

Brown Will Face Trial Third Time

Trial Of Elliottville Man, Accused Of Murder, Scheduled Friday

Orells Brown of Elliottville will face trial for the third time Friday, May 23, on charges that he killed Edward Johnson and Junior Rowe.

At the two previous hearings of this case a hung jury resulted. The Commonwealth alleged that Brown, wearing a paper bag over his head with holes cut for eyes, entered Johnson's General Store near Elliottville and killed him and Rowe with a double barreled shotgun. Brown has denied the at the two previous trials that he was the assassin.

Circuit Judge John J. Winn has under consideration a motion of the Commonwealth that the court be believed it was impossible to secure a jury to try that had not already heard about the murders and had probably formed an opinion.

It is a well known fact that five years ago we discontinued the manufacture and sale of Cochran House Paint. Our reason for doing this was that due to the war shortages we could not manufacture a high grade paint such as Cochran House Paint label on what has become commonly known as a "War House Paint."

The war has been over for several years, but up to this time it has been impossible to get the necessary raw materials to manufacture Cochran House Paint. We are getting the raw materials now and we are again manufacturing and offering Cochran House Paint for sale.

It has been a long time since the general public has been able to purchase a pre-war high grade house paint, with few exceptions, and it will be a revelation to almost anyone to see and use Cochran House Paint.

Cochran House Paint will do everything expected of a high grade house paint. It has the hiding power, easy brushing qualities and will wear as long as could be rightly expected of a high grade house paint.

By withdrawing Cochran House Paint from the market — our largest selling product — for a period of over 10 years, because we could not manufacture a house paint up to the Cochran standard, we believe that we have proven beyond the slightest question of a doubt that the name Cochran on a paint label really means something and that something is quality.

Physical Education Department Creates Basketball Clinic

Laughlin Says Type Of Defense Depends Upon Players

Former students who are now coaching in high schools throughout Eastern Kentucky were invited to the first basketball clinic of its kind here May 19-20. Friday night, April 30 by Coach Ellis Johnson.

Mr. Johnson commented on the fact that the Physical Education Department had expanded considerably since its adoption 24 years ago and is now one of the largest departments in our school.

All physical education majors and minors were required to attend the lectures and demonstrations. The Morehead varsity hoopers gave demonstrations along with several high school players who were asked to come to the initial clinic sessions. Even some of the junior high boys took part Saturday morning to prove that the new system was not as difficult as it first looked. These youngsters went through their maneuvers as clever as the varsity.

Referring to the zone and man-to-man types of defense, Coach Bobby Laughlin said he "wouldn't attempt to say which of these defenses was the better one, because it depends on the type of players you are working with. Usually when you have a small, fast team you can play the man-to-man very well, but if you have a slow, awkward team you'll usually employ one zone. Of course, there are many other factors to consider too."

Rajah vs. Referees
Coach Stanley Radjanes explained to his audience that "while most of the fans today are well up on the rules of basketball, they are about five years behind in some of the more up to date changes. Quite often you will hear fans yell to the officials that a player went 'over and back' when actually he (the player) was standing with one foot in each court pivoting on the rear foot, drawing only the forward foot back over the line dividing the courts. Both feet must be past the center line before the referee can legally call an 'over and back' decision." Coach Radjanes also stated that referees—even good ones—miss an average of one technicality each game in regard to one phase of the traveling rule. He said, "If a man falls down with the ball and slides, he is guilty of traveling; if he falls down (and doesn't slide) and then gets up on his feet he is also traveling." The referee's interpretation of this rule gives up a considerable amount of trouble last season or more than one occasion.

Program Outlined
The week-end program was listed as follows:
Friday, April 30—7 to 8 p. m., demonstrations of offense used at Morehead. From 8 to 9 p. m., there was a scrimmage session. After the scrimmage there were refreshments.

Saturday morning, May 1—8 to 8:30 p. m. rules discussion; 8:30 to 9, zone defense; 9:30 to 10, fundamental demonstrations; 10 to 10:30, fast break offense; 10:30 to 12, scrimmage; 1 to 1:30, football demonstration of offense used at Morehead.

Coach Johnson expressed his desire to make the clinic an annual affair at Morehead. There were about 26 former students present. They were Ralph Musman, Covington, Jim Caudill, Louisville; Tony Salvato, Louisville; Paul Adams, Cincinnati; Fred Johnson, Russell; Dick Tyler, Boyd County; Buster Cartee, Olive Hill, Don Fair, Flemingsburg; T. B. Rose, Caplesville, Denver, Ball, Russell; Jimmy Rose, Paris; LeRoy Osenton, Middlesboro; Syd Mead, Flat Gap; Estill Hall, McDowell; Glenn Anderson, Cannel City; Ralph Holbrook, Jackson; Steve Sagerdy, Baccala; Len Steiner, Owingsville; Berle Kincaid, Bethel; Clyde Phelps, Van Lear; Duerson Barnes, Camargo; Ray Justice, Fort Gay, W. Va.; Walter Hambrick, Warsaw; and James Daner, Halesman.

moved along as it should. C. G. Holt is secretary-treasurer. All Charles had to do was put the trial on and he did it in such a way that he made it look easy. He is a hard working member and everything clicked so smoothly that it is hard to believe that one man could do a job of this magnitude with so much ease. Charles Holt has had many years of experience, and the way this trial was conducted certainly is a credit to the Club.

"The drawing took place at the Court House Inn on March 28. The small dining room was packed with owners, handlers and spectators. Secretary Holt called out the brace-by-brace pairings. He was ably assisted in the drawing by Mrs. A. Fox of Cincinnati. Along with the duties of taking entries and preparing them for the drawing, she also furnished the judges and your scribe complete programs for the three stakes."

"Headquarters was at the Court House Inn, owned by A. M. Cline. Mr. Cline certainly is a pleasant host, making everyone feel at home. I am sure everyone enjoyed the well-cooked food at the Inn, which was served old-fashioned style and with plenty of trimmings."

"The weather was almost ideal. We had a few showers, but they did not have any bearing on the running other than on one horse of puppy. What rain we did have made the going a little tough on the horses."

"Everyone appreciated the wonderful cooperation of the State Park officials. Harry Downey, Park Supt., was ever ready to see that all necessary feed, hay, etc., were on hand at all times when needed. The barns have 16 large dog sties, and accommodations for 200 dogs. To me, this set-up is ideal. No charge has ever been made for the use of these buildings, and they are steadily improving them. The many accommodations Harry Downey provided owners and handlers will be long remembered."

"The judges for the event were Lee Hufelshof, Cincinnati and Ernest Atkins, Columbus, Ind. They were new to the introduction to anyone who is able to field trials. Always alert, riding hard to cover each dog, they followed good good judges. Need more be said?"

"The horses were furnished by George Stewart and were far above the usual run seen at field trials. A few of the handlers brought horses, and several spectators and owners were also at their own points."

Williams Is Speaker At Commencement

'The Genuine' Topic Of Former Superintendent Of Schools

The need for discernment in choosing the ideals which will be carried through life was stressed by John Fred Williams, the Ashland Oil and Refining Company, former state superintendent of public instruction, in graduation address entitled "The Genuine," given Tuesday night before the graduating class of Morehead High School. Mr. Williams also gave the commencement address before the county high school graduates' class at Beattyville the following night.

"Tracing the history and method of manufacturing genuine sterling silver, as against that of silver plated ware, Mr. Williams called upon the graduating students to 'have a silver shelf of genuine ideas and ideals to guide your thinking and your life."

"The assembling of a silver shelf of genuine sterling ideas and ideals," Mr. Williams went on, "becomes one of the most important tasks of a lifetime. One usually starts this collection early in life, but during the high school age and the years that immediately follow, important additions are made to the collection, and the pieces are arranged in order of their importance."

"No silver shelf is complete or adequate without the presence of religious ideals. No life can be full and satisfying unless it is guided by the greatest religious truths."

The speaker also pointed out that the importance of choosing the right type of recreational activities, saying that, "There is today, as in the past, some tendency for people to go all out for unrestricted and exciting pleasure. This goal is a plated ware which is attractive for a time until the silver coating wears off. One needs an ideal on one's silver shelf to guide one's recreational activities. These activities should be enjoyable but constructive. They should contribute either to one's mental fitness or to one's physical fitness and well-being, or to both. They should be durable—lasting for a lifetime. Reading, physical exercises, and other constructive hobbies and activities too numerous to mention, should be a part of one's recreational program."

Another ideal which the individual needs, said the speaker, is that which will serve as a guide in the selection and pursuit of a vocation of one's life work. The world's work consists of many varied activities that are essential to the well-being of a society or community is honorable and dignified. Included in these honorable pursuits is digging ditches, and the most complex feats of social and economic engineering."

Mr. Williams concluded his address by discussing the value of good citizenship. He said:

"Although one's activities as a citizen may be determined in large measure by one's religious, recreational and vocational ideals, there is still need of a sterling silver ideal on the silver shelf to guide one's activities in the fields of citizenship and political science."

Convention headquarters will be the Seelbach Hotel, where both the business and social sessions will be held. The convention itself will be presided over by Col. John L. Steel Finally Drops; Decrease $1.50 Ton

Ernest T. Weir, chairman of the National Steel Corporation, today announced price reductions for its products totaling $4,600,000 annually.

The cuts were effective May 15. National thus joins U. S. Steel and other industrial firms in slashing prices. National's reductions are equal to an average of $1.50 a ton on the company's shipments of finished products. Weir said.

Auxiliary To Sell Poppies On May 29

"A poppy on every coat—remembrance in every heart," will be the goal of the American Legion Auxiliary for the annual observance of Poppy Day in Morehead, May 29, the Saturday before Memorial Day.

Teams of volunteer workers from the Auxiliary will be assigned to different parts of the city.

All Poppy Day workers will give their time without pay. Contributions made for the poppies will go to the rehabilitation and child welfare funds of the Legion and Auxiliary, to be used for the benefit of disabled veterans and needy children of veterans during the coming year. These contributions form a large part of the money expended by the Legion and Auxiliary in their vast rehabilitation and welfare work.

The poppies which the Auxiliary will distribute have been made by disabled veterans at Outwood Hospital. They are crepe paper replicas of the famous wild poppies of France and Belgium which bloomed on the battlefields and cemeteries of both the world wars, and which have been the symbol of remembrance for the dead ever since the first World War. Thousands of disabled men and women, unable to do other work, have been given employment making poppies for the Auxiliary this year.

He is survived by Mrs. Norma Whitte, two daughters, Delma Faye, who is enrolled here, and Mrs. Meta Mae Whitte, a former student and now a teacher in the Sandy Hook Schools. Democrats Plan Meetings In Ky. Counties

Chairman J. Lyter Donaldson last week issued a call for the Democratic State Central Committee to meet in Louisville on May 18 to fix the time and place of county, district, and State conventions to elect delegates to the Democratic National Convention.

County conventions to select delegates to the State Convention will be held several days before the district and State conventions and the district conventions will be held in the night before the State Convention.

Cash awards will be given to the winners at the 1948 Farm Award Luncheon given in Louisville by The Courier-Journal. Contestants must submit their entries to local soil conservation district supervisors or to the Tom Wallace Conservation Award Contest, care of The Courier-Journal, The Louisville Times and WHAS, Louisville 2, Ky., before midnight Dec. 31.

Copies of entry blanks and contest information can be obtained by writing to the promoters of the two news-papers and radio station or from local soil conservation district supervisors.

Veterans' News

A printed explanation of the new law increasing limitations on earned income and government subsistence for veterans studying or training under the G. I. Bill will be enclosed with May subsistence checks, due in June, VA Branch Office in Columbus said today.

The new law, effective April 1, increases ceiling limitations from $175 to $210 per month for a veteran with no dependents, from $200 to $270 per month for a veteran with one dependent, and from $200 to $290 for a veteran with two or more dependents.

The new law also provides that proportionate subsistence increases will be payable to certain trainees under the G. I. Bill and Public Law 16.

Veterans in Ohio, Michigan and Kentucky who are in receipt of monetary benefits from VA were reminded today to report immediately any changes in address to the appropriate VA offices.

VA said this procedure is particularly important to the many veterans who will change addresses at the end of the current school term.

Failure to report change of address may result in an indefinite delay in subsistence or compensation payments. VA said if possible, veterans should indicate if the changes are temporary or permanent.

VA insurance officials today emphasized that there are six available types of permanent National Service Life Insurance to which World War II veterans may convert their term policies.

VA insurance officials in Columbus, explained it is not necessary to convert at a $10,000 term policy and that any combination of permanent plans may be obtained.

Eagles Trounce Eastern Nine By Score Of 8 To 6

Scoring seven of their eight runs in the fifth inning, the Morehead Eagles whipped Eastern by a score of 8-6.

Although out hit 13-6, the Eagles took advantage of four errors committed by Eastern. Gordon Kinney, who pitched his first game of the season, kept his well scattered and retiring four batters by the strikeout route.

Eastern scored their first two runs in the fourth inning on a triple by Bartley with one on and a fielder's choice.

In the fifth inning the Eagles really soared high, scoring seven runs before coming down. Eagle-

Eastern's starting pitcher, walked one run in and Lyons, next on, singled and combined with an error on third, two runs scored. "Red" Cuzart doubled, scoring two more runs. Kinney hit one too short but the first baseman dropped the ball, two runs coming in. Eagle was relieved by Meeks for Eastern and retired the side.

Eastern scored two more in the eighth on a double by Nelson with two on.

In the ninth, Kinney was in his toughest spot, facing bunting four singles, good for two runs, before Kinney could retire the side.

For Morehead, Cuzart connected for a single and a double in three times at bat. Nelson had a double and a single in four trips for Eastern.

Rowan Farmers Attend Ky. 31 Fescue Meet At Frenchburg

By Adrian M. Riczar, County Agent

Several farmers in the county attended the Ky. 31 Fescue Field Day held in Menifee County on the Sulter Farm Friday, May 14. I think everyone had an enjoyable time listening to various reports on the new grass by men who have been working with it. Mr. William C. Johnston of the University presided over the meeting and introduced the various speakers. Among those giving talks were Commissioner of Agriculture, Walters who spoke in behalf of Gov. Clements since the Governor could not be there. There were two speakers from Georgia, one who said he had 300 acres of Ky. 31 Fescue now growing and that he was very well satisfied with it. He says that this is a great demand for the seed in these sections.

A plaque was unveiled at this meeting dedicated to William F. Sulter on whose farm the grass was discovered. Visitors at the meeting saw Fescue growing on a hill of 45 per cent slope and it has been growing there for 52 years without being resown.

Wildfire

Considerable damage has been experienced in the county by those farmers who did not spray with bluestone lime from wild-fire in their tobacco beds. Close watch should be kept on the beds for signs of this disease. Also a few cases of blue mold have been reported in not too distant counties and close watch should be kept for the first sign of this infection. Anyone who thinks he has blue mold is requested to notify the Extension Office at the earliest opportunity. Fomate may be obtained at the local supply stores and farmers should

Installment Buying

Americans are expected to go into debt for at least $3,200,000,000 worth of goods this year. They'll get them through installment buying and through charge accounts. Approximately this amount "went on the cuff" in 1947 and at the end of last year the rate was rapidly rising.

How many of these appliances have you added in the last 10 or 12 years?

WE CAN give him a really tough job—even tougher than washing an elephant with a toothbrush. It's convincing you people that your electric rates are lower, despite the fact that your monthly electric bills are as high—or higher—than they've ever been.

The problem is this: So few of you seem to realize how much electricity you use each month. (Like a man in a restaurant, we're all interested in the right hand side of the menu.)

Your bill probably indicates you're paying as much or more today than you paid 10 years ago. (At least that's one break—everything else you buy is higher.)

Actually, though, today if you're an average home customer, your dollar buys twice as much electricity as it did just 10 or 12 years ago.

Three-Month Old Child Perishes In Flaming Building

The three-month old child of Junior Holbrook was burned to death in a fire that destroyed the Holbrook home and the adjacent home of Columbus Carter in Johnson addition at West Liberty last week.

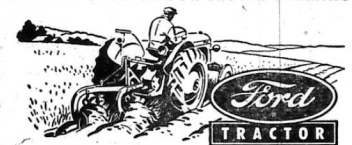

The fire was discovered by Mrs. Holbrook who escaped with two small children and tried to return and save the small baby but the fire had gained such a headway that she could not get back into the house.

The West Liberty fire department was able to save another home which was slightly damaged.

The body of the child was not recovered until the fire was brought under control by the fire department. Interment was made in the Salyer Cemetery with Rev. Jim C. Turner officiating at the rites at 1 o'clock last Wednesday afternoon.

Folk Song Group Meets June 13

Jean Thomas, Founder-Director, Heads Festival

Jean Thomas

The hills around Traipsin' Woman Cabin on the Mayo Trail, 18 miles south of Ashland, (U. S. 25) will again echo with song on Sunday, June 13th, after a silence of 6 years because of the war. On that day the American Folk Song Festival will be revived under the direction of its founder, Jean Thomas, the Traipsin' Woman. The event takes place on a great rustic stage in front of the tiny windowless cabin and mountain minstrels gather from far and near to sing and "to make music" on fiddle and dulcimer, harp and banjo. There will be warring and wassail songs, frolic and lonesome tunes, play ditties and chants to the muted strains of dulcimer and guitar.

Bradley Kincaid, star of WSM radio station, Nashville, will be the master of ceremonies. On this occasion he will feature the ballad "Love of Rosanna McCoy."

The usual Elizabethan Prologue with Ladies-in-Waiting will open the program, followed by The Infante—a folk play with folk songs.

Featured on the program will be the one act folk play "Love of Rosanna McCoy," adapted by the old Rosanna McCoy from the book, "Big Sandy," by Jean Thomas. She will play the name part and Jack Hatfield, age 18, descendant of Devil Anse Hatfield, will play and sing the part of young Jonse Hatfield, son of Devil Anse. It was the tragic romance of the pair of cross-starred lovers, Jonse and Rosanna that fanned the flames of the troubles between the Hatfields and the McCoy's.

Mrs. Mary Vinton Clark, cousin of Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson, who like her famed kinsman was also born and reared in the heart of the Big Sandy country where the troubles took place between the Hatfield-McCoy clans, will play the part of Levicy, mother of young Jonse and wife of Devil Anse.

This year the Nation's Station, WLW, will cover the Festival, with its mobile unit, as was announced, by Jim Gaylord, who completed the plans while in Ashland, with Miss Thomas, for WLW's participation. Mr. Gaylord is in charge of the special broadcast services.

From Rowan County, Mrs. Lydia Messer Caudill, assistant director of the Festival, will bring a group of children to sing Scottish "lytting" or "selding," answering ballads. Mrs. Caudill will be costumed in her royal Stuart tartan. She is a descendant of Mary Queen of Scots and will introduce the ballads handed down from the time of Mary Stuart.

Pleaz Mobley, former star on Rembo Valley Show, will come to the Festival in his cabin on wheels and sing a number of Elizabethan ballads with guitar accompaniment.

The program begins at 2 p. m. (E. S. T.) and ends before sundown.

"The Traipsin' Woman" brings a colorful story of the "feudin' clans" of old Kentucky and a clear message of peace in the account of how the McCoy's and the Hatfields, after nearly 100 years of bloody feuding, have "plum forgot old grudges"—how the children are singing side by side in the "singing" gathering; and the old folk now say "when singing comes in, fightin' goes out."

These "singing" gatherings have grown into the great American Folk Song Festival under the leadership of Jean Thomas and attracted before the war upwards of 20,000 people to a singing party. On the second Sunday in June they come on foot, jolt-wagon, jalopy and limousine, bearing the license plates of the 48 states, to the "Traipsin' Woman's cabin on four mile creek, Mayo Trail in Boyd County."

As a very young girl, Miss Thomas "took steps" to get an education. After completing a stenographic course, she was employed by a circuit riding judge and it was at this time that she acquired the title of "The Traipsin' Woman" bestowed on her by an old mountain neighbor and by which she is still known throughout the land.

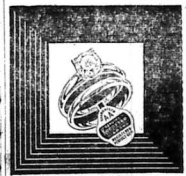

Armed with a typewriter and a short hand note book she combed the mountains to collect and preserve the folk songs of Kentucky—the "selding" tunes, funeralizin' hymns and the play-party songs of the "Big Sandy" country, and so earned her appellation of the world's greatest authority on the Kentucky mountaineer and his ballads.

Miss Thomas took an old Kentucky mountain fiddler, who had "never been nowhere" on a tour of Europe, where he played before King George and Queen Mary in Royal Albert Hall in London.

She was at one time the secretary of Texas Guinan and Gloria Gaudin and lived and worked in Mr. Nathan's Greenwich Village.

Jean Thomas is the author of 8 books, including "Devil Ditties," "Traipsin' Woman," "The Singin' Fiddler of Lost Hope Hollow," "The Singin' Gatherin'," "Ballad Makin' in the Hills of Kentucky," "Big Sandy" and "The Sun Shines Bright."

District Highway Offices Moved To Flemingsburg

Judge Robert S. Stokely announced last week that the 8th District Highway offices moved last Tuesday from Ashland to Flemingsburg. This announcement ends weeks of conjecture as to the location of the offices.

The location of the offices at Flemingsburg fulfills the promise of Gov. Clements who early in last year's primary went on the record as favoring that county as the site of the highway offices.

The district offices were moved from Flemingsburg to Ashland shortly after the election of Gov. Willis. The highway offices erected while A. F. Plummer was Highway Commissioner, were left practically empty during the Willis administration and rental was paid on the Ashland office.

Estill Denton, District Maintenance Supt., stated that the offices would be in charge of J. C. Moore of Covington, as District Engineer. Other officials located at Flemingsburg are Paul Hunter, Assistant District Maintenance Foreman and F. M. "Buddy" Wells, Construction Engineer. An office force of approximately 30 persons will also be maintained.

A Door to Safety that's always open.
