Hall, McBrayer, Henry Eldridge and Herb Moore.

60 Farmers Hear Plan Explained At Dinner Meeting

Sixty Rowan County farmers and local business men attended the Cooperative supper at the Morehead College cafeteria Friday evening, and heard the explanation of the Southern States Cooperative, explained by Howard G. Crist, a representative of the cooperative, told the Rowan counties that the organization was started in 1923, is built on the following five policies: (1) Membership can be obtained only by the use of cooperative funds; (2) The service is voluntary as farmers do not pay and agree to use it, but it is available for the members; (3) All cooperative prices are the same, regardless of participation; (4) Savings are returned to the members.

Do You Have A Pair Of Discarded Glasses?

You do have a pair of discarded glasses? If so, as soon as you read this, you will be helping someone else to see, if you will call John Palmer, phone 48 (day) or 28 (evening). He will pick them up. Or if you live out of town mail them to Mr. Palmer, Morehead, Ky. These glasses will be sent to Julia Lawrence, who heads the charitable organization that annually supplies thousands of pairs of glasses to people who are unable to afford them.

Underwood Well Liked

The naming of Underwood as Clements' manager brought speculation whether Waterfield's chances would be lessened with the change. Most of the papers already endorsed Waterfield, but Underwood is popular with the editors and may be able to take some to his side. At any rate he may be able to weaken their support for Waterfield. It is generally conceded by observers that Waterfield was getting such a big jump on Clements that the congressman was forced to throw his hat in the ring earlier than he ordinarily would have.

Todd Present

Those present were Jettie Ross Todd, chairman of the committee; Edward C. Black, organization chairman; Charles W. Ryan, defeated for the nomination in 1945; Harris W. Coleman, the congressman's legal adviser; Ben J. Brumlee, director, state division of motor transportation; Charles F. Brown, Jr., state director of motor control administration; and Robert J. Lucas, attorney. Morton has not said that he would run for governor. The move indicates that Governor Willis has been put "squarely in the middle" between the eighth and Ninth District political leaders. Organization members here pointed out that with Congressman John M. Robison, Ninth District, committed to Lieut.

Want Delegation

He pointed out that whoever controls the delegation and can deliver the state's votes at the convention would get first consideration, in the event of a Republican victory in 1948, when jobs are handed out. And he added, the leader who gets his candidate for Governor nominated and elected will be sitting in the driver's seat. Willis, who aspired to the vice presidential nomination in 1944, had been a member of the "I'm with you have Cabinet" nomination. Robison is known to be plugging for Senator Robert Taft, Ohio, for the presidential nomination.

They could truthfully point out that thousands of dollars are being diverted across the Ohio river to Ironton; Ashland business men generally felt that local option was taking considerable money from their town; and most Ashlanders were aware that bootlegging was rife in their city.

Business Profits Hoge
The people of Boyd County voted dry for the same reason that almost a hundred other localities have adopted local option.

First: the people of Kentucky have little faith in their state alcoholic control board. They have not forgotten the way that whiskey and beer was "legally" handled during the "wet" era and that a chosen few secured the whiskey licenses and amassed huge profits.

Second: the people of Kentucky are tired of the "wet" forces who are organized and don't forget that they are "good" politicians. Neither do they run their campaigns without adequate funds, raised by public subscription.

The second reason that has made most of Kentucky "dry" is that the local option forces are organized, and don't forget that they are "good" politicians. Neither do they run their campaigns without adequate funds, raised by public subscription.

alleged in many local option campaigns that Sam Morris, who heads the state dry forces, receives a huge salary, and is not a crusader but is out for personal gain. It is probable that Mr. Morris does receive a substantial salary, but if one is to judge the results he obtains he is worth every penny of it to the forces that he represents.

Most observers predict that Kentucky will eventually turn to state stores. It may be that local option will be continued and counties or divisions that want to be dry can remain so. Most people believe that the majority of the "wet" column under the state store plan, especially if the sale of beer were carefully regulated by a non-partisan board, well paid alcoholic control board.

COUNTERFEITING
The public's losses from counterfeit money during 1946 more than doubled those in 1945, according to the Secret Service. The losses of $7,129 in 1946 compared with $18,135 in 1945. These figures are trifling, however, compared with the mid-thirties, when counterfeiters took as much as $1,000,000 each year from the public.

With Rowan County Farmers

Cranston Meeting Attended By 33; 4-H Contest Announced

By Dan Brane

Thirty-three farmers of the Cranston community met at the Cranston school house Tuesday night and planned their 1947 Agricultural Extension program. The group planned demonstrations on hybrid corn, Ky. 31 fescue, ladino clover, Brown Swiss cattle, poultry curing tobacco, priming tobacco, varieties of blue mold, tobacco varieties, fertilizing tobacco and tile drainage.

The farmers of the community voted to invite the farmers of Rowan County to visit them on Aug. 1 for the annual Field Day program. A committee of five men was elected to plan the Field Day program. Johnny Adkins was elected chairman and the men to help him are: Charlie Fraley, Willie Wells, Leland Hall and Fred Brown. This group made plans to visit three farms and set up tobacco variety demonstrations, tobacco fertilizer demonstrations, corn varieties and fertilizer demonstrations, hay and pasture demonstrations, a drainage demonstration, and a dairy and beef cattle demonstration.

Charley Fraley, a member of the Field Day committee, made the statement that the Field Day program in 1948 was worth hundreds of dollars to him and that he would make every effort to make the Cranston Field Day program both interesting and worthwhile to the farmers of Rowan County.

Russell Hunt has already accepted an invitation to participate in the program, and William C. Johnson has been invited to help.

Kentucky Utilities Sponsor The Kentucky Utilities Company will offer awards again this year to the champion 4-H Club in each county, served by their company. This is the third year that Kentucky Utilities has sponsored this contest. These awards are made in order to encourage better 4-H organizations, better project work, more leadership development, and participation in activities.

Contest awards will be $10 to the highest scoring club and in addition District and Regional prizes will be awarded. The Little Brushy 4-H Club won the Kentucky Utility award in 1946 for Rowan County.

Rules for the contest may be secured from either the County Agent or Home Demonstration Agent.

May 4 Picked As 'Go-To-Sunday-School Day'

The Central Committee of the Kentucky Sunday School Association, at its recent meeting designated Sunday, May 4, as Go-To-Sunday-School-Day in Kentucky. The Rowan County Sunday School Association will head the local drive for increased attendance on that day.

This will be the thirty-third observance of the special day inaugurated by the late Dr. George A. Joplin for the purpose of increasing the enrollment and attendance in the Sunday schools of Kentucky.

May 4 will also mark the opening of National Family Week in Kentucky and throughout the nation. The press, radio and other publicity channels will be used throughout that week to call attention to the importance of family life. Every church and community is invited to participate. Special literature is available from denominational boards, the International Council of Religious Education, Chicago, Ill., and the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America,

Majority NSLI Policies Are Allowed To Lapse

The Veterans Administration today announced that Kentucky veterans had reinstated 1,470 policies, representing $9,558,000 in insurance, during the first week of the National Service Life Insurance information campaign which began Feb. 3. Approximately 175,000 state veterans of World War II have permitted NSLI policies to lapse.

Harry W. Farmer, regional manager, said the number of reinstatements was somewhat low, but that he expected a sharp increase if Congress extended the "easy reinstatement" period which ended Feb. 1. Under this provision, World War II veterans who have allowed their insurance to lapse can reinstatement by simply paying two monthly premiums and attesting they are in as good health as when their insurance lapsed.

NSLI reinstatements at insurance collection units here and at five sub-regional areas in the state were: Louisville, $275,000; Lexington, $271,000; Hopkinsville, $61,000; Covington, $44,000; Ashland, $42,000 and Corbin $10,000. Mr. Farmer pointed out that most of the reinstatements were made by direct mail to the VA Branch Office in Columbus, Ohio. The 1946 amendments to the Insurance Act liberalized G. I. insurance by adding endowment policies and permitting lump sum settlements and the designation of any person or corporation as beneficiary.

Mr. Farmer emphasized there are no restrictions for policy holders against piloting a plane, moving to a foreign country or engaging in a hazardous occupation.

Leads southern scores.

"It Will Pay You To Wait For A New Chevrolet"

CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILWAY OFFERS PAY-ON-TRAIN Ticket Service

How it's done

Chesapeake and Ohio passengers now may telephone to reserve space in advance in reserved-seat coaches on trains Nos. 1, 2, 4, 21, 22, 41, 42, 46, 47, or in Pullmans, and pay the fare after boarding the train. There is no extra charge for this service. Pullman passengers choosing this optional on-train ticket service must have a C & O Credit Card to hold advance reservations.

This newest convenient time saver for rail travelers makes it unnecessary to wait in line at ticket windows. This is how the plan works:

Phone Chesapeake and Ohio ticket office for your reserved space, giving your name. When ordering Pullman space, give your credit card number also. You will be informed of your car and seat number at the time you call.

For either coach or Pullman, you can go direct to your reserved space after boarding train.

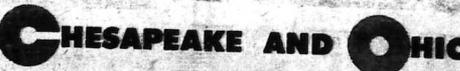

After the train departs and you are enroute to destination, a Chesapeake and Ohio passenger representative will deliver ticket right to your seat. You can pay for it then in cash or, if you elect, charge it to your credit card! If the latter, your signature on a receipt in all that is required and the representative will give you a signed copy to be retained by you.

Isn't it simple? With introduction of Pay-On-Train Ticket Service, Chesapeake and Ohio establishes still another improvement to make rail travel easier, more comfortable, more sensible!

* C & O CREDIT CARD PLAN

With a Chesapeake and Ohio Credit Card, now available, you can charge your railroad transportation as well as other C & O services. Credit cards are honored for all coach travel between C & O points and for Pullman travel originating on C & O to any destination in the nation. You can charge your meals in C & O dining cars and also use your credit card for baggage charges. Credit card applications are obtainable at any C & O ticket office or by writing Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Company, Terminal Tower, Cleveland 1, Ohio.

For Pay-On-Train reservations, C & O Credit Card information and applications, and general travel services—CALL CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO TICKET OFFICE

Fifth Grader Wins Rowan Spelling Bee

Lillian Kiser

When the spellers from all over Kentucky gather at Louisville to compete in the Courier-Journal's annual bee perhaps the youngest and smallest contestant will be from Rowan County — 10-year-old Lillian Kiser of the Little Brushy school. She is a 5th grade pupil.

Miss Kiser spelled "necessarily" correctly.

Mary Elizabeth Moore of Elliottville who placed second. Third place was won by Christine McBrayer of Poplar Grove.

When Lillian won the Rowan County contest she captured a prize of $20.

Over 300 students and school patrons attended the spelling bee here. Rev. B. H. Kasse was the pronouncer and Rev. B. W. Moore and Rev. David Sagers were judges.

The annual Christmas exhibit sponsored by the local chapter of the American Association of University Women, was held at the same time as the spelling bee.

KENTUCKY IN THE MARCH

By EWING GALLOWAY.

This is an up-from-nowhere story, and I pulled it out of a pigeon hole which was near a woman teacher was telling me about her most baffling classroom problem.

colleges added to Harry's training for a career, then he chose a profession that would enable him to advantage much of his experience in classrooms. Today, he rides among the best in his field, and with a competent staff of assistants, serves clients in half a dozen states.

He is not what you'd call one of the nation's great, but he traveled a long way from the sassafras sprout country.

And it all began with what that country teacher said at the Brown fireside.

In FASHION now

Pleats are in again. Grow-ups can choose between knife pleats, accordion or submerised pleated garments. They are practical for sports or shopping and beautiful for dancing.

Pleated plaid taffeta with the jacket having a short pleated pelum is very effective.

VERY TRUTHFUL

"Guilty or not guilty of this theft?" queried his honor.

"Not guilty, sir," came the plea.

"Have you ever been in jail?"

"No, indeed, sir," came the indignant reply. "This is the first time I ever swiped anything."

BACK HOME

At a popular port all the crew asked for shore leave except one man.

"What's the matter?" asked the officer. "Are you the only sailor who hasn't got a wife in this port?"

"No," replied the exception. "I'm the only one that has!"

GOLDE'S

THE GOOD SHEPHERD

LESSON TEXTS—SUNDAY SCHOOL MEMORY SELECTIONS— Give the good shepherd the glory. Give him the life for the sheep.—John 1:10.

An open door! How inviting! The man once blind (John 9) who had seen the temple door closed against him. It shut him out from all the sacred traditions of his people, but it turned him to Jesus, who presents himself in our lesson as "the door of the sheep."

I. The Door of the Sheep (vv. 7-10).

The preceding verses of chapter 10 are important, for they identify Jesus as the true Shepherd. He speaks of his people as his sheep.

He was sometimes kept in the field at night, as was the case on the night when Jesus was born in Bethlehem. But ordinarily they were brought into a sheepfold, where many flocks gathered for protection. A shepherd was on guard at the door. There would climb the wall to steal sheep, but the true shepherds, when they came in the morning to lead forth their flocks, entered by the door. They called out their own flock by name.

It is said that only black sheep will follow a stranger, which may explain why so many false lambs of our day appeal to the sick and lead them away from the Good Shepherd.

Do you know his blessed voice? Have you responded to his call? Will you follow him? Decide now. Consider the beautiful figure of the shepherd as the door of the sheepfold. When the sheep enter the fold to rest, he is the door. When they refuse to go out to feed in green pastures again, he is the door.

Note that they go in and out. Belonging to Christ is not bondage. If any teacher by Christ the Door, he is free to go in and out, to find pasture, to live for and to serve him.

"The Door"—what a striking figure! It is a means of entry, the only way in. Every door has two sides and the side we are on determines whether we are inside or outside—saved or lost. Children of God.

"Our Door and only one. And yet its sides are two—inside and outside. On which side are you?"

Then repeating the two first lines comes the direct testimony and question, "I am on the inside. On which side are you?"

II. The Keeper of the Sheep (vv. 11-13).

He think of sheep as peacefully grazing on the hillside—an idyllic picture in the summer sunshine. But there were dangers to meet. It is so with Christ's sheep too, and then he is there to keep them. The wolves come out as the shadows gather. They come to kill and to scatter. Where then is the shepherd? If he is only a hireling, serving for what may "be in it" for him, he will flee.

How perfectly this picture of religious leaders, who, in spite of their swelling words and ingratiating manners, desert the flock in the hour of adversity. Fair-weather friends are they, who disappear when darkness and danger appear.

In the darkest hour Jesus is nearest at hand. He never fails. He has no fear, for has he not tasted the bitter death of Calvary's tree for you and me? He is the Good Shepherd. He gave his life for the sheep. Those who have put their trust in him shall never be put to shame.

III. The Saviour of the Sheep (vv. 14-19).

He laid down his life for the sheep. Ah, yes, it is all too true that evil men laid wicked hands on him and crucified him. Their guilt is awful. But it is clear from Scripture that until the hour had come for Jesus to be made sin for the redemption of men, they could not touch him (see Luke 4:29; John 8:59).

When the time came, Christ laid down his life in accord with "the determinate counsel and foreknowledge of God" (Acts 2:23). He died for us, not as a martyr to a cause, or the victim of an accident or miscarriage of justice, but willingly, and for the glory of God.

Yes, he died for us, but he also died every last man who will bear his voice. There are "other sheep" about whom the Lord is deeply concerned. Are we?

"Must bring" them—but remember, God works through yielded believers—through men and women. We ought to be eager instruments in his hands to reach these other sheep, whatever their race, creed, or condition.

Do not miss the note of unity in verse 16. "There shall be one fold." Sometimes one wonders as Christians fight one another how they will ever be brought into the unity of one fold. Only the Lord can do it—he "must bring" us together—but let our confessions one iota to the confusion and division which must so grieve his Father-heart.

"Four out of every five of my pupils are not interested in learning," she said. "The football team, basketball and the social life of the school are the only reasons they seem to have for going to school. Their studies are a nuisance. I try to appeal to their pride. I emphasize with all the eloquence at my command that the tragic consequences of growing up in ignorance. But all this seems futile."

Whenever I told her the true story of Harry Brown, all true but the name.

The family lived in a remote neighborhood in west Kentucky county, where most of the land was whiskered over with persimmon bushes and sassafras sprouts both of which were near row, rutty trails. Harry's parents were good farm folks—industrious, frugal, thrifty, but natural handicapped, prevented them from becoming prosperous.

Harry was not an unusually bright boy. He was what might be called run-of-the-mill. At the time our story begins he was in his last year at the little one-room district school. The teacher, a young man, came to board with the family. Nights he took a little time out from reviewing the lessons to help the boy over the bumps in the eighth-grade books.

Believing in the power of suggestion, the teacher decided to try it on Harry. Every night or two he would say, "Harry, you can grow up to be a successful man." And to the father and mother, "Your boy has the makings of a celebrity. If country boys have done it, so can he."

There were stories of great men who had arisen from obscurity. They were told to the boy, and the parents listened in.

The trick worked. The parents decided to seek their farm and buy a place within easy reach of a good high school. The following September saw the Browns on a small farm in the outskirts of our village, which had a first-rate high school.

Fired with ambition sparked by the back-country teacher, Harry had sacrificed play time to get his lessons letter-perfect. Other boys played and got by, but Harry took no chances.

In due time, he was graduated with honors. Then he went to a small college, where he worked at odd jobs to help pay expenses. Two or three years at the college, then he went to a large university in another state to finish his education. In the meantime, he had married an ambitious girl in our village. I have always suspected that the girl fell in love with him partly because he was ambitious.
