

Morehead Brochure Prepared

An Industrial Site Brochure for Morehead has been prepared by the Kentucky Utilities Company with the cooperation of the Chamber of Commerce. This brochure has been distributed to people who work directly with industry seeking new locations.

Included in this brochure are top maps of the area, showing sites available for industry, and other data of interest to prospective industries.

According to Donald P. Wilson, local manager, Kentucky Utilities Company, this information has recently been brought up to date, keeping Morehead in a competitive position for new industry.

Mayor C.B. Cornett and County Judge Otis Caldwell have personally written letters, which are included in this booklet, expressing the willingness of Morehead and Rowan County to cooperate with anyone interested in Morehead as a location for new industry.

The Industrial Development Departments of the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce, Kentucky Department of Commerce, railroads and utility companies serving the area have received copies of this booklet for their use in contacting prospects for industry.

Rowan County's Unemployment Among Lowest

Eastern Kentucky's unemployment rate rose from 6.4 per cent in May to 8.0 per cent in June, however, Rowan County's rate was among the lowest in Eastern Kentucky.

The rate for Rowan was reported at 5.5 per cent. Only three counties in the Eastern Kentucky area had lower rates of unemployment for June. They were Pulaski at 5.2 per cent, Martin County at 4.6 per cent, and Montgomery County at 5.4 per cent.

The state average is 6.5 per cent for June and the National rate was reported at 8.0 per cent for the month.

Robert MacDonald, chief labor market analyst for the Department for Human Resources, says one reason for the state increase in unemployment is the number of students seeking summer jobs.

In Eastern Kentucky, there are an estimated 21,071 people out of work.

Area counties and the rates of unemployment are — Bath 7.6, Carter 9.0, Elliott 9.5, Johnson 8.3, Magoffin 11.7, Martin 4.6, Menifee 9.9, Montgomery 5.4, Morgan 7.6, Wolfe 12.3.

Traveling Exhibits Coming To MSU

"Kentucky Seen", a display of photographs of Kentucky's current culture, will begin a statewide tour this fall as part of the Arts Commission's traveling exhibits. The tour will follow displays during August and September at the Old Capitol in Frankfort and later at Morehead State University.

VACATION IN MODEL A . . . Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Owens of Clearfield are pictured in the rumble seat of a 1928 Model A-Ford owned by her brother, Charles Peters, pictured on runner board. Mrs. Peters and daughter, Cheryl, are standing behind the vehicle which has traveled 4,000 miles since leaving Whittier, Calif., on July 6.

Family Travels Across Country In 1928 Ford

A 1928 Model A-Ford has provided adequate means of transportation for a 4,000 mile journey for Mr. and Mrs. Charles Peters and daughter, Cheryl. The couple was in Morehead earlier this week where they visited with Mr.

Peters' sister and brother-in-law, Ruth and Buddy Owens in Clearfield. The Peters family left their Whittier, Calif., home on July 6 and traveled 4,000 miles in four weeks. Their trek has included a journey through upper Michigan and through Detroit where they visited the Henry Ford Museum.

In their 4,000-mile trip in the Model A-Ford the family has averaged 20 to 22 miles per gallon of gasoline. They have replaced one fan belt and have experienced absolutely no other problems.

Approximately 90 per cent of their travel has been on back roads at a rate of speed of about 30 to 45 miles per hour.

The family currently is en route to Nashville Tenn., where they will attend a car show of the Model A-Ford Club of America. The show is held every two years, the last being at Long Beach, Calif., on the Queen Mary Ocean Liner.

They anticipate arriving back in California in early September.

Mr. and Mrs. Peters have owned their Model A five years and noted they built and restored it out of many parts and pieces.

Reorganization of Morehead State University's Bureau of Academic Affairs has been approved by the MSU Board of Regents.

Eight functions previously housed in the Division of Institutional Services were moved into the academic bureau

Fall From High Cliff Fatal To MSU Student

A 19-year-old Morehead State University student from Ashland died early Sunday when he apparently rolled off an 80-foot cliff in his sleep.

Jeffrey Neal Edmon, 19 son of James E. Jr. and Janet Shivel Edmon, was found by four other young Ashland men on Lockegee Rock in Rowan County, about six miles south of Morehead off Cogswell Road.

Edmon and the others reportedly were sleeping when he rolled over the edge of the cliff in his sleeping bag.

Other members of the camping party placed the time of the accident at about 4 a.m., noting they heard a noise at that time but did not miss the victim. His body was found at 8 a.m. at the base of the cliff.

Others camping with Edmon included John Stakely, 19; William Gregory, 19; Steve Pennington, 19; and James Robbins, 20, all of Ashland.

Edmon was born March 22, 1957, in Honolulu, Hawaii. He was a member of South Ashland Methodist Church.

Surviving, in addition to his parents, are a brother, James M. Edmon of Ashland; and the grandparents, the Rev. and Mrs. Arthur P. Shivel of Ashland.

Funeral services were conducted at 11 a.m. Tuesday at Lazzar Funeral Home in Ashland.

FIRST IN TALENT. A. Cheryl Hargis, a 1976 graduate of Rowan County High, is pictured at left receiving the first place award in the Talent Show last Thursday night at the Northeast Gateway Regional Fair. Sponsored by the Morehead-Rowan County Jaycees. Making the presentation is Sherry Parker, the new Miss Northeast Gateway Regional Fair Queen. Cheryl's singing ability won her the first place talent honors. She was accompanied by Jeff Parker on the guitar.

Nutrition Project Grant Awarded Morehead State

Morehead State University has been granted $68,068 to continue a project in nutrition and dietetics for another year.

Funded by the Kentucky Council on Public Higher Education, the project serves the area development districts of Buffalo Trace, Gateway, Fivco and Big Sandy.

It is designed to finance rotating work experiences for food service students in various degree programs at MSU. The purpose is to expose students to health care in Eastern Kentucky in an attempt to attract and retain professionals in food services.

The project is designed for 39 students including 18 in the associate degree program, 18 in the bachelor's degree program and three graduate students.

Sister Francis Janousek, instructor of home economics at MSU, is the project coordinator.

Kindergarten Starts Aug. 25

Rowan County will have a free kindergarten program beginning with the 1976-77 school year and plans are being made for the establishment of a year-round Headstart program.

Kindergarten classes will begin Aug. 25 at Morehead Grade School and applications for enrollment into kindergarten are available at each of the county's elementary schools and at the Rowan Superintendent's office.

The year-round Headstart program will be established if certain details can be worked out, such as space, transportation and staffing.

Plans for the kindergarten class, which will be held at Morehead Grade School, will be finalized by the Board of Education at its next regular session Aug. 16. It has not been determined if the kindergarten program will be on a full or half-day basis. It is anticipated 20 pupils will be accepted if the program is a full-day, and 40 pupils in a half-day program with 20 attending each of the half-day sessions.

The Board of Education has authorized Rowan Superintendent John Brock to determine a procedure whereby pupils will be selected with the procedure being based on each school district having representation in the class.

Bus transportation will be provided for the kindergarten pupils if the program is a full day. If a half-day program is established, it is anticipated that transportation one way will be provided by the parents.

To be eligible for kindergarten, a child must be five years old on or before Jan. 1, 1977.

Meeting in special session last Wednesday night, the Education Board also established a policy whereby there will be no student fees at the elementary schools. In the past, a $4 fee was charged pupils in the first two grades, and a $3 fee was charged those in the other six elementary grades. These fees were for teaching supplies and the school system will now bear the expense.

The Board of Education authorized Superintendent Brock to make application with the state for two basic adult education units in Rowan County. If the program is implemented, it will provide basic education classes for adults at night.

The Board also made its decision regarding the transportation of University Breckinridge pupils to and from Brock and Rowan County High. Rowan County buses will be permitted to transport the Breck pupils at a cost of $1 per bus per day, plus 25 cents per mile that each bus has to travel from its original route to and from Brock.

The system for payment of transporting the Breck pupils was recommended by Superintendent Brock and was the result of his discussion with Brock and Morehead State University officials.

Billie Jean Clayton was employed as Director of Pupil Personnel of the Rowan County School system. She succeeds Carson Castle who resigned the post earlier in the year.

Larry Hardin was named baseball coach and assistant basketball coach at Rowan County, succeeding Ted Trent who earlier was named head basketball coach at RCHS. The head coaching position was vacated several months ago by Zane Collins who requested that he be placed in a teaching capacity and relieved of his basketball coaching duties.

Donna Reynolds was employed as a para-professional, Ella Deblin as a speech therapist, and Richard Stidom as an English teacher at RCHS.

The resignation of Mrs. Sara Francis, wife of former Superintendent Bill Francis, was accepted by the Board last Wednesday night.

In other action, the Board awarded the bid for coal to Ora Butler of Morehead. He will provide stoek coal to the school system for the 1976-77 school year at a cost of $66 per ton and block coal at $24.95 per ton.

Bill's Trucking Company of Morehead submitted the only other bid. That bid was $27.50 per ton on block coal and $31.95 per ton on stoek coal.

No school bus insurance bids were received and action on that matter was delayed until the August board meeting.

MSU, U of L To Study Future Vo-Ed Needs

Morehead State University and the University of Louisville have received $33,000 through the state Bureau of Vocational Education to finance a joint study of Kentucky's future vocational needs.

"The purpose of the study is to project potential problem areas, barriers and needs in regular vocational program in order not to be caught off guard by social or technological developments," said Dr. B. Glen Davis, who coordinates research in the bureau.

The study will use a modification of the Rand Corporation's Delphi technique, a method of arriving at consensus from information supplied by a panel of experts. No expert is told the identity of any of the other experts to create an atmosphere of complete freedom for their thinking. "Anonymity means the experts won't be influenced by any of the others," Davis said.

Also, the experts are asked to consider general areas of concern.

Work In Vicinity Of New Bridge Completed

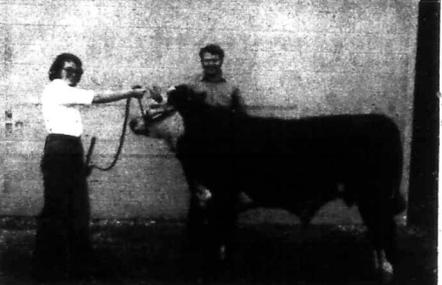

Guardrails were installed last week at the south end of the new bridge across Triplett Creek located near the entrance to the Morehead Recreation Park. The new bridge was completed several weeks ago and was constructed by the state at a cost of about $200,000. It replaces the outdated single-lane bridge which has been threatened by floods.

SECOND PLACE... Keith Conn's singing ability won him second place Thursday night in the annual Talent Show of the Northeast Gateway Regional Fair sponsored by the Morehead-Rowan County Jaycees. Keith is pictured receiving his award and congratulations from Sherry Parker, this year's Miss Northeast Gateway Regional Fair Queen.

Rowan Farm, Home Field Day Planned

The annual Farm and Home Field Day in Rowan County will be held Friday, August 13, when participants will meet at the Morehead Tobacco Warehouse Company on U.S. 60 east of Morehead at 4 p.m.

Those taking the tour will board buses at the tobacco warehouse for a three-farm tour in the north western section of Rowan County. This year's Field Day will have as its theme "The Old and the New" and the tour will include exhibits of old and new machinery and equipment that will be of interest to all persons.

Buses will leave the warehouse at 4:20 p.m. and will move to the first stop on the Lawrence Caudill Farm. There they will see a modern dairy operation including a free-stall barn, herringbone milking parlor and numerous other things of interest.

Also at the Caudill farm, visitors will see two prominent Rowan County citizens in a milking contest and various 4-H exhibits.

The second stop on the tour will be at the Canada Coal Ranch in the Sharkey community where a modern beef cattle operation will be viewed. Chuck Drumm, herdsman at the ranch, will discuss the herd. It is possible that a new pasture renovator will be demonstrated at the Canada Ranch.

The third and final stop of the tour will be at the Buri Moore place on Lacking River where visitors will see a commercial pepper operation, tobacco variety demonstration, a corn variety and fertility demonstration and a pasture demonstration.

Following the tour at the Moore farm, the group will return to the tobacco warehouse for supper, served by the Rowan County Homemakers and sponsored by the Morehead Tobacco Warehouse Company.

Homemakers will have exhibits (old and new) for the public to view at the warehouse. All homemakers are being encouraged to participate in the Field Day activities.

HEART DISEASE LEADS
BOYS... The Federal Statistics Bureau reports that 725,000 West Germans died in 1974, with heart failure and cancer the leading causes of death. Heart disease killed 337,600.

Alfred Peed Funeral To Be This Friday

Alfred Marshall Peed, 50 who grew up in Morehead and was widely and favorably known in this part of Kentucky, died Sunday of a heart attack in North Miami, Fla.

He was night manager and auditor of a Miami hotel; and it was his habit on weekends when he was off work to visit his brother, Bill, who lives in North Miami.

Al had mowed the lawn at Bill's home Sunday afternoon, and then lay down to rest. Around 5:30 Sunday evening his brother tried to awaken him. The North Miami Rescue Squad was summoned and it was found that Al had suffered a massive coronary which took his life almost immediately. Mr. Peed had never before been ill or consulted a physician.

The remains were sent from Florida to Morehead and arrived yesterday (Wednesday) evening at Lane Funeral Home where friends may call.

Funeral services will be conducted Friday morning at 10 o'clock at Lane Funeral Home, followed by burial in the family plot (near his father) in Lee cemetery.

Mr. Peed was born Dec. 16, 1925 at Sharpsburg, son of the late Joe Peed, and Elizabeth (Kissinger) Peed. In the late 20's the family moved to Morehead. Al graduated from Morehead High; and attended Morehead State University two years. He was a member of the Baptist Church.

About 25 years ago he accepted a position in California, but shortly thereafter moved to the Miami area where he had since lived. Affable and friendly by nature, with a strong winning personality, Al was suited to, and liked, the hotel or allied businesses. Each year since about 1964, he spent his vacation in Morehead, usually staying with his sister, Mary Jane Caudill, and her husband, Harry Caudill, Flemingsburg Road. Al spent most of his vacation visiting his many friends in Morehead. He was last in Morehead on Memorial Day and the following week.

The immediate survivors are his mother, who was at the North Miami home at the time of death, his brother, Bill; and sister, Mary Jane Caudill. Lane Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

rather than to answer specific questions, which would tend to restrict their thinking. For example, the experts might be asked to discuss what changes might occur in education as a result of legislation such as Title IX, consumer education and career education.

"The Delphi technique has proved extremely accurate in forecasting events," Davis said. He added that "while the project isn't intended to be a blueprint of the future, at least it will give advance insights into what vocational education will face 10, 20 or 30 years from now."

"We are very excited about this," Davis said, "not only for what it will give us, but also because it is one of the first times two major universities have cooperated on a research project. Also, it is the first vocational project I'm aware of being conducted in this vein."

Dr. Dean McClellan, Department of Vocational Teaching, University of L., and Dr. Robert Newton, Department of Industrial Education and Technology, Morehead, will direct the study.

ARIES Mar. 21-Apr. 19
It's the same old refrain that has to do with — your mate or similar alliance — not understanding you.

TAURUS Apr. 20-May 20
Many under your sign are due for dental or physical check-up. Most important, if you seek any advice today — make certain it's professional.

GEMINI May 21-June 20
Stellar patterns suggest that you take a new look at a long term project — that's been shelved. There's a high probability that you'll revive a winner.

MOONCHILD June 21-July 22
Soft lights and sweet music, should bring back memories of the long, long ago. You're going to take a trip down memory lane.

LEO July 23-Aug. 22
Whatever you do, don't pin down a member of the opposite sex with the story of your life — silence this day — is golden.

VIRGO Aug. 23-Sept. 22
An associate with motives that are — well, questionable — has you labeled as a soft touch — you'll know how to handle the situation.

LIBRA Sept. 23-Oct. 22
There seems to be a conflict about what you must do at your home base... and a few outside obligations that have become time consuming.

SCORPIO Oct. 23-Nov. 21
Don't worry about impressing an associate. As a matter of fact, no matter what you do — it won't be appreciated.

SAGITTARIUS Nov. 22-Dec. 21
A cloud of impulsiveness seems to hover over most members of your sign. So, keep a tight hold on your purse string.

CAPRICORN Dec. 22-Jan. 19
Watch it! The very thing you believe is scheduled to happen to someone else, will indeed happen to you. Ake, you might open the door to one friendship — while closing the door on another.

AQUARIUS Jan. 20-Feb. 18
A superior — won't be on the very best terms. Try a little diplomacy, and arm yourself with past experiences.

PISCES Feb. 19-Mar. 20
The thought of relinquishing your job, task or project — will cross your mind more than once or twice, today.

Commissioner Former College President

Gov. Julian Carroll, upon the recommendation of Justice Secretary John J. Smith, has appointed Dr. David Bland as commissioner of the Bureau of Corrections.

For the past three months, Bland has served as an outside consultant to the Corrections Management Team which has been leading the restructuring of the bureau. During that time, the commissioner's position was filled in an acting capacity by Justice Secretary John L. Smith following the May resignation of Charles Holmes.

Bland comes to the bureau for the Massachusetts-based consulting firm, Carkhoff Associates, Inc., which conducted a recent study of Kentucky's corrections system and has issued its report and evaluations. Called the Carkhoff Master Plan, the report has served as a guide for the Management Team in their restructuring efforts during the last three months.

In appointing Bland to the commissioner's post, Gov. Carroll said, "Dr. Bland has completely familiarized himself with Kentucky's corrections system through this work on the Carkhoff study, by spending a great deal of his time in Kentucky over the last 13 months and by working with the Management Team, and frequently visiting the Commonwealth's correctional institutions.

"He is well aware of the problems we have faced in the corrections field and he has been instrumental in getting these problems straightened out, and putting Kentucky on the proper path to becoming the finest corrections system in the nation.

Secretary Smith had previously said a new commissioner would not be selected until at least October, but said at Bland's appointment, "The restructuring of the bureau has gone faster and more effectively than we anticipated.

"We are very pleased with the performance of our central office staff and are highly optimistic about the progressive direction in which the bureau is now headed. With Dr. Bland's action-oriented philosophy of progressive corrections, we felt he was the right man for the job and that the time was not right to ask the governor for his appointment."

Bland's appointment is effective immediately. He said he will move his family here from Raleigh, N.C.

The 37-year-old Bland has been with the Carkhoff firm for two and one-half years. Prior to that he served as State director of community colleges in Michigan and as president of a community college in North Carolina. Bland also set up the first comprehensive career training program for inmates in North Carolina and also worked as a teacher for inmates.

Bland said he will institute "major changes" in several areas of Kentucky's corrections system. "Just as the central office personnel have been, and will continue to be, monitored daily in the performance of their duties, we want to turn the entire corrections system in Kentucky into a performance-based, career development system," Bland said.

"We want to have inmates graduating from institutional training and academic programs on their performance instead of merely completing 2,000 hours. We want to return an inmate to the community with saleable work skills and human relations skills," he said.

"Through the cooperation between our institutional and community service division, I'd like to see a program developed emphasizing consumer education and personal planning skills - skills such as how to readjust and return to a normal family life with wife and children and how to deal with the problems at home that every inmate faces upon release," Bland said.

Other specific plans for the bureau include doubling the size of Correctional Industries in a "productive" move to cut inmate idleness, while offering rehabilitative training which will be valuable to the inmate upon his release.

To deal with the overcrowded conditions plaguing the state correctional institutions, Bland said planning has already begun which will lead to "major depopulation of the penitentiary." He also said a major construction and renovation program involving existing correctional facilities will soon begin with the top priority given to the penitentiary near Eddyville.

The new commissioner said he would like to see the establishment of more regional facilities such as a farm facility which is presently attached to the Kentucky State Penitentiary. As a separate entity from the penitentiary, it will provide programs for certain selected minimum security inmates.

Bland said that following a career development plan, correctional officers and field personnel will continue to receive pay raises and administrative responsibilities will be added, based on their performance.

Bland said he wanted this next year to be characterized as a period when the bureau activates greater involvement of communities to help find and meet their mutual needs.

Letters to the editor

This newspaper welcomes letters, particularly on subjects of general, local, or area interest. Right is reserved to condense. No letters will be printed without author's signature and address.

The Editor:

My purpose in writing is to again thank supporters of the Morehead Merchants ladies softball team, solely named because of all the fine backing we have received from merchants here in town.

So far this season our team has gone undefeated in league play and to date we have competed in two ASA Invitational Tournaments. Finishing fifth out of sixteen teams in South Shore, Kentucky, then traveling to Brooksville, Kentucky for the Bracken County Tournament involving twelve teams. In this tournament our ladies finished first, going undefeated throughout the entire tournament.

Next on our agenda was the State District Tournament held in Morehead last weekend. The results were better than expected as the Morehead Merchants won it all, scoring 77 runs in four games while only having one run scored against them in the entire tournament.

Our next venture will be our regular weekly league play while preparing for the State-Regional Tournament to be held in Winchester, Kentucky the second week in August.

Again I would like to take this opportunity to thank those who made all this possible for these young ladies who in their own right are second to none, not only in their athletic abilities but in their manners and looks.

We express our sincere appreciation to Morehead News, Lexington Concrete, Kentucky Fried Chicken, McKenzie Ford, Judy's Dept. Store,

RAILROAD COMMISSION COMPLAINS ABOUT FUNDS

The Editor:

Since I have been Chairman of the Kentucky Railroad Commission, I have tried to answer and investigate all complaints I have received and to help in all cases where the Commission can help.

A real problem in taking care of your requests is the shortage of travel expense money that is allotted by the Legislative budget. Last year we came up nearly $500.00 short of having enough to pay our expenses in investigating your problems.

When you consider that the Railroad Commission was passed over when the cost of living increase of Commissioners pay was recently adopted and that the Chairman only makes $300.00 per month (the other two Commissioners make $250.00 per month), you can understand that we all have to spend from our own small salaries to take care of your needs.

We want to serve you and will but I thought you should know what handicaps we work under.

L.H. "Dick" Frymire, Chairman
Kentucky Railroad Commission

Imported Delight

The European anchovy is imported to the United States as either oily fillets or a salty paste, packed in small tins and sold as hors d'oeuvres. Most species of the slim, silver-colored fishes are only about five inches long, though some grow to nearly twice that length. Only a few species are heavily fished commercially.

NOTICE OF SALE
Ralph Moore
Rt. 4
Morehead, Kentucky
Defendants
Geneva Moore
US9 Augusta Drive
Lexington, Kentucky

By virtue of a judgment and order of sale of the Rowan Circuit Court entered at the July 29 Term thereof, in the above cause, for the sum of $8,883.12 with interest thereon at the rate of 7 per cent per annum on $3,322.00 from September 10, 1975 until paid, with interest thereon at the rate of 8 per cent per annum on $3,550.00 from February 22, 1975 until paid, with interest thereon at the rate of 8 per cent per annum on $929.00 from September 3, 1975 until paid, with interest thereon at the rate of 8 per cent per annum on $948.00 from October 24, 1975 until paid, and with interest thereon at the rate of 8 per cent per annum on $101.12 from March 16, 1976 until paid and the cost of this action, and $2,762.50 plus cost, I shall proceed to offer for sale at the County Court House door in the City of Morehead, Kentucky, to the highest and best bidder, at public auction on the 20th day of August, 1976, at Ten O'clock a.m., or thereabout, and the purchaser shall be required to make a cash deposit of 20 per cent at the time of the sale, and purchaser shall be required to execute bond for payment of balance within six months after the date of sale, the following described property, to-wit:

A certain tract of land situated, lying and being on Three Lick Creek, in the County of Rowan, and the State of Kentucky, and more particularly described as follows, to-wit:

Tract No. 2: BEGINNING at two sourwoods the same being the beginning in said Rolsin deed running with the line in said deed N. 46 E. 82 poles to a red oak and chestnut oak stump on the north bank of Three Lick Creek; thence with said line in said Rolsin deed N. 44 W. 78 poles to set stone in the flat, the same being the beginning corner to Tract No. 2 S. 46 W. 127 poles to a point in Buzzard Branch between a maple and a sweet gum, the same being the second of Tract No. 2 and in the sixth line of the said Rolsin deed; thence with line of said S. 77 1/2 E. 83 poles to the beginning, containing 82 acres, more or less, and being the same real estate conveyed to Ralph Moore and Genevieve Moore, his wife, by Gilbert Black and Louann Black, his wife, by deed dated August 14, 1976, of record in D. B. 87, Page 257, Rowan County Court Clerk's Office.

Tract No. 1: A certain tract of land, lying and being in Rowan County, Kentucky and described as follows:

BEGINNING on a high point marked with a chestnut oak in line of Lewis Fralley and Ray Hogge; thence in a westerly direction with dividing ridge to a small pine tree; thence a South direction to a small hickory; thence a West direction to a small hickory; thence a Northwest direction to a double white oak; thence a West direction to a young tree inline of Nute Kinick (now Fralley and Hogge); thence a easterly direction to Wm. Ingram, James Cook and William Claycraft corner; thence a northerly direction to the point of beginning, and containing ninety-five acres. (95) acres, more or less, and being the same property conveyed to the party of the first part by Louise Potter by deed dated March 10, 1973 and recorded in D. B. 97, Page 431 & 432 at Rowan County Court Clerk's Office.

If the purchase price of Tract No. 2 herein above described is sufficient to pay the outstanding liens and mortgages herein above set forth, Tract No. 1 will not be sold, otherwise Tract No. 1 will be sold. The purchaser shall be required to assume and pay all taxes assessed against such property for the year of 1976 and in all subsequent years. This property shall be sold subject to all existing restrictions and "unit" easements now of record affecting the above described property.

Or sufficient thereof to produce the sum of money so offered to be made. For the purchase price the purchaser must execute bond, with approved securities, and having the force and effect of a judgment. Bidders will be prepared to comply promptly with these terms.

Functional, decorative, 'oddball' — useful appliances that are fun to use

For over 25 years, the Salton company has taken pride in introducing innovative, functional and beautifully designed "oddball" appliances to the American home. Now, in celebration of 200 years of development in the American home-ware field, the company is presenting some new functional appliances. Salton believes that buns and rolls have rights, too! The Hot Basket is a wonderful addition to any table. Buns, rolls, pastries, baked potatoes and finger foods will stay warm and tasty throughout the meal. Homemade peanut butter is as different from commercial peanut butter as bread out of the oven compared to bread off a shelf. And if you want peanut butter that's fresh, smooth using the natural oils already in the peanut. Come to think of it, what's so "oddball" about convenience, freshness and purity for all products? It's a great tradition!

Mrs. Allen's Sister Dies In Oklahoma

Mrs. Bess J. Courtney, sister of Mrs. John A. (Eva) Allen of Morehead, died Thursday at a Tulsa, Oklahoma hospital.

Mrs. Courtney, 85, had long been ill from a recurring malignancy, and the end was not unexpected.

She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A.J. Sexton of Carter City, near Olive Hill.

After she and Eva (Mrs. Allen) completed the sixth grade, highest offered at the Carter City School, Mr. and Mrs. Sexton moved to Morehead so their daughters could attend the old Morehead Normal School from which they graduated.

The Sexton's later moved to Ashland. Their daughter, Eva, married John Allen of Morehead, and the other daughter, Bess, married William Whitt, co-owner and one of the founders of the Kitchen and Whitt Company, a wholesale grocery company that was one of the largest at that time in eastern Kentucky. Mr. Whitt also served as Mayor at Ashland.

Following Mr. Whitt's death, she remarried and moved to Oklahoma.

Immediate survivors besides her sister, Mrs. Allen of Morehead, all of whom live in the Midwest are four sons — William Whitt, Jack Whitt, Seth Whitt and Arthur Whitt; and a daughter, Mrs. Alice Jean Fromm.

Two of the sons were in Europe when their mother passed away at Tulsa.

Ancient kings required that those attending court wear special garb, such as robes of elaborate design and in expensive fabrics, according to the American Formalwear Association.

Kindergarten Applications Now Available Here

The Rowan County Board of Education will be offering pre-school openings to five-year-olds this year. To be eligible a child must be five by Jan. 1, 1977.

Interested parents should pick up an application from either the principal in their school district or at one of the following post offices: Elliottsville, Haldman, Clearfield, or Morehead.

The application should be completed and returned to the school or mailed to the Rowan County Superintendent's Office by Aug. 12. The final selection of kindergarten students will be determined by Aug. 16.

Mrs. Stidam, 91, Dies Following Extended Illness

Mrs. Lillie Stidam, 91, Morehead, died July 21 in Daniel Boone Convalescent Center following an extended illness.

Funeral services were conducted at 1 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 3, at Stucky Funeral Home by the Rev. Jack Boggs. Burial was in Baldrige Cemetery.

A native of Elliott County, she was born Sept. 4, 1884, daughter of the late Henry Cline and Lena Ellen Davis Cline. She was preceded in death by her husbands, Logan Davis and John Stidam.

Surviving are a son, Emery Davis of Cincinnati, Ohio; a sister, Myrtle Burton of Hillsboro; a niece, Mrs. Lena Ellen Spencer of Flemingsburg; and six grandchildren.

regional jail program for the bureau. Barbee said concern over the security of housing state inmates in local jails is unjustified.

Overcrowding Is Problem

"The biggest problem we face in Kentucky corrections is overcrowding. It leads to the most negative aspect of an inmate's life - idleness.

"That's what the new classification system is for," Secretary Smith said. "Inmates who pose no real threat to society deserve to be placed in outside work details. They will soon be back out on the streets and working in civilian jobs, anyway.

Regional Jails Proposed

Also, a governmental services unit in Frankfort is anticipated to be completed in September with men moving in shortly thereafter; and, as a temporary means of easing the overcrowded conditions in state correctional institutions, a regional jail program has been proposed.

Smith said that inmates convicted of violent offenses, repeat offenders those convicted of narcotics offenses, those with a record of sexual deviancies and several other types of offenders will be excluded from the program.

"We're always going to have walk-aways from our work details," Parke said. "What we're doing is lessening the risk and seeing that if those people do walk away from a work detail, they will be the type of people who will pose no great threat."

Smith said, "The set of guidelines which will carefully screen the inmates for these outside the walls work details and establish a statewide classification system is something we have sorely needed for a long time. It is our responsibility to assure the citizens that the men and women we place in each community will pose no threat to them. We believe these guidelines will enable us to do just that."

Smith added, "The long-range plans of easing the state institutions'

Election Finance Registry Moving To Frankfort

The Kentucky Registry of Election Finance will move its offices to Frankfort on Aug. 16. "We felt we should be near the seat of government, near the people we deal with most; the secretary of state, the state police and the headquarters of both political parties," explained L. Stanley Chauvine, chairman of the Registry.

He added that the reason the offices originally were located in Louisville was because, at the time, both the Democratic and Republican state headquarters were in that city. The Registry, a bipartisan group composed of two Democrats, two Republicans and a chairman approved by the governor, monitors campaign financial reports for all candidates.

The members of the Registry are David Beckman, Louisville; Elmer Carrell, Louisville; Frank Logan, Louisville and Foster Ockerman, Lexington. The new address of its offices will be 1520 Louisville Rd., Frankfort, Ky. 40601.

Commissioner Resignation Is Accepted

Gov. Julian Carroll said today that he has received and accepted with regret the resignation of Kentucky Commissioner of Commerce Larry G. Townsend.

Townsend, at the helm of the Kentucky Department of Commerce since February, 1975, expressed to Gov. Carroll a desire to return to personal endeavors. "Since February, 1975," Townsend's letter states, "we have been able to implement programs that we saw were needed for Kentucky's development needs. I am confident we are headed in the right direction."

Gov. Carroll thanked Townsend for his contribution toward improving Kentucky's economic picture during the past 18 months. "His efforts in behalf of Kentucky have resulted in a very positive image of our commonwealth both in this country and internationally," Gov. Carroll said. "We all wish him the greatest success as he returns to private business."

Townsend's tenure as Commerce Commissioner was marked by many economic development highlights. Just this past June, Gov. Carroll led a trade mission to Japan in September seeking to encourage new foreign investment in Kentucky. A followup mission with similar goals will send the Governor and other Kentuckians to four European countries in September seeking both new foreign investment and tourist dollars for the Bluegrass.

Gov. Carroll has recently announced the planned reopening of Kentucky commerce and development offices in both New York and California. Last year, Townsend and his department sponsored industrial search trips with Gov. Carroll to California and six nonbooster states, telling industrial and business leaders there what Kentucky has to offer in return for their investment.

In 1975, there were 267 new businesses established or expanded in Kentucky, resulting in the employment of 7,500 and an investment of approximately 312 million dollars. New and expanded industrial growth this year already numbers 52, with an investment of 86 million dollars, and accounting for $ 3,065 new jobs.

"It is difficult to lose such an able and dedicated public servant as Larry Townsend," Gov. Carroll said. "His contributions are greatly appreciated."

Kentucky Afield

Dept. of Fish and Wildlife

The middle of summer may seem like a strange time to be thinking about deer hunting, but for those who want to engage in hunts on several areas around Kentucky, now is the time to start making plans.

The hunts which need the most advance planning are those which require advance reservations. If you want to hunt deer at Land Between the Lakes, Ft. Knox, the Higginson-Henry Wildlife Management Area or the Blue Grass Army Depot, get out your calendar and mark down the following dates.

At Land Between the Lakes, in Western Kentucky, gun hunters must participate in a computerized drawing for hunting assignments. The deadline for submitting applications is Sept. 1, but hunters must write LBL beforehand for their standardized application form. If you want to hunt deer with a gun on this area, drop them a note requesting an application form and a list of their special hunting regulations. The address is: Land Between the Lakes, Golden Pond, Ky. 42231.

Gun hunts at LBL will be held on Nov. 17, 20, 22 and 29, while bow hunting (for which no advance registration is required) will be from Oct. 9-Nov. 10 and Dec. 18 - Dec. 31.

At Fort Knox, advance registration is required for both gun and bow hunts. Applications for the Nov. 20 - 21 and Nov. 27 - 28 gun hunts will be accepted only between Aug. 27 and Sept. 24.

For the Oct. 1 - Oct. 31 bow season in Fort Knox, applications must be submitted between Aug. 1 and Aug. 20. A separate application is required for each hunt.

Ft. Knox charges a $10.00 fee in addition to the regular requirements for a valid statewide hunting license and deer permit. The fee must accompany the application for the hunt and should be mailed to: The Knox Conservation and Beautification Committee, P.O. Box 1052, Ft. Knox, Ky. 40121.

At the Higginson-Henry Wildlife Management Area, Union County, a drawing will be held to determine who will participate in the Nov. 16 - 17 gun hunt. Applications will be accepted only between Aug. 15 and noon, Sept. 4. Requests for applications can be mailed to: Manager, Higginson-Henry Wildlife Management Area, Rt. No. 5, Morganfield, Ky. 24237.

No advance reservations are required for bow hunting on Higginson-Henry, and the dates of the bow season correspond with those for the statewide archery hunt - Oct. 1 - Nov. 14 and Dec. 18 - Dec. 31.

The Bluegrass Army Depot, Madison County, will have only bow hunting this year, and reservations are required for the Oct. 9-10 and Oct. 23-24 hunts. The depot requires that applications be mailed on a postcard and the applications will be accepted only between Aug. 15 and Sept. 15. The postcard must contain the name and address of the hunter (one person only per card), age and telephone number. A $10 fee will be charged by the area, payable only after the hunter is notified of his selection in the drawing and of his specific hunting date.

Postcards should be mailed to: Chairman, Wildlife Management Subcommittee, Building S-14, Lexington Bluegrass Army Depot, Lexington, Ky. 40507.

Other areas in the state have seasons and regulations differing from the statewide rules, but no other require advance reservations. We'll discuss these areas more in a future column a little closer to the opening of the deer seasons.

SWINGING TIME... Former Rowan County High School basketball coach, Zane Collins, is pictured during a high ride on the swings at the Northeast Gateway Regional Fair which ended Sunday. The fair was sponsored by the Morehead-Rowan County Jaycees.

Foreign Countries Will Enter Horse Championship

Kentucky Parks Commissioner Bruce Montgomery said he is elated with the unanimous acceptance Kentucky has received from 17 foreign countries invited to participate in the World Championship Three Day Event.

The competition is to be held at the Kentucky Horse Park near Lexington in September, 1978.

Montgomery and his aides presented the formal invitations to representatives of the countries in Bromont, Canada, at a reception during an Olympic equestrian event.

"We are extremely pleased with the response to our invitations to participate in the first World Championship Three Day Event to be held in the United States," Montgomery said.

"This event will focus worldwide attention on Lexington and on Kentucky's horse industry. It will bring thousands of visitors to Central Kentucky from all over the world and the United States and the financial returns will be tremendous for Kentucky."

The Olympic event this year attracted as many as 85,000 spectators to Bromont.

Among the teams present to accept the Kentucky invitations was the British equestrian team headed by Princess Anne. She plans to participate in the 1978 Kentucky event.

The invitations were in the form of a loose-leaf book containing color photographs of Kentucky horse scenes, information on Kentucky's horse country and a letter of invitation from Gov. Carroll.

THE GOOD WORD

From the Bible

J.M. Alverson has been named director of the Kentucky Standardbred Development Fund, according to Marvin Music, chairman of the Kentucky Harness Racing Commission.

Named To State Post

J.M. Alverson has been named director of the Kentucky Standardbred Development Fund, according to Marvin Music, chairman of the Kentucky Harness Racing Commission. Alverson, a resident of Paris and a native of Scott County, is former editor and publisher of the Paris Daily Enterprise from 1942 until 1974 and was also the owner of radio station WGBR in Paris. He served as manager of the Harland Daily Enterprise from 1934 to 1938 before moving to Paris in 1939.

Racing Commission post came after the passage of House Bill 699, which became July 1. The bill, relating to standardbred horse racing, creates a trust and revolving fund for the Kentucky Harness Racing Commission to be used to promote races and to provide purses for the standardbred races. Funding will come from excise taxes on wagering at the standardbred tracks.

There are four such tracks in the Commonwealth: the Red Mile, Lexington; Louisville Downs; Midwest, Henderson; and Latonia, Florence.

Alverson resides in Paris with his wife, Louise, and their son, Bill, a student at Georgetown College.

Morehead Wins District Legion Tournament

Morehead American Legion Post No. 126 won the District 9 American Legion baseball tournament earlier this week and will serve as host to the Eastern Sectional tournament beginning today Thursday.

The District 9 tournament began last Wednesday with Ashland Post 76 squeaking by South Shore 5-2. Ashland scored three runs in the first inning and two in the ninth to hold off a determined South Shore for the victory. South Shore rallied for two runs in the ninth and had two men on the bases when the third out of the inning was recorded. Billy Fetrop picked up the pitching victory and Jeff Dickerson took the loss.

The second game of the tournament was delayed three days by rain. It was a big game between Ashland and Morehead Post 126 managed only five hits but righthander Mark Clifford held Ashland to only four hits and one run in a 7-1 Morehead victory. Morehead picked up two runs in the third, three in the seventh, and two more in the eighth.

The Eastern Sectional tournament begins (today) Thursday. Morehead's first round opponent will be Frankfort. That game is slated as the first game of Ashland's lone run came in the ninth. David Means had two hits and two runs batted in to lead the offensive support of Clifford.

Ashland came back to defeat South Shore again 9-7. Dana Williams lashed out three hits and knocked in two and Darrell Smith got the pitching victory.

Then, last Monday Morehead for 10 runs in the fifth inning to defeat Ashland 15-5 and win the District 9 championship. Eugene Ferguson picked up the victory in relief of Carl Parker and Jeff Bloomfield finished the game in relief of Ferguson. It was a balanced hitting attack for Morehead as everyone in the lineup except the pitcher had at least one hit. Jim Bloomfield and Mark Clifford had three each. Both Bloomfield and David Means had three runs batted in.

The Eastern Sectional tournament begins (today) Thursday. Morehead's first round opponent will be Frankfort. That game is slated as the first game of the tournament and will begin at 1 p.m. on Thursday. Following that game, Shelbyville will meet Pikeville. Then the winner of the Morehead-Frankfort game will take on Corbin.

CAPE TOWN--A team of South African medical experts fly to Mbabane, the capital of Swaziland, every Friday to perform free surgery. The program began in 1967 through a donation from Harry Oppenheimer, chairman of Anglo-American Corp.

The team members have performed more than 5,000 operations and attended more than 25,000 nonoperative cases in Swaziland.

VIKING LEADERS... Varsity cheerleaders at Rowan County High School recently attended the National Cheerleading Association Clinic held on the campus of the University of Kentucky in Lexington. The girls participated in a week of activity under the direction of the NCA staff. They received high honors, including the Spirit Stick and the Superior Award. Pictured, at bottom from left, are Debi Deaton and Kathy Jennings. Second row, from left, are Rhonda Barker, co-captain, Becky White, Kim Gambill and Tami Polts. Top from left are Judy Trent and Vicki Collins, captain.

Men's Softball League Tourney This Weekend

With the regular season rapidly coming to a close the Morehead Men's Softball League will sponsor its league tournament this weekend. Texaco and Frenchburg are battling down to the final week to determine the regular season champion.

In summer league basketball, the high school tournament concluded Wednesday and next Wednesday will mark the start of the Men's tournament. Basketball director Ted Trent has reported he is well pleased with the results of this summer's program.

Sunday afternoon, Aug. 15, should be an exciting one for all those in the Morehead area who enjoy a good old fashioned game of horseshoes. The Morehead City Park is sponsoring a horseshoe pitching tournament at 2 p.m. on Aug. 15. All interested parties must sign up with Dpn Hardin at the city park before the scheduled date.

Firearms Deer Hunt Scheduled

A two-day firearms deer hunt will be held on the Higginson-Henry Wildlife Management Area (formerly part of Camp Breckinridge) in Union County, Nov. 16 and 17. The hunt will be special permit only issued by the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources.

Persons wishing to participate in this quota hunt should write to Area Manager, Higginson-Henry Wildlife Area, Route, 5 Morganfield, Ky. 42437 and request an application for a permit, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

All applications must be completed and returned to the above address no later than noon Sept. 4. A drawing will be held at the Union County Court House to select 300 hunters who will be mailed permits to participate in the hunt.

Hunters successful in drawing should receive their permits by Sept. 25. Unsuccessful applicants will not be notified except upon request.

The permit will authorize the hunter to hunt on a designated tract of the Wildlife Area both days or until he takes a deer during the two-day period. All hunters must register in and out of the area check station each day.

The limit is one deer of either sex. The only authorized weapons will be shotguns with slug ammunition and muzzle-loading rifles .36 caliber or larger. There is no charge of the two-day permit.

Clearfield Girls Win Tournament

The Clearfield First Church of God Tabernacle girls won the 1976 Morehead Church Softball League Tournament played last week at the Morehead Treatment Center.

Clearfield entered the tourney with a second record of four wins and two losses, and a second place finish in the regular season. After losing their first two games of the year, they rolled off four straight wins going into the tournament play.

The Clearfield girls, under the coaching of Eddie Jones and Leon Fultz, took a convincing first round win over the Methodist Women by the score of 16-2 to advance to the semifinals. They played the Morehead Treatment Center girls last Thursday in semifinal action and came away with an easy 23-4 win to move into the championship game 15 minutes after their semifinal win.

Clearfield's opponent was the First Church of God on Hargis Avenue, who had also posted two wins to move into the finals. The well-balanced Clearfield team scored four runs in the first inning to jump out to a quick 4-0 lead and picked up three more runs in the sixth inning to take a 7-1 victory and their first championship.

They displayed a powerful hitting attack, excellent pitching and defense. They were led by the outstanding pitching of Debbie Workman who pitched both games that evening allowing four runs in the semifinal game and only one run in the championship game. Their hitting attack was led by Linda Conn, Jackie Thomas and Debbie White as they scored 48 runs in three tournament games.

Clearfield finished with a record of seven wins and two losses, including seven straight wins on their way to the championship.

DEATH VEHICLES ... Vehicles in which a Lexington man and an Ohio woman were killed Saturday evening in an accident on I-64 just east of Morehead are pictured above and below. Above is the car which was driven by James E. Price of Lexington. The 54-year-old Price was dead at the scene. He reportedly was traveling in the wrong direction in the west-bound lane of I-64 when his vehicle collided head-on with that driven by Mrs. Kathy Roxby, 26, Woodfield, Ohio. Her auto is pictured below. Mrs. Roxby's seven-year-old daughter, Kimberly, is listed in stable condition at St. Claire Medical Center in Morehead. Mrs. Roxby died at the University of Kentucky Medical Center in Lexington of injuries sustained in the mishap.

Bridge Players Earning Points

The Morehead Duplicate Bridge Club has issued the first rating points to those winners of the July 23 game held at the Eagle's Nest.

Rating points may be accumulated by the bridge players and after the player has 100 rating points, he will be awarded a Master Point by the American Contract Bridge League, explained Club Manager Susanne Blair.

Winners for the July 30 game were Bill and Margaret Davis, first place; Bob and Sandy Lindahl, second place;

Paul Blair and Kathy Barr, third place; and tied for 4th and 5th were C. McGiboney and Phyllis Fried, and Bill and Bertie Hough. The game was directed by Susanne Blair.

OLYMPICS MONTREAL — The U.S. women's basketball team won a silver medal in the Summer Olympic Games with a 83-67 victory over Czechoslovakia. The U.S. men beat Canada 95-77 and will face Yugoslavia, who beat the Soviet Union 89-84, for the gold medal.

LOVE THOSE YOUNGSTERS?

Of course you do. Getting them off to a good start is probably your life's ambition. Some heavy expense is involved.

Clothing, glasses perhaps, athletic equipment, college possibly, medical bills, the list is endless and frightening. The solution:

Save something now during their younger years while their needs are modest. We can be helpful.

Gas Well Drilling Announced

Gov. Julian Carroll announced today that two gas wells will be drilled in eastern Kentucky in a $73.0 million research program aimed at unlocking the secret to economical production of large volumes of gas known to be contained in Devonian shale formations underlying the Appalachian region.

The work is part of a $4.8 million, four-state project by Columbia Gas Transmission Corp. of Charleston, W. Va. In cooperation with the Federal Energy Research and Development Administration and with Ohio's energy research agency ERDA is providing $2.5 million; the Columbia Gas System, Inc. $2 million and Ohio $300,000.

Carroll said both Kentucky wells will be drilled in Martin County. A technique known as cycogenic stimulation will be used to try to create, extend and expand natural fractures in the shale so that trapped gas may be recovered. The process involves pumping liquidified gases into the formation at high pressure to produce a fracturing action.

Two other forms of hydraulic fracturing will be used on other wells in the program. Four each are being drilled in Ohio and West Virginia, and three are being tested in Virginia. Both sandstone and shale formations are involved.

While the Kentucky wells in the programs involves stimulation in shale formations, the sandstone research has major implications for Kentucky, Columbia spokesman noted, because of the state's extensive gas-bearing sandstone formations. The objective of this phase of the four-state project is to increase short-term productivity from sandstone horizons.

Sandstone is the most prolific gas-producing formation in Kentucky and other parts of the Appalachian area. Columbia officials said if the experimental techniques are successful, they could be applied promptly to support an expansion of Appalachian drilling into sandstone production areas now classified as submarginal. They said favorable results could be felt almost immediately.

If shale-well experiments are successful, it is estimated it will be several years before large additional supplies of shale gas will result, Columbia spokesman said. They pointed out that shale research still is in a very early stage, and that problems of increasing the permeability of shale formations and increasing gas production are far more difficult than in sandstone.

Columbia Transmission and ERDA are cooperating in another $4.4 million shale program in Lincoln County, W. Va., less than 20 miles east of Lawrence County, Ky. This is a three-year, three-well experiment which will include use of massive hydraulic fracturing (MHF).

MHF involves pumping very large volumes of fluids and sand into the underground formation at high pressure. This is designed to induce new and extend existing natural fractures. Fluids are withdrawn, leaving the created sand-filled fractures propped open.

Community Gardens Will Serve Residents In Area

Elder citizens in five northeastern Kentucky counties have gained employment and will soon be enjoying fresh produce from community gardens sponsored this summer by Gov. Julian M. Carroll.

The five counties benefiting from the project are Boyd, Carter, Elliott, Greenup and Lawrence. Scattered garden sites totaling 10 acres were donated by several older citizens in the area.

One of the landowners, Chester Sparks, works with the Northeast Kentucky Area Development Council, a community action agency coordinating the project in the five counties. Sparks works in maintaining the agency's equipment, including the many buses used by the council to transport local children and the elderly.

Sparks, 62, lives on Rattlesnake Ridge near here. "I've got about 70 acres up on that ridge, so if they need any more land, I've got it for them to use," he said. "I've been working ever since I was big enough and I never saw it hurt anybody to work."

Sparks has his own "truck patch" on Rattlesnake Ridge and between gardening and equipment maintenance, he still found time to volunteer the services of two mules to plow part of the community garden on this property.

Jess Sparks, 82, and Roy French, 65, work in the gardens under the "Green Thumb" program, a project coordinated by the Department for Human Resources' Bureau for Manpower Services, the National Farmers Union and the federal government. Joe Reynolds, director of the community action agency, said the two men are often found on their own time out in the fields adjacent to the agency's office building. French works regularly in the kitchen area where he helps prepare the more than 500 meals delivered daily by Community Action to area senior citizens. Jess Sparks does janitorial work at the Community Action office.

"I know I could make ends meet if I didn't have this job, but I'd go haywire if I had to stay at home all day long. I still love working out here when I can," said Sparks.

The two "green thumbs" have farmed most of their lives and Sparks added that he is also a qualified painter.

Reynolds said that with the expert help of people like Chester and Jess Sparks and French, there was little need to call upon any other outside professional help for advice for planting and fertilizing the gardens. "We are lucky to have some real oldtimers here who know about as much about farming as anyone could in the kitchen area when he has been 16 CETA workers from the five counties and college students enrolled in work-study under CETA. (CETA is the federal Comprehensive Community Employment and Training Act which funds job programs). Some 50 workers are volunteers and some have donated plants and machinery."

Gov. Carroll's original grant was $3,196 for the initial purchase of seed and fertilizer. Reynolds estimated that the total cost of the five garden plots in the area will be no more than about $4,500 including paid labor.

Already planted are: 2,000 pounds of seed potatoes; 100 pounds of onion sets; 200 pounds of beans; 200 pounds of seed corn; 1,200 tomato plants; 400 cabbage plants and 400 pepper plants. Ten tons of fertilizer are also being used.

When the produce is harvested, it will be distributed first among 200 older citizens and families designated by the Department for Human Resources through the state Supplemental Security Income program. Reynolds said he expects the gardens to yield much more than will be required to meet these needs. The remaining vegetables will be distributed to families referred to the agency through nutrition programs funded under the Older Americans Act and area agencies on aging.

Gov. Carroll granted funds for seven other garden projects serving the following areas: McCracken County; Jefferson County; Fayette and Nicholas counties; Daviess, Hancock, Henderson, McLean, Ohio, Union and Webster counties; Boone, Campbell and Kenton counties; and Bath, Menifee, Montgomery, Morgan and Rowan counties.

Almost $30,000 was allocated for the community gardens and while each area is free to organize the project to fit the area's needs, all have two common goals. Employment and fresh produce for older citizens.

COMMUNITY GARDENERS ... Working in a potato patch on Rattlesnake Ridge near Olive Hill to provide fresh produce for senior citizens in five northeastern Kentucky counties are, from left, Homer Barker of Olive Hill, Sherman Oallibue of Grayson, and Berthee Cooke of Olive Hill. The community garden project operating this summer in Boyd, Carter, Elliott, Greenup and Lawrence counties is one of eight such projects across the state through funding from Gov. Julian Carroll.

Doran Makes Final Official Appearance

Morehead State University President Adron Doran, in his last official appearance at an MSU academic event, Thursday challenged the school's 404 summer graduates to fill the nation's needs for "strong individuals who regard human worth and dignity."

Dr. Doran, who is retiring next Jan. 1, was the principal speaker at the commencement ceremony and later conferred degrees on summer graduates for the 23rd time.

In a surprise move by the MSU Board of Regents he was awarded an honorary doctoral degree.

MSU also recognized five other persons with honorary doctoral degrees.

In his address, Dr. Doran told the graduates he was not retiring because he felt he was too old to go on.

"I am retiring, not because I feel I have served too long, but to give opportunity for some other individual to take up the torch and lead the University during the decade ahead," he stated.

Dr. Doran continued: "This is a new and bright day for all of you. Tomorrow will be newer and brighter for you if you determine to face the challenges, assume the responsibilities, fulfill the obligations, perform the tasks and transmit your knowledge and skills to succeeding generations."

The 66-year-old educator was inaugurated as MSU's seventh president in 1954 and by the time of retirement, will have served the institution for 22 years and eight months.

Others receiving honorary degrees were Mrs. Mignon Doran, founder and director of MSU's Personal Development Institute; Dr. Troy R. Eslinger, president of Lees Junior College; Basil Overton, vice president of International Bible College; Florence A. Wendell, P. Butler, secretary of Education and Arts, Commonwealth of Kentucky; and Dr. Wade M. Robinson, president of Central Midwestern Regional Educational Laboratory, Inc. (CEMREL), St. Louis, Mo.

Charlotte S. Lewis of Olive Hill had the highest grade point average in the class. She compiled a 3.88 standing on a 4.00 scale.

The camp is a cooperative project between the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture 4-H Extension Service, State Forestry Service and the Rowan County Soil Conservation District. Mike and Danny received a scholarship from the Rowan County Soil Conservation District.

Crime Up 19 Per Cent Last Year

Serious crime in Kentucky increased 19 per cent in 1975 over the previous year, according to State Police figures released here recently. The uniform crime Reporting System shows 114,665 serious crimes reported to the State Police in 1975 with the rate per 100,000 population at 3,273.7, up from 2,771.5 in 1974. The report shows that firearms were used in 77.5 per cent of the 351 murders reported in 1975, down from 79.7 per cent in 1974. The 3,499 reported robberies last year were an increase of 12.8 per cent over 1974. Breaking and entering increased by 17.3 per cent last year with 33,671 cases reported. The arrests for this offense increased 12.6 per cent over the previous year with 6,775 arrests made in 1975. Narcotics arrests totaled 8,641 last year, an increase of 16.7 per cent over 1974 and a dynamic increase of 666.1 per cent over 1970. More than one of every two people arrested for narcotics last year was under the age of 21 and 11.1 per cent of all drug arrests were people under 16. Justice Secretary John L. Smith said that in 1976, "I feel we have made several positive steps in responding to the increase in crime." He noted the establishment of the Office for Crime Prevention which stresses citizen involvement in the fight against crime and the legislative action creating statewide jurisdiction for the State Police as two of those "positive steps."

food preservation clinic

By Karen Hill Rowan Extension Agent For Home Economics

If you use sound canning jars, good quality canning lids, up-to-date methods and the proper processing time, you shouldn't have trouble with jars not sealing. When a jar doesn't seal, it is probably for one of these reasons: you use off-standard jars (such as one-trip jars from the food store); you used "maverick" jar lids (some of the new off-beat brands have not yet passed rigid performance tests); old lids, used lids, or rusted and dented screw bands; you used a jar with a nicked or cracked sealing edge; you didn't wipe the sealing edge clear; you didn't screw the band tight enough against the sealing edge before processing; you didn't process the jars of food of the recommended time. You can take care of the problem and reprocess the jar of food right away, or you can refrigerate it and eat it within a few days.

CANNING CABBAGE

Don't can cabbage, broccoli or Brussels sprouts. Safe canning calls for using a pressure canner, and in the process they get mushy, and the flavor gets stronger than you might like. Most canning manuals don't even give processing times for these vegetables. Freeze them instead. Cabbage, however, is good made into sauerkraut or used in pickle recipes, and can then be safely processed in a boiling water-bath canner.

FREEZING CORN-ON-THE-COB

If you have the freezer space, lock some corn-on-the-cob into it for a special treat next winter. Choose the best ears you can find, with plump tender kernels and thin sweet milk. Husk, remove silk, wash, and sort ears according to size. Heat them in boiling water 7 minutes for small ears, 9 minutes for medium ears, and 11 minutes for large ears. Cool the ears of corn promptly and very thoroughly in cold water and then drain. Pack into freezer containers - freezer bags are especially handy for ears of corn. Seal and freeze immediately.

FREEZING PEACHES

These varieties of peaches are good for freezing Comanche, Glohaven, Golden Jubilee, Redhaven, Sunhaven and Elberta. If you buy peaches from a market where they don't know the varieties for sure, they can probably tell you if it's a freestone or clingstone variety. Or cut one open and find out for yourself. Freestone peaches usually make a better frozen product. To keep peaches from darkening, freeze them in a light sugar syrup to which you have added 1/2 teaspoon crystalline ascorbic acid for each quart. If you are freezing them "dry," with or without sugar, add ascorbic acid crystals or powder according to the directions on the package.

FREEZING EGGPLANT

Yes, you can freeze eggplant satisfactorily. Wash, peel, and cut it into slices or cubes. To help keep it from darkening during freezer storage, dip it into a solution of 3 tablespoons of lemon juice to 1 quart of water. Blanch in boiling water for 4 minutes, then cool under cold running water. Dip into lemon-juice-and-water mixture again. Pack eggplant dry in freezer container, leaving 1/2-inch headspace. Another way to freeze eggplant is in your favorite casserole recipe, but don't plan on keeping it for more than 2 months in your freezer.

Traditional good taste Bride's fashions influencing the return of elegant groom

Bridal fashion previews for fall '76 indicate a definite trend favoring extravagant detailing on bridal gowns. The role of the groom in light of this development, says Robert C. Rudolfer, President of After Six, America's largest producer of men's formal, "is that he will assume a more look that's crisply tailored, easy to wear, yet totally contemporary. Complement vs. outshine. "It makes good sense and good taste for the groom and his men to complement the bride and her maids rather than attempt to outshine them. "I recent years," he commented, "with a little urging from the bride-to-be, the groom was ready to experiment with color and fashion. "Formal wear, as our fathers knew it, became passe for the jeans generation marching to the altar and a flamboyant note was certainly in evidence." For fall '76, Rudolfer indicated that After Six was doing more than its share to give the groom the fitting elegance, truly enhancing the bridal party with more than just the good of conservatism in their latest stylings. Formal wear specialists, the men whose primary business is renting "black tie" elegance for special occasions such as weddings indicate that once again After Six is right on target. Unique combination. The fall-winter bride shopping the rentals with her groom will see traditional black, warm deep grey, a lively blue that's not quite navy, chestnut brown, and a brand new shade which Rudolfer calls "celebration Burgundy" - a fitting way to toast the bride. Concluding his statement, covering the latest formal developments for the man-of-the-hour, Rudolfer said, "There are so many great formal ideas available to today's groom, and with all the new fall colors, variation in shirts, ties and vests, the man at the wedding party can literally create an impression that's truly unique and so right. Compatible party. "And best of all, they can rent the latest fashion properly fitted so that they look like the men on that wonderful day." After Six was first to champion a totally different style for the groom coordinating the other men in the wedding party color-wise in a compatible style. This fall they advocate as choice for the groom, the "Cordoba," a sleek, trim updated tuxcoat with squared off tails. Flaring peak lapels and collar are framed with matching satin. Trousers to match the coat feature flare bottoms and the traditional satin leg stripe.

... still beautiful... and all the planning, culminating in this day of days, was so worthwhile. She didn't miss a trick - starting with the gown by Alfred Angelo and finally helping him and his best man select the perfect formal by After Six. He wears the streamlined black Cordoba tuxcoat beautifully accented with satin lining on flared peak lapels and collar. Now all that's left for her to do is to toss her posies and steal away for a lovely life together.

Autumn wedding

TOGETHER, THEY'VE PLANNED and made their dream a reality. Her elegant gown by Alfred Angelo was the right choice. And the way he looks in the Camelot, by After Six, is something to remember. The unusual camel shade was the perfect foil for the Autumn flowers carried by her attendants. And the brown velvet trim on lapel, collar and pocket - so adorned so beautifully with the headbands - were by Alfred Angelo. Shirts are modestly ruffled in white or coordinating tones. Color matching ties and sashes for the groom complete the picture. The best man and other men in the party wear the "Seville" in regular one-button tuxedo style. Peak lapels framed with satin echo the groom's outfit. They wear in a satin trimmed vest to add a finishing touch of respectance. And if this is the groom's choice, as well, rather than the tuxcoat, who's to say no! Other popular wedding formal's available now in Cordoba the elegantly simple Camelot, and the Brandswine with brocade inset lapel treatments. In response to queries regarding the wearing of bow-ties during day-time ceremonies, the experts at After Six state unequivocally, "Of course, it's correct, but after all it's your day... do it up in style with flare and dignity and you'll remember it forever."

Kentuckians Should Take Pride In Commonwealth

By Helen Price Stacy

Don't sell Kentucky short. Stand up for Kentucky and speak out for Kentucky. What state has so much to offer to those who live here or those who visit the Commonwealth.

Take pride in Kentucky and Kentucky's heroes and heroines, all the way from Indians to Boone and Kenton and today's people and leaders.

Our state has its famous Bluegrass region, its interesting hills and mountains, its western lands, its southland and its rivers and lakes. Altogether, Kentucky can be many lands and many people, but together it is united into one land and one people.

Strangers stand on tall peaks and look out over the undulating hills, fading from spring green to vistas of mauve and blue on far away horizons. They are awed by the beauty. They stop in our cities and villages and are struck by modern conveniences. They hike in our woodlands and are refreshed. They spend the night in our state parks or private hotels and motels and are rested.

and highway medians neater, cleaner by never being guilty of littering; it is our responsibility as well as anyone's.

Roads are being built and more are being planned. They will bring strangers from many places. Let's clean our house and keep it ready for company. Who knows when Uncle New York or Aunt California will come calling.

Then when the Commonwealth returns the call and someone asks, "Where are you from," you can reply, "I'm from Kentucky and sinfully proud of it."

ENERGY CONSERVATION GRANT AWARDED TO GATEWAY AGENCY

An energy conservation program grant in the amount of $6,690 has been awarded the Gateway Community Services Organization which serves Rowan County.

The energy conservation program will run for three months. It is designed to enable low income individuals and families, including the elderly and poor, to participate in energy conservation programs which will help lessen the impact of the high cost of energy and to reduce energy consumption.

Kentucky's cities are renewing themselves. What riverfront is more handsome than Louisville's? What inner city more lovely than Lexington's Main and Vine Streets? What city park lovelier than the fountain in Painsville and what roadside park more inviting than the one at West Liberty?

Kentucky is action and movement. Yet with all the activity, there are those not unmindful of the need for quiet places, a toning down of noise in town, city and country that tomorrow's children will have it better and healthier than today.

We need to help make our roadsides

Phone Cable Cutting Case Is Postponed

One of the aftermaths of the over seven months General Telephone strike is the pending trial in Boyd Circuit Court of four members of the Communications Workers of America (CWA) charged with cutting phone cables.

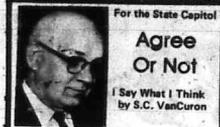

The trial was set for Monday at Catlettsburg, but postponed until Oct. 18.

Postponement was granted on the contention of lawyers for the defendants that certain newspaper headlines might prejudice the jury at this time.

The defendants are Allen Holbrook and Jerry Horton of Rush, Ralph Conley of South Shore and Charles T. Massie, Kitts Hill, O.

They entered pleas of not guilty. The cables were cut Nov. 28 near the intersection of U.S. 60 and I-75 in Boyd County. The specific charge is criminal mischief which carries a maximum prison term of five years.

Louisville Man Selected To Head Film Commission

Gov. Julian Carroll has announced the appointment of Thomas Clark-Todd of Louisville as executive director of the newly established Kentucky Film Commission.

The commission, created by the executive order of Gov. Carroll, is intended to stimulate the use of Kentucky as a location for motion picture production, television locating shooting and advertising filming, according to Development Secretary William L. Short.

"Kentucky has a marvelous potential as a location for many types of film production. We are excited by the possibilities for employment that film production in the state can provide for citizens of the Commonwealth," Short said. The Film Commission will be administered by the Kentucky Development Cabinet.

Clark-Todd holds a degree in Mass communication from Western Kentucky University and is leaving the position of business manager of the Louisville Ballet Company to accept the new directorship, said Short. "We feel that Tom has exceptional qualifications to make the Film Commission a workable, vibrant entity. His experience runs the gamut from motion picture production to live drama production, with Kentucky and his familiar with Kentucky and its attractions for the film industry will prove invaluable."

In addition to his work with the Louisville Ballet, Clark-Todd has been state manager of Actor's Theatre of Louisville, production manager for Mid American Pictures Corporation and assistant production manager for 20th Century Fox. He has been associated with the Kentucky outdoor dramas at Berea and Fort Harrod State Park as public relations director.

Hamburgers the family will go for!

Whether in the backyard or at your favorite picnic site, grilled hamburgers are a popular item on the menu. And for the creative cook, looking for something different, we offer two ideas: Sweet 'N Sour Burgers and Stuffed Grilled Hamburgers.

The burgers are a tastetempting blend of flavors and textures. A zesty sauce is brushed over the Sweet 'N Sour Burgers and served with slices of pineapple and Mandarin orange segments. Whereas, Stuffed Grilled Hamburgers have a barbecue sauce mixed into the meat to blend with the cheese, relish and onion stuffing. Both burgers contain oats, which lock the savory meat juices up inside where they belong.

SWEET 'N SOUR BURGERS

- | | |
|--|---|
| Sauce | Hamburgers |
| 1 tablespoon vegetable oil | 1-1/2 lb. ground beef |
| 1 teaspoon vinegar | 3/4 cup quick or old fashioned oats, uncooked |
| 1 tablespoon prepared mustard | 1/3 cup barbecue sauce |
| 1 tablespoon | 1 egg, beaten |
| Worcestershire sauce | 1-1/4 teaspoons salt |
| 1 tablespoon firmly packed brown sugar | 1-4 teaspoon pepper |
| Dash of cayenne | Mandarin orange segments |
| | Pineapple slices |

For sauce, combine all ingredients, mix well.

For hamburgers, combine all ingredients. Shape to form 6 to 8 patties. Place on rack of broiler pan, or over ash-covered coals on grill about 5 inches from heat. Broil about 7 minutes. Turn, continue cooking about 5 minutes or until desired doneness, brushing frequently with sauce. Serve with orange segments and pineapple slices. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

STUFFED GRILLED HAMBURGERS

- | | |
|---|---|
| 2 lb. ground beef | 1/2 cup shredded mild Cheddar cheese |
| 3/4 cup quick or old fashioned oats, uncooked | 1/4 cup sweet pickle relish, drained |
| 1/3 cup barbecue sauce | 2 tablespoons finely chopped onion |
| 1 egg, beaten | 8 hamburger buns, split and buttered, toasted |
| 1-1/4 teaspoons salt | |
| 1-4 teaspoon oregano | |
- Combine meat, oats, barbecue sauce, egg, salt, pepper and oregano. Shape into sixteen 3-inch patties. Combine cheese, relish and onion. Top 8 patties with a rounded tablespoonful cheese mixture. Cover with remaining patties, press together edges firmly to seal. Place on rack of broiler pan or over ash-covered coals on grill about 5 inches from heat. Broil about 7 minutes. Turn, continue cooking about 5 minutes or until desired doneness. Serve on hamburger buns. Makes 8 servings.

Publisher's Pen...

Day-by-day jot-down, and editorial observations of the publisher of this newspaper.

A 19 year old clerk in a Morehead clothing store apparently furnished the clue that "broke" a major counterfeiting ring.

It happened this way — A girl who identified herself as Ruth A. Vinson presented a $100 travelers check to Steve Goldberg, owner-manager of Stephen's on Morehead's East Main Street.

The traveler's check was on the First National Bank of New York (Citibank), one of the three largest financial institutions in the United States, the others being Bank of America (Americard) and Chase Manhattan (Master Charge).

The woman purchased about $30 worth of merchandise, and was given $70 in currency.

The clerk at Stephen's — Jenny Hough, 19 — noted that the original signature on the traveler's check, as required, was the woman's name: Ruth A. Vinson, using a small 'lower case' instead of a capital A.

Jenny also didn't like the texture of the paper used in the green ink traveler's check. It didn't feel to Jenny like other travelers checks she had handled.

Jenny called these discrepancies to the attention of Goldberg. Mr. Goldberg wrote down the Tennessee license number of the parked car which the girl who had cashed the traveler's check entered along with another girl.

Goldberg telephoned Mrs. Unadell Eldridge at T&E Jewelry, and found that store had also accepted a $100 traveler's check. Mrs. Eldridge then started checking and learned that a $100 traveler's check had been cashed at Martin's Department Store.

Different names were used on each of the traveler's checks.

One call was made to Deane's Jewelry, but the women had not "hit" that establishment. Norman Tant of that store reasoned that every place of business on Main Street was a target.

Goldberg located the car with the Tennessee plates and blocked it in with his own automobile. Morehead police and State Police were summoned.

Tant, accompanied by the T&E employee who accepted one of the traveler's checks, decided to visit neighborhood stores, and Tant detected their next probable "hit" would be Hobbs.

Sure enough the two women were in Hobbs to buy about $15 worth of merchandise and offer a $100 traveler's check. Tant said: "you're both under citizen's arrest."

One of the girls, later identified as Shirley Scarberry, 18, broke and ran. She might have set some kind of Olympic record for the first 40 yards, but Tant ran her down in about 100 yards. The other girl was identified as Barbara Petermann, 18. They lived together at 1016-9th Ave. in Huntington, W.Va.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation moved in and three more arrests have been made. They are — Burns Steel, 58, of 482 Boyd Street, Ashland; Howard Adams, 23, Webbville, who escaped from the federal correctional institute at Summit on June 12; and William Beckwith, also of Webbville. The men are charged with passing the counterfeit traveler's checks in Ohio and Kenova, W.Va.

Citibank reported that as many as 300 of the bogus traveler's checks, each in the amount of $100 and all bearing the serial number 620-023-173, had been discovered.

The FBI reported "it is a fairly good job of counterfeiting" but the paper is inferior compared to the genuine travelers checks issued by Citibank.

Investigation continues, but the "key" to breaking the considerable counterfeiting ring was a 19 year old clerk in a Morehead store — Jenny Hough.

Tant said "that gal (Ms. Scarberry) is a good runner . . . and she was hard to hold."

AS MOST of our readers know the Publisher somehow has business each year in Florida when winter hits Kentucky. We have found it easier to cash a personal check than a traveler's check in Florida because of so many counterfeiters. Travelers checks are cashed by most places if the amount is $20 or less . . . $100 ones must go through an electronic check and the business place always takes your picture without you knowing it.

With the new methods of lithographic printing, travelers checks can be counterfeited to look like the original. So can money and there's no telling how many millions of dollars in counterfeit is floating in the nation.

The major problem of the counterfeiter is seeing the right kind of paper. This is also true of mutual tickets at race tracks.

IT MAY BE that the last Olympic games have been held. The problem is people and a world of unrest, uncertainty, deceit, crime and politicians.

A BLIGHT just about ruined all the green bean harvest in this part of Kentucky; and home grown tomatoes are just now ripening on the vine, almost a month late. Maybe crops are bad because people are sinning too much.

Recently we wrote that we'd print in this column the name of the person who gave us the first genuine home-grown, vine-ripened tomato. Well, the first one — a big one, juicy ripe — was handed us by Mary Moore Green of Salt Lick. We're right certain that Mary, loved by everybody, is going to heaven.

Maybe if the Publisher reaches heaven, which could be doubtful or a border-line decision by St. Peter, we can have the year around all the home grown tomato, bacon and lettuce sandwiches off stomach desires. BLT's are our favorite of all foods if the tomatoes are home grown. BLT's with hot house tomatoes are like fodder.

RECENTLY we wrote that a man with a wonderful vocabulary is one who can describe a shapely girl without using his hands. A reader says there's no way to describe an accordion without using the hands. We told the reader that an accordion made pretty music, but a shapely girl could do more things to a man than could an accordion.

A SWARM of bees played havoc at a Cincinnati Reds baseball game while a nation-wide television audience viewed the proceedings. Last month several swarms were detected in Rowan County including one that invaded homes in Forest Hills and another the campus of Morehead State University.

We read that Teddy and Barbara Harris of Norfolk, Va. have the same sticky problem that won't buzz off.

A swarm of bees made their home behind the wall in the Harris family home and recently began zeeing out above the fireplace.

"We discovered it last week after holding a prayer meeting here," Mrs. Harris said. "I have a friend who is convinced it has some kind of religious significance."

The Harris said they discovered the bees about four years ago and despite fireplace heat and smoke the repeated pesticide spraying the intruders wouldn't go away.

"My mother told me jokingly about two years ago that if I didn't get rid of them I would have honey dripping from the ceiling," Mrs. Harris said as a few bees flew across her living room. "I had no idea she would turn out to be right."

The sweet-smelling, light golden brown honey is dripping from between the bricks of the fireplace and the wooden molding surrounding it.

Out of curiosity, Mrs. Harris and her three children tasted it and agree it is better than anything that can be purchased in a store.

Mrs. Harris wants the bees out, but she doesn't want them dead, she said although a few fly around the house, "they never attack unless you bother them first."

"We really didn't want to kill them at all, but now I'm worried about our carpet and the ants that are accumulating from the mess."

THE UNITED STATES will soon mint a dollar coin. You guessed it — the coin will be smaller than today's half-dollar.

OUR LONG-TIME Publisher friend, Larry Stone of the Central City Times-Argus says the next cabinet member should be the Secretary of Sec. He adds that Congress does not like any female on its payroll who cannot lie down on the job.

A LADY in our neighborhood, a registered republican, says that democrat Julian Carroll is a better Governor than she thought he would be. "He took the sales tax off yard and garage sales," she said.

Well, the Department of Revenue did remove this five per cent tax (up to $500 a year) but we'll wager the State didn't collect enough while it was effective to purchase a paper clip.

An acquaintance says it always pays to be honest except when you're reporting income taxes.

HEY THERE, Rubber Duck, the government's going to make it easier for you to warn Ole Buddy about that Smokey behind the billboards.

The Federal Communications Commission has voted to add 17 more channels for citizens band radio users to meet the demands of the growing communications fad.

The new channels, which bring the total available for class D use to 40, become available next January 1.

The CB craze over the past year and a half has brought the number of class D licenses to over 5 million, which spurred the FCC to increase the current 27 channels available for CB fans.

At the same time, the FCC — "acutely aware" of the magnitude of the present television interference problem — is increasing the harmonic radiation suppression requirement for all new class D transmitters to 60 decibels and if that doesn't work it may require filters on the transmitters.

ALTHOUGH it hasn't been publicized, Morehead police are giving many more traffic citations than in the past.

The odds are against you when running a traffic signal, stop sign or speeding. We know, because the violators are complaining and crying on our shoulder.

The Sheriff before the late Rowan County Sheriff Sam Green was to leave office (term expired) the Morehead News printed a feature story about him. Sam said, "Everybody is for strict-law enforcement as long as they're not the culprit, or involved in any manner."

Sheriff Green was murdered in West Morehead at 6 p.m. on Dec. 31 — six hours before his term was to expire. We have often thought about his statement on law violators, published the week before the Morehead News printed Sam's obituary.

THE ABOVE caused us to turn to a "filler" item on hand reciting that a former Chicago politician has been fined a record $13,500 for 943 unpaid parking tickets. The former cop, Anthony Kreiser, 34, could have been fined $23,750 for the tickets, but after plea bargaining, the city agreed that Kreiser could make a down payment of $3,550 on 269 tickets; followed by payments of $275 a month until $13,550 is paid. If he defaults, he will be fined for the 674 tickets.

We darsay there are many Moreheadians who owe several traffic violation tickets. If so, they should be hauled into court and forced to pay up . . . and we'll print the story with their names in the Morehead News.

STRESS of competition for jobs is cited as one cause of the higher suicide rates among men in an article in a recent issue of The Journal of Human Stress.

Women physicians and psychologists have suicide rates three times higher than women in general and as high as the suicide rates of men in their professions. It is concluded that some occupations for women seem to be associated with higher suicide rates than the housewife role.

Moreover three times more men than women actually attempt suicide without killing themselves, according to the article's authors, Ingrid Waldron, PhD, and Susan Johnson, BA.

REGISTRATION was held Monday for the two weeks summer post session at MSU. Enrollment for the fall (biggest) semester starts August 23.

ORCHIDS this issue to the Morehead and Rowan County Jaycees for another successful fair. You'd be amazed how many volunteer men (and women) hours went into this annual event.

A UNIVERSITY of Kentucky law student, Gatewood Galbraith, is getting considerable publicity on his suggestion that the state of Kentucky should organize the Kentucky Marijuana Growers Association.

Galbraith points out that Kentucky soil produces the finest hemp from which marijuana is taken. He also says that marijuana will soon be legalized.

The UK law student, offering to be president of the Kentucky Marijuana Growers Association, made this statement: "Everybody I know smokes marijuana — doctors, lawyers, policemen, workers at IBM, Square D, Trane; at least 70 per cent of the students of the UK campus."

He also claims to have factual evidence that marijuana can be medicinally helpful; and far less harmful than tobacco.

Metniks that UK student Galbraith exaggerates in a "potted" state of mind.

DAY BY DAY we are becoming disenchanted as none of the candidates for President mention the nation's biggest problem of them all — inflation. We have written, and repeat, that the government and big business have become partners (in crime).

THE NUMBER of bankruptcy petitions continues to increase, alarmingly so. A lawyer friend says it's like putting money in your coat and letting your creditors take your pants. The percentage of students who obtain a loan guaranteed by the government for a college education, and after graduation take the bankrupt law exceptionally high. That way, they don't owe anybody.

MAN'S love is a man's life a thing apart: "This woman's whole existence . . . is Byron."

Two Road Contractors Banned From Bidding

Two road contractors have been banned from bidding on state highway construction projects for one year, Transportation Secretary John C. Roberts announced today.

Both Hoover, Inc., of Nashville, Tenn., and Standard Slag Co. of Portsmouth, Ohio, together with any subsidiaries or firms in which their presidents are principals, were barred effective June 28, 1976, Roberts said.

This action followed the two companies' failure to respond to the Kentucky Department of Transportation's KYDOT demand for payment of claims similar to those they had settled earlier with the federal government.

These firms and East Kentucky Paving Corp. of Grayson, and four of their officers, together with Kentucky Road Oiling, Inc. of Lexington were indicted for conspiracy to defraud the United States by a federal grand jury in 1973.

The conspiracy involved bidding on Interstate 64 construction projects in Rowan and Carter counties.

In September 1975, East Kentucky Paving, Hoover, Inc., and Standard Slag entered "no contest" pleas and were fined $10,000 each. Charges against Kentucky Road Oiling and the four individuals were dropped.

The three companies later settled a federal civil suit for damages by payment of $500,000. East Kentucky Paving paid $100,000; Hoover, Inc., $225,000; and Standard Slag, $175,000.

Also the Federal Highway Administration banned them from bidding on Federal-Aid Highway project for three years. This period was later reduced to six months.

On June 28, 1976, KYDOT demanded payment of $35,553.55 from the same companies, under threat of administrative penalty or legal action. That amount was claimed since the Commonwealth's share of interstate construction is 10 per cent. The federal government pays 90 per cent.

"Thus," Roberts explained, "Kentucky is entitled to and demanded a sum equal to one-ninth of the settlement paid Uncle Sam."

On this basis, East Kentucky Paving Corp. was asked for $11,111.11; Hoover, Inc. for $25,000 and Standard Slag Co. for $19,444.44.

East Kentucky Paving responded to this claim with payment of the sum demanded. KYDOT will continue to accept and consider their bids on highway projects, Roberts said.

"Since the other companies, Hoover, Inc., and Standard Slag Company, have not settled these claims, I am compelled to take this action and ban them and their subsidiaries from bidding for a year, as I have advised them. My responsibility to Governor Carroll and the taxpayers of the Commonwealth leaves me no option," Secretary Roberts concluded.

State Officials Issue Warning To Tobacco Growers

A state official has a warning for tobacco growers who are planning to pay someone to spray their tobacco; people who apply pesticides for compensation must be licensed.

Fred Waters, chief of the pesticides office in the Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, said licenses are issued by the state agency after an applicant has fulfilled three requirements:

- + He must pass a written pesticides examination;
- + He must have adequate insurance coverage — $100,000 for public liability and $25,000 for property damage. This insurance has a deductible clause not to exceed $1,000.
- + A commercial applicator must pay a $25 license fee and $10 inspection and approval fee to the state for each piece of equipment used in applying pesticides.

Any employee of a commercial applicator who works directly with the pesticides must pass a written examination and pay a $10 license fee. Further information is available at the pesticides office, division of special programs, Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, Century Shopping Plaza, U.S. 127 South, Frankfort, Ky. 40601, or by calling (502) 564-7274.

Liberated cooks will love freedom found in compact portable oven

The easy way to update the cooking facilities in your kitchen is to add a Turbo-Oven, make it your first, second or only oven. Due to its compact size, weight and swinging door, it can fit on a kitchen counter, on a shelf above the counter or on a cart that can be moved back and forth from family room to kitchen.

To operate, it needs at least four inches of free air space on each side and at least eight inches above the louvers found on the top surface. It operates on an economical 1500 watts so it needs no special household wiring, nor does it require special cooking utensils.

With the Farberware Turbo-Oven it is possible to cook foods faster and easier while using less energy. It roasts meat in two-thirds the time, broils with no turning necessary and bakes picture perfect food.

It works by continuously recirculating heat. Among its features are a removable tempered glass door for full visibility and easy cleaning, a stay-clean coating which continuously cleans itself during normal cooking. Plus a four hour timer program to shut off the oven while signaling that the food is ready.

For a demonstration, visit the houseware department in your large department store.

GET OUT OF THE KITCHEN! No matter how creative a chef one might be, no one likes to waste unnecessary time in the kitchen. There is a way, however, to update your kitchen facilities and give you some more time to yourself. The portable Turbo-Oven makes cooking a breeze - it bakes, broils and roasts to perfection, uses very little energy, cleans itself, and has an automatic timer. It's the latest answer to cook's liberation!

Considered to be one of the ablest lawyers in the Middle Colonies, Richard Stockton accurately foresaw that unless the British yielded, there would be an "obstinate, awful, tremendous war." In 1768 he began a six-year term on the executive council of New Jersey and then sat on the provincial Supreme Court. He spent his spare time, before the war, breeding choice cattle and horses, collecting art objects and expanding his library. He and his wife, a poetess, often entertained quite lavishly in their large mansion. Elected to Congress in June of 1776, he voted for independence and signed the Declaration. After the signing, he rushed home to rescue his wife and children when he learned of the British invasion of the colony. The Stocktons took shelter with friends but were betrayed by Loyalists. In the night Judge Stockton was dragged from bed, brutally treated and thrown into prison - the first signer to be captured. This judge, who had worn the robes of a colonial court, now shivered in a common jail, abused and all but starved. Returning home a little over a year later, he found his furniture and clothing burned, his horses stolen and his library, one of the finest collections in the country, completely destroyed. A servant had betrayed the hiding place of the family silver. The Stockton's, their fortune gone, accepted charity. On top of everything else, he was soon stricken with cancer. He had pledged his fortune and his life to his country - the last hope. He did not live to see the Revolution won as he died a painful death in 1781 at the age of 50.

Field Inspectors Receive Rough-Terrain Vehicles

New rough-terrain vehicles for use in surface mining and reclamation enforcement are being delivered to Kentucky's environmental protection department in Frankfort.

Fifty of the four-wheel drive Blazers will be sent to the seven areas offices of the division of reclamation in the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection. Six vehicles will be assigned to the division of solid waste for use in the field.

John Witt, commissioner of the bureau of natural resources, said approximately 30 of the blue and white vehicles are replacements for older equipment. The remainder are being assigned to the new members of the engineering and inspection staffs in the field.

The vehicles are equipped with two way radios and air conditioning, features the state official said are important to the performance of the employees on the job.

"It is extremely important," Witt said, "that we provide proper equipment for our field inspection people." The vehicle is their "work station" - a mobile office for the inspectors, because they carry their files and supplies with them.

Witt noted some of the benefits of the two-way communications capability of the vehicles. "When our inspectors are at the mining sites," he said, "they may need to talk with their area engineer or other supervisor on some problem they've encountered."

"If they are in another county, say 40 miles away from the area office, it would mean leaving the site to look for a telephone - perhaps several miles away - or, maybe going back to the district office for the information and then having to return to the site on another day. It saves time and money," the commissioner added.

He said the radios can help the state division of forestry whose units are tuned to the same frequency. "Reclamation's field personnel can report forest fires, which may result in these fires being extinguished before they become major problems," Witt said.

New Pretrial Release Program In Operation

Kentucky's new pretrial release program has met with "amazing success" since its inception in mid-June, according to Bill Davis, administrative director of the Office of Judicial Planning.

Because of the lack of a uniform recordkeeping system for the new program, exact statistics are not yet available, but figures show that of all the individuals released under the new bonding system, only 1.87 per cent have failed to appear in court.

That figure represents only nine individuals. Just three of those are believed to be willful non-appearances, according to local pretrial release officers across the state.

The pretrial release program went into effect June 19 as a result of the passage of a bill outlawing commercial bail bonding in Kentucky by the 1976 state legislature. Kentucky became the first state in the nation to pass such a law.

The program allows for the individual courts to determine the proper bond for a defendant and for the defendant to receive a refund of all but 10 per cent of that amount upon appearing in court. As with previous law it also permits judges to release offenders on their own recognizance.

The Commonwealth's commercial bail bonding industry has filed suits testing the constitutionality of the law since its passage. The law is now being taken to the U.S. Supreme Court by the bonding industry.

But judicial planning officials say there is no law on the Kentucky statutes requiring courts to accept bond from commercial bondsmen. They claim, even if the law is determined to be unconstitutional, the courts may still refuse to accept commercial bondsmen's bail and continue to participate in the pretrial release program.

Because of the lack of uniform recordkeeping and in spite of the initial success they have encountered, judicial planning officials are hesitant to draw conclusions on the first month of the program's operation.

The officials, however, have noticed some trends.

Noting a reduction trend in local jails' inmate populations, a report on the program's first month of activity quoted Jefferson County Jailor Howard Kaskulle as saying the inmate population of his facility was currently lower than it had been prior to the establishment of the pretrial release program.

In the report to Davis, Chief Pretrial Services Officer Don C. Paris said of the program's implementation, "In the rural areas of Kentucky, individuals arrested on one day are often arraigned on the next. It has been difficult for the local officers to secure afternooon releases in those instances where the judge knows that the individual's case will be adjudicated the next."

Paris also noted, "A very high percentage of individuals arrested in Kentucky are being released within 12 hours."

State Fair Has Special Rates

The 1976 Kentucky State Fair is adding an extra hour to its special $1.50 per carload hours. Every day except Saturday, Aug. 21, and Sunday, Aug. 22, this low admission price will be in effect from 7 a.m. until noon. That means that any vehicle - car, bus, or whatever - will get in the gate for $1.50, no matter how many people it contains.

Opening day is Youth Day at the Fair, sponsored by the Coca-Cola Bottling Company. Young people 18 years old or younger will pay only 25 cents admission all day. Also on that day, special coupons from cartons of Coke will get you five tickets for Midway rides.

At all other time, admission will be $1.50 per adult and 25 cents for children 12 years old and under, whether the Fair-goer is on foot, in a car, or on a bus.

When ordering tickets for Stadium shows, be sure to order Advance Discount Gate Admission Tickets for $1 saving adults $50 cents at the gate.

The Transit Authority of River City (TARC) will run a special bus to the Fairgrounds during the Fair, August 19-28. The bus will leave from First St. and Market St. every half hour from 7:30 a.m. until midnight, dropping passengers off behind Freedom Hall. Each bus will return a load of passengers from the Fairgrounds to First and Market. Fair-goers will pay regular bus fare.

Once visitors are inside the gates and need to know where to look, they can visit one of the five information booths located on the grounds. Citizens Fidelity Bank will sponsor the new information stations. One will be at the main entrance to Freedom Hall, one at the entrance to each wing, and one each in the lobbies of the new East and West Halls.

The Courier-Journal and Louisville Times will also sponsor an information booth, located in front of Freedom Hall.

Anyone Can Do It

It's easy. Maybe that's why it's getting more and more popular to do banking by mail. Just send us your deposit along with the deposit slip, and we'll send your receipt right back to you the very same day. It's the most convenient way to save going! Even a child could do it! Now don't misunderstand us. We like to see you come in often. But we like to receive mail too. So, on those days when you can't get to us, let the postman lend you a hand. It's just another way for us to serve you better.

Paint Made Available For Kentucky Counties

America's Bicentennial Celebration is winding down now after the furious activities surrounding the Fourth of July, but the Kentucky Historical Events Commission (KHECC) plans to close its operations with a project which will remain to remind us of the significance of our nation's 200th anniversary.

Under the banner "Paint a Smile on Your Hometown," the Bicentennial Commission, as it is popularly called, along with a Louisville-based paint company is making 500 gallons of paint available to each Kentucky's counties to put a new face on buildings and rejuvenate community spirit. According to KHECC Director Lois Mateus, it is hoped that the project will serve as a nucleus for countywide cleanup-paint projects which will also rekindle personal pride in the community and produce a feeling of togetherness and neighborhood spirit lasting well beyond 1976.

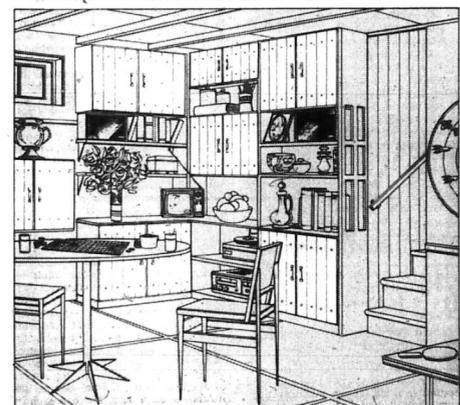

project, said Mateus, including commercial, residential, and public buildings.

"The project is funded by a $40,000 grant from the American Revolution Bicentennial Administration (ARBA) matched by $40,000 in state money. This will be used primarily for the promotion of the project — billboards, newspaper ads and a television commercial featuring Gov. Julian Carroll helping in a painting project in Frankfort, said Mateus. The project is considered a "model project" by ARBA, added Mateus.

"Although we will cease to exist as an agency of state government in December, 1976, we are excited to finish up with a project like this," said Mateus. "Long after we're gone, the effects of this project can serve as reminders of the spirit and goodwill engendered by the Bicentennial celebration as a whole."

Persons interested in the project can contact the commission on their toll-free information line, 800-372-2976.

The exhibits were created by Norris McWhorter, co-author of "The Guinness Book of World Records."

KITCHEN CABINET SYSTEMS, made of beautiful oak wood construction provide family living in a family room, one of 10 room designs by Excel Wood Products Co. Easy to install yourself, the storage units are perfect organizers for recreational equipment.

Kitchen cabinets are moving into every room of the home

Storage space. Everybody needs more. When it comes to storing everyday needs, you should like what the designers at Excel Wood Products Co., Lakewood, N.J., have come up with.

It's the new kitchen cabinet storage system lifestyle you can have built into any room of your home, or if you're handy with tools, can install yourself. And there's something in it for everyone in the family, from mother for her laundry and sewing needs, to dad for his workshop, and the son or daughter who is a budding artist or photographer.

Excel, a manufacturer of kitchen cabinets and bathroom vanities, has put it all together in a series of 10 designs that put fun into room planning whether it be for entertaining or crafts.

For example, to create a sewing room, Excel has an easy answer: attach four door cabinets overhead to the wall, place two door cabinets beneath on the floor, and the counter space in between handles your sewing machine and sewing aids.

These new oak cabinets, in cherry, pecan or walnut, look great in a family room or basement game room. With just seven modular door units you make an arrangement that will provide space for sports equipment, serving sets, and shelf space for the TV and stereo.

The new concept in modular cabinets for the home is the way to go when remodeling. The available features of the cabinet lines are all wood construction, wooden drawers, dovetail joints, ball bearing drawer suspension, mortise and tenon joints and dove-tail assembly as found in the most expensive furniture.

The cabinets and room plans are available nationally through kitchen dealers, home centers, contractors and distributors.

Ann Landers

Copyright - Field Enterprises, Inc.

Dear Ann Landers: A word, please, to the man who said he'd been to dozens of counselors, psychologists and psychiatrists and got no help from any of them. Then he decided that instead of shelling out $40 an hour to a shrink, he might as well take a vacation and have a good time. That's exactly what he did and he said the vacation did more for him than all the therapists put together. My experience was exactly the opposite. When I felt myself cracking up, I, too, thought a vacation was the answer. It wasn't. The scenery was beautiful and the weather was divine, but my problems were still with me. I couldn't run away from them nor could I leave them behind.

Nobody gets help from counseling unless he is ready to accept it. My son went from one therapist to another for 14 years, only because I begged him to (or when the judge made it a condition on his release to my custody). But he never was able to accept help from anyone because he thought he was smarter than all of us put together.

Finally I sought counseling and learned to accept my son the way he was. I also learned how to deal with news when the phone rang in the middle of the night — and it did, often. Our son committed suicide last year. My heart breaks when I think of what he might have been. He was in some ways a genius, but he just wouldn't accept help.

I sought help because my son was tearing my life to pieces. Thank God for my therapist and thank God for you, Ann Landers. Please keep telling people if they can't cope to get counseling. They have nothing to lose and everything to gain — like a life of sanity instead of madness. — I Made It

Dear Friend: When a mother whose child has committed suicide can sign her letter "I Made It," there is no greater testimony for counseling. Thank you for writing.

Dear Ann Landers: Today I took my six-year-old son and his friend to the circus. The auditorium was very crowded. In front of us sat a lady with two preschool boys. When the circus started she told the kids to stand on their seats so they could see better. Of course, my two kids couldn't see a darn thing with them standing right in front. When the man sitting next to me saw how aggravated I was, he tapped the woman on the shoulder and asked her nicely to please tell her kids to sit down.

She gave him a dirty look and told her sons to keep standing. My little boy began to sob, "Mommy, I can't see the clown."

I decided to take matters into my own hands. I got the woman's attention, and in a calm voice I said, "Please tell your kids to sit down." She turned around and yelled, "We paid good money for our tickets and my kids are going to see this circus no matter what!" I hollered back, "We didn't exactly get in free."

Her two boys kept standing and blocked my kids, almost as if on purpose. I am still burned up. What should I have done? Day Ruined. Dear Ruined: You should have sought out an usher and asked HIM to settle it. He would have ordered the woman, under threat of eviction, to cooperate — or found other seats for you and your children.

Rowan Resource Conservation

Thomas C. Marcum
District Conservation Officer
U.S.D.A. Soil Conservation Service

Family farming in the United States is holding its own as the most permanent and dominant influence in America's agriculture.

This view of modern agriculture expressed by Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz was recounted by Soil Conservation Service Administrator R. M. Davis in an editorial in the July issue of "Soil Conservation" magazine.

According to Davis, Butz reports that about 95 percent of all U.S. farms are still family farms and produce about 60 percent of all farm produce sold. The secretary noted that more than 90 percent of the farms are closely held family corporations, rather than large agribusiness firms.

"Family farms continue to be a mainstay of America's agriculture," Butz affirmed. Davis added, "The ability of the family farmer to survive is good news for conservation because the family farmer is also the mainstay of soil and water conservation."

Family farms have been first in conservation since the beginning of the Soil Conservation Service. They organized conservation districts, tried out new agricultural practices, installed conservation measures, and developed and supported soil stewardship in local churches.

"As we mark the 200th anniversary of our country's birth in freedom," Davis said, "we should remember that it was the yeoman farmer, the family farmer, who 'fired the shot heard around the world' and eventually won our independence.

"Now it is the family farmer — and ranger — who keep alive our voluntary program of soil and water conservation — who conserve and improve our basic resources."

Lemon sole, the fish, has nothing to do with lemons, but it may get its name from the Latin word, limus, meaning mud, since it's a fish that stays at the bottom of the water.

PUNCH LINE OF THE WEEK

CHUCKLE COLUMN

Tough Taste
A customer dining out one night cycled the waiter in his table and asked, "Is this tea or coffee?" It tastes like cough medicine. "Well, if it tastes like cough medicine, it must be tea, sir," the waiter replied. "Because our coffee usually tastes like turpentine!"

Wish I Could
A taxi was creeping slowly through rush-hour traffic. The passenger was already late. "Please," he asked the driver, "Can't you go any faster?" "Sure I can," the cabbie replied. "But I'm not allowed to leave the cab."

Wrong Color
A woman driving her car through town stopped for a red light. When the light turned green she just stayed right where she was. After the light had changed several times and her car still hadn't moved, a policeman finally arrived. "What's the problem, lady?" he inquired. "Haven't we got the color you're looking for?"

KO
For nine rounds the fighter had been taking a terrible beating. In his corner before the final bell he murmured between swollen lips: "How am I doing?" His trainer could only reply: "As it stands now, you have to knock this bum out just to get a draw!"

KRC Organizing To Oppose Dams

Although in its infancy, an organization has sprung up in Kentucky determined to stop the construction of many major water impoundments planned by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

And, among their contentions is the treatment of land owners when Cave Run dam, about 10 miles southwest of Morehead, was erected.

Chuck Hoffman, 27, is coordinator for the Kentucky River Coalition (KRC), recently formed with headquarters in Lexington.

Hoffman admits the KRC is small, but he predicts growth and effectiveness to stop the engineers.

He said about a dozen groups opposing dams had joined and 10 others are expected to soon become a part of KRC. He refers to most of the proposed dams as "pork barrel" projects.

The present membership includes: Save Our Red River Committee; Committee of Paint Creek; Citizens Action Committee which opposes the Taylorsville Dam; Friends of Tygarts Creek which doesn't want Kehoe reservoir near Olive Hill; the Environmental Action Society; Land Between the Rivers Committee; Citizens United (Louisville) for Responsible Environmental Solutions; and Northern Kentuckians Against Falmouth Dam.

Hoffman, of Erlanger, got in the battle in 1974 in the Red River controversy. He has also led fights against dams in Illinois.

KRC expects to go to court when necessary, Hoffman said. Basis of the court litigation will be a proper environmental impact study by the engineers.

The Kehoe and Paint Creek dams are in counties adjoining Rowan.

Funeral Home Gets National, State Membership

Northcutt & Son Home for Funerals, Inc., Morehead's newest funeral home, has been accepted for membership by the Kentucky Funeral Directors Association and the National Funeral Directors Association.

The Kentucky Funeral Directors Association has a membership of approximately 400 funeral homes and cooperates with the State Board of Embalmers and Funeral Directors as well as the Kentucky Funeral Directors Burial Association.

Northcutt & Son Home for Funerals, Inc. also is a member of the Kentucky Funeral Directors Burial Association.

HAMMOND HOUSE, EASTVIEW, N.Y., is one of 20 properties selected so far to receive new wood-look roofing, compliments of Certain-teed Corporation's Building Restoration Program. Built in 1719, the house is maintained today to reflect early colonial farm life. George Washington held military meetings here during the Revolutionary War.

Historic buildings re-roofed in shingles that look like wood

The birthplace of Thomas Edison, a Revolutionary War fortress, an Indian fort built by George Washington, a railroad depot, and the home where Daniel Boone planned the first expedition through the Cumberland Gap all have something in common.

Each has been re-roofed with wood-look shingles as part of the Building Restoration Program sponsored nationally by Certain-teed Corporation, Valley Forge, Pa.

Among the 17 historic sites already selected in the ongoing program is Poe Cottage, located in the heart of the Bronx, N.Y. When Edgar Allan Poe lived there in 1846, the entire area was rolling countryside.

Also included in the program are the birthplaces of John and John Quincy Adams, in Quincy, Mass. These historic homes have a new Class A fiber glass roof — as an additional protection from fire.

"We're delighted that we can assist in preserving buildings which reflect our country's social, political and/or economic development," said William Kinsey, vice-president for marketing at Certain-teed. "To be eligible for consideration in the program, sites should be owned by a non-profit organization and be structurally sound," he added. "In addition to being historically significant.

Entries may be submitted to the Certain-teed Restoration Program, P.O. Box 960, Valley Forge, Pa. 19482. Successful candidates will join such historically significant sites as Oakleigh Mansion, Mobile, Ala.; Christ Church, St. Simons, Ga.; the Antoinette Farmhouse, Red Cloud, Neb.; Rittenhouse Village, Philadelphia, Pa.; the King of Prussia Inn, King of Prussia, Pa.; the Geddes-Piper House, Chestertown, Md.; the Hammond House Museum, Eastview, N.Y.; the Honolulu House, Marshall, Mich.; the Porter House, Decorah, Ia.; and the House of the Pilasters, Hannibal, Mo.

Senator Ford Reports Progress On Taxation

The U.S. Senate has been working since June 16 on tax reform legislation, and, according to Kentucky Senator Wendell Ford, progress has been made in the effort to provide a more fair and equitable system of taxation.

"While I am disappointed that stronger provisions regarding the minimum tax and tax shelters have not been adopted, I do feel significant improvements have been made in several areas," Ford said. "Of particular importance are the substantial increase in the tax credit for the elderly, the child care credit, of the tax credit through 1977."

Ford said that he anticipates that the Senate will complete action on the legislation by August 11.

Last week the Senate adopted two amendments which Ford had proposed to the bill.

One of Ford's amendments calls for a study by the Joint Committee on Taxation to compare the tax treatment of individuals who are now classified as married, single or heads of household under the Internal Revenue Code. The study, which is to be completed by September 30, 1977, is to determine if changes are in order to improve tax equity for taxpayers whose marital status and living situations vary.

Ford's other proposal revised a Senate Finance Committee recommendation to prohibit states from imposing taxes on vessels or barges engaged in interstate commerce on the navigable waterways of the United States. Ford's amendment exempts those waterways that lie entirely within the boundaries of a state.

The amendment was introduced after Kentucky Governor Julian Carroll advised Ford that the provision would have a negative impact on Kentucky revenues and could set a precedent for similar tax exemptions for railroads, airlines, buses and trucks involved in interstate commerce.

"A third amendment which Ford offered to allow individuals who retire under state retirement systems, not covered by Social Security, the same exemption allowed individuals who retire under Social Security, was withdrawn after the Senate adopted an expansion of the retirement income credit for the elderly.

"The Committee's recommendation will correct the inequity that now exists and provide retired teachers and federal workers with substantial economic and tax parity with Social Security recipients," Ford said. "This is the first revision to be made in more than 12 years and I have received a commitment from the Committee that adjustments in retirement income credit will be made more frequently in the future to reflect changing economic conditions."

Social Security

By: David Bryan - Ashland District Mgr. For Social Security Information Write: District Social Security Office 1816 Carter Avenue - Ashland, Ky. Phone 325-7666.

People applying for social security disability payments can take security steps to speed action on their claims, according to David Bryan, social security district manager in Ashland. The disabled person's social security number is essential. It is important to complete information about any doctors, hospitals, or clinics that have examined or treated the patient. Dates of visits, addresses, and telephone numbers of all doctors are very helpful.

"Depending on the family situation, we might need the birth certificates and social security numbers of the spouse and children under age 22," Bryan said. "In some instances, we'll need the applicant's birth certificate, his W-2 statement, his tax return if self-employed, and his award certificate if workman's compensation benefits are involved. A call to our office will identify exactly what is needed in a particular situation."

Bryan pointed out that disabled persons should contact social security immediately even if all of the information needed isn't readily available. Disabled claims naturally take longer to process than retirement claims. A careful review of all medical data is needed and, in many instances, additional tests or special examinations must be scheduled. All of this takes time so early filing is very important.

There is a delay built into the law. A person disabled on Christmas day could not receive the first disability check before July 3. But social security wants to be able to issue the check as soon as permitted by law.

Bryan stressed that "Help us to help you" is the motto and goal of social security. Complete and accurate information supplied initially will permit social security to issue the first, and probably badly, needed, check on time.

The Ashland social security office is at 1816 Carter Avenue. The phone number is 325-7666.

Moreheadian's Brother Killed By Chessie Train

Gerald Paynter, 54, brother of Mrs. Dorothy Birchfield of Morehead, was killed almost instantly Saturday morning when hit by a westbound train of the Chessie System in West Olive Hill.

Police said that Dan Baker was with Paynter at the time and apparently was trying to drag him from the track.

The train also hit Baker, and after emergency treatment at St. Claire Medical Center in Morehead, he was taken to University of Kentucky Medical Center. He is in a critical condition, The UK Center reported.

The accident happened around 9:30 Saturday morning. Police said the two men were probably sitting on a rail of the track.

Funeral services for Paynter, whose residence was at Bens Run, were conducted at Olive Hill with burial in Newhall cemetery at Grabn.

Mr. Paynter was born in Carter County on June 1, 1922, son of the late Gordon and Nettie (Lambert) Paynter. Immediate survivors are two sons; two daughters; two sisters; two brothers; and six grandchildren.

"Farm Marketplace" on TV

Garvin Quinn (right), information specialist in radio and television with the Public Information Department of the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture, was the host of a 13-week educational TV series, "Farm Marketplace," seen on Kentucky Educational Television.

Teaching farm marketing Through educational TV

"Down on the farm" the basics of farming has always been producing and then selling the crop—all at the whim and will of the farmer.

Farmers, agribusiness people and others involved or interested in agriculture, were enrolled in the "class," the enrollment being conducted through the county Extension agents over Kentucky.

The proper marketing became more important for the producer to realize the maximum returns.

Marvin Davidson, Todd County Extension agent for agriculture, noted that grain producers in Todd County had paid more attention to the cash and commodity markets in the past two years.

Efforts are being made to poll the persons who enrolled in the course in order to determine the number that participated in the entire series and to obtain their reactions.

To inform the farmer on how to employ marketing know-how to create a louder jingle in his pocket, a series of TV classes was prepared by the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture and aired over Kentucky Educational Television.

Enrollment went far beyond expectations, according to Garvin Quinn, who was the "anchor man" or host on the show. Quinn is an information specialist in radio and television with the Public Information Department of the College of Agriculture.

He noted that more grain producers were entering into cash contracts with elevators in the Todd County area, with some producers beginning to keep track of futures prices.

The Farm Marketplace series had as a specific objective to stimulate interest in the profit picture that can be evolved through the futures market, but not to provide all the information about marketing or futures.

The Farm Marketplace series had as a specific objective to stimulate interest in the profit picture that can be evolved through the futures market, but not to provide all the information about marketing or futures.

The results are still out—but the KET show itself proved to be a hit. It was an entertainment series—rather it was purely an educational feature, designed to teach the farmer how to market his farm's produce to gain the greatest profits.

There were more than 5,000 persons enrolled. Each was sent the materials. In the total packet were worksheets that explained words and phrases for the most part entirely new to the "students" as they were lead into an involved and complicated reality of marketing.

Davidson probably did one of the best jobs of promoting and developing participation in the TV study series.

Group meetings were also reported set up in other counties where UHF reception is poor.

The initial reports reflect the success of the Farm Marketplace series, but that is based only on early returns. What the final pollings reveal will probably determine the development of additional instructional series.

Mountain Parkway Art Show Scheduled Aug. 22

An August Sunday at Natural Bridge State Resort Park in Powell County can be the family's most pleasant outing of the summer. This particular Sunday is Aug. 22 when from 9 a.m. till 5 p.m. the park's Hoedown Island will be the setting for the 11th annual Mountain Parkway Art Show.

There are no art judges, no ribbons and no prizes, but there will be dozens of artists and hundreds of original paintings. The show continues to be a major one for those who collect art and those who enjoy "just looking."

Hoedown Island is little more than a five-minute drive from the Natural Bridge exit of Mountain Parkway. Artists are expected to have their works ready for viewing by 9 a.m. Any artist anywhere may exhibit works in this show, but the rules specify "no crafts." (A special show in October will feature crafts.)

Artists arrange their paintings on easels, tables and bleacher seats so that visitors may walk around to see and study each work. When the island space is filled, works are displayed along the approach area. A number of Kentucky's best-known artists participate in this show.

Sponsors of the event are the Powell County Art Club with cooperation of the Kentucky Department of Parks. Rules established by the art club state that a $2 fee will be charged exhibiting artists but the show is free to the public. Artists are to bring their own easels and tables and must frame or mat all works. In event of rain the exhibit will move to Hemlock Lodge.

Complete vacation facilities are available at the park. The dining room in Hemlock Lodge offers the best food served in beautiful surroundings. Diners can look out window-walls to magnificent scenery. The valley cut by Middle Fork on Red River holds Hoedown Island, a lake and to one side a large swimming pool, all bordered by giant shade trees and craggy mountains.

Guests may enjoy paddle boats on the lake, leisurely walks along wildflower paths, rugged mountain trails to Natural Bridge, hiking an abandoned railroad bed to look from old spikes and other relics, or for those less active but still adventurous, a ride on the chairlift to the great stone arch across the sky.

There are tent and trailer sites with hookup conveniences, picnic tables and charcoal grills, a creek shallow enough for wading and deep enough in spots for fishing, a large lake for serious anglers, horses and riding trails and gift shops made by native artisans.

Surrounded by Daniel Boone National Forest and highlighted by Red River Gorge, Sky Bridge, Rock Bridge and dozens of natural arches threaded by scenic drives, the area is one of interest to almost everyone.

Personnel and sponsors of the annual art show and sale invite you to Hoedown Island on Aug. 22. In addition to checking with the desk clerk at Hemlock Lodge for rooms or cottage accommodations by dialing the free number 1-800-372-2961 (from anywhere in Kentucky), other information about the art show is available from Dena Shepherd, Rt. 1, Box 162, Stanton, Ky., phone 663-7408; or Elmer V. Combs, Rt. 5, Box 278, Winchester, Ky.

Our Fragile Earth

By Dr. Jerry Howell

Director of Environmental Studies, Morehead State University.

The last article discussed a perennially-endangered species, the California condor, and its future which is partially dependent upon man's actions. The condor's warbler is similarly affected by fire.

An inconspicuous bird, Kirtland's warbler breeds only in an 85 - by 100-mile area in the North Central section of Michigan's lower peninsula. Its nesting area is characterized by dry sandy barrens covered with patches of jack pine, a tree of little economic value with thick, scrubby branches from ground level up. The lower peninsula was originally covered by white pine, a highly desirable commercial tree, but these vast forests were cut over or burned by fire. The warbler always present in patches on the peninsula, took over as the dominant species, and was allowed to grow undisturbed because it was of little commercial value.

This should have been beneficial to the bird and ornithologists at the time thought it spelled definite continued survival. However, it was later found that the warbler nested on the ground and had to have jack pine from 6 to 15 feet tall because of the protection offered by trees in this general size class. Trees less than 6 feet grow too far apart and lack the necessary thick lower branches, while trees greater than 15 feet in height have dead lower branches which reduce the available cover.

In the 1870's the area was extensively logged and resultant fires increased the number of desirable nesting trees for the birds. The warbler's population was probably at its greatest from 1890 to 1900. But after the turn of the century, fire was being controlled by various methods and the jack pine began to exceed the desirable size for warbler habitat. The bird's population went into a steady decline and by 1971 there were less than 200 birds left. Before that time, however, the U.S. Forest Service began a program of controlled burning on the area in an attempt at population restoration.

The burn now being done on a rotational system, at least 40 percent of the minimum breeding territory (the area of the birds) are burnt at one time in any given area where the jack pine thickets average higher than fifteen feet. This burning program should insure the bird's survival because the entire area can be maintained with trees in the optimum size class for warbler nesting.

This is a perfect example of how man can help in the fight against animal and plant extinctions.

Mrs. Green Will Head Breath of Life Campaign

Mrs. Ted Greene has been named Morehead Chairman of the Breath of Life Campaign to fight children's lung-damaging diseases.

Mrs. Greene will lead local volunteers in raising funds to support research and programs for children affected by lung-damaging diseases like Cystic Fibrosis, severe asthma chronic bronchitis, and bronchiectasis.

The Breath of Life Week will be Sept. 11-24 with a door-to-door drive scheduled during that time.

Approximately one of every 1,500 babies is born with Cystic Fibrosis, which is incurable. C.F. is inherited when both parents carry the recessive gene for C.F. It is believed that one in twenty persons, or a total of ten million Americans, is a symptomless carrier of this gene. Current research funded by the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation is seeking a practical test to identify these carriers, as well as a cure for C.F. and better methods of treatment for all lung-damaging diseases.

Because of improved treatment developed through research, many C.F. patients are now living into their teens and young adulthood. This same treatment is also beneficial and often curing children suffering from other lung-damaging diseases. Even with this progress, the need of millions of children who struggle to breathe grows larger, and with it the need for more volunteers and more funds.

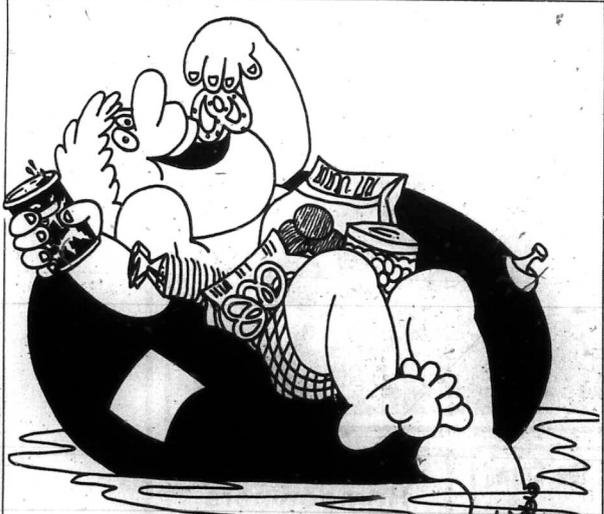

"Everyone can help," said Mrs. Greene. "The job cannot be left solely to dedicated parents of C.F. and lung-damaged children. The cause is great enough to engage the attention and support of men and women everywhere who care about children - and lung disease."

"Most people don't realize that there are millions of children in the U.S. affected by lung-damaging diseases," Mrs. Greene said. "For some of these children breathing is a struggle, rather than the natural function we, who are lucky, take for granted."

The Breath of Life Campaign supports not only research, but diagnosis and treatment of children with lung-damaging diseases in C.F. Centers across the country. There are more than 110 of these Centers, which also provide for educational programs and research.

A LIVELY VINYL WALLCOVERING with a coordinated softie by Imperial brings new life to a dull kitchen with scuffed cabinet fronts. The wallcovering is more fun and a lot cheaper than new cabinet fronts. It's also easier to keep clean than plain painted surfaces, and since both designs are pre-painted, applying them yourself is an easy task.

Some dollars and sense ways to creative improvements

If the idea of taking on a hefty home improvement loan gives you the willies, it's time you learn what today's great wallcoverings can do.

Starting small. Admittedly, a wallcovering cannot stand in for a new roof. But it'll no doubt surprise you how much else it can do.

So before you raise the roof, knock down walls, put in more windows, whatever, check these ideas from the Wallcovering Industry Bureau. They can save you a pretty penny.

Architectural minus into a plus with the pattern power of wallcoverings.

Creative cover-ups. Be it dormer walls, structural beams, or uneven and oddly placed windows that irritate you, they can be handled with a small, all-over design. And if you use matching fabric for curtains, those funny-looking windows will blend right into the wall.

Got too many doors? Make them less conspicuous by covering them to match the walls.

Room too dark? Then bring in the sun with a really bright wallcovering.

Perhaps a daisy-sprinkled pattern. Or a buttercup-yellow shiny vinyl.

Atmosphere. Use color and prominent patterns on all walls if your problem is a too large room. This will "close in" the room. Good design choices: ornate tree-of-life and tapestry designs.

To cool a southern exposure room, consider the icy gleam of silver foil. And bring coziness of a northern exposure room with calico or gingham patterns in dark browns, yellows, orange. Or choose a damask or hooked design.

It's some rich, old-fashioned wallcovering you want something more formal.

Down to earth. Too high ceilings won't look as lofty if you treat them to a dark color or dramatic design. Or trim border at ceiling level, to break the height.

If the ceilings are too low, use a wall design that leads the eye upward. Such as a vertical stripe.

Give an all-white, outdated bath a new lease on life with a fabulous vinyl wallcovering. Go all out with color and pattern in this room where you spend relatively little time.

Vinyl wallcoverings are also a must in an outdated kitchen. They can really banish the kitchen blues. Also consider masking scuffed or dull cabinet fronts with a terrific vinyl pattern.

Cover ugly pipes and ducts to match the walls. They'll "vanish" but the walls right before your eyes. Small patterns are easiest to work with for this purpose.

Dress it up. A chair rail with coordinated wallcoverings above and below will add architectural interest to a plain room.

Decorate it. A mural is super for a windowless room. You can treat yourself to a "view" of Cannes, a mountain lake, wild woods - whatever strikes your fancy.

And DO try to hang them below what ever strikes your fancy.

Mural ideas. Booklets on how to decorate with wallcoverings and how to hang them are available from the Wallcovering Industry Bureau, 1089 Wall Street West, Lynchburg, N.J. 07791. Send $3 cents for postage and handling.

BICENTENNIAL BYRAYS
On August 7, 1776, at Bridgetown, N.J., a large number of military officers and inhabitants met at the court house "where the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution of New Jersey, and the Treason Ordinance were publicly read, and unanimously approved of." After a spirited speech by Dr. Elmer, the Peace Officers' staves, "on which were depicted the King's Coat of Arms, with other ensigns of royalty, were burnt in the street."
