Students Vote Today For Council Officers

Students are going to the polls today to elect the five officers to lead the Student Council next year.

For ten candidates, it is the end of two weeks of extensive campaigning.

Darrell Carter and Bill Bradford are running for the presidency. Bradford is the incumbent, and Carter is town representative on the Council. Bradford and Carter met each other in a debate in WMKY-FM last Tuesday. (see story page 2)

All the candidates appeared on close circuit television last Thursday night. (see story page 2)

Vice President

Running for vice president are Glen Coatney and Larry Knipp. Coatney and Knipp reached the final election by defeating Bill Schied in the primary last Tuesday. Knipp received 322 votes. Coatney got 248 votes and Schied received 63 votes. Five other voters went to write in candidates. Knipp and Coatney debated on WMKY-FM last Thursday. (see story page 2)

The number of voters last Tuesday was unusually high for a primary election.

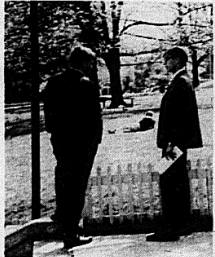

Kay Ludwick and Pat Terry are running for secretary.

Treasurer

Connie Ankrom and Richard Herlihy are seeking the office of treasurer. Miss Ankrom is the incumbent. The two candidates reached the final election by defeating Dale Adkins in the primary. Herlihy received 274 votes, Ankrom got 264 votes and Adkins received 100.

Running for reporter are Taskel Ross and Steve Jamison. Sharon Maggard and Bud Wooten are seeking the office of historian.

Students are also voting today on a proposed increase of the student head fee for entertainment from $2 to $5. The tax would give the Council approximately $60,000 for entertainment next year. Ten per cent of this amount is for Student Council expenditures.

Paganelli; Gould Conduct Seminars On Foreign Policy

By Ray Tussey

"As a result of the June, 1967 war, six Arab countries broke relations with the United States and threw the embassies out of the country. I was with one of those that were 'thrown out,'" said Robert Paganelli of the Foreign Service Bureau.

Paganelli, speaking at a Political Science Seminar last Thursday, said that the United States has been in intensive bilateral conferences with the Soviet Union concerning the Middle East.

"The United States is concerned with the conflict," he went on, "because it could lead to a showdown between the two major powers."

Paganelli also discussed the background of the present Middle East War and said, "It is basically a clash between the nationalistic aspirations of the Israelis and the nationalistic aspirations of the Arabs."

More than 100 students attended the seminar, and heard the second speaker elaborate about the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

"The youth in Europe do not accept NATO," said Robert Gould a Department of State expert on European Affairs.

"To them, NATO is a symbol of a foreign devil who tries to maintain the rigidity of the European system."

Gould went on to discuss the origins of the alliance and how the decision to admit Germany in 1951, caused the downfall of one government in France and trouble in other countries.

After the speakers were through, there was a question and answer session between members of the Political Science Club and the guest speakers.

Kentucky's Sen. John Sherman Cooper had to cancel his appearance at the event at the last minute.

President's Review Set For Thursday

On Thursday, May 8, the ROTC will present its corps to President Adron Doran at the first annual President's Review. This is the last time this year that the cadets will be seen with "spit-shined" shoes and polished brass.

At 10:20 a.m. more than 700 cadets will "fall-in" and at 10:30 a.m. the bugler will sound the "Adjutants Call" and the Review will begin.

Czech Invasion Depicts NATO's Value-Blumberg

Warren Blumberg says Soviet Union's invasion of Czechoslovakia last August proves the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) is as important today as ever.

Blumberg spoke at an all-student convocation last Thursday as the keynote speaker at the fifth annual Foreign Relations Day sponsored by the Political Science Club. Blumberg was a last minute replacement for Sen. John Sherman Cooper, who cancelled his scheduled appearance because of a heavy travelling schedule and poor health.

Blumberg has served as a diplomat in France, Germany and Switzerland and is presently in charge of military affairs in the office of European affairs.

Blumberg, asking the question, "is NATO relevant today?", first reviewed the history of the alliance. He said the pact was signed in 1949 due to the hostility of the Soviet Union under Stalin, and its determination at the time to extend its powers into Eastern and Southern Europe.

Europe Was Weak

Blumberg said countries of Western Europe were weak from war and recognized the need for combined defense. He said in the early days the United States contributed the most aid to the pact.

He said the alliance is purely a defensive one and has proven its value by maintaining peace in Europe and stunting Soviet inroads into Western Europe.

Blumberg said with Stalin's death, there seemed to be some changes in the Soviet Union. He said there was "some indication that evolution in Eastern Europe was taking place."

He said the West reacted to these signs of change by seeking closer ties with the East. In May, 1968, NATO gave a signal to the Soviet Union to see if they could mutually reduce forces, Blumberg said. He said there was growing doubt whether "the Soviet Union posed as a military threat to peace."

Then - Czechoslovakia

All this, Blumberg said, was shattered by the invasion of Czechoslovakia.

He said, "The Soviet Union could not tolerate the prospect of any link being torn away from the Communist block."

Whatever the motives, Blumberg said, it was a demonstration that the Soviet Union would use force to keep its foothold in Eastern Europe, and the Soviet Empire is an empire of force.

He said there is a continued need for a force threat against the Soviet Union. Blumberg said Czechoslovakia also demonstrated the Soviet Union was amazingly skillful in mobilizing its forces.

New Pledges

He said because of this invasion the alliance has made new pledges for money, money and machines, and for the first time, European powers are paying the majority of the bill.

Blumberg said NATO has so far kept the peace rather than made it. He said effective negotiation depends on unity.

He said President Nixon has suggested NATO work together to further study the problems of the modern world which effects everyone. Blumberg said the history of the last 20 years has shown that collective defense keeps the balance of power.

He said in the future NATO must become more than a military alliance and also turn to other non-military goals.

Curfew Hours Are Changed By Committee

New women's hours were passed at a Student Life meeting last Wednesday.

The hours, which went into effect last Friday are permanent. They come about as a result of a resolution passed by the Student Council recommending that the hours be lengthened an hour during daylight saving time in the spring. The Student Life Committee decided to make the new hours permanent.

The new hours for freshmen girls are 11 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 1 a.m. on Friday and Saturday and 12 midnight on Sunday. New hours for sophomores and juniors are 11 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 1:30 a.m. Friday and Saturday and midnight on Sunday. Senior hours are 12 midnight Monday through Thursday, and 2 a.m. on Friday and Saturday and 1 a.m. on Sunday.

Jay & Americans To Perform Here Thursday Night

By Brenda McCall

"Jay and the Americans," will be the second concert presented this semester under the Student Council Entertainment Fund. Their concert will take place Thursday, May 8 at 8 p.m. in Laughlin, with the admission free to Students having their I.D. cards marked "SC Special."

"Jay and the Americans" were organized in the fall of 1961. After a few months of work in the New York area they released their first record, "She Cried," on the United Artists label. It became No. 1 across the nation.

After this first success their records followed a similar pattern. Their hits include: "Come A Little Bit Closer," "Let's Lock the Door," "Some Enchanted Evening," and "Only in America."

Recently they again topped the charts with "This Magic Moment." This was a different kind of success, however, because not only was it a success for their group as a musical group, but also as independent producers. This was their first

Leading Council Candidates Engage In WMKY Debate

By Donn Rooks & Mark Jordan

Darrell Carter and Bill Bradford engaged in a debate last Tuesday on WMKY-FM on Campus Press Conference. Both candidates for president of the Student Council expressed their positions and were questioned by Mark Jordan, moderator for Campus Press Conference, and John Cannon, managing editor of the Trail Blazer.

Carter said this year the election is "something different and something unusual." He said the "Student Council is faced with a serious problem, it isn't challenging the students." Carter asked, "What has the Council done? Council this year has not done a great deal, we must find new projects and programs."

'Has Been Forum'

Bradford opened by saying, "The Council has put itself in a position this year where it has been a forum where anyone could say their piece." Bradford mentioned the entertainment committee and that "we have something no other university in the Commonwealth has, a head tax for entertainment."

Into a question-answer period, Carter commented that "on January 7, 1969, Council was to have a semester evaluation in which work and progress would be examined in a two week period, this project wasn't completed. If you don't have goals how can you measure your work? We can only get this done through dynamic and progressive leadership."

Bradford responded, "I thought student government was to handle student problems that arose on a campus to handle the necessities of the campus."

Attendance Decreasing

Cannon asked Bradford why there was a decreasing attendance at the Student Council meetings? Bradford said there was a rule about absenteeism and any member missing three meetings in a row will be dismissed. He went on to say, "I dismissed four persons today (last Tuesday) for missing meetings." (See 'Student Council,' p. 5)

Carter, asked what he thought of the new University speaker policy, said, "It is sound, but I fail to see the merit for it on our campus."

Bradford was asked about the entertainment committee and its value to the student body and why it has become so important? He said, "Some people say Council is a glorified entertainment committee. Well it is, that's what the students wanted last year."

Jordan asked Bradford about criticism that he is anti-Negro. Bradford stated, "These accusations are made by my more vicious critics; I am prejudiced and most everyone is, but I will admit it. Many of my friends on this campus are Negroes."

In Thursday's press conference, Larry Knipp and Glen Coatney, the candidates for vice president of the Student Council were involved in a debate. Both candidates mentioned the fact that a certain apathy exists towards the student council.

Knipp stated that if elected he would bring the student's problems to Council. He said he would ask the students their opinions on issues facing Council. Knipp also said his campaign was based on hard work, and if elected he would continue this hard work.

Coatney told of his qualifications: his being a Council member, working on the new constitution, working with the Miss MSU Pageant and other projects on campus, and asked Knipp if he didn't think "... hard work with experience wasn't better."

Knipp said that he has had student government experience and he didn't think experience was an important issue in the campaign.

John Cannon asked Knipp if he were a member of Tau Kappa Epsilon and he stated he wasn't. It was later discovered that Knipp is an affiliate of TKE.

If Darrell Carter is elected President of the Student Council he will not be able to serve on the Board of Regents because he is an out-of-state student, although he now resides in Morehead. There would have to be a special election. Knipp said he would run in this election if he and Carter were elected.

Coatney is also an out of state student.

"The Intimate Circle" of the University will be part of a MSU-sponsored music program Friday night at the National Republican Governors' Conference in Lexington. The four students sing with the MSU stage band. They are, from left, Brad Jones, Lisa Palas, Sharon Porter, and Richard Wanamaker. Jones and Wanamaker also perform in the band.

Drama Department Slates Revised Version of Hamlet

By Mike Chapman

To be, or not to be — ay, there's the point:

To die, to sleep — is that all? ay, all.

No:

To sleep, to dream, ay, marry, there it goes...

Recognize these lines? Readers familiar with Shakespeare's Hamlet will recognize in the above fragment one of the most famous soliloquies in Shakespeare — but with a difference.

Actually, the above fragment comes from the First Quarto edition of Hamlet printed in 1603, and differs markedly (the entire First quarto version is only half as long, for example) from the "standard" version in the First Folio, which is based on the Second Quarto.

With Changes

"Hamlet in Rehearsal," to be presented in Button Auditorium May 22, 23 and 24, will be based primarily on the more familiar Second Quarto version of the play — with some interesting changes. Shakespearean purists will particularly want to attend the play.

What changes? For one thing, the accent on the University Drama Department's version will be on the story of Hamlet, "Often lost," says the director, Dr. J.G. Barefield, "in the verbiage of the play."

Accordingly, "some very famous scenes in the play have been left out, and many famous lines amended for the sake of clarity."

Take for example the following fragment from the "To be or not to be" soliloquy. Here is the standard version:

"For who would bear the whips and scorns of time,

"The oppressor's wrong, the proud man's contumely,

"The pangs of dispriz'd love, the law's delay,

"The insolence of office, and the spurns

"That patient merit of the unworthy takes,

"When he himself might his quietus make

"With a bare bodkin?"

New Version

And there is the version that theatrogoers will hear from the lips of Alan Tongret on opening night of Hamlet in Rehearsal:

"For who would bear the whips and scorns of time,

"The oppressor's wrong, the proud man's humiliation,

"The pangs of despised love, the law's delay,

"The insolence of office,

"When he himself might his own death make

"With a naked dagger?"

But the difference in dialogue is only one of the many unique characteristics of "Hamlet in Rehearsal." The lights, sound effects and set also promise a fascinating experience for the theatregoer who will see MSU's version of Shakespeare's famous tragedy.

Rep. Carl Perkins To Be Speaker At Sigma Xi Dinner

Carl D. Perkins, U.S. representative from the 7th Congressional District of Kentucky, will be principal speaker May 9 for the second annual installation dinner of Sigma Xi.

The Kentucky congressman is chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee and has sponsored more education legislation than any other member in the history of Congress.

His topic will be federal financing of scientific research.

The dinner is scheduled for 6 p.m. in the Doran Student House Cafeteria. Dr. Margaret Heaslip, professor of biology, is arrangements chairman.

Membership in Sigma Xi is restricted to faculty members in biology, mathematics, geosciences, physics, chemistry, and psychology. The Society was formed for the encouragement of scientific research.

Outgoing officers are Dr. Jules DuBar, head of the Department of Geosciences, president; Dr. Lamar Payne, professor of chemistry, vice president; and Dr. Billy R. Nail, chairman of the Division of Mathematics, secretary-treasurer.

New officers will be installed during the dinner meeting.

Louie Parrott Will Produce 'Probe' Program

Louie Parrott, a senior at MSU, has written and developed a program which will be aired over radio station WCMI, Ashland, Ky. in the public interest. The program deals with the problem of jobs in the Ashland area for college students.

The weekly series on WCMI-AM and FM entitled "Probe" discusses topics of interest to the people in the Ashland area. Miss Parrott's program will be heard on "Probe" Sunday, May 11 and several times during the following week.

On Sunday, May 18, a panel discussion will be held between local businessmen and college students. Miss Parrott will moderate the discussion.

Students on the MSU campus can hear "Probe" over WCMI-FM, 93.7 megacycles on Sunday, May 11 and May 18, at 12:30 p.m.

Dr. Charles A. Payne (seated) and Dr. Lamar B. Payne, professors of chemistry at the University, are shown examining a textbook they co-authored for college-level classes in organic chemistry. Entitled "How to do an Organic Synthesis," the 152-page paperback was published by Allyn and Bacon, Inc. of Boston, Mass., and is the first textbook on the subject. The book was four years in the making and will be used to supplement hardbound organic chemistry texts.

Local Chi Omega Group Goes Through Installation

Epsilon Theta chapter of Chi Omega was installed May 3 at the University. Chi Omega Colony was established on campus, February 16, when Theta Sigma Tau's petition was accepted by the national governing council.

Mrs. LaRue Bowker, Chi Omega national treasurer, and Miss Nell Casburne, chapter visitor, were installing officers. Chi chapter from Transylvania College was the installing chapter.

Installation weekend began with the pledging of Theta Sigma Tau alumnae, Betty Miranda Johnson and Janet Newman Ratliff, and special dispensation members.

These members include: Mrs. Adron Doran, Mrs. Larry Netherthon, Mrs. Ethel Moore, Mrs. Naomi Claypool, Mrs. Ray Hornback, Mrs. Steve Hamilton, Mrs. Alvin McGary, Mrs. Randall Miller, Mrs. B.R. Nail, Mrs. Denny Northcutt, and Mrs. J.R. Smith of Morehead and Mrs. James David of Grayson and Mrs. Ray Smyth of Ashland.

Saturday, May 3, the chapter was installed officially in the Home Economics assembly room and immediately following a buffet luncheon was served in the social living room with the Morehead alumnae as hostesses. The model initiation was conducted by Chi chapter. Sally Simpson, the president of Epsilon Theta, was the model initiate.

The installation banquet was held Saturday night at the Alumni Towers Dining Room. Mrs. William Simpson, chapter adviser and alumna of Psi Gamma chapter was toastmistress. Greetings were extended to the new chapter by Roger Wilson, vice president of Student Affairs, on behalf of the University; Mrs. C.F. McMeekin, alumna of Chi and chapter adviser of Lambda Alpha at the University of Kentucky on behalf of the alumnae and Lynn Grise, president of the UK chapter on behalf of all Chi Omega activities.

Dr. John Duncan, dean of graduate programs at the University, extended the charge to Epsilon Theta in the absence of President Doran.

President Sally Simpson responded for the chapter. Mrs. Bowker gave the Chi Omega Address.

Sunday afternoon a reception was held for the alumnae, parents, friends, faculty, and campus Greeks.

Shown are the new officers of Epsilon Theta chapter of Chi Omega which was installed this weekend. From left to right they are: Linda Wilson, pledge trainer; Patty Roark, rush chairman; Janet Kramer, treasurer; Dianna McCreese, secretary; Mrs. L.R. Bowker, National treasurer; Nell Casburne, chapter visitor; Brenda McFall, vice president; Martha Campbell, president, and Sally Simpson, former president and model initiate.

The first of the two plays will be "The Smiling Horse," written by Marvin Phillips, assistant professor of dramatics at Morehead. Acting in this play, described by Ratliff, as "a delayed romance" are Freddie Slater as George, and Sally Reuther as Rose.

"A terribly exciting affair" is how Ratliff describes "The Rajah's Ruby." Doug Whitson portrays the part of Sam Evening, and Ruth Rundell, Janet Evening, his wife. Craig Courtney plays the hero. The heroine is Sandy Fugate. Mike Dickens plays the villain, with Wayne Starletton as assistant villain. The play is a melodrama by A.M. Mills.

Louisville Senior Scores High In Science And Math Exams

Based on his first effort, Shaw Pong Wan is destined for academic fame at Morehead.

The 18-year-old senior at Louisville Atherton High School visited the campus last month to test for competitive, academic scholarships in the School of Sciences and Mathematics.

Exams were given in five fields and the soft-spoken native of Formosa topped the competition in both areas he tried. The performance theoretically entitled him to two four-year scholarships but the rules permit only one scholarship per student.

Shaw, who hopes to become a research chemist, elected to accept a grant in chemistry which is valued at $800. The scholarship is renewable each year on condition he maintains the required grade point average.

Besides the scholarship covering tuition, the Morehead administration has awarded Shaw an institutional workshop worth more than $500 annually.

He will hold a part-time job in the chemistry department while majoring in chemistry and mathematics.

Edward Cline, Shaw's counselor at Atherton, was not surprised at the youngster's extraordinary grades.

"Shaw is an exceptionally bright student with a very sound background," Cline said. "He will give a good account of himself at Morehead."

The scholarship winner is from a family of professionals. His father, Keng-Nien Wan, is Nationalist China's ambassador to Italy.

Shaw lives with his sister, Mrs. David N.C. Yang, 937 Cherokee Road, an instructor of data processing at the University of Louisville.

Dr. W.C. Simpson, dean of the School of Sciences and Mathematics, is impressed by Shaw's record.

"Our faculty is looking forward to having Mr. Wan as a student this fall," Simpson said.

'Mother Image' Not University Role

The basic role of a university is not to make and enforce regulations concerning dress, conduct, and dormitory hours, but to provide for the education of its students. Yet, because the college campus is a community of individuals, certain rules for the protection of the individuals and for the smooth operation of the school must be set up.

For example, rules that determine which students are permitted to operate a car on campus are valid because of the limited availability of parking areas.

There are, however, other rules that seem to petty to merit the lengthy discussions needed to revise them again and again.

In the past few years a new women's handbook was published — not as a rule book — but as a guideline for women on this campus. There are no actual rules concerning what to wear to class or to the library. The student is left to her own discretion as to what is appropriate and what is not. She is treated as an adult, making her own decisions on many matters.

The rule concerning women's hours has been brought up almost every year and gradually improvements have been made. In fact, a proposal that women's hours be lengthened because of the added daylight hours during the spring and summer has just been passed by the Student Life Committee.

Yet, early hours is not the major objection women on the campus are making. It is the fact that most women students, particularly upperclassmen and graduate students, do not have any "hours" at home. Most parents turn this responsibility over to the girl herself at the age of 20 or 21.

One coed commented on a no-hours proposal, "I probably wouldn't stay out any later than I do now; it's just the idea that there would be no 'hours' hanging over me."

Instead of working "in loco parentis" — in place of the parent — the university should only administer to the student what the parent wants administered.

For example, with a no-hours system, a girl's parents, if they decided their daughter should be in at 11 o'clock every night, would fill out a form asking the school to put her on this check-out basis.

This system would shift the responsibility from the university to the parents and their daughters, where it belongs.

University Library Has Excellent Record

At a recent meeting of the editorial board, it was suggested that we call attention to some of the "disgraceful actions" of the students concerning the library.

We felt that would be appropriate to mention how books cost, and perhaps attempt to discourage students from checking out too many books at a time on one subject.

An interview was set up with Dr. Jack Ellis, director of the Library, to discuss the extent of book losses, magazine mutilation, and to find out why the library did not have rules limiting the number of books one could check out.

After a few minutes conversation with Dr. Ellis, we found that we were, if you'll pardon the expression, "Barking Up the Wrong Tree."

Last year, out of a total of 163,000 books checked out of the library, only 824 are missing. According to Dr. Ellis many of these will turn up somewhere. This small number of missing books could possibly be cut down, by putting them under lock and key. But when this is restored, too, the mutilation rate of books and magazines goes up, and so far, mutilation of material have been minor.

It is true that the library has no fixed number of books a person can check out, but if a number of papers are assigned on a certain topic, it is the duty of the professor to put all books on the subject on limited reserve.

"I am amazed and delighted at the caliber of the Morehead students," said Dr. Ellis. In view of the fact that there were almost 365,000 contacts with individuals using the library last year, we would agree with Dr. Ellis that this small loss of books is a credit to the library staff and to the students who made this fine record possible.

Knocks Editorial

He knows in advance the advantages and disadvantages.

To The Editor:

I wish to register my objection to an editorial in the April 29 issue of the Trail Blazer, "Council President Should Be Paid." It suggested that the president be paid out of the "head tax" entertainment and operational fund.

Surely, duties of the president are not for entertainment purposes. If so, the office is then a mockery. Equally ridiculous is the idea that the operating fund support the president. His functions are important, true, but not enough so to list him under the heading, "expense." Expenses are large enough now — surely the Council can't afford another year of debt.

It is true that the student president holds a time-consuming position, and this does not leave him time to hold down an outside job. But no one forces a person to run for the office.

I think the suggestion that a scholarship be given the president is the most feasible one. The idea that the administration would stoop to pressuring a student president by saying, "Do it our way or, we'll drop your scholarship," is absurd. It's typical of Dr. Doran to worry about such a reaction, but I have every confidence that he would be completely fair in such a situation.

The "head tax" should remain as it was originally stated: to provide entertainment and operation expenses. If students pay for entertainment, that's what we deserve. I can't think of one student on this campus who can afford to pay living expenses for another student — whether he's president of the Student Council or not!

Knoweth Aull Tells All

Over the past few months we have seen a phenomenal rise in the number of people making predictions about the future. Some of these "fakes" can feel the bumps on your head and supposedly predict the future. Others study the lines on your hand and predict whether you'll have a long life or not.

Actually, all these people can predict from the bumps on your head, is that you've been in a fight. The only way those "fakes" can predict how long your life will be by looking at your palm, is whether or not their palm is holding a gun. But out of this conglomeration of "facts" a true clairvoyant has arisen to guide you on a trip to the future.

In Crystal Gradebook

Gather around, great students of Morehead State University, the wonderful Professor Knoweth Aull, has gazed into his crystal gradebook and is now ready to predict the future of the University.

Professor Knoweth Aull predicts

Very soon on this campus, the plunging neckline will meet the rising hemline with the likely result being a badly sunburned coed.

Then there will be sit-ins by peace demonstrators and black militants, who will force a change in the curriculum. As a result, once a week, all the ROTC men will have to carry spears and chant, "Draft Beer, Not Boys." (From the sign of the same name.)

Bottomless Pit

In the near future a small car (like mine) will fall into that hole in the road behind the library and not be heard from again.

Lastly he predicts that either Bill Bradford or Darrell Carter will be the next Student Council President.

He will admit the last prediction is a bit wild, but as he advertises on his calling cards, "Professor Knoweth Aull, Knows All!"

Morehead Sends Nine To New York Conference

By Fanny Fried

The 8th annual International Radio and Television Society College Conference was held April 17-19 at the Commodore Hotel in New York City. The conference, with the general title "Broadcasting and Society" was attended by nine delegates, representing WKKY-FM and Iota Beta Sigma, National Broadcasting Fraternity.

The conference examined the place of broadcasting in society, its significance and its relationship to its environment. It was arranged as to enable professional broadcasters, college faculty members and students to exchange views.

Career Clinic

An innovation this year was the career clinic, held the last day of the conference. From this, it was hoped, students would gain additional insight into opportunities for personal development in the field of broadcasting.

A faculty conference, held for the second year, provided new areas of discussion for visiting members of the teaching profession.

Also provided were industry tours, giving students a chance to see big-name radio, television or advertising facilities.

In Bull Session

Don Holloway, director of WKKY-FM and Roger Marshall, news director, served on panel discussions during the conference. Holloway participated on the "bull session" panel, and Marshall was the only student from other than an East Coast metropolitan area to sit on a panel.

Attending from Morehead were Holloway, Marshall, Betty Marshall, John Emery, Fanny Fried, Louie Parrott, Larry Secwald, Ron Smith, and William Timmer.

KACA Elects Holloway For New President

Don Holloway, associate professor of communications, has been elected president of the Kentucky Association of Communication Arts (KACA).

He was elected by mail ballots during March and officially takes office May 1.

Holloway has been a member of the Morehead faculty since 1958.

Debating Squad Really On The Go

Oral interpretation and discussion students are now preparing for public performances. The discussions will take the form of radio discussions with panels composed of student, faculty, and student council members.

Nielson Executive Will Speak At Spring Banquet

A top executive in the A.C. Nielson Co., the most frequently cited of the television rating services in the nation, will be guest speaker at the third annual Division of Communications spring banquet Friday night at 6:30.

Howard Coleman, press relations director of the Nielson audience measuring and research firm, will deliver the main address of the evening, which will also feature special awards to students in Communications, music and skits by students.

The Nielson Co. is considered a most influential rating agency in the determination of program selection and advertising in television. Coleman is expected to discuss communicating to the diverse audiences of today's society.

Student entertainment, with Cameron Keyser and Glenda Hagan as co-host and hostess, will include Gayle Lyon, Miss MSU, and her first runner-up, Beverly Wood; Harry D. Thomas.

Communications students and their dates may purchase their $2.50 tickets from Mrs. Fern McGuire in the office of Dr. Fred Voigt, head of the Division, through Friday at 3 p.m.

Student Council Discusses Profits, Proxies And Votes

By Ray Tussey

When the Student Council met last Thursday, they were short one member of having a quorum. After some unofficial business, two members arrived late and the meeting began.

President Bill Bradford announced that three members, Betsy Duncan, Bob Durham and John Chullen, had been informed they were no longer members of the Council due to their number of absences.

In official Council business, Quentin Hatfield recommended that 200 tickets for the Jay and the Americans Concert, be sold at $2.50 each. The recommendation passed the Council unanimously.

Hatfield asked for volunteers to work at the doors and concessions during the concert, since no social club had volunteered its services. One Council member suggested that some protection against the "animals" might be obtained for the ones working at the door. Hatfield said he would check with Campus Security Officer Russell Kirk.

Frank Cunningham brought up the issue of proxy voting and Bill Bradford appointed himself and Secretary Brenda McFall to draw up a policy.

Jim Starr gave a report on the status of class elections and called for volunteers to work at the polls. Discussion was held on where to place the voting machines. Baird Hall was suggested but since one of the candidates is an honorary member of a music fraternity, the idea was discarded.

It was decided that voting machines will be in the Doran Student House Cafeteria and the Laughlin Health Building. If the weather is fair, a voting booth would be set up in front of Allie Young Hall.

Football Eagles Get Ready For The Blue-White Game

The young Eagle football team is drawing near the end of spring practice and, according to head coach Jake Hallum, the players have shown a lot of enthusiasm and hard work.

Says Hallum, "We are hoping to receive cooperation from the weather in order to get in our 20 days practice by May 13.

May 13 is an important date for Hallum, who is beginning his second season as Morehead coach. This is the tentative date for the annual Blue-White Spring Game.

Before May 13, Hallum and his assistants have a lot of shuffling and reshuffling to do. They have already started changing positions moving defensive and Clint Walker and defensive monster Doug Moore to fullback to fill the gap created by the graduation of Otto Gsell and Mike Mintry.

Other changes include the moving of offensive back Larry Baldrige to the defensive backfield, where All-Conference safety Leon Wesley was lost through graduation. Larry Johnson, who started several games as defensive nose guard last year, will be moved to an offensive guard spot.

"Wesley, the fullbacks, tackle Jim Fisher, guard Dave Moore, and tight end Marvin Hicks will all be missed," the coach said. Wesley and Hicks were on the All-Ohio Valley Conference first team, and Moore and Fisher were second team selections. Rogan and 240-pound defensive tackle Dave Haverdick were also All-OVC selections.

John Slaughter, a 270 pounder, is a prime candidate to move into Fisher's slot as defensive tackle to team with Little All-American candidate Haverdick. Gary Shirk and Doug Henwood are vying for Hick's position, and Butch McCormick is the top candidate to replace Moore.

Hallum said that his quarterback last season, redshirt Steve Hale, and Buck Donely, a transfer from Wilmington College.

"We have been working extremely hard on our passing game and offensive line," Hallum said.

Marshall Wins Intramural Golf

Terry Marshall has won the Intramural 18-Hole Medalist Golf Tournament, finishing with a score of 76. Marshall blistered the back nine, taking only 36 shots. Sam Cox and Roger Stewart tied for runner-up honors, firing 81's.

Spring football practice is in full swing at the University, where All-America candidate Dave Haverdick (in foreground) and other Eagle defensive linemen practice the fine points of knocking. Defensive line coach Wayne Chapman (in background) supervises to practice session.

Tracksters Are Defeated Easily By Eastern, 92-42

Bill Spannuth Finishes Eighth In Mid-Am. Meet

Freshman Bill Spannuth, the University's outstanding golfer, finished eighth in the Mid-American Invitational golf meet at Marshall University April 25 and 26.

Spannuth's 54-hole total of 226 was nine strokes behind individual winner Sluger White of Ohio University. In his three rounds, Spannuth fired scores of 76, 73 and 77. His 73 was the third lowest score of the second round.

The team finished eighth in the 12-team field with a score of 1171, compared to Ohio University's winning mark of 1130.

Gary Arnold shot 230, butch Ban Bevershuys, 238, and Bruce Walters, 239. Bill Buckner shot a 242 and Bobby Williams came in with a 245.

Last Tuesday the Morehead tracksters' dual meet won-lost record was evened at 1-1 as they bowed to Eastern 92-42. The strong Colonel trackmen set new track records in the 440 yard and the three mile run.

The meet with Ohio University scheduled for April 26 was postponed, and a series of time trials were run by the Eagle trackmen. High jumper Dave Neely jumped 6' 8" to better his old mark by 4 inches.

The next Eagle meet is scheduled for May 9 against the Colonels of Eastern and the speedsters from Kentucky State here.

Results:
Eastern Kentucky 92, Morehead 42.

Baseball Eagles Sweep Two Big Doubleheaders

By Don Smith
Sports Editor

The explosive Eagle baseball team tacked on four more victories to its superb record last Tuesday and Wednesday, defeating Eastern 3-0 and 4-1 and routing Kentucky State 13-0 and 12-2 the following day.

The Morehead mound corps limited the visiting Colonels to three hits in each game. All OVC catcher Steve Dunker clouted a homer in the first game, and top Eagle hitter John Keiffner provided the Eagle punch in the fourth inning of the second game, cracking a round-tripper good for three of the four Morehead runs.

In the two games against Kentucky State, also at home, Eagle batters and pitchers had a field day accumulating 25 runs to the losers two tallies.

The opening game saw the Eagles rip 15 hits. Reese Stephenson, Jim Daugherty, Eddie Wallingford and Gary Paulin each knocked in two runs. Lefty Dan Dennis and Dave Stultz combined to limit the Thorobreds to three hits.

More Of The Same

The Eagles continued where they had left off in the second contest, which was called after the visitors had batted in the fifth. Morehead players crossed the plate five times in the first inning and pushed over seven more big runs in the third.

The Eagles raked five opposing pitchers for their runs and were aided by five Thorobred errors.

Junior right-hander Dave Churchman went all the way for Morehead, limiting Kentucky State batsmen to five hits. Churchman, not known for his hitting ability, surprisingly came through with a two run bases loaded single in the first and poled a three run homer in the third, as Morehead sent 12 batters to the plate.

Coach Spanny Allen said that he allowed Churchman to go the distance because he had not pitched in over a week and he "needed the work."

Baseballers Split; Netters Are Last

The Eagle baseball team split a doubleheader with East Tennessee Saturday, winning the first game 11-12 and bowing in the second game 4-0, suffering its first shut-out of the season. At this point, Morehead now has a 6-2 OVC record and a 17-4 overall mark. In their three remaining conference tests, the Eagles play a crucial home twinbill against Eastern this Wednesday, followed by a single game with Tennessee Tech Saturday at Cookeville.

Last weekend, the Eagles netters finished in last place against the other State universities. The matches, which pitted a team against two of the other three, saw Western finish on top, followed by Eastern, Murray and Morehead.

The Eagles were forced to forfeit the doubles match with Western because number four Eagle netter Jim Lopez aggravated a foot bruise.

In golf action, Morehead's golfers, led by Spannuth, finished fifth in the Murray Invitational Golf Tournament Saturday.

Spannuth's 36 hole total of 146 (72-74) was only two strokes behind medalist leader Terry Peddy of Northeast Louisiana. Peddy's school won the tournament with a 585 score.

Tomorrow, the Eagle tracks men host Ohio University in their third dual track meet.

The winner will be announced at the Installation Banquet May 31. She will be entered in national competition for the National Sweetheart of TKE.

Elmer Smith, Inez, has been elected the new Prytanis, (president) of TKE for the school year '69-'70.

For guys who work night shifts a pill for the day shift.

Nothing can kill a day like a hard night.
Yet every campus has its nocturnal heroes dedicated to the art of playing it cool.

If you're one of them, we'd like to offer you a little food for thought.

What we have in mind is NoDoz®. The pill that helps you shift through the day shift.

NoDoz has the strongest stimulant you can buy without a prescription. And it's not habit forming.

With a couple of NoDoz, workers of the night can fight another day.

Miss Thomas and nine other girls were selected by the festival's band committee as the top 10 twirlers in the U.S. She is the only representative of a Kentucky school.

A solo twirler and drill leader with the Eaglette Twirling Corps, Miss Thomas is a mathematics major and has been named to the Dean's List each semester at Morehead State.

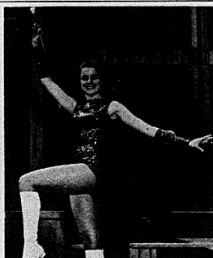

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs.

Manning Thomas, 547 Country Club Drive, Xenia, Ohio.

Miss Thomas has been a twirler since the age of four and holds 151 trophies and 119 medals for solo, duet and strutting performances. She has won several statewide awards in Ohio.

The 10 twirlers will appear in a parade at Indianapolis on May 28 and again in opening ceremonies for the race May 30.

Leo Dolan Gets Scholarship

Leo P. Dolan, Sandusky, Ohio, a sophomore, has been awarded a two-year national ROTC scholarship by the Department of the Army.

He is a cadet warrant officer in the MSU Reserve Officer Training Corps. His selection for the scholarship was announced by Lt. Col. Thomas A. Harris, professor of military science.

Dolan is the son of Donald H. Cole, 1217 Erie Blvd., Sandusky. He is a 1967 graduate of Kentucky Military Institute.

His award is considered an honor for the University, according to Col. Harris, because colleges with first-year ROTC programs normally are not allocated U.S. Army scholarships.

Dolan was selected by a screening board which considered all sophomore cadets. The scholarship will cover tuition, books, laboratory fees and educational supplies. Also, he will receive a subsistence allowance of $50 monthly.
