

Local Business Outlook Bright In Morehead

Calling Off Steel Strike Held Favorable To Local Economy

The economic picture in and around Morehead is considerably brighter today following Monday's decision as CIO steel workers gave up their fight for a fourth-round wage increase and called off the strike set for Tuesday night.

Unrest in the steel industry was making itself felt in this community as the brick plant at Soldier closed down, work at General Refractories plant in Haldeman was curtailed and the lay-off of another big line were called because of a shortage of steel pipe.

If the steel strike had not been settled it is probable that many Moreheadians would have been seriously curtailing their plans for travel this fall to Buffalo, New York.

When the CIO accepted that President Truman's request for a truce and recommendations of a general refractories plant in Haldeman aimed at solving the steel wage dispute.

School Children Get Free Peas

The pear crop surplus in the nation this year proved beneficial to Morehead.

Each room received a box of the extra large and medium fruit and the children were given three and four pears each.

Kiwanis To Head Drive For Home

48-Bed Convalescent Home Being Constructed For Crippled Children

Morehead Kiwanians voted last week to conduct a financial campaign to assist in the furnishing of the new 48-bed Convalescent Home, now being built near Lexington by the Kentucky Society for Crippled Children.

The local campaign will be completed paid for from funds raised throughout the State by the Society, and the 40 convalescent homes which will immediately benefit from the home are being constructed to raise the $100,000 necessary to furnish it.

Children will be sent to the Home by the Kentucky Crippled Children Commission, the official State agency for treatment of crippled children, which has worked closely with the Society during the past 25 years.

In Rowan County 116 children have been treated to date—at no cost to the citizens of this community. The local campaign is being conducted by the local Kiwanis club, which is handling the arrangement.

Funeral services will be conducted this afternoon (Wednesday) for the late Mrs. S. B. (Scorch) Muters, 66, who died of a heart attack.

Enrollment In Consolidated Schools Up

1,596 Register In Five Rowan County Districts; Morehead Tops List

With Morehead Consolidated showing the largest enrollment in Rowan County's five districts, a record enrollment in the district was recorded Monday.

The total reached 1,596. Morehead had 669 enrolled to make it the largest school in the county, about twice as large as Haldeman which has second place.

The enrollment in each school is: Morehead 669; Haldeman 346; Elizabethtown 242; Clearfield 217; and Farmers 122.

All showed an increase except Farmers where the enrollment is smaller than last fall.

Due to overcrowded conditions at Clearfield a temporary addition is being constructed.

Supt. Ted Croshaw said that the new building is being constructed at Clearfield a temporary addition is being constructed.

Lines Form Early For MSC Registration

For MSC Registration

If the line that formed early this morning at Morehead State College is any criterion a substantial increase in fall enrollment will be recorded.

Two lines extending from the gymnasium, where registration is conducted, to the administration building, two blocks away, had formed at 7 o'clock this morning, half an hour before enrollment commenced.

A Jovial—

wanted to sell some pheasants.
"No, chestnuts," the farmer replied in a loud voice.
Oh, yes, chestnuts, how much are they?

"Seventy-five cents a gallon," the farmer added, talking very loudly.
"Forty-five cents, I'll take all you have," Scorch came back. "No, seventy-five cents," was the loud reply.

Finally, a deal was consummated and Scorch bought a gallon. He then told the man that Mr. Sam Allen, who ran a grocery store up the street, was in the market for some chestnuts and he could probably sell all he had up there.

Sam, who likes a good joke (especially on the other fellow) about as well as Scorch was sitting on a stool taking everything in. He beat it out the side door and when the farmer got to his store he was standing behind the counter.

"Do you want to buy some chestnuts?" the farmer replied. "Pheasants, yes I might take a few," Mr. Allen replied.

Raising his voice to a shout the man yelled: "Chestnuts! Chestnuts! I have 'em!"
Sam Allen bought the rest of his chestnuts and the man walked up the street where Bill Henry Colderon was standing.

"This is the damnest town I was ever in. The people can't hear a thing," he told Bill Henry Colderon.

"Tuh, what did you say?" said Bill Henry and the farmer ran up the street tearing his hair.
Actually as every old-timer in Morehead knows, Bill Henry couldn't hear it thunders.

In the old days the boys used to play a little poker in a back room of Scorch's hotel. Since the game sometimes lasted all night some of the wives didn't like it. One went before the grand jury and had Scorch indicted.

Scorch was to be represented by his good, life-long friend, the late Attorney Elijah Hogge, one of the truly grand old gentlemen of Morehead.

The night before Scorch's trial the jury, held over in a murder case, stayed at his hotel. After dinner they were passing away the time in the lobby when Scorch told them about his forthcoming case in court.

Scorch could almost perfectly imitate Elijah Hogge's drooling voice and actions as well as that of the Judge, Henry Prewitt. Prosecutor W. C. Hamilton. He pantomimed just how the trial would be. . . how Elijah would plead his innocence as a good, harmless tax-paying citizen, what the witnesses would say. . . how Hamilton would object and how Prewitt would lean over the bench and sternly overrule the objection.

Well, as luck would have it, or maybe Scorch planned it that way, this same jury was empaneled to try Scorch's case.

And, everything went according to the way Scorch had pantomimed. The jury was all snivels and smiles. Finally, Chief Hamilton asked a question, Mr. Hogge objected, and Judge Prewitt leaned over and forcibly overruled the objection. The jury burst into laughter and Prewitt reprimanded them.

Every once in a while during the whole trial the same thing would happen and Judge Prewitt's court became a farce.

When the case was submitted to the jury they returned a "not guilty" verdict as fast as they could write the decision.

A day or so later Judge Prewitt learning what had happened told the Sheriff to bring Scorch into court.

When Scorch was arranged before the bar, Judge Prewitt said: "What I have to say to you shouldn't be spoken in open court. I want you, your Attorney Elijah Hogge and the Prosecutor to come into my chamber."

Scorch said that he was all prepared to go to jail for contempt of court, or something, because Judge Prewitt was a stern old gentleman and he was anything he demanded it was perfect order in his court.

When the lawyers and Scorch were in the Judge's chambers, Prewitt said: "Scorch you are guilty of a grave offense, and I'm finding you guilty right now. Your sentence is that you must re-nact for us, in this room right now, what you did before that jury."

Actually, Judge Prewitt, Mr. CHECK —

Hamilton and many more of the dignitaries of this community in 10 or 12 days were great friends and cronies of Scorch's. The late Judge Allice Young was a regular patron of his restaurant on Railroad Street and he and Elijah Hogge and the late Telford Ocas Bozeman would sit by the hours while Scorch spun stories, mostly about Morehead and Morehead people.

If you ever saw Scorch's signature it was always S. B. Muttus. Actually his name was Montifull Burns Muttus.

He didn't like the name Montifull and said it sounded like a Frenchman and was silly. So, early in life he changed his own name to Scorch. . . because it fitted it so well with his middle name, "Burns."

Earlier in this story you read that Scorch Muttus never made an enemy. . . he created only friends. This was so true of all his life.

His interest in people and their joys and problems . . . the little and good things they did . . . his love for children and his jovial nature made Scorch Muttus an unusual character . . . and a good citizen.

chester it is a 30 inch line.

As the employees said the line was reduced at Winchester because of the Allegheny Mountains. It seems that more pressure can be built up in the 24 line to get the gas across the mountains. More compressions are also necessary from the Buffalo because of the up-and-down terrain. Until the line hits Rowan County it has to travel through fairly level country.

Labor trouble in the steel mills has delayed the construction and threatened postponement of the entire project because pipe was not coming through as needed. But, with the signing of the truce between labor and management this week the huge sections are expected and work will be in and around Morehead should commence shortly.

A large group of TGT personnel are expected in Morehead, and more, including welders, ditchers, bull-dozers operators and others are expected this month. It takes a small army of highly paid and trained men to lay a line of this size all the way from Texas to New York.

An employee of TGT reveals these interesting facts:—
Until the last few years a well in Texas was considered a failure if gas hit it. They were drilling for oil and there was no market for gas.

TGT carries much more gas than the famed "Big Inch" and "Little Inch" lines built to carry petroleum from Texas to the East during the war when German submarines were knocking off our tankers. The "Big Inch" and "Little Inch" lines are no longer transport oil but have been converted to gas. Several blow-ups have resulted because the seamless pipe used on part of it hasn't stood up under high pressures.

About one farmer out of ten refuses the right-of-way for the gas line. The company has to file court proceedings under the law of public domain. Actually, the landowner can't stop the line going through, but after it is laid he can farm over the line. The company has easement rights and can go in anytime to repair the line but must pay him for damages. Actually, there appears no question but that the landowner gets financially because he is well paid for crossing his farm and also gets damages for construction.

TGT has an attorney in every county where their lines run. The gas, under 600 to 700 pounds pressure, flows through the lines at about 20 miles an hour.

A machine has been invented which will detect the slightest flaw in any weld. Generally the welds will stand more pressure than the pipe itself. A welder is given three chances. He is reprimanded the first time his weld fails to measure up on the machine . . . he is given a final warning the second time . . . but if he makes a third bad weld he might as well pick up his paycheck. In the vernacular of the pipe line people he is "black-balled."

The pipe line people might will be characterized as the builders of the nation's first railroads.

They are highly paid—the rate running from two dollars an hour up—but they must know their business. They are rugged and move fast when laying the line. Mistakes are not permitted for there can be no gamble in such a multi-million dollar project.

No figures are available on the actual cost of the huge pipe line but it is bound to be tremendous. But, after the line is laid the flow of gas . . . and revenue is likewise tremendous. And, the lines will carry it for years and years.

But their maintenance is an expensive problem. Booster stations must be maintained . . . and they are fairly close together through hilly or mountainous regions. The line is constantly checked against leaks or blow-ups. Instruments have been designed so that a leak in the line can be detected from an airplane flying the right-of-way.

TGT doesn't release its operating costs for public consumption, but its tax bill must be a major item. For example, in Rowan County, it is the second biggest taxpayer, being surpassed by the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad.

Their taxes will become even higher with the laying of this third line. And, Rowan is only one of possibly 300 or 400 counties through which they pass.

John L. Lewis doesn't fear Judge Goldenstein, Congress or President Truman half as much as he does the pipe line. The Texas gas is eating into the coal market. It has been estimated that the gas going into the Charleston area is the equivalent in BTU content of 500 car loads of coal daily.

Mrs. Trumbo Suffers Serious Injury in Fall

While working about her home last Thursday evening, Mrs. T. Trumbo fell from a chair, breaking her right hip. Mrs. Trumbo, who is 75 years old, lives alone. She managed to crawl from the back porch to the living room, where she lifted herself to the couch. However, in trying to get more comfortable she fell to the floor again, where she lay throughout the night, with only a thin quilt covering her. She was found by a neighbor, Mrs. Erna Trumbo, when she went over Friday morning. The doctor and other neighbors were called and she was rushed to St. Joseph Hospital in Lexington.

On Monday she underwent an operation and the bone was set, but according to reports, she will be forced to remain in the hospital at least six months and then will not be able to walk. Her niece, Mrs. Mandy Spillman of Vickery, Texas, who has been staying with Mrs. Trumbo since the accident happened but rushed back and accompanied her to Lexington where Trumbo's son, Taylor Trumbo and wife have been in Lexington since Friday evening.

Cooperation, Quick Work Saves Life Of Mountain Girl Stricken With Dreaded Polio

Ohio Furnishes Iron Lung; State Police Rush It To Bedside

Death took a holiday, a State trooper took a midnight ride, and the life of a little polio-stricken mountain girl was saved.

Little, blonde, brown-eyed Minnie Ruth Hensley, three-and-a-half year-old daughter of Marcus Hensley, lives with her brothers and sisters, on Short Creek, in Leslie County, not far from Hyden.

"It was a blistering hot day in July when the dread polio struck. It struck hard and fast. Little Minnie was desperately ill when her frantic parents finally reached the Frontier Nursing Service. One look by the nurse and she knew little Minnie must get to a hospital and into an iron lung."

The nurse called St. Joseph Hospital in Lexington to have a respirator standing by, then left by station wagon with the little girl and her mother on the long ride to the hospital.

At the hospital action started. There was no iron lung available. The Kentucky Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis immediately put in a call to the Foundation's emergency supply pool in Columbus, Ohio. Time was running out. The lung must reach Lexington in the shortest possible time. Quick decisions. The lung would be taken by the Ohio State Police to Portsmouth, Ohio, at the State line. There the Kentucky State Police would pick it up. Then more trouble. The State Police at Frankfort were anxious to help but had no vehicle large enough to carry the lung. More department agreed to send a truck and the Kentucky Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis would send an escort. It was in the middle of the night when a State trooper was called from his home to escort the lung back to Lexington.

Meanwhile, fate stepped into the story. The station wagon bringing Minnie into Lexington broke down on the way. But Death turned his head. Frankie hands repaired the trouble. And Minnie was still living when the station wagon drew up in front of St. Joseph just minutes before the iron lung.

Minnie is going to get well. She doesn't remember much of what happened. But her parents remember in their prayers the people, the agencies and the Kentucky Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis who saved their little girl.

Barkley To Get Government Gold Medal

The Government is striking off a gold medal in honor of the Vice-President.

President Truman signed a congressional bill on Aug. 12, authorizing a $2,500 appropriation for a medal to be struck in honor of Vice-President Barkley's long record of "distinguished service" to the nation.

Under the terms of the bill the Government would send bronze copies of the original gold medal to the public at a price sufficient to cover the cost of the copies.

2-Cent Money Helping State, Keck Says

Commissioner Declares This Is Key To Present Construction Increase

Highway Commissioner John A. Keck believes the two-cent increase of the gasoline tax is the key to Kentucky's high standing among the states in road mileage and expenditures.

The U. S. Bureau of Public Roads recently noted that for the first seven months of 1949 Kentucky stood third in miles of roads under contract and fifth in money allocated.

Only Texas with 3,688 miles and Ohio with 2,305 miles exceeded Kentucky's 2,045 miles. In the dollar volume of contracts, Pennsylvania led the way with $69,238,000, followed by Texas with $60,751,000, Texas third with $57,405,000, California fourth with $38,136,000 and Kentucky fifth with $24,141,000.

Kentucky's rural road program accounts for $10,000,000 and 1,035 miles of the State's total road output during the seven months.

Formerly the legislature assigned $5,000,000 a year to rural highways. When that was exhausted the State went into the other road funds to get additional money for county and secondary roads.

But now rural highways have the regular $5,000,000 plus all the increased tax on gasoline. The remainder of the road money can be assigned to primary road improvement and construction and can be matched with Federal aid.

"Much of Kentucky's great advance in road building will be evident next year when motorists start using the roads we are building today. The wisdom of the legislature of 1948 in providing additional revenue from the gasoline tax is clearly set forth in the report of the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads," Keck said.

"Kentucky's success this year in matching Federal funds has been largely due to relieving our budget from expenditures for rural secondary development, which is now provided by the gasoline tax increase," he said.

Arizona Girl Is Crowned "Miss America"

"Miss Arizona"—dark-haired Jacqueline Mercer of Litchfield, Arizona—became Miss America Saturday night.

Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll of New Jersey placed a jeweled crown on the head of the 18-year-old ranch girl to the cheers of 22,000 spectators.

Miss Mercer won a $5,000 scholarship, a $3,000 automobile and numerous contracts for personal appearances.

Farm Magazine To Support Amendment

The Kentucky Farmer, a monthly agricultural magazine, announced this week it favors the proposed constitutional amendment to lift the $5,000-a-year salary limit of State officials. The magazine also published a resolution passed by the Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation favoring the proposal.

Eagles, Cardinals To Renew Rivalry

Time heals everything—even the breach in sports between Morehead and the University of Louisville.

No games have been scheduled between the two clubs for four years. In 1945 Coach Peck Hickman was incensed at the term "unsportsmanlike conduct" from Morehead fans as his favored Cardinals were defeated by Eagles. Morehead Coach Ellis Johnson said that Eagle rooters could be called anything but unsportsmanlike and the fans only did some good-natured cat-calling that could be expected at any game.

But, later, Hickman and Johnson didn't see eye-to-eye over the drawings in the KAC tournament and all the other coaches with Johnson agreed that Louisville was being unfair in wanting a longer rest period between the semifinal and final game.

Hickman was out-voted and his team did reach the finals with Eastern as the opponent. At game time the Maroons were ready but Louisville didn't show so the Richmond club walked off the floor. It took Eastern's president to get them back and the Louisville Army but the game finally got underway more than an hour late. Eastern won. The University of Louisville basketball schedule released this week shows that Morehead will play the Cardinals at Louisville on December 10 and at Morehead on January 23.

The blast, which sent up a tower of sand and smoke on the sandy beach outside the fort, were billed as "the last shots of the Civil War." The photograph was taken from atop one of the parapets of the old fort. The members of the detouring crew and the spectators are in the foreground.

White, Green Combination On '50 Plates

Passenger Car Tags To Be Aluminum, Trucks Of Steel

Kentucky's 1950 automobile license plates will have white numerals on a green background, it was announced today by C. W. Williams, superintendent of Motor Vehicle Registration in the Department of Revenue.

Passenger car plates will be of aluminum and truck plates of steel. Aluminum is being used for part of the plates because at the time the metal was bought steel was not obtainable. The 1950 plates will require 100,129 pounds of aluminum, 60,000 pounds of steel, 1,500 gallons of green enamel and 25 gallons of white mineral enamel. They will be manufactured in the metal stamping plant of the State Reformatory at La Grange. They will cost about nine cents per plate.

The order for 1950 plates is for 655,330 broken down into seven classifications: passenger cars 492,550; farm trucks 52,280; commercial trucks 97,975; motorcycles 7,626; dealer 2,401; transient 3,500 and 9,000 gross weight plates.

Williams reported that as of June 30, 1949, approximately 466,000 passenger plates for 1949 had been issued and based on the present rate will be issued this year.

The 1949 records show Jefferson County leading with 90,297 navigator cars registered, with Fayette next with 19,528 and Kenton next with 19,141. Elliott County was lowest with only 327 passenger cars listed in the county. Jefferson also led with 13,850 commercial trucks, 2,100 farm trucks, 1,772 motorcycles and 465 weight tags issued.

Kentucky's 1950 plates will go on sale in December.

Kentucky Boy Says He Shot His Mother

A 14-year-old Kentucky schoolboy told West Virginia State Police he had not and a kill of his mother with a shotgun early Monday, after being at Sharondale, Ky.

State Police Sgt. Beryl Langford identified the Pike County boy as James Pearlie Edmonson. Langford quoted the boy as saying his mother had beaten him with a poker "a time or two" in the past.

Sgt. Langford said the sixth grade pupil signed a statement concerning the slaying and refused to waive extradition. He was placed in the Cabell County jail at Huntington pending the arrival of Pike County officers with extradition papers.

According to Langford, the boy drove through Huntington in his family's car and ran out of gasoline about two miles from that city.

He asked a filling station attendant to call the West Virginia police, saying he wanted to surrender. He was taken into custody a few minutes later.

This is the story Sgt. Langford said the boy told him: He awakened Monday morning after his father, Pearlie Edmonson,

He fired one shot at her, took her purse, containing $12 and left in the family's automobile.

Magistrate Alex Blackburn of Belfroy, Ky., near Sharondale, said the body was found about 3 p. m. Monday by the boy's father.

West Virginia police said the shotgun and several shells were in the car.

Kentucky Gets Federal Funds for Road Improvement

Allotments to the states from the $450,000,000 authorized for the year ending June 30, 1951 for improvements to primary, secondary and urban roads was announced this week by Secretary of Commerce Sawyer.

Congress last year authorized an appropriation of $450,000,000 for each of the 1950 and 1951 fiscal years. Allotments to the states of the federal funds for the year ending June 30, 1950 were announced late last year.

Under the 1948 act, 45 per cent of the total authorization must be spent on projects on primary roads in the federal aid system, 30 per cent for the improvements of routes in the federal aid secondary system and 25 per cent for work on federal aid highways in urban areas having a population of 5,000 or more.

The funds are to be administered by the Bureau of Public Roads of the Commerce Department in cooperation with the state highway departments. All projects are initiated by state highway departments which also prepare plans, let contracts and supervise construction—all subject to federal approval.

The sums apportioned to the states for the year ending June 30, 1951 (first figure for the primary system; second for secondary or feeder roads, third for urban highways and fourth the total) include: Kentucky—$3,172,305; $2,050,595; $1,154,381, and $7,977,481.

Coroner's Jury Says McIlvain Took Own Life

A coroner's jury impaneled Friday at Ashland ruled that Harold W. McIlvain, 44, Cynthia, had taken his own life with an overdose of strychnine powder the night of August 30.

McIlvain, district supervisor of the Department of Commerce of the Eighth Congressional District, was found on August 30 in his room at the Miller Hotel, in Ashland. Death at first was attributed to a heart attack, but later on the day that the body was found a maid at the hotel discovered a bottle of strychnine powder hidden under the mattress in his bed.

The discovery of the strychnine led to the examination of the contents of the man's stomach. Dr. John Wilson, director of the Boyd County Health Department, testified at the inquest that an analysis of the stomach contents disclosed presence of strychnine.

The testimonies of two other witnesses were heard. Leonard Chatten testified that McIlvain had come to his apartment at about 9:30 p. m. on August 30, and they had gone later to McIlvain's room at the hotel. He said McIlvain had seemed to be in good spirits and talked of various things, including the condition of McIlvain's son who had been ill.

Urge Employers To Hire Physically Handicapped

Cooperation of all Kentucky employers in a practical observance of National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week from October 2 to 8 has been urged by the Board of Directors of the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce.

Emphasizing that "the free American competitive opportunity should, at its name implies, provide opportunity for all persons desiring to work," the Board's statement pointed out that too many employers throughout the state and nation are giving increased recognition to the competence of physically impaired workers when properly selected and placed on suitable jobs.

Original WAC Served In Army 200 Years Ago

America's original WAC joined the Army at Worcester, Mass., nearly 200 years ago.

Disguised as a man, Deborah Sampson enlisted in the Continental Army under the name of Robert Suttileff and evaded detection long enough to be wounded twice in battles against the British.

Deborah was born on a farm in 1760. Too adventurous to enjoy the drudgery-filled life of Colonial woman, she became a wanderer in man's garb.

She swapped her homespun suit for a uniform when she ran out of money. Her sex remained a secret, since the Continental Army required no physical examinations of recruits.

Even her two wounds did not force her to reveal her identity. The first was only a minor saber slash. The second—more embarrassing—was gunshot wound in the thigh. Deborah crawled into the woods, where she hid until the wound healed by itself.

Deborah was handsome in her uniform, and girls often flirted with her. Such attempts at romance amused her, as did her ability to join her fellow soldiers in games and ale-quaffing without baring her secret.

After 18 months in the Army, the secret finally was disclosed when Deborah became ill with a fever and was hospitalized. She was given an honorable discharge and settled in Stroughton, Mass. Soon she changed her trousers for a trousseau and married a young farmer.

As Mrs. Benjamin Gannet and the mother of three children, only two things marked Deborah as different from other Colonial housewives. She donned her uniform for the Independence Day parade each year, and until her death in 1827 she received an $8-a-month pension as a disabled war veteran.

Underwood Leaves For Congressional Tour Of Europe

Congressman Tom R. Underwood left Lexington Saturday to take part in a 19-day tour of Europe by members of the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce of the House of Representatives.

The committee, of which the Sixth District Congressman is a member, will visit London, Geneva, Stockholm, Frankfurt, Paris and Rome.

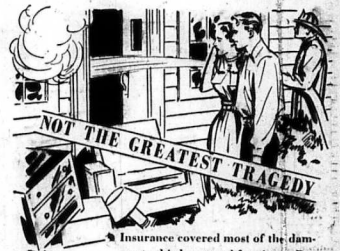

The committee will stay in London until September 16 to conduct studies of subjects upon which legislation now is pending. On completion of the London studies, other European cities will be visited. They plan to leave Paris September 23 for Washington.

Investigated Slaying At Prestonsburg

No Indictment Has Been Returned Against
William Gamble, 26

A Floyd County grand jury Friday continued its investigation into the Muriel Baldrige case, but there was no indication when the indictment might be returned against 26-year old William Gamble.

Gamble, a former carnival worker, is charged with wilful murder in the death of pretty 17-year old Prestonsburg cheerleader. She was slain by blows on the head the night of June 27.

Circuit Clerk W. W. Cooley said that another witness was questioned Friday in the case against Gamble, but he said he did not know when final grand jury action could be expected.

The jurors recessed Saturday until the latter part of the month when they will reconvene for three days. Observers at Prestonsburg thought it probable that conclusive action in the case would not be taken before the jury reconvenes.

Sheriff Troy B. Sturgill announced earlier that an indictment would be returned against Gamble by the present grand jury. He also said the jury will be asked to indict 15-year old Glen Collins, also held on a murder charge in the case.

Crowe Issues Warning On Cashing Checks

"Don't cash checks for strangers!"

That was a warning voiced to Kentucky merchants today by Commissioner of State Police Guthrie F. Crowe. Cloning as a warning to merchants who have suffered loss by cashing forged or fraudulent checks. Crowe outlines rules that should be followed in cashing checks.

"Ask a person to write his name on a piece of paper, have him show you credentials bearing his signature, then compare the two signatures. If the signatures do not compare, don't cash the check."

"It is much better to lose a sale than to lose your merchandise and your money. Some crooks are known to go from city to city buying merchandise and giving fraudulent checks for more than the amount of goods. They then sell the merchandise and the merchant loses two ways."

Crowe added:

"Millions of dollars are lost each year in the United States through the operations of cold check artists. Not all checks are genuine. Watch out for cold checks!" he warned.

German Women Lack Gadgets—Look Older

German housewives look 10 years older than American housewives because they have none of the labor-saving devices used in homes and kitchens here. So stated two German women school teachers studying American education at an institute in Brooklyn.

German women have no central heating plants, no refrigerators and no running water. They lug wood or coal up from the cellar and carry water from the pump. And German men don't get their hair cut. The result is early old age for many of them.

Advertise For 144 Miles Of Rural Roads

Emerson (Doc) Beauchamp, Rural Roads Commissioner, this week called for contractor bids on 144 miles of roads in 27 counties. The bidding will be opened at Frankfort Sept. 23.

The work will involve reconstructing and surfacing sections of roads in these counties: Allen, Bell, Bracken, Calloway, Edmonson, Estill, Floyd, Fulton, Franklin, Graves, Greenup, Harlan, Knott, Lawrence, Livingston, Marshall, Martin, Trimble and Union.

These projects will be financed by the two-cent increase of the gasoline tax.

You may live through 1949 if you continue to drive carefully and watch out for the other fellow.

Kentucky To Elect Two Senators In '50

But One Will Serve
Less Than Two Months,
Other For Full Term

Two elections will be held in November, 1950, for U. S. Senator in Kentucky, an assistant attorney-general has stated.

The matter was brought to the attention of Assistant Attorney-General W. Owen Keller after being raised in a talk at the Republican State Headquarters at Louisville.

Keller said in his opinion he is sure two elections will be held in November, 1950, one for the short-term Senator and one for the long-term Senator. The same situation prevailed in November, 1930, when Ben Williamson, Ashland and M. M. Logan, Bowling Green, respectively, were the short and long-term Democratic nominees.

The late Rep. John M. Robison of Harboursville, ran as the Republican nominee for both terms. The Democrats won with Williamson serving until March, 1951, when Logan took office.

The election in November, 1950, will be for short-term Senator and for a full six-year term. Senator Garrett Withers, Dixon Democrat was appointed by Gov. Earle C. Clements to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Senator Allen W. Barkley to become Vice-President.

The short-term Senator elected November, 1950 will serve until Jan. 1, 1951, when the long-term Senator will take office. One candidate, it was pointed out, may run for either or both the short-term and the long-term.

U. S. Senator Virgil Chapman, Republican, was elected in November, 1948 for a full six-year term.

The groups which sponsor the Fire Prevention Week say this is what to do about the danger: Don't smoke in bed; use in bars, and don't discard lighted matches. Get rid of accumulated rubbish. Keep matches away from small children. Store gasoline and kerosene away from main buildings. Cover flammable roof shingles or other fire-resistant roof. Don't use flammable cleaning fluids. Keep heating plants and chimneys clean. Repair the defective electrical appliances and replace frayed cords. Keep lamps and lanterns clean.
