Dove Hunting Regulations Are Released. Regulations for the hunting and killing of doves in Kentucky will extend from 128,177 to 128,177. The dove hunting season for Kentucky will extend from August 1 to October 30 during which time these birds may be killed from one-half hour before sunrise until sunset. These regulations, released by the Federal Wildlife Service, apply to the dates above, inclusive. The bag limit for a hunter for one day is 10 doves and possession limit at any time is the same, 10. A permit may not have in his possession at any one time more than 10 doves. Mr. Soper points out, but the hunter may keep in his possession 10 birds for 90 days after the season ends or until January 28 in Kentucky. Doves may not be taken with bow and arrow, shotgun, net larger than 18 inches in diameter from the shoulder, but they may be taken with or by means of any automatic lead-loading or hand-operated repeating shot gun capable of holding more than 3 shells, the magazine of which has been fixed or plugged with one piece of metal or wooden filler capable of removal through the loading end of the magazine and chamber combination. Regulations also provide that no person shall permit the taking of doves from or by means, aid or use of an aircraft or automobile of any kind. Mourning doves are not permitted to be taken, directly or indirectly, by means, aid or use of shellfish, snail or uncooked corn, or of wheat or other grain, salt or other feed that has been so deposited, distributed or scattered as to constitute a lure. GI OVERPAYMENTS. The Veterans Administration is trying to collect more than $44,000,000 in overpayments on GI's who were overpaid on one form or another of veterans' benefits. While repayments in June and July are being made, the VA has continued to file statements to establish overpayment allowances to veterans in school on co-job teaching, rate to a new job of $21,128.24 a year involving 400,000 persons on June 30. Overpayments of pensions and disability compensation to 15,500 veterans totalled $1,641,778. News Classified Ads Pay

Morehead Feels Honored

Whether you are a Democrat or a Republican you no doubt properly feel that Earle C. Clements, his campaign manager Tom Underwood, and the Democratic ticket have honored Morehead by selecting this as the site of the official campaign opening.

Morehead will receive a great amount of statewide publicity of a most favorable nature. During the program the name of the city will be in every radio in Kentucky. We will have the privilege of being hosts to some 10 to 15 thousand Kentuckians, most of them leaders in their community.

This will be good, wholesome advertising for Morehead. For one day the eyes of Kentucky will be focused here. Thousands of automobiles and several special motorcades will be passing through our town, and regardless of political affiliations we are all happy to have them.

Morehead, and particularly the local Democratic organization, is charged with a major task. It is mandatory that a satisfactory opening be staged which means considerable undertaking calling for cooperation from all our citizens.

Are You Registered?

It is of more than passing interest to learn that throughout Kentucky there is in progress a concerted campaign to register Kentuckians of voting age so they may vote in the November election. Labor unions, veterans' organizations and civic bodies are cooperating in the movement aimed at awakening citizens' responsibilities in the November and other future elections. That is the way it should be.

If you think there is no need for such an effort, take time for an impromptu poll among your friends and acquaintances. Ask the veteran next door, the young man in the study at church, the fine lady with the nice family of youngsters residing just down the street or road. Ask them if they are registered.

Be prepared for a surprise! Persons who make a study of such things estimate that in Kentucky there are 300,000 eligible men and women, and through failure to register, not even qualified as voters. It is safe to state that in your neighborhood the percentage of such persons is in keeping with the state's high figure. In your survey, you will find that a surprising number of veterans who will have struggled in the battle centers of Europe and Asia, now fail to maintain that interest in the government for which they fought. According to estimates, less than one-third of Kentucky's World War II veterans are registered.

This strange fact is not confined to the young ex-soldier. The Louisville Courier-Journal estimates in the ranks of organized labor, less than 50 per cent of the union membership is registered. And among farmers, businessmen, housewives and other groups, the lack of interest is deplorable.

'Too busy!' Don't want to get mixed up in dirty politics! What's the use.

These and other flimsy excuses attempt to explain why such widespread disregard for the privilege of citizenship exists in our Commonwealth.

While the world today passes through one crisis after another, it is startling to notice that frequently some struggling nation is forced from its last vestige of a democracy to the rule of a conqueror. In many of these countries, the right to vote, if it exists at all, is a mockery. What would those people give for the privilege to select officials of their choice, decided to serve the people who give them power?

And yet, in this nation, where the right of you and your neighbor to select the governing officials of your choice remains unchallenged, we put that right in jeopardy through indifference. That indifference deprives righteous movements of the support of righteous citizens. It permits dangerous theories to go unopposed.

Let us remember that our government is based on the principles of a free election engaged in by an enlightened electorate. And let those who recognize that fact make special effort to urge friends and neighbors to register before September 5 and be ready to vote in the November election.

One must disagree sometimes with a poet. Not WEEK OF SEPT 1st—often, for he is usually right. When William Cullen Bryant said of the Autumn season that "the melancholy days are come, the saddest of the year," we wonder if he did not allow his mood to become affected by the dying things so evident in the fall.

We hate to see the trees give up their array of foliage, the grass wither in weakness, the flowers disappear, and the birds fly off to sunnier lands. But James Whitcomb Riley expressed a happier spirit when he contemplated the Autumn days with "O, it sets my heart a clickin' like the tickin' of a clock, when the frost is on the pumpkin and the fodder's in the shock."

Driving with one hand is dangerous and often ends up in a crash. Some will walk down the aisle—others will be carried.

There will be a lot of traffic on the highways next week-end, with many motorists driving as if they were on emergency calls.

The Appointment Of Elliott County's Sheriff

The good people of neighboring Elliott County are rightfully 'wrought up' over the shooting at Brun Saturday in which their Sheriff Estill Adkins was slain. Sandy Hook citizens are almost unanimous in saying that Mr. Adkins was one of the best sheriffs that the county has ever had, and law enforcement officers of other counties, Federal and state agents, and the Highway Patrol concur in this opinion.

The people of Elliott County correctly feel that they have not only lost a good citizen, but a man that enforced his public duty as he was sworn to do.

The appointment of Mr. Adkin's successor is to be made by the county judge. This official should weigh the qualities of all that could be persuaded to take the position. His selection should be made without thought of particular friendships or personal gain, but for the good of all the people of Elliott County. His political future may well hinge on the choice that is made for Elliott Countians as a whole in honor to those who labor. And that includes virtually every one of us, regardless of class, creed or color.

It should also be noted that indifferent courts and lax juries often contribute to the danger of its peace officials. If, as reports indicate, Mr. Adkins was shot down while properly enforcing the law, no mercy should be shown the offender.

Labor Day 1947

Labor Day is a typically American institution, bearing no resemblance to the "labor days" observed in Europe. It is not a "class" day, drawing distinctions between a downtrodden "lower class" and a thin uppercut of leasured and privileged individuals. It is, instead, a day when the nation as a whole honors to those who labor. And that includes virtually every one of us, regardless of class, creed or color.

This country was founded on the theory that a nation could be welded out of materials from all over the world. The elder nations owed their origin to grouping of various peoples of the same stock or tongue for protective purposes, or to wars of conquest, where a dominant group seized power and assimilated or overlorded minority factions.

Not so America. For the most part this nation was founded on hard work. For it took labor of all kinds to build a nation out of virgin wilderness, to make roads through trackless forests, to cross mighty rivers, to find passes through the snow crowned mountain heights and to subjugate a continent. It was labor that cleared lands, and built townships, clustering around those forebears of civilized life, the church and the schoolhouse.

Our aristocracy has always been made up from those whose work was good, and who by their labor of body and mind made easier and better the paths of those who followed. Our scorn has always been for the idler, for the man who had the advantage of what others had done, without contributing either of hand or brain to the common welfare. The men and women whom we have chosen to honor have been those—no matter from what background—who have worked hard and done most for the common good.

For this reason Labor Day is not a day set apart for any one group but a day which all may celebrate. We have learned that only those things which are earned are enduring, that there is a check for each and every one of us. Knowing this, let us on this Labor Day in the year of our Lord, 1947, rededicate ourselves to the task set before us, and so labor that we may pass on to the next generation a nation better and stronger for our having a hand and toiled therein, and a heritage of accomplishment and spirit to greater tasks and greater accomplishments those who follow.

"Little Below The Knee"

We hasten to commend the "Little Below the Knee" club, reported organized in Dallas, Texas, by thirteen hundred women who are trying to instigate a nation-wide revolt against the proposed long-skirt fashion.

The women make the very sensible argument that if fashion comes longer and well-to-do it will necessitate throwing away entire wardrobes. A more practical observation is made by Mrs. Warren J. Woodard, president of the organization, who insists that the women will wear the skirt on the hem and add "Why should a girl cover up her legs—they may be her best selling point."

The women were advised by the owner of a dress shop to fight the proposed styles. Herman Phillips, the dress seller, pointed out that the world is begging for material to cover its naked back, and there existed no justification for any drastic fashions. "I think the designers and dress industry are trying to get away with murder," he declared, and pointed out that new fashions would not be so tough on the rich and well-to-do but would be a tragedy for the poor little shoppin' girl might be made to feel pitiful and tacky.

The action taken by the women in Dallas should be followed by women in Rowan County and throughout the United States. There is no sensible reason why the dress of women should perpetuate the work of fewer designers and dress makers to junk their wardrobes. Moreover, there is something to the unwillingness of Mrs. Woodard to see girls cover up their "best selling point."

The possibility exists that a mass revolt might prevent the fashion change but, from past experience, the prospects are that the movement, unless generally supported, will be ineffective. Regardless of the wisdom of the attitude of the Dallas women the record demonstrates the fact that American women will follow anything in the name of fashion.

There are still a lot of vacant lots that have become dumping grounds for rubbish. The same is true of vacant minds.

When a pair of 'teen-agers get into a telephone conversation, believe me, the line is dizzy.

We suggest as a program for politicians: More movie, less talkie.

Well folks, with everybody saying the Democrats will win in Kentucky this fall I know something would happen. And now that Messers Tom Underwood and Earle Clements have selected Morehead for the big opening of their campaign it will probably be one catastrophe after another.

Hardly was the primary over and the prognosticators started predicting that the Democrats would win in November when the blight hit us. Not only that but my rheumatic set in and everything started moulding at me.

I took my overcoat from the hanger and it fell apart. Then after being at Dee Fannin's party the night before I thought my new suit was going to come to pieces.

Everything is discouraging in Kentucky, and politics is the reason. I checked my tobacco crop and it is rotting right at the base. One stalk looks pretty good but the rest is just terrible. I would say, at the best, that I have half a crop. They cut my back and I thought I'd think I'll chew the entire crop myself.

The weather has been so hot here in Morehead that people are going around in the most undecent attire that I have ever seen. I've been seeing a lot about this "little below the knee club" but here in Morehead the women seem to have started a "little below the knee" club.

I had to call the State Police to get my wife out of shorts in the middle of the night. I had a full grown woman to run around the house during dog days in shorts when their legs looked like cut sticks.

I don't mind seeing shorts on a girl that is kinda plump. However, I have come to the conclusion that if women don't pay much attention to what I think or do, I tried to keep them from smoking a lot about the smoking cigarettes, but it only made them cut their hair and smoke their fags shorter.

One of these days I am going up Main Street in a suit of day-stripped underwear and I defy Chief-of-Police Ed Hall and officers Robinson, Bowman, and Clyde Whitt to stop me. I Ray White can run around in his underwear so can I.

Bill Sample said he was out without his uppers. It is a sight to see that fellow chew soup.

Bill Carter came from the dentist the other day moaning that he had had all his teeth pulled. I checked with the dentist and found that he had only extracted one tooth. There's one thing you can depend on Bill for—when he gets out he one makes it a whoopee.

Among the hundreds of letters that I receive from my fans was one from Lawrence Johnson of Johnson's Froz-Food Lockers) who is taking rest cure at the Veterans Hospital in Huntington. I think that he, Clint Tolliver and Taylor Young should all be sent home so they can give their rooms to sick people. It is my understanding that they all went to the hospital so they could pay a suitable home of deceased hand gummy.

I'm sending these boys a paper on the subject of the late Lane and T. P. Anderson (our local undertakers) say that if you all will die at the same time they that be on a special time on coffins and shrouds.

ATTENTION: The death rate in Rowan County will be increased two hundred per cent starting next week. County Health Doctor T. A. Evans has a new red car and Francis Caudill will be the new health nurse.

Thanks to Mrs. Holbrook and Mrs. Kinder for the new Shick razor I won at your school's pie supper. I know that I did deserve the honor of being elected the ugliest man, but I do appreciate the razor. And the first one I cut my hair with. I cut their legs with it I'm going to cut the law.

Love is like an evening glow. Seeing America is a good way for Americans to spend their time and money.

One mark of true greatness is the ability to praise others. How great are you?

Last week we marked timber in the Estill County on the divide between the Red River and the Kentucky. The timber to be cut is mainly black and white oak of better than average grade and much of it runs over 20 inches in diameter. It is an excellent limestone site, and the timber is located at the heads of the draws and on the upper benches close to the road.

JACK HICKS During the reconnaissance we found an adjacent area that supported no size timber of marketable size under our marking standards, but did support the best stand of black locust post timber I know of in the District. A few of the larger locusts were cut and brought back to Morehead for construction of fire prevention posters.

We learn with regret that the Alvan Drew school will be closed for the next year. This little Methodist school located on Route 15 at Pine Ridge in Wolfe County has served a most useful function in its bailiwick, not only in an educational capacity but in its services to the needy. The latter work, I understand, will be carried on at least till this coming Christmas.

Our picnic area at Pine Ridge and Sky Bridge are attracting many visitors this summer. It is estimated that between 300 and 400 folks stopped at the Pine Ridge area over July 4th.

Much has been said and written, mostly in unflattering terms about the weather this summer. First it was too cold and now it's too hot, and all the time, it rains. I have just received my copy of the Climatological Data for the Kentucky for the month of July, and it is interesting to learn that the rainfall for that month, amounting to 3.84 inches, is a state average is somewhat below normal. By normal the weather bureau means the average over the last 50-year period, which stands at 4.14 inches. And when we look at the record for our reporting station at Farm-we find it was only 2.66 inches. Well, at least we can say with assurance that there was no drought in Rowan County during 1947.

Assistant Ranger Nietzold and General District Assistant Mauk are working on the telephone lines in this area this week, whipping them into shape for the coming fall fire season which is, despite the current rainy season, not too far around the corner.

Miss Mary Caudill of Columbus, Ohio is spending a week's vacation with her grandmother, Mrs. Clara Robinson.

Miss Mary Caudill of Columbus, Ohio is spending a week's vacation with her brother, Lindsay Caudill and Mrs. Caudill. Miss Caudill is employed at the Ohio State Bank in Columbus.

Mrs. Leslie P. Law (formerly Betty Lee Stevens) underwent an operation for appendicitis, August 20th at the Good Samaritan hospital in Lexington. She returned to her mother's home Sunday evening. She is recovering nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Holbrook of Louisville, were week-end guests of her mother, Mrs. A. W. Young. Mr. Holbrook who is a student in the dental school at the University of Louisville, will graduate on September 20th.

Mrs. J. P. Reynolds of Ashland who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. C. E. Clemmons and family at the Midland Trail hotel for the past few days, was taken suddenly ill Monday night, suffering from a heart attack. Mrs. Clemmons accompanied her to Ashland Tuesday evening and will remain with her until she is better.

Professor and Mrs. C. O. Peratt will leave on September 3 for Laramie, Wyo., where they will visit their daughter, Mrs. Warren Garrison, Mr. Garrison and children. They expect to be gone three or four weeks.

Elwood Hall of Grayson visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hall and family Saturday. His mother has been very ill for the past six weeks but is showing great improvement.

Mrs. Clint Tolliver returned last week from Huntington, W. Va., where she had been with her husband who was taken to the Veterans hospital there on August 4. Mr. Tolliver who was suffering from high blood pressure and complications is improving slowly.

Sue Hamm, the small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Hamm has been in the Ashland hospital for four weeks, but will be able to return home this week.

A daughter, Glens Jean, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Gus Ferguson of Thomas Addition, on August 18.

32 Flying Records Made Since V-J Day

Thirty-two international and national records have been established by the Army Air Force since V-J Day in a program to capture all possible flying records for the AAF.

The program was initiated to put all standard AAF aircraft through a series of set tests to determine the capabilities of first-line weapons in use by AAF units. With the exception of the Lockheed P-40 Shooting Star, all aircraft types used in the record flights had been flown in actual combat by the AAF.

Other types of aircraft included the Boeing B-29 Superfortress, Douglas A-26 Invader, and the Sikorski HO4S helicopter.

Most of the international records had been held by other nations such as France, Italy, Russia, and Germany. The U. S. national records all had been held by either experimental military aircraft or by specially designed civilian types.

This program is the first planned attempt to capture the majority of the more important records using standard military aircraft. The AAF has purposely avoided the use of new or experimental airplanes in the program in order to determine a comparative quality of its standard equipment.

Since the program was inaugurated, the AAF has accepted delivery of a number of new aircraft such as the Convair B-36 and the Douglas C-74 which are capable of even greater performance.

Of the records now held by the AAF, 24 existing international and three U. S. national records were broken. Four international records were established, and one record, the helicopter flight duration, was broken twice by AAF pilots.

Besides these officially recognized records, the AAF also has established a number of unofficial records. In a report among these was the flight of the "Betty Jo" a North American P-51, which flew non-stop from Hawaii to New York last February. Another was the speed run last fall, by a Republic P-47 Thunderjet fighter, which flew at 619 miles an hour, three miles an hour faster than the official speed record set by a British jet fighter. An existing speed record must be exceeded by at least 5 miles an hour to become an official record.

Another unofficial record was the pioneering flight of the Pacusan Dreamboat over the Polar wastes. The giant Boeing B-29 Superfortress, piloted by Colonel Clarence S. Irvine, flew from Hawaii to Cairo over the new route in 39 hours and 36 minutes last October. While the Pacusan Dreamboat's flight broke no distance record, it provided the AAF with invaluable data for use by the very long-range bombers of the future.

Requirements for enlistments here are the principal requirements you must meet for enlistment. States Sgt. Martin of the local recruiting station here in Morehead. They change a little from time to time, so be sure to talk them over with the recruiting sergeant. He has the latest information.

Age—17 to 34 (inclusive) if a minor, you must have a written consent from your parents or guardian. Those men with previous service who are 34 years or older are eligible of their previous service places them in the age group.

Physical—You must pass a physical examination to show that you meet the required standards and that you are in sound health. Education—while the army prefers high school graduates there are no specific educational requirements. You will take a test to show your ability to read, write and think clearly.

Character—the new Regular Army wants men of good character. Men without police records. Marriage—yes, married men you are eligible for enlistment or re-enlistment if you can pass the physical and classification test regardless of how many dependents you may have. Family allowances are still the same. States Sgt. Martin, for further and the latest information concerning the new peace time regular army step up at the Recruiting Station and talk it over with the Recruiting Sergeant on duty.

458 Enrolled At Ashland For Vet Training

A total of 458 establishments has been approved for veterans on-the-job training in Rowan and six other counties served by the Ashland Vocational School, according to an announcement made by George Mason, director of the school. Seventy-one veterans are currently enrolled at the school.

Mr. Mason in discussing the service of the Ashland Vocational School, stated that his school had been assigned the task of in-speaking and supervising all on-the-job programs for veterans in the seven counties, including apprenticeable trades.

Standards for such apprentice training must be registered with the State or Federal apprentice training service before any establishments can be approved to offer apprentice training on the job.

Final approval of applications of establishments that desire to offer on-the-job training to veterans will be made by the State Department of Education at Frankfort.

Kentucky's 12 area trade schools, of which the Ashland Vocational School is one, now have approximately 1,800 veterans enrolled in trade training courses in the schools.

Persons of Rowan county who desire information about the services being offered by the Ashland Vocational School should write to George Mason, Director of the Ashland Vocational School at Ashland, Ky.

For the school youngster there is nothing better than pleated skirts and boxy jackets.

Warm blouses and thin blouses can be worn with the same skirt. Corduroy is a good material for hard wear and plaid worsteds are most attractive.

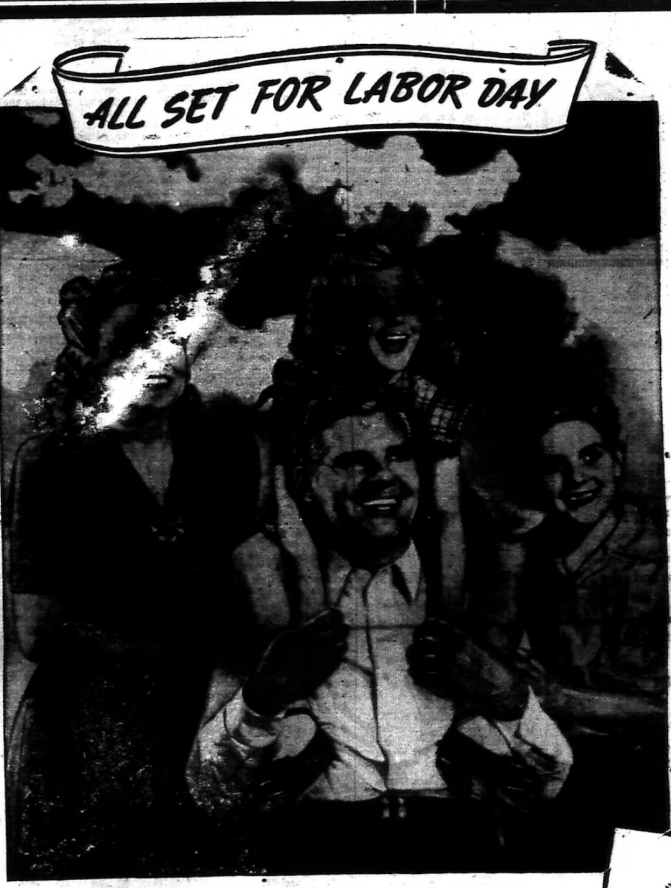

Youngsters like the big coat with the fullness to the back as their mothers do.

If anybody can make a move that insure peace for the world, the people will be thankful.

The world would be no worse off if some of the jokes we have heard were lost to future generations.

Well, here we are, folks! The greatest group in America—the family! Along with millions of other families, we constitute the backbone of American life. We are America—America at her best!

We are all set to celebrate Labor Day—a holiday set aside by our government to emphasize the dignity and importance of labor as the basis of our national and individual prosperity.

We till the soil, man the shops and factories and offices, build the homes, support the schools and churches, and aim to have the best government and greatest freedom of any nation on earth. And that is just what we have.

In any period of national crisis, in war or peace, the government turns to us—the homes of America—the families and workers of America—and we never fail.

For our homes and our families are built on faith—faith in God's power and providence in human life. Our churches inspire us to live uprightly, to be happy and hopeful, and to build that most blessed of all institutions—the American home.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without it we can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church on Sunday and read your Bible daily.

Peoples Bank of Morehead Observes 40th Anniversary

Institution One Of Strongest In Eastern Kentucky; Has Contributed To Morehead's Progress

In the summer of 1906, under the shade of a friendly apple tree at Wagner, in Rowan County, there was formulated an idea that has resulted in one of Eastern Kentucky's strongest financial institutions. It was a reunion of the Caudill family, and on that day there was laid the plans for the Peoples Bank of Morehead which observes this year its 40th anniversary.

This group, with Abel Caudill, a progressive farmer of Rowan County, acting as the guiding light, envisioned that Morehead would grow and prosper. Little, however, did they realize that they were laying the cornerstone of a bank that has grown to 2 1/2 million dollars in resources. They perhaps realized that their efforts toward their money and effort toward business that would be a moving factor in the growth and prosperity of Morehead and Rowan County and this section of Kentucky, but it is doubtful if any one at that time could foresee an institution as large as the Peoples Bank of Morehead is 40 years later.

Saw Morehead Grow

During its 40 years of service this bank has seen Morehead develop from a cross-roads village to one of Eastern Kentucky's most thriving cities. It has been an era that dated to dirt streets and kerosene lamps; from a few scattered homes and business places; from the time when Morehead was best known as a "getting off place on the Chesapeake and Ohio" and on to the old Morehead and North Fork Railway.

With each passing year as Morehead grew in population and prosperity; as it passed from the mud to paved streets and from kerosene lights to modern electric ones; and as utilities the Peoples Bank expanded in service and enhanced its financial resources. Much of Morehead's progress can be attributed to the fact that the city had a bank whose soundness and integrity was never questioned, and which was able to lend financial assistance to the budding growth of the community.

Following the Wagner reunion a meeting was held at Morehead on September 25, 1906 and 17 persons, which included Abel Caudill and all of his sons, met and subscribed $30,000, which was divided into 200 shares of $100 each. (See copy of stock subscription list printed on this page.)

Yesterday - Today - Tomorrow

The Peoples Bank of Morehead has completed its fortieth year of service to this community, and as the bank looks over the panorama of events along the trail which lies behind us, we know that it has been a real journey.

In the forty year interval since this bank was organized—a period which has divided into both the heights of prosperity and the depths of depression. But through it all the development of this bank has gone faithfully on. That is the big fact in which we take most pride today.

This is a community bank. Through our doors passes the varied business and financial activity of this section. The bank's man, the home owner, the wage earner, need and use the facilities which we provide. We have made many good friends who have been loyal to us, and recollections of their kindness and cooperation fill our anniversary thoughts.

With all these things in mind, we are happy to feel that we start another year, and this bank is strong not only in financial assets, but in no less vital important human assets of good will and confidence. Upon this foundation we have built a bank which we trust will be of increasing usefulness to you and this community in the years ahead—From June 30, 1947 Financial Statement.

Modern Features Of Banking Installed

The Peoples Bank will open its night depository this week. This enables depositors, principally merchants who do considerable business after banking hours, to make their deposits. All deposits made in this manner are fully insured, President C. P. Caudill said.

In addition to this service the bank has installed additional safety deposit boxes, a Recordak system that photographs all checks, deposits and transactions and a banking-mail service. There will be a new Christmas Savings Club in December.

Equipment is also being installed now for recording deposits and withdrawals at the counter by machine, thereby eliminating errors.

Officially opened its doors on January 1, 1907.

The bank was located in the Peoples Hotel Building on Railroad Street in what was then the principal business section of the town. F. P. Webster was elected as its first president. Abel Caudill was vice-president, and D. B. Caudill, the cashier.

Besides the above officers, other original stockholders were: S. M. and Hiram Bradley, H. H. Caudill, D. G. Bales, J. N. Caudill, C. L. Clayton, S. M. Caudill, Charles E. Caudill, John T. Caudill, Ben T. Head, C. P. Caudill, H. H. Lewis, G. W. Caudill and W. C. Caudill.

During the 40 years of service the growth of the bank has been principally under the guidance of the Caudill family. In the depression years when many banks had to close their doors, the Peoples Bank not only remained open but continued to grow in Kentucky, but showed increases in resources in the leanest years the nation has ever seen.

The history and progress of this section can be gauged by the Peoples Bank. No factor has been more important and contributory to its development along both commercial and civic lines.

Seven Presidents

Seven men have served as President of this bank and four have filled the capacity as cashier. Mr. Webster, the first president, was succeeded by W. Clayton, who in turn was replaced by Abel Caudill. Mr. Caudill served as president for one year and was succeeded by P. Blair. He served one term and then Abel Caudill was re-elected serving until the time of his death in 1925. At his death he was succeeded by his son, Judge D. B. Caudill. In 1932 he was succeeded by a brother, Dave C. Caudill, who remained as president until 1937, when another son of Abel Caudill, Mr. C. P. Caudill assumed the presidency.

The management of the bank has wisely combined experience with youth. Behind the counter each day serving the people are President C. P. Caudill and Vice-Presidents D. C. Caudill and H. H. Lacy. They are personally known by nearly every Rowan County man. They are assisted by Roy C. Caudill, Cashier, and J. Roger Caudill, Assistant Cashier. Upon the shoulders of these two popular and capable young men rests the routine management of this two and one-half million dollar institution.

The Board of Directors is composed of C. P. Caudill, J. Roger Caudill, S. M. Caudill, D. C. Caudill, Roy C. Caudill, H. H. Lacy, and Maxine C. Collins. Other bank personnel includes Thelma Litton, Wynema Sargent and Ruth Moore, who are bookkeepers.

Growth Charted

An idea of the growth of the Peoples Bank may be gleaned from the two financial statements reproduced on this page. On December 31, 1909, three years after its opening the bank had total resources of $7,668.55. On June 30 of this year they were $2,512,428.33.

An example of the steady and sound advancement of the Peoples Bank may be gathered from these figures: At the end of the first year of business resources were $15,854.28; at the end of 10 years $116,060.26; after 20 years of business, $485,547.53; and within 30 years $810,771.39.

The Peoples Bank kept its

Since 1937 Mr. C. P. Caudill has been President of the Peoples Bank of Morehead. He likes to tell that his first job was as a school teacher in Rowan County. After teaching school one year he attended Indiana University where he was then at Valparaiso, where he graduated in 1905. Following his graduation he took a job as bookkeeper for J. H. Strickland and Company, dealers in ties and lumber. In 1912 he became President and General Manager of the Caudill-Blair Wholesale Company in Morehead. He is a former president of the Rowan County Sunday School Association and is a Steward and Adult Superintendent of the Methodist Church in Morehead.

Dean of Rowan County bankers and widely known throughout Kentucky is D. C. Caudill. He started in the banking business at the old Bank of Morehead in 1905 as assistant cashier with M. F. Davis, cashier. He has been connected with the Peoples Bank of Morehead for 23 years in the capacity of cashier, president and vice-president and is a leading factor in its growth. He was treasurer of the Kentucky Bankers Association in 1939; Rowan County treasurer many years; chairman draft board, and president of the Rowan County Farm Bureau. He is a member of the Board of Trade and has always been active in civic and community affairs.

quarters on Railroad Street until November 1937 when they constructed a modern, fireproof structure on Main Street in the heart of the business section. This building embodies all features of a complete banking structure, with reception rooms and Board of Directors meeting place.

"Today our eyes and ideals are focused on the future of Morehead and especially on the Peoples Bank of tomorrow"—these are the opening words in the 40th annual statement of the bank. It is fitting that the officers use this phrase for this optimism, combined with good sound business practices, has spelled success for the Peoples Bank and from its well-being there has emanated a service that has meant prosperity to its customers, which, in turn is reflected in the growth of Morehead and Rowan County.

"Alert to the responsibilities imposed on us by Morehead's rapid business and industrial development, "the anniversary statement continues, "We shall continue to provide this community with complete modern banking service, progressively attuned to its expanding needs."

The 1934 Historical Edition of the Morehead Independent very aptly and appropriately spoke of the Peoples Bank of Morehead in these words—"Not alone has this institution been a veritable bulwark of financial ease and progress, but it has been equally a prime factor in the agricultural, commercial and civic advancement of the entire county of Rowan. Its officers and directors are all men whose individual careers have been marked with progress and whose lives are symbolic of the best public spirit—men who are ever ready to give of their time and means and place the facilities and efforts of their organization at the command of any worthy program designed for the best welfare and progress of Morehead and Rowan County."

For Your Future Welfare . . . Here's How—

During the last 12 years, while Kentucky Utilities Company was bringing the cost of electricity down and down to where you now get twice as much for your money, it was also bringing additional benefits to Kentucky.

of K. U.'s income was poured into the economic structure of our state and nation.

Into Kentucky—for its homes and schools, its roads and bridges, its playgrounds, parks and civic functions—we paid:

- $25,294,322 in salaries and wages to employees—and they in turn spent much of it locally!
$14,216,021 to our owners: Preferred stockholders, 5,731 of whom live in Kentucky, got $11,253,882; Common stock holders got $2,962,139.
$15,986,095 for new construction in Kentucky—

- not counting payroll or regular maintenance.
$20,457,092 in local, state, and federal taxes.
$1,341,720 in retirement funds and insurance—voluntary contributions to employee welfare.
In addition, we used 2,979,320 tons of Kentucky coal—hundreds of thousands of man days of work for Kentucky miners and railway employees.

During that same period, we have saved the people of Kentucky $15,648,887 by permanent reductions in electric rates. This figure would be even higher if the tremendous increase in the use of electricity during these years was included.

We believe these figures will show that our company is one of the state's important industrial assets. Not only our industry, but all tax-paying, business-managed, job-providing industries deserve fair play and encouragement from all the people.
