Farmers Asking For Conservation In Rowan County

The farmers of Rowan County are making a big move in getting in putting conservation on their land according to H. J. Webb, conservationist of the Rowan County Soil Conservation District. A few years ago when conservation farming was new, few knew about it, but today many realize its value and understand fully the importance of conserving their own soil and water resources.

During the past month conservation farm plans were developed with Messrs. Truby Pettit, Clifton Morehead, Aubrey Frazer, Earl Murphree, Burn Burn William M. Skaggs, James McFarland and Walter Reeves. The conservation plan, Mr. Webb pointed out, is the best way of conservation farming. It is a blueprint for building and maintaining soil fertility on a certain farm for a certain individual. These conservation farm plans fit the land, fit the farmer and suit the farmer. The district has trained technicians who will assist farmers in applying planned practices. Many farmers have now caught up with their conservation work and are requesting assistance on drainage problems and construction of diversion ditches.

Morehead is to have a new department store in a few days, it has been announced by Arthur Blair, manager. The new store will be located in the Masonic Building on Main Street and is to be known as the Blair Department Store.

Mr. Blair has been in the merchandising business in Morehead for more than a decade. He disposed of his store at the corner of Main and Fifth streets last year to Mr. and Mrs. James Brainerd.

Single Girls, 18 To 28, Eligible In Beauty Contest

The Rowan County News is sponsoring the entry of Rowan County's most beautiful girl in the Kentucky beauty contest at the state fair.

We know there are hundreds of beautiful girls in this community and we are setting out to find the loveliest of all in hopes that she will not only capture the title of "Miss Kentucky" but will go on to Atlantic City and become "Miss America."

Entry blanks are now available at the News office. The girl may enter herself or her name may be entered by any individual or business. The rules are simple—the contest open to every girl who lives in Rowan County who possesses the following qualifications:

GETS DECREE

Mrs. Ethel Ellington, widow of the late Dr. A. P. Ellington and former Morehead High School principal, has completed her work for a Master's Degree at the University of Kentucky, Lexington, and will receive her degree at the August 23 commencement exercises.

Mrs. Ellington majored in business education. Before coming to Morehead she was head of the accounting and business department at Ashland Senior High.

She served as principal at Morehead High for nine years, resigning her position in May. She is a member of the Rowan County Woman's Club and the American Association of University Women which has an active chapter in Morehead.

Although she has received many offers, Mrs. Ellington says that she intends to remain in Morehead.

Two Men Enlist In Regular Army

Mr. Earl Bud Ward, of Morehead, joined the Regular Army on the 6th of August. His reason for joining the Army was for security and a wide field of travel. Mr. Ward was born at Sophia, W. Va., on the 29th of October, 1928. Sgt. William V. Stevens signed Mr. Ward for the two year enlistment and stated that if he likes the Service, he will sign up for three more years after this period is over.

On the same date, Mr. James W. Mitchell of Route 1, Morehead, Ky., was enlisted by Cpl. Forest L. Ramsey for the 30th year period. He was born at Warriornie, W. Va., on the 30th of May, 1929. He joined the Army to study the mechanical methods the Army has to offer.

Any information about the Regular Army can be obtained from the recruiting office which is at Morehead on Monday of each week. They will be in the Post Office Building at Morehead, Ky.

Miss Eleanor Bruce, recently adjudged as the best lady rider in Kentucky, and one of the outstanding horsewomen in the United States, added further to her laurels at the Shelbyville Horse Show this week where she captured first place in the ladies' horsemanship class.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Z. Bruce, Wilson Avenue.

RECEIVES DISCHARGE

Floyd L. Rivers, seaman, first-class, Soldier, Ky., has been discharged after honorable service upon the Navy, at the personnel separation center in Bremerton, Wash.

Rowan County Goes To Bates, Brown

Both Races Are Close As Light Rural Vote Recorded

John Young Brown and Joe B. Bates carried Rowan County in Saturday's Democratic Primary, but the majority for each was small.

Brown received 92 more votes than Phil Ardrey in the race for United States Senator while Congressman Bates topped Harry King Lowman by 35 votes in the county.

Ardrey and Lowman carried the Morehead precincts, but Brown and Bates were victorious in the rural sections. Lowman showed surprising strength in the city, where he carried the college lot for ten years, and the city wards by 117 votes. Bates received 182 more votes in the rural precincts than did Lowman.

Although the balloting was fairly heavy while it was extremely light in the country precincts.

On the Republican ticket John Sherman Cooper, of Somerset, easily won the Republican nomination for Senate in Saturday's balloting, defeating Roscoe Conklin Douglas by a majority of six to one. He will oppose John Young Brown, Lexington, who was nominated by the Democrats.

On the job training in farming for veterans who can qualify will start in Rowan County, September 1. Hubert Pennington, a qualified veteran, has been employed by the Rowan County Board of Education to work with this program.

A meeting of all veterans interested in the job training in farming will be held at the Morehead Public School, Monday evening August 12 at 7:30. Mr. Forster, State Department Vocational Education, will explain the various phases of the program to the veterans. It is necessary for the ones attending their training September 1 to attend this meeting.

Mr. C. W. Crowder, superintendent of Rowan County Schools, has appointed the following: Mr. Pennington, in conducting this program in Rowan County; Herbert Webb, Soil Conservation Service, Lexington; Farm Security; H. C. Hagan, Red Cross; Dan Brane, County Agent; Charles Hughes, Vocational Agriculture.

A Day Of Prayer And Hope

The wording that President Truman used in proclaiming August 14 as official Victory Day seems most adaptable for the occasion. The President called upon the people to observe the day as one of "solemn commemoration of the devotion of the men and women by whose sacrifices victory was achieved."

"Observe this day," said the President, "as one of prayer and high resolve that the cause of justice, freedom, peace, and international good-will shall be advanced with undiminished and unremitting efforts, inspired by the valor of our heroes of the armed services."

Next Wednesday, August 14, will not be a national holiday this year, although it may be made one later by Congress. However, August 14 should always mark the date that this nation achieved final victory in its greatest struggle against tyranny and slavery.

The Courthouse Should Have Telephones

Several years ago the Rowan County Fiscal Court ordered all telephones removed from the courthouse, with the exception of that in the Sheriff's office. It seems that each month bills carried many long-distance calls, which the Fiscal Court deemed unnecessary, so they had all the telephones removed.

The county officials are put in office to serve the public and taxes are paid for service to the people. It is very annoying to have to make a trip to the courthouse when the same business might be transacted in a few seconds by telephone.

It is our belief that removal of the phones was false economy. If a fiscal officer is unwilling to pay for any long distance calls they should charge these back to the official from whose office they were made. The court should, by all means, furnish telephones in the office of county officials, so that the public can be rendered the service that their tax dollars pay for.

Vega Turns On The Light

In Cleveland, Ohio, a 34-inch incandescent light bulb, of 160,000 candlepower, was lighted recently by a ray that came from the star Vega, 176 trillion miles from the earth.

Just how the scientist experts managed to pick up the light rays from Vega and transmit it through a photo-electric cell through telephone wires and then to the huge globe is something that we do not understand. For that matter, who knows exactly how the scientists ascertained that Vega is 28 light-years from the earth or that it is several times brighter than the sun?

While we cannot explain the technical details by which the scientist manages to discover the secrets of the tremendous universe, of which this earth is such an infinitesimal fragment, there is no reason to doubt the accuracy of their information. By study, by test, and by experiment, the scientist reveals the full truth of nature and nothing is to be gained by deriding the truth, even if it shatters some of our prejudices.

The work of the scientists is for that matter by many Americans. It is then, for that matter, the work of some average American citizen is not understood by many scientists. An expert astronomer, for example, might have difficulty in cultivating a field and producing a crop, but he is too smart to dispute the fact that farmers have the know-how, and that they should intelligently follow proper methods and proper conditions.

The Sharkey Field Day

Those who did not attend the third annual Farm Field Day held at Sharkey Friday missed a profitable and enjoyable occasion.

The dinner consisting of fried chicken, gallons of well-seasoned green-beans, corn on the ear, red-pie tomatoes, potato salad and many other home-cooked vegetables and dishes topped off with a happy sledge of home-baked pies and cakes, was a happy recess between the farm tours and lectures conducted by a group of farm experts.

Rowan County farmers have shown more progress in the last 10 years than they had in the previous hundred years. Although we profess to know little about tending the soil it was good to hear our farmers discuss the amount and kind of fertilizer they used, the proper feeding and care of poultry, and the hundred and other one things that go to making better farms, better farmers and a more progressive community.

Banks throughout the country are showing big gains in deposits. There was a time when many of the banks had more executives than they had depositors.

If you want to avoid that rundown feeling, be careful when walking on the highways.

A sure way to make your money last longer these inflated days, is not to buy high-purified things you don't need.

Many a motorist seems to think that the only limit to driving is the age limit.

Fair For The Employer And For The Veteran

Employers and Veterans Groups who are hiring veterans under the "On-the-Job-Training Program" are finding that the plan is adaptable and satisfactory for the ex-G.I. and themselves.

The employer is virtually assured that the veteran will stay with him for four years, and that the wage scale he has to pay is commensurate with the production or service he receives; the veteran learns a trade and receives, with his government pay, sufficient remuneration to insure him a fair living.

To our mind the "On-the-Job-Training" plan is the outstanding feature of all veterans legislation.

A Citizen's Responsibility

The best assurance Americans can have of a democratic and efficient form of government—local, state and national—is that brought about by intelligent citizens who take pride in the ballot and who select the candidates who represents their views.

Saturday's voting in Kentucky—with less than 20 per cent of its citizens taking the trouble to cast their ballot—is a certain sign of a weakness in our democratic form of government. The people who did not vote Saturday failed in their civic responsibility as an American.

So far as can be learned Morehead itself cast one of the heaviest proportionate votes in the state. We might feel proud of this, except that we know 40 per cent of the eligible voters in Morehead did not go to the polls. And, out in the county the vote was so light that we wonder if the people care who their public officials are.

Dane-Geld By RUTH TAYLOR

Kipling once wrote a poem about the Danish pirates who, nearly a thousand years ago, preyed on the coast of England and collected Dane-geld to stay away; and he showed how fallacious was the idea that "paying Dane-geld ever got rid of the Dane."

The nations of the world learned again at Munich that "peace in our time" only meant that their time was wasted.

What's the difference in dictators? Whether it be Mussolini strutting on his balcony, Hitler screaming in a rage—or Stalin making his puppet walk out whenever he can't have his own way—or other lesser dictators, ready to do exactly the same things whenever the chips are not all on their side of the table?

A dictator is a dictator and it never pays to appease him. But—the one thing we always can do is—not to do business with him. It doesn't make any difference whether for the moment he is on our side of the fence or the other. His methods are wrong. And we certainly learned as children that the only way to make a bully change his tune is not to play with him.

Brutal talk? Yes, but these are brutal times. The peace we want for after war was not here. The peace we wanted are not achieving. Our time seems again to be but seconds. Why? Because we have appeased. We went about what we thought was our business instead of taking care of the most important business of all. We agreed to compromised and acquiesced in order to concentrate on our own affairs and forget that in order to have the road smooth the line must be true.

We paid a Dane-geld—and not only ourselves. The peace we wanted for after war was not here. The peace we wanted are not achieving. Our time seems again to be but seconds. Why? Because we have appeased. We went about what we thought was our business instead of taking care of the most important business of all. We agreed to compromised and acquiesced in order to concentrate on our own affairs and forget that in order to have the road smooth the line must be true.

We paid a Dane-geld—and not only ourselves. The peace we wanted for after war was not here. The peace we wanted are not achieving. Our time seems again to be but seconds. Why? Because we have appeased. We went about what we thought was our business instead of taking care of the most important business of all. We agreed to compromised and acquiesced in order to concentrate on our own affairs and forget that in order to have the road smooth the line must be true.

This is as true today as it was in the days of which Kipling wrote. We must do as he advised, stand firm, armed and ready, that we may be able to say:

"We never pay any Dane-geld.
No matter how trifling the cost.
For the end of that game is oppression and shame,
And the nation that plays it is lost!"

The biggest marked advance in fall styles will, no doubt, be on the price tags.

Back in 1886, operators in a western foundry, not being able to obtain an increase in compensation, struck the employer down. It was the first known "strike" for higher wages.

Things haven't changed a great deal since grandpa was a young man. While grandpa was home spinning, he was out reeling around.

Our pet peeve is the gent who wants to tell us what's wrong with the country when we do, too.

Feeble as the puffs of a boy just learning to smoke.

The next time we're in favor of a soft peace—for us.

Haircuts and shaves have both gone up in price recently. A little wonder, with men's faces longer these days.

Every summer, it seems the weather man favors us with goodly showers; then he gives us a taste of what a dry spell is like, and finishes up by soaking heck out of the whole works.

There was a time when people were paid wages for doing things they were told to; salaries for doing the same things without being told. Myomh, how times have changed!

The other day (it was one of those sign-up days for unemployment payments) we heard a gent ask a young lady, "Go a job yet?" "Ye gods," she answered, "I hope not."

"If prices continues to go up, I'm going to carry a lot of ketchup, but every time he gets into port he gets she-sick."

There's the sailor who could sail the roughest kind of weather, but every time he gets into port he gets she-sick.

Vacation Time

(WFO Service)

(WFO Service)

The election is over now and we can all get back to our canning.

My candidate, Lee Cochran, did not get vote one and both of us are mad. Lots of people told us bare-faced lies. Now that the primary is over some of the folks around here can tell the truth and I can get back to my poetry.

In going through my mail I find a column written by Ralph Vines in the Dayton News, entitled, "Lines by Vines." The entire column concerns E. E. Elam, formerly of Clearfield.

Ernest Elam, that low-down dirty snip. To you Vines, I want to tell you that this fellow Elam is a big blow. We ran him out of this county years ago.

Why, that fellow can look you straight in the eye and tell you things he dreamed about. He told you, Vines, that story about the proper way to milk a goat was to put its head between your legs and use clothes-pin on your nose. The way it really goes in.

Elam went out to milk 'But he didn't know how. He milked a goat.

I showed Elam's wife that line in Vines story in which he asked Elam replied, "Yes and No."

When she read that she exploded like an atomic bomb. Don't let come back until I can smooth things over.

As many of you know there's a big investigation going on in the lumber business of Rowan County, and these lumber dealers who have been compiling their profits are looking like the last rose of summer with all the petals wilted.

Ray White will entrain for Louisville this week if he does not have a heart attack before then. He was feeling very poorly yesterday and his personal physician refused to permit any interviews. I wanted to check his books, but the investigators took them and now they want him to understand the case of Emmett Blanton.

The OPA says he owes them between $1,500 and $1,600. Of course, those are OPA figures.

They are trying to crowd Ray White for around $42,000, and that ain't his bag. He sold the McKinney Lumber Company of which Labe McKinney is president, secretary, and treasurer and general manager sold one load of lumber for $50 and now the OPA is demanding $88 for that load.

Before this thing is over there will be 15 lumber dealers in Rowan County. Otto P. Carr is chewing like a Billy-goat and singing: "Walking the Floor Over You."

Norman Wells and Luther Clark are another one of the lumber subsidiaries that were caught open-handed. Norman was chopping stove-wood and Luther carried it in. They failed to keep a record (in triplicate) of the number of sticks that Norman chopped, and they didn't even grade it. Now its triple or Atlanta for both.

It's a well known fact that Professor W. B. Jackson has been reported to the OPA for cutting mean sticks above the first notch on the bush. The OPA definitely requires bean poles to be cut seven-eighths of 1 inch below the first knot.

Professor Marvin George, band instructor at Morehead College, is in serious danger of being involved as he was seen handling a baton made of wood.

Dr. I. M. Garred is also under investigation as he was seen to use a small plank to hold down the tongue of a patient while he was reading his tongue. That puts Garred in it up to his neck.

There's just no telling where this lumber probe is going to stop. But, Rowan County always takes the lead. I only hope that we good citizens can surpass the Tea-Pot Dome proposition and I suggest that we have a mass meeting at the courthouse, call in the OPA investigators, and tell tales on everyone that is now at large involved.

Welcome to Morehead Dr. William Jessie Baird, the new president of Morehead College. I remember you dear Jessie, when I was struggling with Dr. Fred R. Hutchins and the rest of the gang over at Berea. Ours is a town filled with good people and lots of politicians.

Now, if I had the time I would come around and tell you the way to run the college. But since I am so busy explaining why Lee Cochran didn't get a vote (not even in my own precinct) I will have to leave you the services of Mr. Stonewall Jackson, my assistant. Mr. Jackson, known far and wide on every stream in Rowan County, can tell you all about the proper operation of the college.

When you get around to it, Dr. Baird, drop around to my office and I will give you a drink of ice-cold Triplett Creek water. You must drink from Triplett Creek before we will consider you a native of our fine and somewhat exciting community.

Art Division of A.A.U.W. Chapter Gains Recognition

The Art Department of the Morehead chapter of the A.A.U.W. received recognition at the Lexington June 28 and 30 for sponsoring one of the two most outstanding creative projects in Kentucky.

The Art Department of the Morehead chapter has been sponsoring an art project in Rowan County public schools for the last nine years. The Arts Committee under the direction of Mrs. Naomi Claypool, Mrs. William Rice, and Miss Edna Neil, established the yearly custom of having a white elephant sale to raise money to furnish 54 schools with art material. Other organizations, Morehead Women's Club, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, and county teachers have joined the A. A. U. W. to help make the all-high sum of $318.00 reached.

IT HAPPENED IN MOREHEAD (FROM THE EDITOR'S PEN)

Sugar Shortage

Brown sugar made its appearance in some Morehead restaurants this week. Local wholesalers are expecting shipments of white sugar shortly, but all they can offer is brown sugar. There's not a pound of sugar in any store in Morehead and restaurants that still have the white refined product report their supply will last only a few days.

Licking Dam

No one can deny Harry Goldberg's sincerity on any community or civic project, for he has always been one of Morehead and Rowan County's foremost boosters.

Mr. Goldberg holds to the idea that the Licking Dams would be beneficial to both the city and the county, and that the farms in the Licking basin of Rowan County would be helped instead of injured by the dam. He contends that farm lands could still be tilled as the water will fall approximately 18½ feet during the spring and summer months. He does not believe that the C & O Railroad or U. S. Highway 60 would be moved, but would be re-routed on higher ground if the dams are constructed.

One of his principal points of argument is that the people opposed construction of railroads in the west when they first started to build them, but they do such dams as those proposed on the Licking.

Although we do not agree with Mr. Goldberg we do not question his sincerity. He could be right and we could be wrong. When the dams were first brought into the limelight we thought they might be beneficial to Rowan County. But, the extent of flood to be flooded is many times greater than at first appeared, and there now appears the possibility the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad would be routed around Morehead.

We are for progress, but we maintain that the Licking Dams would be a virtual death-blow to this community.

Old Timer

Sam Bradley, Jr., told us from a fact that he had a picture of Teddy Roosevelt speaking from the rear of his special train at Morehead during the bitter campaign of 1912. We had intended reproducing the photo in the columns of the News, but Sam had been unable to locate it.

Sam is bringing us a picture of a special train on the Morehead siding taken during the last World War. It shows several cars of canned goods and other equipment. A speaker, which Ed Maggard identifies as an Englishman, can be seen talking from atop one of the cars.

What strikes us most about the picture is that Railroad Street around the passenger and freight depots has changed very little in the last 30 years.

Plenty Of Snakes

Reports continue to come in from Rowan and other Eastern Kentucky Counties of many rattlesnakes and copperheads being seen. It appears that there are more snakes this year than ever before.

Of course, the same snakes were here last year, but they seem to be coming out in the open more.

Consolidation

Supt. of Schools Ted Crosthair says that consolidation of rural schools is proceeding as rapidly as roads are constructed. He points out, however, that the process of consolidating schools cannot take on very many more students and that new buildings will have to be built.

Edna Roy Corrette, trustees left off Supt. Crosthair's plans a large, completely modern consolidated school to replace the old structure at Morehead.

As previously pointed out we believe Supt. Crosthair will have the support of all right thinking citizens, and it becomes necessary or advisable to float a bond issue for this construction we believe the great majority of the people will favor it, even though bond issues are generally undesirable from the taxpayers viewpoint.

Picked Up Around Town

More than 600 veterans in Rowan County are now drawing unemployment compensation. The U.S.E.S office and the American Legion will combine their efforts in a drive which has as its slogan, "A Job For Every Rowan County Veteran." You're missing some nice entertainment if you fail to hear the band concerts which are given each Tuesday and Thursday afternoon at 6:30 in front of the Morehead College auditorium. Circuit Clerk Ernest Brown reports there are many Rowan County motorists who have not secured their drivers licenses. The old licenses expired August 1. Morehead has a major election in several months. The city of Morehead cast more votes Saturday than some counties in Kentucky. Some populations of 25,000 and upwards. Four-fifths of the people of Rowan County receive their mail from the Morehead post office. Rural routes from Morehead cover most of the county. Many people in Elliott and other adjoining counties who live 20 to 25 miles from here have Morehead as their post office address. County Clerk Bernard Day received the plan for the ratifiers at Saturday's election for having the tally sheets already prepared with the names of the candidates listed.

LETTERS To The Editor

The Licking Dams
The people along the Licking River are appreciative of the very considerable information you newspaper have printed in your issue of August 1. The Licking River dams. I would like to add some thoughts of mine on this proposal, and I am sure that the figure I quote are correct.

The flood stages of the Ohio River since 1832, as given by the records are: February 18, 1832, 64.2 feet; February 14, 1884, 17.7 feet; April 1, 1913—69.9 feet; January 25, 1937—79.9 feet. The highest stage was the highest recorded on the river.

The people along the tributaries of the Ohio River had established their homes, centered their hopes of happiness in their loved ones and reared their families long before the majority of the dams along the river were built. The people who built their homes or business along the Ohio knew they were subject to floods.

Now, what right do those people have to ask the government to protect their property and their homes? They are knowingly and deliberately realizing that our property will be confiscated and overflooded? It matters not what price they pay for our land and our homes. It matters not whether it is a dollar an acre or a thousand dollars an acre. They are FORCED to sell. The fact remains that they are FORCED to leave our homes where our happiness and contentment is located. The spot that we call home and that our fathers and grandfathers struggled for so that we might live in it. The people in Cincinnati or Morehead say that if they were FORCED to vacate.

Success and happiness are not measured in terms of money. A person that is satisfied with what he owns and is contented is the richest person in the world. What difference does it make how many dollars the government might give us? Be it ever so much money, it is the root of our happiness rests here in the valley of the Licking River.

My idea of democracy and freedom is justice for all. If the government constructs the Licking Dams and the hundreds of other dams on the tributaries of the Ohio they are subjugating our interests to those of the people in the river. Is that justice? Is that democracy? Is that freedom from oppression?

ODDIE R. FOREMAN, RFD 3, Morehead, Ky.

Clearfield School To Sponsor Pie Supper

The Clearfield School has an enrollment of 235. The children and teachers have been cleaning the grounds and installing playground equipment. They have put up two swings and made chinning bars to accommodate all the children.

Mrs. Plank took her class to the top of the hill overlooking Clearfield. Here they spent one period making a map of the community.

Attendance at Clearfield has been very high. We hope to keep it that way by having contests. There will be a Pie Supper at Clearfield, Saturday, August 10, at 7:30 P. M. Some of the attractions will be special music, fortune teller, fish pond, country store, pretty girl, and cold drinks. We hope to have the "Cracker Barrel Man" as the auctioneer.

Mrs. Robert Tackett entertained Sunday with a surprise birthday dinner in honor of her husband, Robert Tackett. The guests were as follows: Lt. Callis Coyle and family, Beulah Hall, Mrs. J. L. Holbrook, Robert Tackett, Jr., Patrolmen Mutters, Muse and Gifford.

Mrs. Stanley Penix, of Salt Lick, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Penix, Friday.

Price Control Is Back After 25 Day Vacation

After a 25 day July vacation price control is back. During these 25 days price ceilings really went on vacation too and had quite a time as the housewife well knows.

But as you know we are back on a legal program for keeping prices and rents at reasonable levels.

The new price control law isn't all that a majority of the people asked for, but no piece of legislation probably ever had a more thorough discussion from every possible angle. That is as it should be in a democratic nation.

As you know, price control was extended to June 30, 1947, but in the meantime the supply of many items will come into line with demand and will be released from control.

About 40 per cent of all our foods have gone back under price ceilings that were in effect on June 30. Breakfast cereals now are under ceiling prices—so are bread, flour, certain fresh fruits and vegetables and canned goods.

Coffee, tea and cocoa, canned fish, jellies and preserves, syrups and sugar, peanut oil, olive oil, canned goods containing less than 20 per cent meat—such as chili con carne, soup and corned beef hash. These are all under ceiling prices again.

Then there is a list of foods that temporarily remain free of ceilings until August 21: meat, canned meat, lard, cottonseed and soybean oils, most mayonnaise, salad dressings, vegetable shortening and oleomargarine, poultry and eggs, dairy products, milk, butter, cheese and ice cream, tobacco and feed. These items remain on the waiting list until a three man decontrol board, named by the President, decides whether they should be returned to control. The decision whether to restore them to price control or leave them free will be made by August 21.

There are several other provisions in the new bill that may cause increases in manufactured products.

Rents in controlled areas reverted to June 30 ceilings as of July 25. Movies collected on in creases during the first 25 days of July do not have to be repaid. Evictions actions not completed during the "holiday" period are void until OPA regulations are complied with. Tenants who were actually evicted during the period of July 1 to 25 cannot now regain possession.

If a landlord rented property the first time during the holiday period he must register with OPA within 30 days from July 25.

It is more important than ever that both business and consumers cooperate in fighting inflation. We must frankly face the fact that there are going to be some price increases. In the meantime there will be stable rises in textile prices. In the months ahead some of these will find their way into clothing prices. This does not mean that there will be immediate increases in clothing prices.

Almost half the average family's food budget will remain under control. OPA still has ways to set easily understandable dollar and cents prices for many food, household goods and clothing items.

In response to many inquiries from consumers and the trade, the following official statement is made: The Price Control Extension Act of 1946 became effective when it was signed by the President on July 25. A number of the inquiries have asked about the price status of items contracted for during the period from July 1 to 25 but not delivered before the new act became effective. The answer is "Deliveries made after July 25 at prices in excess of seller's ceiling at time of delivery constitute violations."

Over 250 At Sharkey For Field Day

Farmers Hear Lectures; Tours Conducted Of Rowan County Farms

The following article written by Dan Brame, Rowan County Agent, concerns the third annual Field Day conducted Friday at Sharkey. Over 250 people were present for the event.

The tour started at the Boyd Eldridge farm where the visitors inspected the poultry, tobacco crop and dairy farm. The next stop was at the Henry Eldridge farm where the group inspected the tobacco crop, pond, and terraces. The third stop was at Robert Hicks where the group inspected a hilltop pond, corn variety demonstrations and tobacco crop.

Everyone met at the church at 12:00 where Mrs. Hodge helped serve what will long be known as one of the biggest picnic lunches ever prepared in Rowan County. The church in Rowan County. The church is so full of food that the crowd had trouble getting through the church to pick their food up.

The Rowan County Farm Bureau furnished soft drinks and ice cream free to everyone who attended the program. Some of the younger folks report that they drank three and four bottles of pop and had as many as half dozen cones of ice cream.

After dinner Mr. Forest Esham made an announcement about Veterans Training on the farm and the afternoon program got under way. Mr. Russell Hunt gave a demonstration of a tobacco stick sharpener and the tobacco spear and recommended that farmers change their tobacco plant bed sites in 1947 as one way of helping control blue mold.

Mr. E. J. Nesius, Farm Management Department of Experiment Station at Lexington, ventured a guess that hogs would continue to be a good price for at least another year. He recommended that farmers plan their farms so as to get the most dollars for a good price for their hogs. He explained that dairy cattle would bring in more income per acre than would beef cattle, but that dairy cattle required more labor. Farm families with small acreage and plenty of labor might consider dairy cattle, but those farms with lots of land and little labor might consider beef cattle.

Mr. J. E. Stanford, executive secretary of the Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation, made an interesting talk on farm organization. He stated that less than 10 per cent of the farmers in the United States are organized and that farmers would never get their share of the nation's income until they were more completely organized.

At the end of the program a group of about 75 farmers visited the W. A. Caudill farm to see his pond, tobacco barn, poultry houses, garden, Brown Swiss male and to watch the Burgett and Jones line spreader spread a load of lime on one of the hay fields.

Mr. Caudill put all of his hay up in ricks this year because he thinks it is easier to put up and that there is less loss caused by exposure to the rain. Mr. Caudill stated that he had one rick of hay left from the past year and that he had more hay put up than he had ever had before.

A record post-war production of 397,000,000 bricks in the United States during July will assist in alleviating the acute building materials shortage, according to C. C. Redick, director of the Building Materials Division of the C.P.A. The July brick output topped the 400,000,000 mark for the first time since 1941, and was more than 65,000,000 brick higher than the production in June.

Rowan County's Road Fund

It seems that the public is confused and the truth has been misrepresented concerning the Rowan County Road Fund of which the Fiscal Court has custody. Possibly you know that several years ago the county borrowed a huge sum of money and the county was sued and judgment rendered against the county. There is a 20 per cent levy road tax on all real estate that goes into the road fund, amounting to around $3,000 a year. However, this amount was tied by the judgment against Rowan County, and I understand the county will be many, many years paying off this judgment. You know as much as we do about where this enormous sum was spent.

Possibly you saw in the local paper that the county is in good financial condition. This report was true so far as it went. We have sufficient money in the general fund, but our road fund is very short. Money in the general fund CANNOT be spent for roads, the laws of the State providing that money cannot be transferred from the general fund to the road fund. These are facts of record filed in the office of the County Treasurer and are open to investigation by any citizen of Rowan County.

The only money we have that can be spent on the roads is $5,000 received from the gasoline and bus tax. As you know that will only take care of some of the emergencies such as culverts, bridges and grading during the summer season. This $5,000 cannot be spent for labor and other materials as so high that it works a hardship on the county to care for the emergencies on the network of county roads. For the foregoing reasons the county makes no attempt to surface any roads or change any right of ways. It is our policy to give each county road the same consideration the State has given it in some remote section of the county.

It is true that the county receives each year an allotment from the State known as the Rural Highway Fund. This fund is supervised by the State and spent only of those roads for which the State has contracted with the Fiscal Court. The only graving that is done is on these roads supervised and contracted by the State. There are only a few roads in the four magisterial districts the State has under contract. Usually mail routes and bus-routes are given first consideration by the State and the Fiscal Court as provided for by law.

For some reason unknown to the County Judge and the Fiscal Court many believe the county has many thousands of dollars to spend on roads, when the truth shows that we have only $5,000 a year, which would not make one good road.

New Air Routes In Kentucky To Be Considered

Every citizen of the Commonwealth should welcome the impartial survey of public education which was ordered by the governor last week. Within less than a decade the State has doubled its expenditures for schools, and the interests of taxpayer, parent and pupil demand Governor Willis in calling for a professional audit of achievement or lack of it in Kentucky classrooms. The firm employed by the Governor—Griffenhagen and Associates of Chicago—is an excellent one. Its findings will be wholly above suspicion of political or personal influence anywhere in the field of inquiry. The survey is estimated to require from five to six months and will cost $19,000. The staff of half a dozen technical men, with the appropriate number of clerks and stenographers will be directed by Dr. Charles C. Reeves, Washington, D. C., and Dr. Wallace Ludden, Rome, New York. To be surveyed are the University of Kentucky, Lexington; the four teacher training colleges at Morehead, Richmond, Bowling Green, and Murray; the State Department of Education, and several representative common school districts out in the state. The Griffenhagen survey will cover both fiscal and academic matters. The contract specifically mentions such objectives as "organization structures, administrative policies and practices, procedures, personnel administration, use of equipment and other properties, and plant maintenance." Griffenhagen and Associates have been consultants in public administration and finance for 35 years, with headquarters in Chicago and branch offices in Washington, New York, and Boston. Their activities include the survey and installation of fundamental reforms in every branch and sub branch of general government on national, state, and local scales. Among their clients are the Federal Government, the War Department, most of the States and major cities, and thousands of smaller political units. The last major project in Kentucky by the company was a survey of the State Government during the administration of the late Governor Ruby Laffoon, back in the early 1930's. It behooves every Kentuckian to follow the survey and to study the final outcome very carefully. The people of Kentucky have the final voice. It is up to you to make that voice articulate.

This week the Civil Aeronautics Board will hear briefs regarding the availability of grant certificates to Commonwealth Air Transport, Inc. to carry mail, passengers, and express through Kentucky and the metropolitan areas which have a strong community interest with Kentucky. In considering the applications for new air routes, the CAB is chiefly concerned with two factors: First, whether the area in question is now enjoying adequate air service; and second, whether the applicant for a certificate is financially able to furnish adequate service and is sincerely determined to do so. In the case of a proposed Kentucky "feeder" line, the CAB examiners have concluded that Kentucky very definitely does need such service and that Commonwealth Air Transport, Inc., of all applicants for a certificate, appears best qualified to furnish such service. Because of the topography of Kentucky, the state needs an efficiently operated air line as much or more so than any state in the country. Much of the state is mountainous or hilly and only accessible by bus or automobile. Such transportation is slow, tedious, and expensive, and means that a large part of Kentucky is virtually isolated from tremendously important markets. Adequate air transportation would undoubtedly bring about a rapid development of the state's great natural resources. In its representations to the CAB, Commonwealth has stated that at the start of service and as a minimum, the following number of flights will be operated daily: Louisville to out of some of the important Kentucky cities: Louisville, 8; Northern Kentucky, Cincinnati, 6; Lexington, 10; Paducah, 7; Ashland, 5. The company also anticipates that increased demands for service will cause the company to begin operations which will require a substantial expansion of this number of flights, and of course, other cities of Kentucky will receive corresponding service. In addition to the Kentucky cities, the CAB examiners have also recommended that Commonwealth serve Knoxville, Nashville, Memphis, Columbia, Jackson, and Dyersburg, Tennessee; Cincinnati and Portsmouth, Ohio; Evansville, Indiana; Huntington, Charleston, Beckley, Bluefield, Welch, and Williamson, West Virginia; and St. Louis and Cape Girardeau, Missouri.

Veteran's News

Approximately 75 percent of all mail intended for the Veterans Administration Region I office is now being incorrectly addressed to the Veterans Administration, Lexington, Kentucky, and confusion and delayed service to veterans, their dependents and beneficiaries, is being caused. Mr. Farmer said, whereas the VA Hospital at Lexington, under the direction of Dr. Frederick M. Cook, is concerned only with the medical care of veterans, supply problems and such other activities as pertain to this hospital. Hospital mail should be addressed to the Veterans Administration Hospital, Lexington, Kentucky.

Mr. Farmer said that correspondence about pension, rehabilitation and education, legal matters, outpatient service, physical examination, subsistence pay, and other matters, should be addressed to the Manager, Veterans Administration, Regional Office, Lexington, Kentucky. Letters also should be marked for the attention of the division concerned.

The one exception to the above rule is the VA Loan Guarantee Division which is located in the WAVE Building, 334 E. Broadway, Louisville, Kentucky. The divisions having offices in Lexington are as follows: Legal, Contact, Finance, Personnel, Red Cross, and Education, Insurance, Medical, Supply, and Adjudication (Claims for pension and compensation).

RECORDINGS TO CHEER HOSPITAL PATIENTS

Thousands of exclusive phonograph recordings made by the stars of stage, screen and radio for GIs during World War II will be made available to entertain ill and disabled veterans in Veterans Administration hospitals and homes in Ohio, Kentucky, and Michigan, the VA announced in Columbus.

The basic libraries, each containing 360 records, have been loaned from the armed forces radio service and will be distributed to hospitals and homes. In addition, each installation will receive a weekly package of recordings, sufficient for 16 1/2 hours of playing.

The recordings range from talks on popular science, comedy skits and music by name bands to drama and opera. They feature such well-known stars as Bing Crosby, Bob Hope, Lionel Barrymore and Lily Pons.

Crisle Hospital at Cleveland, Ohio, and Nichols Hospital at Louisville, Kentucky, are both equipped with a three channel radio system while the other VA hospitals in this area have single channel systems. All hospitals will eventually be equipped with three channel systems, thus giving the veteran patients a wider selection of programs.

UNDER G. I. BILL

The number of veterans in Ohio, Kentucky and Michigan in training under the Servicemen's Readjustment Act — in educational institutions and on-the-job training — has increased 97 percent in the first six months of 1946, the Veterans Administration announced. In January, 12,627 veterans were in training, while at the end of June, 98,306 were training under the G. I. Bill.

RECREATIONAL PROGRAM

Recreation and entertainment, regarded as pleasant diversions by most people, are making important contributions to the progress and recovery of mentally-### ill war veterans.

Under the Veterans Administration Special Services Division, greater emphasis has been placed on sports events, movies, outings, USO camp 6, Lexington, 10. Veterans Administration hospitals in Ohio, Kentucky and Michigan continue to provide recreational facilities for all veteran patients, have proved of inestimable value in the successful rehabilitation of neuro-psychiatric convalescents in hospitals at Chillicothe, Ohio; Lexington, Kentucky; and Fort Courier, Michigan.

Reduce Interest Rate of Loans

Interest rates on government life insurance policy loans have been reduced from 5 to 4 percent annually effective the 1st of August, the Veterans Administration announced. The VA explained the new rate is in keeping with the present trend of interest rates on policy loans made by commercial life insurance companies.

Approximately 127,000 veterans of both world wars have outstanding against U. S. Government or National Service Life Insurance. On an annual basis the VA will make a savings of over $1,000,000 to those veterans.

The new 4 percent rate represents a second reduction in government life insurance loan rates within the past seven years. The first was made on July 19, 1939, when it was cut from 6 to 5 percent.

Loans may be secured on permanent plans of U. S. Government and National Service Life Insurance. The VA said the rate has been in effect one year. The loan value is 94 percent of the cash value of the policy. The new 4 percent rate will apply to all policy loans regardless of their size.

Veterans' Administration Neuro-psychiatric Service

Approximately 60 percent of all hospitalized veterans are neuro-psychiatric patients. Of the 33 hospitals now exist and 13 more will be constructed throughout the country. In addition, patients in general medical and surgical hospitals will be treated in mental convalescent centers or special treatment centers. Mental hygiene clinics will treat those not needing hospitalization, in an effort to practice preventive medicine. A Residency Training Program is under way in association with Class A medical schools as well as in-service training for other grades.

Three State Medical Program Expanded

A total of 1,117 more beds and 266 additional doctors, dentists and nurses have been added to Veterans Administration Hospitals in Ohio, Kentucky and Michigan during the past five months, the VA announced.

In Ohio, 428 more beds have been made available. These include 300 at Cleveland's Crie General Hospital, which will eventually become a 1,000 bed hospital, and 128 at Chillicothe. Total bed capacity in Ohio is now 6,592. Although 81 additional doctors, dentists and nurses have been added to Ohio's VA hospitals, 207 more medical personnel are still needed.

Acquisition of Nichols General Hospital at Louisville increased Kentucky's VA hospital bed capacity from 1,237 to 1,742. Five months ago only 96 doctors, dentists and nurses were serving in VA hospitals in Kentucky. With the addition of 157, 210 are still needed.

The hospital program in Michigan has been expanded with the addition of 186 more beds and 29 additional doctors, dentists and nurses. Fort Courier Hospital has increased its capacity from 1,858 to 2,444 during the past five months. In Michigan, 2,504. 20-story hospital buildings are under construction at Dearborn and Detroit. The addition of that hospital to 1,429 beds. An additional 259 doctors, nurses and dentists are needed.

For Self-Employed

Approximately 360,000 self-employed veterans have received more than $13,000,000 under the readjustment allowance provisions of the G. I. Bill from its inception in September, 1944, to last June 30. The majority were engaged in agricultural activities, the remainder in independent businesses, trades or professions. Less than 3 percent of the 360,000 veterans have remained in the program long enough to exhaust their entitlement.

Burial Flags

An American flag to drape the casket of a deceased veteran may be obtained by relatives or undertakers by application to postmasters at any county seat post office. Flags may also be obtained at other post offices designated by the Veterans Administration or at any field office of the VA. The flag will be given to the next of kin after the burial. Eligible for this benefit are honorably discharged veterans of any war, or a person honorably discharged from the service after serving at least one enlistment or discharged for disability, or a person who served in the line of duty.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q. Can one veteran have a loan guaranteed by the VA to buy a house? The answer is: more than a single-family home?

Q. What is the veteran population of the United States?

A. At the end of June, the total number of veterans was 16,818,000. Of these, 12,848,000 were World War II veterans and 3,971,000 were veterans of World War I and other wars.

Q. I am a disabled veteran of World War II and hold National Service Life Insurance. Is there any way I can have my monthly premium deducted from my compensation so I won't neglect to pay the premiums?

A. Yes. Any veteran may authorize the Veterans Administration to deduct NSLI premiums from his disability compensation or officer retirement benefits paid by the VA, providing the amount is large enough to cover the monthly premiums. Contact your nearest VA office to make arrangements.

Q. I was married to a Spanish-American War veteran in July, 1939. He recently died of a service-connected disability. Am I entitled to compensation?

A. No. Such marriages must have been performed prior to May 13, 1938.

Q. My husband, a World War II veteran, had no service-connected disabilities. Several months ago he was totally disabled by an automobile accident. Is he eligible for compensation?

A. He is entitled to $30 a month providing he is totally and permanently disabled and his yearly income is not in excess of $2,500.

Q. I am an honorably discharged veteran of World War II, but I have lost my discharge papers. I understand I must show my original papers to the VA to enroll in college under the G. I. Bill. Have I lost my eligibility by losing the papers?

A. No. Apply at the nearest VA office for an application for a certificate in lieu of discharge, fill it in and mail it to the service in which you served. The VA Contact Representative can give you the proper address. When you receive your certificate in lieu of discharge, present it to the VA and, if eligible, you will be given a certificate of eligibility so that you may enter college under the G. I. Bill.

Exhibits At State Fair To Give $2000

The county exhibits at the Kentucky State Fair this year will favor its winners with a total of $2,000 in cash prizes. This is an increase of $500 over last year's appropriation.

An added feature of this year's county exhibits will be a display of each county's tourist attractions. The counties' recreational facilities and scenic beauties will provide the chief interest of this division.

Each county will also show, as in former years, an agricultural exhibit, an industrial exhibit, a natural resources exhibit, and an over-all county exhibit.

The best over-all county exhibit will bring an award of $700 this year. The best agricultural, industrial, and natural resources exhibits will bring $370 each, and the best tourist exhibit will win $120.

All county exhibits must be in place with booths decorated by 3 o'clock in the afternoon of August 25, the first day of the Fair. They will all be judged on August 27.

Entries in the county exhibits must be made application under the C. M. Taylor, general manager of the State Fair, by August 18.

By JACK HICKS

Vacation days are over, and now the problem is to catch up on the vacation days. A disagreeable aftermath to vacations.

I find that the demand for small timber sales is a small lot of saw timber for building a home or out buildings.

Many Rowan County farmers are depending on these woods jobs to supplement their farm income.

One of the most beautiful of northern shade trees, the American elm, is being exterminated by a disease known as the Dutch Elm disease. Just as in the case of the chestnut blight control measures have proven relatively ineffective. Stricken trees are cut and burned, but still the disease spreads, borne by insects from tree to tree. Anyone who has visited through the northern states has never failed to be impressed by these stately trees lining each small village street. Their loss is inestimable.

This sort of calamity has never struck a section of the country since the devastation of the chestnut blight. Nevertheless, on a relatively small scale, disease and insects exact an annual toll from the woodlots right here. It is good management on the part of every woodlot owner to remove diseased, and insect-ridden trees. He has been not only to realize some income on such material before it becomes a total loss, but also to aid in checking the spread of this sort of damage.

A conservation measure of real importance is before our Congress at this time. Known as the Hook bill, introduced by Congressman Hook, of Michigan, it provides for regulation of cutting on private forest, and to prevent the wasteful logging practices we see on every hand. Certainly, it is a move in the right direction.

Yesterday I was agreeably surprised by a visit from Harvey Hartley with whom I worked on the George Washington Forest in Virginia a number of years ago. Hartley served with the 9th Air Force in Europe through the war, came out a captain, and is now a tie inspector for the C & O Railroad. He has been inspecting the ties on the Hodge yard here for the past week.

Next week this Forest will receive a general inspection by the Regional Office, Philadelphia. One of the inspectors will be Mr. Anderson who served as Assistant Supervisor on this Forest for a number of years.

Mr. B. F. Penix spent several days last week looking after business affairs in Pikeville.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. McKinney have as their guests this week, their son, Osmond McKinney and Mrs. McKinney of Tampa, Fla.

Small Countries Seek Strong Voice in Paris Peace Parley; OPA Acts to Speed Production

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When analyses are expressed in this column, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

As Howard Hughes continued on the road to recovery following his near fatal crash while testing a new army long-range photographic plane, his huge eight-engine flying boat neared completion at Terminal Island, Calif. Tail wings can be seen lying on either side of ship preparatory to being attached.

PARIS:

Peace Meet

Smaller countries strove for a major voice in shaping the treaties the former Axis satellites in Europe at the peace conference got underway in Paris amid warnings that only just and reasonable agreements could forestall another terrible conflict.

While the smaller nations possessed a decisive voice at the peace conference following World War I, their power during the present meeting will be limited to reviewing the treaties for Italy, Hungary, Rumania, Bulgaria and Finland already drawn up by the Big Four and suggesting changes or alterations.

Strangely enough, the proposed treaties for the former Axis satellites contemplated few major territorial changes, with suggested boundaries following closely the pattern hammered out at Paris after World War I. As chief foreign ministers of the U. S., Britain, Russia and France, the following treaties were placed before the confab for study:

ITALY—Cession of strategic mountain territory in the northwest to France; internationalization of Trieste and surrender of land to the east to Yugoslavia; loss of Dodecanese islands; Greece, 1 billion dollars in reparations to Russia, and reduction of army to 185,000 troops, and navy to 67,500 tons.

HUNGARY—Return of Transylvania to Rumania; 300 million dollars in reparations, cut in army to 65,000 men.

ROMANIA—Cession of eastern territory to Russia and a southern chunk to Bulgaria; 300 million dollars in reparations and reduction of army to 120,000 men.

BULGARIA—Southern border with Greece left open for discussion; reparations payments to Yugoslavia and Greece of undetermined amount; army slashed to 55,000 men.

FINLAND—Cession of ice-free port of Petsamo and surrounding area to Russia; 300 million dollars in reparations, and cut in army to 34,000 troops and navy to 10,000 tons.

OPA:

Quick Action

Acting quickly after restoration of its powers, OPA moved to assure adequate profit margins to speed up production, granted price increases to provide an incentive for higher output of low cost goods, and eliminated controls over numerous items in fair supply or not deemed critical to the economy.

As a result of higher ceilings set to cover increased labor and material costs of manufacturers, over-all retail prices of shoes were boosted 2.4 per cent, with some lines rising 6 per cent.

Avings, fruit jar rings, rubber floor mats and some clocks were among the consumer goods upon which OPA relaxed controls. Textiles included thousands of building hardware and equipment items, fur and heavy industrial tools such as machinery, oil drilling and producing equipment and many farm implements.

Besides boosting the price of all men's shirts, shorts and pajamas by 11 per cent, OPA granted manufacturers of men's dress shirts and men's dress and sport shirts an additional 10 per cent increase to encourage production of these lines.

AIR TRAFFIC:

As the civil aeronautics board prepared to enforce the new safety regulations for non-scheduled air carriers, it estimated that there are at least 2,730 such operators with 5,529 aircraft. The CAA stated there are about 9 times as many aircraft engaged in non-scheduled operations as are now in use by the scheduled carriers.

By actual count, non-scheduled carriers are using 101 Lockheed Lodestars, 13 Curtiss Commandos, 89 Douglas DC-3s and 78 DC-4s.

Education On The March

1946-47 GOALS

Education is on the march in Kentucky. You know it. I know it. There are five roads which lead toward a better school system and a higher educational rank for Kentucky: (1) all the children of school age enrolled in regular attendance; (2) well-prepared teachers who like to teach; (3) attractive and usable school plants which children may learn and live; (4) curriculums which respond to the needs of all the children of all grade levels; (5) health services and health education programs.

New Plans—New Buildings
The Department of Education staff has approved completed plans and specifications for 20 new school building projects and 11 preliminary plans. In addition to this, there are 25 new building projects being considered on the basis of sketches. Think of it! There are 56 new buildings whose plans are completed, or in the process of completion, and in the beginning stages.

New Buses
"It looks now as if there will be a sufficient supply of new buses to take care of the absolute need by the opening of school," says Mr. Young.

Members
The 1946 Legislature passed a law making it necessary for candidates for board members to file a statement of their intention to run for member of the board of education not less than 45 days before the election, and not more than 60 days before election. Take note.

Kentucky's Resources
The State Superintendent of Public Instruction and the State Commissioner of Conservation jointly sponsored the development of a source book on Kentucky's Resources. Under the chairmanship of Dean William S. Taylor, of the University of Kentucky, a committee of about 100 persons developed the materials for a 351-page book on Kentucky's Resources. This book was published by the Bureau of School Services, University of Kentucky, as Vol. XVIII, No. 12. It should be in every school and college in Kentucky.

Curriculum Conference
Many educational leaders from Kentucky will be on the program of the Curriculum Conference at George Peabody College for Teachers in Nashville on July 25-26.

Visual Aids
The September Educational Bulletin of the State Department of Education will be devoted to Visual Aids.

Workshops
The workshop continues to be used as an important device for in-service teacher education. The following colleges have conducted, are now conducting or will conduct off-campus workshops for teachers and administrators this summer: University of Kentucky, Eastern, Western, Morehead, Murray, Union—Lindsey-Wilson. The following are some of the counties which have been served by these workshops: Clinton, Powell, Wayne, McCreary, Pulaski, Metcalfe. The workshop has become a regular feature of campus work for teachers in service.

Surplus Property
After you have examined the catalog of the War Assets Administration, it is suggested that orders be forwarded to the State Department of Education, Division of Surplus Property, where effort will be made to see that orders are given prompt attention.

Teacher Training For Health Education
A National Demonstration Workshop on Teacher Training in Health Education began at Ball State Teachers College in Muncie, Indiana, on July 15 and will last for two weeks.

The State Department of Education and the following colleges have representatives in this conference: Eastern, Morehead, Murray, Western. There are nine persons from Kentucky attending workshop.

Evaluating the School
The workshop for supervisors, helping teachers and health coordinators in Jackson took first steps in developing an evaluation program for the small school. A committee from the State Department of Education working with public school and college personnel is in the process of editing this program. It will be available soon for use in the counties.

Retired Teachers
The Board of Trustees of the Teacher Retirement System, at a recent meeting retired 125 teachers, 14 of whom were retired on the basis of disability. The prior service salary of this group averaged $968.46 and the subsequent service salary averaged $1118.61. Fourteen hundred teachers changed positions and 1407 took retirement certificates and left teaching.

perintendents, teachers of agriculture, and home economics teachers are expected to participate as well as others.

School Lunch
In recognition of the need for processing food for family use and school lunch programs, 150 community processing plants are operating throughout the state. It is estimated that four million cans of food will be processed in these plants this summer and fall.

Trade Schools and Veterans
All area trade schools will be operating this fall. Veterans who need trade training should contact the coordinator of the area school he wishes to attend.

U. S. Merchant Marine Cadet Corps
The date of the competitive examination of the U. S. Merchant Marine Corps is November 6, 1946. The U. S. Merchant Marine Cadet Corps Academy is at Kings Point, New York. But more expected next week.

HOLLY

Click-Razor Marriage Solemnized July 24

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Click of Salt Lick announce the marriage of their daughter, Mary Louise Click to Allie Ewell Razor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allie Razor, of Salt Lick. They were married July 24, 1946, by the Rev. B. W. Moore, Morehead, Ky.

The bride wore an aqua blue dress with white accessories and a shoulder bouquet of red rose buds. She is a graduate of Salt Lick High School and attended the Morehead Teachers College.

The groom served in the armed forces for thirty-five months and was in the Pacific eighteen months of that time.

At present they are making their home with the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Allie Razor. The bride is the niece of Mrs. Jack Parker.

Mrs. Bair Undergoes Serious Operation

Mrs. John Caudill received last week, that her sister, Mrs. Lillie Bair, was ill at the Memorial Hospital in Jeffersonville, Ind., where she had undergone a major operation.

WALKER-JOHNSON MARRIAGE SOLEMNIZED

St. John Evangelical Church, Newport, was the setting of the candlelight wedding at 8:30 August 3 of Miss Betty Jane Walker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Walker Sr., of Newport, to Mr. Sam Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Johnson, of Morehead, Ky. The Rev. Harold Barkham officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

Attending the bride were Mrs. Frank Hewling as maid of honor, and Mrs. Henry Henshaw, Mrs. Milford Epperhart, of London, Ky., the bridegroom's sister, and Miss LeVernie Daily, a cousin of the bride, as bridesmaids.

Their gowns of ice-blue nylon taffeta with fitted bodices and full skirts were fashioned with deeply inset net yokes designed to give an off-shoulder effect, cap sleeves, and cording at the waistline. With their gowns they wore matching gauntlets.

The matron of honor carried American Beauty roses and wore in her hair a tiara fashioned of the same flowers. The other attendants carried colonial bouquets of yellow roses and salmon colored gladioli and wore matching flowers in their hair.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in her wedding gown of white satin, the only trimming which was net and satin cording at the drop shoulder-line effected by the deep yoke of net, and a double row of cording at the hipline effected by the deep yoke of net, and a double row of cording at the hipline from which the full skirt fell in soft folds to the floor in front and extended into a graceful aislewide train in back.

Long, tightly fitted sleeves pointed over the wrists and trimmed with tiny self-covered buttons and a row of self-covered buttons reaching from neckline to hemline down to the back of the bodice completed the costume. Her finger-tip veil fell from a tiara of tiny pearls.

Mr. Johnson chose as his best man, Mr. Harold Kelley, of Bowling Green, Ky., with whom he had served overseas. The ushers were Mr. Harry Walker Jr., the bride's brother, Mr. Felix Wellman, of Morehead, Ky., and Mr. Henry Henshaw.

Mr. Johnson, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Johnson, is a graduate of Breckinridge Training School and Morehead State College. He served with the Army Air Corps from 1941 until his discharge, and held the rank of First Lieutenant.

Mr. Johnson and son, Clinton, were in Newport for the wedding, but Mrs. Johnson, mother of the groom, was unable to attend because of illness.

Later in the evening the newly-weds left on a wedding trip to Uniontown, Pa., where they will stay at the Summit Hotel.

Mrs. Caudill Honor Guest of K. & F. Club

The Knife and Fork Birthday Club met August 2 at the Lindsey Caudill home to celebrate Mrs. Caudill's birthday. Sixteen members and thirteen guests were present. A delightful dinner was served on the lawn to the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Caudill, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Caudill, Mr. and Mrs. John Paul, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Kenney, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. McKinney, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Caudill, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Holbrook, Rev. and Mrs. E. A. Howell, Mrs. E. D. Patton, Mrs. Paul Pfeiffer, Mrs. A. L. Miller, Mrs. Eunice Cecil, Mrs. Mae Meadows, Mrs. John McKinney, Miss Janice Ruth Caudill and the host and hostess. A most pleasant evening was enjoyed.

A committee composed of Mrs. John Will Holbrook, Mrs. Paul Pfeiffer and Mrs. W. K. Kenney presented Mrs. Caudill with a past president's pin. She also received many other lovely gifts.
