20 Classes To Appear At Horse Show

Event Assured Of Success With Prominent Owner Entries

The Morehead Horse Show, scheduled to be held at Jayne Stadium on Wednesday, July 10, is virtually assured of success, according to the Board of Trade committee which is sponsoring the event. Inquiries are coming in from many states, and it is believed that some of the finest horses in the country will battle it out for the $2,000 prize money.

Horse Show Manager Curt Bruce believes that the Morehead College stadium will have one of the largest crowds in its history for the two performances, one in the afternoon and the other that evening.

Feature of the show will be the $500 H. H. Wheeler 5-gaited stake, the $500 W. H. May 3-gaited stake, the $200 walk stake, and the W. R. Shafer, $150 fine harness class.

However, there will be 20 classes, altogether, and the prize money is being paid by local people.

The N. E. Kennard Hardware Company will be best in the first class in which $35 will be awarded for the best saddlebred foal of 1946. This will be followed by a class for standard ponies, ridden by a child 12 years of age or under, in which the $40 prize money will be given by the Morehead Regal Hotel.

Goide's Department Store is sponsoring the $75 class for a Rowan County walking horse.

The Kentucky Restaurant has sponsored Class 12, in which prizes for the best girl rider under 12 years of age.

Walter Wendel, owner of Curtis Transfer will pay the $35 prize money for the best saddlebred yearling, while the Brown Motor Company has the $50 3-gaited combination class.

C. B. McCullough and W. H. Rice are sponsoring the $40.00 prize for the best boy or girl rider over 12 and under 17 years of age. Class 8, the 3-gaited stallion, mare or gelding class, with the prize money was taken by the Jones Motor Company.

A class offering $75 in money for the best walking horse from adjoining counties (Fleming, Bath, Menifee, Morgan, Elliott, Carter and Lewis, is sponsored by Bruce's, 10 & 11 St. The 3-gaited mare class, offering $60 in money, is sponsored by the Elm Grocery Company.

The evening show will get underway with the class for green walking horses, in which $75 in money, given by the J. C. Wells Hardware Co., will be awarded for 3-gaited mares or geldings over 12 hands, is sponsored by the Greyhound Restaurant.

The Eagles Nest Restaurant is sponsoring a $60 class for the championship boy or girl rider, under 17 years of age.

The lady riders class, 16 years or under, with $55 in prize money, will be sponsored by the A. B. McKinney Store.

This class will be followed by the $150 W. R. Shafer, fine harness championship stake.

Class 17, sponsored by the Brown Motor Company, which is paying the money in two classes, is for the best general man rider, 17 years or over, and carries $60 in prize money. Then comes the W. H. May $300 class for the championship 3-gaited stake.

In Class 19, the walking horse championship stake, the Board of Trade sponsors $100 of the prize money. Dr. L. M. Garred $50 and the Monarch Supply Store and IGA $50.

Schools Will Have Less Paper Work During Next Year

Less paper work will be required of schools and colleges next fall in qualifying returning veteran-students for payment of G. I. subsistence allowances.

Mr. Farmer said schools can fill out the new form in a few minutes and that it will be the only instrument required by VA to resume subsistence payments to veterans.

The form soon will be available in VA regional offices throughout the country for distribution to educational institutions in each region.

Mr. Farmer emphasized that prompt handling of the forms by the schools and colleges next fall will prevent delays in the payment of veterans' allowances.

If You Carry A Gun - Stop!

Do you ever carry a gun? If so, you will put it away and never have on your person, if you heed Kentucky's new "gun-toting" law.

This new law, which goes in effect July 1, provides a mandatory penalty to two years imprisonment for carrying concealed deadly weapon. In other words, the court must inflict this upon conviction.

A local attorney explained the new law this way: "Say, that you are charged with murder, and are acquitted by a self-defense plea. You might be clear on that charge but you'd get two years on the gun carrying charge."

Rowan Sheriff Sam Green said today there would have been eight to ten sentences given today in this connection if the new law had been in effect. And Green has been Sheriff only six months.

Rumors That Route 60 May Change Spiked

Highway Will Run Same If Licking Dams Built, Barron Says

Recurring rumors that U. S. Highway 60 would be re-routed from Cannonsburg to Mt. Seaford, to miss Olive Hill, Grayson, Owingsville and Morehead, were branded as false by Ben F. Barron, Executive Assistant to Commissioner Stephen Watkins. Mr. Barron's reply was in answer to a question from the Rowan County News.

Mr. Barron said the rumors concerning any re-commissioning of U. S. Highway 60 are without foundation, and any improvement in this road will follow in general the existing route, with the possible exception of more advantageous locations within the towns through which the present U. S. 60 runs.

Industrial Service Made Available To Many Workers

The United States Employment Service for Kentucky is making Industrial Service available to many workers. Industrial training is part of this service. The Industrial Training Program of the United States Employment Service is known for and wide range of the programs available for these results. They are, namely, On-the-Job Training or Job Instruction, Work-Employer Relations or Job Relations and Man, Material, Machine Coordination or Job Methods. These programs wherever presented, it is believed, have become a permanent part of American industrial operation as accepted tools by management. There is nothing new about these programs. They were put together by industrial men, taken from industrial firms, tried out and developed by American industry and taught by men taken from industry. These entire series deal with supervisory training. It is giving the education or definite method to instruct workers whether new, displaced or old workers, to cut down break in time to have less injury, less scrap and rework, and lower cost of operation. The courses are held in the morning and a supervisor definite methods so he can get along better with the workers he has in his charge and also the officials above him. And last but not least, it teaches a supervisor to plan a smooth-running department or how to use his men, material, and machinery in the proper proportion to get maximum results.

These are no lectures, but patterned after the methods of industry to teach a supervisor by doing. Now, this service is available to all industry in the community. All employers are urged to attend the Appreciation Meeting on Industrial Training.

Will You Help The Children?
By Ruth Taylor
"And he who gives a child a treat, makes joy bells ring in heaven's street." So wrote John Massfield.
"What of the starving children of Europe? Are we going to turn aside from the thought of little children without food, in annoyance at disturbance of our own way of life?" Of course not, but—"I can see the indignant look I'd get if newspapers had television.
Yet—the other day I sat near two women in a restaurant. Just ordinary, average, every day women. They were indignant because they couldn't get what they wanted. (With their figures they shouldn't have had it anyway.) They said this feeding Europe was just nonsense, that so-and-so's cousin had heard it from a friend's brother-in-law that all this talk about famine was just a way to do honest Americans out of their just deserts. (I think they must have spelled it with a double "s"). That the food we sent was just resold in black markets and anyway the children didn't need it, and besides the Europeans had gotten themselves into this mess, let them get out of it.
And then next to me at breakfast was a man who was most huffy with the waitress when she didn't bring him more butter for his toast.
"Partly ridiculous! All this nonsense about food shortage was just to make a profit for somebody. What would we get out of feeding Europe?"
They weren't what I like to think of as Americans. Does it really matter what the nationality of course, Mark Twain said? Does it really matter what the rights and wrongs of the past are? Can we with our tradition, with our national principles—and with our resources—do less than help?

SUBSCRIPTION RATES
ONE YEAR IN ADVANCE (CASH OR OUTSIDE KENTUCKY) $1.50
SIX MONTHS (CASH OR OUTSIDE KENTUCKY) $1.00 (NO SUBSCRIPTIONS ACCEPTED FOR LESS THAN ONE YEAR) WHEN RECEIVING CHANGE OF ADDRESS BE SURE TO INCLUDE OLD ADDRESS FOR ONE YEAR

Be In Morehead On The 4th.
A gala, all-day attraction headlined with band concerts, a parade, athletic contests, baseball game, parachute jumps, public speaking and a street dance will be offered Thursday, July 4th in Morehead. It is the first Fourth of July observance that Morehead has had for many years, but it is not the only one. The Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion plan to continue it with an even more elaborate program next year.
Morehead will be a fine place to observe the Fourth. If you are a Moreheadian stay here for the 4th. If you live somewhere else, Morehead will be the right spot to come on this day.
Hours upon hours of time have been spent in preparation by the veterans, who have been assisted by other local clubs. Morehead's 4th is certain to be a gala and enjoyable one.

Welcome News
A notice from the State Highway Department that the road from Newfoundland to Wagoner's Store will be hard-surfaced and that it is being advertised, with the view of the Veterans who have fought to get State Route 32 paved. This is another link in a much travelled highway.
Morehead has a paved highway north, east and west, but we don't have it on Highway 32 southward. There seems to be every indication, however, that the State Highway Department has now realized the great number of people this highway would serve, who are in dire need of better roads. It will help Morehead from a business stand-point—it will bring us closer to our good neighbors—but above all, it will, when completed, furnish a means of people with the type of road they deserve.
Rowan, Morgan and Elliott Counties should not relax their efforts to secure the paving of the entire route.

Carter Caves Drive On!
Although it had a belated start, the drive in Rowan County to raise funds for the Carter Caves, has now started in earnest. A deadline of Wednesday for Rowan County pledges has been set. Although our local campaign is tardy in its beginning, we hope that the people of this county, will make up for it in generous contributions.
It is true that local business men have been solicited for more contributions in the last few months than has been done in any other year. It is imperative that we dig deep for we cannot afford to let our Carter County neighbors down.
If the $40,000 needed to purchase the site is ready by July 1, the state will appropriate $100-000 for improvements at that time. If it is not ready by the fiscal year 1946-47, if it is not available by that time, it will probably be necessary to wait another year before the park can be improved, and roads laid to its entrance.
Carter County has exceeded its quota, which was one-half of $20,000. Boyd County has gone over the top also. Outside of Carter County, Boyd and Rowan stand to benefit the most,
through the state park.
Rowan County cannot fail! Give generously to this worthy effort.

Another False Rumor
Reports that U. S. Highway 60 would be rerouted so as to miss Morehead, Olive Hill and Grayson if the Licking River dams were constructed, has been blown into thin air and classed as definitely false. The State Highway Department advised the Rowan County News today.
The Highway Department says: "... these rumors are without foundation, and any improvement on U. S. 60 will follow, in general, the existing route, with the usual exception of more advantageous locations within the towns in which the present U. S. 60 now runs." We mention the above not in the vein of probating against its construction to enlighten the people properly and accurately. As an example, a speaker who was addressing a Morehead audience in opposition to the dam, talked at length about the rumor that the government would practically "steal" the land, as the assessed evaluation would give and accurately. The assessment of the land was not in question in the matter, and we have no doubt but the owners will receive a fair price.
Opponents of the dam will find their campaign boomeranging unless a fair, honest appraisal of the results are given the public.
This newspaper has attempted to give all the pertinent facts, both pro and con, on the Licking dams so that its readers might make up their own minds. It should be added, however, that the benefits that will accrue to Rowan County, if the dams are constructed, is in our belief that they will be sorely and severely damaged if the construction is almost a "life and death" struggle.

No people can remain indifferent to the suffering of the innocent without losing something of their own spiritual integrity. This famine emergency is just what the words imply—a famine, an utter lack of food—an emergency that does not allow of waiting or fagging over help. What is done must be done now before it is too late.
Will you help the starving children of the world? Save and share that you may do your part to help the innocents who cannot help themselves.

Ol' Man Weather
It was Mark Twain who ventured the opinion that there was no such thing as bad weather—only different kinds of good weather.
Of course, Mark Twain saw things with a bit of a twinkle in his eye, and in all probability he could write his amusing stories in rainy weather as well as when the sun shone. His book sales didn't depend on whether the soil was moist or dry. It's a lucky thing that the elements kept peeping inside their houses when they should be working at their jobs outdoors.
It's different with farmers. For example, no one could convince a farmer that the weather is good while he is sitting at his window looking out at a teeming rain, watching Juniper Pluvius making lakes in his planted fields when all the time he knows that he should be outdoors cultivating his crops... and can't.
Still it's a lucky thing that this universe could gang up to convince a farmer that rainy weather is giving him a good chance to rest and relax when he doesn't want to rest and relax, when in fact the only thing he wants to do is work at his endless job of making a living.
It's a lucky thing that the present-day farmers don't have to completely waste those precious days when bad weather keeps them off their fields. Modern farmers have learned how to profitably use those hours of enforced idleness.
If more than 20,000,000 vehicles will pack the highways during the four-day holiday period, the Council estimated. They will travel more than four billion miles.
Mobilizing to avert the threatened disaster, the Council is organizing the cooperation of the Council in a nationwide Fourth of July campaign to consolidate public and official support behind the slogan, "Be Alive on the Fifth!" In appealing for public cooperation in the campaign, Ned H. Dearborn, president of the Council, said, "I hate to throw cold water on holiday anticipation but we still have the same combination of facts which led the Council before V-J Day to predict the present upsurge in accidental deaths.
If you travel, a long-awaited vacation season in full swing, worn out tires and cars, run-down highways and a carefree attitude that often becomes a careless attitude—all this simply adds up to more tragedy. A prediction can't spoil your holiday, but an accident can."

The Deadly Fourth
This Fourth of July may see a holiday-stamped public roll up the greatest mileage ever recorded on the nation's speedometers in any one week of the National Safety Council's year.
More important, the Council fears it will be the deadliest week-end in the country's accident history—unless the emergency is met with emergency caution by everybody.
More than 20,000,000 vehicles will pack the highways during the four-day holiday period, the Council estimated. They will travel more than to predict the present upsurge in accidental

deaths.
If you travel, a long-awaited vacation season
in full swing, worn out tires and cars, run-down highways and a carefree attitude that often becomes a careless attitude—all this simply adds up to more tragedy. A prediction can't spoil your holiday, but an accident can."

Future Slogan of our Air Forces: "Up and Atom."
It's a sad state of affairs we're in. The rewards to the strikers, the others raise their prices, and the public suffers the bill.
Everything is wearing out, including our patience.
Congressmen report that their mail is "meaner" than ever before. It is the first time in a number of years that people have taken time to remember that we do have a congress.

IT HAPPENED IN MOREHEAD (FROM THE EDITOR'S PEN) Ordinary Kentucky in noted for its "odd-named" postoffices, and one that pops up in print every so often is Ordinary in Elliott County.
When this office was established, Doc Brown, the leader of the community, proposed several names, but they were turned down because some other office already had that title.
In conversation with a friend one day, Doc Brown said it shouldn't be difficult to find a name because "this is just an ordinary place." So they hit on the name "Ordinary" and it was accepted.
Correct Time
Many people in Morehead and Clarksfield get out of bed, at their meals, do countless other tasks and go to bed by the whistle of the Lee-Clay Products Company. During the recent cold strike the plant had to shut down, and the whole neighborhood was thrown out of balance.
Speaking of the Lee-Clay whistle reminds us of that fat-ful July 4, 1939, when the flash flood brought Morehead its greatest disaster as 39 people drowned here. The Lee-Clay whistle doubtless saved many lives that night, for the fireman started rising at the rate of almost a minute. It aroused many people who made their way to higher ground or climbed trees and stayed there until morning.
Ringsiders
The Moreheadians who went to New York and paid a hundred dollars for a ring-side seat at the Joe Louis-Billy Conn fight, probably don't feel nearly so good as us stay-at-homers. If the radio account was correct it was one of the poorest heavyweight matches ever held. But, all we people that heard it were the air only lost a few minutes.
I listened to the game up at Legrande Jayne's house. We were both for Billy Conn, but our moral support weakened with each round as Conn just kept backing up and running away.
When the end came we were both leaning toward Joe Lewis the aggressor.
Legrande didn't charge me a thing for listening at his ringside. In fact, Mrs. Jayne, in her usual gracious manner, offered us a Coca-Cola.
In Action Again
Three members of the Breckinridge Training School basketball team will be seen in action tonight (Friday) in the Kentucky-Indiana All-Star game at spacious Butler Fieldhouse in Indianapolis. They are Sonny Allen, Don Batson and Frank Fraleigh, and are the lads that the Kentuckians are figuring will carry the team to victory.
We haven't ascertained if there will be a radio broadcast of the game.
New Wednesdays Hours Although Morehead stores have been closing on Wednesday afternoons for two weeks, many people just can't get used to it.
You see them all during the af-him, but he almost left her and this world for good. Here is the story, right from Crackerbar-rel spy No. X999—Deward drilled a gas well on his place at Farmers. Deward stuck his head down in the well, with his lower extremities sticking in the air, and struck a match to see how strong the gas was.

Well, it was as strong as Laylow Bradley's breath.
Mrs. Evans did remark that she did not want to live with a man that didn't have any eyebrows and one whose face looks like a bubble had burst in front of Sally Rand.
The Evans' have reached an understanding, however. We suggest, however, that Mrs.
Evans' chain him to a tree for he can do crazier things than Dag-wood Bruistard.
When all the women folks started bobbing their hair I was against it—I battled against lipstick and rouge—I opposed the short dress issue. Now we are faced with the SHIRT-TAIL problem.
I see girls of all ages coming down the street with their shirt-tails out. I am against it.
I have been very quiet about all the other foolish fads that we have had lately, but I am now opening up on girls-shirt-tails-out and I will go down in history as an "Anti-Shirt-Tailist".
It is one of the worst things that ever hit this country, and is spreading like wild-fire.
Why, I think how would it look to see Otto Carr going down the street with his shirt-tail flapping the breezes? I would sooner meet Rosa the Hyena than see Judge Dan Caudill and Era Martt talking in the streets with their shirt-tails hanging down to their knees.
Thank all you folks for your kind cards about my poetry.
I had really been an inspiration to me.
When my wife FINALLY got up the other night, this masterpiece popped into my mind:
The roses are red,
The days have passed that we have seen,
The ones to come may be few,
But I hope to spend them all with you.
She at once came back with this one:
The road is wide,
With not a crook,
I sure am glad,
You won't be my cook.
You won't get around a durn woman.
BLIGHT HITS POTATO CROP
During the past week blight has damaged a number of potato crops here. Last year, it was late to spray. Some farmers of several thousand bushel of potatoes.
Blight is a bacterial disease and it can be prevented by spraying the plant with Bordeaux mixture. Potato vines should be sprayed two or three times. After the disease strikes it is too late to spray. Some farmers who made a complete failure last year have already given up their crop this year.
The United States covers the lot of territory and includes many people. It is extremely doubtful whether Washington knows enough to rule the nation wisely.

Dear Folks:
I herewith, hereon and hereby submit my application for President of your college. I was by the papers that you have one or two other applicants. Well, one or two makes three, so I reckon I am the fourth in line.
However, I have qualifications which I carefully ask you to consider as I think they should place me at the top of the list. In the first place I am a local man, and already have a room here in town. I am bald and have a 20/20 vision in one eye and 50/50 in the other.
My chest is 36 impounded and 36 1/8 inches expounded. I write good, illegal hand and can spit through my front teeth. I have never been in any wars and do not want to be in any.
My politics is a messed-up affair. Grandpa on my fathers side was a Rebel; grandpa on my mother's side a Yankee. My other grandfather stole the pants from Morgan's men.
I like sports and am rated good at quots, horsehoes and mumble-jee.
As to my education—I went to school once for two straight days in place of my brother Ed who was sick. Later in life I had two correspondence courses in engineering and tailoring. I have two degrees, A.M. (Doctor of Ailing Maytags) and Ph.D.
(Doctor of Phalling Hair).
My religion is definitely o. k.
I have never been convicted of breaking up any church meetings, or breaking up the preachers.
I once went to Christian Evi-deavor.
If you choose me my vice-president will be J. Stonewall Jackson of Morehead and you all know. Most of you know him as a man of little quantity but high integrity. He is one of the best fishermen in this county, and when they are not biting he will paint a house now and then. If you select me as your President I guarantee all members of the Board of Regents fresh fish at all times.
Some has as many qualifications as I have—perhaps even more. I am fortunate to get him as my running mate for the office.
Please give this matter your prompt and individual attention as Stone and I want to go on a fishing trip and we would like to know whether you have exercised due foresight and selected us before we go.
Respectfully,
Woody Hinton, Secretary
Vice-President,
(Both Pro-Tem.)

Trout Fishing Season Opens
Next Sunday
Trout fishing will be open to Kentucky anglers at daylight on Sunday, June 23, according to an announcement today by the Fisheries Department of the Division of Game and Fish. Big Clear Creek located in Kentucky Ridge State Forest near Pineville will be the first stream stocked with brook trout for this experimental season. Approximately 1800 adult fish were stocked in the creek earlier this month.
Another 2000 trout will be released in Eastern Kentucky before the end of June in continuation of the program to determine the advisability of propagating this species for regular stocking projects.
Trout fishermen are all adult and of legal age. Bag limit is 8 and the possession limit twice that figure. Fishing is open to anyone holding a regular fishing license. Catches may be reported at checking stations along the streams in order to keep an accurate account of the experiment.

Improved Uniform International SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Lesson for June 23

STRENGTHENING BONDS OF FELLOWSHIP

LESSON TEXT—Luke 22:14-20. John 13:1-17. Selection—A new commandment I give unto you, that ye love one another.—John 13:34.

Fellowship is a word which comes to its full meaning only in the relationship between the Lord and his disciples.

The Lord gave his people and gave himself in friendship to them, even to the full devotion of death.

It was late on Thursday of what we call Holy Week, that Jesus and his disciples came to the upper room where Peter and John had already made preparation for the observance of the Passover (Luke 22:8).

This feast had since that great and awful night of Israel's redemption out of Egypt's bondage pointed forward to the Christ and to his cross as the fulfillment of the type of redemption by the shedding of blood.

Our Lord looked forward with intense desire to the Passover which he now desired with his disciples, for it was the last celebration of that feast recognized by God. All that had been foreshadowed of deliverance now to be accomplished, and he was to become the Christian's Passover lamb (1 Cor. 5:7).

The Passover was a solemn feast of remembrance of God's deliverance from the bondage of Egypt, but it was also a feast of remembrance of the new feast of remembrance of the Lord's death, which was the fulfillment of the Passover which had just preceded.

Jesus established the Christian feast of remembrance, which we call communion, or the Lord's table.

His words are significant, "For as often as ye eat this bread, and drink this cup, ye do show the Lord's death till he come" (1 Cor. 11:26). At the Lord's table his followers find spiritual strength in recalling his death for them, but they also find joy as they remember that he is to come again. They thus testify to the world that they believe and cherish these truths.

Our Lord also spoke of the cup as "my blood of the new testament." The new testament is a new covenant. The Lord's table, therefore, speaks of our allegiance to him, of our loyalty to our Lord, and of our devotion to his service. That is why the Christian church speaks of communion as a sacrament, a word from the Latin sacramentum, meaning oath and essentially an oath of allegiance.

III. The Fellowship of God's Word (John 17:8).

John gives us a blessed account of the fellowship of the Lord and his disciples in the upper room, and then takes us into what is indeed "the Holy of Holies" of Scripture, our Lord's intercessory prayer. Here "the High Priest of our profession" (Heb. 3:1) brings us into the very presence of God.

At the very beginning of his petitions for them and for us (see v. 20) he speaks of the work which the Father had given him and which he had given to them.

This little company of men had been given to Christ, drawn out of the evil world and set apart for the work of the Father. But note that the thing which distinguished them from the eyes of the Lord was that they had "kept" the word of God, even as they had received the living word; Christ, at the one whom the Father had sent.

That kind of fellowship with the Lord makes a man strong and useful. Life and testimony both ring true because they exalt Christ.

IV. The Fellowship of Prayer (John 17:20, 21).

Christ prayed for his disciples, not only those immediately present, but all who should through the ages since that day believe in Christ because of their witness.

That puts each one of us, who is a true believer, right into the center of the greatest prayer fellowship of all time. He is eternal and omnipotent, and prays for us. Why then should we be weak and faltering in our testimony or have failures in our life? Can it be that we have failed to count on his prayer and have tried to walk in our own strength?

The prayer for unity (v. 21) does not speak of an outward union of religious bodies such as is much favored and promoted in our day. Certainly without the sacrifice of principle or compromise with false doctrine it is desirable. Real unity is that of the heart.

The Rowan County Chapter of Future Farmers of America held their June meeting, Saturday, June 14 at the Public School.

Fourteen members attended and gave progress reports on their project work since school was out. It was decided that the July meeting would be a picnic at Cascade Caves, Sunday, July 21.

Harold Dean and Waldo Reeder received the O. I. C. gifts that were presented by the Rowan County Farmers Club this year.

Three of the boys are buying a guernsey heifer this fall for dairy projects next year.

It was not Harry W. Schacter's gift of gab that moved me to invent for myself this gratuitous job of writing a weekly column for upward of a million newspaper readers in our state.

I asked Ewing Galloway for the privilege of his column to tell once more the major purpose and objective of the Committee for Kentucky.

There has been a great deal of discussion about the Committee and what it is trying to do. A good deal of heat has been expended and unfortunately, very little light.

It seems timely, therefore, to say that the Committee for Kentucky has just received a shipment of handsomely engraved honorable service emblem rings.

the facts, and to help them organize their local communities to do something about it. If every Kentuckian will take his small share of the responsibility and put his shoulder to the wheel, Kentucky will truly be on the March!

The man who obeys traffic regulations may have an accident but he is not as likely to have one as the guy who disregards the signs and rules.

As for the first of the major objectives of finding facts and disseminating them, I think it can safely be said that we have done a good job.

While some people might not have liked our slogan, "Wake Up, Kentucky," the fact is that Kentucky is now truly awake.

Kentucky is truly on the march now, and nothing will stop it until it has not only regained its former greatness, but has also taken its place beside the most progressive states of this nation.

As for the second objective, we have made a great start in Henderson, Kentucky. The Committee for Henderson is now functioning effectively and should write an important chapter in American democracy.

We have gone a step further. We have hired James W. Armstrong, one of the leaders in the formation of the Committee for Henderson, to be full-time Director of Community Organization for the Committee for Kentucky.

It will be his job to go from community to community throughout the State to help organize similar committees. When his job is done, I am confident that democracy will have a greater meaning in Kentucky than in any other state in the Union, for Kentucky will then have made democracy a vital, living thing.

To sum up, let me repeat: The Committee for Kentucky has but two purposes — to tell the people

MATERIAL SHORTAGES DELAY FARM ELECTRIFICATION PLANS

K.U.'s Rural Extension Program Stymied By Lack of Poles, Transformers, Meters — President Watt Promises Early Relief

THROUGHOUT the entire United States, shortages of labor and materials are holding up distribution of projects and services. Kentucky Utilities Company is no exception among the organizations whose post-war plans are being delayed by serious shortages in nearly all key materials. With its overall goals showing the effects of America's production slowdown, K. U. is fighting an uphill battle to maintain a slow but steady pace in its efforts to bring electricity to more Kentucky farmers.

"No one understands better than we do the plight of the Kentucky farmer who wants electricity on his farm," R. M. (Boa) Watt, president of K. U. earnestly declared recently. "K. U. has reduced its reserve stockpile to an absolute minimum in order to extend its facilities to an increasing number of Kentucky farms. When the present materials bottleneck clears up, K. U. will be among the first to get supplies, and we have been assured that we shall get at least our share."

Electric companies throughout the country are suffering from lack of materials, and when it is pointed out that at least two-thirds of all electrified farms in the country are served by the tax-paying utilities, it becomes apparent that the tiny trickle of available supplies must spread very thin. When compared with transformers and meters, sirlin steaks and butter are plentiful.

Maintenance Needs Cited
MEANWHILE, Mr. Watt continued, Kentucky Utilities Company is building as rapidly as possible with the dribble of supplies that is coming in. Regular maintenance takes quite a share of this dribble, for sometimes the materials that won't string a mile of line will keep a hundred miles in operation. With the comparatively small amount of equipment allotted to them, K. U. was able to run only 60.7 miles of line in January and February, 1946, and to add 188 customers to its books. "Hundreds of additional miles have already been programmed with the go-ahead signal awaiting only the materials with which to build the lines."

Engineers Are Stymied
THE day of near-miracles being done with what comes to hand did not pass with the end of the war. K. U.'s engineering and purchasing departments are doing these same near-miracles today, but acute shortages of poles, crossarms, transformers, meters, and other line hardware, have been stymied.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Truman Hits 'Hasty Labor Laws; Wheat Crop to Fall Below Needs; Supreme Court Feud in Open

Released by Western Newspaper Union. (Copyright News, etc. are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news.)

Truman described it as hasty legislation which impaired the rights of workmen and did not aim at the heart of labor unrest. In addition to recommending a six-month study of long-range labor law, the President said economic maladjustments contributing to industrial disputes might be partly corrected by setting up his proposed minimum wage, health insurance and medical service and continuation of office control.

Despite presidential backing and an overwhelming passage by the house, Mr. Truman's emergency anti-strike bill faced rough going. While pro-labor elements pushed the provision for drafting strikes as involuntary servitude, conservative forces hit at the government's power to retain profits of seized properties during U. S. operation as confiscatory.

Amid the jockeying over labor legislation, government conciliators worked feverishly for a settlement of the maritime strike. Principal bone of contention was the union's demands for a decrease in the work week of 56 hours, with the operators resisting a big reduction on grounds that the increased costs would place them at a disadvantage in competing with foreign lines.

Belief that Amin's escape from Paris was a background of international intrigue involving Britain, France and Russia. France was accused of helping the grand multi-locale to stir up trouble for Britain in the Near East in retaliation for Britain's high-handed attitude toward French holdings in that region. At the same time, it was reported that Amin had escaped to a Russian plane, pointing up stories of a Communist inspired anti-British agitation in the Holy Land to weaken Britain's position in the Levant.

Justice Robert H. Jackson's opening of Supreme court feud rocked official Washington despite frequent reports of friction within the high tribunal and led to claims for a full-dress congressional investigation.

As Senator Hickenlooper (Rep., Iowa) declared: "It is hard to affect the public acceptance and assumption of complete impartiality by the Supreme court."

Releasing his bombshell from Nuremberg, Germany, where he is U. S. prosecutor of Nazi war criminals, Jackson said at attacks he alleged were made against his judicial integrity and directed his fire at Justice Hugo Black, whom he accused of trying to "juggle" him into covering up facts in a case involving Black's former law partner.

In the case in dispute, Black's one-time business associate, Crampston Evans of Birmingham, Ala., represented the United Mine Workers in litigation involving the legality of the principle of postal-portal pay, i. e., pay to miners for time spent in traveling from the entrance to the coal faces. The U. S. won the case and Black, with Black on the affirmative side and Jackson on the negative.

Chief issue between Black and Jackson was whether it was proper for Black to sit in judgment on a case in which a former partner of his represented one of the litigants. While there was no precedent to go by, Jackson intimated his disagreement with the practice at the time. It was then that Jackson charged Black attempted to alter his position by threatening to "declare war" against court members.

Additional light was thrown upon the fracas by a report that Black became so incensed over the storm created by Jackson's dissent that he threatened to publish a list of cases involving former clients of Justice Roberts in which the latter was supposed to have sat in judgment. Disappointed over not having been named chief justice of the court, Jackson's action indicated he might have been influenced by his dissenting opinion and opposition influenced President Truman's nomination of Fred Vinson instead.

Observed Birthday Of G. I. Bill

Saturday, June 22, will mark an important date in the lives of more than a million World War II veterans residing in the Veterans Administration Branch No. 6 area of Ohio, Kentucky, and Michigan. The date is the second anniversary of the passage of the Servicemen's Readjustment Act, popularly known as the G. I. Bill, one of the most far-reaching pieces of legislation for service men and women that has ever been enacted.

One needs not look far to find evidence of the worthiness of the G. I. Bill, for its benefits extend into virtually every home of Ohio's 507,971 veterans, Michigan's 495,841, and Kentucky's 192,144. These figures represent World War II veterans discharged through March 31.

For the most part, the G. I. Bill boils down to first major benefits for the ex-service men and women.

and women of World War II improved medical and hospital care, guaranty of loans, education and job training, readjustment allowances and job-finding assistance.

The legislation has come a long way in its two short years toward the realization of its goals, the speedy readjustment to civilian life of World War II veterans through the additional veterans benefits provided by the credit for the administration of the Act goes to General Omar Bradley, appointed Administrator for the War Relocation Authority on August 15, 1945. His plan for decentralization and reorganization of the Veterans Administration, while not yet completed, is designed to speed the service to the veteran in his home community.

Osseopathic Clinics To Aid Disabled Servicemen The Veterans Administration is conducting a survey among a portion of ex-service men and women in Ohio, Kentucky and Michigan to determine the educational intentions. Results of the survey will be made available to the various educational institutions in the two States.

World War II veterans who have not received any pension service-connected structural disabilities, will be held June 28 and 29 at Doctors' Hospital in Columbus, Ohio under the auspices of the Ohio Osteopathic Association of Physicians and Surgeons.

A veteran desiring to attend the clinics must obtain a certificate showing the service-connected disability from the service officer of a veterans' organization or the American Red Cross.

The clinics will be held at outpatient department of certain approved hospitals designated by the association's Veterans' Clinic Committee.

Guidance Service To assist veterans in selecting educational and vocational programs commensurate with their interests and aptitudes, a complete counseling and guidance service is available to veterans who are making unsatisfactory progress in educational institutions will prevent delay in the Veterans Administration announced.

While the service is offered to all veterans, it is required before an ex-serviceman can change his program of education or training as a result of this procedure is necessary in such cases to prevent the veteran from making another unwise choice.

VA training officers attempt to detect cases of unsatisfactory progress to prevent veterans from becoming discouraged by failure and also from exhausting an undue amount of their educational or training eligibility.

Less Paper Work A simplified form to be filled out by schools and colleges when the veteran-student returns to school next fall is expected to expedite the completion of his subsistence allowance, the Veterans Administration announced.

Only one form, which can be filled out in a few minutes, will be required when the veteran resumes his education under the G. I. Bill.

The VA emphasized that prompt handling of the forms by the educational institutions will prevent delay in the payment of veterans' allowances.

Questions and Answers Q. When I was discharged I reduced my National Service Life Insurance policy from $10,000 to $5,000. Now I find I can afford to carry the full $10,000. Can I reinstatement the $5,000 I let lapse?

A. Yes, if you reinstate it before January 1, 1947, you need pay only two monthly premiums and submit a statement that your health is as good as it was when you reduced the amount of your policy.

Q. As a veteran of World War II, I'd like to take advantage of both the educational and loan provisions of the G. I. Bill, go to school and borrow money for new equipment for a farm which I already own. Can I do this?

A. A veteran may take advantage of more than one section of the G. I. Bill at the same time. You'll have to convince the lender you can go to school and run your farm at the same time however, to qualify for a loan.

Q. I own a farm which my brother and sister operated while I was in the Army. Local taxes have accumulated and I'd like to borrow under the G. I. Bill to pay them. May I?

A. Yes. You may get either a farm or home loan to use to pay off taxes. The same principle applies to taxes on a town or city home owned by a veteran.

Q. I served with the RAF during World War II. As an American and a veteran, am I entitled to any benefits under the G. I. Bill?

A. Yes. Americans who served in the armed forces of Allied nations are eligible for benefits of the G. I. Bill, provided they reside in the United States and have not received similar benefits from the foreign government they served.

Q. I am the widow of a World War I veteran. I lost my only son in World War II. I have not received any pension service-connected structural disabilities in 1940, but have received $45 a month as a pension from my son's service. This is my only source of income. Am I entitled to an additional pension through my husband?

A. Yes. You may file this claim at the nearest Veterans Administration Contact Office.
