265 ACRE FLEMING COUNTY FARM - IN 2 TRACTS - 265

Personal Property - Livestock and Tools

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 9

At 10 A. M. — Rain or Shine

12 Miles South of Flemingburg, Kentucky On Highway No. 11

As Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Goodpaster have decided to leave the farm due to Mr. Goodpaster's business connections elsewhere, they have authorized us, to sell at Absolute Auction this good Fleming County farm and entire herd of cows, farming implements and some household furnishings. This is a very productive farm as it has been used mostly as a stock farm. This farm is located about 12 miles south of Flemingburg on State Highway 11, close to good school and churches. We are selling this farm in 2 tracts with right reserved to group together. TOTAL SALE FOR 1950 WILL BE 26. ACRES.

TRACT NO. 1 — This is the home tract containing 116 acres with a nice pick frontage on highway. There is a nice home on this farm which has six big rooms, full front porch and a nice enclosed back porch and good cellar. This is a beautiful place to live in and is close to good school and churches. School bus runs in front of house. Has electricity, telephone and a good well at back door. The outbuildings are all in good repair. This is an extra good 6-to-8 foot combination stock and tobacco barn with electricity. This barn can be converted into a good dairy barn with very little expense. This would make an ideal dairy farm, with milk route running in front of barn. This farm is practically all in grass except the tobacco ground that was planted last year and about 20 acres some first-class oak and poplar trees. The farm is watered by good ponds that never go dry. There are about 20 acres of timothy and clover meadows on farms. We think this is a farm that will suit anybody looking for a nice home.

TRACT NO. 2 — This farm contains 119 acres and adjoins Tract No. 1. Has a 3-room tenant house, 3-bent tobacco barn, good well at house and a good pond and springs on farm. This farm has nice road frontage on Highway 11. With the exception of about 25 acres of timber, rest of this farm is in grass. About 25 acres of alfalfa and clover. This farm is about 12 miles south of Hillsboro, Ky., and close to good school and church and on school bus and milk route. You are surrounded by excellent neighbors. This will make someone a good home or investment. The timber on this farm, consisting of oak and poplar, is as good as you will find anywhere.

FREE CASH PRIZES GIVEN AWAY ALL DURING SALE — LUNCH WILL BE FREE SERVED BY THE LADIES OF THE GRANGE CITY CHURCH.

Four Marriage Licenses Issued In Rowan County
Marriage licenses issued by County Clerk Bernard Day: Frank W. Lewis, Carter County; and Giddie S. Hamilton of Smith, Rowan County. Rev. C. C. Perry of Morgan County and Virgie Ruth Stafford of Clearfield. Simon R. Gilliam, Morgan County and Nora Switzer Beasley, Morehead.

The Referee Admits He Erred But This Doesn't Help Morehead In OV Standing

(Louisville Courier-Journal)
Ellis Johnson, Morehead coach, thinks there should be a column added to the standing of teams in the Ohio Valley Conference in addition to W for won and L for lost. He is advocating an A (for apology). That's what the Eagles, several over Marshall last Tuesday night.

Referee Kenney Jordan of Cincinnati, a former player for St. Xavier High of Louisville, telephoned Ellis Thursday and said he was sorry for his confusion of a high school rule with a college rule in the Marshall-Morehead game. Marshall won the game 62-59 and the decision of Jordan and his shuffling co-workers, Carl Dunning, also of Cincinnati, probably cost Morehead the game.

They apologized for their mistake. Ellis said, "but a coach can't eat apologies and a team can't put an apology down in its record."

In college basketball, the "two-minute rule" goes into effect even if the ball is in play when the final two minutes of a game are reached. In high school, it doesn't become applicable until the first dead ball after three minutes remain.

Morehead, trailing Marshall by one point, 60-59 had possession of the ball, which was in play, when the clock slipped past the last two-minute mark. With 1:50 to go, a Morehead player was fouled. Morehead missed the free throw, but the officials refused to let Marshall have possession of the ball by taking it out of play. According to the "two-minute rule," the team fouled in the last two minutes is permitted to keep the ball whether it misses or makes the free throw.

Marshall got the ball and went down the floor to score for its final three-point game.

Ellis argued with the officials that they had made an incorrect ruling and probably had the high school rule in mind. He was chased off the floor.

"I guess I could protest the game, but we already have enough trouble in the conference," Ellis said. "I'll just let the game stand as an apology in my mind."

Then Ellis began talking about his game with Louisville at Mayville. Mayville is the home of Kenny Reeves, Louisville's star guard, and his team's odds were to honor him. The Rotary Club of Mayville is sponsoring the game.

Then Ellis went into ecstasies. His hysteria was caused by the mention of the name of Jack Baker.

"He's miraculous!" Ellis exclaimed. "He's 6-1, but he's really 6-11."

"Can he leap? I mean he can outjump 6-7 guys. He outjumped 10-11 guys and 12-13 guys. He's 6-1 but he can dunk the ball in the basket leap and...

Eight Establishments Sell Hunting, Fishing Licenses

Hunting and fishing licenses for 1950 have been placed on sale at eight places in Rowan County, according to Clerk Bernard Day.

These licenses may be purchased at the County Clerk's office or at any of these places: Western Kentucky State, Morehead; State Furniture Co., Jan's Sport Shop, Morehead; Hardware Co., Morehead; Supply Store, Morehead; and Ernest Bismarck Store of Huddman.

State-wide hunting licenses are $3; county hunting licenses $1. State-wide fishing licenses are $2 and county fishing licenses $1.

if it is down. He's just a freshman, but he's the greatest prospect in our conference and one of the best in the country."

Baker's home is Hollingsburg, Ohio.

"If you don't come to get him," Ellis was asked. "That is what I want. I want to know," Ellis said. "He had better get here."

He moved into a regular spot in the last six games. He made 18 against Ohio, 30 against Tennessee Tech, 11 against Western and 11 against Eastern.

"He is one of three freshmen I have in my starting line-up," Ellis said. "I guess I'm the only coach in the conference depending on freshmen. In fact, seven of the 12 are freshmen. But we're pretty good."

Walton Meets Owingsville Five Friday Night

In what is probably this week's top game in high school circles, Walton Varsity's highly regarded Owingsville team met the Owingsville team Friday night.

Fresh from handling the mighty Hazard Bulldogs their initial loss in the season, Walton goes to Owingsville with an 11-2 record.

Jack Vest, Walton has one of the best defensive men in the State. Vest is not only tops defensively, but also a 15 point per game average.

Walton's Owingsville's Don Swartz and Elwood Maye hitting the nets for a terrific percentage for the last ten games it should develop into a bitterly contested battle.

In a preliminary game the Owingsville Independents will meet the Carlisle VFW.

Huge Program Of Expansion Planned By KU

Three Point Program
B. Outhill By President, Watt

A three-point Kentucky University program now being developed is a large five-year construction program and a new scale schedule for KU-served rural electric cooperatives.

The program was designed to meet the anticipated power needs of KU customers and to ease the company's new series of schedule.

The program includes: (1) Best generating and transmission facilities to be constructed at a cost of $27 million.

(2) An interconnection with the Ohio Power Company through a transmission line that will add 20,000 kilowatts of capacity to the KU system.

(3) A new five-year rate schedule for the KU-served rural electric cooperatives.

The decision to enter a new five-year rate schedule was based on studies that have been going on since last May. Under the new rate schedule, cooperatives will pay an average cost per kilowatt hour of 10 per cent less than the national average charged by other power companies in the country.

The $27,000,000 construction program filed today and originally submitted informally to FSC Chairman Robert M. Coleman last November 17, was announced. The system changes are the result of several years of study by KU engineers.

In perfecting the plan, Watt's company had made use of an "electric line" at Purdue University. The answers set up by the Purdue calculator have been incorporated into today's filing.

The overall plan was established according to Watt, "to meet the growing needs and demands of our present and prospective customers throughout the State."

"We believe," he asserted, "that it is the best possible plan we can find for assuring adequate electric service to every customer in the 97 county area KU serves."

Judge More Nervous Than Bride, Groom

Under Kentucky law the County Judge is eligible to perform marriages and Rowan County's new judge, Sam Green, was called upon for his first ceremony this week.

Green halted and stammered but the couple wanted to be joined by "His Honor," so Judge Green finally agreed to officiate. In an almost inaudible voice he read the ritual and then blurted out: "Do you take this woman to be your lawful wedded wife?"

"And, how about you?" he asked the bride. "When I'm glad that's over," Green confided after the happy couple departed. "I was more nervous than either the bride or groom although he had received some instructions from former Magistrate Elijah Amburgey who has joined hundreds of couples in lawful wedlock without missing a word or blinking an eye."

Kentucky Farm Market Report

PMA Committees Now Taking Applications For New Burley Allotments; Feb. 1 Deadline

County production and marketing administration committees are now taking applications for new farm tobacco allotments for 1950 from farmers eligible to share in the small acreage available for these allotments. Applicants for these allotments are required to file applications with county PMA committees prior to February 1, except applicants who have been discharged from the Armed Services since Dec. 31, 1948. The latter may file within a "reasonable time" prior to planting of tobacco.

15 Per Cent Less Winter Wheat Seed, BAE

Wheat Seed, BAE report: The amount of winter wheat seed for all purposes in the fall of 1949 (for the 1950 crop) is estimated at $3,023,000, a reduction of 15 per cent from the 62,372,000 acres seeded in the fall of 1948, but 11 per cent more than the average of 47,713,000 acres seeded for the crops of 1938-47. Based on December 1 conditions the 1950 winter wheat crop is forecast at 895 million bushels, compared with 902 million bushels in 1949 and the average of 727 million bushels. The wheat acreage allotment program was the main factor in the reduction of acreage seeded this fall, compared with a year ago. Kentucky farmers seeded 378,000 acres for the 1950 crop as compared with 420,000 acres for the 1949 crop.

Price Support For Wheat

The USDA has called attention to the fact that CCC loans and purchase agreements will be available on 1949-crop wheat through January 31. On the 1948 crop, the loans and purchase agreements were available only through December 31, 1948. The price support period for wheat was extended through January this year to give farmers greater price protection and market stability. Price support for 1949 crops oats, rye, barley, grain sorghum, rice, soybeans, flaxseed (in all states except Arizona, Calif., and designated Texas counties), dry edible beans and dry edible smooth peas is available through January 31.

Loans on 1949-crop wheat, oats, rye, barley, rice, flaxseed (where support is available through January), dry beans and dry peas mature April 30, or earlier on demand. Loans on soybeans mature May 25 and loans on 1949-crop grain sorghum-mature May 15.

Number of Sheep and Lambs

The number of sheep and lambs on feed for market in the US on January 1 this year was 7 per cent less than last year, BAE report. The number is estimated to be 3,733,000 head or 270,000 head less than last year and the smallest number on feed since 1922. A few state sheep numbers show a slight increase over last year, but most states are down with substantial reduction noted in some states, particularly in the West.

Feedstuffs Weaker

Feedstuff markets turned downward during the week ending Jan. 17. Feedstuff prices during the first half of January averaged about 10 per cent below the same period a year ago, while feed grain prices are 10 per cent under last year and 55 per cent below January 1948, when both feed grains and feedstuffs prices were at a record high level. Bran, off $1.15 per ton, St. Louis, $41.75; standard middlings off $1. Minneapolis, $48.50; gray shorts, $48. St. Louis. Oiled meal weaker; soybean meal off $2; bulk meal $55.00. Decatur, bagged meal Chicago, $63.80. Distiller's dried grains, Cincinnati $67.00, off $3; brewers dried grains $58.00, off $1, Chicago.

Grain Prices Dips

The outstanding feature in the grain market during the week ending Jan. 19 was the announcement by the CCC that 100 million bushels of corn, 13 million bushels of oats and 30 million bushels of barley would be disposed of to private exporters at market prices day of sale reports the USDA. Improvement in the wheat and flour export business and a more active domestic inquiry were strengthening influences in the wheat market, and prices advanced from 1 to 2 cents per bushel. Corn prices dropped 1 to 3 cents. Oats and barley weakened with corn and were down 2 to 3 cents per bushel, compared with a week ago. Flaxseed and soybeans were fairly steady, with little change in the prices.

Sharkey Adopts

A New Look

Anyone going through Sharkey could not miss the sight of the white stenciled mail boxes. In a visit to the community last week the Home Agent noticed that all the mail boxes on the road from town where the Sharkey road starts at Route 32 passed the post office out to the Clayton Curtis farm. All these boxes were painted and stenciled, except four and I am sure these people will soon get busy and do theirs.

With the black top road just recently completed through the community, this certainly adds to the attractiveness of the farm home. These boxes have been renovated by the Homemakers and 4-H members.

Where You Save on Every Purchase

THE POWER YOU NEED IS HERE

LET'S SUPPOSE. Let's suppose you're a housewife with a new toaster or a new electric range. Would it occur to you to call your electric company to ask if they had enough electricity to operate your new appliance? Of course not. You know the power you need is yours to command... BEFORE YOU NEED IT.

Or suppose you're a farmer with a new milking machine, or a new water pump. You know you can connect either — or both — to a KU line without worrying whether the kilowatts are available.

You know, whether you're served by KU directly, or indirectly through an RECC which KU serves at wholesale, that the power you need is here.

That's because KU, for 38 years, has been building ahead. New plants, new power lines, new substations... all are here when Kentucky needs them.

A wise, sound plan of expansion has kept KU's electric supply ahead of demand for 38 years. It certainly won't be abandoned now. Today... tomorrow... or in 1960... the power you need is HERE!

Breck Easily Upsets Clark County 49-34

By Francis E. Apel

Tuesday night Bobby Laughlin's Eagles plastered Letcher Norton's Clark County Cardinals 49-34, to get back into the win column after losing to Mayville and Male. Tommy Holbrook panned the Eagles with 15 points marked down beside his name in the score book.

The game was one of the easiest victories that Breck has had this season even though James Ellington, one of the Eagles' regular guards was unable to play because of a bad injury suffered during a recent practice session.

The Blue and Gold held the lead throughout the entire contest leading by as much as 17 points and never less than five.

During the first quarter the Eagles racked up 14 points to pace the Cardinals 14 to 0. The second period saw Breck make 12 more to make the half time score, 26-14. In the third period the Cardinals managed to hold the Blue and Gold down to 11 points out in the fourth period the Eagles went on another scoring spree and chalked up 14 more while holding the Cardinals down to six points.

Breck will not see any more action until February 3 when they meet Dayton High in the college gym. The Eagles have not lost a home game since last spring. Their season's record stands at 12 wins and five losses.

News Republishes Letter From Omaha Newspaper In Which Engineer Says "Please Don't Try It Again"

The following letter is republished from the Omaha World-Herald to remind as many drivers as possible of their responsibility to drive carefully. Your very life and the lives of fellow human beings may depend on it.

A railroad engineer whose train nearly crashed into a car at Fremont last Sunday, Tuesday addressed an open letter to "the youth and his girl" in the car.

His letter, sent to the The World-Herald, says:

"I don't know who you are, but I do know you were scared to death Sunday evening near 9 o'clock when you drove your car across directly in front of a speeding passenger train. It was so close, that I, in the cab, could see the young girl, your sweetheart, I presume, throw her hands up in the air and cringe up against you in stark horror.

"If I knew that girl, I'd fall away from you, fast. You don't have good sense, son. You probably say you love her. I wonder. Those we love we try to protect. But not you."

"Wouldn't it be a nice Christmas present to hand your girl a broken and battered body? And how do you think we in the cab of that engine would care to see human beings, too. We have young ones waiting at home for us to return. We, too, could have been killed."

"You and your girl were one second from eternity, son. I hope you read this and know it means you, and that your girl will, too. You time you go driving, stop and look. We are helpless as we can sever a wire from our given rail."

"If I were you, son, and you, too, I would thank God for that split second He granted you Sunday evening. I said a prayer for all when I realized you were going across. Perhaps that is what saved us."

"Now think it over, both of you. And I'll bet you are both still shivering in your seats."

"And, please, for God's sake, don't try it again!"

Here is the story behind the letter. The writer of this moving plea for safety did not sign his name, originally published in the World-Herald.

It wasn't until weeks later that his identity became known. A neighbor learned that he was the author who wrote the paper for the railroad's executives.

As she said, "It was too good a story to hold on to."

Next day the Union Pacific engineer took the day off. He donned a white shirt and went to work on the maintenance of the railroad's safety engineer. It was a good music, for the railroad's executives had been searching frantically for the name of the author of such an eloquent plea for safety.

They learned that his name was Chester E. Bell of Council Bluffs, Iowa, 38-year old father of a son and daughter. After being "discovered," and receiving his company's praise, Bell stated simply "I'll let it (the letter) save one life. I'm glad."

KENTUCKY ON THE MARCH

Kentucky Committee Creates Interest In A Better Kentucky

As I may have hinted before, the winding up of the Committee for Kentucky's wonderful job does not mean the end of my self-created stint. Thousands of people and more than 100 newspapers in the 120 counties have been aroused by the work of the Committee and will go right on working for better communities, for a better State, and I hope to string along with them as long as the newspapers print my stuff.

The announcement early in 1929 that around March 1st started writing the column I started for the Committee for Kentucky's wonderful job would call it a job well done was a shock to me.

I thought I should have been a man and a secretary employed indefinitely, but President Harry W. Schacter and the directors thought otherwise. I bowed to their judgment, with some reluctance, and then hatched a plan for carrying on with this newspaper column.

In the three years I have been writing about 100 community projects that have been finished and many others definitely planned. I believe that civic progress will be made in the next three years since I started writing the column Jan. 1, 1927. And I am sure that by doing my job will be worth continuing indefinitely, provided the newspapers that carry my stuff as coming from the Committee for Kentucky are willing to let it as coming from an individual writing exactly what he pleases—one report of the truth as it is and with nothing to gain but the satisfaction of seeing Kentucky

Congressman Bates is Key Figure In Operation Of The Nation's Capital

Praised For Work In Making Washington's Finances Deficit Free

By Harry Snyder—Associated Press Writer

A man from a small Ohio River town in Kentucky holds a key spot in the running of the nation's capital—a city of more than 1,000,000.

Representative Joe Bates of Greenup, a town of 1,200, is a member of the House Appropriations Committee, which handles the budget for the District of Columbia.

He heads a subcommittee that is digging into a detailed, itemized request for $119,000,000 to operate the District in the year beginning July 1.

This amount is almost twice as much as the budget for the State of Kentucky.

The job requires an examination of several hundred witnesses from the District's various departments, bureaus and agencies.

Bates fell heir to this job—of the apocryphal assignments of the powerful Appropriations Committee—when the Democrats regained a majority at the seating of the 81st Congress.

During the Republican-dominated 80th Congress he had a back seat on the committee.

As a rule the people back home don't care a whoop for their representative's service on a committee dealing with the administration of the capital city. At best, it is a thankless job.

But Bates says he finds the task interesting and something of a challenge.

"For example," he told a reporter, "I've been pleased by having had a hand in seeing to it that the District's finances are deficit free."

Two years ago the District was $2,000,000 in the red. And now it has a surplus of about that much.

A 2 per cent sales tax, imposed last year, mainly is responsible for the change for the better.

One of the biggest items in the budget is for schools. In the last fiscal year $14,800,000 was spent on schools. This year the item will reach $15,400,000 and the request for next year is $16,000,000.

The way we've handled the

Easier To Get Them To Count

Baton's rollers have a job on their hands if and when they get time out to count their $1,000,000 cash haul.

Experts at the Chase National Bank, N. Y., with an easy familiarity around a million bucks, figure it takes one man an hour to count 3,000 pieces of currency.

On that basis it will take the nine handits 37 hours if they each count their share of the loot in $1 bills.

But, if the money is in $20 bills, one man can do it in about 16 and one-half hours.

Or they all can chip in and get it over in less than two hours. Or just skip it altogether.

school problem here is most gratifying to me," he said, "I can't underestimate the importance of that phase of our job."

Bates says he expects the committee to cut the District's budget to about $116,000,000 or thereabouts.

Fire Loss Decreases In Forest Area

Fewer acres were burned in the Cumberland National Forest in 1949 than in any year since fire protection was begun in 1934, in spite of several incendiary outbreaks.

Supervisor H. L. Borden revealed today, 478 acres were burned, of which 168 were Government land and 312 were private.

The Forest Service protects 590,000 acres of private land to give adequate protection to 455,000 acres of adjoining Federal lands.

Seventy-two fires occurred which cost the taxpayers $3,000 to extinguish. The fire record is significant because 1949 is drier than any year since 1946.

Borden said the lower fire loss could be traced to a greater appreciation by local residents of the tremendous damage done by fires to timber, young seedlings, wildlife and watershed values.

Wage-Hour Law Goes Into Effect

75 Cent Minimum Applicable To Many Establishments

Wage-Hour Law changes which went into effect yesterday will exempt a number of retail and service firms previously covered by the law.

The principal change of the new law is to boost the 40-cent minimum wage for workers of enterprises to 75 cents an hour.

The law still will require payment of time-and-a-half rates for hours worked beyond 40 a week to workers covered by the law.

Under the changes, retail or service establishments generally will be exempt from the Wage-Hour Law if:

1. Over 50 per cent of the annual dollar volume of sales is made within the state in which the establishment is located, and

2. Not more than 25 per cent of the annual dollar volume of sales are transactions for resale, and

3. At least 75 per cent of an establishment's annual dollar volume of goods and services are recognized as retail within the particular industry.

Retail establishments making their own goods also are exempt if 65 per cent of the goods they make or process are sold within the state where the establishment is located.

Under the old law, a retail or service establishment was exempt if the greater part of the selling or servicing was in "intrastate commerce."

Kiwanis To Have 5-Point Objective

President Ryle Reads Message From Head Of Civic Organization

J. Hugh Jackson, prominent California educator and president of the Kiwanis Club of Los Angeles, submitted a significant five-point community program to the Kiwanis Club of Morehead for its guidance in the year ahead.

In a message that was read by Clarence Ryle, president of the club, Jackson appealed to Kiwanis to "demand less inefficiency and economy in the conduct of our government, whether at the national, state or local level."

Jackson, who is the dean of the Graduate school of business at Stanford University, said that leaders in large cities and small towns must constantly devote their personal services to the strengthening of human and spiritual values.

His message was read in connection with the Morehead club's observance of the 35th anniversary of Kiwanis International.

Jackson's five-point program:

1. We must continue to serve our youth, the future citizens of our land.

2. We must work to strengthen and make more efficient the church, the home and school.

3. We must emphasize to our peoples throughout the world their rights and responsibilities as citizens of the United States and Canada.

4. We must work for understanding and greater cooperation between management and labor, so that our enterprise system may be strengthened.

5. We must, as good citizens, demand efficiency and economy in the conduct of our government, whether at the national, state, or local level.

Before Dean Jackson's message was read, Major Roger Jones, of Jackson, briefly traced the history of Kiwanis International since its founding 35 years ago at Detroit. He described a number of its accomplishments and said the organization now embraces more than 3,000 clubs and 200,000 members throughout the U. S., Canada, Alaska, Hawaii and the Yukon Territory.

The meeting was under the direction of the club's executive committee, which is headed by David Sager.

Says Conservation Should Be Used More This Year

Kentucky farmers have been told they can make better use of the conservation program this year by use of reduced acreage allotments for major farm crops.

The state committee of the Production and Marketing Administration said yesterday the voluntary program is under way in all 120 counties and that all farmers are eligible to receive assistance.

Average allotments have been trimmed for barley and tobacco produced in Kentucky,

Nothing this, the committee stated that "average retired from production of these crops can be utilized by seeding it to legumes and grasses for pastures, hay and seed production." Twenty-five years ago the issues were (1) economy in Government, (2) the power of labor and (3) look out for the holidays.

Irrigation Can Be Used Here With Paying Results Thinks Ralph Kenny, Agriculture Head

By Adrian M. Razer, Rowan County Agent

Irrigation, now used by truck gardeners and a few tobacco growers, could be used with profit by many farmers, thinks Ralph Kenny of the College of Agriculture, University of Kentucky. Water could be supplied artificially not only to improve but also to stimulate yields of grains and hays and even grass, he declared.

Dry weather in mid-summer often makes necessary the sale of cattle before they are ready for market, Kenny pointed out, and checks the growth of corn and other grains, legumes and grass. If land could be irrigated at such times, sale of unfinished stock could be avoided. Beef cattle could be kept gaining and production of milk could be kept up. Also, injury to tobacco and grain crops could be prevented.

Kenny told of experiments which showed a profit of $32 an acre of grass a year, above expenses of putting on water.

In only one year in the past 25 years has rainfall in Central Kentucky been sufficient at all times of the season, according to Kenny.

Cover Crops Make Rowan County Greener

In talking with a farmer a couple of weeks ago, he made a remark to the Agent that Rowan County was greener this year than any year since he can remember. I think farmers who have been over the county in the past few months will verify the fact that farmers in the county as a whole are doing a reasonably good job in sowing cover crops on cultivated land and in improving their pastures.

We still have a lot more to do along this line but at least we can see the improvement in being made.

By using cover crops and having good pastures, farmers in the county are saving thousands of dollars worth of nitrogen nutrient which would otherwise be leached away, not to speak of the soil that is prevented from washing away. It is hard to place a value on soil lost. Since they tell us that it takes a hundred years to replace the natural soil, it is for our own good and the good of the future generation that we do everything in our power to hold our soil and keep it in a high state of fertility. Anyone who has been born in the Licking Fork country recently, cannot help but notice the appearance of the cover crops in that section. Practically all of the corn and tobacco land in that section have wheat, rye, vetch, or mixtures of these on them.

Progressive Paragon Farmer Renounces Old Pastures

Gillard Law, who lives in the Paragon section was telling me the other day that year before last he spouted off a 10 acre field that had not been plowed in 50 years. He then seeded his field to fescue in March and in August he turned eight head of cattle on the field, taking them off the field in December. He said that grazing did not hurt his stand of fescue. He fertilized at the rate of 600 pounds of phosphate to the acre.

Kentucky gained national recognition in the field of medicine when a most modern psychiatric hospital department was opened last July in a new building at the University of Louisville. The new department is headed by the Medical Director of the Clinic and other staff psychiatrists are to be named.

The staff of this new hospital department is composed of highly trained professional specialists in psychiatric work. The medical Association, New York

Columbia University Teachers College Division of Nursing Education uses the Norton Clinic as an affiliated unit for advanced education in the psychiatric nursing field.

The psychiatric floors of the new Norton Clinic wing are planned, furnished and decorated to make patients and visitors alike say, "This is a beautiful place to live."

Dining rooms and living rooms open directly onto broad halls covered with soft carpets. Impassive color schemes are used throughout. Lounge rooms for reading, radio, television, games and warm fireplaces are always open and inviting. A gymnasium, recreation rooms, and a broad log-floor sun deck are equipped for active play and entertainment. A handcraft workshop offers all sorts of attractions for patients to express themselves.

With the new Norton Clinic, Kentucky has a private general hospital that offers complete psychiatric care and treatment for its patients. The management points out that the services of the Norton Psychiatric Clinic are not limited to Kentucky, but are available to anyone whose mental and emotional illness is considered treatable.

NEW BABY

"YES SIR, here's my new baby, and quite a gal she is, too. She weighed in at 45,000-horsepower when she was born, and in a couple-of-months she'll double in size. By March she'll be up to 90,000 horsepower, delivering half a billion kilowatt hours every year—three times the number of kilowatt hours used last year by ALL of the electrified farms in the 73 county area KU serves.

"You think kids are expensive these days! Brother, you don't know the half of it. This one cost $10,000,000. But she's worth every penny of it.

"EAT! and DRINK! Wow! Two hundred seventy thousand tons of Kentucky coal every year, and 86,000,000 gallons of water every day. That's enough coal to keep 216 Kentucky miners working the year 'round, and it's enough water to meet the needs of a city about the size of Lexington.

"Green River is part of what we call our 'plentiful power' plan. Her brother Tyrone was born in 1948, and she's a mite bigger than he is. He weighed in with 80,000 horsepower.

"This isn't our last one, either. So long as Kentucky's power needs grow, we'll keep on building new plants or adding new generators or other power sources to the ones we have."

4-Year-Old Boy Reminds Mother About Hadacol

Leslie S. Ladd, Jr., is only four years old but he knows his B vitamins and minerals and knows that he, his mother and his grandfather get these valuable dietary supplements through HADACOL.

Mamma, we haven't taken our HADACOL, says Leslie when his mother has forgotten. Mrs. Ladd, who lives at 34 Cleveland Avenue, Nashville, Tenn., explained that her folk will always be a HADACOL family, not only because of little Leslie's reminders, but because of the wonders that HADACOL has done in relieving her of gastric disturbances; creating an appetite and bringing back color to little Leslie's pale cheeks and in helping her father overcome the rheumatic pains of neuritic disturbances.

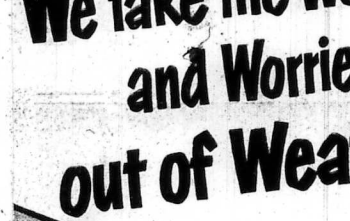

Your food will not agree with you. . . You will have an upset stomach. . . You will suffer from heartburn, gas pains, and your food will sour on your stomach, and you will not be able to eat the things you like for fear of being in misery afterwards. Many people also suffer from constipation. And while these symptoms may be the results of other causes, they are surely and certainly the symptoms and signs of the lack of the B Vitamins and minerals which HADACOL contains. And if you suffer from such a disorder, there is no known cure except the administration of the Vitamins and the Minerals which your system lacks.

HADACOL contains not only one, but 5 of the B Vitamins HADACOL contains not only one, but 4 of the necessary Minerals. It comes to you in liquid form, easily assimilated in the blood stream so that it can go to work right away.

It is easy to understand, therefore, why countless thousands have already been benefited by this amazing tonic, HADACOL. So, it matters not where you live, . . . it matters not where you live, . . . or if you have tried all the medicines under the sun, give this wonderful preparation a trial. Don't be boring! Don't continue to lead a miserable life. Many persons who have suffered and waited for 10 to 20 years or even longer, are able now to live happy, comfortable lives again because HADACOL supplied the Vitamins and Minerals which their systems needed. Be fair to yourself. Give HADACOL a trial. Demand the genuine HADACOL. Accept no substitutes.

"I have taken 10 bottles of HADACOL," said Mrs. Ladd. "I have been run down since my oldest son was born 14 years ago. I have had very little appetite and had weak spells every morning. I would almost faint, and, thanks to HADACOL, they are gone and I stay hungry all the time."

"My four year old son had little appetite and his cheeks were pale. He now takes HADACOL, and when I forget it, he says, 'Mamma, we haven't taken our HADACOL.' His cheeks are rosy and he has a wonderful appetite. I also had headaches and gastro disturbances. They are now gone. My father now takes HADACOL for rheumatic pains of neuritis. He is much better now."

There are countless thousands of HADACOL families in the country where all or most of the members of the family take HADACOL, to get well and then more HADACOL to help stay well.

The folks in the Ladd family were suffering from a deficiency of the B Vitamins and certain minerals, which HADACOL contains. A lack of only a small amount of the B Vitamins and certain minerals will cause digestive disturbances. . . Your food will not agree with you. . . You will have an upset stomach. . . Don Carter Wins Essay Contest

Don Carter, of Morehead, a student in Morehead High School, was adjudged county winner in the annual Soil Conservation Essay Contest sponsored by The Courier-Journal, The Louisville Times and radio station, WHAS. Don will be awarded a $25 Savings Bond for his best essay in the county.

The topic for the essay was, "How Farmers in My District Can Further Soil Conservation Through Pasture Improvement." According to an old proverb, "An Ounce of Prevention is Worth a Pound of Cure." This is very much so concerning pastures. If we prevent our pastures from being overgrown by weeds and bushes, losing their nutritive value and deteriorating in general, we employ the "ounce of prevention." However, if we use the "pound of cure," and do not follow good pasture improvement practices, it takes more time, labor and expense to bring them back up to their former yield.

Pasture, like any other crop, requires good management for best results. Well managed pastures provide feed that is much more nutritious than that provided by poorer pastures. Pasture can be obtained with less effort on the farmer's part than corn or silage. To get the best use of farm manure, crop residues, limestone, phosphate and other fertilizers requires good soil and pasture management. Good management should include growing grasses and legumes for permanent and supplementary pastures.

Seventy essays were written in the contest in the county. The three winners were all members of Morehead High School and all three are members of the local Future Farmers of America Chapter under the direction of Carl Sinclair, vocational agriculture teacher. Judges of the contest were the local Soil Conservation Service employees and H. C. Hagan, professor of agriculture at Morehead College.

The first and second place essays have been submitted to The Courier-Journal, The Louisville Times and radio station WHAS for competition in the State contest.

The following is the essay written by Don Carter:

"How Farmers in My District Can Further Soil Conservation Through Pasture Improvement."

Some of the best pasture grasses and legumes should be sown in a mixture. Kentucky 31 Perennial Ryegrass gives best results for pasture and soil conservation if sown with a legume such as ladino clover.

The water supply of pasture is a very important factor to consider. Without water a pasture is not worth much. A farm pond will soon pay for itself, as they sometimes supply water for livestock at points distant from the well and farm buildings. A pond may occupy badly eroded or waste areas if properly vegetated to prevent soil from washing into the pond.

Mechanical aids should be used to construct hillside ditches, diversion terraces and diversion ditches in fields that are severely eroded. These practices are distinct aids in establishing pasture and preventing erosion.

Sooner suitable seed in this pasture and in this area of better pasture is a quick way to increase the feed from permanent pasture acreage. Korean lespedeza is the best plant for the ending of pastures. When it is seeded in early spring, no special fertilizing or covering is needed. For later seeding, the ground should be harrowed before or after it is sown.

Seedbeds should be prepared for legumes or grasses to be sown in pasture. This has been tried and has proved to give the best results for most pastures.

Very early spring grazing and close grazing during late fall should be avoided. Permanent pastures should not be allowed to get more than five inches high before turning livestock on them in the spring. If sufficient livestock is lacking to keep the growth down, the pasture should be mowed and the excess grass made into hay.

Overgrazing may be avoided to a large extent by having supplementary pastures. These pastures may be supplied by growing cover crops, which, after grazing, may be turned under to add organic matter and other nutrients. These crops provide pasture in fall and winter—times when permanent pastures are not very productive. Soil cover crop pastures reduce feed costs, save other feeds, improve the health and production of animals, and protect the soil from erosion and leaching.

In fields where weeds are thick, they should be mowed. Some grubbing may be necessary to control bushes. Mowing tends to do away with unpleasant flavored weeds and keeps them from going to seed.

Fertilizers are man's best means to build up soil and put back what his crops have taken out. Among the best fertilizers of good grade, they can be easily scattered and are a valuable source of potash.

Every owner of cows welcomes the time when the animals can be turned out on pastures. Not only is labor and the expense connected with winter feeding cut down, but experience has taught that the herd may be expected to give best results of the year during their first two months on pasture.

Excellent haying pasture provides livestock with about 17 per cent protein needed to produce body tissue and milk. This pasture is about one-third cheaper than other feeds such as grain, silage, etc. Cows can harvest nearly half their yearly feed from good pasture. Good pasture also results in ultimate gains in beef cattle. Over 300 pounds of beef have been produced from an acre of good green pasture in 100 days.

Pastures that are densely sodded provide a thick covering for the ground, thus preventing erosion which is one of man's worst enemies. Sloping land, when being seeded to pasture, should be contoured. With properly built terraces and a dense cover of good pasture grasses erosion is reduced to a minimum. Livestock also provides a farmer with a market for available labor. If one man in the community succeeds with livestock, others will try it. Pasture brings livestock, livestock brings a greater income, more business and a higher standard of living—more and better churches, schools and roads for our district, State and nation.

What An Appetite She (Or He) Has

Dr. Carl A. Pleuger discovered today that Cleopatra, the Cincinnati zoo's 12-year-old Nile crocodile that was believed to be a male up to several days ago, had many more surprising secrets.

The zoo veterinarian performed the first major operation on a full grown crocodile for a soft drink bottle's keeper saw her swallow Dec. 7.

The 40-minute surgery on Cleo's stomach, however, produced three whole pop bottles and three broken ones, 39 stones in varying sizes with some as large as a baseball, three marbles, a rifle bullet and shell, a small plastic whistle and a two-inch top elephant.

Tommy Caudill Paces Morehead Skeet Shooters

Morehead's skeet club has completed the season with most of the top shooters revolving around as good scores as last fall.

Tommy Caudill has an overall average of 22 to pace the Morehead shooters. Herbert Hogan and Jim Harvey are in second and third places, respectively.

Shooting under tricky wind conditions a father and son team, Kenneth and Philip Lewis, recorded a combined average of 17.

The range, located at the edge of the Morehead Camp on U. S. 60, about two miles east of Morehead, is open on Saturday and Sunday afternoons. The organization is now accepting new membership while no members have been invited to participate. The cost for each round to non-members is slightly higher than that charged to members of the skeet club.

Here's the top averages so far in the range reopened: Tommy Caudill, high score, 24.

Barkley Finally Realizes The Senate Is Windy

Vice President Barkley has made it official: He said the Senate is windy.

The Vice President announced from the presiding officer's podium yesterday that somehow a draft of air keeps swooping over the seat he occupies.

He said everybody who has been called on to preside in his absence has caught a cold because of the draft.

Barkley said he wants something to do about it. He said the attitude of the Capital to look into the matter and stop the draft.

EKEA Threatens Strike On February 11 If Legislature Ignores Appropriation Increase

Teachers Up In Air Over Elements' Budget Proposal

Climaxed a mass meeting at Ashland, the Eastern Kentucky Education Association yesterday called for closing of schools on February 11, if the Legislature of Kentucky failed by that time, voted an additional $12,500,000 appropriation to the common school fund for teachers' salaries, and if a majority of other education districts in the state agree. This includes the schools in this county.

If necessary, the association voted, the E. K. E. A. will make a move on the state capital to ask Governor Earle Clements for the additional funds.

The appropriation included in the state budget recently recommended by the governor and approved by the Legislature, was fixed at $22,300,000 in contrast to the $34,500,000 the Kentucky Education Association contends was promised by Kentucky's chief executive.

In attendance at the mass meeting, held in the Ashland High School gymnasium, were school teachers, officials, and members of parent-teacher organizations from the seventeen counties in the E. K. E. A. district.

The resolution declared that "we stand united in our great fight for the children in Kentucky. In the event no measures are enacted which will supply the necessary funds, we will change our program of instruction to a program of adult education in which the teachers will send their pupils home February 11, while they seek among the parents and legislators in order that they may exact their friends in the General Assembly toward the final enactment of measures that will protect the educational livelihood of every Kentucky child. The physical facilities of the schools are to be kept open and available, while we are engaged in this endeavor."

The E. K. E. A. voted, in the resolution, which was prepared by the association at a previous meeting, and which was presented by Miss Eliza Clark, Russell school teacher, to support the Kentucky Education Association tax program, as suggested to the Legislature for raising the necessary funds, until a more constructive program is proposed by the General Assembly.

The E. K. E. A. proposed the following tax program be adopted to provide necessary revenue:

An increase on the tax on beer from $1.50 to $3.00 a barrel, estimated to yield $1,710,000.

An increase in the tax on cigarettes from two to five cents per package, estimated to yield $7,500,000.

An increase in the partnership tax from three per cent to ten cents, estimated to yield $1,000,000.

An increase in the production tax on whiskey from five to ten cents per gallon, estimated to yield $3,500,000.

It is understood that such taxes be earmarked for the common schools for the biennium 1950-52 only if the budget bill as finally adopted does not include the full appropriation of $34,500,000 for the common school fund each year of the biennium 1950-52.

The resolution pointed out that "Kentucky's children are the state's greatest asset and Kentucky's educational standards are among the lowest in the nation, and that, although reasonable efforts have been made in the past, our standing in the nation still continues to show that more support from the state must be forthcoming if Kentucky's children are to enjoy their educational rights."

Herman H. McGuire, former state legislator, past president of the E. K. E. A. and now superintendent of the Carter County schools at Grayson, said that "he would go along with whatever action the E. K. E. A. majority takes," but that "he was opposed to a student or teacher strike," and that "we must be very careful what we do."

Representatives of the Board of Managers of the Kentucky Congress of Parents and Teachers, present yesterday, declared that they could not vote on the question, inasmuch as they had not been authorized by the Board of Managers to vote on new issues proposed.

D. C. Douglas Vaneburg, and Lindsay Ellington, Morehead, were present as E. K. E. A. directors.

Cuttings In Cumberland Forest Increase

A total of 13,746,000 board feet of timber was cut on the Cumberland in 1949 with a value of $102,024 for stumpage, U. S. Forestry Supervisor, revealed today.

This is a 30 per cent increase over 1948. The Government returns 25 per cent of these gross receipts to the counties in which National Forest land is located. Sales are made of trees which are mature or too poor to justify holding in the forest for another cut 15 or 20 years hence. The Cumberland Forest, as a result of fire protection and careful rating, will eventually produce three times the present yield.
