2 Morehead Businesses Are Robbed

Two Youths Arrested For Break-In At Johnson Store

Morehead had its first robbery in several weeks during the last few days as two youths were broken into.

Johnny Lane, Morehead youth, who was probated at the last term of Circuit Court, admitted that he and Willis Peltrey, 14, robbed the Johnson Store in Talleville Addition, according to Sheriff Sam Green. The sheriff said that part of the money and cigarettes taken were recovered from the two boys. Lane was sent to the reformatory to serve the year's probated sentence, while the County Judge Luther Bradley probated Peltrey, because of his age, in a county court hearing. Lane also admitted participation in the robbery, Green said.

Officers thwarted the robbery of the Sam Allen Grocery Store on Railroad Street by arriving a short time after a window had been broken. No arrests have been made in this case.

A net reduction of $1,152,733.50 annually in utility rates in Kentucky was effected and the construction of 8,212 miles of additional electric distribution lines was authorized by the Public Service Commission in 1946, according to a report to Governor Willis by Charles E. Whittle, chairman of the Commission.

"There were 12 separate rate adjustments during the year," Whittle said. "Of these, five were increases and seven were reductions; but the increases aggregated only $35,244.50, while the reductions total $1,187,978."

All of the seven reductions reported were for electric service and affected 142,291 customers, of whom 86 percent were domestic customers. The average annual saving to each customer was $8.35.

"The 8,212 miles of new construction authorized extends in 114 counties and is designed to serve approximately 50,000 new customers to whom no existing electric distribution system is accessible," the report said. "Preliminary surveys have been completed for all of the extensions authorized, several hundred miles have already been built and energized, and the construction of others is proceeding as rapidly as materials become available."

12 Year Old Spells 'Necessarily' To Win Trip To State Contest

Morehead Boy Wins State Contest

Lillian Kiser, 12-year-old fifth grade student of the Little Branch school correctly spelled "necessarily" at the an 11 Rowan County spelling bee Friday to carry off top honors and the $20 first prize, half of which was donated by the Louisville Courier-Journal.

Mary Elizabeth Moore of Elliottville was second and won $5, while Christine McBrayer, Pop Grove, was third.

Little Miss Kiser, who will probably be one of the youngest to compete in the state contest rolled the big words off her tongue correctly with supreme confidence throughout. As contestants began to drop out it became evident that the Little Branch representative would be tough, and her victory met with popular approval.

Rev. B. H. Kazee was the pro-nouncer for the bee and Rev. B. W. McVee and Rev. David Sager the judges.

About 300 teachers, children and visitors were present in connection with the spelling bee. The annual sword drill and art contest were held. Eastern To Meet Eagles Friday At 8

Morehead High-Break Renew Rivalry At College Gym Tonight

The Morehead College gymnasium, which was bulging at the seams when Morehead College lost a hard-fought decision Friday to Eastern, will be filled with unbroken quints of the nation should be overflowing tonight and tomorrow night when two of the keenest rivalries hereabouts will be renewed.

This evening (Thursday) Morehead High and Breckinridge in the home-town fracas that is always a highlight of the local high school basketball circles. Morehead High, with an impressive record of 20 victories and 2 losses in the league, is the favorite. However, when these two teams get together past performance generally count for little.

Ellis Johnson's improving Morehead Eagles tangled with Eastern Friday night, 9 o'clock in the college gym. Although the Maroons beat the Eagles by 17 points on one of Morehead's off-nights the Blue and Gold is conceding nothing; Paul McBrayer's lads. This fracas may have an important bearing on the final KIA standings.

The Eagles proved they had good ball club in the Marshall game and with the exception of eight minutes outplayed the Maroons in the club. But during those eight minutes, shortly after the start of the second half, the Thundering Herd poured in 23 points and bathroom with water running only four. It was a battle between two "great" teams.

Morehead makes a swing through western Kentucky next week, meeting Murray on Monday and Western Tuesday. They will be underdogs in both games.

Farm-Home Labor Saving Show In Morehead Feb. 17

Emphasizing the theme of better living and more prosperous farming, a Farm and Home Labor Saving Show presented by the College of Agriculture and Home Economics will be held in Morehead, Ky., on Monday, Feb. 17, and will tour the state to bring the people of Kentucky an interesting and worthwhile exhibit of more than 100 devices designed to save time and labor on the farm and in the home.

This is the show that toured the state in 1946, visiting 47 counties with an attendance of 49,350, averaging 1,055 for each showing. Loyalty To Morehead

"This is no time to desert Morehead," was Ellis Johnson, coach of Morehead College, who quoted this week in wire dispatches. Johnson made this statement after he had turned down an offer of $6,400 a year to coach Virginia Military Institute, which is around a $2,000 a year from the popular member is being paid at Morehead.

Johnson, according to the wire story, did not elaborate but it is assumed that he meant that he intended to stick by Morehead during his hour of gravest trial, occasioned by the dis-accrediting of the institution by the Southern Association.

Morehead is on the right track; Johnson's statement emphasizes the loyalty that the college can rightfully expect from hundreds of other sources as President Baird charts its future course.

The Need For Uninterrupted Electric Service

The absence of power in Morehead for 3 1/2 to 4 hours Sunday morning emphasizes the service that electricity offers a community, and the breakdown that ensues when a town, geared to depend upon this vital utility, is deprived of it.

Fortunately Sunday was a warm day, otherwise the inconvenience would have been much greater because most homes are geared to operate electrically from thermostats.

The Kentucky Utilities Company which holds the Morehead franchise has already taken steps, which are now near completion, to insure against future power failures by laying lines to connect with those of the Kentucky and West Virginia Power Company near Haldeman. These will, no doubt, be ready for use by spring.

It is not our purpose to enter into an editorial discussion of the benefits of public or private utility ownership but it is worthy to note the construction of such lines is the one from Morehead to Haldeman the privately owned utilities enhance their claim that they can render the most dependable service.

Loans To Insure Peace

An interesting suggestion to "change the entire tide of world history," is made by Chester W. Bowles, former Director of Economic Stabilization, who proposes that two percent of our national income be invested in the economic development of less fortunate countries of the world.

Mr. Bowles would make the loans for a period of ten years as "the world's cheapest peace insurance," and says that it would enable the American people to modernize peaceful industries in many parts of the world and that this would, in turn, "substantially raise living standards in Europe, Asia, India, South America and Africa and enable countless people to become contributors for the goods produced in our own factories."

Sugar Rationing Must Continue

The often-heard statement that "there is plenty of sugar" but government mis-handling necessitates rationing and is keeping it off the market is untrue according to the sugar refiners of the nation.

They estimate that the 1947 supply is at least one million tons short of public requirements and recommend that government controls be maintained through 1947. The nation is to avoid a repetition of the severe shortages and skyrocketing prices which followed abrupt decontrol of sugar after World War I.

Earl B. Wilson, president of California and Hawaiian Sugar Refining Corporation Ltd. and former director of the sugar branch of the United States department of agriculture says that certain uninformed interests are campaigning for precipitate action in decontrolling sugar. The Canners League of America and other sources to which sugar is vital join with Mr. Wilson in this view.

It appears obvious that these people whose businesses depend upon the flow of sugar and who have complete knowledge of this situation would not make such recommendations if decontrol would mean a plentiful supply of this product. The sugar industry as a whole is anxious for a return of the sugar business to a free market status, but want it accomplished in such a manner as to assure reasonable stability of prices and equitable distribution during the decontrol process.

It appears that the Department of Agriculture and Congress will concur and that sugar control will extend through Dec. 31, 1947. This means that the sugar traffic will be regulated; that a sane and secure means of normalcy in sugar supplies will be achieved, and that prices will not go completely out of reason as they have on many scarce commodities.

The Heart's Desire

"Freedom is the right to seek for one's heart's desire—and to let the other man hunt for his."

This trenchant definition of freedom is one of those sentences that stay with you, for, after all, doesn't it express the ideals and dreams of each word in the text? We are all seekers after our heart's desire; that is our guiding star and leading us on through discouragement, heartache and despair toward a shining goal at the rainbow's end.

"The right to seek"—freedom to move about, to no man's slave and no man's master, but free to search for those things which we want, a home, economic security, a job in which we can serve others because we wish to serve. That is a right forever laid down to us in the Constitution. That is a right we will never abandon, though we may voluntarily lay it aside in times of emergency.

"Our heart's desire"—the goal of Englishmen which is common to all of us—no matter how we may express it. Our heart's desire is for the betterment of ourselves and of those we hold dear. It may be sacrifice that is our heart's desire, the priests who went to minister unto the lepers were so motivated by the building of a temple to God that is our heart's desire—the conquering of the wilderness was the fruit of this wish; it may be greater benefits for our children—our free schools, our great universities, our high spirited teachers, the fulfillment of that dream. Our heart's desire is not the same for any of us, but it is one created out of our needs, our hope and our faith—by the will of another man.

"To let the other man hunt for his"—we cannot keep freedom to ourselves. Freedom is never a lonely thing, a right of one man for himself alone. Special privileges is license, not liberty. Freedom by its very nature is universal. We must never forget that the master is slave as well as the man; the jailer as well as the captive. Our homes are safe as we respect our neighbor's home. Our children grow in strength and learn wisdom as we make these opportunities free to all children. We go freely to worship as we allow our neighbor the same privilege. No church, regardless of denomination, is safer than its neighboring cathedral, church or synagogue. Freedom is based on the respect for his neighbor and on his corresponding respect for his neighbor as a man.

"Freedom is the right to seek for one's heart's desire—and to let the other man hunt for his."

It is predicted that by 1950 we will be killing 50,000 people annually on our highways, and injuring three million others all of it due to carelessness of the inhuman race.

The "champion liar of 1946" won the title with a fish story. He may have used artificial bait but his lie was genuine.

There are approximately 250,000 blind people in the United States, according to a report. This doesn't include those that can't see a "Stop" sign.

A ton of coal doesn't fit in these cold days. Neither does the money when you pay for it.

A woman in Des Moines held up a bank last week with mouth wash. Must be a relative of "Gargles."

It takes a baby two years to learn to talk—and man 30 to 40 years to learn to keep his mouth shut.

Men can criticize woman all he wants to, but we know their own thing on a woman. She never wastes two dollars worth of shotgun shells to get a 25 cent rabbit. You never heard of one going into a restaurant and buying a 50 cent meal, and leaving a 25 cent tip because the waitress smiled at her. We've never heard of a woman yet who will use two gallons of gasoline and pay $15 for boat hire to get where the fish aren't.

The man who never thought anything of walking ten miles a day, now has a grandson who never thinks of it either.

Thousands of dollars exchanged hands at race tracks last year. The hopes, we surmise, can never go as fast as the money you bet.

Sometimes we overlook things around town right under our nose. Now, I am a man that observes most everything, but a lot of things I don't say much about.

However, when I see a man like John Calvert, owner of the Model Laundry, running around with the best of his pants out, can't help thinking of how many pairs of pants he has lost and he has none for himself.

John is not the only loser, though, in the town. John Will Holbrook, owner of Imperial Cleaners, has lost enough to clothe the entire town.

Everything seems to be getting shorter and shorter in Morehead. The Dixie Grill has cut its hot dogs in half and Chinn Clayton has cut off his wife's allowance.

Claude Clayton has reduced air-mail stamps to a nickel and eggs are down to 35 cents, which is a good thing because all my hens have quit laying.

Lula Lambert and her husband were in town last week and he was carrying a single-tree instead of a double-tree. The country is on the bum.

Had a card from Birmingham, Alabama, quoting prices. They claimed everything was half off, but I believe the man that sent it is half off instead.

I asked my wife the other day to get my broker on the phone. She asked: "Which one, stock or pawn?"

Local News Flashers: Bill Sample has had his teeth pulled. . . W. H. Rice can bite a bone in two with his new teeth and smoke his pipe at the same time. . . David Kidd was in town the other day and got a hair-cut. The weather has been so nice he thought it was spring. . . The two young "bucks" that were out the other night had better report to me for some advice of get some cow-catchers.

Here is the copy of a letter written by Curt Hutchinson: "Dear Mr. Brown: I'm in good luck. The 18th we are surprised to learn that the super model truck did not give us a hard time. We sold it for a reduced price before it fell to pieces. We inspect our cars and trucks at all times and guarantee them. Your truck was in good condition when it left our store, and we think four miles to the gallon is good. Why Laylow Bredley. We sold it to you at a price. Bring your truck back and we'll send it to Garland Collins, Claude Brown or Stanley Clark, and have it fixed. Sincerely, Curt Hutchinson."

LOWER PRICES Keen Johnson predicts "both lower prices, higher incomes."

By JACK HICKS

Yesterday we held our annual fire training meeting for the personnel of the Red River Ranger District here at Morehead. Attending were Wilbur B. Ross, Fire Control Assistant and Joe J. Mann, General District Assistant, both of whom aided in instruction work, and the five primary lookout townmen of the district.

Inasmuch as these townmen are the individuals that the public most often see when they come out into the National Forestry Service, it might be appropriate to tell a little something of their duties and responsibilities, also a little about the men, themselves.

Outside the district of the Red River is divided into control units, and the most important of these, in respect to size and extent of Government holdings, are the units for which these five primary townmen are responsible. Units vary in size from 33-45 acres to 83,000, dependent mainly on topographic features.

Within his unit, the lookout's chief duty is watching for fires and the location of prominent spots in the district headquarters just as soon as it is judged to be a forest fire. When fire starts running he must keep it under observation and continue with periodic reports to the dispatcher at headquarters as the direction of movement, speed of travel, and such other pertinent data as the dispatcher may request. In other words he does all the eyes of the organization. At the same time he must be alert to spot any other smokes that may spring up within his range for prompt reporting to headquarters and accuracy in reporting all fire danger spots is the very essence of success in his job.

Now, have a look at the young fellows and old fellows, too, as a matter of fact—tell me they figured that must be a pretty simple and easy job, just sitting up there on top of the world looking at the scenery. Well, somehow I can't quite agree. In the first place, a lookout generally does more walking than sitting. In fact, when the weather is dry and windy and the atmosphere so hazy that he has to strain his eyes to see more than two or three miles out, he is more than apt to pace around the narrow confines of his lower valley fields as they walk through the brush and his shoulders rest the responsibility of discovering fire danger; if he slips it may mean a big fine, and if he is not careful means day and night duty. And it is a lonesome job. Sure, there are sometimes visitors on Sundays, but most of the time he has to place the whole mountain, several mountains to himself. Too much so; after a while it begins to get on his nerves. And he must know his territory well. It would prove disastrous to send a fire-fighting crew out some ridge to fight a fire on top of a wall of 100-foot cliffs when the fire was actually burning down beneath in the hollow. No, I can't agree that the lookout's job is an easy one.

The lookouts today have been given added responsibility, new jobs. An important early spring duty is to make the rounds of their units, contacting the public to ask for support in the prevention of forest fires. Within the next two weeks some of you who read this column will be visited either by Ray Fraley or Claude White, both men veterans in this work, capable lookouts, part of the backbone of this district's fire-organization. They want particularly to get acquainted with new residents, to caution them against carelessness in brush-burning and land-clearing. They will visit stores and leave postcards to stockholders about the program. Storekeepers are influential men in their communities. They plan to visit all the schools of the district, talk to the school pupils. I hope that all of you will give them a good reception and listen with an open mind to what they have to say. They have had experience with forest fires; they want to prevent them and they need your help.

Besides detection duty and prevention patrol work, the lookout is expected to do telephone line maintenance, timber stand improvement work, some maintenance of buildings, sometimes works on the road.

These primary lookouts are employed full-time for six months out of each year, five months, February through May, and October and November. Aside from these spring and fall periods there is no employment for them with the Forest Service other than for weather service during the regular season, or when there are extra funds appropriated for such projects while the weather is on telephone lines and re-setting poles. Under this bracket-up the lookouts have provided themselves with a source of livelihood during the non-fire season. In the case of Ray Fraley, as some of you know, it is a grocery store in West March, where Claude White, who has only been a lookout a year from overseas duty with the Marines, has become a successful farmer on North Fork of Triplett.

The next time you visit a tower while the lookout is on duty, ask him some questions about his work. He will have some interesting accounts to give of his lonesome vigils.

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE Claimed unemployment insurance dropped from a post-war peak of 2,000,000 a week last March to about 1,000,000 at the end of 1946, according to the Federal Security Administration. Meanwhile, the number of jobs covered by state unemployment insurance laws increased from 37,800,000 in January, 1946, to about 30,000,000 in December.

Estimates puts the armed forces at 11 million.

By EWING GALLOWAY

I'm going to get more pleasure out of writing about Madisonville than about any other subject I have tackled since I began this weekly column a year ago. Partly because I have known the Hopkins county seat and many of its civic leaders rather intimately for ten years, partly because it confutes the oft-repeated contention that the progress Kentucky needs so badly is mainly a community job.

When some ten years ago, the city had an opportunity to get Federal aid to build a new and modern hospital, 2,300 people crowded into an unnecessary local fund of $32,000 and this money was raised in less than a week. The institution cost $168,000. It's paying its way, without asking the city council for a single dollar. The only mistake was not making it bigger. Plans for an addition to the hospital are now in the discussion stage, and to anybody who knows Madisonville, means it will be built.

A million-dollar TB hospital is to be built outside the city in the near future.

When other Kentucky cities, befuddled with petty politics or cramped by antiquated or corrupted policies, were falling to grasp opportunities to get government aid to build new schools, the city of Madisonville school district bought a 17-acre tract of land conveniently situated, came across with the city's share of $25,000 and today Hopkins county city has one of the finest high schools in west Kentucky, with a modern stadium on the site.

I asked a civic leader if the city's school system were cursed with petty politics.

"Cursed? Well, the last 20 years," was his answer. "Our school boards have one single purpose in mind — the best school they can get. Superintendents, principals, teachers do not play politics. They wouldn't last long if they did. And nearly every one of them is keenly interested in the election of high class citizens, with no private axe to grind, to the school board."

There is one catch in the Madisonville school story. Property assessments are extremely low, which means that the school board to raise all the money it needs to pay teachers.

A thorough going over of the assessment books, talk to the school board to raise all the money it needs to pay teachers. A thorough going over of the assessment books, talk to the school board to raise all the money it needs to pay teachers.

Public health service in Madisonville measures up to the best in the district, talks to the school board to raise all the money it needs to pay teachers. Madisonville has no bonded debt. It pays as it goes. The city treasury has over $60,000 surplus.

Allen Stays Top Scorer

Sonny Allen, Morehead's freshman star continued to pace the point makers on Kentucky college basketball teams last week. Prior to the Kentucky Wesleyan game Allen had a total of 224 points, 36 more than his nearest contender, Johnny Reagan of Murray. Carroll Hawhee of Morehead was eighth with 148.

VanAntwerp To Be On Health Group

Chiles VanAntwerp, director of the Training School, has been selected to serve on the Committee on Health and Health Education in Kentucky which will hold its first meeting in Frankfort Jan. 29.

This committee, which was appointed by the Kentucky Education Association and the State Department of Education, will study "certain key problems in health."

In appointing Mr. VanAntwerp

Chiles VanAntwerp to the committee, the KEA and the State Department of Education noted that "the Southern Work Conference on Educational Problems has proposed that certain key problems in health be studied by state and local committees and that from a summary of studies made in the 13 southern states, policies of significance will be determined during the 1947 work conference."

PLANTING GOALS

Final 1947 farm production goals are higher than last year's actual planting and higher than pre-war averages, according to an announcement by the Secretary of Agriculture. The department is calling for the planting of 256,895,000 acres, against 245,107,000 planted in 1946 and a pre-war average of 341,665,000 for the years 1936-41. A cut of 1,020,000 acres is suggested in wheat acreage to facilitate larger plantings of flax for linseed oil, needed for the manufacture of paint. Small reductions were made in corn and barley acreages, as a recent survey showed that feed grain rations in this country are in liberal supply.

HOW COMMUNITY PLANNING HAS HELPED THE PEOPLE OF 20 KENTUCKY CITIES

FINER living conditions, greater and better employment opportunities, and additional local and state tax revenues for roads and schools rank high among the hopes-for-the-future of people in every city in Kentucky. To make them possible, greater industrialization, town by town, is the aim of business and civic organizations throughout the state.

During 1946, the planning and efforts of no fewer than 20 Kentucky communities bore fruit. New industries brought new benefits to their citizens and to their adjacent farm populations. In these 20 cities were located 28 new manufacturing or processing plants that will employ more than 4,000 local people.

The location of these new plants did not come about through mere chance. Progressive leaders in these communities assembled information about plant sites, living conditions, the amount of male and female labor available, tax rates, transportation facilities, and other pertinent data. And the proper agencies made it known that the people in the communities would welcome new industry. Out-of-state businessmen were made to feel wanted, and were sold on the town. Your community can do it, too.

MY COMPANY WANTS TO HELP YOUR COMMUNITY

Its industrial Department will work with your business leaders, just as it did with those in the 20 cities mentioned above. As an aid in assembling required information, it has prepared and published a booklet that carefully and completely outlines each step in building and promoting a better home town. This booklet was published following a survey of all local and regional methods used throughout the South to aid community growth and development. Ask for a copy of the Better Home Town survey at your nearest K. U. office, or write Kentucky Utilities Company, Lexington. It's free to anyone interested in improving his community.

JESUS THE GIVER OF LIFE

LESSON TEXT—John 4:6-51; 5:2-9; MEMORY SELECTION—I am the resurrection, and the life: he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live.—John 11:25.

The miracles of God, through his servants and the Lord Jesus Christ, are not mere marvels or wonders. They are not for the advancement of the cause of any man or for personal glory. They are mighty signs of an omnipotent God wrought for the good of men, for their spiritual enlightenment and as a testimony to the one true God. Jesus is the giver of life; first and most important, of spiritual life, but also of physical life and health. Leaving Samaria after his blessed work there, our Lord went up into Galilee, where he met many simple-hearted folk who were ready to believe. Here he was able to work miracles of healing and of grace. I. A Sick Boy Made Well (John 4:46-51).

A nobleman's son was sick. Ah, yes, affliction and sorrow came to the home of the rich as well as the poor. Death comes to the young as well as the old. In fact, the first grave dug in this world was for a young man.

But it is also true that affliction may be, in God's hand, a means of blessing. This son's sickness sent his father to Jesus, and resulted ultimately in the salvation of the entire household (v. 53).

There is another helpful lesson here—our Lord's attitude as good as his presence. The man asked Jesus to come, but he sent his word instead. It was accepted, believed, and completely effective. How blessed for us who may not have the physical presence of the Lord to recall the potency of his Word. When he says it, believe it. II. A Lame Man Made Whole (John 5:2-9).

Back in Jerusalem at the Feast of Purim, a time of joy and gift giving, our Lord found his way to the pool of Bethesda where there were many and disease. His compassionate heart sent him there to help and to bless.

"Impotent folk"—the words well describe not only those who lay there about the pool of Bethesda, but they fit us as well. Oh, yes, we are strong, capable, fearless, not only so, but we are great elemental problem. Then we see that we are indeed "a great multitude of impotent folk." The silent fog can paralyze a nation. Death, sickness—who can stay their hand?

Long familiarity with his weakness had bred in the man with that attitude a sense of despair. Such an attitude invites defeat. It is unbecoming to a Christian. Let us not forget in the darkest hour to "keep looking up."

Jesus told the man to "rise and walk"—the very thing he could not do for his 38 years of life. But when the Son of God speaks to us he gives the power to respond to his command.

III. A Dead Friend Made Alive (John 11:1-13).

The fact that Jesus is our Friend and our Saviour does not exempt us from human sorrow, but it does assure us of the needed grace to bear the trial and to trust him even in life's darkest hour. Lazarus, the friend of Jesus, was sick. The home in which Jesus had found rest and fellowship was in deep trouble. Jesus was no longer in Judea. In haste, word is sent to him of his friend's illness. But he did not come.

Why does he delay? Such is the heart cry of thousands today who call on him in their hour of trouble. The purposes of God are beyond our ability fully to understand. We need only to trust him and abide his time.

Notice that his failure to respond at once to the message of Lazarus' sisters did not mean that he had deserted them (11:4-9). Nor did it mean that he had denied them his help (v. 7). Lazarus may have been dead before the word reached him. He may also have died in order that there might be no question about the resurrection miracle. And he may have tarried in order that their faith might be strengthened.

Above all, do not fail to notice that he came. He always does. Jesus has never failed any of his. The time and the manner of his answer to our prayers may not conform to our opinion of what should have been done, but let us remember that we know only in part. He knows all. Let us trust him. In his darkest hour Job said: "Though he slay me, yet will I trust in him" (Job 13:15).

He called Lazarus forth from the sleep of death. Even so he calls sinners forth from their spiritual death into glorious eternal life! The Highover, our Lord and Saviour, is here now ready to give life to everyone who will call on his name. Will you?

Sarah Anne's COOKING CLASS

Apples add variety and flavor to the diet, either served raw or cooked as an individual dish, or as a garnish for a platter. They are one of the least expensive of the winter fruits and should be used frequently. These recipes will assist you in serving apples often and in keeping the family appetite satisfied.

Chili Rice With Apple Ring
Simmer 2 tablespoons minced onion, 1 small green pepper and 6 slices of bacon, minced, in two tablespoons shortening until tender. Add 4 cups cooked rice, 2 tablespoons chili powder, salt to taste and cook till well blended. Slightly beat 6 eggs, add 3 tablespoons undiluted evaporated milk and stir into rice. Cook till eggs are set. Fry slices of core apples and serve around the rice.

Apple and Onion Stuffing
2 tablespoons diced salt pork
1/4 cup celery, cut fine
1/4 cup chopped onion
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
3 apples diced
1/4 cup sugar
1/2 cup fine dry bread crumbs
Salt and pepper
Fry pork until crisp, remove pieces and in the fat cook the celery, onion and parsley 3 minutes. Remove vegetables, put in apples, sprinkle with sugar, cover and cook slowly until tender. Uncover and add crumbs, salt, pork scraps, cooked vegetables, salt and pepper to taste. Use to stuff pork roast.

Apple Salad
Peel and core the apples. Quarter them and cut in thick slices. Dip each slice in mayonnaise and roll in ground salicyl peanuts. Arrange on lettuce and serve. This salad should be served as soon as possible after being prepared.

Jellied Waldorf Salad
1 tablespoon gelatin
1/2 cup cold water
1-3/4 cup sugar
1 cup apples, diced
1/2 cup celery, diced
1/4 cup lemon juice
1/4 cup chopped nuts
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup boiling water
Soak gelatin in cold water about 5 minutes. Add boiling water, sugar and salt. Stir until dissolved. Add lemon juice. Cool. When mixture begins to thicken, stir in apples and celery. Turn into a large-mold or individual molds that have been rinsed in cold water. Chill, unmold on lettuce and sprinkle with chopped nuts. Serve with salad dressing.
Baked Apples With Orange Sauce
6 firm red apples
1 cup sugar
1 1/2 cup water

3 tablespoons sugar
1/2 cup orange juice
1 tablespoon grated orange rind

Core and peel the apples about one-third of the way down from the stem end. Place in a covered casserole. Boil the 1 cup of sugar and the water-together for 15 minutes. Pour over the apples, cover and bake in an oven 400 degrees until tender. Then place 1 teaspoon of sugar in the cavity of each apple, sprinkling sugar over the peeled surface also. Place uncovered under broiler, heat until the peeled section is a delicate brown, basting occasionally. Now pour off syrup from the apples, add the orange juice and rind. Boil 10 minutes and pour over apples. Chill and serve.

Baked Apples With Prunes
6 apples
2 tablespoons butter
1/4 cup brown sugar
2 cups prunes, stoned and cut in pieces
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon cloves
1/2 cup sugar

Prepare apples for baking as above and place in a baking dish. Make a paste of the butter and brown sugar. Fill the cavities of the apples with this. Add the cider. Cover the baking dish and bake at 400 degrees until tender. Mix the prunes with the spices and white sugar. Cook for 10 minutes, stirring constantly. Fill the cavities in the apple with the Graham Cracker Apple Pie mixture. Serve hot or cold.
Grind 1/2 cup of shelled but not blanched almonds and mix with 20 large graham crackers rolled to a meal, add 1/2 cup sugar and 1/2 cup shortening in liquid form. Mix well. Line a pie plate of glass with this mixture and press well. Save 1/2 cup of the crumbs for the top. Pour in 2 cups of thick applesauce mixed with the grated rind of 1/2 of a lemon and 1/2 cup brown sugar. Cover the top with the remaining crumbs and bake in a slow oven for 1 1/2 hours. Serve very cold with a thin layer of whipped cream.
