Cranston Congregation Building One Of Finest Rural Churches In Kentucky

A handful of devout church members—four men and twelve women—to be exact—at Cranston decided some months ago that the Cranston Congregation should build a new church building in Eastern Kentucky.

The first move in the church building program was to secure a site and an abey named the Cranston church, was donated by Russell Walt.

It was at first decided to construct a modest building, but the congregation agreed that it would be possible to construct one that would be modern, fire-proof, and would stand for a hundred years or more. Their dream of that church is now fast reaching fulfillment.

The new church is being constructed of native stone which was gathered from the farms in the community, each piece being fitted to the building beautifully with simplicity. They secured the services of Matt and Ted Burdett of Olive Hill, who are recognized as the best stone masons in Eastern Kentucky.

By speaking of the stone work is really getting the story out of sequence. Their first move was to dig a full sized basement which will contain the pews, and the kitchen and Sunday School rooms. Cooking and serving equipment to permit the holding of social events, probably will be installed after the building is completed.

Gardeners Urged To Spray Tomatoes To Halt Blight

By Adrian Razor, County Agent
Much has been said about late blight in tomatoes this year but in spite of this fact, many gardeners have still neglected to spray with any of the prescribed preventatives. There is no real cure for blight, but the method of control is to hit the disease before it hits the tomatoes. The old adage that "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure" is particularly true in this case. The control measures disease has been stated often before, is to spray with one of the fixed coppers, with the object of coating the plants so that the blight germs will not have a chance to get a start.

These coppers are sold under various trade names, among which are Coppeide, C. O. C. S., Copper A, Tri-spray copper, Ten-spray 26, Copper K. These come in concentrated form, mixed with water to form a spray. This means that 2 level tablespoons of con-

My space today is given to Oldham Clarke, eminent Louisville lawyer, who tells us why he thinks a convention should be called to revise our state constitution. The opposition will have its say in a future article. Says Mr. Clarke:

"The question to be decided in November is not whether we shall have a new constitution; it is whether we shall call a convention to recommend changes in the present constitution to the people for approval."

"In order to answer this question it is necessary to determine only two points: (1) Is there need to revise and bring up to date the constitution of 1891?

(2) Is a constitutional convention so dangerous that the people would be better off living with the present defects than running the risk of a convention? "Answering the second point first, the people would elect to the convention 100 delegates whose work could not become effective until approved by the people."

There are other safeguards every proposed change would be thoroughly debated by the convention. These debates would be reported and discussed continuously in the press and on the radio. The people would be informed and the knowledge that the voter has the last word would be a controlling factor in determining the action of the convention."

"What could be more democratic than this? Anyone who believes in the democratic process should approve the calling of a convention whose delegates would be elected for the specific purpose of recommending changes in the constitution."

"If several changes in the constitution are needed, a convention is the only practical and feasible method of working out and submitting the needed changes to the people. There is nothing in the convention process for a democratic people to fear."

"There are many defects in the constitution on which there is almost universal agreement. Among these are:

"Too many elections are required by the present constitution."

"Many state officials must be elected who should be appointed, and they can not succeed themselves in office, even though their experience would be a valuable asset to the state."

"Sixty days every two years is not sufficient time for the Legislature to determine the policy of a $90,000,000.00 annual business. The state was doing a $2,000,000.00 annual business in 1890."

"The sections dealing with corporations should be rewritten. "Many needed consolidations of governmental activities are prevented by the constitution."

"The section relating to the distribution of school funds prevents the development of an efficient program of public education."

"The revenue provisions of the constitution should be revised."

"The low salary limitation should be liberalized so as to permit the payment of adequate salaries to state officers and employees."

"The fee system should be abolished, especially exorbitant fees paid to back tax collectors and this goes hand in hand with the salary limitation, since, under this limitation, it is impossible to employ competent experts on a fulltime basis to do this work."

"Home rule for cities should be authorized by the constitution."

"Many legislative and numerous useless sections should be eliminated."

"The methods provided for amending or revising the constitution should be simplified."

"There are many major defects in our state constitution. A convention is the method provided for revision when numerous changes are needed. A convention is safe and democratic."

The trouble with most conversation is too much of it.

There are at least 10,567 municipalities anxious to "locate" new industries.

TODAY

Your electricity dollar buys twice as much as it did 10 or 12 years ago

TODAY

The overall cost of living is more than double what it was 12 years ago

In the last 12 years we have used

2,979,320

Tons of Kentucky Coal

That is enough to provide 10 tons of coal for every dwelling in four cities the size of Louisville, enough to insure a full year's employment for 2,383 miners, enough to fill 59,587 coal cars whose hauling made thousands of man-days of work for Kentucky railroad employees.

BUT THAT'S ONLY THE BEGINNING!

During those same 12 years

1. We paid $14,216,021 to our stockholders. Of this amount $11,253,882 went to preferred stockholders—5,731 of them Kentuckians. Less than $3,000,000 (about $250,000 a year) went to common stockholders.
2. We spent $15,986,095 for new construction in Kentucky—not counting payroll or regular maintenance.
3. We paid $1,341,720 in employee retirement funds and insurance—voluntary contributions to employee security.
4. We paid $25,294,322 in salaries and wages to our employees. They, in turn, spent most of this locally.
5. We paid $20,457,092.61 in Taxes Federal, $11,412,090.85; City-County-Schools, $6,607,143.87; State, $2,437,857.89.

The dollars and cents story told by these figures does not begin to show the value of industry to Kentucky. The real story should be told in terms of human values—of employment, of the schools, roads, and state institutions made possible through the taxes paid by Kentucky industries and their employees. In addition to these millions of dollars poured into the economic life of Kentucky, we have also contributed, through electricity, to the comfort and conveniences of our fellow men. Because of these accumulative benefits, the governing bodies of our state should encourage and help the growth and development of Kentucky's tax-paying industries.

Walter J. Bailey Announces for Re-election

TO THE VOTERS OF BATH AND ROWAN COUNTIES:

I hereby respectfully announce as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Representative for this District. Having represented this District at three previous sessions, I feel that I am well qualified to fill the office.

In order for a Representative to render efficient service to his constituents he should be familiar with parliamentary laws and the Constitution of the State, and be able to express himself in an able and forceful manner.

If I am re-elected a member of the House, it shall be my purpose to work in harmony with the members of both major parties as well as with whatever administration is in power.

I find the citizens of Kentucky as a whole are not interested in factional fights, in which the leaders of the two parties are now engaged.

Rather, they are interested in the solution of many post-war subjects as to whether Kentucky is going forward or backward.

It is hardly necessary for me to say that I favor laws and appropriations for the advancement of our education system, our highways and agriculture department. An increased appropriation sufficient to pay the school teachers of the State a decent salary.

If Governor Willis fails to call a special session of the Legislature to increase the salaries of the teachers for the school year of 1947, I will introduce or support a bill, at the regular session of 1948, appropriating a sufficient amount from the surplus that has accumulated in the State Treasury to pay a bonus to the teachers who teach this year.

Several states are providing bonuses for service men of World War II. It is expected that a bill of this nature will be introduced at the 1948 session of the Legislature. It seems to me that the least that could be done by way of expressing appreciation for the service they rendered on the battlefields would be for the State to pay them a bonus and forget about collecting income taxes from the pay they received while fighting for our country.

I favor and will lead every assistance possible to the bringing about of increased pensions for the old age, needy blind, and dependent children.

To keep faith with the people on these policies shall be my sacred purpose and I will put forth every effort to carry them out.

I hope to be able to see all the voters before election day. If I fail to personally contact anyone, I trust you will consider this a personal appeal for your influence and vote.

Respectfully submitted,
WALTER J. BAILEY.

REPUBLICANS! READ!

The True Life Story of Eldon S. Dummitt. The People's Choice for Republican Candidate for Governor
EACH WEEK IN THE ROWAN COUNTY NEWS

PART III

Four years ago the Republican party in Kentucky knew that it had the best chance in a decade to elect a Republican Governor. But only a few knew that the Republican party could elect a complete slate. There were many who wanted to sell the small fry down the river and concentrate on the Governor's race only. Eldon Dummitt, the only newcomer to politics on the state Republican ticket, helped in a very great way to hold the Republican drive for every Republican candidate and the results are known to every voter in Kentucky. He hit the campaign trail and spoke at the little crossroads in the country and the people believed in him and what he said.

The Republican party, in Eldon S. Dummitt as Attorney General has the best legal adviser in the history of the state and whenever the party in power at Frankfort needed a speaker to further the ideals of the Republican party at some public gathering, Eldon S. Dummitt got the call. It goes without saying that Dummitt loves to speak to people and is a natural vote getter among all classes of people. During the four years of his state office, he never once pushed himself as candidate for Governor until he announced without any political ties with party factions that he was going to run for Governor. Everyone in Frankfort had known for years that he was able and popular and could win in November but the practical politicians who make their living at politics did not want to champion him and his platform. The professional politicians tried everything possible to stop him from running but when they found out that the rank and file of Republican voters over the state wanted this progressive man, the far-sighted who put the welfare of the party above personal gains and personal leadership came out in the open for Eldon S. Dummitt as Candidate for Governor. The Republican voter who does not make his living off the Republican party in Kentucky is the little man that has made Eldon S. Dummitt's name the byword for civic leadership and good citizenship. It's a fifty-fifty proposition with Republicans who hold state political jobs and a twenty-to-one with the Republicans who are just interested in good government that Eldon S. Dummitt is the most popular Republican leader in Kentucky and the only Republican candidate who will get the necessary independent Democratic vote to be elected Governor of Kentucky. Never in the history of the state have so many state office holders come out in the open for a candidate who is not the choice of the Governor and the reason is plain and simple. Most of the state office holders have worked with Eldon S. Dummitt at Frankfort and they know him to be progressive as Senator John Sherman Cooper and the best bet Kentucky Republicans ever had to succeed themselves in the Capitol.

(This space donated by friends of Eldon S. Dummitt in Rowan County) sympathetic consideration which you gave to all education bills during the session of the Legislature recently ended.

Much progressive and far-reaching legislation affecting public education was enacted which we feel sure will redound to the benefit of the childhood of Kentucky. We are deeply grateful to you for the part which you played in making this possible.

Very truly yours,

CLOSING OUT TO QUIT THE DEPARTMENT STORE BUSINESS

Rowan County News

Morehead, Kentucky, Thursday, July 17, 1947

SOURDOUGHS, 1947 STYLE ... Everything is an adventure to the young in heart, so these three World War II veterans started out on the royal road to romance which they hope will lead them from Scranton, Pa., to Alaska. And, after all, they might strike gold. Making the trip in a 17-year-old panel truck are (left to right) Bill Spencer, Joseph J. O'Brien and Al Drack. Every one of them is a confirmed optimist.

Gartrell Conducts Campaign Over Kentucky By Plane

Charles H. Gartrell, Ashland, is up in the air—literally—and it is all because of politics. The 33-year-old candidate for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor said he would take to the air next Saturday with speeches in four cities on a cross-state flight. Departing from the standard opening of a speech in a single city, the former director of the Kentucky Aeronautics Commission will leave Ashland at daybreak and fly up the Big Sandy Valley to Pikeville, where he is scheduled to speak at 8:30 a. m. Then to Williamsburg. His second speech will be at Williamsburg at 10 a. m. From there he will fly to Greenville for a talk at 1 p. m.

He will complete his end-to-end trip of the state with a speech at Mayfield at 4 p. m. His flight will take him into or all over Kentucky Congressional districts except the Ninth. And that area is pretty solidly Republican by tradition, anyway. The cities in which he will speak are in the Seventh, Fifth, First and Second.

The other districts over which Gartrell will cross will be bombarded with campaign literature—the Eighth at Carlisle, Sixth at Owenton, Third at Louisville and Fourth at Hardinsburg.

Flaw for C. A. P.

During the early part of the war Gartrell flew six months on submarine patrol duty along the Eastern Seaboard as a member of the Civic Air Patrol. He flew three years for the Navy, testing planes and patrolling the North Atlantic.

Gartrell is a Centre College trustee, former president of the Kentucky Junior Chamber of Commerce, former secretary of the Kentucky Real Estate Association and former president of the Ashland City Council.

Ashland Man Named On Petroleum Board

President J. Howard Marshall of the Ashland Oil and Refining Company is among 15 leading officials of the national petroleum industry appointed by Secretary of the Interior Krug to the nation's military petroleum advisory committee.

Nationally known in the oil business, Mr. Marshall has been in contact with virtually every phase of the industry. He joined Ashland Oil as president late in 1944, but was on leave of absence for several months the following year while he went to Europe as chief counsel for the American delegation to the Allied reparations commission which met in Moscow.

Deadline For Listing Expenses Is July 18

H. T. (Hub) Perdue, Chief Corporation Clerk and Election Clerk, Frankfort, said today that July 18 was the deadline for all candidates to file their pre-primary expense accounts with his office in the State Capitol building. In explaining the statutory provision, Perdue said that some of the candidates would probably forget the date and fail to file their accounts in time and thought a reminder would prohibit them from making this mistake.

The Morehead College Band, Camp, which annually attracts hundreds of musicians from high schools in Kentucky, will be held on the college campus from July 30 to August 21.

"The Kentucky Revised Statutes include a provision pertaining to the expense accounts," Perdue said, "which is Section 122.060, KRS, and states that candidates who filed their nomination papers with the Secretary of State, shall file their pre-primary expense accounts on the 15th day before the primary election."

The 15th day, prior to the primary election this year, will fall on July 18. The Statutes do not provide for any penalty for those who fail to file on time. Perdue explained, "but if everyone files on time, it eliminates confusion in the office and enables the clerk to have their files complete and in order before election time."

Sorrell Says Unions Are Necessary In U. S.

That the preservation of democratic labor unions is necessary for the preservation of democracy was declared recently by Herbert K. Sorrell, president of the Conference of Studio Unions, in an address at the University of Southern California.

"When we lose the democratic labor groups, and we will lose them first, we will lose democracy," Sorrell stated. This contention was upheld by Sorrell when he cited the abolition of the democratic labor unions in Germany. Labor problems there were referred to a single head instead of the compulsory discussion groups as before. ACP

Average Man Can Be Seen Any Place

As long as the trend toward creating a hypothetical "average" man instead of studying the far-reaching differences between individuals continues, we shall continue to deal ineffectively with society, says world-renowned biochemist, Dr. Roger J. Williams, professor of chemistry at the University of Texas. Society is composed of real, not hypothetical individuals.

In the field of personality, Dr. Williams said, not much emphasis should be placed on intelligence quotient tests. Intelligence is not a unitary quality, but a mosaic of separate abilities.

"Science can, if it will, make tremendous contributions to a better understanding of human beings," he said. Satisfactory human relationships must rest upon human understanding. This understanding cannot be fully attained without the utilization of all the tools of science to study real individuals. (ACP)

EMPLOYMENT AT PEAK
An employment peak of 59,000,000 or 1,200,000 higher than ever before, is predicted for 1947, according to the United States Employment Service. The Bureau of Census reports 58,800,000 civilians employed in May, a record, about 300,000 more than in May 1946. If seasonal employment follows its usual trend, there will be about 1,000,000 workers added to the May total, which brings the 1947 figure to its record total. You can't please any individual all of the time and you can't please everybody any time.

Farmer Earle Clements Pledges Real Help For Kentucky Farm People

EARLE CLEMENTS, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor, is a farmer and the son of a farmer. A letter from another Union County farmer, H. R. Norman, Route 4, Morganfield, pays Clements this rare tribute:

"... The first honest-to-goodness farmer to run for Governor in a good many years. He is not only a good farmer, but also a very high-class citizen who has the confidence and respect of all farmers in this county... He is not just a town man who owns a farm. He can do everything there is to do on the average farm, from driving a tractor, operating a cultivator, to succinating a hog.

"The farmers down here elected Earle as County Judge for two terms and he did a particularly good job. He got the county's money troubles straightened out and cut the debt in half. Earle has always been a leader in any movement for improving farm conditions, including soil conservation, Rural Electrification and better breeding for livestock."

Lord,

TEACH US TO PRAY

When Jesus taught His disciples the now familiar words of what we call the Lord's Prayer, He placed in their hands the most powerful spiritual weapon ever devised.

This materialistic age, engrossed as it is in the things that can be touched and seen, but vaguely comprehends the dynamic power of prayer.

PRAYER gives direction to life. There is nowhere a greater waste than in the realm of misdirected human energies.

PRAYER gives perspective. How difficult it is always to give first place in life to those values of first importance, and to treat as trivial things that are really trivial! Yet, earnest sincere prayer helps us do just that.

PRAYER releases spiritual power. It may not always remove the burden or sorrow, but it gives power to bear and overcome.

Nor is prayer just a one-way street in which we ask something of God. One of its principal values is that through reverent listening, we hear God speak to us.

The Church has been called the House of Prayer. And so it is. The one business of the Church is properly to relate the individual to God. And the chief means of achieving this end is Prayer.

When in the right spirit we go to Church, we give God a better chance to speak to us, and we, in turn, may the better talk with Him.

Won't you go to Church this Sunday?

The Church needs you,

YOU need the Church.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sacred reasons why every person should attend and support the Church of his choice. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to Church on Sunday.

Sunday School Lesson

GOD AND HUMAN SUFFERING
International Sunday School Lesson for July 20, 1947

GOLDEN TEXT: "Suffer hardship with me, as a good soldier of Christ Jesus."—II Timothy 3:12
Lesson Text: Job 1: 8; 2: 9-19; 7-10; 42: 1-5; James 5:11.

The Prologue of the Book of Job gives us a scene which takes place in Heaven and tells of a conversation between the Lord God and Satan, who is not pictured here as the evil one but rather as a cynic, who loves the motives of those who love God and try to serve him, insisting that the only motives which rule men are at bottom selfish. As pointed out in our first lesson, God gives Satan permission to try Job, who is described as "a perfect and upright man, one that feareth God, and turneth away from evil."

As a test, every material thing was taken from Job. His herds, his servants, and even his sons and daughters were taken from him. Only his wife was left to him. Job arose, rent his robe and shaved his head (the customary token of great grief) and worshipped God and said: "Naked came out of my mother's womb, and naked I shall return thither: Jehovah gave and Jehovah hath taken away, blessed be the name of Jehovah." The records declare that in all this, Job sinned not, nor charged God foolishly.

A second scene takes place in Heaven between God and Satan. God told Satan that Job "still holdeth fast his integrity, although thou movedst me against him, to destroy him without cause." Satan, while disappointed that his first scheme had not worked, suggested another "Put forth thy hand now, and touch his bone and his flesh, and he will renounce thee to thy face." God replied, "Behold, he is in thy hand; only spare his life."

Thus Job was smitten with boils "from the sole of his foot unto his crown." Job is pictured as sitting outside the town in the heat, scraping off the scum from his skin with a potsherd, a piece of earthenware, and being told by his wife that the limit had been reached, that he should renounce his faith in God, and die. Job's three friends, Eliphaz, Bildad and Zophar, scarcely recognize him, sit for seven days and nights to comfort him, but their words are scant comfort to the troubled man. Instead of comforting him, they reason that Job must have sinned, to be so severely punished. Job protests his innocence and finally exclaims, "Miserable comforters are ye all."

In the words of our printed text, Job cries out, "Behold, I shriek. Violence is in my eyes, and I am forsaken by my friends, his kinsfolk and even by his wife, and realizing that the religion he had known from his youth was not sufficient, Job cries to God to give him a reason for his suffering. In the second section of the 19th chapter, we can see that Job has become more reconciled to his fate, that he knows that God is just and is not blind nor deaf to the pleas of his poor, tortured servant. While he still does not know the pattern to which his suffering adds harmony and beauty, he is sure that God has a meaning and that he will himself one day know and understand.

Thus, Job finds peace in his personal experience with God. He now realizes just what faith is—a willingness to trust where he does not and cannot understand. He declares, "Mine eyes see thee," that is, he has learned enough about God through his experience to justify his faith in him.

Charles Brown has declared, but God does not will anything but good. Suffering to a great extent, is bought on through disobedience or that of another. God can, and often does, however, use the suffering of man to bring that one back to Him. We should remember that, while we cannot altogether escape suffering, we can, with God's help, triumph over it.

Veteran's News

Apply Now, VA Advises

World War II veterans who expect to enter college for the first time this fall under educational provisions of the GI Bill should make application to the Veterans Administration as soon as possible.

VA Branch Office officials in Columbus, Ohio today cited three important steps to be followed by veterans who plan to enter school for the first time, since their release from service:

1. The veteran should go to his nearest VA office, educational institution or one of the various service organizations and obtain VA Form 1500, which is the application for education and training under the GI Bill. VA or the other agencies will assist him in filling out this application.

2. The application, together with a certified or photostatic copy of the veteran's discharge paper, should be sent to the VA regional office having jurisdiction over the territory in which the veteran resides. In Ohio,

Michigan and Kentucky these offices are located in Detroit, Cleveland, Cincinnati and Louisville. If married, the veteran also should submit a county clerk of court copy of his marriage certificate in order to claim additional subsistence allowance for a dependent. The regional office will process the application and determine the amount of education and training to which the veteran is entitled. If qualified, the veteran will receive a certificate of eligibility.

3. The veteran should present the certificate of eligibility to the school or training establishment at the time of his enrollment. The institution will complete the certificate and return it to the appropriate VA regional office, which then may authorize payment of subsistence allowance to the veteran.

Veterans unable to attend larger universities because of overcrowded conditions are advised by VA to check the possibilities of enrollment in smaller colleges where vacancies may be available.

Aid Disabled Vets

A trained staff of social service workers employed by the Veterans Administration determines that hospitalized war veterans are not cast adrift upon their recovery and release from VA hospitals in Ohio, Michigan and Kentucky.

Follow through contact with veterans who have been hospitalized is maintained by social workers from VA or from some appropriate civilian agency. One of the major aims of social service is to prevent cases of relapse and rehospitalization.

When a veteran with a service-connected disability is ready for release from a VA hospital, he is interviewed by a social worker who then notifies the VA regional office nearest the veteran's home. In cases of veterans with non-service connected disabilities the appropriate civilian agency is notified.

Follow through contact then is made to check on the veteran's welfare and to provide him assistance.

Social workers assist veterans who are disabled by injury or disease to adjust difficulties or lack in their social relationships when personal problems are blocking their progress toward health and rehabilitation. Veterans are assisted in using their potential abilities and the medical, vocational rehabilitation and other benefits available to them through the VA community resources.

VA social service activities in Ohio, Michigan and Kentucky are supervised by James W. Grant, Chief of Social Service for the VA's tri-state Branch Office in Columbus, Ohio.

VA now has 92 trained social workers in the three states including 50 in Ohio, 23 in Michigan and 19 in Kentucky. These workers make an average of 7-015 personal contacts with veterans each month.

Extend Deadline

Veterans Administration has announced that the liberal reinstatement privileges now in effect for National Service Life Insurance will be extended to January 1, 1948.

Until this announcement was made, World War II veterans who had let their wartime NSLI term policies lapse for a period of more than three months had only to August 1 to reinstate them without generally having to take a physical examination.

VA said the deadline was extended to give every former policyholder more time to take advantage of picking up his government insurance by simply certifying that he is in as good health as he was at the time of lapse and executing the required application.

Only two monthly premiums must accompany an application for reinstatement of term insurance. During the past five months more than 500,000 vet-
