Congressman Steiger To Kickoff Homecoming

William A. Steiger, Republican Congressman from Wisconsin and one of the U.S. Jaycees Ten Outstanding Young Men in America in 1968, will speak at a special homecoming convocation at the University, Friday, Oct. 10.

His address, scheduled for 2 p.m. in the fieldhouse, is the kickoff event for the 1969 MSU Homecoming.

Steiger, who when first elected to the Wisconsin State Legislature in 1960 was one of the youngest legislators in the state's history, served three terms before his election to Congress in November of 1966.

He was reelected to Congress in 1968 and is currently a member of the House Committee on Education and Labor, whose chairman is Carl D. Perkins, Representative from the 7th, Congressional District of Kentucky.

Steiger served as national chairman of the College Young Republications from 1959 to 1961 during which time he earned the bachelor of science degree from the University of Wisconsin.

During the 90th Congress he was a member of the House Republican Task Force on Agriculture and a member of the House Republican Task Force on Urban Affairs. In the current 91st Congress, he is a member of the House Republican Planning and Research Committee.

"Congressman Steiger is one of the outstanding young men in the legislative halls of Washington today," said President Adron Doran, "and we are honored to have him speak at our homecoming convocation."

Following the Convocation, a candlelight dinner featuring music by Mrs. Adron Doran and a student combo will be held in the Adron Doran University Center from 6-8 p.m. The evening will be concluded by a concert featuring Johnny Mathis and a 30-piece orchestra performing from 8:30 until 10:30.

Activities on Saturday will include registration and receptions during the morning and a smorgasbord luncheon from 11 until 1:30 in the Adron Doran University Center. The dedication of Downing Hall, named for the University's first athletic director and coach, George D. Downing, will be held at 1 p.m.

The homecoming football game between Morehead and Austin Peay, is scheduled for 2:30 to be followed by fraternity and sorority receptions. The annual homecoming dance, featuring the Stan Kenton Orchestra in the multi-purpose room of the Laughlin Health Building and the MSU Stage Band in the fieldhouse, will begin at 8 p.m.

Lower Class Enrollment Leveling Off

By Brenda McFall
Managing Editor

"We're expecting a leveling off in the lower class enrollment with an increase in the upper classes partly due to the increase in community colleges in the surrounding areas," said President Adron Doran as he discussed enrollment statistics for this school year.

Total enrollment for this year is now set at 6,452 with an increase of 121 percent over 1968. This figure when broken down into the individual classes shows a slight leveling off in the freshman and sophomore classes with an increase in the junior and senior classes. The comparison in the graduate students of 1968 and 1969

Inscape Sponsors Poetry Reading By Campus Poets

A poetry reading will be held tomorrow night in the Art Theatre in the Claypool-Young Art Building at 7:30.

Sponsored by "Inscape" the reading will feature the original poems of any campus poet who wishes to participate. "Dr. Feelgood's Medicine Show Jugband" will perform during intermission and before the program begins.

Any campus poet who wishes to read may leave their name with Judy Brown in Combs 222 or Paula Raines before 4 p.m. Thursday.

Coffee will be served and there is no charge for admission.

Prancing and strutting in their form-fitting gold and blue outfits, the Eaglettes are leading the MSU Marching Band this year. Comprised of 27 coeds, the Eaglette twirling corps is supervised by Mrs. Kathryn Hawkins, assistant to Dr. Robert Hawkins, director of bands. The Eaglettes will be performing at halftime of the Homecoming Game this Saturday afternoon. The football Eagles tangle with Austin Peay's Governors at 2:30 p.m. in Breathitt Sports Center Stadium.

No Back-In Parking, Other Rules May Ease Traffic Problems

By Mary Jo Wininger

A new traffic regulation requiring students to pull into spaces instead of backing in is included in the traffic manual this fall.

The regulation was added to aid the University in checking parking stickers, especially in areas where cars backed against walls make stickers difficult to see.

According to Dean Ronald Walke, associate dean of student affairs, there are approximately 1400 cars registered so far this fall - an increase of about 100 cars from fall, 1968.

By combining some of the smaller zones, the number of zones has been decreased from 20 to 13 this year, creating less confusion for the students and the University.

Zone 5 now includes parking around Union, Regents, Cooper, and Alumni Halls east of the creek; between Mays, Butler, and No. 7; in the gravel lots around No. 7 and behind the Laughlin Health Building; and the gravel lot behind the Field House.

Students Barred

Students are not allowed to park in the staff parking lot at the south end of Alumni Tower or in front of Perkins Hall in Zone 7.

Zone 3 includes parking around Mignon Complex, Nunn Hall, and along Earle Clements Lane from Baird Music Hall to Waterfield Hall.

South of the exit from Mignon Complex to Earle Clements Lane is Zone 4 parking.

The new compound is located at the south end of the football field.

Two New Zones

Two new zones, 10 and 13, were constructed for commuters. Zone 10 is located behind Holbrook Drugs and Zone 13 behind the Frontier Steak House.

A new type of sticker this year permits a student to park in any zone if the student is injured or handicapped in such a way that he must drive to class.

Freshman and sophomores, except sophomores with a 3.0 or better, are not allowed to possess motor vehicles in Rowan County. Juniors and seniors on academic or social probation are also denied automobile privileges.

Students violating the regulation concerning possession of cars are subject to disciplinary action by the University.

Don't Double Park

Students are at no time to double park, park by a yellow curb or a fire hydrant, or in a loading zone.

All zone regulations are in effect from 1 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Dean Walke urges the cooperation and understanding of all students in the parking situation.

If students will read, understand, and follow the traffic regulations in the manual given to them when the car was registered, the traffic problem will be greatly decreased, according to the Dean.

Seniors

The Senior class will hold a class meeting tomorrow afternoon (Thursday) at 5 p.m. in Button Auditorium. The purpose of this meeting is to elect a class secretary and to nominate two persons for Who's Who of the Senior Class.

A Brief Glimpse Of Our Queen And Her Court

By Brenda McFall
Managing Editor

The 1969 Homecoming Queen and her Court are a mixture of many different types of personalities.

Barbara Gallenstein, a junior from Maysville, comes from a family of 15. At the University she is majoring in elementary education and hopes to teach after graduation. She is now the reigning Lambda Chi Alpha Sweetheart.

Becky Hortel, majoring in computer technology, is a sophomore from Cincinnati, Ohio. She plans to work in the computer field. At the University she is pledging Alpha Sigma Rho and is a cheerleader.

Mari Tru Lowdenbeck comes from Greenup and is a sophomore. She is now pledging Alpha Sigma Rho sorority and is also a cheerleader.

Gayle Lyon, a senior from Columbus, Ohio, is majoring in speech and drama. She plans to teach in Louisville and after graduation would like also to work in television. If this doesn't keep her too busy, she would like to do some free lance modeling. She is the present Miss MSU, is a member of the Alpha Sigma Rho Sorority, Open Forum, and Morehead Players.

Kerry Martin, a senior from Morehead, is majoring in English and Library Science. She would like to teach or go into advertising after graduation. She is a member of Kappa Delta Sorority.

Susie Meade comes from Neon and has a major in vocational home economics. She is a senior. She is a member of Chi Omega Sorority, a past member of Student Life Committee, Home Economics Club, and Kappa Omicron Phi (Home Ec honorary.) She plans to teach home economics in high school and college after graduation.

Diane Potter of Russell is a senior majoring in elementary education. She plans to teach after graduation. She is a member of Alpha Sigma Rho Sorority, secretary of Open Forum, on the Recontact staff, and last year was on the executive committee of the Miss MSU Pageant.

Rita Spears, a senior majoring in history and English, comes from Catlettsburg. She plans to teach high school. She is president of Alpha Sigma Rho Sorority, in Gamma Beta Phi Honorary, Kappa Delta Pi, and is a member of the Honors Program.

Sharon Spradlin, of Newport is a junior majoring in sociology and minoring in psychology. She plans to teach or go into social work. She is a member of Alpha Sigma Rho Sorority and last year was a candidate for Miss MSU.

Mary Sue Webb of Hazard is a junior majoring in music. She would also like to teach after graduation. She is a member of Alpha Sigma Rho Sorority, Sigma Alpha Iota (music honorary), Concert Choir, and Chambers Singers.

Beverly Woods, a junior from Louisville, is majoring in speech and drama and in sociology. She hopes to get a doctors degree in sociology and maybe become a pre-marital counselor. She is pledging Chi Omega Sorority, was first runner-up in the Miss MSU Pageant last year, is a member of Morehead Players, and was a freshman cheerleader.

The Summoning Of Everyman Will Be First Dramatic Production

By John Cannon

The Morehead drama department has gone back into theater history about 500 years to revive the famous morality play, "The Summoning of Everyman," for its first production of the year.

Beginning around 1000 A.D., the primary purpose of theater was moral instruction. The theater goer was constantly reminded by the play that he should consider his own end. In an age where most of the people were illiterate, drama was considered a medium for religious instruction.

"Everyman" is the most familiar of the so-called morality plays. Written about 1475, versions have been found in both Dutch and English indicating the universality of the play.

Unlike other less-familiar morality plays, "Everyman" in addition to giving moral instruction has managed to be a well-written, sometimes comic and entertaining play. Its message is arrived at by equating the Last Judgment with an earthly trial. Everyman has lived a sinful life. He has drunk freely, run with women and gambled. God sends Death to him unexpectedly. Everyman must make an account of his life.

Divested of its religious metaphor, it is a realistic story of a steward appearing before his master and giving account of his stewardship. In spite of its pessimistic format, "Everyman" has an optimistic ending. Everyman throws himself to the mercy of God.

Despite the age of the play, the Morehead production of "Everyman" promises to be very modern, using some of the newest theater techniques. Directed by Dr. J.G. Barefield, who has modernized the script, the play will be produced in the Student Theater, November 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25.

Moving Words And Music Combine In 'Upbeats' Album

By Jeff Rice

Imagine the dramatic beating of drums, a beautifully singing chorus, a magic flute, and the moving words, "some say that a vision is best," and you've imagined a portion of "We're Upward Bound," the fourth song on a 45 rpm "album" by the "Upbeats."

Although the "Upbeats" recorded the album after working together for only eight weeks, it would certainly be unfair to speak of it as amateurish. The record is of exceptionally high quality. In addition to the superior harmony of the singers, the group features Lisa Palas as composer and pianist, Gene Deaton as conductor, and David Taylor as drummer. But the highlight of the recording is Jim Martin's hauntingly beautiful performance on the flute.

The "Upbeats," formed in 1967, are a part of the University's Upward Bound program. One of some 300 institutions throughout the United States to have Upward Bound programs, Morehead's program is highly successful in the eyes of the federal government, which sponsors it.

Began A Tradition

The "Upbeats" album itself attests to the success of this program. This album is an end result of a great deal of concern, motivation, and preparation. The record is a product of education: it is tangible; it can be felt; its beautiful music can be heard. Even more important, the "Upbeats" have begun tradition which will continue at the University. New names and new faces will come into the group but the tradition will stay the same. A new group, "Upbeats 69" has already been formed. This group recorded an album at the end of summer which will be released sometime in the future.

Those interested in hearing the "Upbeats 68" album should tune in to WKY-FM on October 12 to Brad Jones' program, "Groove Yard," which is aired each Sunday evening from 6:30 to 9:00 p.m. In addition to playing the record, Brad will feature interviews with Lydia Lewis and Calvin Settles the two "Upbeats 68" performers who presently attend the University.

The album, which is known simply as "Up Beats," contains four songs: "World of Love," "So Many Times," "Someday" and "We're Upward Bound." The album can presently be found at the campus bookstore and can be purchased for one dollar. All proceeds will be directed into a scholarship fund for Upward Bound students who wish to go to college.

A Challenge To The Council

The Student Council has been elected, except for possibly a few dormitory presidents. It is now ready to operate as an effective tool of the students. At least, we hope so.

The Council is faced with a challenge this year to effectively deal with student needs. Perhaps with the program of entertainment already set up for the year, Council will meet it. In the past too much time has been spent in Council meetings discussing what groups to bring in to entertain the students. Fortunately this year they were decided during the summer.

During the first meeting, President Bill Bradford will be ready with a list of appointments to the various committees on campus. In the past, these have been accepted without debate. Apparently the Council members have not felt these appointments important enough to merit a discussion. This is not true. The appointments are important. They represent the students' voice on the decision-making committees of this University. Each appointment should be seriously considered to be sure the voice is a strong one.

The age-old problem of the Student Council Constitution still exists. We are getting tired of editorializing about the need for a new one, but as long as the need exists we will continue to discuss it. Anyone who has seriously studied the present Student Council Constitution can readily see that it is outdated. Many actions the Council takes now are technically unconstitutional, but they must be taken in order to operate effectively.

The new constitution would be a reality now if the Council members and students would have helped the individuals trying to frame one. Last year, the Constitutional Revision Committee meetings were marked with sparse attendance. When the Constitution did get to the floor of the Council, the Council attendance was unbelievably low.

If students and especially Council members do not back the framing of a new constitution, it will never be a reality.

We think that in the past the Council members have put their social clubs ahead of their Council Representation. We challenge the newly elected Council members to make their representation of the students a most important task and accept the responsibility of true representation of the students.

Student Teacher

All seniors who plan on Student Teaching during the Spring Semester, 1970. If you need to carry an extra course concurrent with Student Teaching you must submit a written petition to Dr. Paul F. Davis, dean of undergraduate programs, prior to November 26.

Application for student teaching for Spring Semester 1970 must be filed in Room A201, Professional Education Building by Friday, Oct. 10.

Bloodmobile

The Red Cross Bloodmobile will be at the Laughlin Fieldhouse on October 15. Any volunteers may donate blood between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m.

October 15: To Protest Or Not

In case you haven't heard, Oct. 15 is National Protest the Vietnam War Day on college campuses throughout the nation. On this day, college students everywhere are supposed to stay away from classes in protest of the War. If this day is successful, two days in November will be declared as protest days, three days in December, four days in January, etc.

Off-hand this sounds like a slick excuse for not going to class. It may impress some professors to say you skipped class in protest of the Vietnam War, rather than using the age old excuse of over-sleeping.

On the other hand, a professor may wonder what the Vietnam War has to do with his class in Bowling. If a student should happen to really over-sleep on Oct. 15, he may be labeled a protester by the professor. This could be tragic, especially if the professor was a hawk.

We seriously doubt if the national student strike, whether it is successful or not, will bring the Vietnam War closer to an end. Indeed it may prolong it, since some experts say that Hanoi fights harder when they think public opinion in the U.S. is mounting against the War, hoping the U.S. will pull out and give them everything.

We don't like the Vietnam War and should support any effort to bring it to a close, but we don't think a national student strike will aid in this effort.

We are going to class October 15.

Homecoming: A Weekend To Enjoy

This weekend is homecoming. It is the biggest weekend of the school year. Starting with the Candlelight Dinner Friday evening and ending with the Homecoming Dance Saturday night, there is something going on almost every waking hour.

Homecoming is not just for the alumni who return to the campus once a year to see how it has changed, it is also for the students now attending the University. We encourage every student to take advantage of as much of the weekend as he can afford.

For $17, a couple can enjoy all the activities of the weekend. While this may sound like a lot, when you consider all you are getting, it is worth the price.

We hope you will partake in this active weekend. We guarantee that you will enjoy yourself.

The Poetry Of Cheers

By John Cannon

by Terry Bentley

Some programs to be aired on WKMY this fall are: Night Call. After School Program, Buchwald On. The Drum, Book Beat, and BBC Science Magazine.

Night Call is a nation-wide listener call-in program originating from New York. Night Call, aired by WKMY-FM for about a year, has won numerous awards for its open discussions on controversial issues. One of the more recent awards is the 1969 Ohio State Award.

There is growing concern, that the program may be taken off the air because of lack of interest by some of its financial supporters. It can be heard each weekday night at 11:30.

Programs For Children

Each afternoon at 3:15 WKMY-FM presents an after-school program for children of all ages. The young at heart will be delighted with such programs as: Fun From the Dictionary, Faces of Man, Creative Thinking, American Folktales, World of Wonder, and Pocket Full of Tales. Buchwald On is a humorous commentary on current events. It was specially adapted for radio from Buchwald's columns and vividly brought to life by the Buchwald Players with regular appearances by Art Buchwald himself. Buchwald On is aired Monday thru Friday at 10:45 p.m.

For Black Americans

Monday evenings at 7 p.m. WKMY-FM airs The Drum. These programs attempt to provide a voice from and to the American Black Community. The programs are produced for, by, and about Black Americans.

Book Beat features Robert Cromie, book editor for the Chicago Tribune in conversations with prominent and not-so-well-known authors. It has won both the Emmy and the Peabody awards and is adapted to radio. It is heard Fridays at 7 p.m.

For listeners with an interest in science and technology WKMY-FM airs the BBC Science Magazine. It presents short reports and interviews on late advances in science, technology, and discovery, plus talks by famous scientists, each Tuesday at 7 p.m.

Homecoming Art Exhibit Opens Today

A Homecoming art exhibit opens today and will continue a week in the main gallery of the Claypool-Young building, gallery director Marjorie Bohn announced. Prints, paintings, drawings and three-dimensional works of all types will be displayed from 10 a.m. — 4 p.m. except Thursday, Friday and Tuesday when the gallery will remain open until 10 p.m., and Sunday when it will open from 1-5 p.m. only.

Spot Check

Legalization Of Marijuana

By Fanny Fried

The question we asked of students this week was whether or not they favored the legalization of marijuana. In answer to the question the following MSU students had this to say:

Larry Gooding — No, I can see no reason for the legalization of marijuana. I can see no useful purpose that it would serve to our society, and as everyone knows, society has got enough hangups now, without adding one more to it.

Connie Wells — No, I don't believe that marijuana should be legalized because we do not know all the side effects of marijuana and a lot of young people don't know exactly what they're dealing with. There are a lot of physical reactions to marijuana that have not been totally investigated. I believe that alcohol and smoking are bad enough — and why bring something else onto the market that is probably twice as bad as your common-day vices.

Too Little Information

Ronn Kidd — I don't think there is enough information or research has been compiled of marijuana as of yet to have it on the open market or as a means of interstate commerce.

Tanna Heller — I think that marijuana should be legalized because people would tend to get it anyway and it would seem to me that it should be left up to their own moral standards or moral codes as to whether they want to use it or not. The laws against it now don't seem to be doing much good in keeping people from getting drugs.

Ronnie Back — No, I don't think marijuana should be legalized. I feel that it is a dangerous drug — if it wasn't dangerous it would have been legalized a long time ago, it looks like to me, I'm very much against it — and I feel very strongly about it. I feel almost 100 percent that anything that puts a person where they are completely unaware of themselves, when they are completely unaware of what they are doing or where they are at, or lose control of themselves or actions, it should not be made legal.

Cheerleading, to me, is the ultimate in exotic dancing. The highlight of football and basketball games for me is the performance of this art form by the cheerleaders. However, I think too often the spectators get so involved in watching the cheerleaders, that they fail to hear the message the girls (or sometimes boys) are shouting.

It is unfortunate that so few people fail to see the poetry of cheers. I think this is because they never really analyze the cheers.

Let us analyze some of the cheers our own cheerleaders at the University use to point out the poetry of them.

For instance, one cheer is, "Yeah, yeah, yeah — yeah, uh-huh," repeated until it has been definitely driven into the ground, never to recover until the next first down. The significance of these words never ceases to amaze me. Why they are poetry in their simplicity. By just changing two words the entire meaning of the cheer is reversed. Substitute no for yeah and un-un for uh-huh and you have "No, no, no-un-un." See how the entire meaning of the cheer has been changed? I find it really amazing.

Beware, Goal Post

Another Morehead cheer is "Sack it to the goalpost, ooo-ah," again repeated until the fans are sick of it. The phrasing of this cheer is so perfect and so direct that it is sure to instill fear and trepidation into any goalpost, if indeed a goalpost can feel fear and trepidation.

Still another cheer used at the Marshall game was "Beat Marshall beat, Beat Marshall beat, Beat Marshall beat, Beat Marshall beat, Yeeaaaaa!!!!!!". The message of this cheer would be difficult to misinterpret. It seems to support violence and strong determination. I believe its effectiveness is in its directness.

Another cheer that is not only common here but throughout the nation is "Two bits, four bits, six-bits, a dollar, all for Morehead stand up and holler."

This cheer is interesting not because of its poetic value but because of its psychological value. It appeals to the financial aspect of a person's life. It may lead one to think that he will somehow receive between two bits and a dollar for standing up and hollering. However, this is not true. The cheer is misleading. The only time I received any financial benefit for standing and hollering was when a person somewhere in the stands lost a quarter through a hole in his pocket when he stood up to holler. It rolled to my feet so naturally I picked it up and pocketed it. (I hollered a little louder, too.)

Come A Long Way

Yes cheers have come a long way since "Chattanooga, Chattanooga, choo, choo, choo, we're from Morehead and how-do-you-do," or "Acka lacka ching, acka lacka chow, acka lacka ching-chang chow, chow, chow. Boom-a-lacka, boom-a-lacka ss-boom-bah, Morehead Eagles rah, rah, rah!" I'm not sure they have gone in the right direction, but they have come a long way.

It is too bad cheers are limited to basketball and football. I think they should be expanded to cover baseball, golf, tennis and swimming. The cheerleaders could say, "Sack it to the leftfield, ooo-ah." "Fore, fore, fore: a hole in one or more," and maybe even "Splash, splash, Balderdash!"

'Daddy's Gone A-Hunting' Provides Escapes For All

By Jeff Rice

"Daddy's Gone A-Hunting", which ended last night at University Cinema proved to be yet another in a long line of escape films which have appeared here recently. In addition to the film being for the general escape of the audience, the story itself was full of its own "escapes". Cathy was trying to escape from Kenneth, Kenneth was trying to escape from the police, the parakeet was trying to escape from the cat, and the fly was trying to escape from the milk.

I would find it difficult to grade the movie because I both like and dislike it. It does not belong to the group of films which I consider serious, thought-provoking, and worthwhile. One might argue that the movie offers an interesting study of neurotic behavior, but I believe that both the acting and the story are too undeveloped to support such a theory. On the other hand, as mere suspenseful entertainment, "Daddy's Gone A-Hunting" might be considered a fairly good movie. But even at that, the film suffers a number of ailments. The acting is often poor — particularly at first. The plot is rather involved:

Cathy had to meet Kenneth, love him, leave him, have an abortion, meet a new man, love him, marry him, then have his baby — all before the greatest suspense of the movie could occur. This unfolded in only 108 minutes, necessitating many jumps in time, several of which were difficult to accept. For example, a scene in which Cathy left Kenneth immediately followed one in which she was greatly in love with him. Later she was shown marrying Jack immediately after she met him; when he asked "How do you do?", she said "I do"!

The film, by the way, belongs to still another category — "cat movies". A long line of recent films which have included cats in their casts. Though I am rather weary of cats in movies (why doesn't someone ever feature a goat?) I was nevertheless delightfully surprised at the excellent performance of Prissy (played by Bobbie Inn). In fact, for her fine parakeet-catching and playing-dead techniques, I would not hesitate to nominate Prissy as "Best Cat Performer of the Year".

'Me, Natalie'

'Me, Natalie', which begins tonight,

promises to be a much better movie. In fact, if this film fulfills its expectations it will be the best movie to appear here thus far this semester. "Me, Natalie" is not merely a suspense story; it is a story about today; it is a story of an 18 year-old girl's desperate search for identity in our complex and confusing world.

Is sensitive and perceptive. Natalie, played by the Academy Award winning Patty Duke, is tormented by her outward lack of beauty — which contrasts with the beauty she feels within here.

Patty Duke is said to run the gamut of emotions in this movie — pathos and humor, tears and laughter.

Often pained emotionally, she is in desperate need of someone to love, someone to fill the void of her emotions. But she discovers that the man she turns to is already married.

Much of the movie was filmed on location in New York, at Brooklyn's Prospect Park and Greenwich Village. This on-the-scene filming promises to be a boon as the photography has been highly acclaimed.

to know that the Cinema will be featuring two films this week. "Number One", starring Charlton Heston, will start Sunday. Reflecting the philosophy that "the heroes of society today are often the victims" this is the story of a football player past his prime who is no longer "Number One" in fact, but cannot bring himself to quit.

Terri Bonar wears one of the new fall fashions, a grabcoat, on her way to the first P.D.I. course of this semester which began October 7.

PDI Format Of One's Self Remains Same

Last year, Mrs. Mignon Doran, with the assistance of the MSU Research and Development Center, established the Personal Development Institute.

This year's plans have begun, in which chosen students will participate in the 10 hour, no tuition, no credit course.

The aim of PDI is "total image projection" or methods of how to enhance one's inner beauty and attributes, as well as one's outer appearance. The development in basic societal values, character, ethics, morals and standards will be included to enhance one's "self."

Last year, both male and female, participating were primarily the presidents, vice-presidents and one delegate from each of the sororities and fraternities on campus. Now her program has expanded and is hoped to eventually include all students who are interested in PDI at the University.

Mrs. Doran has long been known for her work with young people. Since entering the teaching profession at 17, she has been concerned with the area of human development that educational institutions have neglected.

Music Fraternity Convention Set

The regional Phi Mu Alpha convention will be held in Nashville, Tenn. Oct. 13 and 14. The convention has become so large that it has been broken down into regions, this one including Kentucky, Tennessee, and West Virginia.

The purpose of the convention is to carry on the business of the fraternity and to get recommendations for delegates to the national representative assembly which will meet next summer in Michigan.

Among the representatives from Morehead will be: Dr. William Bingham, faculty advisor; Bob Grey, president of Phi Mu Alpha; and Dr. J.E. Duncan, dean of the school of Humanities who will be serving on the national executive committee. Dean Duncan has also been nominated for the position of national vice-president.

The musical highlight of the convention will be a composition for male chorus and percussion which was commissioned by the fraternity and composed by Samuel Adler.

Enrollment Also Less For Out-Of-Staters

also shows a definite increase in their number.

Out-of-state student enrollment is also down percentage wise approximately three percent. This is in keeping with the state ruling on limiting out-of-state students in the state institutions.

The percentage of male to female students this year is 55.5 percent male to 44.5 percent female.

"In the next few years I would be satisfied to see a leveling off at about 7,000 students. I'm more interested in being concerned with the quality of the institution rather than being concerned with the quantity," Dr. Doran said.

Homecoming 1968

The trophy being held by Head football coach Jake Hallum (left) and Lambda Chi Alpha President Carl Rollins will be presented to the "Most Outstanding Player" in this week-end's Homecoming Game against Austin Peay. It will be the fraternity's first annual presentation.

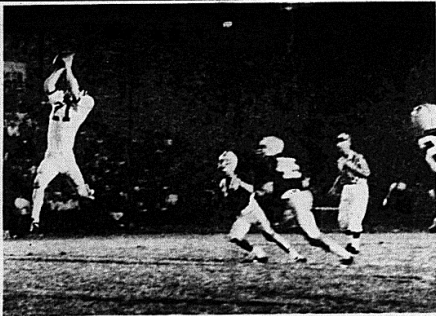

Intramural Archery

Pat Pestle outshot a field of 21 other archers to win the Women's Intramural Archery Tournament. She finished with a score of 100 out of a possible 180 to win the event.

The men's division of archery competition saw Ron Kramer of Lambda Chi Alpha place first, shooting 70 of a possible 120.

In the closed division of the Intramural Archery Tournament, open only to men with their own bows and equipment, Jim McCollum's 92 gave him the title.

Eagle wingback John Coning snares a Bill Marston pass as Thorobred defensive backs Kevin Grady (44) and Jim Harrell (45) look on. In three games thus far, Coning has grabbed 12 passes for 90 yards.

Thorobreds Stop Eagles Ground Offense Falters

By Don Smith
Sports Editor

As they say, "When opportunity knocks, open the door." The saying is never more appropriate than in a football game.

Take the Morehead-Murray game, for example, played Saturday night. Both the Eagles and Thorobreds heard the pounding on the door, but instead of taking advantage of each other, they spent the night trading punts.

The final score, foreseen by most to be a representative of each team's volatile offenses, instead saw the Thorobreds squeak by the Eagles, 13-7.

Murray, sparked by freshman Rick Fisher's slicing end sweeps and running on screen passes from quarterback Matt Haug, scored on the very first play of the second quarter as Haug found Fisher open on a 17 yard pass play.

The Eagles were forced to punt four times before they got their offense clicking in the second quarter.

After Eagle Dave Haverdick blocked Chuck Cantrell's punt on the Thorobreds' forty-one yard line, Bill Cason and Louis Rogan carried the ball to a first down on the Murray 16 yard line.

Momentum Stopped

The Eagles' momentum was stopped cold on the next play, as halfback Rogan fumbled the ball to Murray on the 10 yard line.

The Eagles got another chance late in the half, as defensive back Ron Gathright picked off a Haug pass and returned it 29 yards.

Three plays later, sophomore Dennis Crowley hauled in a pass from Bill Marston on the Thorobred 18 yard line, only to fumble the ball himself.

The score became 13-0 midway in the third quarter when Haug guided Murray to the Eagle one-yard line and carried it over himself. Stan Watts' kick was blocked.

The Eagles' ground game slowed. Marston went to the air. Less than a minute later, John High grabbed a thirty-yard touchdown pass from Marston to pull the Eagles within six points of the home team, and raise the Eagle's spirits.

However, the Eagles didn't get close again until just over a minute to play in the game.

After a Murray drive was stymied on a missed Watts field goal on the Eagle 21, John Coning ran for nine yards, and split end Maurice Hollingsworth grabbed a third down pass from Marston to move the ball to Murray's 33.

Then Marston hit speedster Jeff Perkins with a 36-yard bomb which gave Morehead a first down on the Murray 26 yard line with 20 seconds on the clock.

Marston threw to High on the next three attempts only to have the double-coverage duo of Jim Brown and Bud Qualk knock the ball away.

Time ran out for the Eagles as Crowley took Marston's last pass for a short gain.

Bill Marston, going into the contest with a passing percentage of over 60 percent, hit on 18 of 42 passes and 186 yards.

Defensive tackle Mark Sheehan was shaken up shortly before the end of the first half, apparently being stunned in the spinal chord. His injury was not believed to be serious.

One of the highlights of homecoming activities this Saturday will be dedication of the 136-man athletic dormitory which has been named for George D. Downing. Dedication ceremonies are scheduled at 7 p.m. honoring Downing who served as athletic director and coach of all sports from 1923 to 1936.

MSU Loses Cross Country To Cincinnati

Dave Udovic of University of Cincinnati led his team to victory over Morehead as his teammates swept the first four places in a cross-country meet held Sept. 30 at the University Golf Course.

Running against one of the top teams in the nation, Morehead managed a fifth place by the effort of Dan Price, and a sixth place finish by Nick Tsanges, over the 4.5 mile course.

Morehead will compete Oct. 4 in the Ashland College Invitational to be held at Ashland, Ohio.

Team results: University of Cincinnati 17, Morehead 28.

Individual results: 1. Dave Udovic, 22:20, UC; 2. Mike Rogers, 22:21, UC; 3. Ron Stapleton, 22:22, UC; 4. Dan McCrime, 22:23, UC; 5. Dan Price, 22:33, MSU; 6. Nick Tsanges, 23:09, MSU; 7. Lynn Merholz, 23:30, UC; 8. John Wikoff, 23:47, MSU; Gary White, 24:39, MSU; Darrell York, 24:45, MSU; Don Cain, 25:01, MSU; Ted Koerner, 25:23, MSU.

Dennis Hursey Travels Country, Wins Quantico

Dennis Hursey, captain of the 1968-69 track team, competed in 15 track meets this summer. Hursey traveled over the Eastern United States competing in meets.

The sprinter's biggest win of the season came at the Marine Corp Invitational Track and Field Meet at Quantico, Va., where he turned in a winning time of 21.2 in the 220. Hursey, later in the summer at the Independence Relays in Philadelphia, placed second in the 100 with a time of 9.6 seconds.

"Batman" is encountering unexpected enemies. The Soviet newspaper Pravda has charged that the popular TV hero contributes to a "warlike" atmosphere in the United States. In the opinion of the Red mouthpiece, Batman serves as a stimulus to make Americans more eager to act as "murderers" in Viet Nam.

Soccer Team Loses First Growing Pains Are Obvious

By Gus Persson
The MSU soccer team coached by Dr. Mohammed Sabie, lost its first match of the season to Morris Harvey 3-0, Saturday, at Charleston, W. Va.

The team, rated one of the top 10 teams in the South, has only four returning players from last year. The rest of the 16-man team is made up of freshmen and others who have never played soccer before.

However, Dr. Sabie is hopeful for the rest of the year and feels sure the team can pick up and give their opponents some good, hard-fought games.

Dr. Sabie, who has a 32-5-2 record since Morehead started intercollegiate soccer in 1965, will have players recruited from his soccer classes and two reserves replacing nine starters missing from his 1968 squad which finished 8-1-1.

Returning from the 1968 team are Mike Egan and Dr. Sabie's younger brother, Ahmed. Tom Creamsan, a starter on the undefeated team of 1967, is also back.

Dr. Sabie is hopeful that soccer will soon become a recognized sport in the OVC. Other OVC schools that have soccer are Tennessee Tech, Murray, and Western. Dr. Sabie said he thinks that in three years the OVC will have a soccer conference set up. Right now, Morehead does not grant scholarships or aid to soccer players.

The next match is with Transylvania at Morehead on Saturday, Oct. 18.

Educational Testing Service Lists Dates For Testing

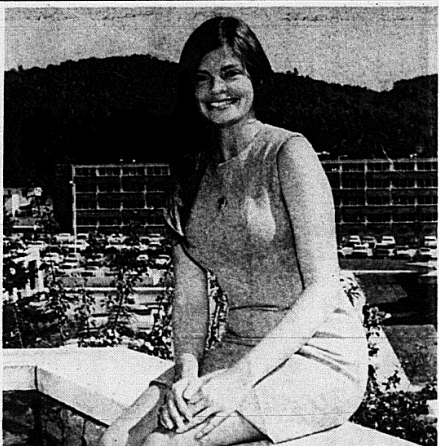

Educational Testing Service announced today that undergraduates and others preparing to go to graduate school may take the Graduate Record Examinations on any of six different test dates during the current academic year.

The first testing date for the GRE is October 25, 1969. Scores from this administration will be reported to the graduate schools before December 1. Students planning to register for the October test date are advised that applications received by ETS after October 7 will incur a $3.00 late registration fee. After October 10, there is not guarantee that applications for the October test date can be processed.

The other five test dates are December 13, 1969; January 17, February 28, April 25 and July 11, 1970. Equivalent late fee and registration deadlines apply to these dates. Choice of test dates should be determined by the requirements of graduate schools or fellowships to which one is applying. Scores are usually reported to graduate schools five weeks after a test date.

The Graduate Record Examinations include an Aptitude Test of general scholastic ability and Advanced Tests measuring achievement in 21 major fields of study. Full details and registration forms for the GRE are contained in the 1969-70 Bulletin of Information for Candidates. The Bulletin also contains forms and instructions for requesting transcript service on GRE scores already on file with ETS. This booklet may be available on your campus or may be ordered from: Educational Testing Service, Box 955, Princeton, New Jersey 08540; Educational Testing Service, Box 1502, Berkeley, California 94701; Educational Testing Service, 960 Grove Street, Evanston, Illinois 60201.

Cetrulo And Mathers Place First Debate Team Wins Tournament,

Morehead's debate team won the Louisville Opener Debate Tournament at Bellarmine-Ursuline College last Saturday. Two members of the Morehead team, Don Cetrulo and Ronald Mathers, placed first with individual awards. This forensic activity was of a non-vet type in which a novice debater is paired with a variety member of the squad.

Don Cetrulo, Morehead junior, tied with a Carson-Newman College debater for the individual award given the top experienced speaker. Ronald Mathers, Morehead freshman, placed first in the inexperienced division.

The colleges and universities represented from five states were: Parsons College, Iowa; Tennessee Polytechnic Institute, Cookeville, Tenn.; Western University, University of Kentucky; Indiana University; Ball State University, Muncie, Ind.; Kenyon College, Gambier, Ohio; Anderson College, Anderson, Ind.; and Purdue University.

Other members of the Morehead squad who participated are: Lynda Phelps, sophomore, Hodgenville, Ky.; Kathy Crusie, freshman, Chillicothe, Ohio. Cetrulo is from Fort Thomas, Ky. and Mathers is from Hodgenville, Ky.

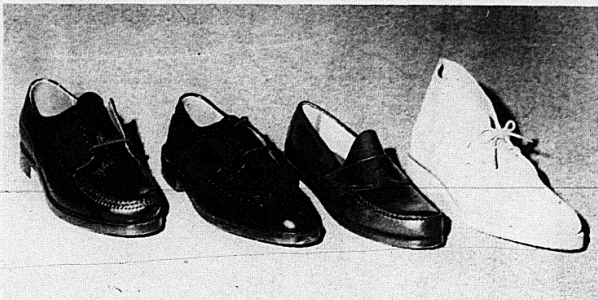

More Debate News

Don Holloway, president of the Kentucky Association of Communication Arts, and Mrs. Julia Webb, executive secretary of the same organization, participated in the Upper Cumberland Kentucky Education Association at Barbourville on October 3.

Both are Morehead faculty members in the Division of Communications and spoke on the subject entitled "Communications of the Future."

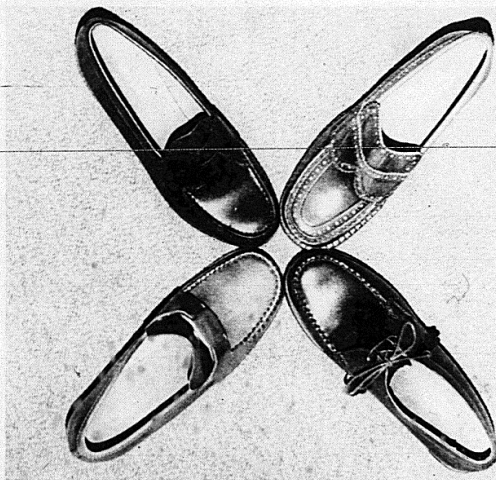

Other counties participating in this district meeting were those of Belle, Clay, Harlan, Knox, Laramie, and Whitley.

"This Atomic World," sponsored by the University, will appear in high schools throughout the state this year with Terry L. Hoffman (right) as teacher-demonstrator. Mr. Hoffman previews the program for Charles A. Payne, chairman, Division of Physical Sciences, at the University, who is state coordinator for the program.

'This Atomic World' Is Being Shown In High Schools Within The State

A demonstration lecture sponsored by the University and the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission on peaceful uses of atomic energy is being presented at 150 Kentucky schools during the 1969-70 school year.

This marks the second year MSU has been selected to help make the program available to Kentucky students.

Entitled "This Atomic World," the traveling demonstration is designed to acquaint students with basic principles of nuclear energy, its sources and its role in agriculture, industry, medicine and research.

Terry L. Hoffman, a 1969 graduate of Morehead in chemistry, presents the 40-minute assembly program which explains in simplified terms the structure of atoms, the operation of nuclear reactors and concepts of radiation, fission and fusion.

Specially designed electronic equipment is used to demonstrate the sources of radiation, how nuclear energy is harnessed to furnish electric power for cities and the use of radioisotopes to aid in diagnosis and treatment of diseases and learn more about life processes.

Following the assembly, a chalkboard talk to science classes deals more specifically with the topics of atomic structure, radioactivity, radiation biology and careers in nuclear science.

The program is presented in cooperation with Oak Ridge Associated Universities, a non-profit educational and research corporation of 41 Southern colleges and universities which operates the nationwide exhibits program for the Atomic Energy Commission.

The Kentucky unit of "This Atomic World" is one of 23 appearing daily at high schools throughout the country. They are part of the AEC's extensive traveling exhibit program designed to bring the public a greater understanding of atomic energy and its uses.

The University's participation in the nationwide program is supervised by Dr. Charles A. Payne, chairman of the Division of Physical Sciences.

Delta Omega Xi

The sisters of Delta Omega Xi are now living on the eighth floor of the newest women's dormitory, Nunn Hall.

Among alumni who recently visited on campus were Ronda Cooksey, Carolyn Dorton, Sue Stephenson, and Faye Walker.

The new advisor, Mrs. Carla DeMoss, is the wife of Gerald L. DeMoss of the Division of Biological Sciences, and is secretary to Dr. Matt Pryor.

Several members were married during the summer: Jane Stigall DeKorte, Susie Day Holbrook, Joann Stapleton McDowell, Sue Adams Quinn, and one of the advisors, Carole Carle Morella, whose husband, is Wayne Morella, director of Regents Hall.

This fall there have been candlelighting ceremonies for three sisters: Sherry Fitzwater, engaged to Perry Ennis; Valerie Masterka, engaged to Forrest Brown, and Brenda Powell, engaged to Dan Kuck.

Three new officers have been elected to fill vacant positions on the executive committee: Vicky Works, chaplain; Wanda Reed, sergeant-at-arms; and Brenda Powell, pledge mistress.

Omega candidates for Homecoming Queen are Helen Walker and Mereda Collins. Shirley Gayhart, is a candidate for senior class representative; Valerie Masterka, is a candidate for junior class representative.

Pam Early is student teaching at Bath County, Pam Scheurman in Louisville.

Helen Walker won the Delta Omega Xi Scholarship for the fall semester.

The sorority placed third in the competition for the Scholarship Cup for highest academic standing.

Added to the Delta Omega Xi Academic Achievement Plaque, to be on display in Adron Doran University Center are the names of: Sue Stephenson, graduate student with the highest academic standing during the spring semester; Paula Birchfield, active member with highest academic standing; and Jean Anne Lewis, pledge with highest academic standing.

Delta Omega Xi has adopted 16-year-old Deborah Ellen Daugherty, an Indian girl from Tahlequah, Okla., a junior and a top student at Tahlequah Senior High School.

Deborah, an orphan, is one of four children. Her guardian, Earl Squyres, Sr., has expressed gratitude to the sorority for helping further Deborah's education.

Home Economics Club

The University Home Economics Club held its annual Dessert Buffet Thursday, Sept. 25.

Girls with a major or area of concentration in Home Economics, interested in becoming a member of the club, were invited.

Information on becoming a member was given to those present and a get-acquainted game was played. Dessert prepared by the executive council was served to approximately 50 girls.

Campus Club

An active schedule is planned by the 29 brothers of Sigma Gamma Sigma this fall, including rushing and pledging, participating in the intramural program, the annual Food Drive with the Morehead Jaycees and the support of the Eagles with the newly painted Campus Club Cannon.

Bill Marston, starting quarterback, offensive starters Ed Mignery, Earl McCormick, and Buddy Harrison, Head Manager Bill Rogers, and Head Drum Major Chuck Lee all have headline duties at each Morehead football game.

Wayne Tullis, Dennis Cahall, and Butch Pass were all married this past summer. Craig Kincaid's wedding date is set for Oct. 8 with Teresa Greene, a sophomore from Winchester.

A Campus Club Alum, Ted Newcomb, will take over the duties of another Alum, Marshall Banks, as track and cross-country coach.

Community & Student Volunteers

The Community and Student Volunteers are planning a new project which will provide research on the town's facilities for recreational activities for the children of the Morehead area. It will be called the Railroad Street Survey Committee.

On October 18, the CSV's are planning to clean the cemetery. Any boys interested in helping with these projects, or if anyone has questions, he may contact Mary Ann Harris, 209 East Mignon.

The next meeting of the CSV's will be October 16 at 7:30 p.m. in the Combs Building room 202.

SNEA

Dr. Lawrence Steward of the Education Department was the featured speaker at the first meeting of the Student National Educational Association held September 25.

Jan Anderson and Diane Ballay were elected to represent SNEA as our homecoming candidates. Diane Ballay is also representing the club for Who's Who.

The following officers for the coming are: president, Jan Anderson; vice president, Diane Ballay; secretary-treasurer, Cathy Carver; and publicity chairman, Mary Kemper.

The next meeting of SNEA will be held October 23 at 7 p.m. in the Combs Building room 301.

AG Club

The Agriculture Club held its first meeting October 2, at 7 p.m. Committees were appointed for pledging, a spring party, dance and letterhead. Initiation for new members will formally begin Oct. 20.

Anyone having an interest in agriculture may pick up membership applications in 425 Lappin. Applications must be submitted before Oct. 13. The next meeting will be held Oct. 16 at 7 p.m. in room 224 Lappin.

Political Science Club

The Political Science Club of MSU had its first meeting of the year on Thursday, Oct. 2.

Two vacancies in officers were filled and two candidates were nominated to Who's Who. The two new officers are President Mason Branhram and Vice-President Don Cetrullo. They join Phyllis Mattingly as secretary, Brenda McFall as treasurer, Glen Buchanan, historian, and Charlene Jones, reporter. Who's Who nominees were Pam Phillips and Bud Worsten.

The line-up on club activities for the year include: sponsoring ushers for the concert series, a trip to the state legislature and attend seminars in Frankfort, sponsor the annual International Relations Day featuring famous dignitaries of national and world-wide fame, and monthly meetings, presenting many guest speakers.

Regular meetings for the club will be held on the second Thursday of each month at 7 p.m.

Tau Kappa Epsilon

The officers for the 1969-70 school year are Elmer Ray Smith, president; Lee Gold, vice president; Dave Schmittberger, secretary; Rich Herthly, treasurer; Nelson Garner, chaplain; Danny Reeder, historian; Greg Clements, sergeant at arms; and John Diehl, pledge trainer.

The fraters have been successful in opening their intramural program with wins in both bowling and football. The TKE mascot, a St. Bernard named Sir Charles II, has grown over the summer and is now a 85 pound, eight-month-old puppy.

Tau Kappa Epsilon has also recently acquired a new fraternity house, on the corner of Sun Street and Wilson Avenue, just above the old Trail Theater.

Kappa Delta

The Kappa Delta sisters have been busy since they returned to campus this fall.

Kathleen Flanagan, national field secretary, assisted the chapter during the rushing season, which added fourteen pledges to the Delta Tau Chapter. The pledge class consists of: Karen Booth, Faye Collins, Sheri Gamberling, Carla Hall, Charlene Jones, Sue Lockwood, Debbie Massie, Kathy Porter, Jennifer Scott, Theresa Smith, Linda Stanton, Marlene Strine, Brenda Upchurch and Carolyn Upchurch.

Kerry Martin was elected to the Homecoming Court.

At a recent election Marian Newell, Sharon Cassidy, and Karen Hall were voted into the offices of vice president, assistant, treasurer and editor, respectively.

Nominated for Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities are Jerry Chaffin, Marilyn Kitchen and Jerry Martin.

Janet Vaughan, Kappa Delta alumna, and Mike Rucker have announced December 20 as their wedding date.

Prae-Medicoorum Club

The Prae-Medicoorum club is planning to provide guest speakers from the University of Louisville Medical School free of charge to all interested students and faculty members.

This decision was the result of the club's realization that all of the previous speakers have reigned from the University of Kentucky Medical School.

The club also set a tentative date for its upcoming dance in December.

Capa Tridents

The CAPA Tridents' 1969-70 officers are Rita Spears, president. Penny Kaiser at vice president. Secretary is Gail Turner, and Rita Doan is treasurer.

Immediately after their return to campus, the CAPA's were very busy preparing for rush parties. There are now 12 girls in the pledge class, prior to rush.

The CAPA's are planning a Homecoming reception after the football game for all alumni in 101 Combs.

Five of the CAPA sisters were married this summer. They were Madge Walters, Jr. to John Baird; Lyra Haiz to Denny Cahall; Diane Walters to Mike Davis; Janie Rafter to Bill Baldridge; and Carol Crain to David Waller.

As one of their service projects for this year, the CAPA's are providing clothes for a high school girl in Mt. Sterling.

CAPA's had nine girls and three pledges on the Homecoming ballot. They are: Jan Anderson, Gayle Lyon, Diane Potter, Rita Spears, Sharon Spradlin, Donna Stamper, Mary Sue Webb, Janet Wood, Pat Pinto, Nicky Hamilton, Becky Hortal and Marie Lowdenbeck. Seven of these girls won the honor of appearing on the homecoming court.

ROTC

The Department of Military Science will hold its open house this Saturday, Oct. 11, at 9 a.m.

The open house will be held in the new part of Button Auditorium. The part which the ROTC occupies was formerly Button Gymnasium, which was remodeled with the newest equipment to provide modern classroom space.

Tours by military science students will begin in the lobby of the auditorium. Visitors will see classrooms, supply rooms, the cadet lounge, and the up-to-date rifle range.

There will also be a film, entitled "Where the Leaders Are" and narrated by Chet Huntley, shown in room 303 every 30 minutes.

Coffee will be furnished to the visitors.

The activities will end with the traditional presentation of the colors before the game with Austin Peay.

Chi Omega

Epsilon Theta chapter of Chi Omega had a busy rush season. Fourteen pledges have been accepted for fall pledging: Patsy Day, Whitesburg;

The pledge service was held Thursday night, October 2, and was followed by a banquet held in Alumni Tower.

Cardinal Key

Cardinal Key of MSU has been planning and organizing the forthcoming events for the year.

The club plans to establish a scholarship fund which is to be awarded to an outstanding freshmen girl on Honors Day. Arrangements have been made by the club to help with Homecoming activities and the upcoming Student Council election on Oct. 7.

At the meeting on Oct. 2, Don Blaylock, Baptist Student Center leader, did a pantomime.

Brenda McFall and Lyra Cahall were nominated for Who's Who. Mrs. George Lucky is the new sponsor for the club.

Theta Chi

Plans for installation of Theta Chi as a national fraternity were made at the first meeting held Tuesday, Sept. 22. Discussions were also held on pledge plans.

A decision was made to secure a fraternity house which is located in Bath County.

Representing Theta Chi for Homecoming Queen is Janet Wood, with Brenda Rennick as alternate selection. Scheduled for the next meeting is the election of officers.

Lambda Chi Alpha

Lambda Chi Alpha met Sept. 23 and elected the following officers: secretary, Steve Karabin; ritualist, Gene Kiser; pledge educator, Ernie Nichols; rush chairman, Paul Nichols; and house managers, Jack Christian and Tom Creaseman.

The brothers have been busy in general house repairs and are now busy with "rushing".

"See—we make our rounds faster and get in our jogging stint as well!"

JOHNNY MATHIS

An entertainment world phenomenon, Johnny Mathis moved from stardom in track and basketball to the top of the national music charts in a matter of months. And he has stayed at the top with eighteen gold record albums—a record unmatched by any other vocalist. Johnny Mathis in Concert is a night you won't want to miss!

STAN KENTON

"Today's most exciting sound in music" is the best description of the 18-piece Stan Kenton Orchestra, which will be making its second appearance in Morehead. Kenton has long been the most innovative and progressive big band leader in the music world and he has spent much time on college campuses lecturing and playing for his legion of admirers.
