Says Politics Divorced From State Colleges

Gov. Clements Gives Commencement Address At Morehead College

Speaking from the auditorium stage of the College that has undergone an administrative upheaval almost every time Kentucky changed its Chief Executive, Gov. Earle C. Clements said Thursday night that "politics and higher education have been divorced in Kentucky."

Clements returned to the scene where he fired the first shot that swept him into the governor's chair. But, this time the setting was different. In 1947 it was at Jayne Memorial Stadium on the east end of the Morehead State College campus that he opened his campaign. Thursday night he spoke in a packed auditorium at the west end of the campus.

It was a different kind of audience that he appeared before as he delivered the commencement address to Morehead's graduating class. But, his words concerning politics in the state colleges were almost a carbon copy of what he uttered at the Democratic gathering.

In 1947 he promised "under my administration higher education in Kentucky will not be enslaved by political interference from Frankfort. Thursday night he said: The lurking possibility of political interference is not consistent with free and uninhibited education. I am glad, my friends, that it no longer exists in Kentucky."

Clements' return to Morehead was in a sense, a triumphant one. When he assumed the governorship the institution had been discredited by the Southern Association and the American Association of Colleges. He changed the Board of Regents and appointed four new men.

Following this the Association conducted an investigation and the statement that "Clements has apparently appointed a Board of Regents that have no political connections or ambitions and constitute a qualified, well rounded governing body."

The new Board of Regents was on the platform Thursday evening. Morehead's Regents are E. R. Price, Wheelwright, coal mining executive; J. T. Norris, Ashland newspaperman; M. K. Eiden, Hazard, attorney; and W. W. Bull, Mayville banker.

At one point in his address the Governor said: "No school is more aware than Morehead of the great efforts which have been made to remove it from the remotest influence of a political consideration. The officers and the teachers in Kentucky maintain a high level of learning are now secure in the thought that they are judged solely by their own competence."

Speaking of the controversial federal bill to education bill, Clements said: "There are those at the moment who believe and I think honestly, that any federal contribution to the states for educational purposes ultimately may mean loss of traditional freedom in education. I do not share this view." He said that the demands made upon the colleges and universities in fields of science and research have outreached the financial ability of local government and "education in our state," he declared, "will be benefited by the passage of legislation now pending before Congress."

The Governor was introduced by President Jesse Baird. Presentation of diplomas was made by E. R. Price, vice-chairman of the Board of Regents.

Law Violations At Farmers Have Reached A Serious State

The reaching affray in which three men were seriously injured at Farmers Saturday night would ordinarily be written down as a drunken brawl which happens occasionally in the best-ordered communities.

But, with the statements of officers, and some witnesses at hand, there is reason for grave concern and the focusing of attention to this town of the "Licking River."

Said Sheriff Sam Green: "We have more trouble at Farmers than any place in the county. Sometimes it takes one man busy answering complaints of law violations there."

Investigating the Saturday night trouble the grand jury had one witness who apparently wanted to give a forthright account. But, this person said: "I felt about it I'm afraid I'll be killed."

Added to this is the apparent fact that the principal part of some of the younger and older too good boys down at Farmers is to get drunk, congregate and celebrate on the town's main street. The Saturday episode is but one of many times that they have flown, and possibly knives used in Farmers of late. Not all have reached the courthouse, but there have been enough instances of flagrant violations and disrespect of law enforcement to cause much concern.

Since U. S. 60 has been routed around Farmers it is probable that State police vigilance has been neglected somewhat. And, generally the disturbances have stopped and the "good" boys scattered by the time the sheriff gets there in answer to a complaint.

KU Seems To Have The Best Franchise Argument

The franchise discussions between Morehead's City Council and Kentucky Utilities have reached the stage where some constructive thinking appears in order.

Let us briefly rehearse the arguments of those who oppose the franchise:

"1. Morehead should have a sizeable sum (several thousand dollars) for the franchise;

"2. Morehead should give KU a franchise, only if KU grants a rate reduction;

"3. Morehead has KU in a good bargaining position now; the 400 customers that give us a white-way on every street before they get the franchise;

"4. If Morehead gives KU the franchise they'll have a 20 year electric supply monopoly in our town."

Balanced down there are the four contentions that opponents give the city council. If there are any other objections of consequence, they have not come up at council meetings.

Now here's KU's side:

"1. We serve 400 customers and we've been paid for a franchise except the cost of advertising and other incidental expenses in connection with its letting. If we paid for franchises we'd naturally have to pass the cost on to the consumer. We cannot afford to favor any one of these 400 customers that give us a white-way on every street before they get the franchise;

"2. Our rates are governed by the Public Service Commission which also carefully studies the profits our company makes. It is a monopoly. Sometimes it takes one man busy answering complaints of law violations there."

Investigating the Saturday night trouble the grand jury had one witness who apparently wanted to give a forthright account. But, this person said: "I felt about it I'm afraid I'll be killed."

The Rowan grand jury, now in session, has spent considerable time investigating the sale of a diamond mine in Elliott county. It has been a real joy to have the Morehead High School share with us in these programs, as well as many citizens of the community.

Our baccalaureate and graduation programs, the cockles of our heart have been warmed to us by so many people of Morehead and surrounding communities. The presence of our neighbors at all our public functions tells us of their genuine interest in us. It makes us know they appreciate Morehead College and are anxious to have it become an increasingly stronger and more effective college.

There is nothing so discouraging as indifference. There is nothing as encouraging as interest manifested by the presence of our neighbors to our public functions. We want to say a BIG THANK YOU. We want you to share the good things provided by Morehead State College with our neighbors.

President, Morehead State College

Help Morehead State College and Editor, The News: I enjoyed so much the all too brief visit with you and the staff of your publication and you know to you that I am not ungrateful of the very genuine interest your publication and you personally have taken in the same things we are trying to do.

The president of Morehead State College handed me an honorarium of $150. I am sure that amount is a tremendous overpayment, and also knowing the lack of funds in the college, I endorsed the checks to the Scholarship Fund. I was sure that it would be used for a good purpose if placed there.

Contractors Are Attacked By Union Organizers

The port owner of a Hardtown highway construction firm said that he, his partner and four of their employees were beaten up early last Wednesday near Racedale by a group of men he described as union organizers.

The victims were Sam Nally and Thomas Ballard, owners of the Nally and Ballard contracting firm, and Albert Haydon, Noah England, Jefferson Helton and Everett Coulter all of Racedale.

Nally said two other employees who live in Greenup County escaped and apparently were unharmed.

Nally said the attack occurred about 5 a. m. when he and the others arrived at the scene of a road-building project for which his company has the contract. He said he was knocked unconscious and the others suffered bruises and other injuries.

A group of about 150 men was at the scene when the construction firm owners and their employees arrived and attacked them as they got out of their cars. Nally added that they were unable to identify the assailants.

Her flowers were a nosegay of white gardenias and blue delphiniums. Little Kay wore a dress of pink dotted Swiss trimmed with lace and carried a nosegay in miniature matching the bride's.

Mr. Andrew Bowne served as best man for Dr. Reynolds. Mrs. James Reynolds at the piano presented a number of selections preceding and during the ceremony.

The home was beautifully decorated with white gladioli and garden flowers. Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held for the guests who included the families of the bride and groom. ## Flames Cover Quarry Worker In Mason County As 11 Kegs Of Powder Explode Saturday

Two Others Have Miraculous Escape From Fire And Blast

An explosion of 275 pounds of powder, contents of 11 kegs at the Mason County rock quarry at the entrance of the Lexington and Simeon Kenton Roads Saturday morning, proved fatal to Willie Cole Fox, 37 of Murphysville, foreman of the rock quarry, while John Case, Supt. of Mason County Roads and Mike Reeves, another employee of the Mason County Road Department miraculously escaped with minor injuries.

Case, who was hurled 7 feet into the air and over a 14-foot embankment, with rocks from the quarry falling about him, miraculously escaped with cuts on his right arm and left leg, while Reeves was knocked down by the blast on his face, suffering abrasions and contusions.

Supt. Case said that a drill hole had been made for the purpose of emptying the contents of 13 kegs of powder into the hole for the blasting of rock. Eleven kegs of powder had been placed in the 14-foot hole when it became choked up.

An air compressor was brought into play to relieve the congestion in the hole. A small amount of loose powder was around the top of the hole. After using the air compressor hammer, it was set down, and being holed, immediately ignited the powder which in turn ignited Fox's clothing.

Meanwhile the powder burned its way to the hole and to the contents of the 11 kegs which let go with a terrific explosion.

U. K. Wants Names Of World War II Dead For Memorial

In order that a roll of honor in the University of Kentucky's new Memorial Coliseum be as accurate as possible, the University requests that all persons who have not already done so submit the name and county of any friend or relative who lost his life in World War II.

To date, the University has the names of 9,555 Kentuckians who died during the last war, but it is likely that the list is as yet incomplete. Any additions to the list should be mailed to Prof. Ezra L. Gillis, Director of the Bureau of Source Materials, University of Kentucky, Lexington, 25 Ky.

Upon completion, the Coliseum will be dedicated to the memory of the State's World War II dead, whose names will be inscribed on a permanent roll of honor in the building.

The new Coliseum, which will seat more than 12,000 persons, will be used for lectures, concerts, farm and home conventions, basketball games and other programs.

Elliott Man Indicted In Liquor Case

Arnold Johnson of Newfoundland, appeared before United States Commissioner Harry Price at Catlettsburg this week to answer to a federal warrant charging him with carrying on the business of a retail liquor dealer without paying the special federal tax.

The defendant waived an examining trial on the charge and was bound over to the action of the Federal Grand Jury which will convene on Monday, June 13 at Catlettsburg. He executed the required bond of $200 and was released.

Morehead 'Teen Agers Work After School

More than four times as many high school age boys and girls work outside of school hours now than before the war.

The Census Bureau reported tonight that better job opportunities for inexperienced young people is the chief reason. Its conclusions are the result of a survey it made at the beginning of the current school year last October.

In any case, there were 1-300,000 boys and girls aged 14 to 17 who were both employed and enrolled in school in the early part of the school year against only 200,000 at the same point in 1940.

Attempted Reduction In Agriculture Department Appropriation Halted

Administration forces halted a Republican led economy drive for the third straight time Thursday as the Senate rejected GOP moves to slash a $1,465,000,000 Agriculture Department appropriation.

Immediately after that action, Sen. Tamm (D-Md.) offered a counter-proposal which he said might save the Government a minimum of $2,500,000,000.

Tamm introduced a joint resolution which would direct the President to trim at least five per cent off the total amount Congress appropriates to finance federal operations during the next fiscal year starting July 1.

No one item, however, could be cut more than 20 per cent. This is the same percentage cut the Republicans have been trying in vain thus far to apply to the actual operating funds or cash appropriations in each new money bill as it comes up for Senate action.

"If we're going to do it on each bill," Tamm said, "why not put it on the statute books right now? Here the issue is drawn fairly and squarely."

Commerce Group Plans Drive To Attract Tourists

The Lexington Chamber of Commerce's Greater Lexington Committee this week announced several plans, designed primarily to attract tourists, which it hopes to inaugurate in Lexington.

The committee suggested to City Manager J. Pelham Johnston that police give tourist violators of traffic regulations courtesy tickets instead of traffic tickets. Courtesy tickets, it was explained, would outline Lexington's traffic regulations and would welcome tourists to Lexington.

Robert Wilson and D. C. Carpenter, chairman and vice chairman, respectively, of the Greater Lexington Committee, said other plans include teaching all persons who meet tourists good courtesy practices and arming them with information on local tourist attractions.

Air Problem Of Schools In Breathitt

Maria Turner Seeks Federal Aid; Rowan Case Parallel

A close-up view of the school problem of Breathitt County was given Congress last week.

Mrs. Marie H. Turner, County School Supt., told her story to a House Sub-committee on Education, sparing no details in appealing for Federal aid for education.

"We believe we are a part of a great human resource regional problem," she said, "which should be of eminent concern to the rest of the country."

She listed a nine-point objective for her county in the event Congress made $300,000-500 available for the nation and Kentucky obtained its share.

Her program calls for higher teacher salaries, more teachers, renewed buildings, new construction, consolidation of one-room schools, increased and improved transportation, provision of adequate instructional equipment, more school nurses and additional supervisors.

She said the local property

Clements' Night Is Set For June 24

June 24th will be Governor Earle C. Clements' night at Olive Hill when the modern household park will be formally dedicated. Grayson's Legion team will furnish the opposition for Roger Qualls' strong team.

The Olive Hill park is lighted and night games are already being played.

Breathitt County's school problems are about the same as that in Rowan County and other Eastern Kentucky counties.

John W. Brucker of Louisville KEA secretary, gave the committee abundant information about the State's educational problems on the whole.

His testimony included such data as:

Kentucky has 225 school-age children for each 1,000 persons while the nation as a whole has only 207.

Last year the per capita income in Kentucky was only $550 compared to $1,842 in Nevada, with Kentucky ranking 44th in this respect.

The average Kentucky citizen at age 25 or older has slightly less than an 8th grade education. That 4,200 of the State's 18,000 teaching posts are filled with emergency teachers who don't meet minimum requirements, and a survey shows the State needs $100,000,000 to build the schools needed.

THIS FOUR OF THE BRONX . . . The famed Collins quadruplets are shown snuggling peacefully in their nursery room at Lebanon hospital in New York as the proud father, Charles Collins, a Wall Street brokerage firm clerk, poses with the proud mother, Ethel Collins, 38. The babies—two boys and two girls—weighed four pounds, 18 ounces; four pounds, three ounces; five pounds, five ounces, and three pounds, seven ounces at birth. They will be named Andrew, Edward, Barbara, and Linda.

He called the details "ugly facts" which, he added, showed that Kentucky children failed to get minimum essentials of a good school program.

The theory that Italy should not be treated like a war-enemy is evidently based upon the supposition that the Italians were duped by Mussolini and unable to do anything about it.

Remember the old story about the merchant and the camel? It was a cold night, and the camel begged to warm his nose—only his nose—in the tent. Then what happened? Little by little, the camel inched in his shoulders, his front legs—until he took over the whole tent. And the merchant was out in the cold.

That's how government agencies are inching their way into the electric business. First, public funds were set aside to build dams—for flood control and navigation. Then it was argued that the water behind the dams could be used to make electricity.

That led to the building of power lines, and then to more dams, more lines, and so on. Now these same agencies want more millions of dollars to build fuel-burning power plants—which have nothing to do with floods or navigation at all.

Yes, the camel of State Socialism is creeping farther and farther into the tent of the electric business. What it is doing here it can do in other industries. For when a government can enter one business in unfair competition with its own citizens, it is but a short step to entering all businesses—and eventually taking over all business.

Like the camel and the tent. What business are you in? This can affect you, too. Write your Congressman about it.

SOONER OR LATER—unless it's stopped—you will be next. Senator Joseph D. O'Mahoney (D.Wyo.), conducting a one-man investigation, has found that members of the 81st Congress have introduced exactly 132 bills which would involve the government in business activities now carried by private enterprise.

5 Boys, 5 Girls To Represent Rowan County At 26th Annual 4-H Meeting June 7 To 11

Farmers-In This Section Increase Planting Of Alfalfa

By Adrian M. Razon,
Rowan County Agent

Instructions in farming and homemaking, demonstrations in farm and home practices, and inspirational and recreational events will make up the program of the 26th annual 4-H Club Week at the University of Kentucky from June 7 through the 11th.

Each day will begin with assembly in the Memorial Building and close with speakers in the open-air theatre. Folk games and other recreational programs will be held each evening.

In addition to judging home products and in giving demonstrations in various homemaking practices, girls will have a style review and attend many other events. A special feature will be demonstrations and information on opportunities for women who are trained in Home Economics.

Boys will see the experimental crops, livestock, and equipment in the Experiment Station. Included will be a flock of sheep that has furnished many champions in the International Livestock Exposition, having out-standing dairy herds. The boys will also see the big, new dairy center which is one of the best of better quality following late fall cutting.

of its kind in the United States. Attendance this year will include boys and girls, local club leaders, and county and home demonstration agents from all 120 counties. The total number will be between 13 and 15 hundred persons. Rowan County will be represented by 5 boys and 5 girls, and one man and one woman adult leader.

Quite a few farmers have sown acres of alfalfa in the county during the past year. According to tests made, one good acre of land in alfalfa produces about the same amount of total adjustable nutrients as an acre of corn, at about two-thirds the cost.

Of course, the amount of feed value and quality of hay depends largely upon the stage of maturity at which the hay is cut and the proper curing. It is recommended that alfalfa hay in this vicinity be cut between May 20 and June 1. The first time and then 6 weeks thereafter. The last cutting should not be made later than about 6 weeks before the normal time of the first killing frost. Alfalfa may be cut after it has been heavily frosted, without injury to the standing. In fact, the next year's crop sometimes is of better quality following late fall cutting.

I visited the farm of Charlie Fraley the other day, out in the Rowan county community, and saw some of his spraying grass and clover seed. Mr. Fraley has needed Lardino and Fescue, which is looking very good. He also has seeded a plot of the new disease-resistant, Keenland Red Clover, which will be studied as it grows and compared with our standard varieties.

Mr. Fraley rolled some of his land at the time of seeding and the grass on the land that was rolled is much better than that that was not rolled.

Customs Operators to Meet
Customs operators of Rowan and adjoining counties are invited to meet at the Science Building of Morehead College on Thursday, June 2. Mr. Earl Welsh and Mr. John McKittick of the Engineering Department of the College of Agriculture at Lexington, will be present to assist in the problem of becoming better able to serve the farmers in their counties in preparing farm records, etc. Following the meeting in the morning the group will go to the field where they will stake out the reservoirs, etc. All contractors in the county have received letters and those who might not have received letters are urged to be present at this meeting.

Farmers Club
S. A. Wakefield and Marshall Qualls of the Division of Soil and Water Resources, will be guests at the monthly meeting of the Rowan County Farmers Club on Friday, May 27. All the members are urged to attend.

State Farms Cut Million Lepedeza Acres

Crop Not Damaged By 2, 4-D Application Davies Grouper Proves

In the summer of 1948, Robert Reid of Davies Grouper sprayed 2, 4-D on a small area, perhaps a fourth of an acre, in a lepedeza field to be cut for hay. The weeds were killed, resulting in a clean crop of lepedeza in late summer.

In July, Mr. Reid's son rigged up a tractor to spray corn & row at a time. He turned the nozzle so that each side of the corn row they angled toward the row and the spray material crossed the row. This meant the spray missed a strip about a foot wide in the middle between the corn rows. He turned the spray on to work as he drove the outfit across the lepedeza field on his way to the cornfield. The spray killed the weeds and made four clean rows of lepedeza through the field.

In both of the above cases, the lepedeza was not damaged by the 2, 4-D. The rate of application was three-fourths of a pint of 44 per cent 2, 4-D an acre. About a million acres of lepedeza are cut annually for hay in Kentucky. Although there are management practices which will usually produce clean lepedeza hay without the use of 2, 4-D, the greater part of the million acres has an undesirable amount of weeds in the hay at harvest time.

If the experiment of the Reids is an indicator of what can be done with a light application of 2, 4-D most any time in June and July on lepedeza intended for summer grazing, it is a means of much improvement in the quality of such hay.

Nearly everybody is for Government spending, if it benefits them and against it if it taxes them.

Breakfast In Bed On Atlantic Clippers

Pan American World Airways today announced a new extra-fare flight service to London on which passengers will get:

Breakfast in bed.
Flowers for the ladies.
Seven-course dinners, with champagne and cordials.

Menus in French.
And "a special Clipper blue carpet" in New York and London to walk on when boarding and leaving the airplane.

The once-a-week all-clipper service will cost $10 more than the regular fare of $350 one way. Starting June 10, the new "President" flights will leave New York at 4 p. m. every Friday and London at 7 p. m. every Sunday.

The planes will be double-deck stratosphere-type Boeing Clippers.

Willis G. Lipscomb, PAA vice president, says the new flight is offered for one purpose—to serve air travelers who want the utmost in luxury.

The planes will be equipped with 38 sleeperette type seats on the upper deck which normally accommodates 53 regular seats. Berths will cost $25 extra.

Cabin attendants will wear white double-breasted formal dinner jackets and serve meals whenever passengers want to eat, either in the main cabin or in the downstairs lounge.

The company says meals "will probably take approximately four or five hundred miles to serve, depending on how fast the passenger wants to eat."

One of the 340-mile-an-hour Clippers recently crossed the Atlantic in 9 hours and 46 minutes.

Conquest Of Polio Held Within Sight

Progress Made; Writer Says Victory Over Disease In Sight

The conquest of infantile paralysis is now within sight, Alton L. Blakeslee, noted science writer, predicts in a pamphlet published today by the Public Affairs Committee, Inc. of New York.

No one can predict just when the victory will come, or in what way," he adds, "but medical science is making such progress that there is real cause for optimism."

Such striking progress has been made in treatment during the past ten years that only about 15 to 25 per cent of the polio victims are now "left more or less severely handicapped."

Forty to 60 per cent of the children or adults who get the illness, in recognizable form will recover completely, or almost completely without any visible evidence of paralysis.

Scientific study of means for preventing the disease has been slower. Mr. Blakeslee admits in the 20-cent pamphlet "Polio Can Be Conquered" but he lists a number of recent developments that appear to carry great promise. Monkeys have been inoculated against polio safely and effectively, he points out. Unfortunately, the vaccine does not protect the monkeys against all strains of the virus and thus could not offer satisfactory protection for humans.

Top scientists are cited as believing that a safe vaccine for humans will ultimately be found. The recent success of scientists in almost completely purifying one kind of polio virus should hasten this day, Mr. Blakeslee says.

Carl Jones Gives Platform In Race For Rowan County Sheriff

Was Born, Reared, Educated Here; Asks Democrat Nomination

Carl Jones

To the Voters of Rowan County: Since formally entering the race for the Democrat nomination as Sheriff of Rowan County I have had the opportunity to see and talk with many of you. It makes me feel extremely good that you have treated me kindly and received my candidacy so favorably.

Any man that seeks public office should acquaint the people with his platform. This is particularly true of those who ask to be your Sheriff, the highest executive post in our county.

I am nominated and elected to this office it shall be my intention to be at your service 24 hours a day. I shall be your courteous servant when you have business to transact with the Sheriff's office, but I shall be firm in the enforcement of our laws.

Any Sheriff needs capable deputies. No one is running as my deputy but I pledge to you that any person I name will be one of good judgment, capable, and qualified.

It is reprehensible that our rural churches are often disturbed. It shall be one of my first aims to break up any such of this in this respect I will never be lenient. This also applies to the pie suppers and other community gatherings. To my mind there is nothing so lowly as that of disturbing people at worship or worth-while public meetings. Insofar as possible I, or one of my deputies, will attend such gatherings to insure the good people of proper order.

I shall work with the State and City Police to keep good law and order.

When you come to the Courthouse to pay your tax bill or on other business you will always find courteous treatment in my office. I am proud that I have always made friends and I feel that this is because I have been fair and honest all my life and have treated other people as I would want them to deal with.

Many of you know me personally but to those who may not I give this brief sketch of my life.

I am the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Jones, who were born and reared in Rowan County and have been citizens of this community all their life. Like my parents I was born in Rowan County, grew up here, attended the schools of Rowan County and have worked here since reaching my majority.

I have never held any public office, but I did serve six months as a Deputy Sheriff. During that time I had no trouble with any person, but attended to my duties. I have never been arrested or been in jail in my life. I have had dealings with many Rowan County people and I respectfully refer you to them as to my integrity, honesty and ability to make you a good Sheriff.

I am 35 years of age. My entire life is characterized by being friendly to and associating with the laboring class of people.

Between now and the August 6 primary I hope to see and visit with all of you. In the meantime I respectfully ask that you give my candidacy your fair consideration.

In conclusion I want to say that a good Rowan County citizen, one who was one of my opponents in the primary, has died. I speak of Bob Green and I am happy that Mr. Green and I were good friends although both of us sought the same office.

Again asking you for your support and repeating that I know I can make you a hard-working, courteous, qualified Sheriff.

Respectfully yours,

Carl Jones
