Socks, Boots Bountiful For Winter Warmth

By CAROL KITTS
Staff Writer

After two winters of cold weather, keeping warm is a matter of being practical and now one of fashion.

Heavy coats and sweaters help to keep the upper half of the body warm, but what about the legs and feet?

Knee-high, thigh-high, and ankle-high boots have become the answer to keeping warm and dry while wading through the snow.

Boots in brown, black and red leather, and various brightly colored vinyls now decorate the legs of students as they make their way to school.

Knee-high boots may be worn with a skirt or dress to keep in fashion. A visit to the local shoe stores showed that boots were a popular seller during the Christmas season.

Ski-Puff Boot

For the smaller children the most popular boot is the ski puff boot. Styled like a ski boot and made in rubber and vinyl this boot is not only fashionable but warm for those cold little toes.

Now that we've got the upper half warm with a coat or sweater, and boots covering you from the knee down, what about when that cold wind blows the front of your coat open and creeps into chill your bones

There's no need to worry. Now you can get leg warmers, a bulky knit or crocheted-tube sock that can be worn over pants to cover the leg from the ankle to the thigh.

These can be pulled on over the boots, tucked into them or worn from the top of the boot over jeans.

Maybe it's not cold enough for leg warmers or maybe you need something extra to keep your feet warm too.

In that case, get a pair of thigh-high socks. These come in a multitude of colors and designs and can be matched with scarfs, and gloves.

Can Be Falded

Just because they're called "thigh high" there's no reason, except for their name, that they should be pulled all the way up.

Fold them down over your boots and make heavy cuffed boot toppers with them. An added attraction to this idea is that they can be rolled down while indoors, and rolled back up when it's time to brave the cold again.

Boot toppers, designed to be rolled over the top of boots, come in heavy wools, cottons and acrylics.

Fancy cuffs of plaids and stripes and even fake fur, top the boot toppers. Boot toppers are designed to be worn as a knee sock but without the excess bulk inside the boot.

Some are made with stirrup feet so that the warmth in the foot part is cut down as they come out and over the boot. Toppers can be worn with a regular flat shoe for a more avant garde look.

Good For Indoors

Mucktuks bring to mind an Eskimo in his igloo but actually the Alaskan style boot-like sock make a great foot warmer in the house for those cold nights at home. The brightly patterned socks, imported from Afghanistan are handmade of wool and some have leather soles.

Okay, now you've got boots, leg warmers, and boot toppers and it's an especially cold day, layer them and wear them all at once for the ultimate in warmth and fashion.

Pull on the leg warmers over your favorite pair of straight legged jeans, then the boot toppers that coordinate with the leg warmers and over them pull on your boots.

These new socks range in price from $1.75 to $15 and are popular with students and mature alike.

Disaster Officials Explain Funding Process

Local government officials from Carter and Rowan counties met in Morehead last Thursday with representatives from the federal and state disaster assistance administration who explained how they should proceed with applications for funding for repair of damages from the flooding of Dec. 7.

Terry House of the Federal Disaster Assistance and Larry Baxter, the governor's authorized representative from the Disaster Field Office in Lexington, explained to the mayors of Grayson, Olive Hill and Morehead as well as the judge/executives from Rowan and Carter counties, the step-by-step procedures they must undertake to be eligible for federal funds under the president's emergency disaster declaration.

The presentation consisted of a 45-minute slide show as well as an oral explanation by House on what the officials needed to do.

Rowan County Judge/Executive W.C. Flannery opened the meeting by saying that he had not been able to fully analyze the damage to the county, but he said that he has an idea of how much damage has been done, and added, "There is more to come."

The local officials were told that they were eligible to receive funding for damage resulting from the flooding which began Dec. 7, but House emphasized that damage from the most recent flooding last Wednesday might not be included.

House said that assistance grants could come in either of three forms. Those include small project grants which are under $25,000 and not 100 percent funding of eligible expenditures; categorical grants, which provide for 100 percent funding of a designated project and flexible funding grants. Under flexible grant; funding is only allocated for up to 90 percent of the total cost. House said that this type of grant allows local administrators some option on whether or not to reconstruct particular buildings and permits them to "elect to repair selective projects."

Both representatives stressed the need for adequate documentation throughout the whole process of repair and application for the funding. House said, "The burden of proof rests with the applicant." Baxter also told the 17 people present for the meeting that they always should have "correct and complete documentation."

In order to obtain the federal disaster assistance grants each local government must first file a "Notice of Interest" which then goes to the state regional field office. On that notice, officials are asked to indicate what types of damage they feel that their area has suffered. Some of the eligible damages include debris removal, protective measures undertaken, repair to road systems, work on water control facilities, repair of public buildings and equipment and repair to public utility systems.

Morehead Mayor Crayton Jackson asked House if the damage to the water and sewage treatment plant would be eligible for funding. Jackson said that he was not certain yet how damage was done to the facility which is now under construction. House told him that it would be eligible but it could only be repaired to the state that it was before the flooding. House said that a field survey would have to come in and study the damages and that it would also have to be repaired to the state that it was before the flooding. House said that a field survey would have to come in and study the damages and that it would also have to be repaired to the state that it was before the flooding.

Once the "Notice of Interest" is filed, the survey team will then come to the area and make on site inspections of the damages. After several more forms are filled out and estimates are made, the regional office of disaster assistance in Atlanta will then make a final determination on whether or not a grant will be made.

Regardless of the type of grant sought, some money can be obtained in advance, House said. Under the small projects grant, up to $25,000 can be obtained immediately. Any money not used from that must be returned. Under the other two types of grants, money can be granted in advance if the local government does not have enough capital available to begin repairs.

The first step for the local governments is to adopt an official resolution naming a local agent who will assist the survey team when it comes to the area. The presentation Thursday was one of many that disaster officials must make. House said that each time there is a Presidentially-declared disaster that regional officials are sent to the counties to explain the complicated funding process to local governments. Two officers from Atlanta have been assigned to the 35 Kentucky counties declared disaster areas after the flooding.

House said that disaster officials had completed visits to all the other counties involved, except the two most recently declared disaster areas — Johnson and Pike.

Specialized Degree Makes Job Hunting Not So Easy

It's impossible to find a job in this area I've been looking for work for four months and a single offer has come my way. I am a college graduate with a degree in art history, but at this point, I'd do anything. I've written many letters and sent out many resumes, but all I get are rejections. I'm either too qualified or not qualified enough. My parents have been good about giving me money, but I don't want to take advantage of them much longer.

Desperate

Dear Desperate:

You majored in a pretty specialized field. No doubt many persons with your degree are having the same problem. Have you checked with libraries in the area? Maybe they could use an art expert. If not, maybe they'd let you stack books until something better comes along. It might be time to consider relocating to an area with more opportunities in your particular specialty. Check with local colleges or universities on the list the aid of an employment counselor. Don't give up. The job won't come looking for you.

If you would like Colleen's comments on your particular situation or problem, write Colleen, Box 639, Frankfort, Ky. 40602.

Natural Gas Plentiful This Winter

HOUSTON (UPI) — This winter, for the first time in nearly a decade, there is plenty of natural gas.

In fact there's a glut of it that may last for several years. But industry spokesmen say the gas has nothing to do with the recent deregulation bill that raised prices.

The natural gas spokesmen say pipelines are full because they are receiving more orders for more, and people and companies are using less because of previous winter service cutoffs, conservation and higher prices.

The industry spokesman, who asked that his name not be used, said, "The pipeline level. I don't think you'll find many at the retail level," said one industry source. "The customers are getting all the gas they need."

But one of the few industry supporters of the compromise law, George Mitchell, president of Mitchell Energy Corp., is blunt about it.

"I would say this year all curtailments could end if they let intrastate people furnish all the gas they could to interstate people," Mitchell said.

Intrastate transfers uncommon under old energy rules because of price differentials, supposedly will grow under the new Natural Gas Policy Act, although there is confusion as to just how or when they will begin.

Others familiar with the industry are less confident than Mitchell, but agree the nation's gas supply-demand situation has been a lot less bleak since curtailments among the 36 major interstate pipelines began in 1970.

Joe Solters of the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission's pipeline certificate and curtailments division in Washington said the gas companies may be overreacting.

"They see a little daylight and they like to proclaim that they're healthy again and some people misconstrue their purpose and their bottom line," Solters said.

But sources in the industry said federal officials simply miscalculated response to demands for a switch to other fuels. Thinking industry would go to coal instead of oil — and the potential availability of gas.

"What happened was they (consumers) moved out of about 3 trillion cubic feet a year and, lo and behold, Energy Secretary James Schlesinger woke up about three months ago and found that two-thirds had gone to oil," Mitchell said.

"We're reaping the benefit of huge exploration investments over the past four or five years and suddenly there's a bubble, or an excess supply, of gas," one industry official said.

It's difficult to say how long it will last. Two to three years probably.

CHAPTER LXXXV

GRATITUDE

BIBLE READING PLAN FOR THIS CHAPTER
PAGES IN THE POCKET BIBLE IN KING JAMES 434-437 II Corinthians 3:17; 4:2; 4:5-10; 16-18; 11:1-9, 16-23; 12:1-10.

Paul's second letter to the church at Corinth is probably not a single letter, it appears to be two. That is enough to confuse, but there is another complication on top of that. There are apparently several months difference between Paul's writing of the last four chapters and that of the first nine chapters of Second Corinthians.

After First Corinthians was written, conditions had not improved within the church. Hoping to be helpful, Paul had visited Corinth, but the congregation had accused him of acting without authority, of boasting, of being cowardly, and of planning to exploit the church. Scorned and humiliated, he had returned to Ephesus. He wrote an angry, scorching letter defending his apostleship and telling them, "It is yourselves that you should be testing, not me!"

No sooner had the letter been dispatched than he began to worry. Had he written too hastily? "Should he not have let his temper cool?" His anxiety continued until Titus met him in Macedonia bearing news that the people had been won over. They were directing their wrath against those who had sought to sway them from Paul. In exaltation, he wrote again. Humbly, he explained that in his earlier letter "I wrote to you in deep distress and out of a most unhappy heart (I don't mind telling you I shed tears over that letter), not, believe me, because you pain, but to show you how deep is my care for your welfare." "For although my letter had hurt you I do not regret it now (as I did, I must confess, at one time). I can see that the letter did upset you, though only for a time, and now I am glad I sent it, not because I want to hurt you but because it made you grieve for things that were wrong."

In gratitude, he thanked God for His divine mercy and comfort. "He hoped that the Corinthians could see more clearly that everything was working out for their benefit so that their thanksgiving would redound to the glory of God!" "We knew sorrow, yet our joy is inextinguishable. We have nothing to blush ourselves with; yet we bless many others with true riches. We are penniless, and yet in reality we have everything worth having." "John," he urged, "be grateful for your blessings." "Thank God... for his indescribable generosity to you!"

"How can anyone thank God for health, for happiness, for life everlasting in Christ?" Paul had the answer. Give.

Let everyone give as his heart tells him. God loves the man who gives cheerfully. After all, God can give you everything that you need, so that you may always have sufficient both for yourselves and for giving freely to other people. Moreover, your very giving proves the reality of your faith."

When you plant a crop, you may think you own the land, but God gave the land to you. When life springs from the seed within the ground, remember, if you will, that you planted the seed, but give God credit. He made it grow. The sun, the rain, the food within the soil, the life within the plant. These came from Him.

You may have fashioned a tree into a table. God made the tree. You may have fathomed the secrets of an atom. God put the secrets there. You may have captured with your pigments the rapturous colors of a sunset. God placed the colors there. How much of life's beauty came from you? How much is the gift of God?

Give not a title, then, give not of duty, but "thank God... for his indescribable generosity to you!"

ANTIQUE FURNITURE

Empire style tells clock's age

By JAMES G. McCOLLAM
Copley News Service

Dear Mr. McCollam: I have enclosed a photograph of an item my mother passed on to me. To the best of my knowledge, it is a brass clock fixture (air blows out the nozzle when you turn the crank) of some years back. I would appreciate it if you could advise me as to its particular usage, age, and value. — P.S.W., Newport Beach, Calif.

Dear P.S.W.: This is a mechanical bellows or blower to ignite a fire. It was probably made in the third quarter of the 19th Century when fireplace were common and central heating virtually non-existent. The value of gadgets like this is elusive because not every collector of antiques wants one. It would probably sell for from $100 to $200 depending on the market.

If you have any questions concerning the identification and evaluation of antique furniture, send a detailed description and one or more pictures of a single item with a stamped, self-addressed envelope to James G. McCollam, P.O. Box 607, Dunedin, Fla. 33528. (Published pictures cannot be returned.)

Since the opinions stated here are based on superficial information, no responsibility is assumed. Questions of universal interest will be published, but all letters will be answered.

DESKS

In the 18th Century there was a type of desk that was known as a "writing table" in England and a "bureau plat" in France. Basically, they were as shown above. However, the term was applied to almost any type of desk or table suitable for writing in a short time, the distinction was made of "writing tables," "slant top desks," "secretaries," etc. This one is in the Heppiewite manner and would sell in the low thousands, unless you happen to find a "sleeper" and buy it for much less.

Christmas Tree Fires Kill 60

Christmas trees and decorations, usually a source of joy during the holiday season, were the purveyors of tragedy in at least three high-fatality yuletide fires this year.

By early today, 60 fire deaths had been reported, many of them children. An entire family of four died in Dallas early Monday, and eight children were killed Sunday in New Orleans, bringing Louisiana's fire death toll to the highest in the nation. Both blazes were blamed on Christmas decorations.

Dallas officials said a fire in the Oak Cliff residential area destroyed the living room of the one-story, wood frame home. Three victims - Charles Chambers, 37, his wife, Sherry Lee, 26, and their son, David Wayne, 1 - were dead at the scene from burns. Another child who lived at the home, Bryan Sanders, 10, died a halfhour later of probable smoke inhalation.

The New Orleans fire took little time Sunday to sweep through Ida Perkins' small apartment, part of a two-story frame house near the French Quarter. Eleven residents of the apartment were at home when the fire struck, and eight of them - between the ages of 1 and 18 - died. Others miraculously escaped injury.

Fire officials attributed a short circuit on the gaily trimmed artificial tree with sparking the blaze. Six of the victims were Mrs. Perkins' children and two were her grandchildren.

Mrs. Perkins, who is unemployed and widowed, moved in with a relative Sunday after her apartment was gutted on Christmas Eve morning.

"Everything I had was totally lost," Perkins said Monday. "I didn't save anything, I didn't have anything."

Assessing her tragedy she said, "I didn't have any insurance. I have eight kids to bury and I'm trying to get some help."

Christmas tree lights also were suspected as the cause of an early Sunday blaze in Central Islip, N. Y., on Long Island. Fire officials said three people were killed - Elizabeth Boone, 90, Elizabeth Stuetzel, who was in her 50s, and her husband, Frank, also in his 50s - and the home was gutted.

A fire which destroyed a two-story downtown apartment building and killed three people in Salt Lake City early Monday was not known to be Christmas-related. Police said two people - Leo E. Ailes, 42, and an unidentified man were dead at the scene of apparent smoke inhalation, and another man, Henry M. Cotton, died of an apparent heart attack while on the way to an area hospital after attempting to escape.

Many of the residents jumped from windows to escape the fire, and 12 people were treated for burns, smoke inhalation and lacerations. Two were seriously burned.

The fire department today was investigating the cause of the blaze, which left 33 people homeless.

A Nashville, Tenn., woman and her week-old son died early Monday in a closet where they had sought safety as a fire swept through their trailer home. The woman's husband was hospitalized with moderate burns, and her two brothers escaped unharmed.

Preliminary investigations indicated a heating thermostat was at fault.

A prairie fire Sunday at a Barrenville, Ga., home killed the three occupants, identified as Dewey Nicholson; his wife, Pauline, and her brother, Ted Berry. No cause had been determined.

The daughter of a Cody, Wyo., man who remained in critical condition at a Salt Lake City burn treatment center died in the Christmas Eve blaze at their Utah trailer home.

Preliminary reports indicated the flames started in or near a kitchen area. The child would have been 5 Wednesday.

Insulator
One simple method of cutting utility bills is to insulate your basement. If you don't have a basement, insulate the crawl space below. From Princeton University, researchers found that 25 per cent of the furnace heat they monitored leaked in the basement. If that area isn't insulated, heat loss could cost you money.

The Good Word from the Bible

a weekly inspirational message for today's lifestyles

Even a fool is born an insulter. His parents are righteous and he that whittlers his lips is returned a reffor understanding.

Talk is cheap. Silence is golden. Loose lips sink ships. It is better to let men think you are a fool than to open your mouth and remove all doubt.

Depending upon your age, you've heard two or three of these expressions. They all deal with a particular aspect of human nature - the tendency to talk too much, to speak without thinking, to tell everything we know and to indulge in gossip.

Proverbs 17:28 reminds us that the wise man speaks only what he knows, not what he hears; he waits for the certainty of truth and ignores hearsay.

To put it another way, no one ever paid a penalty for exercising the wisdom of understanding silence.

T.R. Bryant remembers He was in charge of first Farm and Home Week at UK

BACK IN 1961—T. R. Bryant, who began the Farm and Home Week sessions back in 1911 when he was director of the UK College of Agriculture's initial Extension Service efforts, is shown in a 1961 photo with the program of the 49th Farm and Home Week. Still active at age 93, Bryant is looking forward to attending the 1979 Farm and Home Week, which will mark the rebirth of the event after a lapse of 16 years.

Well over a half century of memories abound with T. R. Bryant when it comes to Farm and Home Week at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

Bryant is director emeritus of the Kentucky Cooperative Extension Service. He started the first Farm and Home Week "way back in 1911."

At 93 he is still a very active person and although not involved in the 1979 Farm and Home Week, he is looking forward to the event.

From 1911 through 1963 he was very much involved in the week, which was an annual highlight on the College of Agriculture campus in Lexington. In all that time there were only two years that it was cancelled—1918 because of World War I and in 1937 because of catastrophic floods that devastated Kentucky.

The event was discontinued in 1964, but is being revived in 1979.

Looking back Bryant recalls that "kirts were long" and that the emphasis on the urban ladies wore looked like full-of Agriculture and the Cooperative Extension Service deals not only with farm problems, but also with problems in urban and inner city areas.

The initial Farm and Home Week had a bit of fair atmosphere, with the old Buel Armory as the site of the meeting. There were grain and poultry shows, with Bryant and the late Prof. George Roberts getting donations of premiums and prizes for the shows.

Times have changed considerably and there won't be the competitive exhibits at the 1979 event—rather there will be displays set up by the individual departments in the College of Agriculture.

Another difference will be that the format in those previous years saw Farm and Home Week held four days. In 1979 it will be held five days—Jan. 8-12.

But like in those earlier years, Farm and Home Week will be shock-full of information—information both rural and urban people need today more than ever.

The program for the 1979 session has "something for everyone" and involves not only every department in the College of Agriculture and the College of Home Economics, but also the entire Cooperative Extension Service, which includes all of the Extension agents in Kentucky's 120 counties.

The program will see emphasis on specific aspects of agriculture and home-making each day of the event. There will be seminars, workshops, lectures, panel discussions and demonstrations on topics covering a wide range of interests—for farmers, businessmen, industrial workers and farm and city homemakers.

Extension agents in all county Extension offices in the state have additional information about the 1979 Farm and Home Week program.

In those earlier days the emphasis was on rural residents, but the 1979 Farm and Home Week will have equal in 1911, "and the urban ladies wore looked like full-

Medicare Patients Will Be Paying More Next Year

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rising inflation and Social Security benefits are responsible for higher out-of-pocket bills facing millions of elderly Americans starting Jan. 1.

Under current rules, patients over 65 and the disabled covered by Medicare "Part A" must pay the first $144 of a bill for the first 60 days of any hospital stay and $36 a day for the 61st through the 90th day of an extended stay.

On Jan. 1, however, that base out-of-pocket payment will go to $160 and the daily cost will go to $40 for the third month of the stay.

And Medicare "Part B" supplemental insurance—a voluntary plan that helps cover doctor bills and outpatient services—will go up by 50 cents a month to $8.70 monthly beginning next July 1.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare said the increases are automatic based on requirements in law that Medicaid participation be kept in tune with rising inflation and Social Security benefits.

Security benefits.

Participants will also have to pay $80 a day for a limited number of "reserve days" after the 90th day of a stay. That figure is currently $72 a day.

Medicare "Part A" currently pays completely for the first 20 days in a skilled nursing home. The patient now pays $18 for the next 80 days of a stay, and that figure will go to $20 daily on Jan. 1.

Medicare "Part B" supplemental insurance covers large chunks of doctor bills and outpatient services and certain medical equipment such as wheelchairs under a set formula. It is not mandatory, but is subscribed to by more than 27 million elderly and handicapped Americans.

They currently pay $8.20 in monthly premiums for such insurance, but that figure will go to $8.70 next July 1 because of a law requiring such premiums to parallel the increase in Social Security cash benefits.

FDAA Outlines Funding Process

The Federal Disaster Assistance Administration has issued a public notice concerning procedures for obtaining federal funds to help repair flood damages.

The FDAA says that eligible applicants may be able to get reimbursed for costs of repairing flood-damaged facilities, if the repairs meet certain requirements. Facilities involved in the repair program include only those in the 100-year floodplain or those which may affect that floodplain.

The FDAA says that it may require that the restoration of these facilities incorporate certain measures designed to lessen the effects of future flooding.

The FDAA notice adds that certain projects may require special attention if any of the following conditions exist: 1) the cost of repairs is over $25,000 and is 50 percent or more of the cost of reconstructing the entire facility; 2) the facility is in a prescribed flood hazard area; 3) the facility has been damaged by a flood in a previously designated disaster; 4) the design of use of facility is altered significantly; or 5) the lands will be used to build a different facility than that damaged or destroyed.

If any of those conditions are present, the FDAA says that the projects will get more "detailed review."

The FDAA notice says that any individual or group interested in such repair or replacement projects will be given the opportunity to have the projects reviewed and to comment on the program.

Persons interested should contact the FDAA, in writing, by Jan. 10, 1979, the address is: Regional Director, Federal Disaster Assistance Administration, Disaster Relief Office, Old Post Office, 101 Barr St., Lexington, KY 40507.

Trent Likes What He's Seen Thusfar

Rowan County KO's St. Joe In Defensive Bout

By TED SLOAN Sports Writer

Ted Trent's Rowan County basketball team has caused the head coach a rollercoaster of emotions that parallel the Vikings' fortunes so far this year. Those fortunes are on the upswing after a 52-46 victory over a good Huntington St. Joseph squad Saturday that marked Trent's team 6-4 entering the holiday break.

big factor because of his rebounding. Trent continued, "He's averaging 9-10 rebounds a game playing only about two and one half quarters."

Morehead, Optimist To Host State Babe Ruth Tournament

Morehead City Park and Don G. Hardin Field will be the site of the 1979 State Babe Ruth Baseball Tournament it has been learned. According to Rev. Harold Tatman, president of the Morehead Optimists Club which will serve as hosts for the eight-team feat, the contract for the tourney has not yet been signed but he has a verbal agreement with State Babe Ruth Commissioner Don Butler.

Rev. Tatman said he had met recently with Commissioner Butler and had discussed the merits of having the tournament in Morehead. He felt the strongest selling points he introduced to Butler were the availability of low cost housing for the participating teams at Morehead State, the good number and selection of restaurants which are now and will be operating in the immediate area and attraction of the numerous camping facilities at both Cave Run Lake and Carter Caves State Park.

However, Tatman felt the biggest, convincing factor was the attraction to the Trademore Shopping Center. "I believe the shopping center played a big role," he noted. "It gives the wives and mothers somewhere to go when their teams aren't participating."

The state tournament consists of eight teams representing eight different regions throughout the Commonwealth. The teams will meet in July (dates not yet determined) for a double elimination tournament with the winner advancing to regional play. According to Butler, the tournament should last a minimum of eight days depending on the weather.

The biggest advantage, however, in hosting the state playoffs is that the Morehead representative will have an automatic berth and will not have to compete in the earlier stages of district and regional competition.

Don Hardin, manager of the city park and groundskeeper for the ballpark, said the field is very capable of handling the tournament. And he adds he's been looking for Morehead to host it for some time.

Hardin said the two stands now located at the diamond will seat anywhere from 400 to 500 people and that if needed temporary bleachers can be installed behind the backstop.

"We don't foresee any problems at all," he said.

As hosts of the tournament, the Morehead Optimists will be responsible for providing housing space (at visiting teams' expense), concessions and advertising. However, all profits from the concessions and the like will belong to the club.

Tatman noted club members had worked very hard during the recent Christmas tree sale conducted annually by the club.

"But we'll have to work even harder as hosts of the state tournament," he quickly added.

Morehead Will Not Only Miss Dawson The Coach

While most of the emphasis last weekend was placed on losing A.L. Dawson (or Buck as he's better known) the Morehead State track coach, we feel it must be emphatically noted not only does the resident University lost a fine coach but the community has lost a good friend and a hard worker. In a move that's been a little more rumored for some time, Dawson finally made it a reality last Tuesday when he approached President Morris Norfleet with his letter of resignation. The resignation has an effective date of Dec. 30, though the Dawsons have reportedly left for their new home.

inaugurated the indoor facility which he played the starring role in seeing built up a championship. Of course the year of the Year accolade was nothing new to Dawson. He returned to his alma mater after being named the same in West Virginia four consecutive years while at West Virginia State College.

But Buck will not be the only Dawson missed in the realm of area athletics. Morehead's state winning streak to three games was ending next week as a sophomore in high school, grow and prosper into one of the finest athletes ever turned out from University

Breckinridge and for that matter this entire sports area Joe was leading the basketball Eagles in scoring rebounding and assists upon departure. Probably the major factor in Buck's decision rested with his son's baseball talents. Last season, in his first base as a 15-year-old for Don Hardin's club and was a major contender for the team batting and runs batted in title.

Yet while Joe was getting plenty of experience at the American Legion level, it was the high school level that left a lot to be desired. Breck's program is hampered to a large degree by internal problems and Buck felt it was so much so that Joe may be a victim. Then he was also aware that the Florida climate would be better suited for his baseball talents and the competition would do wonders for his career, should there be one.

The resignation has reactivated the efforts of Athletic Director G.E. (Sonny) Moran who's been getting quite a lot of experience at screening new coaches. According to Moran because of the rapidly approaching indoor season (Jan. 13) an interim coach will be named in the next few days "certainly before the start of the next semester."

In reference to the interim, it's felt by many that former Eagle trackster (Oscar Jones has a good shot at the job Jones who helped Dawson rebuild the Eagle track program from its shambled state to a winner would be the most suitable candidate. He not only knows the team but also knows what it takes to be in the limelight of the Ohio Valley conference.

But the departure of Dawson has not only left a vacant spot in the athletic program, it also leaves irreplaceable vacancies in the community.

Martin Proud Of Team's Play In First Half

By JACK KELLEY Sports Editor

Even though Morehead State broke for the Christmas holiday after an 86-73 loss at Evansville last Saturday night, Coach Wayne Martin and the revived basketball Eagles gave the program a heck of a lot in its first month of operation. And if nothing else, it's caused a migration of interest in the cage program that appeared to be forever dormant.

A split in last weekend's two-game schedule has caused MSU's program to reach new heights in Martin's first season. Last Thursday's 81-67 win over Mercer University, only the second home game for the Eagles, was the team's fifth this season, surpassing last year's four win total. It also built a Morehead State winning streak to three games, something MSU fans haven't seen since the 1976-77 campaign when Ted Hundley and Company closed out the year with wins over Tennessee Tech, Eastern Kentucky and Marshall before bowing out in the league tournament.

And when MSU downed Bellarmine for a 4-3 record, it was noted by boys Brad LeMaster and Herbie Stamper it was the first time since they were freshmen Morehead State has been over the 500 mark.

The Eagles a 5-4 mark at the break. "We're pretty proud of our players," Martin said. "We're young and have a new system (barely a month old) and new personnel. We know we keep talking about that but when you realize that and that we've played six out of our first nine games on the road and we're still winning more than we're losing it's gotta make us proud."

Martin said because of the recent strenuous schedule that opened the season, playing five games in 11 days after the Marshall outing, he's given the players more time off than he'd originally planned. The players will return today, instead of the first planned Tuesday return, "because we felt they needed the mental and physical break."

"Sometimes you have to sacrifice one thing to obtain another," Martin explained, referring to the extra time off. "We may be a little less prepared for McNeese State (Sat. night) but we feel we'll be better prepared for Middle Tennessee."

The MTSU bout Jan. 6 will open the Eagles conference schedule. Martin feels the first month's schedule has been both good and bad. The good is that being on the road so much has made the players, especially the freshmen, mature faster. While on the other hand if they'd played before some familiar faces more often they're overall confidence might have been better at the break.

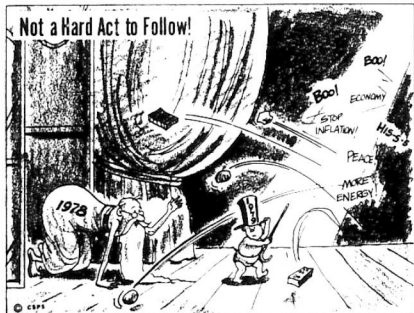

One bright, very bright spot in the program so far has been the unbelievable play of the freshman court Norris Beckley and Greg Coldiron have played just as much, if not more, than their elders and on several occasions the pair has carried the team on the boards. Both are listed among the league leaders in scoring and rebounding.

"That's got to be one of our high points," agrees Martin. "They've come right out of high school competition into starting roles for a major college team."

Martin said if nothing else, he knows the future is bright not only because of Beckley and Coldiron but also because of the rest of the class. He mentioned Glenn Napier, who's recorded considerable playing time as a backcourt reserve. Bruce Rogan and Rocky Adkins as future stars for the Eagles.

Hicks Looking Forward To Season's Second Half

By TED SLOAN
Sports Writer

Rowan County's Lady Vikings kept the early-season momentum going with a 64-52 victory over West Carter last Thursday to end the 1978 half of the season on a winning note.

The Lady Comets made a game of it, taking advantage of a Rowan County cold spell to edge in by one point with about four minutes to go. A change in offense changed the Lady Vikings' fortunes, and the girls of Coach Claudia Hicks went on to the 12-point win. Hicks explained the nature of the change: "We finally switched to our traditional 1-3-1," she said. "We've used it against smaller, more aggressive teams, and it has worked well for us."

"It was just an off-night for Debbie Dehart," she continued in explaining her team's troubles. "She's been coming on strong lately, but she just had an off-night. And that's why we were sluggish."

Viking Frosh Win Invitational Tournament

Rowan County's freshman team captured first place in the first annual Rowan County Invitational Freshman Tournament with a 59-38 win over Clark County in the finals last Friday night.

Playing with their entire roster, featuring 6-5 Kevin Layne and 6-3 John Stamper, who're both putting considerable time on the varsity level, the Vikings looked to a 20-1 advantage and never looked back.

The Cardinals managed to work to within 10 points, 32-22, by halftime but Rowan County again took control in the second half to cruise to their 14th win of the season against one loss.

Layne led a trio of Vikings reaching double figures as he scored a game-high 16 points. Stamper and Randy Eldridge also tallied in the double digits with 15 and 13 points respectively.

Clark County under first-year Coach Craig Morris, a former player at Morehead State, was led in scoring by Gardner with 15 points while Thurnshury was next in the point column with nine.

Sports Brief

BOWLING GREEN, Ky. UPI Western Kentucky University defensive end Tony Towns, a 6-2, 220-pounder from Louisville, has been selected to participate in the 41st annual Blue and Gray Classic in Montgomery, Ala. Friday afternoon. The nationally televised football game, which features outstanding collegiate senior athletes from around the nation, is the second oldest of the post-season all star contests. Towns was named All-Ohio Valley conference for the second straight year and was runner-up in the balloting for the league's defensive player of the year.

Towns led the OVC's top defensive unit with 74 tackles, including 18 resulting in 72 yards in opponents' losses, 40 assists and four fumble recoveries. In addition to the all-conference honors, he led the OVC in tackles for losses, was second in fumble recoveries and third in tackles while the Hilltoppers rolled in eight victories in 10 games and an OVC championship.

309 Main Street Morehead, Ky.

Melanie Stinson and Tammy Collins took up the slack. Stinson led the Lady Vikings with 17 points and 13 rebounds, and Collins helped out with 15 points and a dozen caroms. Rowan County also enjoyed good point production from its guards, as Karla May scored 12 points and a Jeannie Cornett ended with 10.

Julie Sparks took the starring role for West Carter with a game-high 26 points and nine rebounds.

The Lady Vikings entered the holiday break with a sparkling 10-1 record, and an unblemished mark in Eastern Kentucky Conference play, that pleased Hicks and left her looking forward to the second half of the season. "We're pleased with our record before Christmas, and we hope it comes along well after Christmas," she said. "We have a tougher lineup after Christmas, with Boyd County, Russell, and (Covington) Holy Cross, and it will be a tough test. Thus far we've had almost entirely EKC opponents, and we've done well in the area. Boyd County was our biggest test, and we fell a little short in that one. We'll see what we can do against a taller, more aggressive team."

"We see the second half as a building situation," Hicks added later. "In the second half we have only three EKC opponents, so it'll be tougher than what we've had. We feel that the EKC is about 20 points less than Boyd County or Russell, and these are the teams we have to beat. We think we're 20 points tougher than the EKC also."

The three state powers Hicks mentioned are all ranked in the Commonwealth while her team is not. The Rowan County coach shared her thoughts on that. "We know we're going to have to do something in the region," she said. "Since basketball started, the names have gone to the Ashland area, and that's to be expected. But Rowan County has always been one of the strongest, and we're considered about fourth in the region. We proved a lot by beating Ashland by 29 points. The people in the region realize that we have a very good squad."

Little by little, we're making our selves known," Hicks continued. "We have to make our girls realize that we have to get out of the region. If we can take Russell, Boyd County, and Holy Cross, we can get state ranking. Our girls want that. We have a winning squad, and they want to win."

The Lady Vikings don't have a winter game until January 4 when they take on a Bath County team that Hicks called "always a worthy opponent."

The Viking pilot talked about her workout plans for the holidays. "We'll practice this weekend, so we'll have four days of practice before the Bath County game. We hope we don't stall down, but we feel the kids need a break. We hope the weather doesn't get bad. That's been a big factor in the last couple of seasons. We get ready for a game, and then have to sit out a month."

Coach Hicks then assessed her team's progress since the beginning of the season. "At times I've been extremely pleased. The Ashland game I think was our best game of the season. We shot 53 percent from the floor, and dominated the boards. That's the type of game our kids are capable of playing."

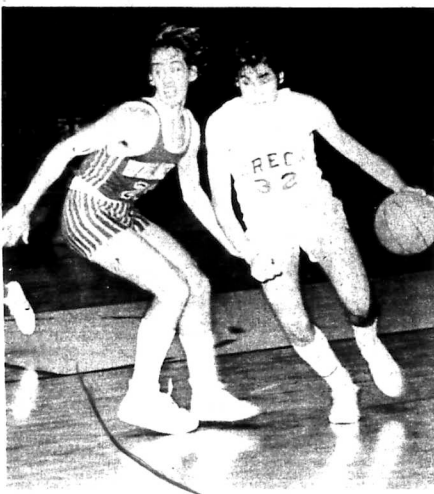

Sometimes, though, we are sluggish," she went on. "I think we want to get out of EKC play. We played West Carter, Lewis County, an East Carter in the tournament, then went back and played them all again. It's hard to get your kids up in a situation like that. That's a problem with the EKC. We play each other to death."

"We're very anxious to play the big schools," she said in going back to one of her favorite subjects. "We've got seven or eight kids capable of starting, and we're showing some balance. Early in the season Stinson and May were our only big scorers. Against Ashland we had five players in double figures, and against West Carter we had four. Debbie Dehart is coming along, she was a benchwarmer in the season, but now she is capable of starting and giving us some muscle under the boards."

Hicks is looking to Morgan County to be a team that could cause some problems in the region. "Morgan County is not to be considered lightly at all," she declared. "They are aggressive and they are tough. We feel that Morgan County is fourth or fifth in the region. We hope we don't draw each other in the district, but it may come out that. They are a very worthy opponent."

And one more time a final word on Coach Hicks' big three opponents. "We see Boyd County, Russell, and Holy Cross as a pre-state lookout. Holy Cross especially. We're very anxious to play these schools. We may not be quite as successful as before, and we may face a few losses. But that's not our objective. Our attitude is to win every game."

COACH NOT THE ONLY LOSS—While the departure of Coach A.L. Dawson is probably more important to most, for University Breckinridge's basketball program it's Joe Dawson who's going to be missed. The 6-2 sophomore was just about the offense for the Eagles this season, leading in both scoring, rebounding and assists. (Staff Photo)

Dawson Resigns As Track Coach At Morehead St.

Morehead State University Men's Track and Cross Country Coach A.L. Buck Dawson has resigned, effective Dec. 30, to accept a position in Florida. The 41-year old Dawson was the 1975 "Coach of the Year" in track in the Ohio Valley Conference and guided the Eagles to the OVC's indoor track championship in 1977. Dawson said of his resignation, "I am most appreciative of the opportunity to have coached at my alma mater. The decision to leave has been difficult because of the cooperation I have received from President Norfleet, the athletic staff, the faculty, the community and our athletes. I have had the strong support of every person involved in athletics in this institution, particularly the athletic director and his assistant."

A two-time graduate of MSU, Dawson returned to Morehead

MSU Athletic Director G.E. Moran said an interim coach would be appointed soon. The men's indoor track squad opens its season Jan. 13.

During 1979 Farm and Home Week Groups and associations to hold special meetings

An "old home week" atmosphere is predicted for the 1979 Farm and Home Week at UK's College of Agriculture, Jan. 8-12.

That prediction is based on the reason that many leading agricultural groups and associations will hold meetings during the week-long event on the campus in Lexington.

Meetings will include those of the College of Agriculture Alumni Association, the Agricultural Engineering Honorary Society, Alpha Epsilon Chapter, Kentucky Extension Homemakers Association, College of Agriculture Landscaping Architecture Alumni Collegiate Home Economics Alumni Association, Kentucky Society of Landscape Architects, Kentucky Livestock Improvement Association, Kentucky Grassland Council, Kentucky Farm Analysis Board meeting, Kentucky Fertilizer and Agricultural Chemical Association Board meeting, Kentucky Beef Cattle Association, Kentucky Pork Producers Association, Kentucky Meat Processors Association, Kentucky Dairy Industry Association, Kentucky Sheep and Wool Producers, Kentucky Seed Improvement Association, Kentucky's Association of Farm Managers and Rural Appraisers.

An information center for Farm and Home Week will set up in the E.S. Good Barn, off Cooper Drive and all information concerning the meetings, such as the time and location, will be available there.

Informal sessions of other groups may "develop" at the Farm and Home Week activities here.

Short Shots

Morehead St. In The Thick Of Both Statistics Race

In the latest Ohio Valley Conference standings, Morehead State is fourth among the seven teams in the race. The Eagles, who at that time had a 3-3 mark, trailed a leading Eastern Kentucky (5-2), Western Kentucky (5-3) and Middle Tennessee (4-3). The Blue Raiders are just 71 percentage points ahead of MSU.

Rounding out the bottom half are Austin Peay (3-4), Tennessee Tech (3-4) and Murray State (2-6).

One must note the schedule each respective team has been playing and Morehead-State is right up there in the tough schedule category. So is Tennessee Tech who has challenged teams like Vanderbilt, Georgia Tech, Eastern Michigan and St. Johns, to mention a few.

Then again, no OVC school has had it easy during the first month. Eastern Kentucky has played Dayton, UNC-Charlotte and was in the Wolfpack Cassic with Reno, Fresno State and Georgetown, placing third overall. Middle Tennessee has traveled to Alabama and Mississippi State.

But Coach Wayne Martin's bunch has had the longest row to hoe so far, especially with the fact four out of the first six were on the road at places like Indiana, Marshall and Xavier. And still the Eagles came out even. Not bad for rebounding year and a team that's trying to climb out of the conference cellar.

Now back to the latest statistics. EKU's James Turk Tillman is resting comfortably at the top of the scoring race, boasting a 25.6 scoring average after seven games. Austin Peay's Alfred Barney (19.9), Greg Joyner of MTSU (17.3), WKU's Greg Jackson (16.6) and Hay Taylor of Murray State (16.6) round out the top five.

Morehead State's placed three in the top 20 list. Herbie Stamper, though off to one of his worst starts this season, is sixth at 16.2 while freshmen Norris Beckley and Greg Coldiron are 16th and 20th respectively with averages of 10.7 and 10.3.

While Joyner is heading the rebounding column at 9.7 rebounds per game (rpg), MSU's Butch Kelley is third at 8.3 rpg and Charlie Clark is tied for sixth with 7.5.

In sharpshooting, Murray State's Mike Diederick is shooting 64.7 percent from the field, hitting on 22 of 34 shots. For the Eagles the amazing freshmen duo appear again but in reverse order. Coldiron is tied for ninth at 51.9 percent (25 of 52) while Beckley is hitting at an even 50 percent clip (23 of 46).

No Competition In Women's Race

Coach Mickey Wells' Lady Eagles are in a league of their own it seems with a perfect eight win start this season. The closest team to Morehead State are Murray State and Tennessee Tech, both with 5-1 marks.

The only league game has been played between Morehead State and Eastern Kentucky, one in which MSU came out a convincing victor. Donna Murphy, the superstar of women's basketball, is atop the lists in both scoring and rebounding. The junior out of Newport is hitting for a 25.6 average and is pulling off 14.7 caroms per outing.

And it seems the boys are not the only squad with super frosh. Coach Wells gets a blue ribbon for recruiting, just like the guy he shares Wetherby Gym with this season.

Freshmen Donna Stephens and Robin Harmon are seventh and eighth with 17.8 and 16.1 marks after eight games. Stephens is also in the rebounding race, second behind her teammate Murphy. The trio are also listed among the best shooters from the field. Harmon is seventh (.594), Murphy eighth (.544) and Stephens 12th (.506).

Not surprisingly, Western Kentucky's Hilltoppers are out in front of the seven-team pack. (Akron not included in the race for the league's All-Sports Trophy. Even though the academic year is just coming up to the midway point, WKU has already claimed two Ohio Valley Conference championships to account for its lead.)

Western Kentucky got 24 points by taking the top spot in the football season's final standings then added eight more with a cross country title.

Eastern Kentucky is close behind with 27 points while Tennessee Tech is third with 20. Austin Peay fourth with 18, Murray State fifth with 16 and Middle Tennessee and Morehead State bringing up the rear. The Blue Raiders are sixth with 14 points while the Eagles are again this season playing the role of the OVC doormat with 10 points.

However, there are still six sports yet to be scored in the final tally, indoor track, basketball, baseball, outdoor track, tennis and golf. The total is based on men's team results only.

Elliott 'Player of the Week'

Eastern Kentucky's Kenny Elliott has been selected as the OVC's 'Player of the Week' by the league office.

Elliott, a senior guard, came off the bench Dec. 16 against UNC-Charlotte to pour in 30 points, leading the Colonels to an 86-80 triumph. He hit 10 of 13 shots from the field and a like average from the charity stripe.

Sports Briefs

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. UPI — Alabama football coach Paul "Bear" Bryant Tuesday expressed doubts that his second-ranked Crimson Tide would be ready to take on top-ranked Penn State in the Sugar Bowl Jan. 1.

Bryant said the Tide's Tuesday practice to work on conditioning, the kicking game and rehearse game plans and was "nothing to jump up and down about, we didn't look sharp at all."

"We're beginning to run out of time..."

said Bryant. "We'd like to have our plans down when we leave here."

Alabama's basketball team will meet Bradley Thursday in the kickoff game of the Sugar Bowl tournament in New Orleans. Providence in New Orleans. Providence and Virginia meet in the second game and the finals will be held Friday.

NEW YORK UPI — Ranked 16th last week, Illinois climbed to the No. 5 spot while Duke remained first and Notre Dame second in this week's United Press International Board of Coaches college basketball ratings. The Fighting Illini, 90, shook up the ratings in the third week of the season, leaping from 16th to fifth with victories over Syracuse ninth-rated at the time and 10th-rated Texas A&M for a surprising triumph in the Kentucky Invitational, Louisville, 7-2, beat Providence and moved from 11th to 10th and Texas A&M, 7-3, jumped from 16th to 11th with an upset of Kentucky before losing to Illinois. The Wildcats, 4-2, fell from 12th to 16th.

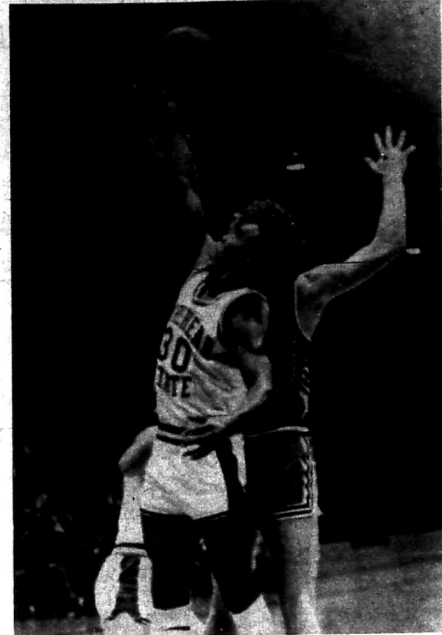

FRANKFORT, Ky. UPI — Three Kentucky State University football players have earned All-American honors for the 1978 season. Earning the honors as Thorobreds were Michael Johnson, Henry Speed and Clarence Clegg. Johnson, a 6-5, 265-pound defensive tackle from Birmingham, Ala., the only repeater for Kentucky State on this year's NAIA All-American Division I first team. Johnson anchored the Thorobred defensive unit in 1978 with 73 tackles and five-quarterback sacks for a loss of 23 yards. The Thorobreds finished the year with a 7-2-1 mark.

FRANKFORT, Ky. UPI — Kentucky State University will be represented by two players in the first annual Black College All-Star Bowl Sunday, Jan. 7 in the New Orleans Superdome. Henry Speed, a 6-5, 260-pound offensive tackle from Chicago, will make the journey along with Thorobred captain and offensive center Leon Taylor, a 6-1, 240-pound native of Memphis, Tenn. The Thorobreds will be playing on the East squad coached by Willie Jefferies of South Carolina State.

FRANKFORT, Ky. UPI — Floyd Theard, in his first year as head basketball coach at Kentucky State, a challenging and rewarding affair, sends his Thorobreds into the Tri-State Classic in Jackson, Miss., Friday and Saturday with a 6-3 mark. The Thorobreds open against Alcorn State at 8 p.m. EST Friday and will play host to Jackson State at 9 p.m. Saturday. Also participating in the classic will be Alabama State under new coach James Oliver, who guided last year's Kentucky State team.

Theard has benchd senior center Kelvin Taylor for Louisville freshman Al Smith, who averaged 10 points and 15 rebounds since earning the starting position. The coach has also moved guard Mike Jackson to forward with Charlie Tryon and advanced Lexington Bruce Coles to a starting guard position with Tim Phillips of Louisville.

Providence and Virginia meet in the second game and the finals will be held Friday.

NEW ORLEANS UPI — Whether national championship each school will go home about $1 million richer for playing in this year's Sugar Bowl. Publicity director Charles Glueck said the 1979 Sugar Bowl purse will approach $2 million. Last year's Sugar Bowl contestants — Alabama and Ohio State — earned $935,582 each, a record. Ticket prices that went up to $15 last year are the same this year. Alabama will wind up with about $200,000 after sharing its bowl revenue with the nine other Southeastern Conference schools. Penn State, as an independent, will keep its entire check.

FISHIN' TIPS

from Tom Mann

One of the most asked questions in fishing clinics is "How does a fisherman know which lure to use when there are dozens to choose from? Does it really make that much difference to a fish?"

Well, it's confusing to a beginner but let me assure you that a selection of colors is unimportant. You see, a fish's eye is made like ours, of rods and cones, and contains a substance called chromium which color-blind people lack. So, fish can see not only color but tests show they can distinguish shades of colors. No one is smart enough to know which color the fish are going into it such as how much light there is where the fish are, water clarity, sun angles, etc. So, I begin with basic patterns like natural scales, yellowish, shad, cutwater, chrome, and black. I keep changing and let the fish tell me which one they want. When the water gets real dingy, or turbid, I think sound instead of color and use noisy lures that rattle, or those that have a vibrating spinner on the tail. Fish hear these and locate them through their sense of hearing. BIER TOM'S CLOSING TIP: Remember, you will have good fishing days and bad ones. If it weren't for the bad ones the good ones wouldn't be nearly so much fun!

slump in total industrial production.

Business Inventories

The economy will not receive any upward impetus from business inventory accumulation during much of 1979. Management's thinking on this matter will reflect the high cost of borrowed money, while the need to stockpile will diminish as industrial activity slackens. There are, of course, bound to be sporadic inventory build-ups owing to possible labor disputes, but these will give way to liquidations once the danger is over.

For the coming year, the key consideration is that the country will not be confronted with an economic adjustment either caused by or intensified by top-heavy inventory positions. The need to liquidate redundant inventory holdings has spawned many a cyclical business down-phase in the past.

But during the last three and a half years, businessmen have by and large kept their inventory positions lean. So, while inventory policies will not impart much stimulus to business in '79, neither will they drag it down.

Business Capital Expenditures

Business outlays for new plant and equipment lagged markedly in the early stages of the economic advance that began in the spring of 1975. This was perfectly normal since there was an abundance of productive capacity at that time. Over the past two years, however, capital expenditures have gained momentum as climbing production rates have increasingly strained plant facilities.

For 1979, the staff of Babson's Reports expects only a modest increase—perhaps amounting to 3% in real terms and about 10% with inflation included. Yet, outlays will still run at a brisk tempo, sustained by hefty back-

Logs

1979 faces a busy schedule of labor negotiations involving a number of important industries such as petroleum, trucking, auto, electric products, and rubber. The voluntary wage-price restraints will undergo stern tests in these bargaining sessions.

Labor groups have expressed disapproval of the 7% ceiling on wage hikes and fringe gains combined. They will acquiesce only if the lid is applied to direct wage increments alone and if living costs are restrained. It is too early to rule out formal controls on pay rates and prices.

Building And Construction

Residential building enjoyed a banner year in 1978. Generally available mortgage credit—though at costly rates—kept housing starts extremely high. Added to the need for shelter dictated by population pressures was the impetus to home building stemming from the inflation psychology.

Now that mortgage rates have reached levels making home ownership more difficult, and tighter bank credit has adversely impacted mortgage money supplies, home building faces a slower year. Babson's is forecasting a decline from around 2 million units in the private sector for 1978 to some 1.6 million for 1979.

In heavy construction there will be little real growth. Government and corporate budgets are under stress, and building costs have risen significantly. A sharp letdown, however, is not anticipated.

Corporate Profits - Dividends

Business profits recovered from an opening-quarter loss owing principally to the effects of the coal strike, and the balance of 1978 experienced excellent operating results. But 1979 will not see a repeat of the past year's outstanding achievement in corporate profits. Militating against it will be further cost advances, slower business conditions, the restraints on price boosts, and the widespread repercussions of the seemingly unavoidable OPEC hike in oil prices.

Babson's is projecting for 1979 as whole only a slight upbidding in corporate profits after taxes, and even this will be mostly the result of the slight paring of federal corporate income taxes. Still, by historical comparisons, the 1979 profit level will look good.

Strengthening corporate financial positions over the past three years will permit well-maintained dividend payments, and there can still be a goodly sprinkling of rate step-ups.

Employment - Joblessness

After three successive years of healthy employment gains, easing conditions in a number of large job sources will restrict 1979's increment to only token proportions. During the recession we expect, the number of jobholders could shade off, but the frightening rash of layoffs which occurred in late 1974 and early 1975 is not in the cards for 1979.

Nevertheless, there will be some gain in the number of jobless workers as well as in the unemployment rate. The latter will, in fact, work its way back up over the 7% mark of the civilian labor force, even though it was pushed back to 5.7% in mid-1978. The real problem will not be layoffs but rather not enough job openings to absorb the additions to the nation's labor force.

Personal Income

With no massive employment dislocations expected, the uptrend in personal income should continue next year. On the plus side will be the hike in the minimum wage, automatic pay increases under existing multi-year labor pacts, and fresh pay raises won in 1979 union settlements.

Income from dividends and interest will post good gains, as will earnings in the farm sector. Hence, even though personal income will not climb as rapidly as it has in recent years, consumers will still have a heartening volume of purchasing power.

Consumer Spending

Uneasiness over a less sparkling business climate and the specter of labor tie-ups and some job cutbacks will moderate consumers' buying intentions over a good portion of the new year. There will be a greater emphasis on reducing installment debt and on building up savings.

This will, naturally, tend to strengthen the economy beyond the months impact will be to hold unit sales and gross dollar volume of retail trade somewhat below desired levels. But Babson's still does not foresee any radical curtailment of consumer eagerness to buy in

The Approaching Twelve Months

Agricultural Prospects

1978 was another bumper crop year for American farmers, with incomes posting a good increase over 1977. Many in the agricultural sector feel, however, that farm prices have been laggard relative to inflation in operating costs and the cost of living.

Prospects do favor additional firming of crop advances. As for livestock prices, the uptrend of the past year will progress further in 1979.

Domestic Political Scene

The anti-inflation battle and the related wage-price restraint program of the Carter Administration will command much attention as the new year progresses. On Capitol Hill, though, there will be no dearth of issues.

Making a big push in the coming session of Congress will be proponents of a comprehensive National Health Insurance program, as well as advocates of increased funding for seeking alternative (fuel and energy sources. There will be, too, attempts to redress the energy and tax measures passed by the last Congress, both of which were compromised to the point of multilateral dissatisfaction. Also problematic for the Administration will be the drive to shape a less inflationary federal budget for fiscal 1980.

Foreign Affairs

The international arena remains loaded with anxiety-producing issues. The stop-and-go peace negotiations between Egypt and Israel—still with important points of disagreement at this writing—offer a possible beacon of hope. But the areas of sharply divided views do underscore the complex nature of the Mideast problems.

The situation in Lebanon has yet to be resolved, and the turmoil in Iran has even more significant ramifications for the Western World. After all, Iran is a heavy exporter of petroleum; it borders Russia, and it is strategically located in terms of the shipping lanes for Mideast oil.

In Africa, continued tensions are likely. Even in Asia, there are deep-rooted conflicts along with contemporary power-struggle connotations. It should be noted, however, that an accord on the second phase of the strategic arms limitation talks could improve U.S. yield lines.

Money Supplies - Interest Rates

The tightening of credit will not let up for some months, and the rise in interest rates seems destined to persist well into this winter or even into the spring of 1979.

Right now, we look for the prime lending rate of the nation's leading commercial banks to peak around the 12% mark, but a rapid and sharp subsequent turnaround is not likely.

We do not, however, anticipate the awesome economic disruptions caused by credit crunches of the past dozen years or so.

Stock and Bond Outlook

Concern over the U.S. dollar's poor showing against stronger foreign currencies and the frightening climb in money rates in 1978 frustrated the stock market's attempts to sustain its upward drives.

At present, with economy seemingly fated to slip into a recession, the 1979 stock market outlook appears discouraging to many investors. Yet Babson's Reports expects improvement in the status of the dollar and in the nation's balance of trade to revitalize investment sentiment. And at some point the stock market will likely commence to discount economic recovery after the recession.

So, with many stocks trading at very low multiples of their latest twelve-month earnings and even relative to their probable profits for the year ahead, forward-looking investors will find a wide selection of opportunities in common stocks and convertible securities.

Beer Bottled In Wrong Color Containers

ELMIRA, N.Y. (UPI)—A mistake at the Thatcher Glass Manufacturing Co. will come back, not to haunt employees, but delight them.

Thatcher recently sent 26,400 beer bottles to the Genesee Brewing Co. in Rochester. They were routinely filled and labeled, but 1,100 cases were rejected by Genesee's quality control inspectors because the glass was the wrong color.

William Stowell, assistant personnel director for Thatcher, said Wednesday the problem was traced to equipment malfunction on a production line. Normally, the company would have to absorb the cost of replacing its product for Genesee. But Thatcher decided to have the unusual bottles shipped back to its plant for distribution to Genesee employees as Christmas gifts. The only hitch Thatcher has: 400 employees and only 1,100 cases of beer.

Second Payment On Martindale Property Due; Grant Not Here

Barring any unforeseen complications, it appears the county of Rowan Properties, Inc. (CRP), alias the Rowan Fiscal Court, will make the second installment on the Martindale building. The question of when however, is still unsettled.

A payment of $91,666 plus interest was due to Mrs. Elizabeth Martindale Dec. 27 but as of Tuesday an expected grant from the state's Department of Local Government had not been officially received. The grant was being made available through efforts of the Gateway Area Development District which is trying to obtain Rowan County's share of coal severance tax money to be used as payment.

Though the money was not expected to be received for some time, according to the 1977 agreement between CRP and Mrs. Martindale, there is a 60-day grace period before the payment becomes delinquent and eligible for default.

Local county officials were unconcerned, however, saying "everything appears to be running smoothly" and that they were expecting to receive any day word that the grant is on the way. However, their assumptions may be a bit premature because a spokesman for Gateway said the process of getting the grant from Frankfort has run into a snag "and is at a virtual standstill."

A spokesman for Jim Templeton, executive director of Gateway ADD, said he understood the county has a "couple" of items yet to be forwarded to the proper channels and that until this was done the process is at a halt.

The process began last August when Rowan County Judge/Executive W.C. Flannery called a special meeting of local leaders to discuss the county's dilemma in making the second payment. In the meeting, Templeton suggested the county work through his office in efforts of obtaining some type of grant that would cover such a situation.

It was later decided that the county would apply for funds from the Department of Local Government in Frankfort for the installment and some additional funds which would help begin renovation on the building.

The building, located on West Main Street, is earmarked to be used for housing the state's court systems now located in cramped quarters on KY 32 in Cristy Creek. According to current plans, the first floor of the two-story structure would be used to accommodate the district an circuit courts while the upper level would be renovated to meet the county's fiscal court needs.

In November, the process hit its first major snag when it was learned the county needed to adopt a comprehensive plan with the city of Morehead dealing with area development.

"It's kind of like a prerequisite for all federal and state grants," explained County Attorney John R. Cox, referring to the comprehensive plan.

Cox said the county's fiscal court adopted the formal resolution in that same month, setting the grant wheels back in motion. Since then, Gateway has requested several items of information needed by the state, and says Cox: "As of right now I'm not aware they need anything."

And the judge (Flannery) has not requested any additional information from me for them," he adds. "If they need anything else they can just call me."

The comprehensive plan is something all cities and counties are being asked to formulate and it deals with planned growth.

Judge Flannery was also unaware of any problems and last week was expecting the check or a confirmation of approval any day.

"We should be getting something here pretty soon," he said, indicating he thought the payment would be made before yesterday.

Cox says the CRP, of which comprises the Rowan Fiscal Court members, has given the architects the authority to proceed with final plans and specifications towards renovations. "All we have up to this point are just the drawings and not construction type blueprints," Cox said.

Associated Designers, Inc. of Lexington has been retained as the architects and while no projected date for beginning renovation has been given, Cox expects it to be ready for bid by this spring.

"I think that's realistic," he said. "By this time next year the building will be under construction and the estimated construction time is one year."

The project is expected to run slightly in excess of $1 million.

Telephone Bills To Be Lowered

General Telephone of Kentucky customers will be paying less tax on their phone bills after Jan. 1 when the federal excise tax on communications services is reduced from four to three per cent.

The tax is applied to local service, long distance service, and WATS lines.

The tax was implemented by Congress in 1971 at a rate of ten per cent, with the provision that the tax gradually be phased out by Jan. 1, 1982. The tax has been decreased by one per cent each year since 1971.

state and national briefs

WASHINGTON, UPT — If the United States had to mobilize for war, it would take twice as long as needed to provide enough soldiers, and more would be rejected on moral grounds than for physical reasons, the Selective Service System says. In order to get the firsts 100,000 soldiers without a draft, the stripped down Selective Service System would have to issue 600,000 induction notices, it told congressional investigators in a report released Tuesday by the General Accounting Office. The draft ended in 1973, and since then the Selective Service System has been cut back from a budget of $83.5 million and staff of 5,200 to a budget of $7 million and a staff of 100.

PLYMOUTH, MASS., UPI — Four anti-nuclear demonstrators pleaded innocent Tuesday at their arraignment for demonstrating Christmas Day at the Pilgrim atomic power under the banner of the "Raindeer Alliance." The demonstrators arrived at Plymouth Monday dressed as Santa Clauses. Charged with trespassing were Stanley Jackson, 18, of Newton, Mass. and Daniel Gerson, 19, Linda Kitch, 24, and David Slesinger, 28, all of Boston.

CAMP PENDLETON, CALF., UPI — A woman Marine was found stabbed to death in her barracks Christmas morning. She was identified Tuesday as Pfc. Suetta J. Bluing, 19, of Nashville, Tenn., a member of Marine Aircraft Group 39 from nearby El Toro. A non-commissioned officer found the body just before dawn when he went to awaken the woman for her 6 a.m. mess duty assignment. No suspects were in custody.

WASHINGTON, UPI — Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., a leading Pentagon critic, says it is not necessary for the United States to match the expensive Soviet civil defense system because in case of nuclear conflict the United States could launch a destructive retaliatory attack. Aspin, a member of the House Armed Services Committee, said despite efforts by the administration to increase the U.S. civil defense effort, it is "neither strategically sound nor necessary."

SAN DIEGO, UPI — A Pentagon directive to step up random urine checks for drug abuse among the military has uncovered relatively few instances of drug abuse. Between 3 percent and 4 percent of the samples tested have been found to have traces of drugs, but "less than 1 percent" were found to be drug abusers once those who had legitimate prescriptions for the drugs were screened out.

Chinese Troops Kidnap Four Viet Militiamen

BANGKOK, Thailand (UPI) — Chinese troops entered Vietnam twice in weekend raids and kidnaped four Vietnamese militiamen. Radio Hanoi said today.

The broadcast appeared to be Hanoi's version of a clash late last week which China said wounded nine Chinese and left three Vietnamese dead.

"Blood splattered the scene" of the clash last Saturday on the border about 125 miles north of Hanoi, official Radio Hanoi said today in its first report of the incident.

The Vietnamese broadcast made no reference to Vietnamese dead or wounded in two separate clashes it said took place on the border last week.

In one incident, however, the Vietnamese claimed more than 200 Chinese soldiers crossed into Vietnam, occupied a hilltop, ambushed a militia patrol and "carried off four Vietnamese border guards."

There have been sporadic clashes along the Sino-Vietnamese frontier since last April, when relations between the former allies worsened and China cut all aid to Hanoi.

The birds and the bees...and booze

Remember the day you first talked to them about the birds and the bees — hemming and hawing your way through — "where babies come from." It was something you thought you had to do. But have you ever talked to your son or daughter about drinking?

Or are you going to wait until they come home drunk some night?

There are a number of things you can say — aside from the terrifying statistics about the disease of alcoholism.

For openers, emphasize one of the most precious of American freedoms — the freedom of choice.

An individual may choose to drink or not to drink. It involves a mature decision, not merely a drifting or a "following of the crowd."

You might point out that there is no such thing as drinking your way to success — be it in business or romance. Too much drinking may heighten the desire, but it ruins the performance. It could cost you your driver's license — or your job.

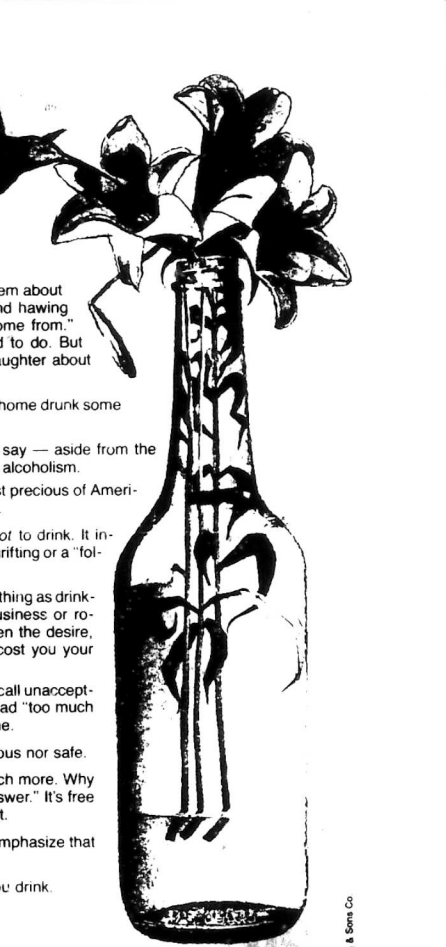

Making excuses for what society would call unacceptable behavior because someone has had "too much to drink" is of no special value to anyone.

Drunkenness is neither healthy, humorous nor safe.

There is more you can tell them — much more. Why not send for the pamphlet "No One Answer." It's free and it will prepare you for that little chat.

But however you handle it, be sure to emphasize that moderation is the mark of maturity.

Better yet, show them — in the way you drink.

Optimist Will Make About $2,000

The Morehead Optimist Club hopes to have made approximately $2,000 from the annual sell of Christmas Trees this year.

The Rev. Harold Tatman, president of the club, said that the proceeds from the sell will go to the Babe Ruth league that the Club sponsors.

The sell of the trees began Dec. 1 and lasted until the Friday before Christmas. Approximately 30 trees were left from the 500 trees shipped in from Michigan, said Tatman.

Tatman said that it costs anywhere from $3,000 to $3,500 each year to start the team out. Tatman said that the costs include the purchasing of new uniforms and equipment for the team.

He said that the $2,000 they hope to realize from the Christmas tree sale will be the profit left over after the expenses of buying the trees, shipping them in, and the electric is paid for at the lot.

The Optimist Club sells the trees annually as its one community money making project. This year the Club sold Scotch Pines shipped in from Michigan. Members of the Club took turns selling the trees on the downtown lot, said Tatman, with a motor home set on the lot for shelter for the workers.

"We were worried about people still wanting real trees," stated Tatman since so many are turning to artificial trees.

However, according to Tatman, they got good trees, spray them with fire proof, shape them, and make the trees available to the people for $10 to $15 apiece.

Man Dies After Wreck

OLIVE HILL — John Early, 80, Globe, died Christmas Day at the U.K. Medical Center from injuries sustained in an automobile accident that same day.

The accident occurred on U.S. 60 East of Olive Hill near Fields Bridge, reportedly after his pickup truck overturned.

Funeral services for Mr. Early were

Thursday at the Lane Funeral Home with the Reverends J.D. Riggs and Henry County officiating. Burial was in the Clearfield Cemetery.

A retired timberman in Carter County and a member of the Grann United Baptist Church, he is survived by his daughter, Geneva Reeder, one grandson, J.D. Reeder, one brother, Tom Early and a sister, Ida Sheets, all of Morehead.

Clearfield Post Office Burglarized

CLEARFIELD — U.S. Postal Service inspectors are continuing an investigation into the burglary of the post office here last Saturday night.

Postmaster Gail Stampler said that she discovered that someone had entered the building Sunday evening when she came in for a routine check.

Stampler told police and postal inspectors that entry to the building was gained through the back door. She said, "They tore up the safe, opened all the first class mail and most of the parcels."

The thief or thieves apparently damaged the safe in a futile attempt to open it. Stampler said that it was torn up so badly that she could not carry on any financial transactions at the post office until the old safe was opened and repaired or replaced. She said that she expects to open the windows again today Thursday.

Stampler said that other than some money that may have been in the Christmas cards, she could not pin down anything that was missing. She said that all the parcels were there and "they even left my old typewriter, again."

She said "again" because the post office has been broken into at least four times over the years. She said that the last time it was burglarized was about one year ago.

Postal Inspector J.R. Hasse of Ashland and the Kentucky State Police are investigating the incident.

Mayor

 would have two mayors."
 Jackson feels he has constitutional law on his side. "By constitutional law, the council cannot bypass an elected mayor, and cannot delegate his powers away."
 According to Jackson, one possible reason for the conflict between he and the council is, "We haven't had a full-time mayor in the last 20 years in Morehead. The council and everyone aren't used to having someone attempting to be a full-time mayor."

Hazy Area

As for the veto, Jackson says the alleged illegality stems from Holbrook's vote for the ordinance. "My legal advisor (Burns) questions whether the mayor pro tem can vote as a councilman and still be mayor pro tem. There have been decisions both ways from the attorney general's office; it's a hazy area."

 And what if the council tried to override the veto? "I wouldn't be part of it. I would again leave the chair." If this action does come up, it would be the fourth time Jackson has "left the chair," which he says is "one of the procedures one can do legally" during a meeting.

Despite all of the controversy and the accusations, Jackson says he is taking none of it personally. "It's a legal point. I want the council to do its legal function. I've never attempted to take away its legal function."
 He also hears no grudge toward City Administrator Don Evans, who recently announced that he would be leaving the employ of the city at the first of the year. "We've had no problem between us. As recently as a week ago, I told him he could have a job here as long as I am mayor."

Questions Power

Jackson's attorney, Tom Burns, a city attorney for ten years beginning in the early 1960's, feels the matter revolves around who has the power to enforce the ordinances passed by the city council.

"If the chief executive (mayor) of the city didn't enforce the ordinances, you'd have havoc. This ordinance makes the city administrator the overall supervisor of the city, powers which belong to the chief executive."

According to Burns, the mayor has two basic types of powers: statutory, those delineated by law, and implied, those "invested in city government." He feels that implied powers, which are generally unwritten, carry just as much weight as statutory, and that is why he favors the decision from the department for local government over the one from the attorney general. "Even the attorney general said that those duties mentioned in the ordinance were customarily those given to the chief executive," Burns said.

Subject To Someone
 "There is nothing wrong with there being a city administrator," he added, "but he must be subject to someone."

One danger Burns sees in this type of ordinance is that "when these duties are given to someone who is only an employee, some people are wondering why the elected official isn't doing this."

Councilman Wilburn Adkins feels that the issue centers on who has the power to enforce ordinances, and he votes with Jackson. "I feel the city

Family Of Six Killed By Speeding Car

NEW YORK (UPI) — In the early hours Monday, Juan Soto, his 3-year-old daughter, her 14-year-old brother and three teenage family friends left a party for the short walk home in a chilly Christmas rain.

They were clumped tightly together under a couple of umbrellas, crossing the street beneath an elevated subway track when the car roared out of the darkness at more than 60 mph.

The impact scattered the bodies of the six for more than a block. The car never slowed down.

One of the first people to reach the scene was Soto's wife who had left the party a few minutes behind her husband, with their 18-year-old daughter. She screamed in horror at the sight of her dead family.

An hour after the accident and two blocks away police found a car with "hair and bits of flesh on it" and arrested a 27-year-old welder.

Edwardo Coba of Brooklyn was charged with criminally negligent homicide, driving while intoxicated, leaving the scene of an accident and speeding.

Police Officer Leonard Spector said he and his partner went to the block where Coba lived to check out an anonymous telephone tip.

"We noticed a badly damaged car parked out in front. It had hair and bits of flesh on it and the windshield was shattered," Spector said.

While questioning Coba, police noticed pieces of glass and blood on his clothing and took him into custody, authorities said.

Police said the driver was going "at least 60 miles an hour" when the car smashed into the six victims, killing them instantly.

In addition to Soto, 36, the victims were: his daughter, Xionara, 3; his son, Buanerger, 14; Carlos Molina, a 19-year-old high school senior who lived in the same building as the Soto family; Rigoberto Mejia, 16, also of Brooklyn.

Lithography was invented by Alois Senefelder around the turn of the 19th century.

Police Nab Youths

Two Morehead youths were to face burglary charges in juvenile court this week; results were not available at press time.

City police said that $160 was taken from a cash register at the Dogwood Tree on East Main Street between 7 p.m. and 10:15 p.m. Dec. 22.

The suspects were picked up after police observed them attempting to break into a newspaper machine near Hecks Sunday night.

These houses up to January 1 will be only $23,500 total price! Just 4 more left ready to sell. January 1 these houses will be up to $27,500.

Council

 have a complete job description.

The ordinance passed, after some discussion, with four "yes" votes and one abstention. Jack Fraley, who made the abstention, refused comment on the vote yesterday. Councilman Jack Roe was out of town and not available for comment, while Councilman Wilburn Adkins did not attend the meeting.

Councilman Holbrook agrees that the situation concerning the city administrator has created a rift between the council and the mayor but he doesn't think the override will widen the rift. "I don't think it'll have any more bearing on it," he said. "The rift has already gone about as far as it can go."

Holbrook doesn't believe that the matter will create any unusual problems for the new city administrator, who will replace Don Evans who resigned effective Jan. 1. "He shouldn't have any trouble," Holbrook said. "With this ordinance everybody will know what his job is."

Holbrook said that the only option open to Mayor Jackson was to take the council to court. Salyer said yesterday that he was not sure if the mayor would do that or not. He said that he believes an opinion from the attorney general's office clearly shows that the ordinance is legal.

Mayor Jackson, however, says that the matter is not yet closed. Asked what his next step would be, Mayor Jackson said, "I'm going to have a declaratory judgment from the courts." He said that he believes, and he thinks the public would agree, that the ordinance is "a flagrant attempt to usurp the power of the mayor, the highest elected official in the city, and hand them over to an appointed administrator."

Mayor Jackson says that all the "public feedback" that he has received has been in opposition to the ordinance. He said that he walked out of the Friday meeting because he "didn't want to be part of an illegal act." He added that all the legal advice he has received indicates that "all but two or three of the items" contained in the ordinance are in direct conflict with the law. The mayor says that about all he can do now is wait for "a straight legal opinion from the courts." The mayor apparently believes that the council itself has made a mistake in adopting the ordinance, which sets out specific duties for the city administrators, including the daily supervision of routine matters, except for police control. Mayor Jackson said the ordinance takes away many of the committee assignments of the council members.

The actual meeting Friday lasted about 30 minutes, with 10 minutes of that time being spent naming Tackett as the local agent to assist the city in obtaining federal disaster funds. The remaining time was used to override the mayor's veto. All council members were present, except Wilburn Adkins

DEMOLISHED... A St. Louis man was critically injured late Tuesday afternoon when he lost control of his car on I-64, 11 miles east of Morehead. The car was traveling in the eastbound lane when it struck a guardrail, overturned and slid on its top across the westbound lane. Cornelius Lockhart, 32, was listed in intensive care at St. Claire Medical Center yesterday with head injuries sustained in the wreck. (Staff Photo)

St. Louis Man Critical

A St. Louis, Mo., man is in critical condition following a crash Tuesday afternoon on I-64 east of Morehead.

Cornelius Lockhart, 32, placed in intensive care at St. Claire Medical Center with head injuries after he lost control of his automobile and slammed into a guardrail.

According to Kentucky State Police Trooper David Mirus, who investigated the accident, Lockhart was travelling in the eastbound lane of I-64 when his car struck the guardrail. Mirus said that Lockhart apparently tried to turn the vehicle back onto the roadway which caused the car to overturn. The car then struck a concrete drain in the median and skidded across the westbound lane on its top. The car came to rest against the guardrail of the westbound lane Mirus said that skid marks indicated that at least one westbound vehicle narrowly avoided colliding with the Lockhart car.

The accident occurred shortly before 5 p.m. at the weigh scales on I-64 about 11 mile east of Morehead. Lockhart was the lone occupant of the vehicle.

$2.90 Minimum Wage Takes Effect Jan. 1

Approximately one million workers in the Southeast will be eligible for a pay raise on Jan. 1, 1979, when the federal minimum wage rises to $2.90 per hour.

On Nov. 1, 1977, President Carter signed amendments to the Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA) establishing uniform minimum wage rates for all covered workers - $2.65 an hour effective this past Jan. 1, increasing annually to $2.90, $3.10 and $3.35 an hour by Jan. 1, 1981.

The Wage and Hour Division, a part of the U.S. Labor Department's Employment Standards Administration, is responsible for administering and enforcing the FLSA (which sets minimum wage, overtime pay, child labor and equal pay standards).

The Atlanta region includes Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, and Tennessee.

Under the 1977 FLSA amendments, the percentage of tip credit which can be applied toward the minimum wage for tipped employees will be reduced to 45 percent effective Jan. 1, 1979 and 40 percent effective Jan. 1, 1980.

Another change resulting from these amendments is the repeal of the partial overtime exemption for employees of hotels, motels and restaurants beginning Jan. 1, 1979, these employees will be due overtime premium pay after 40 hours in the work week.

Maids and custodial employees of hotels and motels have been on the 40-hour week since May 1, 1977.

In the eight-state region during fiscal 1978, the Labor Department found that more than 160,243 workers protected by federal wage and hour laws were illegally underpaid by almost $25 million. Violations of the minimum wage and overtime provisions of the FLSA accounted for the bulk of underpayments.

Wage and Hour Division offices are located throughout the region and are listed in most telephone directories under U.S. Government, Department of Labor, Employment Standards Administration.

Before any benefits can be paid on a person's social security record, the worker must have enough credit for work covered by social security to be insured. David Bryan social security district manager in Ashland said recently.

The amount of credit needed varies with the person's age and the kind of benefits involved. Basically, a person needs credit for one year of work for every four years since 1950 or, if later, after the year he or she reached age 21.

Using this rule, a person reaching 62 in 1979 would need credit for seven years of work covered by social security to be eligible for retirement benefits. A person having this much credit is said to be fully insured.

Under a special rule, benefits can be paid to the children of a worker and their surviving parent if the worker had credit for one and one-half years of work in the three years before death, regardless of his or her age.

The best of good wishes to you and your whole family. We're glad to have you as customers and look forward with pleasure to serving you in the New Year. We thank you for your continued loyal patronage.

Happy New Year Kids!

1979 . . . The Year of the Child

One of the goals of this special year is to build stronger families. Every family member will be urged to take part.

"There will be art shows, festivals, sports events and special programs in the schools," Mrs. Young told us.

Twenty-five years ago, the U.N. set down the "Rights of the Child." These rights will serve as a guide for the celebration.

Over 200 groups, such as the Girl Scouts, have made their own plans to celebrate this year.

"Children have to be regarded for the people they are at this moment . . . not for what they will grow up to be. Children are people NOW," said Mrs. Young.

The year of 1979 is just a beginning. It is hoped that the work it starts will continue.

This picture of two children from Iran shows the love that the Year of the Child hopes to bring to all children.

It's just about here! The Year of the Child . . . 1979.

This is a special year set aside by the United Nations. The main idea is to get everybody to "think children."

To find out about it, The Mini Page talked with Mrs. Jean Young. She is in charge of the group that is making plans for our country's celebration.

"The Year of the Child is a chance for each person to examine the programs we already have and to see if these are really the best," Mrs. Young said.

"We want to involve the children themselves. We have a children's advisory committee," she added.

"As we look at the needs of our own children, we will gain an awareness of the needs of children all over the world," she said.

The Chairperson

Jean Young is the wife of U.N. Ambassador Andrew Young. She has been an outstanding teacher of children for many years. She has traveled a lot. She is the mother of four children.

The Symbol

The symbol shows an adult bending down to help a child while the child reaches up. It is inside a peace wreath. You will also see the letters 'IYC' This stands for International (worldwide) Year of the Child.

Worldwide Kids

Countries all over the world will be celebrating the Year of the Child. These kids go to the U.N. International School. This is a special school for the children of delegates to the U.N. in New York City.

Walt Disney...the Kids' Entertainment King

Walt Disney Productions

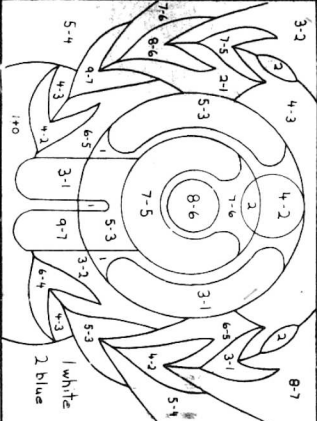

Cartoons, movies, TV shows, theme parks... Walt Disney, the king of American family entertainment, did them all. And he did them very well. Walt Disney's birthday was December 5, 1901. He died 11 years ago. But his works still bring joy to millions. Disney was only 7 years old when he started selling drawings to his neighbors. He went to art school at night when he was in high school in Chicago. At the age of 22, Disney went to Hollywood with only a few drawing materials and $40 in his pocket.

His brother, Roy, loaned him money and the brothers set up business in their uncle's garage. Not long ago, the children's TV show that he started celebrated its 25th year. The dream of good, wholesome family entertainment lives on, thanks to the genius of the man... Walt Disney.

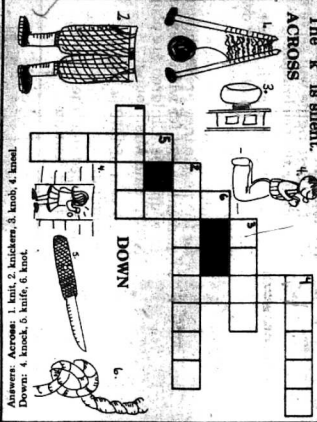

Mickey Mouse is one of Walt Disney's cartoon characters who celebrated his 50th birthday this year.

Hopping John

This is a Mini Page version of an old dish that is often served in the South on New Year's Day. Eating it is supposed to bring you good luck.

What you'll need:

- 6 pieces bacon
- 1 medium onion
- 1 cup black-eyed peas
- 1 cup cooked rice

Supersport: Pat McNally

A lot of Harvard graduates become doctors, lawyers and businessmen.

But right now, Harvard grad Pat McNally is using his "educated toe" to succeed in pro football.

Pat kicks for the Cincinnati Bengals. He is one of the top punters in the game. He averages about 40 yards per boot. Once he orbited the ball 67 yards.

While Pat has his punting skills down pat, he is also a promising wide receiver. He is in his third season with the Bengals. Pat reads a great deal during his spare time. He also takes part in charity balls in Cincinnati. He is a bachelor.

Go dot to dot and color.

Mildred McLain NRT Assistant State Director

Miss Mildred McLain of 207 R.W. Main Street, Morehead, has been named Assistant State Director for Kentucky by the National Retired Teachers Association, the nation's largest organization of retired educators, dedicated to helping them achieve retirement lives of independence, dignity and purpose.

In her new position, Miss McLain will be responsible for coordinating the activities of NRTA units in Kentucky and will promote the programs and services of the 545,990 member organization. Before her retirement Miss McLain was a teacher for 37 years. She also worked as an instructor for adult mentally retarded and with the Vista Adult Senior Citizens. She received an A.B. degree in Elementary Education at Morehead University and also a Special Education Certificate (Master's equivalent). Miss McLain is also the President of the Rowan County

Retired Teachers Association. Membership in NRTA is open to men and women who have at some time been employed to the U.S. school system or private educational institutions at any level. Founded in 1947, NRTA encourages older educators to remain active in community and public affairs, provides legislative representation at all levels of government and sponsors services to help them stretch retirement incomes. The Association also publishes magazines and other materials of special interest to older readers. For further information write to NRTA, 1909 K Street, N.W. Washington, D.C. 20049

OUR CASHIERS HAVE PRIDE!

Quite often, the only person you actually communicate with while you're in a supermarket is the cashier. If she or he is pleasant, you leave with a positive impression of the store; if the person at the cash register is "scowling", chances are good you will be too, when you leave. At IGA, while we can't promise 100% smiles 100% of the time, we do guarantee you something that our competitors often can't: our cashiers take obvious pride in their jobs. And it shows.

Kentuckians Returning Home By The Hundreds

They're coming home to Kentucky. The 1970 Census had confirmed the pattern set by Kentuckians a hundred years ago.

Since 1870, the government's statistics had shown that as soon as they left school, or reached adulthood, the state's youths had left for greener pastures—the industrialized north, the coastal cities, wherever opportunities appeared greater.

But no longer. Many still leave, of course, but many more are remaining. And hundreds who left in previous decades are returning, and following in their footsteps are non-natives who are finding homes in the Bluegrass state.

Dr. Thomas R. Ford, University of Kentucky professor of sociology and director of the UK Center for Developmental Change, says that "unless the population estimate of the Bureau of the Census are in serious error, the 1980 Census will probably reveal a migration gain for Kentucky."

Growth Is Evident

Ford points to provisional estimates for July 1, 1976, which showed a modest net gain since 1970 of some 66,000 persons—roughly two percent of the 1970 Kentucky population? "But this increase stands in sharp contrast to the net migration loss of 140,000 for the 1960-70 period, and the record loss of 390,000 registered during the 1950 decade.

The rapid growth of Lexington and other Kentucky metropolitan areas during the last decade is evident to even the most casual observer, but the cities are just part of the story.

Since 1970, approximately four-fifth of Kentucky's 120 counties had net migration gains. Of the 35 counties which lost population through migration from 1970-76, there nevertheless were population gains in all but 11.

If the migration flow from Kentucky's rural hinterland into the large cities and their immediate environs has been almost continuous since the nation became industrialized, why, in the last quarter of the 20th century, is the pattern being reversed?

Some demographers, Ford says, have contended that the turnaround is a temporary phenomenon resulting from the economic recession of the early part of the decade. Others have suggested that the so-called "white flight" from the central cities because of social problems and efforts to solve racial integration perplexities through busing has simply been accelerated.

Rural Areas Growing

The flow has been much more than the flight to the suburbs. There is evidence that the entirely rural counties of the state are growing almost as rapidly as the counties adjacent to metropolitan areas and nearly twice as fast as the metropolitan counties.

In the previous 100 years, most Kentuckians left because of the lack of opportunities at home. They are returning "because of jobs that were not there before," Ford says.

The resurgence of coal, brought about by the energy crisis, has created more jobs, both within the industry itself and in allied service areas. And industry, while not on the grand scale of northern manufacturing centers, has been moving increasingly into Kentucky's rural areas. Ford cites the expansion of industry into the London-Corbish-Glasgow area as "undoubtedly influencing population growth in the southern counties."

Living Outside Cities

The completion of the interstate highway system and the building of other first class highways "have permitted many metropolitan workers to realize the dream of residing outside the cities," and commuting to jobs in the bigger towns.

Also, the increase in the employment of women has made it possible for two-income families to live "where the people prefer to live."

They have returned to non-metropolitan areas for nostalgic reasons: A desire for country living, "where you can hear the leaves rustle" is a way of life many Americans long have yearned for, if only they could find a way to make a living.

Many have found it possible to purchase small acreages where they can raise food to supplement their incomes.

Since 1976 hunting and fishing licenses expire Dec. 31, many of Kentucky's hunters and anglers are taking a little time in the midst of their holiday shopping to buy their 1979 licenses.

In a sense, that license can also be considered a Christmas present—a gift to wildlife conservation. The money sportsmen pay for licenses makes up approximately 80 per cent of the department of fish and wildlife's financing.

And you might not know it, but any hunting or fishing equipment on your shopping list is also a present to conservation. Through or at the time of federal excise tax on such goods, money is provided for Kentucky (and the other states) to conduct essential wildlife research and to acquire lands for wildlife.

Although you don't have any choice about paying that excise tax, and although the law requires that you take a license to call these monies "gifts." For like all presents, they are given voluntarily. It was the sportsmen themselves who asked that laws be passed to tax themselves on state and federal levels to support fish and wildlife conservation.

To a non-hunter it must seem strange to think of a shotgun and a box of ammunition, along with a license to put them to use in the field, as a present to the state. But those familiar with modern wildlife management know the hunter is actually the best friend wildlife has.

The money hunters provide pays the salaries of those who enforce fish and wildlife laws and of wildlife biologists who conduct scientific studies and carry out management practices. Sportsmen's money buys land for wildlife, land safe from urban sprawl and other habitat destroying practices which represent the most serious threats to wildlife today.

Sportsmen's money is not used on game species alone. Wildlife management areas (or scientifically designed wildlife species, among them song birds, insect eating birds and rodent controlling birds of prey).

Money from fishing licenses and from the federal tax on angling equipment helps build lakes and provides access points to rivers and streams. It pays for the construction and operation of hatcheries and finances fisheries research projects. It funds environmental investigations which help keep our waters clean and pollution free.

The license buying sportsman is also giving a present to his fellow citizens who do not hunt or fish, since he is relieving them of an additional tax burden. Without the sportsman, the costs of wildlife conservation would have to come from general revenue funds, but under a system like Kentucky's the total costs of operating the fish and wildlife department come from hunters and fishermen, with no general tax monies involved at all.

Those new licenses, by the way, are now available at all county court clerk's offices and at many sporting goods stores, tackle shops or similar establishments. And finally, from all of us here at the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Strict Penalty

In the early years of New Haven, Connecticut, the Puritan heritage meant strict laws. For example, a child over 16 years old could have been put to death for cursing a parent during that period.

A Happy and Prosperous New Year to you & yours from everyone

Burley Quota Meeting Slated

The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) will sponsor a meeting January 9 to discuss proposed determinations relating to the amount of the national marketing quota for 1979 crop burley tobacco.
 The meeting, which is open to the general public, will begin at 10 a.m. at Memorial Hall (located on South Limestone Street) on the campus of the University of Kentucky in Lexington. Parking facilities will be off Rose Street. Turn at Gate 2 on Funchouser Drive. The parking lot (C2) is immediately behind Memorial Hall. Persons attending are invited to give their views on the quota and related matters.
 Persons unable to attend the Lexington Meeting are invited to submit their comments in writing to the Director, Price Support and Loan Division, USDA-ASCS, P. O. Box 2415, Washington, D. C. 20003. All comments which must be received no later than January 15 will be available for public inspection during regular business hours in Room 3741 of the Department's South Building. The burley tobacco program is administered by ASCS.
*What Is Investment
 It's really too bad a person can't invest in income taxes — they're one thing you can be sure will continue to go up.*

Airports Receive New Marking

FRANKFORT — Three area airports received a new set of highly visible markings on runways and taxiways in 1978.
Former Morehead State Professor In California

Paul Randolph has been appointed professor of European history in the Humanities Division at Pepperdine University, Seaver College, in Malibu, Calif.
 Randolph served most recently at Morehead State University as professor of European history and graduate adviser. A member of Phi Beta Kappa, Dr. Randolph is a specialist in dealing with the role of religion in social history.
 A graduate of the University of Illinois with a degree in history, Randolph earned his Ph.D. from the University of Michigan. In addition to his position at Morehead State University, Dr. Randolph has held teaching positions at Freed-Hardeman College and Eastern Michigan University.
 Seaver College is a liberal arts Christian institution with a limited enrollment of 2,000.

Morehead-Rowan County, Fleming-Mason County and Olive Hill (Sellers Field) airports received new striping last year according to the aeronautics division of the State Department of Transportation.
 For the second year, the department has supplied equipment and a two-man crew to paint the reflective white stripes on runways around the state.
 "The program is a very inexpensive way to provide greater safety and uniformity of appearance on runways," said aeronautics director Ed

LaFontaine.
 The local airport boards pay for the paint and labor, he added, but the department provides free labor on the first 10,000 square feet of striping as an added incentive.
 The division plans to repaint the markings every three years on the smaller airports and more often on the larger ones.
 The local airports were among 18 to receive the markings.
 About 60 airports in the state are eligible for the service.

Public Notice

PUBLIC NOTICE
 The Federal Disaster Assistance Administration (FDAA) hereby gives notice to the public of its intent to reimburse eligible applicants for eligible costs of repairing their facilities to pre-disaster condition within the designated counties as a result of the recent Presidentially-declared disaster for those who are within the 100-year flood plain or which may affect that floodplain.
 In accordance with the President's Executive Order 11988 on Floodplain Management, FDAA may require that the restoration of these facilities incorporate certain measures designed to mitigate the effects of future flooding. Certain projects may not be included in this notice and will be the subject of other notices in this publication, if one or more of the following conditions exist:
 1. The cost of eligible repairs is more than $25,000, and equals 50% or more of the cost of reconstruction of the total facility.
 2. The facility is located in a prescribed flood hazard area.
 3. The facility has been previously damaged by a flood that resulted in a Major Disaster.
 4. The design or use of the facility is significantly changed.
 5. The Federal contribution will be used to build a new and different facility or facilities from those that existed before the disaster.
 The above excepted projects will be subject to a more detailed review under the criteria of the Floodplain Management Executive Order. Those persons interested in the implementation of Floodplain Management Executive Order 11988 with respect to the repair and restoration of any of the projects covered by this notice are provided the opportunity for review and comment. Interested persons should submit comments, in writing by January 10, 1979, to the Regional Director, Federal Disaster Assistance Administration, Disaster Field Office, Old Post Office, 101 Barr Street, Lexington, Kentucky 40507. c-71

Auto Service Tips

Periodic check of transmission fluid level can prevent damage and costly repairs. Check when engine is hot and auto is on level ground. Transmission dip stick is usually located near firewall. Fluid is reddish-colored. If color is different, you may have transmission problems.

YOUR WEEK AHEAD By DAMIS

Forecast Period 12/31-1/6/79

ARIES Mar. 21-Apr. 19 Mental faculties are keenly intuitive. Spiritual inspiration brings about a subtle change in outlook.
TAURUS Apr. 20-May 20 There could be news of an inheritance or perhaps it's a favorable business venture. Guard against fraud.
GEMINI May 21-June 20 Telepathic interchanges with mate or partner bring a better understanding of the other's needs.

MOONCHILD

June 21-July 22

An active imagination provides solutions for problems that come up on the job. Be mindful of a sound diet.

LEO

July 23-Aug. 22

A romantic partner brings an air of mystery into your life. Things are not as they seem.

VIRGO

Aug. 23-Sept. 22

Look for hidden conditions if you are thinking of buying a new home. Surface appearances are deceiving sometimes.

LIBRA

Sept. 23-Oct. 22

Caution is urged in the signing of any contract or written agreement. Read the fine print.

SCORPIO

Oct. 23-Nov. 21

There may be an element of good luck in money-making matters. At least on the daydreaming level.

SAGITTARIUS

Nov. 22-Dec. 21

Unconscious impulses bring inspiration leading to creativity in music or another art form.

CAPRICORN

Dec. 22-Jan. 19

Rewarding work having to do with hospitals or religious institutions seems likely.

AQUARIUS

Jan. 20-Feb. 18

Be alert. A false sense of loyalty or sympathy for friends can lead you down the garden path.

PISCES

Feb. 19-Mar. 20

Shady or dishonest professional dealings will backfire. Subtle changes bring exciting happenings.

THOUGHT FOR FOOD

Holiday Eggnog
There are many views on how to achieve the perfect eggnog. To use the whole egg or just the egg yolks or peaks. There are different views on which spirits make the best nog too. Try the following recipe for a really exciting version of eggnog.
8 egg yolks - beaten until light and lemon-colored.
3/4 cup sugar - beat into egg yolks until well blended.
1 bottle bourbon and 1/2 cup rum - stir into above mixture.
Now pour this mixture into a covered container and let stand overnight or until ready to serve. At this point fold in 1 pint heavy cream whipped and then fold in the 8 egg whites which have been beaten with a pinch of salt until peaked.
Serve in mugs if you like garnish with a few curls of chocolate shave with a vegetable peeler from a semi-sweet peeler. Serves about 15.
I might add that eggnog can be as potent or gentle as you like, depending on the amount of spirits used; so decrease the amount given if it suits you better.

At St. Claire . . .

Funds Construction 75% Complete

Seventy-five percent — that's the magic number at St. Claire Medical Center these days as that is how close to completion are both the building fund and construction for the expansion.

Contributions and pledges to date are over $50,000, $150,000 short of the goal of the drive. The $500,000 goal is 8 percent of the $6.5 million cost of the building, the remaining 92 percent funded by the Farmers Home Administration ($5.3 millions), the Appalachian Regional Commission ($640,639) and a hospital depreciation fund ($50,000).

In a break-down of contributions to date, Davis said that local businesses have pledged approximately $65,000, the medical community $40,000, Morehead State University faculty and staff $17,000, Morehead organizations $17,000, hospital employees over $16,000, surrounding counties $7,500, Kresge and Kuntz Foundation gifts $100,000, and contributions to the expansion fund in lieu of flowers at funerals total $725. The balance has been contributed by individuals.

In past weeks Davis has been writing to foundations and working in outside counties in attempts to overcome the common "winter lag" found in fund raising.

Work in other counties is based on figures pertaining to admissions of non-Rowan patients, showing that in 1978 more than 1,000 patients were admitted to St. Claire from Carter County, more than 400 patients were from Fleming, Menifee, Montgomery and Lewis counties, and approximately 100 patients came from Magoffin and Wolfe counties. All potential donors are being reminded that contributions are tax-deductible.

As coordinator of fund raising activities, Davis takes the place of a professional fund raiser that St. Claire has hired in past fund raising drives. Not only has the act saved the center money but more cash has been raised in this drive than any before.

"We do feel encouraged," remarked Davis recently, "cash makes it possible to buy equipment."

Two items that have been purchased are an Ultra Sound and a Gamma Camera, called part of the "nuclear medicine program." One of the jobs of the Ultra Sound is to monitor the breathing or heartbeat of a fetus by way of soundwaves that project graphic readings on a screen. The Gamma Camera is similar to an x-ray machine, but is highly intensified, producing a sharper picture.

Already the addition to the center is being used, the pharmacy for inpatients now open on the fifth floor. The entire fifth floor is expected to be open next month, adding along with the pharmacy isolation rooms, rooms for medical and surgical patients and a classroom/conference room that will be included on every floor.

Opening of the fourth and fifth floors will mean an additional 56 beds, while the sixth floor for mental health patients will have 20 beds. According to Sister Mary Joelle, hospital administrator, patients on this floor will have short term mental disturbances, mostly drug or alcohol related.

The seventh floor will go unfurnished and will be used for future expansion or "for whatever need comes up" says Davis.

Services to be expanded include the emergency area, laboratory for pathology, respiratory therapy, business office and cafeteria (all food areas will be on the second floor).

Opening of the addition will mean that departments now housed in several different rooms for lack of space will be pulled back together.

Explaining the situation, Davis said that due to lack of space, when a service has been added it has been put wherever there has been room. Patients' rooms have almost constantly been filled, forcing the use of visitor and conference rooms for this purpose. Combined with the approximately 100 students that work in the hospital per year and one can see that the Center has apparently had a traffic problem soon to be solved.

Once completed, St. Claire will be able to boast having one of the tallest stained glass windows in the state. Located near the entrance and running the height of the building, the window will measure 4 feet wide by 82 feet high. Estimated to cost $20,000, Davis said, "The hospital would be delighted to have a donor."

Flood Victims Still May Apply

LEXINGTON — Victims of the recent flooding in Kentucky may still apply for assistance even though the one-stop Disaster Assistance Centers have closed.

Jack Ingram, director of the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development HUD Headquarters Disaster Housing Field Office here, announced the opening of the Lexington office.

Located at 2035 Regency Circle Lexington, this office will meet the needs of temporary housing applicants in Mercer, Jessamine, Clark, Bath, Powell, Casey, Lincoln, Esull, Lee, Bourbon, Harrison, Fleming, Madison, Rowan and Fayette counties.

Normal business hours for the Lexington HUD Office will be 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. seven days a week. The telephone number of the office is 606-233-2471.

Follow Up Service

In addition to taking new applications for temporary housing, the Lexington office will provide follow-up service to applicants.

Anyone with a question about application should contact the office (calls to applicants to make arrangements for damage assessment, and other steps in the process, will be handled through the Lexington Disaster Housing Field Office).

Various programs have been established by the Federal and Common wealth governments to assist Kentuckians affected by the pre-Christmas flood.

According to Ingram HUD is working in conjunction with State government in the Limited Home Repair Program. HUD is processing the applications, and assessing damage.

If an applicant is eligible for the Limited Home Repair Program it is turned over to the Individual and Family Grant program of the Common wealth.

Limited Home Repair grants allow the homeowners to make their own repairs to homes so that they will become livable.

Provide Living Kits

As needs are determined, Ingram continued, HUD will provide Living Kits for those considered eligible. The kits provide basic household items, such as sheets, blankets, pillows, pillowcases, pots, pans, kitchen utensils, towels, mop, bucket, and

City's Garbage Ordinance To Be 'Strictly Enforced'

The city of Morehead has issued a reminder to property owners and residents that the city's garbage ordinance passed in March of this year will be strictly enforced.

Mayor Crayton Jackson says that there has been some problems with garbage being scattered across the city and added that the 1978 ordinance requiring garbage containers to be of non rusting, water-tight metal or rigid plastic construction with tight fitting lids will be "strictly enforced."

He said that the city crews will continue to pick up garbage that does not comply with the ordinance but that violators could be subject to a fine of not less than $5 or more than $50 for each day that the violation exists.

The reminder from the city is in the form of an official published public notice.
