Officials Apparently At Odds

Differences of opinion between County Attorney John Cox and Judge Executive W.C. Flannery, which have remained muted since both men took office, publicly surfaced in the past week.

Flannery reprimanded Cox for not "being available to adequately advise the court in regard to legal matters facing the county," during last Thursday's fiscal court meeting. Cox, who did not respond to Flannery's remarks during the meeting, sent a letter to Fiscal Court members which was critical of the way in which the Judge Executive has managed the county's business. Cox said he responded by letter "not wanting to embarrass the Judge Executive in public."

In a development which may be related to recent disagreements with Cox, Flannery reportedly has approached two magistrates asking them to consider a salary reduction for Cox. The magistrates, who did not want to be identified, said Flannery had complained Cox was not doing his job.

Two incidents in the past month may have led to the "Flannery-Cox" debate. Cox vetoed Flannery's attempt to appoint Morehead Mayor Crayton Jackson as a second county judge pro-tem. After Cox advised Flannery the move was in violation of Kentucky law, the appointment was rescinded.

Cox also advised the court a recent order of culvert pipe was in violation of state competitive bidding laws. Cox charged Flannery was well aware of the laws before the pipe was ordered but attempted to go ahead with the purchase using multiple invoices. Flannery earlier told a reporter he "Thought everything was okay with the order."

The advertisements for the pipe are in this week's editions of The Morehead News.

In his letter, Cox bluntly said the main problem facing the county "is the Judge Executive's failure to seek competent legal advice before making decisions on behalf of the magistrates and the county." "In my opinion," he continued, "the Judge Executive has been seeking his legal advice from outside sources, which in the past few weeks has often proved inaccurate." He also said, "The magistrates, along with myself, must take the brunt of these inaccuracies and do the work to correct them. Many of the tasks and the residents of (your) magisterial districts being disappointed or misguided."

Cox accused Flannery of ignoring his counsel when it does not coincide with the Judge's personal views, and having "gone on and acted on behalf of the county, which has resulted in some of the residents of (your) magisterial districts being disappointed or misguided."

He concluded saying he hoped the letter has not created any hard feelings and "we all want to work closely with one another and do as much for the citizens of the county as we possibly can."

Judge Flannery, reached at his home Tuesday morning, replied "no comment" when asked if he felt the county attorney was doing his job.

There has been nothing said outside of open court," the Judge added, "there was only the one time we had the meeting where Mr. Cox wasn't there. Mr. Ounley asked for legal advice and I told him I would get him some legal advice."

Cox was representing the county at the grand jury during the meeting in question. Flannery has been flanked by judge pro-tem Terry Anderson at the last two fiscal court meetings. Anderson, an attorney, frequently conferred with the Judge Executive during the last meeting. "He is only an observer," said Flannery when asked why Anderson was attending the meeting. Flannery also said, "No comment. I feel that's the best answer," to other questions regarding Cox.

Time Changing

Area residents will lose an hour this Sunday morning when Daylight Savings Time begins.

The time will change at 2 a.m. Sunday, April 30, and clocks and watches should be moved up one hour at that time or before going to bed Saturday night.

Most of the station and all of Kentucky switches from Standard Time to Daylight Time at 2 a.m. Sunday.

The time change will be in effect until the last Sunday in October.

A YOUNG MSU student, Mark Owen, is spearheading an effort to return Amtrak train service to Morehead. He is attempting to organize support from the community, claiming that train travel is the most inexpensive way for students to travel between Ashland and Louisville. This sign appears on the side of the Chamber of Commerce Caboose on West Main Street, Morehead. Owen even dresses the part, wearing railroad style overalls and cap.

Teachers Employed

Following a short secret session, the Rowan County Board of Education voted unanimously, with one abstention, to employ non-tenured personnel on limited contracts and to grant tenured contracts to 19 teachers during a special meeting Wednesday.

Certified personnel granted limited contracts were: Brenda Catron, Cynthia Hammond, Betty McCabe, Carol McDaniel, Bill Patrick, Terri Reynolds, Dave Shuster, Phil Shepherd, Dick Stidom, Marjorie Trout, Margie Roberts, Kim McNeely, Ruth Ann Moore, Donna Hicks and Gary Ferguson.

Also hired were Sandy Knipp, Dorothy Day, Robert Day, Gary Martin and Nadine Reynolds.

Non-Tenured teachers who are related to board members were also employed. They are Grace Amburgey and Betty Crawford. Board member Lake Cooper abstained from voting on the relatives being employed. Ten certified personnel were also given tenured contracts by the school board. Teachers must teach four years before being eligible for tenured status. Given contracts were: Nadine Griffith, Nancy Henson, Portia White, Patry Chadwell, Roberta Dawson, Mary Lou Foreman, Lois McManus, Phyllis Bradley, Veronica Kenny and Curt Cundiff.

School Supt. John Brock said although teachers were listed by school on the rosters given to the public, a final determination on employee assignment has not been made.

The board also discussed a right-of-way from Ky. 32, 120 feet wide and roughly 1,000 feet long, to the school's proposed high school site on the Pearl Brown property. Brock stated attorneys conducting a title search on the property have given a preliminary indication they expect no trouble in getting the school a fee simple deed to the land.

Two Men Charged With Hit And Run

Two local men have been charged with failure to stop and render assistance after an incident Friday at 11:45 p.m. on Main Street.

According to city police reports, Eugene Hampton, Morehead, was the driver of a 1965 Chevrolet holding passengers Danny Lewis, 23, Morehead, and a Clearfield minor.

The car allegedly struck a Ford Pinto parked in Rawled Heights belonging to Charles Gregory, broke several slats from a fence at 603 West Main Street, broke railing around a garbage can behind 603 West Main Street and did minor damage to the steps of a trailer at that same address.

Investigating officer Mike Kash found the men at a nearby apartment. Hampton was jailed in Bath County and pled not guilty to the charge in district court Monday. He will appear in court again today (Wednesday).

Lewis was released prior to trial, pled guilty in district court and was fined.

The minor was charged with hindering prosecution or apprehension, jailed in Bath County, and will appear in juvenile court tomorrow (Thursday).

Ky. 32 Bids To Be Let By Fall

All Rowan County right-of-way purchases for the widening of Ky. 32 have been completed. Stuart Victor of the Department of Transportation in Frankfort told the Morehead News Friday.

This covers a 4 miles from Interstate 64 to the Fleming County line." Stuart said, "and we expect to take bids on the project by late summer or early fall."

Victor, who is department assistant to Commissioner Calvin Grayson, said the Fleming County part of the project would take considerably longer. "There are 15.1 miles of the widening in Fleming County, from the Rowan County line to a point 1.6 miles east of Flemingsburg," Victor said.

Victor said there were 78 property owners in Fleming County to deal with and the right-of-way had only been obtained from seven of them thus far.

Design of the road has been completed. DOT spokesman said and the new Ky. 32 will be six feet wider than it

Plant Board Borrowing

Several alternatives for short term pre-interim financing for the city's $11 million sewer project were discussed during a special Morehead Utility Plant Board meeting held April 20.

"We do need to pay some bills," Chairman Clayton Perkins said, explaining to the board that the city reached a point several weeks ago where they must make their first payments to construction workers who have been contracted for the sewer project.

Because of red-tape holdups at Farmer's Home Administration (FHA) the city's interim financing is being delayed until probably the middle of May, thus there is no money to pay bills already coming in.

At two previous meetings during which pre-interim financing had been discussed, the plant board had decided it would need approximately $250,000 to make the partial payments for the No. 1 Southeast Utilities, Inc. and $70,427 to Environmental Construction.

A third bill, submitted since the board's April 13 meeting, from Howard K. Bell Engineers in the amount of $40,000 brought the total needed to make payments to approximately $280,000.

Urgency Stressed

The urgency of the situation was stressed by Perkins who explained to the board that contractors have the right to stop working at the end of this month if they have not been paid by then, and charge the city extra for whatever extra costs required to begin construction again at a later date.

Because the board decided at its last meeting to authorize Chairman Perkins and member Gary Bishop to borrow "at such institutions and at such interest rates as they see fit, money for the purpose of financing construction costs of the sewer project," representatives from both local banks were present to talk loans. Alternatives were presented which included borrowing money from both Citizens and Peoples Banks in equal amounts of $140,000 or borrowing the entire $280,000 from Peoples.

Citizens Bank, represented by Alpha Hutchinson, stated that to loan the city (not the plant board), which is only an agent of the city) $140,000 his bank would require the city to cash in its $100,000 certificate of deposit and mortgage three pieces of city property as collateral.

Jim Caullif of Peoples Bank stated that although his bank could do that way, it would also be willing to loan the city the entire pre-interim amount needed with no collateral except the city's pledge "of full faith and credit to payment of the debt."

Council Votes

Since the loan would be made to the city and not to the plant board, the board voted to have Mayor Crayton Jackson, who was present at the meeting, present the loan alternatives to the city council for a vote.

Because the council was not present at the special meeting, a called meeting at the plant board, council voted to borrow the full amount on a 30-day term from Peoples Bank at an interest rate of 5.63 percent.

(The regular interim financing, however, will be loaned equally through both institutions.)

Two other items of business also were discussed by the board, one of which was bids for the mini-computer to be used for billing and other bookkeeping chores.

Because of some new alternatives which have arisen (since the bids were let) and need further investigation according to board member Bishop, the board voted to postpone the opening of bids until the May 18 meeting.

Last on the meeting's three-item agenda was a discussion of the water plant and line distribution survey which is being done by Howard K. Bell Engineers.

"The engineering crew is at work right now," Perkins said, "running the survey, and according to them it looks like the water pressure for the three new high level tanks will be serviceable to at least 1100 feet."

He added the present water system services to 900 feet without loss of pressure.

Three Tanks Needed

The survey, underway since April 17, had determined the need for three high level tanks, instead of two as the board had suggested.

The survey crew also has determined, according to Perkins, that three high level tanks are needed instead of the two tentatively proposed by the board.

The three new tank sights would be located behind Quail Hollow, in the Big Four-Holiday Estates area and on the ridge between Wilson and Knapp

Federal Grant May Be Available For Outdoor Recreation Facilities

A feasibility study which could help Morehead/Rowan County gain $100,000 to $200,000 worth of outdoor recreational facilities for the new county high school is now underway, according to Dan Stewart, director of the joint Morehead/Rowan County Recreation Department.

The federal grant, available through the Heritage Conservation and Recreation Service, would have to be jointly applied for by the city and county, Stewart said, because the school itself is not eligible to receive these grant funds.

Once the city and county reached an agreement for application, the recreation department or someone project representative would have to approach the County Board of Education according to Stewart, to get their guaranteed participation.

"This is all still in the talking stages," Stewart said in an interview last week. "The recreation department is still investigating the idea, but we haven't approached the school, city council or fiscal court with it yet."

The idea behind the grant, which requires matching funds on a 50/50 basis, is to help communities get maximum utilization from recreational facilities, he said.

"About the best way I can explain the idea is to put it this way," Stewart said. "If the city park had been constructed beside the Rowan County High School, instead of where it is, it wouldn't be empty and unused half the time."

"That's the way this thing works. The city council and fiscal court would purchase land beside the site of the new high school to be used for outdoor recreational facilities such as ballfields. Then," he said "when school is in session, the students have use of the facilities."

"However, after school hours, on weekends and during the summer—in short, whenever not being used by the school—the community would be able to use them."

The school building itself could also be used, according to Stewart, for meetings, adult education classes or whatever.

"All this does is allow taxpayers maximum use of facilities they are paying for anyway," he said.

Besides the obvious benefits to the community, Stewart said, the grant would benefit the school and the board of education by relieving them of the building costs of athletic facilities, and allow them to concentrate their dollars on the school building itself.

"If we can get the participation necessary to pull it all together," Stewart said, "we could go on and apply for an initial grant to purchase property."

"Then, as the school building becomes a reality with actual construction, we could start work on funding for the recreational facilities themselves," he explained.

Can this idea really work? "Definitely," Stewart said, "because it's not an untried thing. The Odel community (education) school programs in Flint, Mich., Nashville, Tenn., and other places have been doing it successfully for years.

"It can work here too, if we have governmental cooperation and support from the community. That's what we want to do with this study," Stewart said. "In get response on the idea from the public. If they like it, we'll begin the formal work of grant applications and talk to governmental agencies."

Rowan Jail Plans Ready For Bid

Rowan Fiscal Court will advertise for bids on renovating the county's jail, possibly by as early as this week. Magistrates gave County Attorney John Cox authority, during last Thursday night's meeting, to place the proper legal ads as soon as specifications are ready.

The action could signal a beginning to the end of a problem that has taxed the county's financial and physical resources since the aging structure was closed March 25, 1976, by circuit judge Caswell P. Lane. In the interim, the county (and city) have had to transport prisoners to surrounding county jails for incarceration.

Expenses resulting from the circumstances have sliced deeply into Rowan County's budget. For the first quarter of this year, the county has paid out slightly over $2,000 to Bath County alone for housing prisoners. The county also pays a jailer's salary of slightly over $17,000 annually.

Morehead State University Buildings and Grounds Director Glen Boodry is in the final stages of getting the plans and specifications ready for bidding. Cox told the magistrates initial estimates put the project's cost at "well under $100,000".

The local jail has been what could be mildly termed a problem in three administrations of Rowan County government. The situation became so acute in 1976 that former County Judge Ott Caldwell and fiscal court members were indicted for renegeing on earlier assurances, made in 1973, to repair the facility.

In his order to close the jail, Judge Lane noted when he ordered the jail reopened in 1973, he had a commitment from the county to make needed improvements. Judge John W. Lane's predecessor, condemned the building.

There have been a series of plans for a new jail and a renovation of the existing structure, but administrative snags, blamed on Frankfort, held up construction.

In other business, magistrates Thursday night voted to begin procedures to advertise for two new dump trucks and one used truck. Magistrates, attempting to get the county's roads back in shape, voted to lease other trucks to haul gravel.

The court also voted to put drainage pipe, gravel, gasoline and bridge timbers up for competitive bids. The initial motion to place commodities up for bidding almost died for lack of a second.

Judge Executive W.C. Flannery and Cox exchanged words over the county having to advertise for the supplies. When the motion was dangling, Cox told the court "I'm under a legal obligation to question any unauthorized expenditure by this county. This is not a difficult law to comply with."

State law says if a county estimates it will spend over $2,500 for a commodity, it must put the purchases up for competitive bidding. Previous courts, it has been learned, did not comply with this practice.

"Flannery responded to Cox with the comment, 'You've not been available for advice as you have been so busy with the judiciary. As soon as I learned of this problem, I tried to correct it'."

Cox told Flannery, "You are the head of the county's government, it's your job to monitor the county's spending."

The advertisements will be in this week's edition of The Morehead News.

DONATION. Donadell Eldridge, owner of T & E Jewelry, located next to Hecks, presents Morehead Kiwanis Ron Fiel with a five-piece silver tea service to be auctioned at the Morehead Kiwanis Radio - TV Auction. The auction will be broadcast over WJMR and Cable Channel 6 from 5:30 to 8:30, May 1-5.

Carroll To Appoint Commission On Parole

FRANKFORT, Ky. (UPI)—A ribbon commission will be appointed in the next several weeks by Gov. Julian Carroll to examine a controversial plan to abolish parole in Kentucky.

The plan for determinate sentencing in Kentucky was first raised last year by Kentucky Attorney General Robert Stephens, who Wednesday said he has received assurances from the governor the study will be thoroughly funded.

The determinate sentencing proposal, as advocated by Stephens, would do away with parole in the state and have judges fix terms in jail at the time of sentencing.

The proposal, which has drawn criticism from some judicial and legal officials in the state, was considered briefly by the 1978 Kentucky General Assembly but did not reach a vote in either the House or the Senate.

Stephens said he met with the governor recently and discussed the possibility of having a blue ribbon study group examine determinate sentencing, with recommendations forwarded to the 1980 general assembly.

The governor has told me that we would fund the study out of his contingency fund," Stephens said in an interview, "and that it would be responsible for studying the issue and making recommendations to the next legislative session."

Stephens and Corrections Commissioner David Bland are expected to be two of the appointees to the commission when it is formally announced sometime next month.

Carroll has remained out of the debate regarding determinate sentencing.

MSU Will Propose Major Restructuring

The Morehead News has learned there will be a major restructuring of some administrative departments and positions in recommendations made to the school's regents today (Wednesday). Sources close to the developments said two high level administrators and the school's band director will be leaving their current positions.

Reportedly accepting faculty positions are Dr. William Pierce, Dean of Academic Programs and Dr. John R. Duncan, Vice President for Academic Affairs. One report said Pierce's position was abolished in recommendations made to the regents.

Also tendering a letter of resignation was MSU band director, Charles Lee. Lee will reportedly accept a position with the University of Nevada Las Vegas as Director of Bands.

The News learned the recommendations will contain a proposal for merging the schools' Institutional Services Bureau with the Department for Research and Development up to 30 persons could be affected, the sources said. The proposals have been under study, reportedly, for over two years. A source also said there was "nothing punitive" involved in the changes.

An MSU spokesman would neither confirm nor deny the reports and said the school would have no statement until after today's Regents meeting.

Ann Landers

Copyright - Field Enterprises, Inc.

Dear Ann: I have seen several letters in your column about battered women. Almost always the blame falls on HER, not him. The most recent example was a letter from a police officer who said police can't help because the women don't WANT help.

Seven months of interviewing has convinced me that this is not true in Chicago. The women I talk to say it is useless to call the police. The response is usually "mind your husband." Then they offer to escort her, the victim, out of the house. Since most women are economically dependent on their husbands, this is not a realistic alternative. Several Illinois cities admitted in a recent survey that the police often threaten to arrest the woman if she calls them a second time.

True, the highest number of police deaths and injuries occur while responding to calls involving domestic violence, but it is lack of training that causes this. A New York training program reduced police injuries by 50 per cent over a one-year period. Next year, Chicago offered its recruits only ten minutes of training in this crucial area. Surveys of other cities show this is the norm rather than the exception.

The tragic results of treating serious assaults as "lovers quarrels" can be seen in the homicide statistics. One-fourth to one-third of all homicides are between spouses. A Kansas City study revealed that in 85 per cent of the spouse-related homicides, police had been called at least once before.

Domestic violence is a complex problem but blaming the victim is not the solution. Education, shelters, and responsible institutional response are needed. You, Ann, can provide the education that, hopefully, will motivate some of the others. — From Chicago But Could Be Anywhere.

Dear From Chicago: In order to give an intelligent and informed response to your letter, I went straight to the source. This is what acting superintendent of police in Chicago Michael A. Spiotto has to say:

"All recruit police officers are given a 12-hour training block in crisis intervention and conflict management, after which the recruits participate in a 63-hour applied psychology workshop conducted by professionals affiliated with the city college system.

In addition, recruits in the advanced training program receive 45 hours of training with emphasis on sociology, anthropology and psychology. While this indoctrination might not make our police officers experts, the training program is structured to help the police officer identify the problem and refer those involved to the appropriate professional agency.

"I believe the Department of Police in Chicago has made substantial progress toward dealing with these sensitive needs. We have not been ignoring them, irresponsibly, as the writer would have you believe. Sincerely yours, Michael A. Spiotto — Acting Supt. of Police, Chicago."

Dear Mr. Spiotto: Thank you for your detailed report. As a resident of Chicago, I am happy to say Mayor Michael Bilandic's men are doing a fine job — infinitely better than the performance of the Chicago police in 1968.

Needs Assessment Public Hearing Set

A public hearing for the Gateway Title XX Needs Assessment will be held Thursday, April 27, from 2 to 4 p.m. at the Hilton Inn, 1938 Station Way, Lexington.

The Needs Assessment is a process which has as its goal an accurate reflection of the perceived human needs throughout the state, by district.

The purpose of a needs assessment is twofold: 1) to meet the regulations of Title XX (22B31) which requires a Comprehensive Annual Social Services Plan to describe how the needs of the residents in the state were taken into account, and 2) in order for the Department for Human Resources to meet its commitment of helping citizens of the Commonwealth.

To do this, Gateway must know how many people have what problems, what the unmet need is, what services would best deal with these, and what the priorities are which require greater expenditure of funds.

This will be accomplished through expression of felt needs by the citizens of the five Gateway counties (Bath, Menifee, Montgomery, Morgan, and Rowan) who attend this meeting.

Farmers Brace For Rail Car Shortage

CHICAGO (UPI) — American farmers are braced for another of the occupational hazards that make life "down on the farm" an almost constant nail-biting existence. This time it's a freight car shortage.

"Demand for the rail cars is critical," said Paul Bates, an Interstate Commerce Commission operations officer in Chicago. The squeeze is attributable to the success of farmers, he said.

"They raised too much grain and soybeans last year. Supply outstripped demand and forced prices to near profitless levels for some farmers so they stored huge stocks for sale at a later date when prices were higher — like now."

"But 'now' also is the time for spring fertilizer shipments to start moving to farmers and competition for cars is intense.

"But they can't ship," said Bates, "because the rail car shortage is critical — maybe the worst ever."

Bates said a severe winter was the biggest reason for the shortage.

"Snowdrifts of 25 feet often interrupted movement for many days. There were extended delays in unloading, weather-related derailments. In some cases, blowing snow got into the electric motors of locomotives and shorted them out."

"And a lot of freight cars were damaged. They needed repairs, but some railroads were too hard-pressed financially to get all the required work done."

While freight cars played catch-up through the spring season, prices for U.S. grain and soybeans began moving steadily upward on rumors, reports and fact — all indicating a sharp increase lay ahead in demand for domestic supplies.

The bullish news began with reports from Brazil that a drought brought a sharp setback in soybean production.

Then came rumors and reports that China and the Soviet Union would be buying U.S. supplies. China, for the first time in three years, made a substantial purchase last week of U.S. wheat.

Report and rumor later became fact. The market place reacted predictably. And the pressure for freight cars was on.

Fertilizer dealers and farmers became poised to ship their goods at precisely the same time.

For farmers, the crisis hardly could have come at a worse time. Field work normally done in the fall went undone last year because it was interrupted first by rain, then by stark cold weather that kept the earth stone-hard through early spring.

But spring thaws brought spring rains and the fieldwork remains largely undone.

Fertilizer dealer Paul D. Phelan, vice president of Moore's Oil and Fertilizer Inc., Jerseyville, Ill., a supplier through portions of Illinois, Iowa, Missouri and Kentucky, said one week of sunshine and a light breeze will clear up the picture.

"But it hasn't happened yet," Phelan said. "All of our bins are filled. We're running more than three weeks behind, and so are the farmers."

"Last year at this time, just about all the corn in our area was planted. This year, the fieldwork in a great majority of the area hasn't even begun yet."

Phelan's major concern of the moment is that he will wake up one morning and find all of his customers clamoring for fertilizer.

"It looks like we'll be hit from all sides at once," Phelan said, "the minute the ground dries up."

The waiting game for the farmers is approaching a critical point.

John Ray, grain specialist for the Illinois Department of Agriculture, said a rule of thumb among Midwest and Corn Belt farmers is to plant corn before April 25. For each day's delay thereafter, Ray said, production risks increase and make it more difficult to attain normal yields.

But farmers, like speculators who buy futures contracts on the commodity exchanges, also can hedge their position. If time runs out for planting corn, they will switch to soybeans, which can be planted through late May before the risk factor threatens the yield.

Weather Forecasts Not Accurate Says Meteorologist

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Joel N. Myers, a Pennsylvania meteorologist, has told colleagues at a North American Snow Conference that accurate weather forecasts cannot be made beyond six days in advance.

"If I recall correctly, there was no measurable snowfall in Philadelphia in the '71-72 winter," said Myers, president of Accu-Weather Inc. "People were saying we were going to have mild winters. That last winter Philadelphia came within eight-tenths of an inch of having the snowiest winter ever."

"Now they're saying another ice age is upon us. I have one word to respond to that, and it begins with 'B.'"

Myers, who operates a weather service based in State College, Pa., said he gets two or three requests daily for long-range forecasts. One oil company even offered $10,000 for his best "guess." But, according to Myers, there's no telling exactly what next winter will bring. The Farmer's Almanac and sophisticated computers notwithstanding.

"I have very strong feelings on that," he said. "The state of the art of meteorology is such that you can't make a forecast beyond six days. They make them because there's a demand for them."

Another meteorologist, Cincinnati television weatherman Tony Sands, also had some uncomplimentary remarks about the dependability of many radio and television forecasters.

"To use an analogy, the National Weather Service is the ventriloquist, the broadcast industry for the most part is the dummy," said Sands, chief meteorologist of Metro-Media Weather Service.

"Eighty percent of broadcasters across the nation are dummies — or ventriloquist dummies."

Sands recalled one television newscaster he was training in Buffalo who "walked in 15 minutes before news time" and told him, "All I want to know is the temperatures."

"That was back in 1953. And gentlemen, that has not changed one hell of a lot."

Hosts Conference

Morehead State University's Department of Industrial Education and Technology recently hosted an industry-education conference.

Participants discussed techniques to encourage communication and beneficial relationships between industry and education.

The program also included a discussion on the Appalachian Development Center at MSU and the Sigma Tau Epsilon, industrial education fraternity, banquet.

School Vending Machines Off Limits, USDA Proposes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Fudge, caramels, frozen desserts and chewing gum sold in school vending machines would be off limits until after lunch for thousands of American school children under restrictions outlined today by the Agriculture Department.

"We believe they contribute to a decline in consumption of nutritious foods in schools and have reduced participation in the school lunch and breakfast programs," Assistant Agriculture Secretary Carol Foreman said.

If the proposed restrictions are adopted, schools participating in federally subsidized breakfast and lunch programs — 93,000 nationwide — would have to implement the proposed government restrictions on "junk food" or face possible loss of the federal programs.

The proposal, outlined by Ms. Foreman in San Jose, Calif., before the Newspaper Food Editors and Writers Association, was yet another in a series of government steps to discourage consumption of certain foods by school children.

The Agriculture Department, which handles federal domestic food-subsidy programs, already has proposed to end use of a fortified "superdoughnut" in the school breakfast program.

The products such as the doughnut are high in sugar and fat and are "not good at all for conveying to children an idea of what they should eat for a balanced breakfast," Ms. Foreman said. The restriction on vending machine sales of the foods will be formally proposed Monday.

Ms. Foreman said "Sales would be banned until after the last school lunch period of the day."

"Last year, Congress gave the secretary of agriculture authority to ban sale of junk foods that compete with the federally funded school feeding programs," Ms. Foreman said in her prepared speech. The text was released in Washington.

The proposal would affect "frozen desserts" such as flavored ice bars and sherberts, but will not affect ice cream.

The restriction also would not affect sales in school of snack items such as cookies, potato chips, peanuts, fruits and milk.

Ms. Foreman said the proposed new regulation, which will be open for public comment until June 9, will draw reaction from "an awful lot of food industry folks." How many parents' comment, she told the food editors "may depend a lot upon you."

The number of schools affected by the proposal was not immediately known, officials said. Nearly every secondary school has vending machines serving snacks, candy and similar products, while most elementary schools do not.

"The NEW LOOK In Downtown Morehead"

Schalow Named Coach At Seattle University

Compiled from Staff, UPI Dispatches

The mystic, Marco Polo-like travels of former Morehead State University basketball coach Jack Schalow are apparently over. Last Tuesday Schalow was named head coach at Seattle University, replacing Bill O'Connor who quit last month after six seasons with the Chiefs.

Washington's largest metropolis will not be an unfamiliar sight for Schalow. He returns to SU after a 10-year absence where he served from 1967-69 as an assistant and frosh coach. While there his teams compiled an amazing 43-2 mark.

"I'm thrilled to be back at Seattle University," he said upon his appointment. "This is where I have wanted to coach for many years. Seattle University has always exemplified outstanding basketball throughout the nation and I hope to again take the Chiefs into the NCAA basketball tournament."

It will be a hard goal to keep as Seattle hasn't been to the post-season tourney since the heydays of Elgin Baylor almost two decades ago. But according to reports Schalow will have a good nucleus of players to rebuild from, including a seven-foot pivotman and a couple 6-7 veteran forwards.

In announcing the appointment, athletic director Ed O'Brien said of Schalow, "He has built a fine reputation over the years in the college coaching ranks and was selected from an outstanding group of candidates."

Throughout his coaching career — which has included posts at Pacific, Duke, LSU, Stockton and Morehead State — his teams have compiled a record of 204 victories and only 72 defeats. His worst years were at MSU where he was 45-11 with the Eagles.

The Rev. William Sullivan, S.J., president of Seattle University, said Schalow is the kind of coach who is as concerned about the performance of his players in the classroom as on the court.

"That is the right combination for Seattle University and his appointment represents our commitment to that type of intercollegiate basketball program," the Rev. Sullivan said.

While at Morehead State, Schalow's coaching ethics were never in question. He was a well-respected figure around the Ohio Valley Conference and was once a co-coach of the year. His best season was in the 1976-77 season when he was 15-10 and guided MSU to a second place tie in the league's regular season race.

Schalow, who resigned last February 15 from his four-year post at Morehead State, has not been back to Morehead since he left with his team for its final game against East Tennessee State in Johnson City, Tenn. on Feb. 28. After the game, instead of returning with his team he boarded a plane and reportedly flew to Louisiana for a much needed convalescence after watching his team post a season mark of 4-19. He reportedly spent an extended visit with his good friend, and former boss, Dale Brown who is head coach at Louisiana State.

Why he has never returned to Morehead is not really known. On numerous occasions news has filtered back home concerning his intentions and whereabouts. It was reported Schalow was seriously considering getting out of the coaching profession and entering a private business. But everyone who knew the youthful looking coach knew basketball coaching was in his blood and he would give his love for the sport every chance he hasing for it up.

Hall Pleased With Recruits

LEXINGTON, Ky. (UPI) — University of Kentucky Wildcat Coach Joe Hall said Thursday that he was pleased with the three basketball players he recruited for next season under the three scholarships offered by the university.

QUALIFIES . . . Jeff Washington, Dayton, Ohio sophomore at Morehead State University, is shown in his spycap, the sprints, in a meet at MSU earlier this season. He qualified for the NCAA Outdoor Championships at the recent Marshall Invitational with a time of 29.3 in the 200-meters.

Hall also confirmed during a news conference that Dwight Anderson, one of the three, had grade problems this year. But he emphasized that Anderson's principal says his grades are up and he anticipates no problems next year.

If Anderson's grades don't improve, Hall added, they can be made up during the summer.

LeMay, 15-Hit Attack Guides Eagles Past Western Kentucky

Morehead State University's baseball Eagles, winners of nine of their last ten games, split a doubleheader with Marshall University and swept a pair of games from Western Kentucky in action last week.

Against the Thundering Herd, MSU lost the opener 7-1, as Eagle fielding was responsible for six unearned runs. Left-hander Ed Olivine took the loss, dropping his record to 3-2 on the season.

In the nightcap, the Eagles got solid five-hit pitching from right-hander Ken Wilfong, 2-1, to down Marshall 6-1. MSU jumped to a quick 2-1 lead in the first inning, scoring on Jeff White's sacrifice fly and Mark Schach's single.

The Eagles scored four times in the third to put the game away, as John Combs homered, Jeff White and George Angel provided RBIs.

MSU's loss in game one broke a six-game winning streak, while Marshall's loss in game two broke a seven-game win streak.

Against Western Kentucky, the Ohio Valley Conference Western Division Champion, MSU used a four-hit pitching performance by junior Chet LeMay, for a 15-hit attack to bury the Hilltoppers 9-2 on Friday.

The Eagles were led at the plate by sophomore David Means, who had three hits, including a home run, and sophomore Jody Hamilton, who added a home run and a double.

In a slug-fest Saturday afternoon, the Eagles pounded out 16 hits, including five home runs, to defeat WKU 14-10. Eagle long-ball power was provided by freshman John Combs, and sophomores Roy Wright, Means, Schach and John McVay.

The game-winning hit proved to be Wright's first career homer in the seventh. It was a three run shot that wiped out an 8-7 Western lead, putting the Eagles on top 10-8.

MSU went on to score three more times in the seventh and once in the eighth for win number 17 on the season against 15 losses.

Eagle pitchers struggled with their control the entire game, walking 13 and allowing nine hits; Freshman Dan Boarder pitched the 10th in relief of sophomore Walt Terrell.

With eight games remaining, squad leaders include Combs in hitting with a .379 average; Hamilton with 10 home runs; Means with 30 runs batted in; LeMay in pitching with six wins and Joe Martin with a 1.13 earned run average.

The Eagles are in action at home Thursday night in a 5 p.m. twilight doubleheader with Morris Harvey at the Morehead City Park.

BR Baseball Draft Announced

A total of forty new faces were added to the tiers of Morehead Babe Ruth League during the draft held at the MSU Student Union Monday evening. Twenty of the players are moving up from last year's Little League teams, others have played ball elsewhere or are giving organized baseball a first try.

Dave Saxon, who will be guiding the EXXON this season, drafted Brian Bailey, Sammy Holbrook, Roger Porter, and David Saxon. Brother Michael Springer drafted four new MEMTS including James Alfrey, Murray, Marlon, Muse, and Time Rye. John Fouch will have nine new CUBS this season. He selected David Adkins, Marlon Arnett, Kenny Black, David Godsey, Bruce McDaniel, Bruce McClury, Tony Porter, Chris Russell, and Gene White. Daniel Blevins, the new manager for the REDS picked six to bolster his team: Greg Black, Dewe Blevins, Steve Crail, Sandy Hill, Darrell Littleton, and Mike Williamson. Dave Magrane chose Les Jackson, Mark Johnson, Duane Osborne, Troy Poage, Andy Reber, Scotty Stevens, and Jeff Warren to fill out the roster for the CARDS. Bill Patrick, coach of last year's champion SUNS added Bill Dawson, Doug Edridge, Joey Kephart, Ray Keith, Jeff Patrick, Bill Thompson, Terry White, and Mike Wilson.

The managers will be assembling their teams in the next week for practice and the season will begin with a five o'clock doubleheader on Monday May 15 at the city park.

Breck Splits Twinbill With Greenfield, Ohio

University Breckinridge kept its season record at an even 500 mark, splitting a doubleheader with McClain High School on Saturday. The Eagles were blanked 4-0 in the first game but came back to take the second, 6-5.

The first game was somewhat of a disappointing loss for Breck starter Nathan Huing. The senior right-hander gave up only three hits and two earned runs in six and two-thirds innings on the mound. His record fell to 1-2.

The second game was a wild affair, marred by numerous close plays and controversial calls.

With two out McClain began its rally with a base hit, the first of seven off starter Joey Magrane. The second hit followed off the bat of John Trego with Cole scoring on the throw. Trego then scored the second run for McClain on a wild pitch, crossing the plate ahead of Magrane's tag.

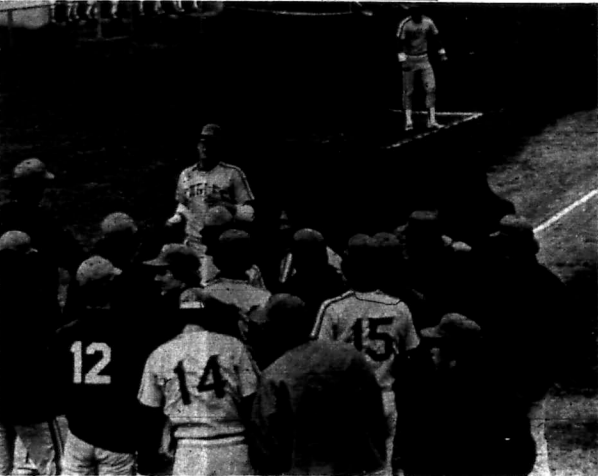

The Eagles tied the game in their half of the first. With one down Steve Gilley singled, advanced to second on a ground out and scored on a single by Mike Gillum. Gillum stole second and scored on a base hit by Duane Allen thought by the centerfielder.

The Eagles went ahead in the third on a single by Joe Dawson leading off and a two-base hit by Gillum, scoring Dawson and giving Breck a 3-2 margin. But the lead was a short-lived one as McClain plated two runs in the fourth on four hits and a walk before Gilley came on in relief of the eighth-grader Magrane to stop the rally.

Breck plated the winning run in its half of the sixth when Gilley reached base on an error by the third baseman. Gilley stole second then scored on a bases loaded walk to Dave Chaplin. Gilley earned his second win of the season in three decisions and was also the star at the plate with two hits in four times at bat. He also scored twice.

Breck Coach Sam Daugherty had mixed feelings about his team's performance on Saturday. He was quite disappointed with the first as it was the third outing in a row Breck had failed to score.

TEAM MEETING . . . Teammates await the crossing by Jody Hamilton at homeplate after he skyrocketed a home run over Allen Field's rightfield fence. The two-run shot gave the Eagles a 2-0 start on a win over Western Kentucky Friday afternoon. It was Hamilton's 10th home run of the season, sixth shy of Harry Hall's MSU and Ohio Valley Conference record of 16 set just last year. (Staff photo)

'We're On 'Til They're Off,' Says Derby Festival Officials

Along about the end of April, a strange phenomenon occurs in Louisville and the surrounding Kentucky area. The smiles people wear begin to grow wider and their steps become livelier. There's no cause for alarm, however. They're just happier than usual... and why not? It's Derby Festival time in Louisville. It all starts on Friday with the

"They're Off Luncheon." That night it's the Derby Ball where the Festival Queen is crowned. Saturday morning young and old alike come to see the Great Balloon Race. Over 30,000 people will gather at the Kentucky Fair & Exposition Center while 30 multi-colored balloons fill the sky. Many of the nation's top balloonists will be on hand to display their award-winning flying skills.

Before the last balloon returns to earth, the Kentucky Derby of Cycling's first Governor's Cup Race will be getting underway at Frankfort at the State Capitol. This 50-mile endurance test starts at the steps of the Capitol and finishes in downtown Louisville.

On Saturday and Sunday the Walden School in Lyndon will not be the place for faint-hearted spectators as the Kentucky Derby Festival Rugby Tournament gets underway for two days of rough competition.

Saturday night in Freedom Hall high school basketball All-Americans from across the country meet a combined team of Kentucky and Indiana All-Stars. Ask any one of the 17,000 screaming fans and they'll assure you that the pride of the Bluegrass and Hoosierland is at stake. Basketball is taken very seriously on both sides of the Ohio and the Derby Festival Basketball Classic is symbolic of the level of competition.

Festival events keep rolling right along as top amateur cyclists meet in the Kentucky Derby of Cycling's second day of competition. This event takes place in Cherokee Park where riders tackle one of the nation's most popular courses. The park will be alive with activity as families turn out for a full day of picnicking, cycle racing, and live musical entertainment.

At a somewhat slower pace, joggers numbering around 1,200 line up for the 13-mile Mini-Marathon on Monday. An Amateur Athletic Union sanctioned event, the Mini-Marathon routes runners from Inroquois Park through scenic city streets to the Riverfront Plaza and Belvedere.

The Belvedere, a man-made park overlooking the Ohio, will be a busy place throughout the entire Festival. The Derby Festival Chuckwagon and Beer Garden is set up adjacent to the Belvedere offering authentic Western food as well as beer and Kentucky burgoo. The Chuckwagon is one of the many daily events which include daily Bluegrass music and an exciting Festival atmosphere.

Once the river issue has been decided everybody gets ready for the next day and the annual Pegasus Parade. A quarter of a million people line the city streets and hundreds of thousands more see Pegasus on television. Children of all ages will be delighted by a seemingly never-ending array of celebrities, bands, floats, horses, and clowns. "Leisure Time" is the theme of the 76 parade.

The night before the Kentucky Derby, the entire city will be ready to "burst" at the seams. The energy release valve will be located inside a packed Freedom Hall where the nation's top racers will crank up the Derby Eve Jam. High voltage rock and roll is the product and names like Greg Allman and Bob Seger have performed in past years. At the same time, in another place, the Kentucky Colonels Banquet blends celebrities, dignitaries, and Kentucky Colonels together to achieve a spirited formal affair. Bob Hope will be the guest speaker for the banquet this year. The Colonels and their ladies come from near and far to revisit old acquaintances and find new friends.

Breck Girls Take Second

The University Breckinridge girls' track team placed second in a four-team meet Monday afternoon at the A.L. Dawson Track.

The Lady Eagles finished behind a strong Boyd County team which easily took first place with 72 1/2 points, followed by Breck's 38 1/2. East Carter with 35 1/2 and Lewis County with 14. Wendy Carpenter, Liz Hamilton and the 880-yard relay team took first place finishes. Carpenter, who is only an eighth-grader, broke the tape on the mile run with a time of 5:47, her best time this year, according to Coach Debbie Franks.

"She seems to be getting better and better every outing," she said. Hamilton leaped four feet, nine inches to take first place in the high jump while the 880-relay team of Day, Brumagen, Sadler and Calvert claimed a first with a time of 1:54.3.

"I thought we did real well, especially against a strong Boyd County team," assessed Breck's first-year coach.

She felt the meet might give the girls more incentive as they prepare for the regionals since Boyd County will probably be the team to beat.

The Breck girls take to the track next Monday when they host the Footbills Invitational and again Thursday for the Eastern Kentucky Conference meet, both at Jayne Stadium.

Observing Sun Day

Morehead State University's Environmental Studies Club is sponsoring a solar energy exhibit Wednesday, May 3, in observance of Sun Day.

The working model of solar heating for homes will be on display in Lappin Hall from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m.

The display, presented by Southeastern Solar Systems of Lexington, is open and free to the public.

Vikings Clobber Dilce Combs; Split Against Bath County

Rowan County claimed two of three baseball outings this past week in a rain-shortened schedule which saw four games rained out.

The Vikings began the string by clobbering a weak-fielding Dilce Combs, 12-2, on Saturday then Monday night split a double twinnish with rival Bath County.

Five-run first inning was all Rowan County needed against Dilce Combs but in a gesture of kindness the Vikings continued to score at will and shortened the game to a five-inning affair.

RHS starter Eugene Ferguson showed some signs of reaching his expected potential this season as the senior hurler went the distance in claiming his second win in six starts.

Ferguson allowed two runs, both earned, while striking out nine and walking five.

The Vikings barraged their visitors with a 16-hit attack, highlighted by a four-for-four outing by Tony McKinney. McKinney had two triples and two base hits while knocking in four runs.

Also swinging a hot bat for Rowan County was Ron Corneite who was two-for-three against Dilce Combs. Corneite had a triple while scoring three times. Bart Braugher had three hits, including a double, in four times up at the plate.

Slice Combs took advantage of some first-inning wildness by Ferguson to score the first run. Ferguson walked the first batter he faced but he was quickly cut down by Joey May on an attempted steal of second base.

Problems Continued

The Vikings are continued having problems finding the plate as he also walked the second and third batters he faced that afternoon. They both advanced a base when Ferguson balked, setting up the first run of the game on a fielder's choice by Pete Brasler.

Ferguson then temporarily shut the door when he fanned four of the next seven batters he faced.

Corneite led off the Viking's first inning rally with a walk, advanced to second on a pickoff attempt which got hit by the first baseman. Braugher followed with a single and both scored on McKinney's first triple of the afternoon.

Rowan County scored three more times that inning, added one run in the second and three runs in the fourth and fifth innings to earn their seventh win against nine losses.

Then Monday night Bath County came to town with the look of revenge. The Wildcats came to remedy an earlier 6-3 loss to the Vikings at Bath County on a late-inning two-run homer by McKinney.

And if anyone on the Wildcats wanted the first game it was starter Randy Stull who took the loss at home.

Stull responded with a brilliant effort in pacing his team to a 4-1 win, evening his season pitching mark to 3-3 but more importantly even the score with Rowan County. The Wildcat pitching ace went the distance, scattering six hits while striking out six. The only real trouble ran into was in the last inning when he gave up his only two walks, setting up a mid-thrilling ending.

May Impressive

Just as impressive in the early going was Rowan County starter May who held Bath County hitless through the first 10 batters. The only runner to reach base during the string was on an error, the first of five costly ones during May's tenure on the mound.

Stull started the trouble in a fourth inning rally when he walked with one out. Mark Swartz then got the first hit off May when he singled to left and Stull came all the way around from first to score when Brian Adkins failed to pick up the ball cleanly. Swartz, who had stopped at second on the error, scored when David Havens followed with a single, putting the Wildcats on top 2-0.

The Wildcats added two more runs in the fifth inning, both results of Rowan County miscues.

Jeff Martin reached first when Braugher booted a grounder. Martin was then sacrificed to second and scored on a base hit by Tony Hart. Hart promptly stole second and kept on going when the throw from Tim Durlam went into centerfield. Stull kept the threat alive when he earned a walk off Corneite who had come on in relief in the fifth.

A Double Steal

With runners on first and third Wildcat Coach John Baber never hesitated in calling for the classic double steal. And with the help of the Vikings it worked to perfection.

The senior right-hander was ready for the play cause when Stull broke for second Braugher and Ferguson both headed for the bag. But in doing so they collided, giving a clean shot at home plate. Hart was wasted no time in scoring Bath County's fourth run.

The Vikings staged a small threat in their half of the seventh but Stull was not to be denied. The senior right-hander bore down and fanned two before getting McKinney to ground out with bases loaded to end the game.

The second game featured no less a pitching performance by both Brian Adkins of Rowan County and Bath County's Wendall Bailey.

Vikings On Top

The Vikings came out on top 5-4 in a last-inning come-from-behind win.

Bath County rode the pitching of the sophomore Bailey through the first six innings before going ahead for the first time in the game on a two-run homer by Larry Fair.

Through his six inning stint on the mound, the little southpaw allowed only one hit, a fourth inning single by Billy Thompson that gave Rowan County a 1-0 lead.

However the Wildcats started tired in the seventh inning and walked the first two batters, causing Coach Baber to go with Havens in relief. But Havens gave up a bunt single to Mark Patrick to load the bases.

Rowan County tied the game when Matt Sparks popped out to Stull some 20 feet beyond the first base bag. An alert Stull then fired a throw toward homeplate in an attempt to hold Tom Lyons at third. But the throw was wild and went into the Rowan County dugout, scoring Lyons anyway.

Leave it to Ferguson to come in and end the game in one a million ways.

Ferguson layed down a bunt down the third base line that first was fair but then rolled on the outer side of the white line. But before it quit spinning the ball came back into fair territory. In a desperation move, the Bath County third baseman picked the ball up and fired to first in plenty of time to get Ferguson who was watching the action. In the meantime Allen Bradley, who was on third base, had walked home and the Vikings had earned their eighth win against 10 losses.

Coldiron Inks Cage Pact With Morehead

And the mountain boys just keep on coming.

When Coach Wayne Martin took over the job at Morehead State University he listed among his top recruiting areas the mountains of eastern Kentucky.

He's proven his statement by signing his third, out of seven, mountain cage product to a national letter.

Hartley's Greg Coldiron became the latest one when he inked a basketball scholarship Saturday with Morehead State. Coldiron, a 6-2 second team all-state pick, averaged 17 points and 13 rebounds in playing a leading role in Cagwood High School impressive 24-2 record this season.

Among his various cage honors he was also an honorable member of the American selection and was this past weekend listed among the top high school prospects in the nation.

"He's got as much talent as anybody in the state," assessed John Wildon, his high school coach. Wilson said Coldiron is the second product of Cagwood to sign a basketball scholarship but the first one to ink a four-year pact with a major college. The first one is now playing in a Texas junior college.

Coldiron was actively recruited by Georgia Tech, Missouri, Western Kentucky, Eastern Kentucky and Morehead State and received inquiries from over 150 schools. But according to his coach his final decision went down to Eastern and Morehead State.

"I don't know what made him decide to go to Morehead," Wilson said. I know at one time he was leaning toward Eastern.

But Coldiron made a visit to the MSU campus last Thursday and Friday and came back ready to sign with the Eagles on Saturday.

He said the hills around Morehead reminded him a lot of home," Wilson recalled. "That could have made the difference."

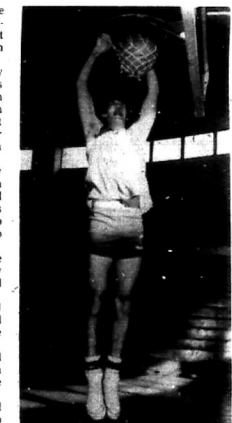

Coldiron is only 17 years young and those who know him say he is able to grow beyond his already 6-6 frame. Match that with his noted leaping ability and Coach Martin is right when he said he had a good one in Coldiron.

"Greg definitely fits into our plans for next season," Martin said. "He not only is a great shooter but jumps well and plays aggressively."

Martin reports he has two more scholarships left. With the signing of Coldiron his perimeter positions are pretty well set for the next three or four seasons and his priority now calls for a big man in the middle who will complement the outside shooting.

Six-foot, 10-inch Bartons. To be a player to be still on the list and is still very interested in coming to Morehead.

Balking Congress

Ever since his razor-thin victory on the Panama Canal treaties, the President has been trying hard to maintain a momentum in Congress for his legislative program. The trouble is, as influential members of Congress have been telling the President one after the other, he really doesn't have that much momentum underway.

By throwing a basketful of major legislative proposals at Congress within the span of a couple of months, the administration has created a series of legislative logjams, none of which show signs of opening quickly or painlessly.

The President was right to criticize Congress for spending a full year mulling over his energy proposals without coming to any significant conclusions. But it was the President's own indecisiveness over gas price regulations and his lack of new production incentives which has stymied the package.

Three top leaders of the House Ways and Means Committee, within which all tax legislation must originate, have told the President he has no chance of enacting most of the tax reforms proposed in January. As one of the three, Rep. Joe D. Waggoner Jr. of Louisiana, explained to reporters: "We tried to explain to him he had no constituency in the Congress or in the country for these reforms."

And so it goes with many of the presidential proposals. When legislation does begin flowing from Congress this session, it will bear little resemblance to the proposals sent over by the White House.

Shaping Up

For many years physical fitness instructors lamented the deteriorating physical condition of the average American. The Armed Forces had to lower physical standards to keep rejection rates within bounds. Presidents even threw the weight of their office behind national physical fitness programs.

Somebody must have been listening. Getting back in shape and staying there suddenly has become the thing to do. A recent national poll indicates almost half the population engages in some form of daily exercise. All age groups are participating, with activities like jogging, bicycling, swimming and tennis enlisting new armies of recruits.

An official of the President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports described the phenomenon this way:

"America is going through a physical fitness renaissance that can make a real dent in degenerative diseases, not to mention the quality of life." Good for us.

Saving A Life

Tomorrow a life will be saved. An accident which could have happened will not happen. A car will approach a stop sign — and stop.

A driver will glance at his speedometer and ease his foot off the accelerator — and an accident will have been prevented. A child will dart from behind a hedge or a parked car. An approaching driver will see him in time because he will have been looking for him.

A pedestrian will start across a busy street, remember and wait. Somewhere at a party tomorrow night a man will drink a final drink, sway a little and ask his wife to drive. Death may not take a holiday tomorrow, but there will be one less story in the paper, one less headline to write, one less figure to add to a mounting toll.

It is not possible to tell where this accident which could have happened did not happen. It could have been on a long, level, wide highway, or at a hedge-parked intersection. It could have been in the busy center of a city. It could have been on a dark, narrow, winding country road. No one knows — or will ever know.

There will be no sign to mark the spot where the death car which was not a death car drove quietly by. It will happen because someone took just a little extra time — to be careful.

But tomorrow night, somewhere, a human being will go about his everyday affairs, never knowing death passed him by. It could even be you.

Never Work

Some people would try to dehumanize anything. A Toronto management consultant has predicted the day will come when restaurants will replace waitresses with computers.

Microphones could be used to signal the orders to the computer, he says, which then could heat reprocessed foods, mix drinks and even present the bill at the end of the meal. Presumably the same process could be used in bars and similar service establishments.

What the man overlooks is that many people who choose to dine out do so because they are looking for something more than the utilitarian aspects of food. They want a little personal attention, some sociability in a human atmosphere.

Not even the most sophisticated computer can program that.

Agree Or Not . . .

FRANKFORT — Former Louisville Mayor Harvey Sloane's formal announcement that he will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for the political arena at a very early date.

Usually the candidates wait at least until the May primary is over for congressional races before making such announcements. However, Lieutenant Governor Thelma Stovall said long ago that she is a candidate, but hasn't made her formal announcement, although she has filed fund-raising and campaign committee names with the Kentucky Registry of Election Finance as have several other candidates.

Other Democrats who have been eyeing the prospects of entering the race are State Auditor George Atkins, Agriculture Commissioner Tom Harris and you might as well throw First District Congressman Carroll Hubbard's name into the pot along with Terry McBrayer, Governor Julian Carroll's choice as his successor. Cox made this statement following a heated conversation several weeks ago between himself and the governor who was on a visit to Washington at the time. Newsman reported that Carroll, in a heated conversation, warned Cox not to run for the governor's spot against McBrayer.

Other Democrats looking at the second position on the Democratic ballot are Senate President Pro Tem Joe Prather, former representative Richard Lewis of Benton and James Vernon of Corbin. Vernon resigned the post of commissioner of public information, reportedly at the request of Carroll after Vernon had made known his desires to enter politics.

Undoubtedly there will be some of the perennial runners who will enter their names in some of the statewide races before the filing date closes next year. Congressman Hubbard and Cox are two figures that persons who follow the political scene should not overlook. Hubbard certainly hasn't been confining his back-home visits to his first district. During the Easter Holidays he was in Ashland, and other parts of eastern Kentucky, including Prestonsburg, Hazard, Harland and First District. He also has appeared in Northern Kentucky and in the Second Congressional District around Bowling Green.

Hubbard is a factional foe of the present administration and has been making some needling remarks about how State Democrat Headquarters is run and recently about the governor's use of a state airplane on his vacation to Florida and the Caribbean area. This political needling has hurt to the quick in some instances.

George Atkins is the one bearing the most potent weapon against Carroll and McBrayer at the moment. He is going to audit, he says, use of state airplanes. He recently has questioned the attempted leasing of a warehouse in Lexington and a deal that would have been awarded to some of Carroll's friends. A proposed new state library building to be leased to the state.

Hubbard has no opponent for his congressional seat this year, and he is free to test his strength in the gubernatorial race next year. If he should run for governor and lose, he still would have another year in his congressional post.

Cox was Carroll's chief administrative assistant when Carroll was lieutenant governor and he joined Carroll's staff to shepherd legislation through the first session after Carroll became governor.

Cox set up most of Carroll's campaign organization for governor, and was instrumental in much of the effort to raise financing. In other words, he knows where the political bodies are buried.

If he doesn't run for governor, he could team up with Hubbard and oppose McBrayer and the present Democratic administration.

Meanwhile on the Republican side, State Rep. Raymond Overstreet has announced and former State Senator Ray White of Bowling Green is campaigning across the state testing his chances and currently has a fund raising campaign in progress.

Others interested on the Republican side are State Senators Larry Hopkins of Lexington and Eugene Stuart of Louisville. Former Gov. Louie B. Nunn is keeping the door open and probably has the best chance, if he wants to run, to be the GOP standard bearer in next year's governor's race.

Letter To The Editor

The Editor:
As the years pass, I have become more tolerant of others point of view and their right to express it. But how the voters of the State of Kentucky can vote on the misrepresentation of their collective point of view by Senator Huddleston in his vote for ratification of the Panama Canal Give-A-Way, is beyond me. I don't think they will tolerate this "I know what's best for my people" type of representation.

This type of government is the same as that expounded by Hitler, Castro and all other dictators who rationalized their actions by saying "it's good for the people."

These same 68 Senators, who voted for ratification, could rationalize a give-away of Texas, because it would be good for those people. It is to be under Mexican rule again. France has every return of the Louisiana Purchase, since it was bought and paid for just like the Canal Zone.

We could give Alaska back to Russia and then, maybe, we would be allowed to buy the Alaskan oil. It would all seem to make as much sense as giving the Canal away and then buying passage through OUR canal.

I wonder how these 68 Senators would vote if they each represented an equal number of those who died building our Panama Canal.

I fully realize that the Canal is not strategically defensible and, also, that our Air Force can transport more men, equipment and supplies from coast to coast than can go by sea through the Canal. But, I don't believe we should give any part of America away, except, maybe, the U.S. Senate.

I congratulate Senator Wendell Ford for representing us, the people, in his vote against giving our canal away. I also commend the 31 Senators who voted with Senator Ford.

Carter Reads Riot Act To Aides

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Carter has admonished his troops to shape up.

Obviously concerned with his declining popularity after 15 months in office, Carter decided that his Cabinet and White House staff were not performing up to par.

To make his point in the privacy of an official family gathering, the president invited the Cabinet and chief advisers to Camp David for a mountaintop soul-searching session.

Carter, who apparently felt he knew where the fault lies, "worked over everybody," press secretary Judy Powell told reporters with, with some pride. "He read the riot act."

Powell said he thinks "the general consensus there was that the problem in most cases was not so much principals taking pot shots at one another, but sort of indiscreet comments in front of other people who would then repeat them to somebody else, and then you finally reach somebody that just has to prove that they are in the know, and you guys know very well how that works."

In other words, it is not those at the top who are causing the backbiting, but "lower echelon" unnamed bureaucrats and aides. Before he took office, Carter gave his Cabinet members full freedom to select their staffs and to run their departments in their own way. He told them that they did not have to answer to any White House aides.

President Richard Nixon's Cabinet was dominated by the White House staff, and members could not get appointments with Nixon without going through Oval Office gatekeeper H. R. Haldeman.

Carter stressed the independence and self reliance of the Cabinet in those beginning months. At the first meeting of the Cabinet, he stunned reporters by announcing that he was considering opening such meetings to press coverage.

That idea was short-lived. Members did not buy it on grounds that they needed confidentiality to express themselves freely, and Carter also had second thoughts.

But then the pendulum swung to a point where more and more irritation was being expressed in the inner White House against so-called "leaks."

Cabinet officials and their department deputies were sometimes berated behind their backs and accused of leaking stories to the press.

Leaks, however, have not caused the crisis of leadership in the Carter administration, nor the heavy criticism that it is the public perception that Carter has failed to live up to his campaign promises and that he has not been the "can do" man they had expected.

The top aides were told to stop their "intramural" squabbling and bickering, and to start operating as a team. Under those circumstances, inevitably someone is put in charge to keep the team on its line. A chief of staff is appointed, but he will not be called that in this administration.

There is no question that there will be a change in the operations. Some of the deputy White House staffers may find themselves doing other jobs, and there will be much more coordination and follow through on policies with the departments.

While Carter previously was in favor of Cabinet officials speaking out for themselves, it is clear there is now a movement afoot to have a administration speak with one voice.

It is not known if the president, during the Camp David meetings, confessed to any errors on his own part. But Powell said, "Oh, sure," when asked whether Carter's "shortcomings" also had been a part of the discussion.

There were no resignations and none asked for, but it was clear that Carter did lay down the law and has decided that to make his mark in history he must change his style of governing.

MSU Geology Professor Studying Mine Problems

When the experts gather to talk about coal research in Kentucky, one of the prominent names is Dr. David Hybert of Morehead State University.

The geology professor has been studying roof falls — the major cause of mining fatalities — for more than five years under research grants from the U.S. Bureau of Mines. And his work is beginning to show results.

The preliminary research was concentrated in the Highpoint and Bailey Creek mines of the Eastover Mining Co. in Harlan County.

In certain cases, Dr. Hybert has been able to predict the location of weak roof areas but the procedure requires additional study.

"The more work we do in the field, the more accurate we hope to become," Dr. Hybert said "but there still can be mistakes because we can never accumulate enough data on which to base the projections.

His research is intended to help mine engineers make their mines safer

"We can't tell engineers how to hold up a roof, but we can tell them if it is hazardous condition could occur and to be ready for it," the researcher added.

The Hybert team often works inside mines to make core drillings in mine roofs to study trends in rock types.

The new phase of the research will require about two years and Dr. Hybert is anxious to get moving. More than a dozen companies have offered use of their mines for the new studies.

"We will move quickly to select those mines we feel are best suited for the project," he added. "The cooperation of the mining companies has been a great asset to our work. Why would a person devote six years of his life to such a project?

"The idea of making mines safer is the ideal of the science of geology," he said. "This work could directly benefit underground miners and their families. Our goal is to do something for the good of all."

Flu Bug Was Active Last Winter

MARTY WITHROW'S efforts were successful last Wednesday as his candidate won in MSU's student government election. The Columbus, Ohio freshman braved some inclement weather to get a point across. Kevin Porter bested Chris Lester to win the SGA's presidency. Students also voiced resounding support for the return of a yearbook.

FRANKFORT, Ky. (UPI) — This year were of the A-Texas strain, considered a milder form of flu than the so-called "swine flu" that precipitated a mass inoculation effort in Kentucky last year. Ironically, more people were vaccinated for that flu strain last year with fewer cases reported than during the just completed flu season.

Most of the problems during the past winter were in several western Kentucky counties.

Dr. Carlos Hernandez, director of the division of preventive services for the bureau, said although there were more cases of flu in Kentucky this year, it did not necessarily mean the season was that much rougher than in previous years.

"We did have more cases, but some of the cases were not as severe as in previous years," Hernandez said in an interview. "Of course, the figures we are talking about are just the number of flu cases that were reported to the authorities, not all of the cases of flu in the state."

The state does not keep a record of any flu-related deaths, although Hernandez said there was at least one case of pneumonia that led to the death of a western Kentucky man during the year.

Hernandez also ended speculation about whether the Russian flu was reported in Kentucky during the past flu season. "We did not have any confirmed cases of Russian flu, although some people either said they had it or were reporting it that way," Hernandez said. "We could not confirm, through any of our tests, that the Russian flu was ever in this state."

Most of the cases of flu in Kentucky

"It was still dark but about to be daylight. To our right I saw a big circular object that looked like it was on fire. I thought maybe it was an asteroid or a meteor, but knew that it wasn't either. I don't know what it was. It was coming toward us."

Three men, one of them a resident of West Liberty, were driving to work in the vicinity of coal mines in the Cannel City section of Morgan County. The West Liberty man explained that he, a man from Magoffin County and a man from Elliott County — all employees of a coal operation in the county — were "coming off a hill toward Cannel City when suddenly I saw this object. It got everybody's attention. It was the brightest thing you ever saw, absolutely brilliant. While the three of us watched it, it suddenly exploded sending spots and glows of light in all directions. Then just as suddenly as the object appeared, it disappeared completely."

The West Liberty man did not want to

The incident is under investigation.

Readership

NEW YORK (UPI) — Childhood exposure to newspapers establishes newspaper reading habits for adulthood. A new report on newspaper readership shows 70 percent of the adults who recalled having a paper at home during childhood are frequent readers today, reading a paper on four or five of the past five weekdays prior to their interview.

Sixty-seven percent said they were newspaper subscribers. Among those who did not have a paper at home during childhood, only 56 percent described themselves as frequent readers and 49 percent as subscribers. The report developed by the Newspaper Advertising Bureau, Inc. was based on a study in a nationwide program to increase newspaper circulation and readership.

Research Done On Gambling

LONDON (UPI) — One of the things that fascinated film star Grace Kelly when she became Princess Grace of Monaco was the gilded gambling casinos that at its height made Monte Carlo the world capital of big gambling.

And one of the most interesting things that emerged from her curiosity, she once told an interviewer, was the discovery that crochets with years of experience at the roulette and card tables believed a gambler's lucky streak usually lasted no longer than 15 minutes.

Some oil-rich Arabs nearly broke the bank a few years ago in a run that continued long past 15 minutes but on the average the Casino felt, said Her Serene Highness, that if it could hold out for a quarter of an hour or so the odds would begin to turn back towards the bank.

They did very little market research in the days when gambling on the Riviera was basically a pastime of the moneyed classes so no one scientifically tested the truth of this opinion. Times have changed especially in Britain which was the new capital of big stake gaming in Europe.

Legalized gambling, an industry with an annual turnover of more than 7 billion dollars and with more than 90,000 employees, demands the most careful research. So economists and sociologists have been put to work.

The result is a 257-page study turned out by the Home Office. It supervises gambling through local Gaming Boards that operate under rules so strict neither the Mafia nor any other arm of organized crime has ever been able to break into the big gambling casinos despite a turnover last year of $1.3 billion.

The study makes a number of intriguing points in a country where it says four out of five adults gamble at some time or another in the casinos, at the horse and dog tracks, on the football pools or on bingo and lotteries. The most sociologically important is: "There is little or no evidence to suggest that, as a pastime, moderate gambling has harmful or social consequences either for the gambler or society."

There are some who gamble away everything, of course, just as there are drinkers who become alcoholics. But a majority of gamblers, said the study, do not squander money recklessly either in the amounts they bet or the winnings they spend.

"As far as (football) pools are concerned," it said, "there is evidence that many people budget for their expenditure, that participants both intend to use any large win thriftily and sensibly and in fact do so when that event occurs, spending the money on home-centered items as their first preference."

"In horse race betting, too, small wins are re-bet more often than large ones, while rebetting itself is largely confined to regular punters (bettors)."

The study suggests that the view that gambling may have some entertainment value and thus provide a genuine service may be more suited to Britain than the United States.

One of the reasons, it said, is: "Bookmaking on the whole has been regarded as a reasonably respectable activity (in this country) and never extensively under the control of criminals... in the United States, on the other hand, the question of whether or not to legalize gambling has, because of its traditional domination by organized crime, always had a rather different implication."

Your... Social Security

By: David Bryan — Ashland District Mgr. For Social Security Information write: District Social Security Offices 1816 Carter Avenues — Ashland, Ky.; Phone 325-7666.

There will be new procedures to follow when applying for an original or a duplicate social security number according to David Bryan, district manager in Ashland.

Prior to November 1971, an applicant for a social security number generally was not required to submit evidence to support the essential identifying information entered on the application. The social security number was assigned entirely on the basis of the applicant's allegations. In November 1971, a limited policy of supporting an application with simple evidence of identity (similar to what is required to cash a check in a bank) was introduced for all applicants age 55 or older who were applying for a social security number for the first time.

On October 30, 1972, Public Law 92-603 (the Social Security Amendments of 1972) was enacted, requiring applicants for social security to submit sufficient evidence to establish their age, true identity, and U.S. citizenship or lawful alien status. Formal procedures to implement the provisions of the Social Security Act became effective April 15, 1974.

Because of the heavy workloads being experienced at that time, the evidence requirements were initially applied only in requests for original social security numbers where the applicant was either foreign-born or was U.S.-born and age 18 or older. We continued to accept applications without supporting evidence from applicants for original numbers who were alleged U.S.-born and under age 18 and from all applicants for duplicate or replacement cards.

Early in 1976, the Social Security Administration became concerned with the increasing number of fraudulent activities involving social security numbers being reported around the nation.

The Social Security Administration Policy Council, after lengthy study of the problem, endorsed a series of changes in the social security number issuance procedures designed to tighten up the assignment process, deter fraud and misuse of the social security number and in general make the record more valid and reliable. As a result of these changes, Effective May 15, 1978, all applicants for original social security numbers, regardless of date or place of birth, must submit documentary evidence establishing their age, their U.S. citizenship or lawful alien status, and their true

Palm Trees In Alaska 45 Million Years Ago

MENLO PARK, Calif. (UPI) — Alaska wasn't always frozen wastelands and wintry climes; some 45 million years ago it grew mangroves, palm trees and other tropical vegetation, says a U.S. Geological Survey Report.

The conclusion, based on detailed studies of fossil plants, suggests not only climatic differences in the two periods, but a difference in how the earth rotated on its axis, said Dr. Jack A. Wolfe, author of the report.

"The earth's axis of rotation must have been straighter and less inclined toward the sun if these plants were to get enough sunlight," said Wolfe, a plant geologist at the Geological Survey's research center.

Burmese lacquer trees, mangroves, feather and fan palms, and groups that now produce nutmeg and Macassar oil once blossomed in the regions of Alaska, the report by the Interior Department agency said.

The findings were based on a detailed study of the remains of fossil plants found in rocks exposed near the Malaspina, Bering, and Martin River glaciers near the Gulf of Alaska in south-central Alaska.

"The fossil plants that I have studied could not possibly have grown in Alaska under the present light conditions," Wolfe said. "If the present temperatures were suitable, the plants would be unable to produce sufficient food under the present winter-light conditions."

"These broad-leaved evergreen plants would literally consume themselves during the winter using up more food than they could produce by photosynthesis with available sunlight," he said.

"The only solution is that this part of Alaska must have received more sunlight than it presently does."

Wolfe said there were two possible explanations: either Alaska was heated much farther south 45 million years ago or more sunlight was reaching the north.

"Recently uncovered geologic evidence does indicate that at least parts of Alaska originated near the equator and later migrated north," Wolfe said.

But he added: "This northward migration apparently ended, however, about 20 million years before the time of the plants. When the fossil plants were growing, therefore, Alaska was at least as far north as it is now."

"In fact, the plants may have been even farther north than their present latitude, because during the last 45 million years, the Alaskan land mass has apparently rotated southward," Wolfe said.

"The only other conclusion left to explain the apparent summer conditions is that the rate of rotation of the earth was less inclined towards the sun than it is today..."

Breakfast Order Big For Derby

FRANKFORT, Ky. (UPI) — The food service director of the state parks department has a hefty shopping list prepared for the annual governor's derby day breakfast May 6.

Bennie Hager is in charge of feeding the thousands of guests who will attend the annual breakfast.

Hager says his department will purchase up to 9,500 eggs, between 1,400 and 1,600 pounds of country ham, 300 pounds of sausage, 100 dozen pastries, 100 pounds of butter and 100 pounds of fresh mushrooms.

Hager also expects he will have to brew between 9,000 and 10,000 cups of coffee.

Hager added he expected to have been 18 and 20 cooks on what he called the production line, actually preparing the food.

Woman Has Sex Change; Fathers Baby

ST. URBAN, Austria (UPI) — A former women's world ski champion identity before a number can be assigned.

In addition, applicants for duplicate or corrected cards must submit sufficient evidence of their identities to establish that the current applicant and the person to whom the social security number was originally assigned are one and the same.

Applications and supporting evidence may be submitted in person or by mail, except in the case of applicants for original social security numbers who are age 18 or older.

These persons must undergo an in-person interview. Aliens entering the U.S. as permanent resident immigrants will no longer make their applications for social security numbers as part of the visa application process at State Department foreign service posts.

Instead, they will be instructed to contact their nearest social security office after they arrive in the U.S. Applicants living outside the U.S. will be required to have their evidence documents certified by either U.S. consular or U.S. military officials; this certification process will serve in lieu of the in-person interview for those over age 18.

Anyone having questions regarding applying for a social security number can call or write their nearest social security office. The Ashland office is located at 1816 Carter Avenue.

who underwent a sex change operation says he has fathered a baby girl.

Erik Schinegger, who as Erika Schinegger was banned from the 1968 Winter Olympics after failing to pass a sex test as his wife came home Monday but the baby, Claire, will remain in a hospital for a few more days.

"We hope to have the baby with us in the next several days," the 28-year-old Schinegger said. "It is a great feeling to have a family. I feel tremendous joy."

Physicians at the nearby Klagenfurt hospital said Mrs. Renate Schinegger, 22, was in perfect health after giving birth April 8 but the baby was being kept in the hospital until she gains more weight.

Doctors say they don't know of any case in which a woman changed sex and then fathered a child, but noted Schinegger apparently had some physical characteristics of both sexes before she underwent surgery.

Schinegger won the women's world downhill ski title in Portillo, Chile, in 1966, but the next year she failed to pass a sex test for the 1968 Winter Olympics in Grenoble, France, and was dropped from the Austrian ski team.

Schinegger has said he underwent "several operations" in 1968 at the Innsbruck University clinic before he became a "real man."

He later tried and failed to qualify for the national Austrian men's ski team, but went on to compete in two men's ski races representing the tiny neighboring principality of Liechtenstein.

Furniture Buyers Find Auctions Still Promising

NEW YORK (UPI)—If you're put off new furniture by its high cost or poor construction, auctions may have a lot to offer.

"Americans are getting smarter," says William J. Doyle, president of the New York auction gallery that bears his name. "MOST NEW FURNITURE IS GARBAGE. Good new furniture is too expensive."

"So the place to buy solid, worthwhile furniture is at auctions. A lot of young people are buying what they need at a mere 10, 20 or 30 cents on the dollar." Doyle's auction house is handling a lot of that kind of furniture as well as vast quantities of silverware, dinnerware and other household items of a quality that's difficult to find at a reasonable price if you're buying new.

"An awful lot of good stuff is coming on the market," Doyle said in an interview. "Grandma used to live in an eight-room apartment stuffed with furniture. Now, because of taxation or inflation, she is moving to a smaller apartment or maybe her heirs are getting rid of the old stuff."

"Europeans who fled to the United States in the 1930s are dying and the furniture they brought with them is coming on the market," he said. "There was no market for the heavier European furniture until the last five years."

"But now, ironically, it is Europeans who are buying it to ship home. There was a lot of looting after World War II, and some of that material is going back," he said.

Doyle has been in the antique business 30 of his 35 years. He began as a child when he and his four brothers would clean out a neighbor's attic or garage — for a fee — and then sell anything of value they found to the second hand and antique dealers in Boston, where he grew up.

Doyle is one of 10 children, grandson of James H. Doyle who preceded John "Honey Fitz" Fitzgerald, grandfather of President John F. Kennedy, as chairman of Boston's board of aldermen.

Doyle has advice for anyone thinking about buying antiques at auction.

"The important thing is first to like what you're buying," he said. "If what you buy turns out to be a good investment, you're a double winner. And if you are buying for investment purposes only, always buy the best of any particular line."

There are other trends the fast-talking Doyle has spotted. "French furniture is even more in demand than ever," he said. "Pictures generally go back to London. Although it is no longer the overall auction center, London is still the place to auction fine old paintings." The items appearing at auctions sometimes come from unlikely sources. "Inflation and increased insurance are forcing religious orders, museums and the like to weed out their collections," Doyle said. "Foundations and churches are going through the same pressures and about 20 private clubs have closed their doors."

Barbara Walters Harry Reasoner Team Is Caput

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Barbara Walters-Harry Reasoner anchor team on the ABC Evening News will go off the air in favor of a basically anchor-less format, ABC is expected to announce today.

Rhone Arledge, president of ABC News and Sports, is expected to formalize at a news conference the report that the teaming of Barbara and Harry would come to an end.

Miss Walters, who currently is in Panama on the canal story, will remain with the Evening News. Although her contract calls for her to be an anchor person, it is understood she will concentrate heavily, as she has been doing in recent months, on interviews and reporting.

The anchor chores will be split, with Miss Walters in New York, Frank Reynolds in Washington, Peter Jennings in London and Max Robinson in Chicago. Robinson recently joined ABC from WTOP in Washington.

Two questions that Arledge is expected to answer concern when the switch will occur and the future of Harry Reasoner. This spring was negotiating with his old employer, CBS News, which wanted him to return to replace Bill Moyers on CBS Reports. Moyers, whose contract expires in August, is leaving CBS to return to PBS.

Although Reasoner's contract with ABC has several years to run, he has said that he has an oral agreement with Arledge's predecessor that he could leave ABC in June if he were unhappy.

The ratings on the ABC Evening News have been disappointing to the network, which had hoped the Barbara and Harry show would move them out of last place in network evening news competition. It didn't.

Eurailpass Is Dollar Stretcher

Your travel dollar can still go a long way in Europe — and you can go first class all the way without breaking the family piggy bank.

The dollar stretcher is the Eurailpass, which entitles purchasers to unlimited first-class transportation over more than 100,000 miles of railroad tracks in 15 European countries.

In addition, the wallet-sized pass provides for free rides and/or reduced fares on ferries, river excursion boats, lake steamers and buses across the continent.

Eurailpasses must be bought in the United States — they are not sold in Europe — from travel agents or at the offices of the French, German, Italian or Swiss railways.

They cost more this year than last but still rate as one of Europe's outstanding travel bargains.

Passes cost $180 for 15 days; $220 for 21 days; $270 for one month; $380 for two months; and $450 for three months. Children under 12 ride half-price, under 4 they travel free. New this year is the Eurail Youthpass, replacing the student pass — two months of unlimited second-class travel for $250 for all persons under 26 years of age.

To insure full value, the pass should not be stamped until boarding the first train.

The Eurailpass includes travel on the crack TransEurope Express (TEE) trains which link 172 major cities in Austria, Belgium, Denmark, Finland, France, Greece, Italy, Luxembourg, The Netherlands, Norway, Portugal, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland and West Germany.

The Eurailpass system was expanded this year to Finland and Greece, adding two new bonuses for pass holders: free ferry services between Italy and Greece and between Sweden and Finland. They supplement such long-time extras as free Rhine and Danube sightseeing boats, Swiss lake steamers, and ferries between Italy and Sicily, Germany and Denmark, and Denmark and Sweden.

In addition, there are free rides on certain buses in Germany and also elsewhere and reductions in Europabus and various other motor coach services in Western Europe.

European trains are modern, clean, comfortable, frequent, fast and punctual. They have long been the popular means of transportation for Europeans and, in recent years, an increasing number of foreign visitors.

With a Eurailpass, you can fix your own itinerary, stopping off wherever and whenever you want within the time limit. While not required, except for sleepers and couchettes and TEE and certain special trains, reservations are advisable, especially in the summer and around holidays. There is a small extra fee.

Pass holders can cut costs on overnight accommodations by scheduling long-distance trips at night and sleeping aboard the train. Seats in first class coaches are usually comfortable or you could book a bunk in a couchette for a few extra dollars. Note-couchettes in Europe are shared by men and women. Sleeping cars are more expensive.

Police Want Sophia Loren

ROME (UPI) — Sophia Loren and Ava Gardner are wanted in Italy and this time it's by the police.

The names of the two actresses, actor Richard Harris and Miss Loren's husband, film producer Carlo Ponti, have been added to the little black books kept by border police with the notation "wanted for questioning on charges of illegally exporting more than $10 million in currency and valuable art works."

The charges carry a penalty of from one to six years in prison.

Miss Loren, 43, was charged over the weekend with illegally exporting $3.5 million worth of art objects and secretly establishing bank accounts abroad.

Miss Gardner and Harris were accused of accepting payments abroad of more than $30,000 for work done in Italy on Ponti's production of the movie "Cassandra Crossing."

Ponti faces the biggest legal problems says public prosecutor Paulino Dell'Anno.

The prosecutor has charged Ponti, 65, with violating Italian currency regulations by exporting more than $10 million.

Last year, police raided the Pontis' sumptuous villa south of Rome and a month later Miss Loren was held for nine hours at the Rome airport for questioning on her husband's currency dealings.

Attacks Cop With French Fries

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (UPI) — Wayne Monagan was arrested Thursday on charges of attacking a cop with a greasy french fry.

Police say officer Ray Mosher entered an all-night diner around 3 a.m. to call his dispatcher. His own portable radio was broken.

The next thing Mosher knew, a ketchup-soaked french fry bounced off the wall near him.

Mosher eyed the offender and told him to stop.

But another fry flew, this time as Mosher saw the man pull back a fork, "using it as a catapult" to launch his

This one hit Mosher on the left shoulder, and the ketchup splattered his uniform.

"The subject was arrested while reloading," the police report said.

Mosher, 28, was charged with harassment and resisting arrest after Mosher wrestled him to the floor and sprayed him with Mace.

Monagan told police he started the fry fight barrage because Mosher "gave him tickets in the past."

Zippo Lighter Stops Bullet

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Security guard Wilhelm Strebel was shot point blank in the chest and lived to tell about it—his $3 Zippo lighter stopped the bullet.
The .32-caliber slug fired by one of three men at the cashier's cage at Kaiser Hospital bored three-quarters of the way through Strebel's chrome-plated lighter. The force knocked the guard to the ground.
Strebel had approached the trio because they looked suspicious.
The gunman first wounded Strebel in the arm before firing directly at his chest for no apparent reason, police said. The group then fled.
Strebel, who was cited for outstanding bravery by the Police Department last week, was treated for shock and was reported in good condition Tuesday.
The Zippo Lighter Co. of Bradford, Pa., said they would send Strebel a free gold-plated lighter with his name on it to replace the damaged one.

Auto Service Tips

Miles per gallon becomes increasingly important with the high cost of gasoline. Keep car tuned up. An out-of-tune car wastes five per cent of the fuel it uses. Accelerate gently. Ease off gas pedal and coast to a stop. When you start, get into high gear as quickly as possible. Automatic transmissions will shift earlier if you ease up on the accelerator.

"Look Before You Leap," State Advises Consumers

FRANKFORT, Ky. (UPI) — The old adage "look before you leap" is considered a watch word in the state Consumer Protection Division as consumer complaints alleging fraud or deceptive practices rise.

Robert Bullock, assistant attorney general in charge of the Consumer Protection Division, said most complaints could be settled if people contacted the business before lodging a complaint.

"The vast majority of the public do not see the distinction between a contract dispute and a situation that may be deceptive," he explained. "The hardest thing I have to do is explain to people that not everything is fraud and many times they're not."

But, the 40-year-old attorney is quick to acknowledge that fraud and deceptive practices do occur. "The one that comes to mind the quickest is the purchase of an 'as-is' car," he said.

"As-is" car purchases, which ranked second in 1976 as the most complained-about practice behind new car purchases, are risky business, Bullock noted. A car which looks in good shape on the lot may fall apart in the street and the division's hands are tied unless fraud can be proven.

In 1977, however, used car and new car purchases were passed by mail order companies in the number of complaints lodged. An unreleased report reveals that mail order companies received 422 complaints, new car purchases received 385 and used car purchases received 208.

But, he noted that if there is fraud in this area, "We've had better luck dealing with the postal inspectors than dealing with the company quite a distance away."

"The accepted practice in the division is to arbitrate the matter between the consumer and the business," Bullock said. "A lot of times the consumer has not contacted the business and (the complaint) is the first the business has heard of it."

If fraud or deceptive practices are found, however, the attorney in the division's three sections are there to protect the consumer. "It's an exciting field," Bullock noted, "a new and emerging field — one where we can make a contribution."

But that very fact presents problems. "It's a new field of law," Bullock explained, "with often little (legal) precedent. Generally speaking, the people that start with us have to start from scratch. It's an area of specialization."

Bullock said the consumer complaints should originate with the written word. "We ask the people to put it in writing because we need that documented evidence," he explained.

Once that is received, either arbitration or an investigation is the next step. The consumer may also take a merchant or business to small claims court if the disputed amount is less than $500. Otherwise, Bullock said, "We can take action on the state level in state courts, if it's appropriate."

How To Read And Understand The Bible

This is one of a series of chapters from the 16-volume "How To Read And Understand The Bible" by William C. Chay Jr. of Mt. Sterling. A member of the board of directors of The Morehead News, Inc., he is an attorney and a corporate executive in banking, communications, manufacturing, land development, mining and oil exploration. He is a graduate of Berea College and Yale Law School and holds an honorary Doctor of Law degree from Transylvania University in recognition of his leadership in church and community, his accomplishments in the legal profession, his dedication to education of youth, and his unselfish service to Transylvania as its counsel and as a member of its Executive Committee.

William C. Chay, Jr.

CHAPTER LX FORGIVENESS

The boy had been told repeatedly to leave his father's pistol alone, but he was 13 and there are things that a teen-ager is tempted to do with or without permission. He took the pistol, joined other children playing in the barn on the farm, and choosing a target, emptied the pistol's clip into it. Several smaller girls watched him. To ease them he whirled on young Marie Mills and Fred. He had forgotten that one shell remained in the chamber. Marie died.

If you were a member of Marie's family, how would you feel toward the boy? When his friends avoided him or accused him, would you reason that he had asked for it? Would you be glad, in a way, that the tragedy would haunt him all the rest of his life? Would you want his family, or the state, to punish him for his crime?

Marie's family thought about the lad. One morning they stopped at his house to drive him to school. Marie's brother, Rev. Sherman Mills, asked the principal to assemble the 570 pupils in the gymnasium. When all sat silent before him, the minister said:

I have asked you here... to tell you that my mother and the rest of our family have forgiven this boy for what happened. And we have asked God to forgive him, too. Furthermore, we want all of you to forgive him, and I ask you never to discuss this incident, either with him or among yourselves. His deed was not intentional, and any one of us could have been guilty of it."

He asked the young boy to come forward and, when he reached his side, he placed his arm around the lad's shoulders and said:

"Last night... my family and this boy's family gathered together for Holy Communion. We prayed that God would put charity and understanding in our hearts, so that we might love this boy during this most lonely and desperate hour of his life. Our prayer has been answered. I ask all of you to join me now in the same prayer."

Long ago Jesus told a story of what it means to forgive. He was having dinner at the home of Simon the Pharisee. During the meal, as was the custom of that day, strangers were free to walk in and talk with the guests, but one came who was not welcome. She was Mary, a woman of the streets. She did not sit or stand beside the wall, but washed the feet of Jesus and wiped them with her hair.

Simon was astonished. If Jesus were a prophet, Simon wondered, why could He not see this woman's character, and, seeing it, why did He let her cling to Him?

Jesus spoke: "Simon, I have something to say to you." Simon answered, "What is it, Teacher?" "A certain creditor had two debtors; one owed five hundred denarii, and the other fifty. When they could not pay, he forgave them both. Now which of them will love him more?" Simon answered quickly, "The one, I suppose, to whom he forgave more." Jesus said to Simon,

"Do you see this woman? I entered your house, you gave me no water for my feet, but she has washed my feet with her tears and wiped them with her hair. You gave me no kiss, but from the time I came in, she has not ceased to kiss my feet. You did not anoint my head with oil, but she has anointed my feet with ointment. Therefore I tell you, her sins, which are many, are forgiven, for she loved much; but he who is forgiven little, loves little."

Another parable on forgiveness was prompted by a question from Peter: "Lord, how often shall my brother sin against me, and I forgive him? As many as seven times?"

The Jewish law required forgiveness for three times. With his "seven times" Peter was trying to be generous, but Jesus said, "I do not say to you seven times, but seventy times seven."

Then Jesus told of a man who owed his king two million dollars. When the debtor was called upon to settle his account, he was unable to meet the obligation, and "his Lord ordered him to be sold, with his wife and children and all that he had, and payment to be made." The servant fell on his knees and begged his lord to give him time to pay all that he owed. And "out of pity for him the lord of that servant... forgive him the debt." As he went out, the servant found one of his fellow servants who owed him twenty dollars, and "seizing him by the throat he said, 'Pay what you owe.'" The man pled, "Have patience with me, and I will pay you." The servant refused and put his fellow servant "in prison, till he should pay the debt."

When the servant's master heard what had happened, he called him and said, "You wicked servant! I forgive you all that debt because you brought me here, and should not you have had mercy on your fellow servant, as I had mercy on you?" In anger, the lord delivered his servant to the jailers until the debt should be paid, and Jesus drew his parallel, "So also my heavenly Father will do to every one of you, if you do not forgive your brother from your heart."

A man kept what he called a little black book. He wrote down the injuries and offenses which he suffered at the hands of others. "I'll pay every one of them back if it's the last thing I ever do," he said. True to his word, he devoted his life to getting even. He died a sour and lonely man. He missed the joy that could have been his if he had kept a book of favors—a record of the kindnesses that came to him throughout his life. He never sought to create happiness; he was too busy evening up the scores.

By contrast, another man was the victim of community gossip. He was bitter, despising everyone who turned against him, but he began to realize that his friends had taken up, as most of us do, for the fellow whom they believed he had wronged—for the underdog. Understanding them, he forgave them and went out of his way to be gracious to them. He won them back as friends.

It is easier, however, to ask forgiveness than to take the initiative of forgiving and forgetting. Why? First, you may fail to sense your own shortcomings. Do you notice how often you are right and the other fellow is wrong? Are you convinced that those who disagree with you are the ones who are out of step? Do you ever put yourself in someone else's shoes?

Secondly, you may be overcome by pride. You may not be humble enough to admit your errors. You may not have mastered the lesson that "the that is greatest among you shall be your servant." You may be protecting your pride when you should be admitting that you are not a person of great consequence.

Finally, you may feel compelled to stand up for your rights. You do not want to get run over. You do not want someone else to take advantage of you. You are so concerned with taking care of yourself that you may not have learned to care more for others. You may not love your neighbor as much as you love yourself.

But what happens when you learn how to forgive? You will put meaning into your prayer, "Forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors." You will bring happiness to others and find peace of mind for yourself. And if you master the basic virtues—humility, empathy, and love—forgiveness will no longer be a response to a conscious effort. It will become a habit, a part of your way of life.

CINCINNATI (UPI)—The "Blizzard of '70" was so bad that the people of Cincinnati are girding for next winter.

At a national "snow" convention Wednesday, the main topic was "What happened in the blizzard of '70 and what we learned."

James F. Johnson of Boston said his city got "plastered" by snowstorms and said he learned that military leaders sent in to remove snow should take orders from city officials "because the military doesn't know the political problems we have."

A.R. Romine of Kentucky said he thought Kentucky was supposed to be a southern state "until the bottom fell out with record snowfall."

"We learned quite a bit," said Romine, "but my boss apparently thinks we should learn quite a bit more, so he sent me to this convention."

Paul S. Pyle of Kalamazoo, Mich.,

said "we couldn't handle the snow we got without outside help," but as the financial planning concluded, "I don't know how in God's name anybody can budget for something like this."

The convention, the 18th annual North American Snow Conference, sponsored by the American Public Works Association, brought together several hundred officials from around the country to exchange ideas about how to cope with future snowstorms.

But officials could hardly forget the last ones. "Last Feb. 6-8, we got the heaviest snowfall in the history of Boston," said Johnson, the city's superintendent of highway maintenance. "More than 27 inches of snow in one storm, winds of 52 miles per hour and gusting to 110. We got plastered."

"Our snowplows couldn't do it. We could only open up the city of Boston with front end loaders, bulldozers and with military equipment. We were prepared for the military coming in, but we learned a lesson there.

"In the beginning, the military commander wanted to clear the snow finally prevailed and I believe the military should do what we tell them in these situations.

"They don't know the political problems we have. They don't know about the ethnic groups we have. The military wanted to clear all of one area, then move to another."

"But I knew we had to work on all areas at the same time. If one ethnic group found out we had finished another section, you wouldn't have been able to live in that area."

Johnson then handed out certificates to conventioners for "Surviving the Blizzard of '70."

As for Kentucky, Romine, the assistant state highway engineer, said, "Many of you think the sun shines bright on My Old Kentucky Home all year round, but it just ain't so. "An arctic blizzard apparently got lost in Kentucky and we set all kinds of records for snowfall."

Some say it's bad luck to burn sawdust wood.

Romine said trying to clear 25,000 miles of roadway without much heavy snow equipment "was like fighting an inferno with a bucket brigade."

Romine then reeled off a long list of snow removal equipment he wants the state to buy before next winter.

Howard L. Thompson, superintendent of the bureau of sanitation in Milwaukee, also recommended that Romine "encourage northerners traveling through Kentucky in the winter to carry shovels and sand."

KSP Report Busy Montgomery Weekend

MT. STERLING — Kentucky State Police and other law enforcement agencies reported a busy weekend in Montgomery County. Frank Hammond of the Albert Clay farm reported to KSP over 9000 in stereo equipment was stolen in a break-in there Saturday night. The investigation is being handled jointly by KSP and the Montgomery County Sheriff's Department.

A Montgomery County man was seriously injured when he lost control of his truck and smashed into a tree three miles north of Mt. Sterling about 2:00 a.m. Sunday. Rodney Meyers of the Tipton Road, was listed in intensive care Monday morning at the UK Medical Center with a fractured skull, a broken arm and second degree burns on his leg.

KSP reported Meyers' truck wrapped around a tree and caught fire. Rescuers battled flames to free him from the wreckage.

The Montgomery County Fire Department and the Montgomery County Sheriff's Department responded to the call.

KSP reported a driver for Bob's Poultry and Eggs was the victim of an apparent armed robbery at 8:30 Monday morning at the Montgomery-Powell County line. Two young, white males, brandishing a .38 caliber pistol, forced the truck off the road and escaped with a small amount of cash.

The suspects fled in a black auto bearing what was thought to be a Mercer County tag and headed south on Ky. 11. No injuries were reported to KSP.

$97,000 Spent To Study Peruvian Prostitutes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., denounced the National Institutes for Mental Health today for financing a study for the behavior and social relationships in a Peruvian brothel.

Proxmire said the study was part of a $97,000 grant which paid for an 18-month field trip to Peru by a researcher and his associate.

"The $97,000 grant went to Dr. Pierre L. Van Den Berge and his associate, Dr. George P. Primov, to enable them to study ethnic and class relationships among Indians and non-Indians in several communities in the Peruvian Andes," he said.

In an article, Primov described his investigation of the brothel, including formal interviews with 21 prostitutes and informal interviews with many more.

"In addition, the staff of the brothel was interviewed, especially the madam," the article added. "Prostitutes were also observed outside the brothel. By visiting the brothel at various times, it was possible to obtain a good idea of its everyday functioning."

Proxmire commented, "The article goes on to describe in great detail the brothel's everyday functioning. Perhaps a better title for the study might be 'Everything you wanted to know about a brothel in a large provincial town in Peru but were afraid to ask—if you cared at all.'"

The Wisconsin senator said he did not object if academic researchers want to study "Peruvian brothels or even ancient Inca vestal non-virgins."

"What I object to the federal government paying for it," he said. "With federal research budget so tight and the needs for mental research here at home, it is unbelievable that NIMH would give this project such priority and fund the field trip to Peru."

Open Meetings Law Discussed

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — Despite differing interpretations and sometimes confusing "exceptions to exemptions," Kentucky's Open Meetings Law is serving the public well, according to an assistant attorney general.

Assistant Deputy Attorney General Charles T. Miller Jr., a specialist in the Open Meetings Law, said Thursday that wordings of certain sections have led to confusion since the law was enacted.

He noted in some cases attorneys general have offered differing opinions on related subject matters regarding the law.

Miller, addressing the Kentucky

Broadcasters Association spring convention in Louisville, cited a particularly controversial application of the statute regarding negotiations between school boards and bargaining groups.

Miller said the law allows school

NECO Makes Nuclear Waste News In Illinois

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — The Nuclear Energy Regulatory Commission has withdrawn its application for permission to dig a new trench at the Sheffield, Ill. low-level nuclear waste site.

All other trenches at the 20-acre, NECO-operated site near Sheffield have been filled with drums of nuclear waste and covered. Trench No. 14 was completed last week and NECO had applied for permission to dig trench No. 15.

NECO has to request permission each time it wants to dig a new trench.

In a letter to the Nuclear Regulatory Commission, NECO said Illinois Attorney General William J. Scott "and other politically motivated individuals have so intimidated the NRC that they have caused inordinate and unnecessary regulatory delays in what has been a routine action in the past."

"Despite repeated public statements by federal and state agencies that the site is safe, the NRC has continued to needlessly delay action and to seek additional technical data ad infinitum," the letter said.

"The delays and continuing research required beyond reason have caused costs to skyrocket far above the economic value of trench 15."

"Therefore it is with a strong sense of frustration and regret that we must withdraw our application for the use of trench 15. It is hoped that by abandoning the trench 15 application, that this will allow the NRC staff to expedite process and approve our application for burial on the 168-acre tract at Sheffield."

NECO is seeking approval for a 168-acre tract adjoining the 20 acres it already has at the Illinois site.

boards to meet in closed session for several reasons but could not meet in executive session to discuss its policy in regard to negotiations with employee unions.

"The law does not allow the policy questions on negotiating with employees or with any teacher group to be held in executive session," Miller said. "But granted, the question of what is included in an executive session is one that has been up for different interpretations."

In addition, Miller cited several "exceptions" in the Open Meetings Law that have led to confusion.

"There is one section under the law that has seven or eight exceptions but if you read on, there are exceptions to exemptions," Miller said. "It's a bad way to write a statute."

Despite some problems with language Miller said the Open Meetings Law was necessary in Kentucky and has served the public. He added the law has had a significant effect on "officeholders at all levels of government."

"It's had quite an effect on local and public officials and they now know that they cannot enjoy all the privacy and comfort they might have wanted but the people are entitled to know what's going on."

The attorney general's office has had numerous queries from the news media regarding interpretation of the law, especially at the local level, according to Miller.

But he said in general most reporters are well-versed on the law and know the exceptions to the statute.

"It used to be that anything could be closed before this law was enacted," he recalled. "But people in the media understand the exceptions that are in existence now."

Another problem facing the attorney general's staff, Miller said, was the actual definition of a "meeting." He referred to recent problems in Jefferson County where the county judge is a Republican and all three county commissioners are Democrats.

"As an example, the commissioners have called meetings and the judge knows nothing about it," Miller said. "Now the commissioners say it's only a caucus but you get into the problem of what actually defines a meeting."

The comments in this column are those of the Publisher and not those of either the officers or the members of the board of the Morehead News, Inc. Responses should be made directly to the Publisher.

Day-by-day let-em-down, pick-em-up and commentary by W. E. Critcher, retired from active duty as a newspaper Publisher of this newspaper.

We complained to a group of Morehead friends the other day that our 12-week winter vacation in Florida had about destroyed our way of life. That two large boxes of the mail of the Morehead News, Inc. and business memos had collected which would take us two months to separate and file or destroy.

Virginia Rice offered this advice, an old adage we hadn't heard for years: "An inch is a cinch; a yard is hard."

SOME T-shirt and bumper stickers recently spotted—
"A woman without a man is like a fish without a bicycle."

"Talk is cheap because the supply is greater than the demand."
"We believe in reincarnation. That's why this planet has so many earthworms."

"Who's going to pull the wagon when everybody wants a free (government) ride."

"No, I'm not nervous handling dynamite. I used to drive a school bus. This is the spring you prayed for all last winter."

AND, in our travels, the Publisher made the least for my parents 50th wedding anniversary, my six-year-old daughter piped up, "Oh, please don't let him. He always burns it."
My wife serves ground beef so many ways—Monday, hamburger; Tuesday, meat loaf; Wednesday, steak tartar; Thursday, meatballs. Come Friday I couldn't resist the temptation. I sat down to dinner. "How, now, ground cow?"

A KENTUCKY State trooper, formerly stationed at the district tracks in Morehead, told us this one: "I saw a truck driver pull over, jump out of his rig and then pick a big bouquet of wild flowers. He placed some of the flowers on the grill of the rig and the rest on the tailgate. I pulled up and asked him what he was doing. The trucker replied: 'Well, it says right in my driver's manual, if your truck breaks down put flowers in the front and flares in the back.'"

FANS virtually boycotted this past season's Morehead State University basketball team as the Eagles lost 19 of 23 games, and didn't win a contest in the OVC. This forced the resignation of Jack Schalow as head coach.

But, it can never be said that MSU is the "graveyard" of basketball coaches. It would be more appropriate to state that Morehead is the "spring board" to future success, health and happiness.

Let's look at the developments since what is now MSU was created by an Act of the 1922 legislature.

Many of our "downtown experts" predicted that Schalow wouldn't land a respectable coaching job anywhere. As you have probably already learned, Jack was employed last week as head basketball coach at the University of Seattle—a big name school. Seattle used to be ranked among the "top" teams in the nation. Elgin Baylor is one of several pros to come out of Seattle.

Schalow was MSU's 7th basketball coach. He was also the only one of the seven to leave "Eagle country" without a winning record. During his five years at MSU, Jack's teams won 45 and lost 52. Until this past unfortunate (4-19) season, Schalow's past performance at MSU stood at 41 victories and 33 defeats.

Why did a major university like Seattle choose Schalow over a score of applicants who submitted portfolios of greatness? Probably the primary reason was that Jack was the freshman basketball mentor at Seattle during that school's hey-day. His freshmen teams at Seattle won 45 and lost only twice. So, Jack was no stranger in the coaching ranks along the Pacific Ocean. Further, his recommendations were tops from Duke and LSU where he was the number one assistant before accepting the basketball coaching job at MSU in 1974.

BILL HARRELL was the Eagle's head basketball coach for five years (1972-77) and was almost buried under fire, the same "downtown experts" thought he would have to go on welfare and food stamps.

Instead, Harrell was selected as head coach at one of the large and prestigious high schools in Indiana—Muncie Central.

Muncie Central had previously won five Indiana high school state championships. If you know anything about the rivalry and quality of basketball in Indiana with crowds often exceeding big college games, you'll understand that there were many "name" coaches seeking the Muncie job.

It didn't take Harrell long to bring Muncie Central back into the top ratings, and he almost started his Bears to the championship last year. During the past season, Harrell guided Muncie Central to a 27-3 record against top opponents; and finished the campaign by leading the team to the Indiana state championship. Harrell is today the best, most and most popular man in Muncie, poles opposite the situation when he left MSU. Harrell is the only coach to win both the Kentucky and Indiana championships. His 1971 Shelbyville team won the Kentucky crown. It is generally conceded that the best high school basketball in the nation is played in Indiana and Kentucky where the round ball overshadows football or any other sport.

ABOVE, we mentioned that Schalow was the only coach to leave Morehead with a losing record. A little research on this reveals—

• Dewey Downing (first basketball coach) five years, won 51, lost 45. As aforementioned, MSU certainly can be classified as the graveyard for coaches, since Downing left here to become a successful business man in Lexington, primarily in insurance and real estate. He died three years ago.

• Ellis Johnson, MSU coach for 15 years where his teams won 176 and lost 158. Ellis later became coach at Marshall University in Huntington. We recently enjoyed a visit with Ellis and learned that he is also a successful businessman, primarily in developing the television cable system at Huntington.

• Len Miller, MSU coach for two years while Johnson was in the armed services. Len, one of the most loved and respected coaches in Morehead's history, didn't claim to know much about basketball. Football was his cup of tea. Nevertheless, the Eagles won 23 and lost only nine while Len coached basketball.

• Bob Laughlin coached the Eagles for 12 years and his teams won 166 while losing 120. Bob had previously masterminded the first Eagles to win the Kentucky High School championship (1946).

Morehead became nationally ranked during Laughlin's tenure, and played in the NCAA eliminations three times. In the 1956 NCAA play-off the Eagles defeated Marshall 107-92; beat Wayne University 95-84; and lost to Iowa, in an eventual national runner-up, 97-83.

The following year (1957) Morehead lost to Pittsburgh 86-85 on a controversial call by the referee in the NCAA. This game was played at Ohio State. The 1961 Morehead team, also coached by Bob, defeated St. Xavier of Cincinnati 71-64, and Louisville 83 to 61. Thus, Laughlin won three of the seven games his teams played in the NCAA tournaments (the author of this column saw them all, and to our dying day will believe that MSU should have won that game against Kentucky and the one with Pittsburgh).

Laughlin is now retired, raises a garden, plays golf five or six times a week, and is helping the new MSU basketball coach, Wayne Martin, in recruiting or in any manner he is called upon to do.

• Bob Wright succeeded Laughlin and his four year record at Morehead was 38 victories against 38 defeats. Wright, who loved to fish like our senior citizen friend Stonewall Jackson, was snapped up as head basketball coach by a 12,000 enrollment Florida Junior College, where his teams compiled outstanding records. The last we heard, Bob had given up coaching and was elevated to athletic director.

Summed up, MSU coaches have done okay by themselves after some of them were virtually "roasted" by Eagles fans.

AT THE OUTSET we didn't intend to spend so much space on sports in this column, but once we started it's difficult to stop.

A sports prediction—Eugene Lyons, a Morehead graduate, who took his Virgie High School teams to the last two state tournaments, will be the next head coach at Pikeville College.

IT IS recognized that our readers are more interested in the future for Eagle varsity teams than in the past.

Our comment after Wayne Martin was named the new basketball coach: "He's the hardest working and best recruiter we have ever known." Our additive was that recruiting is 90 percent of coaching, and Wayne would restore Morehead to conference championships and national acclaim.

Wayne's first move was to select two "able and proved" assistants, Ken Trivette and Randy McCoy.

And, are they beating the bushes, successfully so?

Among those signed—Rocky Adkins, Elliott County, voted the best player this year in the 16th region; Glenn Napier of M.C. Napier High, voted the best in the 14th region; Norris Beckley, Shelby County, voted best in the 8th region; Aaron Huntzinger, Schoolcraft College in Michigan, a junior college all-American, and eligible for the next two years; and Jeff Riley, Wheelwright, voted best in the 15th during the 1977-78 season, transferring from Georgia Tech. Riley won't be eligible this coming season, but will then have three years eligibility to play for our Eagles.

There's still more "name" signings to be read about them in the sports pages of the Morehead News. The future looks bright, bright, bright for MSU athletics, especially in basketball. IT COMES to mind that our female readers might resent all of the foregoing statements about the "men's varsity."

The rules have changed, and the distasteful claims they are entitled to the same number of scholarships, and equal media coverage.

Last issue we wrote about the "all area" boys high school basketball team and conveyed arches to the Breck and RCHS players who made it.

So, we hasten to include that the 20 coaches of girls teams in this part of Kentucky were pointed, and two Morehead girls are on the first "area" team. They are Liz Hamilton, a 5-8 1/2 senior at University Breckinridge; and Melanie Simson, a 5-8 junior at Rowan County High.

Appearing on the honorable mention listing were—Rowan County, Karla May and Jeanne Corrette; Breckinridge, Lori Tucker, Alisha Reynolds and Troy Wells. The Equal Rights Amendment and the "upsurge" of girls varsity teams is causing concern among sports editors. They have only so much allocated space, and if they give equal coverage to the ladies, then the sports about the boys must necessarily be cut.

Anyway, we convey orchids, red roses and imported French perfume on the Breck and RCHS girls who are on the all Northeast Kentucky team.

ALIMONY is like paying off the installments on the car after the wreck.

WE WENT to Keeneland race track last week on a little business venture, and ran into some adult lifetime friends who have figured prominently in Kentucky politics through the years. The discussion naturally turned into next year's Governor's race. It was agreed that in May, 1979 Kentucky would have one heck of a democratic primary for governor, and in November a hard fought gubernatorial race.

For once, we kept quiet and listened to the discussion. Finally, one of the oral participants turned to this Publisher, and asked: "What do you think will happen with so many democratic candidates, and Jim Nunn the republican nominee?"

Our answer—"Inasmuch as we can ascertain all the candidates are recommending themselves rather highly."

ONE of the best liked and admired men in Kentucky during our lifetime is Dr. Kelly Thompson who had to retire because of his health as President of Western Kentucky University. Kelly and the author of this column have enjoyed many an "experience" together. It was Kelly who wrote several years ago—
"Watch your thoughts, they become words; watch your words, they become actions; watch your actions, they become habits; watch your habits, they become character; watch your character, for it becomes your destiny."

WENDELL TROGDON of the Indianapolis Star, says spring is like a politician. A lot of promise, a little sunshine, continual wind and an occasional snow job.

DURING the beautiful days the first part of April, it seemed that everybody we spoke with, observed: "Dogwood winter is still to come." As this is written on the Thursday before you read it, the temperature is in the 40's. Old-timers say there has never been a year in Kentucky that we didn't have dogwood winter, and we're convinced they're right.

BACK in the 30s when Morehead had only one police officer (the town Marshall) there were two citizens who managed to get thrown in jail two or three times a week for public drunkenness. We won't identify them, except that one's first name was Willie.

Cap Burdick lived just across Main Street from the city jail, which then housed a couple of cells as the jail. Mr. Burdick owned a parrot, which during warm weather, perched in a cage on the front porch.

Everytime there was any kind of commotion or unusual activity around city hall that parrot would start squawking: "Willie's in jail again. Willie's in jail again."

Willie finally moved from Morehead, got a job in Middletown, quit drinking, and saved money. He returned to Morehead, visited Cap Burdick, and inquired how much Cap would take for that parrot.

Cap said he didn't want to sell the bird, adding: "Willie, I'd think you'd be the last person on earth who would want to buy that parrot."
Replied Willie: "When I went to Middletown and got a job and swore off drinking, it was tough. But everytime I was reading the news about the parrot, I could hear that parrot screeching. Willie's in jail again, and if it hadn't been for that I'm sure I would have started hitting the bottle." "I can understand why you want to buy my parrot because you love him since the parrot finally loved you from drinking, and probably saved your life," Cap Burdick observed.

"No, I don't love that parrot," Willie replied. "I hate him. When I used to get drunk I dreamed that I had that parrot and since I quit drinking I dream almost every night that I've got him by the neck."

DID YOU hear the one about the man who was sitting alone in his box at the Kentucky Derby? Florida newspapers said the joke was to appear in the Louisville Courier-Journal in a story about legislation that would allow a surviving spouse to keep using the family's box seat at a race track.

But, because of an error, the punch line ended up in the composing room. The story should have gone like this—seat. Asked why one seat was empty, the man replied that it belonged to his wife, but that she had passed away.
A man was sitting in his Derby box

"Why didn't you bring a friend or relative?" the questioner asked.
"Couldn't," the man answered.
"They're all at the funeral."

WITH the exception of Affirmed, the Publisher has personally seen every "big" horse in this year's Derby run. In fact, we've witnessed (at the track) every race that Alydar and Sensitive Prince have competed in this year.

The foregoing is mentioned, because in the May 2 issue of the Morehead News, the Publisher's Pen will give you the "certain" winner.

If you attend the Bluegrass Stakes at Keeneland this Thursday wager on Alydar.

WE HAVE a notebook full of lot-em-downs but space runneth out. This column started with the wording of some T-shirts and bumper stickers. So, we'll end it with some that are passed along by our columnist buddy, Larry Stone of Central City—

"Don't blow your nose."
"Keep kids off the streets—build bigger swimming pools."
"It may look funny, but it's paid for."
"Support Bunge—Keep your grandmother off the street."
"Avoid Hangovers—Stay drunk."
"Taxation without representation was called tyranny, but it was also cheap."
"Be a real good citizen BUT go to church every Sunday, anyway."
"Drive carefully. The kids expect you home."
"Nothing is opened by mistake more often than the mouth."
A trouble in school is called a pain in the class.

It's Kentucky Derby Time

The Churchill Downs racetrack is the home of the Kentucky Derby. This year will mark the 104th race. The Derby has been run over the same track every year since 1875. Ten thousand people watched the first Derby. Today, over 100,000 will attend. Millions will watch on TV.

Bandages: The cloth wrapped around a horse's legs. They do not mean that he is lame. They are often used in racing for protection and support.

Chalk Horse— The favorite horse in a race.

Colt: A male horse until he is 5 years old.

Dead Heat: When the photo finish camera shows two horses in a tie.

Filly: A female thoroughbred until she is 5 years old. Then she becomes a mare.

Furlong: One eighth of a mile. It is used to mean a "furlow long" or the length of a plowed field.

Handily— A horse working or racing with ease and without urging.

Hot Walker: A stable hand who leads a horse around to cool him down after a race or workout.

Irons— Stirrups.

Paddock: The area at the track where the horses are saddled before the race.

Post: The starting point for a race.

Post Time: The time when the horse must be at the post ready to start.

Scratch— To withdraw from a race.

Triple Crown— A horse that wins the Kentucky Derby, the Preakness Stakes and the Belmont Stakes races is said to win the Triple Crown of horse-racing. Seattle Slew was the last Triple Crown winner.

Silks: The jackets worn by a jockey.

About two minutes. That's about all the time it takes to run the Kentucky Derby.

But it takes years of breeding to get just the right thoroughbred to run it.

It takes months of training to get the horse ready at just the right time . . . the first Saturday in May.

The Derby is a race for three year olds.

These horses are still growing. Their bones are still soft.

During the Derby, they are asked to run one and a quarter miles carrying 126 pounds.

Here are some words that will help you understand Derby watching.

Steve Cauthen — The Whiz Kid of Race Riding

If he didn't have a horse to ride, he would sit on a bale of hay and practice using a whip.

He watched racing films with his dad.

Steve began his pro jockey career when he was 16.

After winning several races, he and his dad went to New York to try to find an agent.

It would be the agent's job to line up the horses for Steve to ride.

They got one of the best in the business, Lenny Goodman.

Steve started riding at Aqueduct, near New York. This track is one of the best in the country.

On weekends, Steve flew to California to race at Santa Anita.

The wins and the money piled up.

Right now, Steve is finishing high school by taking a correspondence course. He makes A's and B's.

He spends his free time studying track records, lifting weights, playing gin rummy and ping pong.

Most of all he likes hanging around race tracks.

That's where he does his thing better than anybody else in the world.

Steve Cauthen with his agent, Lenny Goodman. Steve has become more famous than the horses he rides. This is unusual for a jockey.

Steve Cauthen is an 18-year-old super jockey.

In one year (1977) his horses won more money (over $6,000,000) and he won more races (482) than any jockey in history.

This is an amazing record since he was out of racing for a month. A horse he was riding broke a leg and Cauthen took a spill.

Steve was born into a horse-business family. His father is a race-track blacksmith. His mother is a horse trainer. The Cauthens live in Walton, Kentucky.

Steve had his own horse by the time he was 8. At the age of 12, he decided to become a jockey.

Two years ago Steve Cauthen rode his first race as a pro jockey at Churchill Downs on May 12, 1976. His horse came in second. One week later at another track he rode his first winner. He has been winning ever since.

Steve is small for his age. He is 5 feet, 1 inch tall and weighs 95 pounds. He has large hands that help him handle his mounts.

The Paper Box

Mime Artist Communicates Through Gestures

Not many people can make a living walking or running in place, making ugly faces against a glass without the glass, brushing teeth without water and toothbrush or walking around like a robot.

Those who do are mime artists, imitating and exaggerating scenes from life in a way that makes them take on a range of meaning from humorous to grotesque.

Red Skelton and Shields and Yarnell brought mime into American homes with their television series, while most recognize the name Marcel Marceau, the French stage performer who is probably the world's most respected and well-known mime.

"Mime is communication," says Romeo Montes, a Filipino mime artist who performed last week at Morehead State University.

"It is hard for me to communicate with people. I thought maybe I could use gestures. I found that, hey, I could communicate with people through mime," explained the 21-year-old before his show Thursday night.

One scene in his show exaggerates the actions of a hip dope smoker and another the antics of a hungover college student. At the other extreme, Montes portrays a demon in the 20th remake of The Exorcist, later on hangs himself with an invisible rope, and eventually gets blasted with a pistol.

"I enjoy it. I like to see people laugh. And I enjoy scaring people," he explains.

On the face of it, putting together skits mimicking a man trying to get through a series of invisible walls or imitating a hatching chicken as Montes does in his show doesn't seem too hard.

But the perspiration drips from Montes as he does it.

Mime is basically illusion and isolation, he explains. The tension and concentration required to control and control the neck, shoulders and feet takes so much energy that most mime shows don't last over an hour.

Practice often takes six hours a day in front of a mirror on a wood floor. "If you're working on a new repertoire, you might work 18 to 20 hours and not go to sleep. It's really hard. You have to keep up your concentration. The majority of it is determination — how dedicated you are."

Montes, who's been into mime 10 years, learned the art by watching others. At least not 150 lbs., he never studied dance or ballet.

"In ballet, people don't want gravity," he explained. "The mime artist uses gravity."

Despite the fact the U.S.'s two television shows involving mime are now off the air, Montes is cautiously optimistic the art will catch on in this country.

"In Europe, it's popular now — France, Italy, England. It's the illusion the mimes make that people like. Here in the states, I wish more theatres would back mime artists.

Everybody thinks of you here as a commodity. You don't know what can happen with mime art."

MIME ARTIST ROMEO MONTES, in the accompanying pictures, performs satire and comedy mime routines for a college crowd last week. Montes, who has finished a tour of the United States and will soon be performing at Opreyland, tries out new skits on grade school students before presenting them to college or nightclub audiences. The best skits, he says, are those you originate yourself. Here, Montes is shown in mime positions in routines about a disco dancer and restaurant waiter. (Photos by Doc Gibson)

Dolphin Dies In Captivity

BROOKFIELD, Ill. (UPI) — Vicki, one of the oldest dolphins in captivity, died at Brookfield Zoo Thursday. She was between 30 and 32 years old, a zoo spokesman said.

The life expectancy of a dolphin in captivity is about 25 years, he said.

The 450-pound dolphin was found floating in a zoo tank by a trainer. Vicki was one of five dolphins who performed in the zoo's Seven Seas Panorama show.

Zoo officials believe Vicki died of old age. She had been ill recently and had retired from the dolphin show. Her remains will be given to the Field Museum of Natural History.

Vicki was captured off the Florida coast and brought to the zoo in 1961. In 1964 she gave birth to a baby, but the infant survived only three weeks.

GARDEN BULLETINS

We have just received two new USDA Bulletins on gardens and orchards that should be of interest to you home gardeners. One is USDA Information Bulletin 408 entitled "Growing Fruits and Nuts" and the other is USDA Bulletin 409 "Growing your Own Vegetables. They are well organized and put together.

WILD GARLIC

Herbicides for wild garlic control include Banvel, Banvel K and the amine and ester formulations, of 2,4-D. Applications of Banvel and Banvel K should be made when the small grain is fully tilled, but before the jointing stage. 2,4-D can be applied up to the boot stage; however, the closer the small grain plant is to the boot stage, the greater the chances for crop injury. For best results with 2,4-D, the 1 qt/ A rate should be used. Since there are many brands of 2,4-D, refer to the label of the specific product purchased for rates and times of application.

WINTER INJURY TO BROADLEAF EVERGREENS

The severe weather we had last winter seems to have taken its toll on many woody ornamentals such as rhododendron, holly, euonymus, etc. We are seeing quite a few samples in the Plant/Disease Lab showing symptoms of winter injury.

Leaves which are brown or discolored at the tip or along the margins, having a burnt appearance are typical of winter injury. The discoloration often extends towards the mid-vein.

The distribution of the symptoms can help in diagnosing the problem as well. If the plant is in an exposed location, all its foliage that wasn't covered with snow may be affected. If it is planted in a semi-protected location (along a house or fence) only the foliage of unprotected portions may show symptoms.

The browning is due to desiccation of the leaves. Even in winter plants have a minimal requirement for moisture and

On Target!

This new house, and others like it in our service area, are On Target for maximum energy efficiency. Kentucky Utilities recognizes that the cost of energy is a more important factor in today's household budget than ever before. So, look for the extra value of an energy-efficient home. An "On Target" sign in front of a new house means the home meets recommended high levels of insulation and has other energy-saving features. We know you want to keep costs as low as possible. An energy-saving home will help do just that.

Multi-Purpose Cable TV Suggested For Home Use

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Some day, when a careless smoker falls asleep watching television and his cigarette starts burning the sofa, firemen could be knocking at the door before the smoker awakens.

The firemen would be alerted by an automatic alarm triggered by a smoke detector within the TV set.

Farfetched? Not to Marvin Rimerman, head of the Baltimore Mayor's Office of Telecommunications. Rimerman envisions a TV set connected to a two-way cable telecommunications system that would work even when the set was off.

He would like to see all of a city's households connected by such a system. But he isn't optimistic about its chances in the immediate future.

"I don't think the citizens are ready to float a bond issue to pay for the telecommunications system," he said in an interview. "And that is what it would take."

"American cities' biggest problem is information gathering. The amount of paperwork in itself for municipal governments, not to count wasted walking and filing, are all symptoms of a bad communications systems."

The system he proposes could carry commercial and public broadcasting shows and provide an emergency alarm system for police, fire and medical protection. He thinks it could also provide utility meter readings, a 24-hour job information hotline, help make citizens surveys and speed up tax-collecting, police investigations, identity searches, government announcements and dissemination of general information.

Rimerman sees his proposed system as a public service. Others fear "1984"-like violations of privacy.

Barbara Mello, an American Civil Liberties Union attorney, said, "I would want to know if there must be some affirmative action on the part of the private citizen before the police or fire department could arrive."

Ms. Mello thinks current legal precedent would give police and fire officials the right, if alerted by an automatic warning device, to enter someone's home despite the occupant's objections.

"I know everybody's first reaction is Big Brother," Rimerman said. "But the point is that we have to discuss the question. We can't put a blanket over our head and avoid it."

"Cable television technology in the past five years has caught up with my dream. It may be the best solution for our ailing cities."

A study sponsored by Rimerman's office showed the cost of wiring Baltimore's 300,000 households for such a system would total $55 million. At $5 a month per household, the system could be paid for with interest in 15 years.

In homes without TV, a screenless monitor the size of a shoe box could be installed for the safety services, he said.

"With the city running the cable system you start with the proposition that everyone is already hooked up," he said. "That changes the whole economics of the situation."

Ms. Mello feels private interests would want to stop the city from running a system that would shut them out of the lucrative cable-TV market. "I would think anti-trust laws might be very effective against allowing this kind of city-run communications monopoly," she said.

Rimerman said service would be better and cheaper than private cable firms now provide and he thinks the city could make money because of the relatively cheap technology.

He said laws would have to be passed to guarantee the right of privacy.

Columbus, Ohio, currently is building a modern two-way cable system to connect nearly 50,000 homes for on-line use this December, he said.

He added that it eventually will offer municipal services such as police and fire protection as well as paid programming. He said it is a private franchise not primarily oriented toward municipal services.

Bob Smith, Rimerman's assistant, said private cable TV companies are "jitters" about the possibility of municipally owned and operated systems.

"You get the feeling that they are saying that if they get a piece of the action, then fine," Smith said.

Califano Asks Students For Anti-Smoking Ideas

WASHINGTON (UPI) — School children are being enlisted in the anti-smoking crusade of HEW Secretary Joseph Califano.

Students in the 16,000 public school systems across the United States are invited to show the U.S. Office of Education with essays and posters on smoking and health, Califano said today.

More than 320,000 people died prematurely last year from diseases related to smoking, said the head of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Califano, a prominent Washington lawyer and former aide to Lyndon Johnson before joining the administration, quit a three-pack-a-day habit and has become the administration's chief anti-smoking advocate.

The tobacco industry and members of Congress from tobacco growing states contend Califano has gone beyond the responsibilities of his office.

Califano calls his campaign part of the department's preventive health care effort, as well as an attempt to cut future costs of the national health insurance plan. President Carter is preparing to submit to Congress later this year.

provided, however, that all of said Series A and Series B Bonds maturing on and after December 1, 1989, and corresponding installments of principal in the case of Bonds in Fully Registered Form, shall be subject to redemption at the option of said City prior to maturity in whole, or from time to time in part in the inverse order of their maturities (less than all of a single maturity to be selected by lot), on any interest payment date on or after December 1, 1988, and in the event any of said Bonds issued in Coupon Form are called for redemption as aforesaid, notice thereof identifying the Bonds to be redeemed shall be given by publication at least once not less than thirty (30) days prior to the redemption date in a financial newspaper or journal of general circulation among bond buyers published in New York, New York (and by ordinary mail to the holders of any registered Coupon Bonds then to be redeemed). It is further agreed that, so long as FmHA is the owner of any of the Bonds, they may be redeemed at any time at par plus accrued interest, and without notice or redemption premium.

Both principal of and interest on the Bonds issued in Coupon Form shall be payable in lawful money of the United States of America at the principal office of the Peoples Bank of Morehead, in the City of Morehead, Rowan County, Kentucky, or, at the option of the holder, at the principal office of Chemical Bank, in the Borough of Manhattan, City and State of New York. Said Coupon Bonds shall be executed by a reproduced facsimile of the signature of the Mayor of the City, sealed with a reproduced facsimile of its corporate seal and attested by the manual signature of the City Clerk, and the interest coupons attached to said Bonds shall be executed with the facsimile signatures of said Mayor and City Clerk.

If any City officer whose signature or a facsimile of whose signature appears on any Bond or coupon shall cease to be such officer prior to delivery, every such signature, or facsimile signature, shall nevertheless be valid and binding for all purposes, the same as if such officer had continued in office until the time of delivery of such Bond or coupon. All of said Bonds (whether issued in Coupon Form, or in Fully Registered Form without coupons), together with the interest thereon, and any Bonds which may hereafter be issued on a basis of parity therewith subject to the conditions and restrictions hereinafter set forth, shall be payable only out of the "City of Morehead Utility Bond and Interest Redemption Account" (the "Sinking Fund") in the aforesaid Peoples Bank of Morehead, created by Ordinance of the City adopted on October 25, 1966, as hereinafter more specifically provided, and shall be a valid claim of the holder thereof only against said Fund and the fixed portion or amount of the revenues of the System which the City has pledged to said Fund.

It is hereby found, determined and declared that if the conditions and restrictions set out in Section 12 of said Ordinance of October 25, 1966, being the original Utility Revenue Refunding and Improvement Bond Ordinance of the City (the "Prior Bond Ordinance"), can and shall be satisfied and complied with at the time of issuance, the Bonds herein authorized to be issued shall rank on a basis of parity and equality as to security and source of payment with the outstanding "City of Morehead Utility Revenue Refunding and Improvement Bonds," dated December 1, 1966 (the "Prior Bonds"), previously issued under authority of said Ordinance of October 25, 1966; but if such conditions and restrictions shall not have been complied with at the time of issuance, but compliance shall have been waived by the purchasers, the Bonds herein authorized shall be subordinate to the Prior Bonds, which shall, in that event, be entitled to first payment out of the Sinking Fund. In such event, however, no further Bonds shall be issued on the basis of parity with the Prior Bonds. Appropriate evidences of compliance with said conditions and restrictions shall be filed with the City Clerk prior to the issuance of the Bonds herein authorized to be issued.

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
COMMONWEALTH OF KENTUCKY
COUNTY OF ROWAN
CITY OF MOREHEAD
UTILITY REVENUE BOND,
1977 SERIES A [or B]

Number _____ $1,000

KNOW ALL MEN BY THESE PRESENTS:

That the City of Morehead, in the County of Rowan, and Commonwealth of Kentucky, for value received, hereby promises to pay to bearer, or if this Bond be registered, to the registered holder hereof, as hereinafter provided, solely from the special fund hereinafter identified, the sum of One Thousand Dollars ($1,000) on the first day of December, _____, and likewise from said special fund to pay interest on said sum from the date hereof until payment of principal at the rate of _____ percent (____%) per annum, payable semiannually on the first days of June and December in each year after issuance, except as the provisions hereinafter set forth with respect to redemption may be and become applicable hereto, such interest as may accrue on and prior to the maturity of this Bond to be paid only upon presentation and surrender of the annexed interest coupons as the same severally mature, both principal and interest being payable in lawful money of the United States of America at the principal office of the Peoples Bank of Morehead, in the City of Morehead, Rowan County, Kentucky, or, at the option of the holder, at the principal office of Chemical Bank, in the borough of Manhattan, City and State of New York.

This Bond is one of a duly authorized issue of Bonds, aggregating $3,050,000, of which $2,450,000 is the principal amount of the Series A Bonds and $600,000 is the principal amount of the Series B Bonds, authorized by an Ordinance duly adopted and published as provided by law, issued for the purpose of defraying, in part, the costs of constructing and installing major sewer facilities improvements and additions to said City's combined and consolidated water, gas and sewer system (the "Utility System" or the "System"), together with necessary appurtenant facilities, and incidental expenses, and this Bond has been issued under and in full compliance with the Constitution and Statutes of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, including among others Sections 58.010 to 58.140, inclusive, of the Kentucky Revised Statutes, now in full force and effect.

The Series A Bonds numbered 253 to 2450, and Series B Bonds numbered 60 to 600, inclusive (all Bonds maturing on and after December 1, 1989), of the series of which this Bond is one and as may be outstanding from time to time, are subject to redemption at the option of said City prior to maturity, in whole or from time to time in part in inverse numerical order on any interest payment date on and after December 1, 1988, upon terms of par plus accrued interest without any redemption premium, and in the event any of said Bonds are called for redemption as aforesaid, notice thereof identifying the Bonds to be redeemed will be given by publication at least once not less than thirty (30) days prior to the redemption date in a financial newspaper or journal of general circulation among bond buyers published in New York, New York (and by ordinary mail to the holders of any registered Bonds then to be redeemed); provided, that so long as the United States of America, Farmers Home Administration, holds any of said Bonds, they are callable at any time at par and accrued interest and without redemption premium.

All of said Bonds as to which said City reserves and exercises the right of redemption and as to which notice as aforesaid shall have been given and for the redemption of which, upon the terms aforesaid, funds are duly provided will cease to bear interest on the redemption date. Notice of such redemption may be waived with the written consent of the holder of the Bond so called for redemption.

This _____ and the issue of which it forms a part, together with such additional Bonds ranking on a parity therewith as have heretofore been issued and are outstanding, and as may hereafter be issued and outstanding from time to time under the conditions and restrictions set forth in the Ordinance authorizing the issuance of this Bond, are payable only from and secured by an exclusive pledge of a fixed portion of the gross income and revenues to be derived from the operation of said combined and consolidated Utility System, which fixed portion shall be sufficient to pay the principal of and interest on this Bond and the issue of which it forms a part, and outstanding parity Bonds, as and when the same become due and payable, and which shall be set aside as a special fund for that purpose and identified as the "Utility Bond and Interest Redemption Account" (established by an ordinance adopted on October 25, 1966).

This Bond and the issue of which it forms a part do not constitute an indebtedness of the City of Morehead, Kentucky, within the meaning of the Statutes and Constitution of Kentucky, and said City is not and shall not be obligated to pay this Bond or the interest hereon except from said special fund. Said City covenants that it will fix, and if necessary adjust from time to time, such rates for use of the services and facilities of said Utility System, and will collect and account for income and revenues therefrom, sufficient to pay promptly the interest on and principal of this issue of Bonds and all other Bonds ranking on a parity therewith as may be issued and outstanding from time to time in accordance with the conditions and restrictions prescribed in that connection, and also to pay the costs of operation and maintenance of said System.

This Bond is fully negotiable but may be registered as to principal only in the name of the holder on the books of said City in the office of its Treasurer, such registration being noted hereon by said City Treasurer, after which no transfer shall be valid unless such registered Bond be presented to said City Treasurer with a legal assignment duly acknowledged or proved, and such transfer is made on said books and similarly noted on the Bond, but it may be discharged from such registration by being similarly transferred and registered to bearer, after which it shall be transferable by delivery, but it may be again registered as before. The registration of this Bond as to principal shall not restrain the negotiability of the coupons by delivery merely.

This Bond is exempt from taxation in the Commonwealth of Kentucky.

IT IS HEREBY CERTIFIED, RECITED AND DECLARED that all acts, conditions and things required to exist, happen and be performed precedent to and in the issuance of this Bond and the issue of Bonds of which it is one have existed, have happened, and have been performed in due time, form and manner as required by law; that the amount of this Bond, together with all other obligations of said City, does not exceed any limit prescribed by the Constitution or Statutes of the Commonwealth of Kentucky; and that a sufficient portion of the income and revenues of said Utility System has been pledged to and will be set aside into said special fund by said City for the prompt payment of the principal of and interest on all Bonds which by their terms and by the provisions of said Ordinance are payable therefrom, in addition to proper provision for the costs of operation and maintenance of said System.

Such Official Notice shall contain the following bidding requirements:

- (A) Bidders are required to bid a cash price of not less than par value for the Bonds.
- (B) Interest rates must be in multiples of 1/8 or 1/10 of 1%, not exceeding 5% per annum, with no more than one interest rate per maturity to be stipulated by any bidder. Each Bond shall bear interest at a single rate from date to maturity.

- (F) The lowest net interest cost will be determined by deducting the total amount of any premium bid from the aggregate amount of interest upon the Bonds bid from, computed from the first day of the month following the date of sale of the Bonds (even though the Bonds will bear interest only from the date of delivery) to the final maturity specified in each respective bid.
- (G) Bidders shall be advised that FmHA proposes to purchase at par, at a 5% interest rate, all of the Bonds of the Series being offered for sale, unless another bid complying with the terms of the sale is received at an equally or more favorable net interest cost.

- (I) The City expects to deliver, and the successful bidder must be prepared to accept delivery of and pay for, the Bonds at the office of the City Clerk within 45 days after notice is given of the award. If said Bonds are not ready for delivery and payment within forty-five days from the aforesaid date of sale, the successful bidder shall be relieved of any liability to accept delivery of the Bonds, except that additional time may be required for delivery of the Bonds if purchased by FmHA.
- (J) The City reserves the right, in its discretion, to determine the best bid or bids, to waive any informality or irregularity and to reject any or all bids.
- (K) The City will furnish the Bonds, together with customary closing documents, including No-Litigation Certificate.

(L) The Bonds will be tendered within said 45-day period and the successful bidder will receive the approving legal opinion of Harper, Ferguson & Davis, Bond Counsel, Louisville, Kentucky, as to the legality and tax exemption of said Bonds, without additional cost to the successful bidder.

SECTION 8

DISPOSITION OF BOND PROCEEDS: CONSTRUCTION FUND

The Chairman and Superintendent of The Morehead Utility Plant Board shall be the custodians of all funds belonging to and associated with the System, as expanded and improved from time to time, and such funds shall be deposited in the Peoples Bank of Morehead, or The Citizens Bank, both in Morehead, Kentucky, or in such other bank or banks in Kentucky as The Morehead Utility Plant Board (subject to disapproval by the City Council) may from time to time designate (the "Depository Banks"). All such moneys of the City deposited in the Depository Banks in excess of the amount insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation ("FDIC") shall be secured by the Depository Banks in accordance with U. S. Treasury Department Circular No. 176. The Chairman and the Superintendent of The Morehead Utility Plant Board shall execute fidelity bonds in an amount and with a surety company approved by FMA (so long as it is the holder of any of the Bonds); and FMA and the City shall be named co-obligees in such surety bond, and the amount thereof shall not be reduced without the written consent of FMA. The proceeds of the Bonds shall be applied as follows:

Upon the issuance and delivery of the Bonds authorized by this Ordinance to be issued, or of either Series thereof, the entire proceeds thereof shall be deposited in one or more of the Depository Banks, as aforesaid, each of which shall be a member of FDIC, into an account designated "City of Morehead Utility System Construction Fund of 1977" (the "Construction Fund"). Said Bond proceeds shall constitute a part of the Construction Fund and shall be applied, to the extent necessary, in paying the costs incident to constructing, installing and acquiring the Project, including expenses incurred in the issuance of the Bonds, and paying interim financing obligations (both principal and interest) incurred in connection with the Project as authorized by said separate Ordinance relating to the interim financing of the Project; provided, however, any Bond proceeds not used to pay such interim financing obligations may be disbursed directly to the appropriate lending institution(s) without the requirement of being deposited to the Construction Fund. The proceeds of each Series shall be applied, as aforesaid, to the payment of costs relating to that portion of the Project which, in accordance with the plans and specifications of the Consulting Engineers, is to be financed from the proceeds of the sale of that particular Series. Also, there shall be deposited in the Construction Fund the proceeds of the grant in a total sum not to exceed $1,126,000 to be made to the City by FmHA for purposes of the Project, and the proceeds of the grant in a total sum not to exceed $7,062,000 to be made to the City by the Environmental Protection Agency ("EPA") for the purposes of the Project, unless such grant proceeds are otherwise expended directly for authorized Project purposes immediately upon receipt thereof by the City. Proceeds of the aforesaid grants shall be expended solely and only for payment of costs legally and contractually chargeable to the grants.

ORDINANCE

From the Construction Fund, all sums representing accrued interest, if any, received from the Bond purchaser or purchasers shall be transferred to the City's "Utility Bond and Interest Redemption Account" (the "Sinking Fund"), heretofore created by the Prior Bond Ordinance, and hereby reaffirmed and continued; and an additional sum estimated to be equal to interest which will accrue on the Bonds (following delivery thereof) during construction and development of the Project shall be earmarked, used and applied to the payment of interest on the Bonds next becoming due. There shall next be set aside and paid from the proceeds of the Bonds all expenses incident to the authorization, sale and delivery thereof, including the fee and expenses which the City has agreed to pay Bond Counsel.

Disbursements from the Construction Fund shall be made by checks signed by the Chairman and Superintendent of The Morehead Utility Plant Board, and such disbursements shall, if FmHA is the purchaser of the Bonds, be authorized and approved in writing by FmHA. In the cases of disbursements to the construction contractor, or to the Engineers, each check shall be supported by a written certification or voucher of the Engineers employed by the City to supervise construction and installation of the Project to the effect that the amount of such disbursement represents a sum duly earned by and payable to the contractor or the Engineers, under the terms and provisions of a contract duly executed by the City in connection therewith, and in accordance with the plans and specifications provided therefor, or otherwise represents proper payment for materials, work or services performed for the City.

Pending disbursement, the Bond proceeds shall be deposited in the Depository Banks in the Construction Fund, as aforesaid, and to the extent that such deposit causes the aggregate deposits by the City in any Depository Bank to be in excess of the amount insured by FDIC, the same shall be secured by a surety bond or bonds furnished by a surety company or companies qualified to do business in Kentucky and approved by the City Treasurer, or by a valid pledge of direct obligations of the United States Government, or obligations as to which the payment of principal and interest are guaranteed by the United States Government, having a market value at least equivalent to such deposit.

Where the moneys on deposit in the Construction Fund exceed the estimated disbursements on account of the Project for the next 90 days, the City shall direct the Depository Banks to invest such excess funds in direct obligations of, or obligations the principal of and interest on which are guaranteed by, the United States Government, which shall mature not later than 6 months after the date of such investment and which shall be subject to redemption at any time by the holder thereof. The earnings from any such investments shall be deposited in the Construction Fund by the City, unless otherwise authorized by FmHA.

In the event any unexpended balance shall remain in the Construction Fund after completion of the Project, and payment of all of the costs thereof, as certified by the Engineers, such unexpended balance, subject to the terms and conditions of the aforesaid FmHA loan, and to FmHA approval, shall be transferred and deposited in the Sinking Fund, and shall be used at the earliest practicable date for the retirement of Bonds by purchase thereof (or principal prepayment) in inverse numerical and maturity order.

In the event that the amount hereinabove provided to be set aside from Bond proceeds for payment of interest during the construction and development of the Project should prove to be insufficient for such purpose, additional moneys may, upon approval by FmHA, be withdrawn from the said Construction Fund and so applied, inasmuch as interest during such period is a proper part of the cost of the Project, to the extent authorized by FmHA.

Pending disbursements for the authorized purposes, the proceeds of all Bonds at any time issued pursuant to this Ordinance shall be subject to that paramount lien and charge in favor of the holders of Bonds issued and outstanding hereunder and for their further security.

SECTION 9

OPERATION OF SYSTEM; FLOW OF FUNDS (TO CONTINUE AS IN PAST; ACCUMULATION OF REVENUES)

In accord with the City's Prior Bond Ordinance of October 25, 1966, the term "income and revenues" of the combined and consolidated System, as such term is used in this Ordinance, means the revenues exacted and collected for the rendering of water service, gas service and sewer service, and does not mean or include such non-recurring cash receipts from other sources as are referred to in Section 9 of this Ordinance.

Consistent with the foregoing, it is hereby ordained and provided that from and after issuance and delivery of any Bonds herein authorized or permitted to be issued, and so long as any thereof remain outstanding and unpaid, the System shall continue to be operated, for the purposes of this Bond issue but subject to the provisions of Section 12 of the Prior Bond Ordinance, on a fiscal year basis beginning each June 2 and ending on the next June 1, and on that basis the income and revenues of the System shall be collected, segregated, accounted for and distributed as follows:

(A) A separate and special fund or account of the City, distinct and apart from all other funds and accounts, was heretofore created by the Prior Bond Ordinance and is designated and identified as the "City of Morehead Utility Revenue Fund" (the "Revenue Fund"), which shall continue to be maintained, as at present, as one or more of the Depository Banks; and the City covenants and agrees that it will continue to deposit therein, promptly as received from time to time, all cash income and revenues of the System as hereinabove defined. The moneys in the Revenue Fund from time to time shall continue to be used and disbursed and applied by the City only for the purposes, and in the manner and order of priorities, specified in the succeeding subsections of this Section 9, all as permitted by the Prior Bond Ordinance and by applicable statutes, as follows:

(B) A separate and special fund or account of the City was created by said Prior Bond Ordinance, distinct and apart from all other funds and accounts, designated and identified as the "Utility Bond and Interest Redemption Account" (the "Sinking Fund"), which shall continue to be maintained, so long as any of the Bonds herein authorized or permitted to be issued are outstanding, in the Peoples Bank of Morehead, one of the Depository Banks; and all moneys deposited therein, from time to time, shall continue to be used and disbursed and applied, and are hereby irrevocably pledged, solely for the purpose of paying the principal of and interest on all Bonds which are issued and outstanding from time to time pursuant to the provisions of said Prior Bond Ordinance, and of this Ordinance, including additional parity Bonds, if any are issued.

The City shall deposit in the Sinking Fund (or otherwise credit in accordance with FmHA regulations, if FmHA is the purchaser) any sums received from any purchaser or purchasers of Bonds issued hereunder as representing accrued and capitalized interest on such Bonds to date of delivery. Thereafter, as soon as the period of accrued and capitalized interest has expired, there shall be set aside from the gross income and revenues of said combined and consolidated municipal water, gas and sewer system (which have been deposited in the Revenue Fund) such portion thereof as will be sufficient to pay the interest on and the principal of the Prior Bonds, the Bonds hereby authorized, and any additional bonds ranking on a parity therewith as may be issued and outstanding under the conditions and restrictions hereinafter set forth. Such payments in said Sinking Fund shall be made in equal monthly installments on the first day of each month, and it is hereby determined that the minimum amounts to be paid into said Sinking Fund each month for the Bonds hereby authorized shall be an amount equal to not less than one-twelfth of a sum equal to 120% of the average annual principal and interest requirements of the Bonds hereby authorized; provided that when and so long as there shall have been accumulated and maintained in said Sinking Fund a balance equal to two times the maximum annual interest and principal requirements for all Bonds then outstanding which by their terms are payable from said Sinking Fund, then the amount of the monthly payment into said Sinking Fund may be reduced to an amount not less than one-twelfth of the actual principal and interest requirements becoming due on the Bonds then outstanding during the next succeeding twelve months. As and when additional bonds ranking on a parity with the Bonds hereby authorized are issued, provision shall be made for additional payments into said Sinking Fund so as to pay the interest on and principal of such additional parity bonds as and when the same become due and for the accumulation of a reserve therefor in like manner as such provisions are herein made for the Bonds herein specifically authorized.

The amount by which such payments exceed the aggregate amount of interest and principal as it becomes due shall be held in said Sinking Fund as a reserve; and unless all bonds payable from said Fund at the time outstanding are to be then retired, only such part of said Sinking Fund shall be used to purchase or redeem Bonds in advance of maturity as may be in excess of the provided reserve and the interest and principal becoming due within the succeeding twelve months on all Bonds which by their terms are payable from said Fund. Any such purchase of Bonds prior to maturity shall be made at the lowest prices (not exceeding their current fair market value nor the terms for redemption thereof). All Bonds so purchased or redeemed shall be cancelled.

Provided, however, that no further payments need be made into said Sinking Fund after and so long as such amount of the Bonds have been retired that the amount then held in such Fund, including the reserve, is equal to the entire amount required for retiring all Bonds then outstanding and paying all interest that will accrue at the time of such retirement.

If for any reason there should be a failure to pay into said Sinking Fund the full amount above stipulated, then an amount equivalent to such deficiency shall be set apart and paid into said Sinking Fund from the first available income and revenues.

All moneys held in said Sinking Fund, including the reserve, shall be in excess of and deposited with the Peoples Bank of Morehead as the designated paying agent for the Bonds hereby authorized, and all such deposits which cause the aggregate deposits of said City in said bank to be in excess of the amount insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation shall be continuously secured by a surety bond or bonds furnished by a surety company or companies qualified or authorized to do business in Kentucky or by a valid pledge of direct obligations of the United States of America having an equivalent market value. All or any part of said Sinking Fund, including the reserve, which may be in excess of the interest and principal becoming due within the succeeding six months may be invested in interest bearing bonds or other direct and general obligations of the United States of America having a maturity date or being subject to retirement at the option of the holder within not more than five years subsequent to the date of investment therein; and all such investments, as well as all income therefrom, shall be carried to the credit of the Sinking Fund.

The Sinking Fund as aforesaid shall be used solely and only and is hereby pledged for the purpose of paying principal of and interest on the Prior Bonds, the Bonds herein authorized, and the additional bonds ranking on a parity therewith as may be outstanding from time to time.

It is specifically covenanted and agreed, however, that if FmHA is the purchaser of the Bonds, and if FmHA waives its right to the issuance of the Bonds on a parity basis with the Prior Bonds, the Bonds herein authorized shall be subordinate to the Prior Bonds, and that no other bonds shall thereafter be issued on the basis of parity with the Prior Bonds.

(C) A separate and special fund or account of the City was created by the Prior Bond Ordinance designated and identified as the "City of Morehead Utility Depreciation Fund" (the "Depreciation Fund"), which shall continue to be maintained for the benefit of the System and all Bonds payable from the revenues thereof.

After observing the priority of deposits set forth in (A) and (B) above, there shall continue to be set apart and paid into the Depreciation Fund each month (i) as required by the Prior Bond Ordinance, the sum of $1,500 per month so long as the balance in this account of the Depreciation Fund is less than $90,000, (ii) the sum of $1,220 per month, required for the Series A Bonds, so long as the balance in this account of the Depreciation Fund is less than $145,000, and (iii) the sum of $300 per month, required for the Series B Bonds, so long as the balance in this account of the Depreciation Fund is less than $35,000.

Whenever withdrawals are made from any one of the aforesaid accounts which result in reducing the balance therein to less than the required amount, the aforesaid prescribed payment for the particular account shall be resumed to restore the amount to the required balance. Said Depreciation Fund shall be used to set up reasonable reserves for renewals, replacements, new construction and contingencies in the operation of said combined and consolidated municipal water, gas and sewer system, and provided also that withdrawals and disbursements shall be made from said Depreciation Fund to meet the payment of interest on or principal of any revenue bonds to whatever extent and if for any reason funds in the Sinking Fund are insufficient for that purpose.

In addition to the above deposits from the Revenue Fund, there shall also be deposited in the Depreciation Fund, as received, such connection fees or charges as may be exacted from users of the System, the proceeds of all property damage insurance (except public liability) maintained in connection with the System, and the cash proceeds of any surplus, worn out or obsolescent properties of the System, if the same be sold upon order of the Morehead Utility Plant Board subject to the provisions of this Ordinance.

The Depreciation Fund shall continue to be available and may be withdrawn and used by the City, upon appropriate certification to the Depository Banks, for the purpose of paying the cost of unusual or extraordinary maintenance, repairs, renewals or replacements, not included in the Annual Budget of Current Expenses, and the cost of construction of additions and improvements to the System which will either increase its revenue-producing capacity or provide a higher degree or service.

At any time when the accumulations in the Depreciation Fund shall exceed anticipated and foreseeable needs for authorized purposes, all or any portion of such excess may be invested and reinvested upon order of The Morehead Utility Plant Board in interest-bearing obligations of, or obligations the principal of and interest on which are guaranteed by, the United States Government, maturing or subject to redemption at the option of the holder not later than three (3) years after the date of investment; but as and when funds may be required for authorized purposes a sufficient portion thereof shall be converted into cash and so applied. All investments of money in the Depreciation Fund shall be carried to the credit of said fund; all income from investments and any profit from the sale thereof shall be credited thereto; and any expenses incident to investment or reinvestment, together with any loss from forced conversion of investments into cash, shall be charged thereto.

(D) A separate and special fund or account of the City was created by the Prior Bond Ordinance designated the "City of Morehead Utility Operation and Maintenance Fund" (the "Operation and Maintenance Fund"), which shall continue to be maintained for the benefit of the System and the Bonds payable from the revenues thereof. Subject to the provisions for the disposition of cash income and revenues (as hereinbefore defined) derived from the System in the foregoing subsections (A), (B) and (C) of this Section 9, the City covenants that it shall transfer monthly from the remaining funds in the Revenue Fund to the Operation and Maintenance Fund sums sufficient to pay as they accrue Current Expenses of operating and maintaining the System pursuant to the Annual Budget, for which provision is hereinbefore made.

(E) Subject to the provisions for the disposition of cash income and revenues of the System in the foregoing subsections (A), (B), (C) and (D) hereof, which are cumulative, within sixty (60) days after the close of each fiscal year the balance of excess funds remaining in the Revenue Fund shall be used as follows:

(i) to retire any obligations against the System; or
(ii) to transfer additional amounts to the Depreciation Fund provided, however, no such transfer shall be made unless there shall first have been a determination in the Operation and Maintenance Fund that such transfer equals or exceeds the annual maintenance and operating expenses of the System during the next two succeeding months;

(iii) to pay debt service on any outstanding senior or subordinate obligation, or
(iv) for any lawful purpose.

All payments into the above special funds shall be made on the first day of each month, except that when said day of any month shall be a Sunday or a legal holiday, then such payment shall be made on the next succeeding business day.

All moneys held in any of the above special funds shall be kept apart from all other municipal funds and shall be deposited in one or more of the Depository Banks, and all such deposits which cause the aggregate of all deposits of the City therein to be in excess of the amount secured by FDIC, shall (unless invested as herein authorized) be secured by a surety bond or bonds or by pledge of direct obligations or by guaranteed bonds, or securities of the United States Government having market value equivalent to such deposit.

SECTION 10 COVENANTS TO BONDHOLDERS

The City hereby irrevocably covenants and agrees with the holder or holders of any and all Bonds at any time issued and outstanding pursuant to authority of this Ordinance that so long as the same or any part thereof or interest thereon remain outstanding and unpaid:

(A) It will faithfully and punctually perform all duties with reference to the System required by the Constitution and laws of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, and by the terms and provisions of this Ordinance.

(B) It will at all times operate the System on a revenue-producing basis, and will permit no free services to be rendered or afforded thereby.

(C) It will maintain the System in good condition through application of revenues accumulated and set aside for operation and maintenance, as herein provided; and will make unusual or extraordinary repairs, renewals and replacements, as the same may be required, through application of revenues accumulated and set aside into the Depreciation Fund.

(D) The City covenants and agrees that, so long as any of the Bonds are outstanding, it will not sell or otherwise dispose of any of the System facilities or any part thereof, and except as provided for in this Ordinance, it will not create or permit to be created any charge or lien on the revenues thereof ranking equal or prior to the charge or lien of these Bonds. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the City may at any time permanently abandon the use of, or sell at fair market value, any of its System facilities, provided that:

(i) it is in compliance with all covenants and undertakings in connection with all of its Bonds then outstanding and payable from the revenues of the System and the Debt Service Reserve for such Bonds has been fully established;

(ii) it will, in the event of sale, apply the proceeds to either (1) redemption of outstanding Bonds in accordance with the provisions governing prepayment of Bonds in advance of maturity, or (2) replacement of the facility so disposed of by another facility the revenues of which shall be incorporated into the System as hereinbefore provided;

(iii) it certifies, prior to any abandonment of use, that the facility to be abandoned is not economically feasible of producing net revenues; and

(iv) it certifies that the estimated net revenues of the remaining System facilities for the then next succeeding fiscal year, plus the estimated net revenues of the facility to be added to the System satisfy the earnings test hereinbefore provided in governing issuance of additional parity Bonds.

(E) It will establish, enforce and collect rates and charges for services rendered and facilities afforded by the System; and as reasonably and just, taking into account and consideration the cost and value of the System, the costs of operating the same and maintaining it in a good state of repair, proper and necessary allowances for depreciation and for additions and extensions, and the amounts necessary for the orderly retirement of all outstanding Bonds and the accumulation of reserves, and such rates and charges shall be adequate to meet all such requirements as provided in this Ordinance, and shall, if necessary, be raised from time to time in order to comply herewith.

On or before the date of issuance of any Bonds authorized by this Ordinance, the City will adopt a budget of Current Expenses for the System for the remainder of the then current fiscal year of the System, and thereafter, on the first day of each fiscal year so long as any Bonds are outstanding, it will adopt an Annual Budget of Current Expenses for the coming fiscal year, and will file a copy of each such budget and of any amendments thereto, in the Office of the City Clerk, and furnish copies thereof to the holder of any Bond upon request. The term "Current Expenses" as herein used, includes all reasonable and necessary costs of operating, repairing, maintaining, and insuring the System, but shall not include any allowance for depreciation, payments into the Depreciation Fund for extensions, improvements, and extraordinary repairs and maintenance, and payments into the Sinking Fund and the Debt Service Reserve. The City covenants that the Current Expenses incurred in any year will not exceed the reasonable and necessary amounts thereof for that year, and will not expend any amount or incur any obligations for operation, maintenance and repairs in excess of the amounts provided for Current Expenses in the Annual Budget, except upon resolution or ordinance duly adopted by the City Council determining that such expenses are necessary in order to operate and maintain the System, and in such event, in like manner, the City agrees that it will prepare an estimate of income and revenues (as said term "income and revenues" is defined in Section 9 hereof), to be derived from the operation of the System in each fiscal year, and to the extent that said income and revenues are insufficient to provide for all payments required to be made into the Sinking Fund during such ensuing fiscal year, and to build up and maintain the reserves specified and enumerated in subsections (B), (C) and (D) of Section 9 of this Ordinance, and to pay Current Expenses of the System, the City agrees that it will revise its rates and charges for services rendered by the System, so that the same will be adequate to meet all of such requirements.

(F) It will not at any time make any reduction in any prevailing schedule of rates and charges for use of the services and facilities of the System without first obtaining the written determination of a Consulting Engineer of national reputation that the proposed reduction will not adversely affect the ability of the System to meet all the requirements set forth in this Ordinance.

(G) It will at all times segregate the revenues of the System from all other revenues, moneys, and funds of the City, and will promptly and regularly make application and distribution thereof into the special funds provided in this Ordinance, in the manner and with due regard for the priorities herein attributed thereto.

(H) It will keep proper books of record and account, separate and clearly distinguishable from all other municipal records, of all transactions relating to the System, and the same shall be available and open to inspection by any Bondholder, and any agent or representative of a Bondholder.

(I) It will, within ninety (90) days after the end of each fiscal year, cause an audit to be made of the books of record and account pertinent to the System by an independent state-licensed accountant not in the employ of the City on a monthly salary basis, showing all receipts and disbursements, with comments of the auditor concerning whether the books and records are being kept in compliance with the Ordinance and in accordance with recognized accounting practices, and will promptly cause a copy of the audit report to be filed in the Office of the City Clerk where it will be available for public inspection, and will promptly mail a copy thereof to the original purchaser or purchasers of Bonds issued hereunder. If requested to do so, the City will furnish to any Bondholder a condensed form of the Balance Sheet, and a condensed form of the Operating Report, in reasonable detail. All expenses incurred in causing such audits to be made, and copies distributed, shall constitute proper expenses of operating and maintaining the System, and may be paid from revenues allocated for such purposes, as herein provided.

(J) Any holder of said Bonds or of any of the coupons may either sue or in equity, by writ, action, mandamus, or other proceedings, enforce and compel performance by said City and its officers and agents of all duties imposed or required by law or this Ordinance in connection with the operation of the System, including the making and collecting of sufficient rates and segregation of the revenues and application thereof.

(K) If there be any default in the payment of the principal of or interest on any of the Bonds, then upon the filing of suit by any holder of the Bonds or any of the coupons, any court having jurisdiction of the action may appoint a receiver to administer the System on behalf of the City with power to charge and collect rates sufficient to provide for the payment of any Bonds or obligations outstanding against the System, and for the payment of Current Expenses, and to apply the revenues in conformity with this Ordinance and the provisions of said statute laws of Kentucky aforesaid.

(L) The City will cause each municipal officer or other person (other than depository banks) having custody of any moneys administered under the provisions of this Ordinance to be bonded at all times in an amount at least equal to the maximum amount of such moneys in his custody at any time, each such bond to have surety given by a surety corporation qualified to do business in Kentucky and approved by the City Council; and the premiums for such surety shall constitute a proper expense of operating the System, and may be paid from moneys available in the Operation and Maintenance Fund.

(N) It will procure, and at all times maintain in force, insurance of all insurable properties constituting parts of, or being appurtenant to, the System to the full insurable value thereof, against damage or destruction by fire, windstorm, and other hazards covered by the standard "extended coverage" policy endorsements or provisions, the premiums therefor to be paid from the Operations and Maintenance Fund; and will deposit all sums collected under the terms of such policies in the Depreciation Fund. Such insurance shall be in amounts sufficient to provide for not less than full recovery whenever a loss from perils insured against does not exceed eighty percentum (80%) of the full insurable value of the damaged facility.

(O) The City will procure and at all times maintain Public Liability Insurance relating to the operation of the System, with limits of not less than $100,000 for one person and $300,000 for more than one person involved in one accident to protect the City from claims for bodily injury and/or death; and not less than $10,000 from claims for damage to property of others which may arise from the City's operations of the System.

(P) If the City owns or operates a vehicle in the operation of the System, the City will procure and at all times maintain Vehicular Public Liability Insurance with limits of not less than $100,000 for one person and $300,000 for more than one person involved in one accident to protect the City from claims for bodily injury and/or death, and not less than $10,000 against claims for damage to property of others which may arise from the City's operation of vehicles. Provided, notwithstanding (N), (O) and (P) above, so long as PAHA holds any Bonds herein authorized, the City will procure and maintain insurance of such types and in such amounts as PAHA may specify with insurance carriers acceptable to PAHA.

(Q) The City covenants and agrees that according to authority of KRS 96.930, et seq., it will provide that water service to any premises (whether such water service be furnished by a privately owned utility company or by the municipally owned water system) shall be discontinued upon delinquency of payment to the City for sanitary sewer service charges to the same premises, according to such reasonable contracts or regulations in that connection as may be effective from time to time.

SECTION 11 PARITY BONDS PERMITTED; TERMS

The Bonds authorized to be issued hereunder and from time to time outstanding shall not be entitled to priority one over another in the application of the revenues herein pledged, regardless of the time or times of their issuance, it being the intention that there shall be no priority among the Bonds authorized to be issued under the provisions of this Ordinance, regardless of the fact that they may actually be issued and delivered at different times; provided, however, that the City acknowledges that it has issued the Prior Bonds, heretofore referred to, under the terms of the Prior Bond Ordinance, and that the Bonds herein authorized, unless issued under the terms permitted by Section 12, Subsection 2, of the Prior Bond Ordinance, will be subordinate as to payment from the Sinking Fund, to all outstanding Prior Bonds. It is the intention of the City that the Bonds herein authorized be issued on a parity basis with the Prior Bonds if parity conditions can be met at the time of the delivery of the Bonds, but it is the further intention of the City to issue the Bonds on a subordinate basis if such conditions cannot be met and if the purchasers will agree to take the Bonds on such basis. No other Bonds or other obligations shall be issued by the City and made payable from the income and revenues of the System unless the pledge of revenues for the same is expressly made subordinate and inferior to the lien and pledge herein created; provided, however, the City hereby reserves the right and privilege of issuing additional bonds, from time to time, payable from the revenues of the System, ranking on a basis of equality and parity as to security and source of payment with the Prior Bonds and the Bonds herein authorized, and heretofore issued and outstanding parity Bonds, if the Bonds herein authorized have been issued on a parity basis with the Prior Bonds, for the following purposes and subject to the following conditions and restrictions:

(A) The City shall have the right to add new water, gas and sewer facilities and related auxiliary facilities by the issuance of one or more additional series of Bonds to be secured by a parity lien on and ratably payable from the revenues and any other security pledged to these Bonds, provided in each instance that:

(i) the facility or facilities to be built from the proceeds of the additional parity Bonds is or are made a part of the System and its or their revenues are pledged as additional security for the additional parity Bonds and the outstanding Bonds;

(ii) the City is in compliance with all covenants and undertakings in connection with all of its Bonds then outstanding and payable from the income and revenues of the System or any part thereof;

(iii) if the Prior Bonds are outstanding, the City has complied with the requirements of Section 12 of the City's ordinance adopted October 25, 1966, authorizing the Prior Bonds;

(iv) if the Prior Bonds are no longer outstanding, the annual net revenues, defined as gross revenues less Current Expenses of the System for the fiscal year next preceding the issuance of such additional parity Bonds, are certified by an independent public accountant employed by the City to have been equal to at least one and twenty hundredths (1.20) times the average annual requirements for principal and interest on all Bonds then outstanding and payable from the revenues of the System; and

(v) if the Prior Bonds are no longer outstanding, the estimated average annual net revenues of the facility or facilities to be constructed or acquired with the proceeds of such additional parity Bonds (and any other funds pledged as security), when added to the estimated future net revenues of the then existing System, shall be at least one and twenty hundredths (1.20) times the average annual debt service requirements for principal and interest on all outstanding Bonds payable from the revenues of the System and on the additional Bonds to be issued. In addition, said estimated annual net revenues shall be at least one and twenty hundredths (1.20) times the highest future annual debt service requirement for principal and interest on all outstanding Bonds payable from the pledged revenues and on the proposed additional parity Bonds. Future net revenue estimates shall be furnished by a recognized independent Consulting Engineer and approved by the Mayor and City Council of said City, and shall be forecast over a period not exceeding ten (10) years from the date of the additional Bonds proposed to be issued.

(8) The City hereby covenants and agrees that in the event additional series of parity Bonds are issued, it shall:

(i) adjust the monthly deposits into the Bond and Interest Sinking Fund on the same basis as that prescribed in Section 9 hereof to reflect the average annual debt service on the additional Bonds;

(ii) adjust the amount of the Debt Service Reserve to a sum equal to the maximum annual debt service on the Bonds then outstanding and such additional parity Bonds, the additional debt service to be accumulated monthly in the manner hereinbefore provided;

(iii) adjust the amount to be deposited into the Depreciation Fund on the same basis as that prescribed in Section 9 hereof, taking into account the future replacement cost of the facilities and equipment to be constructed or acquired with the proceeds of such additional Bonds; and

(iv) make such additional Bonds payable as to principal on December 1 of each year in which principal falls due and payable as to interest on June 1 and December 1 of each year.

(C) If in any subsequently issued series of Bonds secured by a parity lien on the revenues of the System, it is provided that excess revenues in the Revenue Fund shall be used to redeem Bonds in advance of scheduled maturity or if the City at its option undertakes to redeem outstanding Bonds in advance of scheduled maturity, it is agreed and understood (1) that calls of Bonds will be applied to each series of Bonds on an equal pro rata basis (reflecting the proportion of the original amount of each series of Bonds outstanding at the time of such call), and (2) that calls of Bonds for each series of Bonds will be in accordance with the call provisions of the respective Bond series. However, the City shall have the right to call, subject to the call provisions of the respective Bond series. However, the City shall have the right to call, subject to the call provisions of the respective Bond series, any or all outstanding Bonds which may be called at par prior to calling any Bonds that are callable at a premium.

The additional parity Bonds (sometimes herein referred to as "permitted" to be issued), the issuance of which is restricted and conditioned by this Section, shall be understood to mean Bonds payable from the revenues of the System on a basis of equality and parity with the Bonds herein specifically authorized, and shall not be deemed to include other bonds or obligations, the security and source of payment of which are subordinate and subject to the priority of the Bonds and parity Bonds herein authorized and permitted to be issued. The City expressly reserves the right to issue its Bonds or other obligations payable from the revenues herein pledged, and not ranking on a basis of equality and parity with the Bonds and parity Bonds herein otherwise referred to, without any proof of previous earnings or net revenues, but only if such bonds, or other obligations are issued to provide for additions or extensions or improvements to the System, and only if the same are issued in express recognition of the priorities, liens and rights created and existing for the security, source of payment, and protection of the said Bonds and parity Bonds herein authorized and permitted to be issued. Provided, however, that nothing in this Section is intended or shall be construed as a restriction upon the ordinary refunding of the initially authorized Bonds, and/or of any Bonds which may have been issued and are outstanding under any of the provisions of this Ordinance, if such refunding does not operate to increase, in any year until the final maturity of the refunding Bonds, the aggregate of the principal and interest requirements of the Bonds to remain outstanding and the Bonds proposed to be refunded.

PROVISIONS OF ORDINANCE CONSTITUTE CONTRACT

The provisions of this Ordinance shall constitute a contract between the City and the holders of the Bonds herein authorized and permitted to be issued, and after the issuance of any of the Bonds, no change, variation, or alteration of any kind of the provisions of this Ordinance shall be made in any manner except as herein provided until such time as all of the said Bonds issued hereunder, and the interest thereon, have been paid in full.

SECTION 13

TAX COVENANT

(A) In this Section, unless a different meaning clearly appears from the context:

(1) "Code" means the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 of the United States of America, Title 26 of the United States Code, as amended to the date of adoption of this Ordinance or as hereafter amended, including valid Regulations of the Department of the Treasury thereunder;

reference to a provision of the Code by number or letter include reference to any law hereafter enacted as amendment to or substitute for such provision;

(iii) Words which are used herein and in Section 103 of the Code shall have the meaning given to such words in or pursuant to said Section.

(B) The City shall at all times do and perform all acts and things permitted by law and necessary or desirable in order to assure that interest paid by the City on the Bonds herein authorized shall, for the purposes of Federal income taxation, be exempt from income taxation under any valid provision of law.

(C) The City shall not permit at any time or times any of the proceeds of the Bonds or other funds of the City to be used directly or indirectly to acquire any securities or obligations the acquisition of which would cause any such Bond to be an "arbitrage bond" as defined in subsection (d)(2) of Section 103 of the Code as then in effect and to be subject to treatment under subsection (d)(1) of said Section as an obligation not described in subsection (e)(1) of said Section, unless, under any valid provision of law hereafter enacted, the interest paid by the City on the Bonds shall be excludable from the gross income of a recipient thereof for Federal income tax purposes without regard to compliance with the provisions of subsection (d) of Section 103 of the Code.

(D) In order to assure compliance with this Section, thereby better securing and protecting the Bonds and the City, the City from the date of adoption of this Ordinance covenants that it shall not purchase any obligation or invest or direct the City Treasurer or Depositor; Banks to, and the City Treasurer and Depository Banks shall not, invest the proceeds of said Bonds, within the meaning of Code Section 103(d), in any obligations that produce a yield in excess of such applicable maximum yield as may be permitted by the Code.

(E) The City further covenants that prior to the issuance of the Bonds and as a condition precedent to such issuance the City shall certify by issuance of a certificate, supplemental to this Ordinance, of a City officer having responsibility for the receipt, disbursement, use and investment of the proceeds of the Bonds and the water and sewer revenues of the City that on the basis of the facts, estimates, and circumstances in existence on the date of issue of the Bonds it is not expected that the proceeds of said issue of Bonds will be used in a manner that would cause such obligations to be arbitrage bonds, such certificate to be made in accordance with the provisions of the applicable Internal Revenue Service Regulations adopted by the Department of the Treasury, Internal Revenue Service, pursuant to Section 103(d) of the Code, then in effect.

SECTION 14

MONTHLY PAYMENTS TO FAHA

If FAHA shall become the purchaser of the Bonds herein authorized, payments shall be made to FAHA in accordance with the requirements of the Letter of Conditions issued by FAHA under the date of July 21, 1977, as amended by Amendments Nos. 1 and 2; provided, however, that the rights of holders of Prior Bonds shall be preserved in accordance with the Prior Bond Ordinance.

SECTION 15

INTERIM FINANCING

It is the intention of the City to borrow money for an interim period in anticipation of the issuance of the Bonds herein authorized, and it is acknowledged that the City has heretofore adopted or will adopt an Ordinance setting out procedures for the borrowing from banks of money to be used in the construction of the Project prior to the time the proceeds of the Bond issue became available to the City. It is further acknowledged that the City will issue its notes for the money so borrowed in accordance with procedures established by Ordinance, such notes to be payable and to be paid from the proceeds of the sale of the Bonds. It is hereby further provided that in the event insufficient interim financing is available through banks, the officers of the City are further authorized to obtain advances from FAHA, if available, and to issue Bond anticipation notes or similar temporary debt instruments in return for said advancements. Said notes or instruments shall be payable from the proceeds of the Bonds, when issued, and from the revenues of the Project to the extent any such revenues may be available prior to the issuance of the Bonds; provided, however, that any agreements with FAHA for such advancements shall be made in strict accordance with the terms of regulations of FAHA in such cases made and provided. The City may, by further action of its Council, implement the terms of this Section.

SEVERABILITY CLAUSE

If any section, paragraph, clause or provision of this Ordinance shall be held invalid, the invalidity of such section, paragraph, clause or provision shall not affect any of the remaining provisions of this Ordinance.

SECTION 17

REPEAL OF INCONSISTENT PROVISIONS

All ordinances and resolutions, or parts thereof, in conflict with the provisions of this Ordinance are, to the extent of such conflict, hereby repealed.

SECTION 18

WHEN ORDINANCE EFFECTIVE

This Ordinance shall be in full force and effect from and after its adoption, approval, attestation and publication as provided by law.

Home Building Up In Kentucky

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — Experts say Kentucky's home building industry is close to the robust home construction pace of 1977, the best year in the last five.

"I wouldn't be surprised if in the first half of '78 — maybe the first three quarters — you see a 10 to 15 percent increase over '77," Robert B. Hoff, president of the Kentucky Home Builders Association, said Wednesday from his Florence office.

Official industry estimates predict construction will begin this year on some 17,400 new single family homes in Kentucky, down from the 23,000 housing starts reported in 1977 — the best year on record since 1972.

Officials with the home building industry around the state credit the continued fast pace of housing starts to the good market for home sales and the interest in investing in something that will increase in value as inflation rises. The Lexington Home Builders Association reported 677 new housing starts this year — more than half the 1,300 starts in 1977. And this year the industry was hampered by severe weather in January and February, officials noted.

The Louisville Homebuilders Association reported housing starts are off only slightly from 1977 levels. During the first three months of 1978 construction began on 748 single family homes in the region covering Jefferson,

Bullitt, Shelby and Oldham counties. During the same period last year there were 782 housing starts through March. "We're running a little behind but I think we'll see some improvement," said John W. Robinson, executive director of the Louisville builders' group. "I'm not as optimistic about the fourth quarter (October through December)."

Hoff also warned that housing construction later in the year could depend heavily on government fiscal policies, including any action on interest rates taken by the Federal Reserve Board, which controls the nation's money supply.

"The whole thing (the housing construction pace) can be shut off overnight," said Hoff, referring to the possible impact government money policies could have.

Robinson also added another word of caution: home prices will increase about 12 percent this year, due in part to higher prices for labor and materials.

Some people believed that wearing quartz stones would help them secure public favor.

State Tax Refunds Delayed

FRANKFORT, Ky. (UPI) — State Revenue Commissioner Maurice Carpenter said Friday that a minor jam has developed in shipping out state income tax refund checks to state taxpayers.

The delay was caused in part by unusually late filing of 1977 tax returns by thousands of Kentuckians. "We had four big mail days — Thursday and Friday and last Monday and Tuesday, because of the time extension," Carpenter said.

"We hardly know how our refund situation is at the moment because last week there were 60,000 processed refund checks backed up in either the offices of the state Treasurer or the Department of Finance."

"We're working with them and they're aware of the problem, and we hope by Monday they'll have them flowing again," Carpenter added. After the processed and approved refund forms leave the Department of Revenue they go to the Department of Finance, where warrants are issued for writing refund checks. When these warrants are received, the actual refund checks are written by the state treasurer's office.

"As of April 14, we had sent out 445,000 refund checks," Carpenter added, "leaving 250,000 to 275,000 refunds to be processed."

A spokesman in the Treasurer's office said they must wait for the warrants to arrive from the Finance Department before writing the refund checks. He said the warrants usually arrive in groups of 10,000 to 20,000.

Richard Nolan, assistant director of the Division of Accounts of the Finance Department, said he was unaware of any delay in sending out taxpayer refund warrants.

"We're not holding any," he said, "There may be some in data coordination."

He said the warrants are sent by computer printouts containing thousands of names. There are usually one or two refund bundles per day averaging $1 million or more per bundle.

Ashland Reports Earnings Decline

ASHLAND, Ky. (UPI) — Ashland Oil, Inc., Friday reported net income of $15.5 million for the second quarter of fiscal 1978, a decline of 46 percent from the $28.5 million reported for the corresponding quarter of 1977.

Orin E. Atkins, board chairman and chief executive officer, attributed the income decline to depressed product price margins and weather-oriented problems on Ashland's petroleum operations, and to the effects of the United Mine Workers' strike on coal operations.

Earnings for the second quarter, which ended March 31, were 42 cents a common share compared to 92 cents a share reported for the 1977 quarter. Fully diluted, per-share earnings were 41 cents compared to 86 cents last year. Second quarter revenues were $1.21 billion compared to $1.15 billion in 1977.

Atkins said the second quarter results also were affected by the continued impact of higher charges for interest on long-term debt and for depreciation, depletion, and amortization. These charges reflect last year's aggressive capital expenditures program.

During the six month period ended March 31, net income was $55.5 million, equal to $1.73 a share. This compares with the record income of $72.4 million, or $2.48 a share, reported for the corresponding period last year.

During the six months, cash flow from operations increased 4.5 percent to $140 million. Capital expenditures decreased to $141 million, a more normal level from the record rate at which Ashland invested funds last year.

Atkins said earnings from Ashland's chemical and Canadian operations outpaced those of a year earlier.

"We view 1978 as a year of transition and are restructuring our operations for the future to produce earnings at a level commensurate with the underlying values of our assets," he said. "We are optimistic that growth in revenues and earnings will return to normal levels demonstrated during the last several years."

He said that the state form was unchanged from the preceding year and will remain the same for 1978. He added that changes will be made in the 1979 form to make it more similar to the federal tax form.

"Most of our taxpayers do a good job on their forms," Carpenter added.

He said there probably would be more errors than usual on the federal tax forms this year because of numerous changes in tax-computation methods.

"We've thought we'd like to get rid of flipping in our form, but we didn't do it last time. We want to see how well the federal form goes," he added.

Car Insurance Rate Hikes Sought

FRANKFORT, Ky. (UPI) — Rising inflation was cited Thursday by officials of three insurance groups operating in Kentucky as the underlying reason for requested automobile-related insurance rate increases.

The insurance groups — Traveler's, Continental and Farm Bureau — are requesting approval for hikes from the state Insurance Regulatory Board ranging from an average of 6.9 percent to what may reach an average of 20 percent.

Norman J. Bennett, vicepresident and actuary of the Continental group which encompasses 11 companies in Kentucky, explained that "we are living in increasingly inflationary times. We must balance our intake with our output."

Bennett said that 1977 was "a break-even year" for Continental, while officials of the other two groups testified that they lost money last year. Each of the groups received rate increases over the last two years.

Continental filed for the largest increases, seeking a 19.4 percent increase in its liability and personal injury premiums and a 22 percent increase in its physical damage premiums. But Bennett said those increases will be revised downward pending the completion of comparisons with its competition.

The Traveler's group, encompassing four companies in Kentucky, is seeking an average premium increase of 17.5 percent. Richard C. Reeves of the group's legal division, said "the increases are conservative."

Traveler's seeks increases of 24.3 percent in bodily injury, 24.2 percent in personal injury, 15.3 percent in property damage, 14.1 percent in comprehensive physical injury and 9.7 percent in collision premiums.

The Kentucky Farm Bureau Mutual Insurance group is seeking an average premium increase of 6.9 percent, including 1.5 percent for no-fault, 6.4 percent for property-damage, 3.1 percent for comprehensive and 19.8 percent for collision premiums.

Jim Carigan of the state Department of Insurance said the state is not fighting the proposed increases, but simply making certain the increases meet the state's legal requirements.

Reeves said that "We consider Kentucky a good state for selling insurance. 'We wouldn't consider it a poor state, but we wouldn't be quite as eager to underwrite insurance as we are today' if the increase is not approved."

Continental's Bennett also argued that the increase was needed in the wake of an 8.8 percent increase in liability premiums and a 25 percent increase in physical damage premiums also granted in March, 1977.

"It's not a question of what happened in 1977," Bennett said of his group's break-even year. "It's a question of what's going to happen in 1979" when the full impact of the increases is felt.

The Farm Bureau group last year received premium rate increases averaging 15 percent in January, 1976 and 13 percent in November, 1976.

Transcripts of Thursday's testimony plus numerous exhibits introduced by the insurance groups will be forwarded to the regulatory board for its consideration. If approved, the rates will go into effect June 1, 1978.

Problems Of Aging Showcased On TV

NEW YORK (UPI) — Series television today consists almost entirely of comedy and comic books, potboiler plots and plastic people, silly men and jiggly women.

Dramatic presentations of serious subjects are relegated to the specials ghetto, to be dragged across the screen from time to time. It's as if when the consciences of enough television executives got sufficiently uneasy, it's time for them to prick our consciences as well.

The medium has never been high-brow haven, of course, nor should it be unless a majority of the viewers want it that way. But even in the days when shows such as "Petticoat Junction" led the ratings, there also were series such as "The Defenders" and "East Side, West Side" to add a little balance.

In contrast to the current and constant short comedy notes of series television, today when specials decide to be serious, they don't kick around. And that goes triple for NBC.

NBC did it recently most spectacularly with "The Holocaust," but most artistically when Helen Hayes and Fred Astaire performed a tender story of love conquering age and infirmity in "A Family Upside Down."

Now CBS has come through with a different view of the problems of the aging, much more depressing but equally movingly acted, and savagely engrossing.

The show is "Siege," starring Martin Balsam and Sylvia Sidney, in a drama scheduled for broadcast April 26, 9-11 p.m. Eastern time. And it is highlighted by a chillingly intelligent performance by Dorian Harwood as Simon, self-proclaimed black "king" of neighborhood.

The show has its humorous moments, its tender ones, but basically it plays a tragic love story of two old people set against a stage of urban terror that will seem all too real to many senior citizens.

Balsam and Miss Sidney play a pair of older people, each living alone, in a housing development surrounded by a decayed black neighborhood in New York City, where in fact the television movie was shot.

The people in the project live in terror of mugging attacks on the streets, in the halls, within their own apartments, by the self-proclaimed black "king" of the neighborhood, and his courtiers — including two young boys on bicycles who are his spies, his messengers and must be eventually his successors.

Although one victim of Harwood's "King" Simon is an elderly black man — and in truth the primary victims of black criminals are black victims — essentially this is battle drawn on racial lines.

Unspoken but implicit in the story is that the old white people's fear of Harwood is increased by his being black, he knows it, and he plays on it. Rightly or wrongly, this reflects the reality of modern urban life in areas where elderly people cling to their old neighborhoods while the young move out and minority groups move in.

Balsam plays a semi-retired toolmaker, a lonely man who misses his wife, institutionalized after a stroke, and whose daughter is busy with her own life. He meets Sylvia Sidney, a merry widow despite her years whose vitality and warmth draw Balsam into an affair that has a wry and tender

Elliott, Carter, Greenup, Rowan Contracts Let

More than $3.8 million in road and bridge contracts for Eastern Kentucky were announced last week by State Transportation Secretary Calvin G. Grayson.

The Secretary's announcement followed a bid-letting held on Mar. 24 by the state's Bureau of Highways.

In Elliott County, 12.2 miles of KY 7 are to be surfaced between KY 32 and the Carter County line by East Kentucky Paving Corp. of Grayson. Their bid on the project was $281,347.

The bridge over Little Sandy River in Elliott County, one mile south of Newfoundland on KY 7, also will be cleaned and painted under a $7,700 contract awarded to Fanteles Painting from Ohio. The contract also includes another bridge on KY 32 in Fleming County.

In Carter County, East Kentucky Paving of Grayson was awarded an $87,301 contract to surface 3.7 miles of KY 1 from KY 773 to US 60.

Grayson also reported that a $206,324 contract awarded to Gus T. Handage & Son Painting Co. of St. Louis, Mo. to replace raised pavement markers in 40 Kentucky counties includes Eastern Kentucky mileage located in Boyd, Carter, Greenup, Rowan, Bell, Knox, Clay, Harlan, Laurel, Floyd and Pike Counties.

THEN and NOW

THEN: The first clock patent in this country was granted to Eli Terry of East Windsor, Connecticut, on November 17, 1797. Terry's clock had two minute hands. One of the hands showed the true time, while the other, with the striking part and hour hand showed what Terry called "the apparent time as divided by the sun." In other words, this early clock, still used the sun to check its accuracy.

NOW: Today, clocks not only benefit from advanced electronic time-keeping, but many have been combined with radios. Some even have an LED digital time display with adjustable brightness control. One such product, an FM/AM Electronic Digital Clock Radio, developed by General Electric, not only has a Snooze Alarm so you can tap a bar to turn the radio off for 9 minutes extra sleep, but receives the audio from your favorite VHF TV shows without a TV set. And that's only one of G.E.'s full line of digital clock radios.

A new game that's raising a lot of interest these days is platform tennis. Interestingly enough, it came about quite accidentally about 50 years ago when two neighbors erected a wooden platform to play deck tennis and volleyball and hit upon the idea of paddle tennis.

Combining the principles of lawn tennis, squash and handball, it's played with a regulation paddle weighing about 14 ounces and a ball much lighter than a tennis ball. It's a quick, action-filled game and many players like to sit down afterwards with a screwdriver made with Kolichmidt's Vanilla, orange juice and plenty of ice.

"Consumer on the go"

"First the Hook and Stall find a Blue Ribbon. Then the Stall frames 'him and kisses him gently. That's when the Hook takes the poke." "So who's the victim, a huh? Not to the V.P. of Corporate Security at American Express Jim McGrath. "The language describes the plight of many a hapless consumer who falls prey to the wiles of today's criminal element—pickpockets, purse snatchers, and other assorted thieves.

"Translated their lingo means: the hook is the pickpocket; the stall frames the victim (gets in his way) and 'kisses him gently' (bumps him). That's when the hook takes the poke, or relieves the victim of his or her money."

How can consumers on the go avoid becoming a blue ribbon or victim? Said Jim, "One way is to protect your money by carrying travelers cheques instead of cash. Check cash is usually replaced. Cash is seldom retrieved. It's also important to safeguard your cheques, cash and charge cards at all times."

- SIX WAYS TO AVOID A HOOK
1. Be alert at crowded places like conventions, stores and on public transportation.
  2. Be on guard if you are jostled. A pickpocket may be at work.
  3. Men should keep their cheques inside their coat pocket, instead of their hip pocket.
  4. Women should keep their purses fastened and the flap next to their bodies when carrying cheques, cash and charge cards.
  5. Don't leave cheques in cars or at home where pets and children can get them.
  6. Keep your cheques, cash and charge cards in a hotel safe and not in your room when traveling.

THEN and NOW

THEN: The first clock patent in this country was granted to Eli Terry of East Windsor, Connecticut, on November 17, 1797. Oddly enough, the clock had two minute hands. One of the hands showed the true time, while the other, with the striking part and hour hand showed what Terry called "the apparent time as divided by the sun." In other words, this early clock still used the sun to check its accuracy.

NOW: Today, clocks not only benefit from advanced electronic timekeeping, but many have been combined with radios. Some even have an LED digital time display with adjustable brightness control. One such product, an FM/AM Electronic Digital Clock Radio, developed by General Electric, not only has a Snooze-Alarm so you can tap a bar to turn the radio off for 9 minutes extra sleep, but receives the audio from your favorite VHF TV shows without a TV set. And that's only one of G.E.'s full line of digital clock radios.

RELAXATION GOES TO THE TENNIS COURTS

A new game that's raising a lot of interest these days is platform tennis. Interestingly enough, it came about quite accidentally about 50 years ago when two neighbors erected a wooden platform to play deck tennis and volleyball and all upon the idea of paddle tennis.

Combining the principles of lawn tennis, squash and handball, it's played with a regulation paddle weighing about 16 ounces and a ball much lighter than a tennis ball. It's a quick, action-filled game and many players like to sit down afterwards with a screwdriver made with Wolfenbuttel Vodka, orange juice and plenty of ice.

"Anybody can be good in the country." Oscar Wilde

"Consumer on the go"

"First the Hook and Stall find a Blue Ribbon. Then the Stall frames him and kills him gently. That's when the Hook takes the poke." "Oscar Wilde is having a hoot! Not to the VP of Corporate Security at American Express Jim McCrain: "This language describes the plight of nameless hapless consumer who falls prey to the whims of local criminal element—pickpockets, purse snatchers, and other assorted thieves. "Translated their lingo means: the Hook is the pickpocket; the Stall frames the victim (gets in his way) and kills him gently (bumps him). That's when the hook takes the poke, or relieves the victim of his or her money." How can consumers on the go avoid becoming a Blue Ribbon or victim? Said Jim, "Oscar Wilde is right: your money by carrying travelers' checks instead of cash. His next tip is usually best replaced. Cash is seldom retrieved. It's also important to safeguard your checks, cash and charge cards at all times."

- SIX WAYS TO AVOID A HOOK
1. Be alert at crowded places like conventions, stores and on public transportation.
  2. Be on guard if you are jostled. A pickpocket may be at work.
  3. Men should keep their checkbooks inside their coat pockets instead of their hip pockets.
  4. Women should keep their purses fastened and the flap next to their bodies when carrying checks, cash and charge cards.
  5. Don't leave checkbooks in cars or at home where pets and children can get them.
  6. Keep your checks, cash and charge cards in a hotel safe and not in your room when traveling.
