwright, was featured in the Civic Celebrity Series. The third annual choral clinic was held at Morehead. The College Theater presented "The Curious Savage."

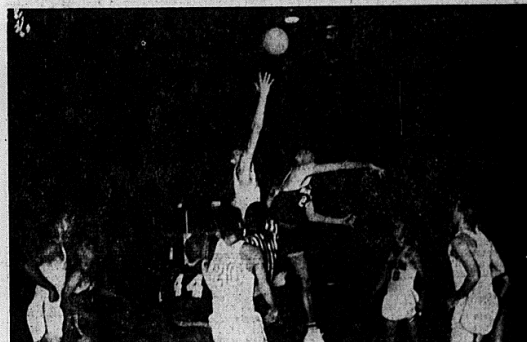

Guy Penny, MSC football coach, was elected "Co-Coach of the Year" in the OVC for the 1962 season. The Eagle footballers won their opener over Hanover College, 88-49, and romped past Middle Tennessee 103-59. The Eagles came from behind to top Marshall 81-69, and in what many considered THE game of the season, Morehead upset Bonaventure, 81-80.

Christmas vacation began Dec. 19th, bringing to a close a great year at MSC, 1962.

CONSTRUCTION AT MOREHEAD—The past year was a busy one at Morehead State College as the new Masters Plan for the college got under way under the guidance of Dr. Adron Doran, president of MSC. Two new men's dormitories were opened, a new industrial Arts and Home, Economics Building was completed, and construction continued on several other buildings, including Higney Hall, the ultra-modern history women's dorm, which is nearing completion.

First Victory Of 62-63 Season

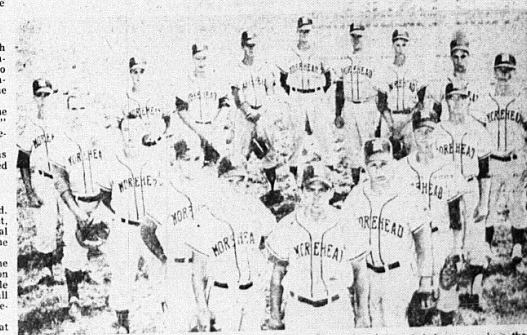

VICTORIES FROM THE START—Starting the 1962-63 basketball season off with a victory, the Eagles defeated Hanover College 82-49. They then went on to post three more straight victories before the Christmas holidays, thus entering the new year of 1963 with an unblemished record.

Vance's Slants

By DAVID VANCE
Trail Blazer Sports Editor

A big question looms in my mind at the present time. That question can be answered in three ways. The question is: Are the Morehead Eagles a better ball club than "nationally ranked" Kentucky. My personal observation calls for an unequalled YES.

I saw the Kats in the UKIT, where they played their best ball all season, and I say man for man, the Eagles could make monkeys out of some of them.

At the guard position — well, there's no comparison.

Norm is a better pivot man than Rolles or Adams, and the only place Der Baron's boys could make a showing is at forward, which is just not there this year. Adolf Rupp is a great coach, but it's just that UK has an All-American — which poses still another not so large question mark. Is the Bayou bomber a bona fide All-American boy?

Keeping my fingers crossed that cotton-top doesn't read Vance's Slants, and considering that I am by no means majoring in psychology, I say he's missing something, somewhere.

Nash has all the makings of being number one in the country in my book. But — has success spoiled Rock Hunter might be a good way to sum it up (by substituting a softer substance — Cotton — for the Rock).

I could be wrong (I usually am) but it seems to me that the "fear but respect" attitude that Mr. Rupp has employed over the years just isn't there this year. Adolf Rupp is a great coach, but he's had less material and made better showings in the past.

Morehead, Kentucky 79.

Enough on the Cotton ball for now.

The Eagles rank third in the nation offensively hitting at an 88.3 clip before the O. U. contest, Harold Jennings, while leading the conference in the scoring rate, places 29th in the country. Not bad for a soph.

Poke ranks ninth in the rebounding department pulling down 16 misses per game.

Not bad for a bunch of pre-season also-rans. What's that I see? A roundball expert eating his hat.

Yep, I'm believe in the super-natural. We had the better team. We were going strong. But we fell apart. Yes, Virginia, there is a Jim. No doubt Coach Laughlin is repeating the vowels over and over — a. e. u. o. h. A.

Personally, I became pretty confident because I felt the Eagles were out playing the Rebels. However, a close observer of the game came up with the difference.

As Ed Jucker, Cincinnati's head coach calls it, percentage basketball brought Snyder his eight straight victory over Morehead. When Ohio U. counted on the Eagles to win, they were wrong.

The Eagles were not the team we had hoped for. We have plenty of fine shots this year, but it seems as though those fine shots could be taken from a closer range with more effectiveness. Facts are that 84% of Morehead's attempts were successful from 15 feet and further. Understand dear readers I have no bones to pick — if Morehead continues at this pace five wins out of every six will guarantee my predictions will come true (17-3) and you'll start reading the Vance-nous ratings in the Courier.

Anyhow — Just think what the Eagles could do in the non-existent A.B.L. if they hit those long buggers like that.

Coach Laughlin can look for help-a-plenty from this year's Eagle eggs (freshmen).

McCoy, Castle, Aiken, etc., etc.

Hank Aiken is a growing boy — with leaps and bounds. An interesting story comes from the Michigan stand-out concerning his trip to St. Louis. As a soph in high school, Hank was a 6-foot guard, his junior year he sprouted to 6' 3", and upon graduation stood 6' 6". Now, six months later he is pushing 6' 10" and by the time this column is read, he could be 6' 11". The amazing thing about this lad is that he isn't outgrowing his co-ordination. This young fella can hit with great accuracy from 20 feet and could be Morehead's next All-American pivot man.

We welcome Ham's scoops with great anticipation. If anyone noticed, our boy predicted Ware and Sergeant would score 48 points between them in the Marshall contest. Results: Ware, Sergeant 20. Maybe he's a soothsayer or uses witchcraft, but he's right. Hey, Ham, put a jinx on O. U.

Ham would like to make a prediction of which I have the utmost confidence — Norm Pokley will out-rebound Jim Jennings of Murray when the two conference powers clash. Reason? Look what Norm did to O. U. in the first game. Ware was pulling off 14 rebounds. Buntion who led the Bobcats in tying Cincinnati in that dept., could manage only two. Phil Carter, Marshall's big man yanked off one big rebound while Pokley grabbed 16 misses.

The Eagles are doing great on the fieldhouse housework, let's hope it continues, when they hit the road, Jack.

Ernie DeCarley returned from Baltimore and the Crusade Bowl last week. The all-conference performer manned a starting position at offensive guard and received praise for his blocking ability from Norm Van Brocklin. The West lost the game however. There must have been somebody from Eastern on the squad.

Now is the time for all good men to come to the end of their column.

Please fella's, win that conference crown. You got what it takes so take what you can.

And so dear readers, there is but one thing left to say — For my last time — Sincere regards to I.B.

Eagles Post Fifth Win In Defeating Marshall 80-66

By Dean Howe
Trail Blazer Sports Writer

Led by the shooting of Roy Ware and Harold Sergent, the Morehead State Eagles rolled over Marshall University, 80-66, at the Fieldhouse Thursday night.

A spirited crowd of 4,000 saw the two Eagle guards score 48 points between them, with Ware getting 28 and play-maker Sergent getting 20.

It was the second straight victory for Morehead over Marshall this year. The Eagles earlier defeated the Big Green, 81-69, at Huntington, W. Va., and now hold a 2-10 edge in total games played between the two schools.

Marshall's players came on early terms until with 12:10 remaining in the first half, Ware, the kid from Canaan, hit a jumper to put the Eagles ahead to stay.

Morehead held a six point lead at the half, 38-32, but quickly increased it after the rest period to 42-32 and were never in any trouble the rest of the game.

The Big Green from Marshall used 13 players, platooning much of the time, to try and stop the Eagle attack. Marshall coach Jule Rivlin started an all sophomore team in the surprise maneuver.

The youngsters played good ball for the first few minutes of the game, but then they just "wait and see" how many points the Eagles could rack up.

Morehead out-rebounded Marshall 64-42, with big Norm Pokley getting 16, and Earl Gibson, and John Gibson 14 and 11 respectively. Pokley also contributed 14 points to the Eagle cause, getting most of his points on tapshots and driving layups.

The Eagles hit on 34 of 73 shots for a 45 per cent shooting average, while Marshall managed a meager 31 per cent, hitting on 27 of 88.

Morehead won its fifth victory in six starts, their only loss coming at the hands of Ohio University, 76-67, last Tuesday night. Marshall suffered their eighth loss in ten starts.

Wednesday night, the Eagles will return from a road game with Tennessee Tech to take on Western at the Fieldhouse.

U.K.I.T. Won By Kentucky As They Top West Virginia

(All national ratings are prior to Jan. 5.)

Although the Eagles didn't play in any of the holiday tournaments, a number of major college teams participated in the U.K.I.T. series. The tournaments were held through out the country during the Christmas holidays. In the West Virginia, Kentucky Invitational Tournament at nearby Lexington, the semi-finalists of the U.K.I.T. rolled over Iowa, 94-49, while West Virginia struggled to a 70-65 victory over Ohio State in the championship game. In the North Carolina, the Wildcats outshot West Virginia in the final game, 79-75.

In the consolation game, Oregon State defeated Iowa by a score of 61-53.

In the final tallies of this U.K.I.T. Invitational Tournament, King Cotton-Cotton Nash was voted the tournament's Most Valuable Player award.

In the Holiday Festival at New York City, All-American Rod Thorn and his still-outstanding team, the New York Knicks, rolled over Bonaventure, a former Morehead foe, in a runaway score of 94-42.

Again, the Mountaineers settled for second place as they defeated the Mountaineers, 79-75.

West Virginia to the tune of 92-74.

Bonnie continued their losing ways in a 90-81 setback from New Orleans.

Surprisingly, the final winner of the tourney was the University of Missouri City. Uclans struggled to a 68-62 win over Colorado State while Stanford captured the Washington, 63-62, for third place.

Another upset occurred in the preliminary round of the U.K.I.T. tournament at Philadelphia where seventh-ranked (nationwide) Bowling Green of Ohio was soundly defeated, 58-37, by St. Joseph's (Pa.) as the lead changed hands for the 18th and last time. St. Joe's went on to cope the crown with a 76-64 victory over Brigham Young.

Eagle foe, Marshall University, grabbed third place in the Alpine Classic at Charleston with a hard-fought 84-80 victory over Morris Harvey while Miami defeated the University of Tennessee, 74-66.

Eagles Vie For Crown Against O. V. C. 'Big 3'

By John Hawn

After having their wings scorched in a non-conference game with Ohio U., the Eagles have jumped from the trying pan into the fire. After three games in one week, the Eagles run into three straight conference games in the coming two weeks.

Wooden Western, its OVC record smattered with no victories and 3 defeats, has little hope of retaining the OVC crown which it won last year. With virtually no chance to end up as a top-rated team, the Hilltoppers will undoubtedly be out to score an upset over the top-seeded Eagles. The Hilltoppers, with Jackson, the OVC's second-highest scorer, and the Eagles fast-moving Sergent, the No. 1 scorer in the OVC, there is a possibility that a high-scoring duel might develop between these two players as Western will be trying to climb out of the cellar with its first conference win, and Morehead will be struggling to retain its top-ranked position.

After climbing over the Hilltoppers, the Eagles will meet Jim Jennings and his Murray squad. Jennings, the Thoroughbred's 6' 6" center, is the nation's third-ranked rebounder with a haul of 19.5 rebounds per game, closely trailed by Norm Pokley with 17 per game. Pre-season picks picked

Lemo, one of the best players in Kentucky who are regular starters, will not play in this game. The Eagles have a regular sophomore starter in the Commonwealth of Kentucky will still be starting, and this is a shot other than the Eagles flashy guard, Harold Sergent.

After climbing over the Hilltoppers, the Eagles will meet Jim Jennings and his Murray squad. Jennings, the Thoroughbred's 6' 6" center, is the nation's third-ranked rebounder with a haul of 19.5 rebounds per game, closely trailed by Norm Pokley with 17 per game. Pre-season picks picked

Lemo, one of the best players in Kentucky who are regular starters, will not play in this game. The Eagles have a regular sophomore starter in the Commonwealth of Kentucky will still be starting, and this is a shot other than the Eagles flashy guard, Harold Sergent.

After having their wings scorched in a non-conference game with Ohio U., the Eagles have jumped from the trying pan into the fire. After three games in one week, the Eagles run into three straight conference games in the coming two weeks.

Wooden Western, its OVC record smattered with no victories and 3 defeats, has little hope of retaining the OVC crown which it won last year. With virtually no chance to end up as a top-rated team, the Hilltoppers will undoubtedly be out to score an upset over the top-seeded Eagles. The Hilltoppers, with Jackson, the OVC's second-highest scorer, and the Eagles fast-moving Sergent, the No. 1 scorer in the OVC, there is a possibility that a high-scoring duel might develop between these two players as Western will be trying to climb out of the cellar with its first conference win, and Morehead will be struggling to retain its top-ranked position.

By Win Taylor
Frosh Basketball Editor

The Morehead yearling Eagles went down to defeat for the second straight time. The Marshall Frosh took the toll of the yearling Eagles to the tune of 83 to 82 in a game that started out like it was going to be a rout for Marshall.

Morehead fought hard and were able to pull ahead by one point with just a few seconds remaining. The yearling Eagles saw their bid for their third win of the season go down the drain as Odum hit a fielder in the last second to win the game for Marshall.

Floyd McCoy led Morehead's scoring with 27 markers and was followed by teammate Hank Akin who had 20. Danny Lapham, Merrill Blair, and Sam Snyder also hit in double figures with 11, 10, and 10 respectively.

Game scoring honors went to Marshall's Odum who had 28 points. He was followed by teammate Cook, Lough, and Chambers with 20, 18, and 11 respectively.

McCoy and Blair each hauled in 11 rebounds to lead the yearling Eagles in that department. McCoy's four assists were tops for Morehead but Sam Snyder and Pete Hause were right behind with three each.

Morehead hit 41 per cent from the field and 12 for 18 from the charity line for 67 per cent. Marshall hit 41 for 18 from the charity line for 61 per cent.

The yearling Eagles now own a 2-2 won-lost record for the season.

Hause, Snyder, Teddy Little, and McCoy are running a close race for the lead in the assists department. Hause has a total of 18 assists, Snyder 4, McCoy 10, and Little 5.

From this corner it looks as though the Eagles will have a lot of help from the sophomores next year.

Dear Ann Slanders

(With Apologies To Ann Landers)

Dear Ann,
I have a problem. My birthday was Jan. 7, and these two beautiful girls in the assists department and letter which brought tears to my eyes. How can I repay them?

Spirit of '42
Dear Spirit,
Give them two dollars or a pair of gloves and let the whole thing go.

Ann

Dear Ann,
For some odd reason everytime I leave my room I return only to find it locked. I never lock it and my roomies don't either. Do you have any idea as to what the mystery might be?

Hunky

Dear Hunky,
Why don't you set a rabbit trap and try to catch the culprit?

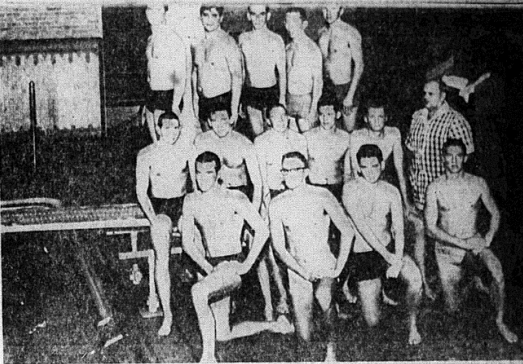

Ann

Dear Ann,
What's wrong with me? I like a girl on campus and a girl back home. Is that legal?

Two-timer

Dear Two,
Legal? Of course why shouldn't you sneak around like 50 million college guys all over the country. All of the girls love it.

WHO'S WHO WITH ART

She was a tiny, sweet smiling woman, who never painted a picture of a cow, a pasture or a green shutter until she was past seventy. Her name was Mrs. Anna Mary Robertson Moses, and she became known to Americans everywhere as Grandma Moses, the outstanding primitive artist of her time.

Her work, simple but beautiful, was rich in appreciation of the folk tradition. She pointed because that is what she liked most to do. The dozens of incredible productivity she turned 2,000 oil paintings, some of which sold for as much as $10,000.

Millions of Christmas cards featured her familiar pictures. When she died, on Dec. 13, 1961, at the age of 101, President Kennedy saluted her life and her art. "The directness and vividness of her paintings," he wrote, "restored a primitive freshness to our perception of the American scene. Her work helped our nation renew its pioneer heritage and recalled its roots in the countryside and on the frontier."

GOOD LUCK

Cheerleaders and have fun on your trip to Tennessee. I'm sure you'll impress the co-eds carrying your Morehead Eagles overnight cases and wearing your blue blazers.
