MOREHEAD STATE UNIVERSITY
Tues., Feb. 17, 1970

Vol. 39

No. 16

Shown is Gayle (Lyons) Roche, Miss MSU last year, as she represented the University in the Miss Kentucky Pageant. She was chosen 1st Runner-up.

Miss MSU Premier Plans Are Finalized

Tickets are now on sale for the premier show of the 1970 Miss MSU Pageant to be held February 28.
Host Len Mink, star of the Len

Mink Show telecast weekly on WCPO-TV in Cincinnati, will present the 36 candidates. They will be judged on talent, ranging from singing, dancing, and piano playing, to the penning of their own musical compositions. From these 36, 10 finalists will be chosen to compete for the Miss MSU crown on March 14.

Tickets, for the premiere show, to be held at 8 p.m. in Button Auditorium, may be purchased at the lobby desk in the Adron Doran University Center at one dollar each.

The Miss MSU Pageant is sponsored by the Inter-Fraternity Council and the Pan Hellenic Council. The pageant executive committee members are as follows: executive director, Charles Lee; associate director, Tom Dominique; public relations, Jim Bailey; awards committee co-chairmen, Glen Coatsney and Jack Sims; entries committee, Diane Vincent; program book committee, Greg Tarone; premiere tickets, Diane McCleese; finals tickets, John Kieffner; production committee co-chairmen, Shelia Rose and Roy Venter; hostesses, Marilyn Pruitt.

Advisors on the pageant are Dean Anna Mae Rizzle, and Dean Ronald Walke. Gene Deaton, music director, and Larry Roof, technical advisor.

University Center Now In Operation; New Rooms Open

By Brenda McFall

The Adron Doran University Center was put into operation the first day of the spring semester.

Jack Hinson is serving as director with Mrs. Stella Mae Petrie as receptionist-hostess.

Meeting rooms are available for scheduling. The procedure to use in scheduling these rooms will be receiving approval from Dean Walke's office and then the actual scheduling will be done by Hinson and staff. Because there are only three such rooms, a meeting will have to be considered special (such as having a guest speaker) before scheduling will be allowed.

The game room located in the ground floor is open. The hours are 8-11 p.m., Mon.-Fri.; 12-12 p.m. Sat.; and 1-11 p.m. Sun. Pool is rated at 45 cents an hour per person. There is a variety of table games, such as dominoes, chess, cards, that may be checked out with a student I.D.

House rules and policies still have not been finalized. Various committees are working on them. Final approval of the rules and constitution will come through the Student Life Committee.

University Center Plans New Student Activity Night

A Student Activity Night is planned for this Friday night in the University Center Grill. It will begin at 9 p.m.

The event is another in a series sponsored by the University Center in an attempt to provide entertainment for the students when there is a lack of other events happening on campus. Previously they have sponsored the Halloween Funnare.

This activity night will be a grill dance with a local group performing. Jack Hinson, director of the University Center, said they are hoping the students will give suggestions for possible things to do on these nights. He said that a possible chess and bridge night is being discussed.

Photomicrography, Photographic Art, To Be On Exhibit

Photomicrography, a unique technique in photographic art will be on display for the first time in the Claypool-Young Gallery, Feb. 19 through March 1.

The exhibit is being presented by Allen Lake, associate professor of biology at M.S.U.

Over a two year period, Lake has assembled over 240 color transparency slides which will be showing continuously during the display. He will also be exhibiting over 40 enlarged color and black and white photographic prints.

Using unusual biological subject matter, Lake has created a new and somewhat abstract facet in the Art world.

John Gary

John Gary To Perform On Thursday

John Gary in concert, will be heading up the bill for the first Student Council special for the spring semester, Feb. 19.

Gary began his singing career at age nine, and by the age of 14 had sung his way across the United States. After serving in the U.S. Marines he began serious art study before pursuing his adult music career.

Today Gary is a professional sculptor as well as a talented and sensitive performer.

Be it in concert, on his own CBS-TV show or at major night clubs throughout the country, John Gary gives an outstanding performance. His boyish charm and remarkable voice and showmanship have gained him devotees from coast to coast.

Statistics Professor Will Visit Campus

Dr. William O. Thompson of the University of Kentucky Department of Statistics will visit the Morehead campus on Thursday. From 2 until 3:30 p.m. he will be available for appointments with individuals who are interested in pursuing graduate work in statistics. Anyone desiring an appointment may contact Dr. R. B. Cain at 783-3145. Dr. Thompson will be accompanied by Dr. Bhapkar.

At 4:10 p.m. Dr. Thompson will deliver a seminar lecture entitled "Basic Concepts in Statistics" in Lappin, Room 129. This is open to the public.

Student, Faculty Vote Needs Consideration

Senate Bill 75 to give voting rights to students and faculty members on Kentucky college or university boards of trustees or boards of regents, has definite merits and needs thoughtful consideration.

For two years a student, either president of his Student Council if a Kentuckian or otherwise elected by the student body, and a faculty member, elected by the faculty, have served as nonvoting members of the institutions' boards. At University of Kentucky there are two faculty members.

They have served in an advisory capacity only, however, and could be considerably more effective if they had a vote on the boards whose decisions affect them directly.

The faculty and students are integral parts of the university community. By being on campus they can be more sharply aware of the problems of the university and of the feelings of students and teachers. In many areas a student or a faculty member may be even better qualified to make a judgment on school policy than a board member who makes only an occasional official visit to the campus and must rely largely on secondhand information.

There are other areas where the student or faculty member may not have as much expert opinion, such as in matters of budget and likelihood of state financial support to various programs, but here they could borrow from the wisdom of those business men and civic leaders who have long served on the board, and who would still be in the majority.

Student, and possibly faculty, members would probably serve only a short time on the board since they are elected each year, but new persons on the board coming directly from the campus each year could give the rest of the board a fresh look at what is going on and what is needed. The chance for more innovative boards would certainly be greater if there were voting members from faculty and student body.

One aspect of the plan still disturbs us, and that is automatically placing a student body president on the board if he is a Kentuckian. First, the Student Council is not truly representative, being elected by a minority of students. Voting for Student Council officials is often less than vigorous, probably because the Student Council seems to many students to be generally ineffective. And if the Student Council is active and vigorous, then its president should devote his whole efforts to its operation and not have to hold down additionally a post on the Board of Regents. It would be better for the student representative to the board to be elected separately, in an election free of those issues, unrelated to that post, that often crop up in a Student Council election.

The Senate bill takes a long step toward recognizing students and faculty members as responsible members of the university community, and members who through their special knowledge, insight and experience, deserve to have more of a voice in the operation of institutions of higher learning.

Out-Of-State Limits Should Be Lifted

The move toward accepting fewer and fewer out-of-state students, which Kentucky colleges and universities have been directed to take by legislators has proven to have a disastrous effect on the finances and enrollments of all campuses. Legislative pressure to discourage out-of-state students by either putting a ceiling on the number each state college can admit or raising further out-of-state fees, should be eased.

In the past three years, out-of-state student enrollment at Morehead has fallen an average of 3.2 percent a year. One reason for this is the sizable fee increases on out-of-staters effected by the legislator two years ago. Another reason is fact that this university, like the other state supported institutions, has been ordered to allow an overall average of only 15 percent out-of-state students to be enrolled by 1972.

The result of this limiting of non-Kentucky students is less money for the state institutions. If Morehead replaced with a Kentucky student every out-of-stater it has lost because of the limitations would it still take in approximately $115,000 less money in student fees, according to President Adron Doran, who is vigorously opposed to continuing such limits on out-of-state students.

To further complicate matters, there is little hope that there are Kentucky students to replace the out-of-state losses, let alone to increase enrollment. The community colleges have taken their toll on the number of in-state students entering the six state supported Universities. Many students would simply rather attend a nearby community college for two years, where they can commute from home, rather than travel to the campus colleges.

At Morehead in the fall of 1967, there was a 12.1 percent increase in enrollment over the fall of 1966. In the fall of 1968, after the out-of-state fee increases and the community colleges began operating, the enrollment increase over 1967 was only 1.8 percent. While 33.3 percent of the students at Morehead were out-of-state residents in 1967, this fall only 23.7 percent of the students were non-Kentuckians.

The alternatives seems clear. Either the state legislators must make up the extensive financial losses the out-of-state limits have caused, or the limitations on out-of-state students must be eased. The legislators apparently thought their limitations would mean the state institutions would cost less money. This is not the case. We seriously doubt that the

Black Contribution In History Is Great

By Vida Murray

The week of February 8-14 was observed as Negro History Week. This week was established with the intent of enlightening the American public about the black American's achievements. Some people may feel that the black man's contributions to American society are few and can be sufficiently honored in a week. However, this is pure fantasy.

The black American has created a legacy in such areas as art, literature, music, medicine, and science, thus playing a substantial part in the formation of the creative background of this country. Yet the recognition given these Americans has been unbelievably lacking.

In the past, this week's emphasis has been placed on great men such as George Washington Carver and Booker T. Washington. It is understood that these men were ingenious and their contributions were important, yet there are other African-Americans with contributions equally as great.

Other Contributors

There was Crispus Attucks, the runaway slave who became the first American to die in the Boston Massacre. There was the black surveyor, Benjamin Banneker, responsible for the layout of Washington, D.C., and Phillis Wheatley, the slave poetess. There was Frederick Douglass, who founded a newspaper to expose the evils of slavery, and Dr. Daniel Hale Williams, who made the first successful operation on the human heart. There was Matthew Henson, the explorer who went with Perry to the North Pole and planted the first American flag there, and Charles Drew, who first developed plasma from human blood.

It is tragic that history has failed to mention the achievements of these great African-Americans. The black American has been deprived of the opportunity to learn about his heritage, and has had little to identify with. This failure to present a comprehensive and truthful account of American history is not only an injustice to black America, but to white America as well.

We therefore urge that history books honor black Americans in a proper perspective. But even more immediately we feel it is our responsibility as Morehead students to encourage a more extensive Black Studies program here, a program that emphasizes the beauty and achievements worthy of the various aspects of black culture. As a result of the communications gap between blacks and whites, these courses should be readily attainable to all interested parties.

And Now The Agnews

By John Cannon

Since Vice President Spiro Agnew's attack on the press a few months ago, there has been a lot of open discussion and criticism of the press and the role it plays in the democracy we live in. Agnew has found that a surprisingly large percentage of Americans tend to agree with what he said about the press. This could cause a drastic change in the future of journalism especially when it comes to editorial attacks.

'Oliver!', Winner Of Awards, Is Definitely Most Musical

By John Kent Guy

"Oliver!", based on the Charles Dickens novel, chosen as best picture of the year, was an overwhelming success, both in choreography and music.

The setting was, for the most part, in London during the days of industrial growth and rampant capitalism. Oliver, an orphan, left the workhouse in which he was born and reared, ran away to London to "seek his fortune."

Once there, he was immediately recruited by the Artful Dodger, a scheming natural born criminal, into a band of young pickpockets trained by an elderly but agile Fagan. Oliver is taught the ways of the pickpocket but on his first excursion as a malefactor is captured by the police without actually lifting his first wallet.

Hauled before a magistrate, Oliver is proved innocent and is taken into the home of his accuser, a kindly rich man who has been searching for years for a favorite niece, who bears a close resemblance to Oliver. To no one's surprise, Oliver turns out to be the rich man's niece's illegitimate son.

Meanwhile, fearful Oliver may reveal their schemes, the band of thieves kidnap him and only after several harrowing attempts by Oliver to break his ties with them does the film come to a suspenseful climax.

The movie is one of the most musical of musicals, and though it is excellent, the music is too drawn out, often occurring within a dramatic scene. I often found myself growing bored because of the length and rapid sequence of songs.

The most outstanding performance was that given by Jack Wild as the Artful Dodger, and his presence at the end leaves one with the optimistic feeling that even though the Dodger is an habitual criminal, all will be well.

And Now More News . . .

Agnew seemed to be saying that the press emphasizes the unusual and the unpleasant too much and fails to mention the many good things about this country. Agnew said the press put isolated events out of their perspective. As a newspaperman said we will hear "agnews." It will probably go something like this: "Good evening ladies and gentlemen this is Walter Cronkite with the CBS daily agnews. In headlines today: One hundred and ninety-two million one hundred and sixty-four Americans went to bed last night with their stomachs full. Of this number 4,336,142 actually were stuffed from too many bedtime snacks.

Also in America today, 199,999,082 people were not robbed, shot, stabbed, hit or murdered. This number includes 97,978,455 women who were not raped today.

In the ghettos today 11,003,338 blacks did not riot or call for the overthrow of the government today.

This figure includes 3,493,226 blacks who actually received the Pledge of Allegiance and 344,563 who sang the "Star-Spangled Banner."

Across the nation today, it has been learned by CBS that 99.5 percent of the American people had what can be termed normal days today.

You will be glad to know that 199,999,994 Americans did not die today. You will also be happy to know that John Anderson of 334 Bellevue Drive, Upper Andrew, South Dakota, lived a healthy normal life today as everyone expected he would.

Worldwide today, 187 nations were not at war today. In Vietnam 500,554 men did not get shot. And in Biafra, over 2,000 men did not starve to death.

Well that's about it for the agnews tonight. Good night.

I don't know about you, but I hope we keep reporting the bad news.

Eagles Top Govs

Revenge was the key word Saturday night as the Eagles made up for an early season loss to Austin Peay by squeaking past the Governors 84-77 in the conference game.

The Eagles used a well balanced offense to overpower the Govs. All five starters were in double figures and the Eagle machine seemed to work smoothly as Jerry King returned to the lineup following a bout with the flu. Super-athlete Ron Gathright piled up 19 points and Bobby Hiles 20 to lead the Eagle effort.

Howard Wright of AP, who has averaged 26.8 per game for his team was held to 12.

The Eagles hit on 60 percent of their shots as compared to 40.2 for the Governors.

The 2500 fans who braved six inches of slush to see the game were treated to a contest which was close most of the way. The Govs jumped to an early lead, and with 13:39 in the first half the Eagles took over the lead and kept it well into the second half. The score was tied temporarily with 9:48 left to play, but the Eagles quickly regained the lead and the Governors were unable to stage a comeback, although they pulled to within four points with a little over a minute to play. Several fouls by AP players gave Morehead the winning margin, and the Eagles went on to win.

Worst In The World?

The Morehead Fans

By Roger Morton

It's refreshing to find that amid some criticism concerning Morehead fans someone who can be more objective than Western Coach Johnny Oldham (who first leveled the criticism) has come out in defense of the Eagle fans.

It all started following the Eagles' 86-83 loss to Western on our home floor. It was a tight game most of the way, and at one point an unhappy fan heaved a paper cup onto the playing floor. Several times during the game the fans felt the need to boo the Western ballplayers.

Coach Sounds Off

Was this provocation enough for Coach Oldham to say, following the game: "... I'll tell you one thing, they better do something to control these fans at Morehead. That's one of the worst exhibitions I've ever seen." It seems he is not just justified with winning, but must be a "bad winner."

Last week Courier-Journal daily columnist Joe Creason came out in defense of the Morehead fans. He pointed out that the incidents were not as bad as at some schools (not nearly as bad as Coach Oldham made them sound) and he referred to the statement handed out in the programs, at Morehead, concerning sportsmanship and addressed to "Eagle Fans."

"At least one college has taken a first step in reversing things," stated

Eagles Lose To Eastern In Overtime

Does Coach Bill Harrell believe in Luck? It's not likely, and if he does, he probably only believes in bad luck. Feb. 7th was the kind of day coaches dream about and call a nightmare.

The nightmare began when Eagle starters Jerry King and Lavon Mann were unable to make the Eagle lineup. King was home with the flu and Mann was sidelined by a foot injury.

It continued as the team bus broke down and the Eagles had to thumb half way to Richmond for the game with Eastern Kentucky.

Things didn't get any better at the game. The Eagles led for most of the game, but a four-minute cold streak with seven minutes left tied the score at 56.

Got Tense

The nightmare got tense as the seconds ticked off. With 1:33 left Eastern's Toke Coleman put his team out front at 62-60. Twenty-seven point man Jim Day tied the score at the 40 second mark, and Coleman, Bryant, and Lynch tipped the ball around until it slipped through the net for EKV, and regulation play ended with the score tied.

The nightmare of overtime started, and neither team was able to get more than a four-point advantage. With 1:33 left in overtime the Eagles led 66-66 and had possession. Ron Gathright was called for traveling and the Colonels quickly scored four points. Morehead managed to score once but time ran out before the Eagles had a chance to pull the game out.

Creason.

Here's The Statement

If you haven't seen Morehead's statement concerning sportsmanship, it reads in part: "... There can be no justification for the fans to throw objects onto the playing floor. Such action is totally irresponsible and could easily cause injuries of a serious nature."

"It will be necessary for the university to take firm action against any individual who throws articles on the floor or exhibits unsportsmanlike conduct toward officials and visitors. Won't you join in helping make the Eagle spirit something to which we can point with great pride?"

Thanks for the good word, Mr. Creason.

Middle Tenn. Stops Winning Streak

The Eagle roundballers avenged an early season loss to Marshall University Jan. 28 as they knocked off the Thundering Herd 88-78 in non-conference play. Coach Bill Harrell called it a "real team victory," and praised the defensive work of Jerry King and Ron Gathright, and the offensive performance of Jim Day, who pumped in 28 points.

The surprising Eagles stayed cool in pressure situations to sweep a two-game Texas road trip, 70-67 over Pan American Jan. 31 and 68-66 over Lamar Tech two days later.

The wins pushed MSU's record to 9-7 and the winning streak to three games.

"In each game on the trip our kids kept their cool and handled the ball well in situations that really mattered," Harrell said. "Our discipline finally paid off and the boys learned their hard work has not been wasted."

Against Pan American in Edinburg, the Eagles held a scant two point lead when their ball control tactics forced the Broncs to go after the ball. The resulting fouls allowed Morehead State to take a 13-2 scoring bulge in three minutes and put the game out of reach.

The Eagles rallied from a nine-point deficit at Lamar Tech to edge ahead by one point after trailing for 37 minutes. The score was tied three times in the last three minutes, and MSU had the ball for one shot with 33 seconds left. Ron Gathright tried a short jumper with six seconds to play but it was wide and Jim Day rebounded. The 6-8 Ashlander turned and fired the winning basket as the final buzzer sounded.

The first year head coach was all smiles as he talked of the two-game sweep over favored teams on their home courts. "I was hopeful of at least a 1-1 split but our kids went out there to win them both," he added.

The five day, 2400 mile trip produced a new offensive threat for the Eagles as Jerry Huesman, a 6-6 junior forward, came off the bench to score 15 against Pan Am and added 11 more as a starter against Lamar Tech.

Jerry King gave two more strong performances as the 6-2 Maysville sophomore solidified his starting position at guard opposite co-captain Bobby Hiles. King tallied 24 points and marked up 10 assists. Hiles, the team's assist leader, was the floor leader in both games.

"Our kids believe in themselves now and we're not going to be the doormat that some people expected," Harrell concluded.

The comeback almost materialized for the scrapping Eagles last Monday as they battled from a 17 point deficit to within two points of Middle Tennessee, but they fell apart with 4:39 left and the Blue Raiders went on to win by 16.

Hitting for 18 points, Big Jim Day again led the Morehead club in scoring and Ron Gathright contributed nine rebounds to help the Eagle effort."

The loss set the Morehead season record at 9-9 overall and 2-7 in conference play. The win for Middle Tennessee put it above Morehead in the conference with a 2-6 mark.

Second Military Ball Held; Military Queen Presented

The Second Annual Military Ball was held Feb. 13, in the Adron Doran University Center ballroom. The theme, "The Seventies," was meant to express Morehead's awakening to a new decade as everyone looks forward to the first commissioning of students of the University's R.O.T.C. program June 1.

The ballroom was surrounded by state flags; a crepe paper replica of an officer's hat, and a roster of cadet officer's names placed emphasis on the commission date.

Barbara Gallenstein was presented as the "Queen of the Military Ball." The University Band played. Cadet Col. Benjamin J. Gaines and his wife were the host and hostess. Guests of honor were Col. and Mrs. Thomas A. Harris and Col. and Mrs. Arthur L. Kelly. The Morehead chapter of the Association of the United States Army sponsored the ball, color pictures of each couple attending were favors.

Pi Kappa Alpha (Aquila Club)

There is no longer an Aquila Club on the Morehead Campus. The former Aquila Club is now a colony of the Pi Kappa Alpha national fraternity. The chapter at Eastern informed the Aquilas around the start of 1970 that they were accepted into the "Pikes."

Members of the club have been making many plans pertaining to the future of Pike on the Morehead campus, but some of the old Aquila Club policies will remain. They still plan to help out at the Pine Crest Children's Home and expect to be as active in intramurals as in the past.

Roundup Of Club Activities

Tau Kappa Epsilon

Tau Kappa Epsilon will undertake a public service project at Dora Lee Children's Home in Salyersville, beginning February 21. The project will take approximately two months to complete.

Dora Lee's is a private nursing home for 27 boys and girls ranging from ages 2 to 18. Due to the condition of the physical plant the home receives no federal, state, or local assistance. The home is operated solely on contributions by two elderly women.

The project will be video-taped for local and regional television in order to create more awareness of the existing circumstances. Through this cooperative effort we hope to obtain assistance through the people of the surrounding area.

Charles Allio of Hellertown, Penn., was wed to Judith Ann Sturgill of Louisa, on February 7 in the Christian Church of Morehead. Reception, which followed the ceremony was held at the TKE house.

Other activities have included a party in Mt. Sterling and a card party with Delta Gamma sorority.

The Collegiate Knights

The Collegiate Knights held elections last week for the spring semester with the following results: Rick Collis — president; Sam Quillen — vice president; Allen Balogh — secretary; Steve Wright — corresponding secretary; Dave Elberfeld — treasurer; Mark Zielinski — historian; Tom Bechler — squire master; Dave Lawson — athletic director; Gary Dearwater — Set-at-Arms; Clup Parker — I.F.C. representative.

New advisors for the CK's are Robert Camp of the Economic Department and Charles Honeywell of the Industrial Arts Department.

The CK's moved into the playoffs of Intramural basketball by defeating the Campus Club 55-36.

Lambda Chi Alpha

Jack Sims was elected president by acclamation for the second time. Jim Buzzard was elected treasurer.

On January 16 the brothers held a hippie party at the Wilkes-Sink House. Members and their dates were required to wear hippie costumes and to bring two cans of food per couple. The food was given to a needy family in the area.

The following brothers graduated in January: Alonzo Watts, Jerry Quinlin, Rick Eisert, and social affiliate Darius Kirk.

Ninety two percent of the brothers are participating in extracurricular activities. Steve Karabin was elected president of the Open Forum Club. On February 10 the brothers held a formal dinner for members, alumni, and honorary members in the formal dining room in Alumni Towers at 5:30.

Zeta Tau Alpha

On January 11, the pledge class of Zeta Tau Alpha had a tea for the actives and sponsors.

During the tea the pledges had a surprise ceremony for their big sisters presenting them with paddles decorated individually by each little sister to portray the personality of her big sister.

Immediately following the tea the Zetas had a rush party.

On Wednesday, Jan. 21, Zeta Tau Alpha took on two new pledges, Rosemary Weber and Dottie Fish. The big sisters assigned them were: Alice Cornett and Carolyn Preece.

Alpha Sigma Rho

CAPA's presented the Spirit trophy at the Eastern basketball game to the fraternity displaying the most school spirit at the home football games. The first place trophy went to Tau Kappa Epsilon, and the second place plaque went to Lambda Chi Alpha.

CAPA's had six girls chosen to be ROTC sponsors. They are: Mary Sue Webb, Brigade Leader; Rita Spears, Lisa Palas, Becky Hortel, Mari Tru Lowdenback, and Priscilla Davis, Persian Rifle Sponsor.

Gayle Lyon was married to Barry Roche and Bobbie Ratliff was married to J.C. Sewell.

Young Democrat

The Young Democrats will hold their first meeting of 1970 at 8, Thursday evening in Room 101, Education Building. At that time, a representative from the state organization will meet with the group. All interested students may attend. Refreshments will be served.
