Hospital Employee Wounded At St. Claire

A 27-year-old hospital employee is in good condition following a shooting incident at St. Claire Medical Center yesterday morning.

According to Morehead Police Chief Mike Hall, Donna Moore, a hospital supervisor, was shot once in the chest. Another hospital employee, Debbie K. Royse, 23, Christy Creek, was charged with second degree assault after the shooting. She was arraigned yesterday morning before District Judge James E. Clay, who set her bond at $5,000.

the suspect regarding the shooting. Moore was shot once in the chest with a .22-caliber pistol and was taken to the hospital's emergency room. Hall said that there were no witnesses to the actual shooting but that some people did hear the gunshot.

Hall said the suspect was arrested at a business establishment across the street from the hospital. He said that a relative of the suspect worked there and that the suspect turned herself in a few minutes after the shooting.

An unofficial source said that doctors at the hospital might leave the bullet in Royse's body, rather than risk removing it. Royse was said to be in good condition as press time.

Tackett Resigns As Administrator; Will Assume Extra Duties Instead

By JOE LAMB
Staff Writer

A city administrator by any other name would do just as well — that is the apparent conclusion reached by the Morehead City Council Friday evening in a special session during which newly-appointed interim city administrator Phillip Tackett resigned the post. Tackett was given the job Monday during the regular monthly meeting of council.

City Attorney Buddy Salver said that Tackett, who is the city director of finance, had contacted him immediately about the legality of holding two official titles within the administration. Salver said that Tackett could not legally hold two positions within one administration or even two positions within two different municipalities. Tackett had drafted an official letter of resignation on Wednesday in which he stated he had performed no duties associated with the title of city administrator.

Hobbrook moved that Tackett be given the duties as purchasing agent for the city, as personnel director and as grant administrator, all as spelled out in the city administrator ordinance. The vote was unanimous and Salver nodded his head in approval of the motion.

In another personnel matter, the council appointed Mike Reffitt as a new city patrolman. Reffitt, who has been a Rowan sheriff's deputy, was hired on the usual six month probationary contract.

The council also set next Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. as a special meeting date to take action on a Transportation Department traffic study for downtown and to listen to development proposals for the Divide Hill property where a housing facility will be built next to the Carl D. Perkins Community Facility.

Tackett told the councilmen that they would need to select a private developer to purchase the land and that Wednesday proposals in order to get an application in on time to the department for Housing and Urban Development for Section 8 set-asides for the coming year. Council adopted a formal resolution setting Wednesday as a special meeting date to listen to the proposals and select a developer. The private developer would purchase the land and operate the housing facility but it must be done according to specific HUD and Kentucky Housing Commission guidelines.

Larry Breeze, a local private developer, was asked to attend a later meeting date because he had not had time to prepare a proposal but Tackett advised him that the city was operating under a tight budget according to the meeting date was the latest date that such a meeting could be held. Breeze told the council that it would be "almost impossible" to get a proposal according to the plans for the Divide Hill property. The project, when completed, would contain about 70 housing units.

The developer would obtain an option on the property from which the city could recover the money he has invested in the property. That outlay by the city includes some $6,500 in administrative costs and a $25,000 loan for site planning from the Kentucky Housing Commission. Tackett said that the $25,000 loan was "callable" and, if the project was not initiated this year, the KHC might ask for its money.

Once the developer is approved by the city, Tackett said the city was still "at HUD's mercy" because it must approve the developer and the proposal. Aside from Breeze, two Somerset developers, NTR and Connie Curbs, had expressed an interest in the project.

In other action during the special meeting, council approved a $50 rent increase on a building owned by C. Roger Lewis; The Lewis building houses some city offices, and with the increase would cost the city $250 per month. The council also approved the appointment of Roger Cline to the Morehead Recreation, Tourism and Convention Commission. He will fill the unexpired term of Mary Levee.

The 5 p.m. meeting lasted less than an hour. All council members were present.

McBrayer Kicks Off Rowan Campaign

By JOE LAMB
Staff Writer

Saying that it was "high time that Kentucky has a governor from our end of the state," Terry McBrayer, Democratic candidate for governor, officially kicked off his Rowan County campaign by introducing his local committee during a rally Thursday night at Rowan County High School.

Jack Ellis, director of libraries at Morehead State University and one of McBrayer's county co-chairpersons, introduced the other four co-chairpeople and the county treasurer for the campaign. The other members include: Sam Litton, Homer Amburgy, Dr.

Louise Caudill, Dolly Forman and treasurer, Roy Caudill.

Also present with McBrayer at the rally were Mike Templeton, a Morehead native who is a co-chairman of McBrayer's statewide campaign, and Dick Robertson of the Kentucky Department of Commerce.

McBrayer, who spoke to the huge gathering for about 45 minutes, was very critical of the special legislative session now in progress as well as Lt. Gov. Thelma Stovall's recommendations for coming up with the revenue to offset her proposed tax cuts.

One of the Lieutenant Governor's proposals is to put $26 million in "surplus" funds from the Kentucky road fund back into the general fund. McBrayer said that he was disappointed with that proposal. He added, "I was knee-deep in mud in Leitcher County, Ky. this morning when someone told me (about it). And I was talking with some parents of some children. This very morning whose children could not get to school because the road was impassable."

"Yesterday, I was in Harlan County and saw 150 homes that were isolated and (whose residents) had to travel 15 miles down a railroad track to reach a major highway because the bridge washed out in the flood two years ago and hasn't been replaced."

Saying that you can't explain taking $26 million out of the road fund to these people, McBrayer called Stovall's proposal "absurd and ridiculous."

McBrayer was even more critical of the special session itself. He said that

File Charges In Murder Case

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) - A year-old murder investigation has ended with the posthumous filing of charges against a man who died of a drug overdose two weeks after the slaying last February, police reported.

The murder charges were filed posthumously against Roy Lee Woods, 26, of Louisville, who died of a heart attack after the fatal shooting of a liquor store clerk last Feb. 20 during a holdup in nearby Prospect. The victim was Paul Wintzer, 41, of Crestwood.

Police said they concluded that Woods had shot Wintzer during the holdup after a man who wasn't identified by police turned over to police a weapon later determined through tests to be the murder weapon. He reported buying the weapon from Woods several days after the date of the robbery. A positive identification of Woods as the gunman was made by a second store clerk wounded during the holdup, according to Jefferson County Det. John Spellman, who filed the murder charges against Woods.

Hazardous Contents Being Removed From Chemical Drums

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) - The draining of the remaining hazardous contents in more than 820 chemical drums recovered from the flooded Stop Gap Creek area is expected to be completed today, but the drums will remain in Jefferson County.

immediate emergency situation. Further, he added, the location of the drums on high ground would make it unlikely they would be affected by future floods.

"As an added precaution," Griggs noted, the old drums and contaminated dirt will be covered by plastic and an earthen wall will be built around the immediate area.

Richard Griggs, spokesman for the Environmental Protection Agency said the drums, containing at least 13 toxic chemicals, will remain on high ground until federal or state funds are available.

The federal or state funds prevents the transportation and disposal of the drums content. A likely disposal site was the landfill operated by Waste Management of Alabama in Livingston, Ala.

The drums had nearly all been emptied into reconditioned drums by Sunday evening. However, a shortage of funds has prevented their transfer to a licensed disposal site.

However, Griggs added other potential disposal sites have been contacted "in the event we would be unable to transport these chemicals to authorized sites."

The drums were recovered from the property of Mr. and Mrs. William Dietler, parents of Donald Dietler, who as president of Kentucky Liquid Recycling was recently convicted in federal court of illegally dumping chemicals into Louisville's sewer system.

"The fouling of Louisville's sewer system forced the city to shut off a sewer line for months during a clean-up. Meanwhile, the untreated sewage was dumped into the Ohio River.

The EPA has already made available $100,000 for the operation. However, Griggs said these funds were designed to deal specifically with the environmental emergency created by last month's floods.

Griggs said the Environmental Emergency branch of EPA Region 4 in Atlanta has begun a survey to determine the extent of the chemical drum disposal problem in the surrounding area and possible environmental problems.

Griggs said the Environmental Emergency branch of EPA Region 4 in Atlanta has begun a survey to determine the extent of the chemical drum disposal problem in the surrounding area and possible environmental problems.

The survey team will include EPA staff members, the Coast Guard Gulf Strike Team, the 19th Engineer Battalion from Ft. Knox and EPA's Monitoring and Support Laboratory in Las Vegas.

"There's no promise" of funding, Griggs said, and no indication of funding in the immediate future from either the federal or state government.

Some of the contents have already leaked into the nearby soil and the Ohio River, but Griggs said their present location reduces the threat to residents in southwest Jefferson County. "I think with the material in the reconditioned drums, that's much more satisfactory than the drums they were in prior to this," he noted. "This is the best that can be done with the amount of funds available at the moment."

He said the transfer of the chemicals to the reconditioned drums reduces the

English Professors Propose Abolishing Rules Of Grammar

Sentences. Grammar. No longer practical. Old habits. Abolish them. If two English teachers at Eastern New Mexico University get their way, American students soon will be taught to write much like that — no rules, no sentence structure.

Johnny can't read. Why? Because Johnny won't read. Don't change Johnny. Then what? Change grammar. Better yet. Abolish rules.

Abolish punctuation. Particularly the apostrophe. No difference in it's and its. Apostrophe not useful. Verbs. Adverbs. Nouns. Ugh. Who cares anyhow? Zzz.

Word meaning. Images. Ahh. That's better. Freedom for the writer! Ain't it beautiful? Words create images. People think images. Or pictures. Not sentences.

The apostles of this new discipline are Stanley Berne and Arlene Zekowski, associate professors of English at Eastern New Mexico University. Between them they have published 15 volumes of novels, short stories, poetry, plays and criticism.

They want a new "grammarless language." They say the 300 or so rules governing English grammar are arbitrary and are so complicated they drive students away from literature, both reading and writing.

Abolish the rules. Then Johnny will read. And write. They say.

They want grammar abolished and they're going on educational television with a series to demonstrate the need for the change. KEN-TV, Portales, N.M., an affiliate of PBS, will produce and distribute the series to educational television stations.

In an interview in New York, the professors discussed their proposals and their latest books on the subject.

Ms. Zekowski's "Image Breaking Images" and Berne's "Future Language."

"Who needs grammar?" Berne asked. "Did God give grammar to Moses on the mountain?"

"It's the whole cancerous structure of the English language," Ms. Zekowski said.

But what about the grammarless language? "It's already been adopted," Berne said. "We're professors of English. We are concerned with the idea of expressing feelings. Arbitrary rules of grammar prohibit that. If English teachers don't realize it and begin teaching that way, they're going to lose touch with the reality of the language. They're already in danger of losing touch."

"Arbitrary sentence structure is logical," Ms. Zekowski said. "But the brain isn't logical. You don't think in sentences. You think in terms of patterns and images. It's random association."

Grammar, she said, "is elitism. I wish to destroy what is dead, lifeless and snobbish."

"Grammar and spelling," Berne said, are "the property of a privileged minority class imposing its order on a willing majority anxious to rise out of its own supposed ignorance and vulgarity."

"The arbitrary rules are the cause of the decline in interest in English," Berne said. "It has already caused a decline in literacy that is alarming. Teachers want to blame it on TV. But it isn't TV. It's grammar that's to blame."

"There is a declining verbal intelligence. We notice in our classes that young people don't speak what we call English. They don't write like that either."

The language changes. We must recognize that and adapt to it. Old English was a beautiful language. So was Middle English. Just look at Beowulf and Chaucer. But people today can't understand it easily, if at all. The language has changed since then. It hasn't stopped changing. English teachers have to change. We've got to gear up or go under."

"Look in any newspaper or magazine," said Ms. Zekowski. "Look at the advertisements. They must communicate to sell. Many advertisements don't use sentences or grammar. They use words to create images. And they are successful."

"Do you believe in progress?" Ms. Zekowski asks herself in her latest book. Then she answers: "Once upon a time ago. But now nevermore."

You know?

Mind-boggling? Exactly. The two authors want to merge poetry with prose, using words to create images. They aren't the first to do it. Lewis Carroll, for example, wrote in the mid-1800s.

"Twas brillig, and the slithy toves Did gyre and gimble in the wabe;

All mimsy were the borogoves, And the mome raths outgrabe.

Ahh, but alas. You know, even their words is a sentence. Y'know what I mean?

Attorney General Calls For End To Fuel Adjustment Clause

FRANKFORT — Consumer advocates have called upon a legislative committee to eliminate fuel charges on utilities bills.

Leading the attack was the Attorney General's Office. Assistant Attorney General Glenda Beard said fuel adjustment charges on electric bills should be abolished for a variety of reasons.

Attorney General Robert Stephens cautioned consumers, however, that abolition of the fuel adjustment charges will not reduce the cost of utilities.

The consumer position was heard today in the last of three days of hearings conducted by the Joint Committee on Public Utilities, which is studying whether fuel adjustment charges should be retained.

The committee is considering both the fuel adjustment clause and the purchased gas adjustment. The purchased gas adjustment is the pass-through to the consumer of fluctuations in the price of wholesale natural gas.

Primary attention has been focused upon the fuel adjustment clause. In calling for abolition of the fuel adjustment clause, Beard said the clause does not provide an incentive for

Atkins Advocates Sunset Legislation

FRANKFORT — In a formal report on the state's capital construction fund, State Auditor George Atkins today advocated sunset legislation for capital construction funding.

"The capital construction fund includes funds appropriated years ago for projects that have not even begun. This extended delay indicates the project might no longer be needed or that inflation has significantly changed the scope of the project and, therefore, the legislature needs to reconsider," Atkins said.

"If funds are appropriated for a project which has not substantively begun or has not reasonable progress made by the following regular session of the legislature, two years later, the money should lapse at the end of the biennium."

Atkins also said the clause provides cost increases to the consumer without benefit of a public hearing.

Greater care should be taken in the acquisition of electric power, Beard said. Instead of building costly generating facilities, consideration should be given to obtaining electricity from power pools. This means that electric utilities would purchase all or some of their power needs from other utilities, thus eliminating the high costs of building and operating expensive generating plants, she said.

An opposing viewpoint was expressed on behalf of the Public Service Commission by its executive director, Perry R. White, Jr.

"The commission believes with certainty that electric utility bills will not decrease by the abolishment of the fuel adjustment clause," he said. "On the other hand, indications are that consumers would pay more."

"The abolishment of the fuel adjustment clause offers a false hope to the consumer," he said.

White said Kentucky ranks seventh lowest in the nation on the cost of electricity to the average consumer. West Virginia, often cited as having abolished the fuel adjustment clause, ranks 23rd, he said.

The public utilities committee will continue its study of the issue at subsequent meetings.

unless the funds are re-appropriated." The report recommended new legislation expressly prohibiting the use of the capital construction contingency fund for any purpose other than for overruns of emergencies.

"We further recommend that present statutes be amended to require the lapsing of any unneeded contingency monies appropriated to individual projects," Atkins said.

"The auditor added that this recommendation would normally have the effect of lapsing the 'available balance' for completed projects and the capital construction contingency fund would be used for those projects for which the overrun provisions are not sufficient to meet actual costs.

"Should a project be cancelled, the report says any funds appropriated for it should lapse."

"If implemented, these recommendations would eliminate the sugar bowl in the capital construction fund so as to lessen the opportunity for political use by any administration," Atkins said.

Atkins' review of the capital construction fund, requested by Lieutenant Governor Thelma Stovall last month, further recommends that all projects be enumerated and described in the Executive Budget and that future laws state that funds for projects cannot be used for any other purpose other than as stated in the budget document.

Atkins said explicit legislative approval proval should be required for any revenue bond issue including those issued by quasi-state agencies such as the State Fair Board.

"I believe that such bonds should be given the same legislative scrutiny as those funded by other sources."

One of the major conclusions in the auditor's capital construction fund review was that the state accounting system does not provide sufficient budgetary and other controls for the capital construction fund and published state financial projects do not adequately reflect fund activity and project balances.

"We recommend that the accounting system for the capital construction fund incorporate budgetary control over individual projects, including project accounts which disclose sources and amounts of funding, total expenditures and encumbrances, and receivables from all sources."

"As a result, the accounting system would readily identify available balances, or alternatively additional amounts needed from the contingency fund," Atkins said.

Sells Europe In Pots

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UPI) — Sherwood Goetze is buying up Europe, Ireland, Israel, Germany and Italy, and selling it in pots to Americans, at $4.95 each.

"The Europeans are buying up the United States and I'm buying up Europe — a little at a time," Goetze, a real estate broker, says only half in jest.

Actually, Goetze, 50, is importing cubic yards of earth and selling it by the handful in little cups, with colors and flags depicting the country of origin and a certificate to authenticate each cup of dirt. The buyer has his own "Wee Island."

Seventy million U.S. citizens have roots somewhere in Europe, he said, and lots of them long for a little piece of sod from Killarney, or the damp Ganga soil, or the brown earth, a chunk of the English Midlands, or even the sun-kissed sand from Tel Aviv.

Goetze believes the dirt business will stay around longer than the Pot Rock craze, because he's selling more than a joke.

"This has both elements," he said. "Earth has a lot of emotionalism attached to it. A friend gave it to a lady in her 80s from Ireland and, the gal had tears in her eyes."

Antique Furniture

By JAMES G. McCOLLAM
Copies News Service

Dear Mr. McCollam: I would like to know if this rocking chair has any value. I think it is about 100 years old. The old woman I got it from is 80 years old, and she said she bought it second-hand when she got married.

About 20 years ago, my daughter refinished it so this is not the original finish. Please tell me how much you think it is worth. — H.L.B., Poughkeepsie, N.Y.

Dear H.L.B.: This is a Boston Rocker and was made between 1820 and 1850. It should be worth between $100 and $200. Although your daughter did an excellent job of refinishing this chair, it would be worth slightly more with the original finish.

Dear Mr. McCollam: Enclosed is a picture of a clock belonging in my family and we would appreciate an approximate value on it.

I'm quoting a written family note in its history, "Mahogany case, 3 feet tall, solid brass works. Made by Hotchkiss and Benedict in 1812 at Auburn, N.Y." Inside label reads, "A Mungers Patent 8 day brass clock. Weights 10-13 pounds each." The picture in the door was put in later when James K. Polk was 11th president of the United States in 1845. The picture was by Carrier. — C.L., Costa Mesa, Calif.

Dear C.L.: Asa Mungers made clocks in Auburn from 1820 to 1850. Hotchkiss and Benedict were never clock makers, but might have made the case. Where the picture of Polk is, there was probably a painting on the reverse of the glass which was broken and replaced. Based on the style, this clock was probably made circa 1830-1840 and would be worth from $300 to $500 — more if all original.

Dear Mr. McCollam: I am enclosing a picture of an antique desk and chair which I would like to know about. The desk is walnut with drawers of curly maple — it had an additional piece on top which I had to remove. Will appreciate anything you can tell me about them. — H.R.S., Clearwater, Fla.

Dear H.R.S.: This secretary is transitional between Empire and Victorian and was probably made in the mid 1800s. It is a very fine piece and would sell from the high hundreds to over $1,000. I hope you have saved the piece from the top.

If you have any questions concerning the identification and evaluation of antique furniture, send a detailed description and one or more pictures of a single item with a stamped, self-addressed envelope to James G. McCollam, P.O. Box 67, Tredinn, Fla. 33528. (Published picture cannot be returned.)

Since the opinions stated here are based on superficial information, no responsibility is assumed. Questions of universal interest will be published, but all letters will be answered.

This desk from a 18th century furniture catalogue is known as a Haverport desk, so named for the British captain who had the original custom made in the early 1800's. The distinguishing feature is the manner of installing the drawers in the side. They were made for over 20 years and better examples are very desirable and valuable. Naturally, there were many cheap and shoddy versions made, particularly in the 4th quarter of the 19th century.

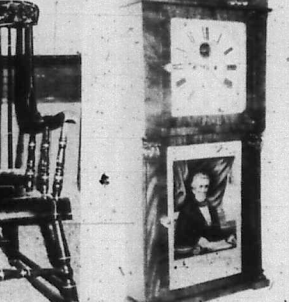

The value depends on vintage and quality; it ranges from the low hundreds for a late model of inferior quality to well over $1,000 for an early prime example.

Turner-Arnett House May Be Restored

By Helen Price Stacy
WEST LIBERTY — The Major W. Cox home here was a log house, but it was large and well built and the scene of many social events in town.

In 1869 Major Cox and his wife, the former Elizabeth Nickell, issued cards that read:
Major W. W. Cox & Lady at home
Thursday Evening March 25, 186
at 6 o'clock p.m.
Mr. H. C. Turner, Miss Lou Cox.

Turner was a property owner and became quite a builder.
Among his properties was the Christian Church corner at Prestonsburg and Broadway.

A barn that stood where the Christian Church now stands was razed and part of the lumber used in the first church and part to build two small cottages near the church.

Across Prestonsburg Street diagonally from the church stands a house that Turner built — the oldest house in West Liberty.
In 1923 when Floyd Arnett, banker and Commonwealth's attorney, occupied the Turner house, it still was the showplace in the county seat.

"He (Arnett) owned a beautiful brick residence in West Liberty that is heated with a hot water heating plant and is lighted with acetylene and has all conveniences of a modern city home," stated the 1923 central edition of the Lexington Valley Courier.

Restoration Target
Today the house, like anything that ages, is peeling, fading and crumbling, but still retains much of its former beauty.
It is a target for restoration by the Morgan County Historical Society. The handsome house went to Arnett's daughter Elsie (Mrs. Walter) Sebastian and now is owned by her son, Don, of Lexington.

Turner himself was a member of an old family with his kinsmen holding office and assuming leadership in the early formation of the county.
When Turner built his brick house he had clay dug nearby and the bricks made on the spot. Rooms were large with high ceilings and the leaded glass front door opened into a spacious entry and hallway.

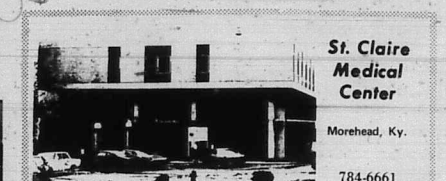

In a time when homes did not boast picture-windows, the Turner house had large windows with beveled glass insets.
Each room had its fireplace and mantel, with ceramic tile decorating the openings below and mirrored wooden work above.

Ornate Lights
Most rooms had wainscoting and ornate lights.
The bride who figured in the invitation issued by Major (later Judge) Cox and his Lady Elizabeth is buried in Barber Cemetery, just off Broadway in West Liberty.

The large marker bearing the name "Turner" was made to resemble temple gates with one side of the marker reserved for Lou Cox Turner and the other side reserved for Henry Clay Turner, but where his name is there is no grave.
Several years after his wife died, Turner married Miss Laura Prichard who was born in 1872 and who was a schoolteacher in Sandy Hook — one of her pupils was Paul Fanning who later became governor of Arizona.

Turner's life changed.
Whereas he and Lou had devoted themselves to society and family in West Liberty, he and Laura broadened their horizons.
Laura's father, L. C. Prichard, rode up and down Little Sandy buying stock and she sometimes rode with him.

Her mother, Caroline Kitchen Prichard, died in childbirth when Laura was 13 and she took on added responsibility that gave her a feeling of independence.
After her marriage she acquired valuable diamonds.
Every time she had a baby her husband gave her a two-carat diamond ring. When she died in 1967 at age 95 she was survived by one son and three daughters. Maybe some of them still have their diamonds.

Mrs. Turner left her children a legacy far more valuable than jewels.

The Turners moved to Lexington in 1906 and Turner did not long afterward. She continued to teach her children her philosophy:
"Take one day at a time. Whatever is written on that blank page is there to stay."

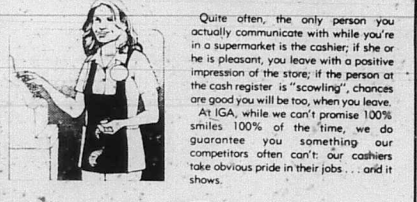

"It is smart to take chances in order to go places. If you wait till you're ready, you are never ready to go."
"Be sure you know what you are doing, then go ahead."
"As we have power over our thoughts we may as well think what gives us the most pleasure."

She traveled extensively, starting with the World's Fair in Chicago when she was 17.
She seldom planned her travels. If she woke up some morning with travel on her mind, she got on a bus — any bus — and went where it went.
Once she laughed when she wound up in Montreal. She made many trips to New York that way.

Buried In Lexington
That's one reason why there is no grave beside Lou Cox Turner. When Turner died, he was buried in Lexington, and when Laura Turner died in 1967 she was buried there too.
There is much history in the old brick house in the center of West Liberty.

The Arnetts brought still more wealth and social events to the house. Their son, Jack Courtney Arnett, was a popular young man in West Liberty. Floyd Arnett's brother, Charles was secretary of state.
After Arnett's first wife, Sarah Rose, died, he married Miss Lilla Walsh, popular Morgan County teacher. The old house has a chance to live on. Mrs. Parker May of West Liberty is

THE NEWS ASKS YOU

Are you in favor of repeal of $15 additional traffic fine levy?

During its special session, the legislature will consider repealing the $15 in additional traffic fines levied during the last General Assembly. Are you in favor of taking away this revenue which is supposed to be used to further educate police officers?

Wathan Armstrong, Rowan County Circuit Clerk — "No, I'm not in favor of taking away the revenue, however the $15 should be taken off the traffic fines and be gotten someplace else. The money all goes into the General Fund and is taken out of there, there is not a special fund for the additional traffic fine."

Shirley Hamilton, Morehead City Planning Aid — "I believe in the police officers taking the additional training. The $15 serves two purposes, police will drive slower to avoid the fine and the violators will pay the money that is put to use for the education of police officers."

Jimmy Nickell, Rowan County Sheriff — "I'm in favor of giving the education to police officers and the incentive pay to them without the additional $15 in additional fines. I don't see levying the people with $15 because the same thing can be done without it."

Jimmy Clay, District Judge — "We were against it in the first place, and I'm certainly against it now. We didn't want it on there in the first place, and most judges didn't use it, reducing the fines so that they stayed the same, because the fines were stiff enough to begin with."

ADC Council Meets In Corbin

CORBIN — The Kentucky Appalachian Development Council met Jan. 14 and 15 here at the Holiday Inn. Halph Coldiron, executive director of community and regional development in the Development Cabinet and executive director of the council, said five committees gathered to discuss the problems of education, transportation, intergovernmental relations, enterprise development and quality of life in Eastern Kentucky.

Reports compiled by each committee were presented to the full council on Monday morning. Coldiron said each of the five working committees were reporting on the recommendations that were made by the delegates who attended the Appalachian Development Conference.

Some 500 persons attended the Appalachian Development Conference in Morehead last summer. When Gov. Julian M. Carroll officially established the Appalachian Development Council, Eugene Mooney, secretary of the Department of Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, was to be featured speaker at a luncheon following the committee reports. Plans were to adjourn at 3:30 p.m. Monday. The Appalachian Development Council is charged with formulating long-range plans aimed at furthering Kentucky Appalachia's economic growth.

Weather Knocks Electricity Out

Many of electricity Mason Rural Electric Cooperatives' 13,000 members were without electric power the past weekend due to the severe sleet storm which started creating havoc the morning of Jan. 7.

All available service crews were in the field by noon and by 3 p.m., two contractors were working but repairs could not be made as fast as more damage occurred.

The following day, 10 men and four trucks from Licking Valley RECC, of West Liberty and 10 men and five trucks from Cumberland Valley RECC, Corbin, Ky., arrived to assist in repair and clean up operations.

The damage caused by the storm is one of the worst, if not the worst, suffered by the Cooperative in its history.

Repairs to the lines has been hampered by the additional snowfall since the major storm.

Crews worked around the clock to bring light and power to the homes, dairies and industry.

House Democrats Preparing Proposals On Property Tax

FRANKFORT, Ky. (UPI) — House Democrats are expected to finalize their property tax proposals with the possibility of a bill being introduced in the lower chamber as the second week of the special session gets underway.

Speaker William Kenton of Lexington said the newly formed Democratic advisory policy group will meet Tuesday with the party's caucus to "come to definite conclusions in the taxing area" with a solid position to be announced Tuesday.

He said hearings will probably begin sometime during the week on the policy of taxation and tax reduction, which he predicted will be a consensus among all legislators and not only the caucus.

But, the Democrats' action will be shadowed by Gov. Julian Carroll's appearance before the Senate, probably on Wednesday, in his effort to "provide accurate information rather than political platforms."

Carroll last week attacked Lt. Gov. Thelma Stovall's estimates included in her revenue source program which she claims will finance her $73 million tax and utility relief program.

The governor will likely continue his criticisms of Mrs. Stovall, a candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, as he presents figures contradicting the estimates of his second-in-command.

According to Senate President Pro Tem Joseph Prather of Vine Grove, the hearings the upper chamber conducted last week as a collective committee will continue this week with state revenue officials and economic testifying.

"We'll be discussing all areas of the budget with Senate Bill 2 as the excuse," Prather said, referring to the Senate's agreement to form the collective committee with the ostensible purpose of examining the bill.

Rep. Joe Clarke, D-Danville, chairman of the House Appropriations and Revenue Committee, added "we'll start moving back into the budget cutting situation" once the legislature convenes on Tuesday.

The legislators face a short three-day work-week with Monday declared a holiday in observance of the Rev. Martin Luther King's birthday and Friday in observance of Robert E. Lee's birthday.

Clarke said the committee has "been working pretty hard on these proposals to get a balance sheet" and will present its own figures for financing a tax relief program sometime during the week.

Prather, like Kenton, said no major legislation will probably come before either chamber as they grapple with ways to cut the budget to finance some type of tax relief. Minor bills may be voted on Thursday, Prather added.

On the House side, Kenton said committee reports will begin to filter into the lower chamber, setting the stage for possible action on bills.

Kenton summed up the lawmakers' attitude by saying "this legislation will be tough on taxes if a meaningful way to the people, suggesting they will get real relief rather than cosmetic relief."

Ashland Station Burglarized

White's Ashland Station on Morgan Fork Road was the scene of a burglary early Friday morning.

According to Joe White, the station owner, someone entered the building by breaking out the front window and unlocking the door.

White said that a timing light, a dwell meter, a wheel puller, several cartons of cigarettes and "all kinds of expensive tools were taken."

White said that the burglary occurred about 4:15 a.m. Friday. He was able to determine the time because the thief or thieves unplugged an electric clock while taking his adding machine.

White estimated that between $700 and $800 worth of merchandise and tools were taken.

The incident is under investigation by the Kentucky State Police.

UK Alumni Elects Officers

LEXINGTON, Ky. (UPI) — John C. Owens, a Lexington businessman and formerly one of the state's top amateur golfers, has been elected president of the University of Kentucky Alumni Association for 1979.

John C. Nichols II of Louisville, senior vice-president, and chief financial officer for Convient Industries of America, Inc., has been chosen president-elect.

Owens, a 1950 UK graduate, is a certified public accountant and was previously associated with National Mines JCorp. He is now privately engaged as a financial consultant in the energy field.

Owens was Kentucky State Amateur golf champion in 1963 and 1964 and won the Southeastern Conference Golf Championship in 1959. He made the quarter-final round in both the 1963 U.S. Amateur Golf Championship and the 1974 British Amateur Golf Championship.

Owens succeeds Ted Bates of Lexington as president of the Alumni Association, with 24,000 members. The UK association is one of the largest membership alumni organizations in the southeast.

Jan Morris, of Lexington, was reelected treasurer of the association, an office she has held since 1964. Jay Brumfield, UK director of alumni affairs, was renamed secretary to the alumni board.

Stamper Scores 36 As MSU Defeats Murray

Morehead State ended a 16-game losing streak in Ohio Valley Conference play Saturday afternoon by defeating Murray State 84-70 before a regionally televised audience.

The Eagles shot a sizzling 60.6 percent in the first half. The defense was hot in the first half also, only allowing Murray State 10 field goals. Coach Wayne Martin attributes that low figure to his players keeping Murray off the offensive board.

Saturday's victory evened Morehead's record at 4-4. "We've accomplished at least two things already," said Martin after the game. "We've won more than four games and we've won an OVC game." Morehead had not won an OVC game since February of 1977 when they defeated Eastern Kentucky, 74-72.

Herbie Stamper came alive and lived up to his press guide cover expectations, which proclaim, "WANTED: Herbie Stamper, for long-range bombing, assulting school scoring records, terrorizing defenses, and very dangerous from anywhere."

Stamper, the leading scorer last year in the OVC, came into the contest averaging just 16.6 points and shooting only 44 percent from the field. He poured in the season-high 36 points, hitting 14 of 21 shots and all eight of his free throws.

"That's the best game Herbie's played by far," Martin said. "He's been hampered by illness and injury all year. Today he just went out and did it."

Also in double figures was Charlie

Clay. Clay who had been averaging only 10.9 points in a game, totaled 21 points and blocked six shots in the contest.

Martin went on to say, "Our defense was just superb in the first half." Martin said, "Charlie's defense out of our zone just intimidated Murray completely."

"He really played today the way we knew, that he could; that's scoring inside and being an intimidator on defense. Charlie has really played well all year, but today he was spectacular."

Stamper's 36 points gave him 1,781 in his career, tying him with Leonard Coulter for fourth place on Morehead's all-time list. He needs only 145 points to break the school record held by Dan Swartz with 1,925.

Morehead never trailed during the game. The Eagles raced to a 20-5 lead with 12:38 to play in the half and pushed that to a 22-point lead with nine straight points with 7:19 left in the first half. During that period Clay scored five straight points.

"That easily was the best first half we've played," Martin said. "We shot 60 percent and that was really a result of our defense which is what we've been trying to stress. We established the tempo of the game with our defense. Murray had a tough time trying to run its offense."

Breckinridge Loses To Raceland

By TED SLOAN Sports Writer

The icy conditions that last week's weather left behind took its toll on Friday's high school basketball schedule, but a few games were allowed to take place.

One game was a University Breckinridge loss to Raceland at Wetherby Gym. The Eagles looked strong in the first half, but faltered near the end of the half and took a 26-25 lead into intermission. In the third quarter, as Breck coach Dennis put it, "it seemed like we quit altogether," as the Rams jumped out to a 41-34 lead. Dennis played his backup people the rest of the way and his team took a 57-43 loss.

Senior Brian Harris had one of his better offensive games with 15 points. Joe Magrane was the only other Eaglet in double figures with 10.

Dennis pointed out that most of the output from those two players came before halftime. "Harris had 11 of his points in the first half, and Magrane had eight of his points in the first half. We ran our offense real good, and our turnovers down. We got the good shots, and we hit 'em. The only way they (Raceland) stayed with us was that we shot two out of six on free throws, and they hit 11 of 12."

The Eaglets will take a 4-12 record into action Tuesday night at Lewis County in a game that will be aired on WKMY-TV (7:30 airtime). The Lions, who are also in a rebuilding process, look to be a team Breck can compete with. "That's the trouble," Dennis commented. "We've had two or three teams that we should have been able to compete with, and I thought we might get a win or two, but we let 'em slip away. We had Morgan County at home, and that was a chance to win. The chances to win are going to be pretty remote this year. Lewis County at home is always tough. I'd put them in the same category as Morgan County and Raceland."

Dennis talked about the Lewis County team itself. "We saw them in the EKTC Tournament (Dec. 4-9, 1978). I'm sure they're improved. They do a lot of running, they're real quick, and they shoot real well on the road. They get good crowd support, and the crowd affects their play a bit."

Lewis County coach Gary Kidwell gave his own view on the Breck ballclub. "They play a sticky man-to-man defense. I heard Coach Dennis talk the other day about Dawson being gone, how the other players have to pick up the slack, and that it's more of a team effort. Whenever we get together, it's always a tough game."

"They've improved a lot," Kidwell continued. "We saw them earlier in the season, and they're coming along. We're not much the same situation. We lost our first seven players from last year, and they did, too. It's a rebuilding year for both of us."

The Lions were scheduled to play

NCAA Passes Legislation Outlawing Athletic Dorms

Wildcat Lodge may be the most posh athletic dorm in the country. I can attest to that. Last summer I was given a tour of the Lodge by one of the current residents and a visitor would conclude that the word 'luxurious' to describe the dorm would be an understatement.

The legislation will, for certain, put a cramp in the style of UK players next year. Basically the legislation says that athletic dorms cannot be way out of line with university dorms.

It's a wait and see thing and it has to be resolved through interpretation. Kentucky coach Joe Hall said, "We built a dormitory in good faith and within the rules of the NCAA, whatever they are. We will abide by those rules and do what they ask us to do."

Chris Hagan, the UK athletic director said, "the legislation is not much to go on. We're going to need some interpretation, and I expect we'll have it in the next month or so."

Hagan went on to say, "It goes without saying that we're going to comply with it. But they haven't told us what we're going to have to do, we'll just have to wait and see."

Athletic dorms on or near the scale of Wildcat Lodge are no doubt an unfair recruiting advantage. What bothers me is exclusive dorms above and beyond university standards have been in existence for years at schools such as Oklahoma, Alabama and Texas A&M. Overall these other dorms aren't as extravagant as Wildcat Lodge simply because they are for football teams, whose squads are a lot larger.

Since there were no regulations before Wildcat Lodge was built, it seems a shame that such a fine facility that was built entirely with private donations, mostly from Eastern Kentucky, may become obsolete.

The NCAA's 20th convention at San Francisco passed legislation which it defines as outlawing exclusive athletic dormitories.

The legislation obviously will have the greatest effect on Kentucky, whose athletic dorms

Lady Eagles Suffer First Loss Bounce Back And Defeat Murray

Losing is never fun. But Morehead State University's Lady Eagle Basketball Coach, Mickey Wells is hoping some good things will come out of his squad's first defeat of the season, a 75-74 loss to Louisville.

"We hope the game was a learning experience," Wells said. "We played well enough to win. It was just a lack of maturity that caused us to lose."

"It was a very close game and there was a lot of pressure. When you're ahead by seven with two minutes left, you shouldn't lose the ball game."

As the score would indicate, it was not an easy win for the Cardinals.

MSU fought back from a 35-30 halftime deficit and held a 74-67 lead at the 2:02 mark. Louisville then ran off six unanswered points, and Denise Griffith's bonus free throws at the 08 mark gave UL the one-point win.

"Everyone was coming in wanting to beat Morehead since we were undefeated," said sophomore guard Connie Ryan. "They were really fired up and I guess we weren't. We didn't expect that rough of a game and I think that's part of why we lost."

Junior forward Donna Murphy led the Lady Eagles in scoring with 21 points followed by freshman center Donna Stephens with 16 and freshman guard Irene Moore with 15.

The Lady Eagles were quick to recover from the loss, however.

Two nights later, MSU bounced back to beat Murray State 92-78, without the services of leading scorer and rebounder, Donna Murphy.

Barely two minutes into the game, Murphy left action with an ankle injury.

"I was concerned that if someone became fatigued or got into foul trouble, I'd have to play some kids in positions they had never played before."

But Wells' young squad came through.

Led by freshmen Irene Moore, Donna Stephens and Robin Harmon, and junior Michelle Stowers, MSU battled to a 51-37 halftime lead and held on for the final 92-78 margin.

Moore hit 23 points and grabbed 14 rebounds.

Harmon added 19 points and Stowers

"I don't think Donna's being out had either a positive or a negative effect on us because we didn't know if she would play some more or not," Stowers said. "It was just a matter of having someone to take her place. I feel we have some players that can like Dot Burk and Loretta Hummelhoff. They've been playing well lately."

Colby Mickey Wells credits teamwork and balanced scoring for the victory.

"Scoring 92 points with out Donna Murphy in the lineup took a real team effort," Wells said. "I was pleased with the three freshmen and Stowers. Dorothy Burk also did well in a substitute role."

Burk hit for seven points and grabbed seven rebounds. Sophomore forward Loretta Hummelhoff hit three of five shots for six points, 16 rebound-out the Lady Eagle scoring.

MSU's record now stands at 10-1. Louisville pushed its record to 6-4 and Murray State dropped to 6-7.

The Lady Eagles will be in action again Wednesday at Western Kentucky.

Coaches Hope To Resume Play Tonight

By TED SLOAN
Sports Writer

With the almost-traditional January "back" because of bad weather in full swings, most of the area's high school basketball coaches are anxious to get back to the hardwood tonight.

West Carter will visit Rowan County this evening in a battle between two teams who are developing something of a rivalry. The Vikings defeated West Carter in the Eastern Kentucky Conference Tournament early in December on a last-second shot, but the Comets took their measure on Rowan County coach Ted Trent still remembers well that drubbing. "We will be trying to make a point," he said. "We played very badly there. We were not up to par, we had some sickness and some injuries. Plus, there was the mental aspect in that we had just beaten them in the EKTC Tournament. We just coming off of a long layoff, so we should be ready to play basketball. West Carter has a real good ballclub, and it'll be a good challenge to play someone who beats us by 24."

Comet coach Jimmy Webb said there wasn't any particular aspect of the game that his team exploited in their victory a month ago. "We didn't see any weakness in particular to work on. We played a good game against them, more than anything. It'll be harder there than it was here."

Both teams have each played only one game since the Christmas break, and Webb in particular is not happy about that. "We've just played once since the other Rowan County game," he said. "It hurts. We're missing something like game experience."

For Trent, it's been a particularly heavy schedule of road games up to now, and he, too, is anxious to play this evening. "It's our first game at home since December (a seven-point loss to East Carter the week after the EKTC Tournament in the Vikings' only home game). We're looking forward to it. Hopefully we can get that one to it."

East Carter is also scheduled to see action tonight, as the Raiders take on Raceland in a tune-up for their Friday encounter with the cross-county rival Comets. East Carter's weather situation has been even more serious than some others; Charles Baker's team hasn't seen action since December 19, and their game against Elliott County Friday night was called off. Baker isn't taking lightly the team that will meet his at Hitchens tonight. "They're a small, quick team. They played Breck (last Friday) and won 57-43. They're a scrappy team, and we've got to be ready to play hard."

Baker has been working his team out during this time off, but he said the situation has not been a good one. "We've been practicing whenever we can. With the snow, it's sometimes hard to get the boys here. We should be getting used to it, this 'break' we've had the last two seasons. It's almost like two different seasons."

"It's good to practice some fundamentals," he continued. "It gives the people on the bench a chance to practice, and we can work on some of our weaknesses. But, we need to play."

"The rest of tonight's high school game slate has University Breckinridge at Lewis County; Lexington Tates Creek visits Fleming County; Menifee County travels to Wolfe County; Boyd County takes on Elliott County; and Lexington Catholic is at Bath County.

Irene Moore (11) directs the Lady Eagle attack Thursday night against Louisville. Louisville handed the Eagles their first loss of the season by one point.

NCAA Restores OVC's Automatic Baseball Bid

During its annual convention last week in San Francisco last week, the NCAA voted to restore the Ohio Valley Conference's automatic bid to the NCAA baseball playoffs.

During mid-1978 the NCAA had withdrawn the OVC's bid, but following an appeal at the convention the NCAA opted to reverse its decision.

Conference Commissioner Bob Vanatta, Morehead State baseball coach Steve Hamilton, and Murry State athletic director/baseball coach Johnny Began represented the OVC at the meeting.

With the restoration of the automatic bid to the NCAA baseball playoffs, the OVC is once again eligible for all of the NCAA-sanctioned playoffs.

Morehead State's men's track and cross country coach, A.L. (Buck) Dawson has resigned to accept a position in Florida. His resignation was effective Dec. 30, 1978. Dawson has been replaced by acting head coach Oscar Jones for the remainder of the year.

The NCAA has released the 1978 football attendance statistics. College football attendance in 1978 enjoyed its second largest increase in history. It was the 24th increase in the last 25 years of college football attendance.

According to the annual survey by the NCAA Statistics Service, NCAA Division II produced the largest percentage increase in per-game average, up 4.98% - up 480 per game to 5,544. NCAA Division III enjoyed the second-highest increase at 3.69% - up 208 per game to 2,629. NCAA Division I-A was up 3.89% in per-game average, up 1,213 to 2,407 per game.

All non-NCAA members fell 36 per game or 1.4% to 2,540. The decline was in NCAA Division I-AA, which includes the Ohio Valley Conference. Division I-AA fell 25 per game or 3.11% to 10,113. The Ohio Valley Conference attendance in 1978 was 355,887 for 37 games which averaged out to 9,619. This represents a 8.4% drop in attendance from 1977's average of 10,509.

More numbers: The latest NCAA basketball statistics have Kentucky leading the country in free throw percentage at .782. Virginia is close behind at .781. Notre Dame leads in field goal percentage with .564 and has been beating opponents by 26.5 points per game.

Individual leaders have Larry Bird from Indiana State on top with 32.6 average. Jeff Rutland from Iowa leads in field goal percentage, hitting .723 of his shots. Free throw percentage is led by Greg White from Marshall at .956.

Bill Cartwright who plays for San Francisco has the rebounding lead with 16.3 grabs per contest.

If this winter is a repeat of the last two, some Kentucky farm ponds may suffer from winter fish kills caused by the weather. Fortunately, however, there are measures which can prevent these kills from occurring.

Problems arise when ponds become frozen over and a heavy snow then covers the ice, blocking all sunlight. Without light, the plant life in the pond dies. Decaying plant material uses a large amount of oxygen, the remaining plants can't produce oxygen without light and there is no wave action to help oxygenate the water. If this condition continues for long, the dissolved oxygen in the pond may become too low to support life.

Ponds with running water inlets seldom experience winter kills, since the water flowing into the pond contains plenty of oxygen. Clear ice, by itself, is no problem, since sunlight can penetrate it.

Pond owners can help prevent winter fish kills by keeping snow off the ponds surface. A few sessions with a snow shovel or push broom will go a long way towards helping fish survive the winter. But make sure that the ice is strong enough to support your weight - at least 4 inches thick.

Although a pond could be cleared with mechanical equipment, it's not a good idea this far South. Better to restock the pond than to risk losing a tractor - and perhaps a life.

If the snow is impossible to remove, chop a few holes in the ice and keep them open (if you have ducks, they'll do the job for you). A technique sometimes used in hatcheries: ponds is to stick a small outboard motor through the hole and run it for several minutes. The resulting agitation of the water adds oxygen.

Generally, small, shallow ponds are more likely to experience winter kills than are larger, deeper ones. Lakes almost always have water flowing into them and so don't suffer from winter kills, although a few species, like threespine stickleback, are sometimes killed by prolonged low water temperatures. Severe oxygen depletion in a pond can kill virtually all aquatic life, but partial kills are more common. Unfortunately, the fish most likely to survive are small bluegill, the usual culprits when a pond goes "out of balance." Without bass or large bluegill to control their numbers, a population explosion of bluegill can take place.

With more bluegill than available food, the fish just stop growing, resulting in a pond full of two-to three-inch fish. When this occurs often the only solution is to destroy all the fish as directed by a fishery biologist and restock the pond.

But since it takes a couple of years for stocked fish to reach catchable size, it's best to try to save a productive pond. A little attention this winter can mean good fishing this summer.

Update On For MSU Football Assistants

By MARK PERRINS
Sports Editor

Coaching like perhaps no other occupation is a highly transit one. A head coach or an assistant, like any other, profession always looks for better opportunities in his career. Some by choice and others because they have to. Morehead State hired Tom Lichtenberg to be the new football coach. The only one of the five assistants who has stayed is Tom Jones. The others have either already found other jobs or are still looking.

Jones will begin his second year as an assistant football coach at Morehead. Last year his duties centered on the offensive line, this year he will concentrate on the defensive line.

"The program we have has got to go up," Jones said. "I think Coach Lichtenberg and the staff he brought will do a real good job. The players here have the desire to win and the new staff change will help them accomplish that." Jones went on to say:

Rich Rachel, who was the defensive coordinator at MSU who has found a job at the University of Kansas. Rachel will become the defensive end coach at the Big 8 December 23.

Rachel commented that he enjoyed working with former MSU head coach Wayne Chapman. Both Rachel and Chapman coached at Tampa before coming to Morehead. "I'm really excited and looking forward to my new job. It was a lucky break for me."

Jim Hastings was the offensive coordinator for the Eagles. Hastings became the head coach at Johnson Central High School in Paintsville, Kentucky on January 19.

Hastings has had plenty of high school coaching experience and says he enjoys coaching high school better than college. "I can get closer to the kids on a high school level," Hastings says. He added: "I will be in a better position to have a positive impact on the kids."

When contacted, Hastings said he was in process of setting up the winter program at Johnson Central. He will have five assistants and reports that he has had a good reception in the Highlands area.

Mark Sheehan, who was the defensive line coach at MSU and George Crume, who was in charge of the linemen, have not found other coaching jobs as of last weekend. Also contacted about his future plans was Chapman, who also reported no plans as of yet.

West Carter Friday, but couldn't because of the road conditions. Lewis County is 2-4 on the year, and hasn't played since the finals of its own Lewis County Invitational Tournament December 23.

The Bath County Wildcats also saw action Friday outlasting Woodford County, 60-57. The Wildcats nudged in front near the end of the first quarter, and held a slim lead the rest of the way. Mark Swartz took scoring honors with 21 points. Mike Bohm followed with 18, and Andre Walker added 13.

Bath County took advantage of some time off due to the weather to get some practice off the field, and coach Gary Taylor indicated that it may have helped against Woodford County. "We started to hit the basket, hitting for a better percentage from the field," he said. "We're getting used to one another. They're getting to know where their teammates will be, and they're playing as a unit rather than as five individuals. Maybe they're 7-10 days off we had it due to some good."

The Bath County schedule doesn't let up as tonight's opponent is Lexington Catholic. "They're real good," Taylor began. "They have three kids back from last year. The last I heard they were 6-4. We'll have our hands full. We'll be at home, so maybe that will give us a homecourt advantage. They play a shuffle offense, so we'll have to play some defense, because they can really put that ball in the hole."

Other games from last Friday that were called off included: Rowan County at Fleming County (rescheduled for Jan. 29); East Carter at Elliott County; and Boyd County at Menifee County.

Herbie Stamper scores one of his season high 26 points Saturday during a 81-70 win over Murray.

Lady Vikings Scheduled To Host Russell

By TED SLOAN
Sports Writer

The inclement weather has had its effect on girls basketball as well as boys in the high school ranks.

Rowan County played one game and had one called off since the end of the holiday break. The Lady Vikings were slated to travel to Maysville last night and Thursday will play host to Russell.

Rowan County coach Claudia Hicks regards both teams very highly. She sees Maysville as "absolutely one of the best girls basketball teams you're going to see in this side of the state. Hicks describes both Russell and Maysville as "A-1" excellent ballclubs.

She also feels that they are similar in some ways. Maysville has a little more speed," Hicks commented. "Maysville gets in front of a defense and gets the easy shot if they can. Russell doesn't get in front. They can set up and get the good shot. Regina Carroll of Russell is a tremendous player who is capable of scoring 30 points a game, and she can steal about 10 rebounds if you're not careful. She's absolutely one of the best in the state. We have to contain her. We've not played her this year, and we're looking forward to it."

Hicks is not as unhappy about this month's "forced vacation" as some coaches. "We've practiced regularly every day since Christmas. It's kind of a nice break. We're trying new things where in a regular schedule we would be unable to throw things in. We would like to contact her. I hope things clear up before we go out on the road this week. We're ready to play basketball."

"A couple of players were unable to come in, and we're concerned," she went on. "One of them is Debbie Dehart, who is a big factor on our team. We've gone on and practiced without her."

University Breckinridge has also played only once since, before the holidays. That was a five-point loss to Ashland Holy Family January 3 that encouraged Lady Eagle coach Dan Lindsey. "We felt pretty good about that," he said. "The Litenkous ratings had them a 20-point favorite over us. We feel we're rated pretty low to begin with, but the way we played at the beginning of the season, that's about right."

Tonight Breck goes against Elliott County at home. "They've beaten us two times by about 15, but we feel pretty good about our chances to beat them this time around," Lindsey said.

Lindsey's team is 4-11 on the year, but he feels "It's just a matter of time. In a year or two we'll be a good team." He went on to talk about his game plan for building a winning program at Breck. "What we're trying to do is to establish a junior varsity program and a junior high program at Breck. They've not had the programs as much as they would have liked to have. We're kind of playing a numbers game, too, with only 60 girls in the school, it's hard to get 25 or so to play basketball."

Coaches Hope To Resume Play Tonight

By TED SLOAN
Sports Writer

With the almost-traditional January "break" because of bad weather in full swing, most of the area's high school basketball coaches are anxious to get back to the hardwood tonight.

West Carter will visit Rowan County this evening in a battle between two teams who are developing something of a rivalry. The Vikings defeated West Carter in the Eastern Kentucky Conference Tournament early in December on a last-second shot, but the Comets took their measure on Rowan County coach Ted Trent still remembers well that drubbing. "We will be trying to make a point," he said. "We played very badly there. We were not up to par, we had some sickness and some injuries. Plus, there was the mental aspect in that we had just beaten them in the EKC Tournament. We're just coming off of a long layoff, so we should be ready to play basketball. West Carter has a real good ballclub, and it'll be a good challenge to play someone who beats us by 24."

Comet coach Jimmy Webb said there wasn't any particular aspect of the game that has team experts looking for a victory a month ago. "We didn't see any weakness in particular to work on. We played a good game against them, more than anything. It'll be harder there than it was here."

Both teams have each played only one game since the Christmas break, and Webb's "usual" routine to play this about that. "We've just played once since the other Rowan County game," he said. "It had nothing to do with anything like game experience. There's nothing like game experience."

For Trent, it's been a particularly heavy schedule of road games up to now, and he, too, is anxious to play this evening. "It's our first game at home since December (a seven-point loss to East Carter the week after the EKC Tournament in the Vikings' only home game). We're looking forward to it. Hopefully we can get that one in."

East Carter is also scheduled to see action tonight, as the Raiders take on Racedale in a tune-up for their Friday encounter with the cross-county rival Comets. East Carter's weather situation has been even more serious than some others. Charles Baker's team hasn't seen action since December 19, and their game against Elliott County Friday night was called off. Baker isn't taking lightly the team that will meet his at Hitchens tonight. "They're a small, quick team. They played Break (last Friday) and won 57-43. They're a scrappy team, and we've got to be ready to play hard."

Baker has been working his team out during this time off, but he said the situation has not been a good one.

"We've been practicing whenever we can. With the snow, it's sometimes hard to get the boys here. We should be getting used to it, this break. We've had the last two seasons. It's almost like two different seasons."

"It's good to practice some fundamentals," he continued. "It gives the people on the bench a chance to practice, and we can work on our own weaknesses. But, we need to play."

The rest of tonight's high school cage slate has University Breckinridge at Lewis County; Lexington, Bates, Creek visits Fleming County; Menifee County travels to Wolfe County; Boyd County takes on Elliott County; and Lexington Catholic is at Bath County.

Irene Moore (14) directs the Lady Eagle attack Thursday night against Louisville. Louisville defeated the Eagles their first loss of the season by a point.

NCAA Restores OVC's Automatic Baseball Bid

During its annual convention last week in San Francisco last week, the NCAA voted to restore the Ohio Valley Conference's automatic bid to the NCAA baseball playoffs.

During mid-1978, the NCAA had withdrawn the OVC's bid, but following an appeal at the convention the NCAA opted to reverse its decision.

Conference Commissioner Bob Vanatta, Morehead State baseball coach Steve Hamilton, and Murry State athletic director/baseball coach Johnny Hegan represented the OVC at the meeting.

With the restoration of the automatic bid to the NCAA baseball playoffs, the OVC is once again eligible for all of the NCAA-sanctioned playoffs.

Morehead State's men's track and cross country coach, A.L. Bucki Dawson has resigned to accept a position in Florida. His resignation was effective Dec. 30, 1978. Dawson has been replaced by acting head coach Oscar Jones for the remainder of the year.

The NCAA has released the 1978 football attendance statistics. College football attendance in 1978 enjoyed its second largest increase in history. It was the 24th increase in the last 25 years of college football attendance.

According to the annual survey by the NCAA Statistics Service, NCAA Division II produced the largest percentage increase in per-game average at 9.48%, up 480 per game to 5,544. NCAA Division III enjoyed the second-highest increase at 9.58%, up 200 per game to 2,629. NCAA Division I-A was up 3.89% in per-game average, up 1,213 to 32,407 per game.

All non-NCAA members fell 36 per cent or 1.4% to 2,540. The other decline was in NCAA Division I-AA, which includes the Ohio Valley Conference. Division I-AA fell 22 per cent or 2,11% to 10,113. The Ohio Valley Conference attendance in 1978 was 355,893 for 37 games which averaged out to 9,619. This represents a 6.47% drop in at-temptation from 1977's average of 10,509.

More members—the latest NCAA basketball statistics have Kentucky leading the country in free throw percentage at 78.2. Virginia is close behind at 78.1. Notre Dame leads in field goal percentage with .564 and has been beating opponents by 26.5 points per game.

Individual leaders have Larry Bird from Indiana State on top with 32.6 average. Jeff Ruland from Iowa leads in field goal percentage, hitting .723 of his shots. Free throw percentage is led by Greg White from Marshall at .856.

Bill Cartwright who plays for San Francisco has the rebounding lead with 16.8 grabs per contest.

If this winter is a repeat of the last two, some Kentucky farm ponds may suffer from winter fish kills caused by the weather. Fortunately, however, there are measures which can prevent these kills from occurring.

Problems arise when ponds become frozen over and a heavy snow then covers the ice, blocking all sunlight. Without light, the plant life in the pond dies. Decaying plant material uses a large amount of oxygen, the remaining plants can't produce oxygen without light and there is no wave action to help oxygenate the water. If this condition continues for long, the dissolved oxygen in the pond may become too low to support life.

Ponds with running water inlets seldom experience winter kills, since the water flowing into the pond contains plenty of oxygen. Clear ice, by itself, is not a problem, since sunlight can penetrate it.

Pond owners can help prevent winter fish kills by keeping snow off the ponds surface. A few sessions with a snow shovel or push broom can go a long way towards helping fish survive the winter. But make sure that the ice is strong enough to support your weight—at least 4 inches thick.

Although a pond could be cleared with mechanical equipment, it's not a good idea this far South. Better to restock the pond than to risk losing a tractor and, perhaps a life.

If the snow is impossible to remove, chop a few holes in the ice and keep them open (if you have ducks, they'll do the job for you). A technique sometimes used in hatchery ponds is to stick a small outboard motor through the hole and run it for several minutes. The resulting agitation of the water adds oxygen.

Generally, small, shallow ponds are more likely to experience winter kills than are larger, deeper ones. Lakes almost always have water flowing into them and so don't suffer from winter kills, although a few species, like threadfin shad, are sometimes killed by prolonged low water temperatures.

Severe oxygen depletion in a pond can kill virtually all aquatic life, but partial kills are more common. Unfortunately, the fish most likely to survive are smelt and bluegill, the usual culprits when a pond goes "out of balance." Without bass or large bluegill to control their numbers, a population explosion of bluegill can take place.

With more bluegill than available food, the fish just stop growing, resulting in a pond full of two-to-three-inch fish. When this occurs often the only solution is to destroy all the fish as directed by a fishery biologist and restock the pond.

But since it takes a couple of years for stocked fish to reach catchable size, its best to try to save a productive pond. A little attention this winter can mean good fishing this summer.

Update On For MSU Football Assistants

By MARK PERKINS
Sports Editor

Coaching like perhaps no other occupation, is a highly transient one. A head coach or an assistant, like any other profession always looks for better opportunities in his career. Some by choice and others because they have to.

Morehead State hired Tom Lichtenberg to be the new, football coach. The only one of the five assistants who has stayed is Tom Jones. The others have either already found other jobs or are still looking.

Jones will begin his second year as an assistant football coach at Morehead. Last year his duties centered on the offensive line, this year he will concentrate on the defensive line.

"The program we have has got to go up," Jones said. "I think Coach Lichtenberg and the staff he brought will do a real good job. The players here have the desire to win and the new staff change will help them accomplish that," Jones went on to say.

Rich Rachel, who was the defensive coordinator at MSU has found a job at the University of Kansas. Rachel will become the defensive end coach at the Big School.

Rachel commented that he enjoyed working with former MSU head coach Wayne Chapman. Both Rachel and Chapman coached at Tampa before coming to Morehead. "I'm really excited and looking forward to my new job. It was a lucky break for me."

Jim Hastings was the offensive coordinator for the Eagles. Hastings became the head coach at Johnson Central High School in Paintsville, Kentucky on January 15.

Hastings had plenty of high school coaching experience and says he enjoys coaching high school better than college. "I can get closer to the kids on a high school level," Hastings says. He added, "I will be in a better position to have a positive impact on the kids."

When contacted, Hastings said he was in process of setting up the winter program at Johnson Central. He will have five assistants and reports that he has had a good reception in the Highlands area.

Tom Lichtenberg, who was the defensive line coach at MSU and George Crume, who was in charge of the linebackers, have not found other coaching jobs as of last weekend. Also contacted about his future plans was Chapman, who also reported no plans as of yet.

West Carter Friday, but couldn't because of the road conditions. Lewis County is 2-6 on the year, and hasn't played since the finals of its own Lewis County Invitational Tournament December 23.

The Bath County Wildcats also saw action Friday outlasting Woodford County, 60-57. The Wildcats nudged in front near the end of the first quarter and held a slim lead the rest of the way. Mark Swartz took scoring honors with 21 points. Mike Bohm followed with 18, and Andre Walker added 13.

Bath County took advantage of some time off due to the weather to get some practice time in. Head coach Gary Taylor indicated that it may have helped against Woodford County. "We started to hit the basket, hitting for a better percentage from the field," he said. "We're getting used to one another. They're getting to know where their teammates will be, and they're playing as a unit rather than as five individuals. Maybe the 7-10 days off we had did us some good."

The Bath County schedule doesn't let up as tonight's opponent is Lexington Catholic. "They're real good," Taylor began. "They have three kids back from last year. The last I heard they were 6-4. We'll have our hands full. We'll be at home, so maybe that will give us a homecourt advantage. They play a shuffle offense, so we'll have to play some defense, because they can really put that ball in the hole."

Other games from last Friday that were called off included: Rowan County at Fleming County (rescheduled for Jan. 29); East Carter at Elliott County; and Boyd County at Menifee County.

Herbie Stamper scores one of his season high 36 points Saturday during a 84-70 win over Murray.

Lady Vikings Scheduled To Host Russell

By TED SLOAN
Sports Writer

The inclement weather has had its effect on girls basketball as well as boys in the high school ranks.

Rowan County has played one game and had one called off since the end of the holiday break. The Lady Vikings were slated to travel to Maysville last night and Thursday will play host to Russell.

Rowan County coach Claudia Hicks regards both teams very highly. She sees Maysville as "absolutely one of the best girls basketball teams you're going to see in this side of the state." Hicks describes both Russell and Maysville as "A-1" excellent ballclubs.

She also feels that they are similar in some ways. "Maysville has a little more speed," Hicks commented. "Maysville gets in front of a defense and gets the easy shot if they can. Russell doesn't get in front. They can set up and get the good shot. Regina Carroll of Russell is a tremendous play maker, capable of scoring 30 points a game, and she can steal and rebound if you're not careful. She's absolutely one of the best in the state. We have to contain her. We've not played her this year, and we're looking forward to it."

Hicks is not so unhappy about this month's "forced vacation" as some coaches. "We've practiced regularly every day at Rowan County. It's kind of a nice break. We're trying new things where in a regular schedule we would be unable to throw things in. We would like to play some, though. I hope things clear up before we go out on the road this week. We're ready to play basketball."

"A couple of players were unable to come in, and we're concerned," she went on. "One of them is Debbie Dehart, who is a big factor on our team. We've gone on and practiced without her."

University Breckinridge has also played only once since before the holidays. That was a five-point loss to Ashland High, January 3 that discouraged the Eaglet coach Dan Lindsey. "We felt pretty good about that," he said. "The Litkenhous ratings had them a 20-point favorite over us. We feel we're rated pretty low to begin with, but the way we played at the beginning of the season, that's about right."

Tonight Breck goes against Elliott County's Lady Vikings. "They've beaten us two times by about 15, but we feel pretty good about our chances to beat this time around," Lindsey said.

Lindsey's team is 4-11 on the year, but he feels "it's just a matter of time. In a year or two we'll be a good team." He went on to talk about his game play for building a winning program at Breck. "What we're trying to do is establish a junior varsity program and a junior high program at Breck. They've not had the programs as much as they would have liked to have had. We're kind of playing a numbers game, too, with only 60 girls in the school, it's hard to get 25 or so to play basketball."

Winter Backpacking Comes To Area

I was sitting beneath the winter-worn branches of an ancient apple tree when I saw them. Slaking down a winding path, they came singly, file, outlined as stooped stickmen against the winter backdrop of snow.

I watched for five minutes as they descended the tricky path from high ground to the valley, slowly picking their way around boulders and trees that threatened the right of way.

It was a mean path. I had come that way only an hour before, hindered by the weight of a white tail buck that weighed near 200 pounds.

I was dead or at least dying, I knew, because I had been unable to get up from beneath the shelter of the apple tree where I had plopped down to rest or die, whatever. Perhaps the strange looking figures in the distance would be able to report by decree to the proper authorities.

As the stickmen wobbled into focus, I could see they were carrying huge packs that stuck up above their heads a foot or more. Six of them they were, altogether. Backpackers? But from where? Where were they going in this winter storm? Questions that made me think more about living. Perhaps the dragging of a deer for three miles does not always kill the person. I would wait. I reasoned, until I at least had a chance to talk to these crazy folks before I died.

Backpackers

Backpackers in the middle of winter? Someone's gotta be kidding. That stuff is for the more pleasant climates. You just don't hike around in the woods with a big snow on for the fun of it, do you? Where would you sleep? How in the devil do you keep from freezing? Aren't you wet and tired? What possible reason would you have to out in a storm like this?

Questions flooded my frizzled mind that day several years ago as I absorbed my first impressions of wintertime backpackers in Kentucky. So interested in their story, I became that I forgot to die. In fact and with some help from my new-found trail friends, I managed to get up on my own, living place and committed once again to drag the deer to winter camp, still a mile away.

I learned the hikers were from Maryland. They were traveling through eastern Kentucky, enjoying the sounds and sights of Appalachia. Every once in a while they would discover an interesting looking spot and stop for a few days of hiking.

Outdoor Equipment

I found they were equipped with the very latest developments in outdoor equipment designed for winter use. Down-filled coats, woolen trousers, caps, socks and gloves provided clothing warmth. Heavy hiking shoes with cleated soles allowed them to hike along precarious pathways without fear of tumbling off the side.

Their packs contained waterproof ponchos that offered protection from winter down-pours. "Tasty" full-size meals were contained in plastic bags, the contents marked on the outside. Beef and gravy, steak and potatoes, apple pie and host of other goodies were available for each meal. A small stove, nestled cook kit and various other kitchen utensils were also included in the pack.

A light-weight nylon tent and a down-filled sleeping bag in each pack afforded the comfort of a wintertime bed room.

The pack itself was made from tough, heavy nylon and contained several compartments and pockets which allowed for plenty of room for hiker's needs. The frame was of light-weight aluminum, offering a large size, durable pack that weighed very little.

Geared For Weight

Everything was geared for weight, or better still, the lack of weight. Comfortably designed and well-constructed, the backpacks allowed the hikers to tote 35 pounds of food and trail equipment along the path with little visual affect to their energy.

What did they see along the undeveloped paths of eastern Kentucky? Wintertime back then? Always they were searching for bird and animal life. Scenic rock formations, twinkling streams, clean air and slaty trees captured their interest along the way. They searched by the protected banks of a stream and found Christmas fern still beautifully green against snowy landscapes.

A nest in a sapling showed where a family of cardinals nested last year. A track of a white tail deer led of across a woodland valley.

In an opening among the trees, they viewed the harsh realities of the outdoor world. A single drop of crimson on the snow in the middle of faint outlines of large wings showed where woodland death had occurred.

A walk along the ridge brought them to an abandoned stripmine where evidence of man's destructive power lay barren. They formed opinions about the controversial practice.

The remnants of old spiral fence fascinated them as they wondered at the engineering feat of the mountain folk who designed and constructed the long-lasting barrier.

Captivated Spirit

A cemetery high on a point, facing the morning sun, captivated their spirit. The graves abandoned, mostly covered over with clumps of grass and other brush. Encroaching woodlands spreading their seeds on the winds, claiming a hold among the sunken graves, slowly reclaiming the site, enthralled them with awe.

From then I discovered there was much to see in the woodlands of eastern Kentucky in winter. Their packs and equipment were simply motel and restaurant facilities carried into areas where no such conveniences existed. The special clothing provided the comfort needed for long periods in the outdoors during frosty weather.

Today, many have discovered what these six hikers knew those several years ago. Backpacking in eastern Kentucky is a fast growing sport that sees more and more taking to the trails each year - many of them carrying the activity over into the winter months.

Hiking in this part of the state is much easier now than it was for those first pioneers who struggled through unmarked and certainly undeveloped trails. Today, the 200-mile Jenny Wiley Trail snakes across the ridges and mountain tops of eastern Kentucky. Shelters are provided every eight to 10 miles. There are water facilities, too. Bridges and foot lings keep the hiker out of the streams that once had to be forded. Well-marked signs point out the direction so that even the most inexperienced hikers can easily find their way.

Shorter Trails

Sprawling Daniel Boone National Forest offers shorter trails for the hikers wishing to spend a weekend on the trail. Carter Caves and Greenbo Lake State Parks also have excellent hiking trails that link up with the Jenny Wiley Trail. These, too, have shelters and water supplies.

Winter backpacking in eastern Kentucky is just catching on, but there are more folks out on the trails than you may imagine. If you are interested in a winter hike, contact Jenny Wiley Trail Conference, FIVE, Catlettsburg, Ky. Or, Forest Supervisor, Daniel Boone National Forest, Winchester, Ky. 40391.

MUCH TO SEE - This hiking couple picked a remote section of Greenup County for a winter hike.

COZY - Modern backpacking equipment makes winter hikes in eastern Kentucky a comfortable experience.

Three Charged In Drug Raid

Three Morehead residents have been charged with possession of marijuana following a raid at their apartment early Friday morning.

Morehead Police Detective James Pelphrey said that Marty Horton, age not available, David Bates, 19, and Gloria Sparks, 22, were arrested in adjoining apartments at 110 W. Main Street, upstairs.

Pelphrey said that other drugs were confiscated in the raid but had not been identified, pending a laboratory report. Horton and Sparks appeared before District Judge James E. Clay Friday. Horton was fined $50 plus $27 court costs and was given a 6 months jail term which was suspended for one year. Bates is to appear before Judge Clay today Tuesday.

Pelphrey said that the raid was conducted at 1 a.m. Friday morning.

Carroll In Washington On Economy Matters

Gov. Julian Carroll is scheduled to leave the Commonwealth today for Washington for a two-day series of meetings largely devoted to discussions on the impact of various aspects of Kentucky's economy.

Carroll, who will be accompanied by his wife, will meet Monday with top elected officials of Kentucky and West Virginia to review Ohio's decision to halt the purchase of low sulfur coal from the two states.

That decision would cost the Commonwealth up to $13 million in anticipated severance tax revenues from contracts currently in effect above the amount of coal now going to the Buckeye State.

The strategy session is to be held in Sen. Wendell Ford's office and will be attended by Ford, Sen. Walter "Dee" Huddleston, West Va. Gov. Jay Rockefeller and West Va. Sens. Jennings Randolph and Robert Byrd.

Earlier that day, Carroll will meet over lunch with Prime Osborne, Seaboard Coast Lines president; Hays Watkins, Chessie system president; and David Grissom, president of Citizens Fidelity Bank in Louisville.

The gathering is intended to encourage the establishment of the Chessie-Seaboard merger in Louisville. The merger would involve the construction of an estimated $60 million office building in Louisville.

Capping Monday, the governor is scheduled to meet with President Carter's inflation fighter, Alfred Kahn, to review the Administration's national wage and price control policies.

The economic impact on Kentucky of new federal strip mining regulations will be the topic of discussion at a Tuesday morning meeting between Carroll and Stu Eisenstadt, the President's top domestic affairs adviser.

A noon address at the Conference on Energy, Education and Employment at the Washington Hilton will end the two-day trip.

Mrs. Carroll is scheduled to meet with the National Governor's Association staff concerning her role and activities for governors' families at the NGA annual meeting this July in Louisville. Carroll is NGA chairman.

Joining the Carrolls on the Washington trip will be Mrs. Carroll's secretary, Pat Caputo; Ivan Potter, Carroll's liaison for national affairs; Tom Dorman, chief executive assistant for internal affairs; and Henry Vance, chief administrative assistant. Bill Cull, deputy general counsel, will join the party on the return trip, made aboard the state's F-27.

Camp-Out Cuisine --

One Dish Makes It Easy

For cool kitchen cookery, or campsite convenience, there's no need to defrost frozen Cod, Ocean Perch, Pollock or Flounder/Sole filets . . . and often you can have an entree or a whole meal on the table in 15 or 20 minutes.

Ingenious "Pot-a-Stew" for instance, simmers frozen fish filets and a variety of summer vegetables in canned chicken broth. Not really a recipe, it's a whole different way to prepare frozen fish.

- Combine chicken broth and cream of shrimp soup in 5 qt. Dutch Oven or large camp cook-kettle. Bring to boil, then reduce heat and add frozen fish, sliced onion, salt and savory. Cook, covered, over low heat until fish defrosts (approx. 4-6 minutes). Separate filets with a fork and break into large pieces. Add remaining vegetables, cover and cook another 6 to 8 minutes or until corn is tender. To serve, remove vegetables from broth with slotted spoon and ladle broth into individual cups. Or serve fish, vegetables and soup together in large soup bowl. Makes 8 servings.
- Campfire "Pot-A-Stew"
1 can (46 oz.) chicken broth
3 cans (10 3/4 oz.) cream of shrimp soup
2 lb. frozen North Atlantic Cod, Pollock, Perch or Sole filets
1 onion sliced
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon savory
4 ears corn cut in thirds or 1 can (12 oz.) corn
1 can (15 oz.) baby carrots
1 can (1lb.) tomato wedges or 2 fresh tomatoes cut in wedges
2 large green peppers cut in 1" pieces

Social Security

By: David Bryan — Ashland District Mgr. For Social Security Information Write: District Social Security Offices 1816 Carter Avenue — Ashland, Ky., Phone 325-7666.

Workers may notice a higher deduction for social security when they get their paychecks in 1979, David Bryan social security district manager in Ashland said recently.

1979 will pay $1,463.77 in social security taxes, which is $332.92 more than the maximum payable in 1978, Bryan said. But they also can count on high social security benefits later, Bryan said. Monthly benefit amounts are based on average covered earnings so higher earnings generally mean high benefit rates, he said.

This is because the social security tax rate for 1979 will be 6.13 percent, compared to 6.05 percent in 1978, Bryan explained. The increase amounts to an additional 8 cents on every $100 in pay.

Employers match the social security taxes paid by employees on a dollar for dollar basis.

In addition to paying the higher rates, workers who earn more than $17,700 will pay the tax on a larger share of their income in 1979, Bryan said. The maximum amount of earnings subject to social security tax in 1979 is $22,900, compared to the $17,000 maximum in 1978.

The increases in the tax rate and the amount of earnings taxable in 1979 were part of a new financing package enacted by Congress in 1977 to keep the social security system on a sound footing until well into the next century.

PUBLISHER'S PEN

The comments in this column are those of the Publisher and not those of either the Editors or the members of the Board of Directors of Morehead News, Inc. Responses should be made directly to the Publisher.

Day-by-day jet-em-downs, pick-em-ups and commentary by W. E. Crutcher, retired from active management) Publisher of this newspaper.

We conjectured what President Carter could factually say in his State of the Union message to the 96th Congress. The only truthful statement we could come up with: "It's in one helluva shape and getting worse."

This will be the most conservative congress since the depression. Members are hearing voter demands to cut spending and lower taxes.

Republicans picked up 12 seats in the House of Representatives, but Democrats still hold the decisive edge. The House will have 276 Democrats and 159 Republicans.

The G.O.P. also gained three seats in the Senate. The Senate will consist of 59 Democrats and 41 Republicans.

Capitol Hill observers stress there are 41 new Democrats in the House and 36 new Republicans. Conservative Democrats ousted a high number of liberal Democrats in last year's primaries and conservative Republicans beat liberal-voting Republicans.

IF OUR journalism friend, the late Clay Wade Bailey, was living he would probably write: "Head for the hills and the caves," the Kentucky Legislature is in session.

OUR COLLEAGUE Larry Stone says: "Once a government begins to do too much for you it begins to do TOO much to you."

SOME politicians change sides more often than a windshield wiper.

CONSIDERING the sad state of the nation the news our doctor gave us recently is unusually distressing. He says we may live another 20 years.

ECONOMICALLY our nation is in the same plight as the alcoholic who, with one foot in the grave, went to his doctor for a cure, observes Tom Anderson of the Somerset Observer.

The good doc told the alcoholic he had to quit drinking or soon die. So he cut from a fifth a day to a pint a day. Then he went to an early grave. But at least he didn't need any embalming fluid.

The United States, Anderson writes, has the same choice - take the balanced budget cure or die.

Or, instead of drastically reducing the cost, size, power and scope of government, perhaps we should have another civil war, and then reparation from ourselves. After all, we're the only nation in the history of the world which give reparations to those it whips.

Which reminds us of a story which came out of Israel when Ben Gurion was prime minister. An emergency meeting of the cabinet had been called to consider ways to avoid an impending financial calamity. A wig at the table broke the tension by suggesting that Israel declare war against the United States.

"Our best friend? Our greatest defender? Our chief source of money? Are you crazy?" was the reply. "Look at Germany and Japan," the wig replied. Later he could also have looked at Korea and Vietnam.

Then attacked the United States, and took the most profitable beating in history. Washington financed their reconstruction. Now they're richer than ever. All we need to do is lose and we'll be rich, too.

"At that point Ben Gurion interjected:

"Suppose, God forbid, we should win?"

THE SEQUEL, to the foregoing is that since Ben Gurion was prime minister, the German Mark and the Japanese Yen have become the most valued currencies in the world, and the U.S. dollar has sunk so low that many economists believe other nations may soon refuse to accept our money.

THE Louisiana Daily Advertiser received a letter, dated, written by a substitute teacher. She bitterly complained that the local Board of Education paid substitute teachers only $25 a day. The newspaper printed the one paragraph letter verbatim. It contained seven errors in grammar and spelling.

THE AVERAGE American suffers at least two bad colds a year. Here are four tips from McCall's magazine for avoiding colds.

1. Avoid overheated places. Warm, dry air make the mucus membranes of the upper respiratory tract more susceptible to infection.

2. Avoid stress. Stress may alter the body's hormonal balance, again increasing susceptibility to infection.

3. Don't smoke. Smokers have more colds than non-smokers. And smokers' colds last longer and lead to more serious complications than those of non-smokers.

4. Wash your hands frequently. People with colds have large colonies of viruses on their hands (from sneezing, coughing and sneezing) and blowing their noses) that they deposit on everything they touch. You can catch a cold simply by touching a contaminated surface and transferring the viruses to your nose or mouth.

KISSING a girl, or vice versa, can lead to many things, including immediate transmission of the cold virus.

THE PUBLISHER disclaims any knowledge or ability to write a medical or health-care column, but we do know that once you have caught a cold, these tips can make you more comfortable and insure a quicker recovery.

1. Rest. A well-rested body is better able to fight infection.

2. Drink plenty of liquids. Hot liquids - including chicken soup - really are soothing to cold sufferers. (The pioneers were correct that chicken soup is one of the best foods for a person with a bad cold.)

3. Take aspirin and vitamin C. Aspirin relieves the pain and reduces inflammation, some, but not all, say that vitamin C can lessen cold symptoms.

"Good to see you again, Mrs. Blanchard! Now's the new grandbaby?"

Nursing Classes Offered On TV

Television-based courses in gerontological nursing and teaching the young handicapped child will be offered this spring to registered nurses and educators in the Lexington, Hazard, Morehead and Somerset areas through the Appalachian Education Satellite Program located at the University of Kentucky.

The education course dealing with the integration of handicapped children into the regular classroom setting, meets three hours each Monday through May 7, and carries three hours of graduate or undergraduate credit.

The class in gerontological nursing fixes, "you want me to put down what I made in black and white?"

"Yes," the agent declared, "and what you made in color too."

LEADER of a flock of geese to the bird follows you. "Stop that infernal honking - if you want to pass, pass!"

AND then there was the persistent lawyer who spent the whole evening breaking a girl's will.

A TIGER in the tank is all right, but there are more cars with a monkey at the wheel.

MOST of us have two chances of becoming wealthy - slim and none.

SUCCESS is when it costs you more to support the government than your own family.

THIS January deep friz in the weather has finally got this getting older, and also smarter, author of this column.

We're packing, and have our plane reservations for Florida. Every year about this time, we write about embarking for the state of six S's - sunshine, sand, surf, suits, sin and sex. We used to brag about partaking of them all insofar as we were physically capable and financially able.

We would visit St. Augustine and try to locate Ponce de Leon's Fountain of youth if we thought that any such water spout existed.

One must face the bare facts: we will enjoy the sunshine, the sand, and the ocean surf, period.

Our return to Morehead is planned for mid-April. Until that time, the Publisher's Pen will not appear in the good old Morehead News. As a matter of fact we had to almost tie ourself down at the typewriter to pack out this column, our last until April when the birds will be singing, the flowers blooming, and Morehead area folks strutting and courting amidst the spring beauty of these beautiful hills and valley.

We do with that the remainder of winter in Rowan and area counties is mild - illness is minimal - and you, the folks we love the most, enjoy continuing good health and happiness.

In the meantime don't do everything the Publisher would like to do, because if you do you're considerably sinful.

See you in April, a month you can't forget because that is when federal and state income taxes are due and payable.

Maysville Man Robbed Of $1,000

To All Rowan County Property Owners

The tax rolls will be open from Jan. 1, 1979 to March 1, 1979 for the purpose of listing your 1979 Tax Liabilities for the year of 1979. It is your responsibility and privilege to list your property N.E.S. 132 990 (1). If you have added improvements or new construction or made a change of any kind during 1978, we need a current update as of January 1, 1979. You need to list all your Mobile Homes, Watercraft, any commercial or intangibles, etc., that applies to you. This is to prevent possible omitted bills and penalties being issued. If you will reach your 65th birthday during 1979 and own and maintain property as your personal residence, stop by the office and file an application to see if you qualify for the Homestead Exemption. This must be done during Jan. 8 & Feb. 1979.

Thanks for your cooperation

Due to the high inflation rate of Real Estate in the past few years, it is necessary and imperative that there be a small percentage increase in the value of non-active properties which have had no current activity or recent changes in value.

Therefore, in order to abide and conform to the laws of Fair Market Value as required by the Kentucky Constitution and by the Kentucky Supreme Court, we must implement the above as of January 1, 1979.

Forecast Period January 21-27

Sun Hazards
 This is the time of year when many young persons are taking to the ski slopes. You've checked out all your gear - skis, poles, goggles, gloves and clothing - and are ready for snow country. Right? Maybe not. Don't forget to take along some sunscreen. Remember, the higher the altitude the less protection the atmosphere provides against the sun's ultraviolet rays. Without adequate sunscreen protection for your nose and face you could easily end up with a serious case of sunburn even though the weather is actually at the freezing level. Just as sand and water reflect sun, snow reflects up to 80 per cent of the sun's ultraviolet rays. Make sure you pack a good sunscreen before buying a lift ticket. A good sunscreen is one that you apply before going outside and which will continue to protect you throughout the day - without washing off.

Because you don't want to be continually taking off your gloves to apply a sunscreen, find one that offers a one-time application plus lasting protection.

$1.1 Million Spent In Four Days On Snow Removal

Four days of snow and ice removal on state maintained roads cost the state $1.1 million, transportation officials report.

Russell Romine, assistant state highway engineer for operations, said that the snow and ice storm that hit Kentucky Jan. 5 multiplied normal operational costs by four or five times.

According to department figures, $440,200 was spent on overtime pay, $640,500 for salt, sand and cinders and $109,500 for equipment operation.

So far the department has not exceeded its budget for winter road maintenance but Romine said, "If the bad weather continues, we're sure to do so."

During the Middle Ages, baths were usually taken only on a doctor's request!

It's Super Bowl Time

It's the time for the grandest football game of them all...the Super Bowl.

The game will be played on Sunday, January 21.

The opponents will be the two leading pro teams in the country.

The winner of the American Football Conference will play the winner of the National Football Conference for the National Football League Championship.

There are 14 teams in each conference. This year's season will be the longest in pro football history.

The teams used to play 14 games per season...this year they play 16 games.

The Super Bowl games are usually listed by Roman numerals.

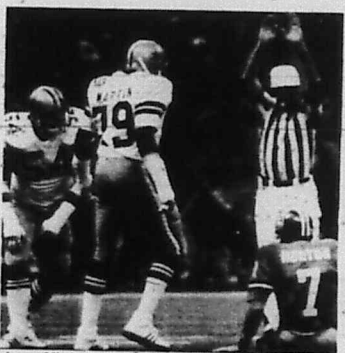

Super Bowl XII

Last year's winners were the Dallas Cowboys.

The game was played in New Orleans, La.

Over 102 million TV viewers watched. This was the largest audience ever to watch a sporting event.

Each member of the winning team got $18,000. Each member of the losing team got $9,000.

An official signals "time out" because of the sack of Broncos' quarterback Craig Morton by the Most Valuable Super Bowl Players, Randy White and Harvey Martin of the Dallas Cowboys.

Miami, Florida, site of this year's game

This stadium is a popular site for Super Bowls. This year is the fifth time the great game has been played there.

The Orange Bowl is the home field of the Miami Dolphins.

It is also the site of the annual Orange Bowl football game. This is a game played each New Year's night between college teams.

The Orange Bowl can seat 80,000.

Miami's Orange Bowl will be the site of this year's Super Bowl.

The Orange Bowl stadium has a new natural grass field.

Meet Noah Hathaway and his pet daggit, Muffit

The Dallas Cowboys Cheerleaders

The Dallas Cowboys cheerleaders are thought to be "the darlings of the National Football League." They are rated tops among the cheerleaders for pro teams.

Back in the 1960s, cheerleaders for NFL teams were high-school girls.

Then, in the 1970s, someone came up with a new idea. Women 18 years and older were chosen. They wore a new kind of uniform.

The Dallas cheerleaders were featured on national TV and became a new kind of football attraction.

Now, thousands of people gather whenever two or more Cowboys cheerleaders appear in public. A top talent agent has signed up the squad.

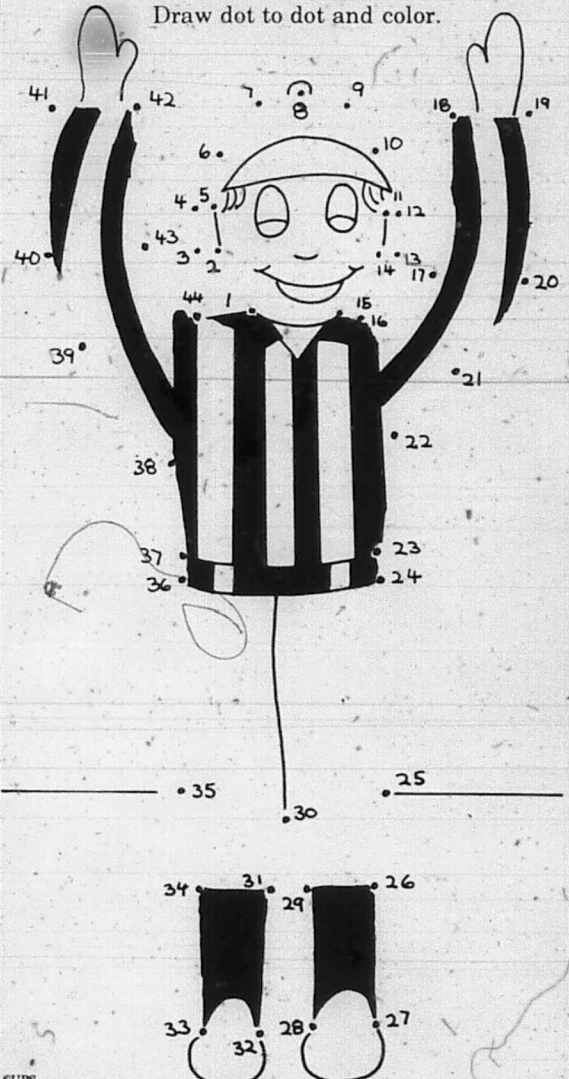

The Dallas cheerleaders have become so popular that almost every NFL team is trying to form its own cheerleading squad.

The women are very pretty teachers, secretaries, housewives, students, models and mothers. They come from many backgrounds.

But the real key to their success is the fact that they cheer for a winning team...the world champion Dallas Cowboys.

How does this cheerleader uniform look different from most you see?

delicious, low calorie ...

CITRUS SUNSHINE

A brimming glass of orange juice, a sunny grapefruit half . . . the ideal way to start the day! Why not enjoy "palatably perfect" citrus fruits any time . . . not just at breakfast.

The produce department is teeming with colorful vitamin C rich citrus fruit . . . oranges, grapefruit, lemons, limes and tangerines . . . just waiting to become a refreshing part of meals and between meal snacks. They make a great low-calorie treat in salads, freshly squeezed, as lunch bag brighteners or in luscious desserts.

Most citrus fruits are sold by a numbered size . . . the lower the number, the larger the fruit. When selecting fresh citrus, choose those that feel heavy with firm skins and are free of any blemishes or soft spots. Although some skins may be tinged with green, they are all picked when fully mature. Some may have thick skins as nature's protection from hot or cold temperatures, wind or heavy rain.

Keep citrus fruit at their best in the refrigerator's vegetable crisper for up to 3 weeks.

EVERYONE NEEDS A FRESH
SUPPLY OF VITAMIN C
EVERY DAY ESPECIALLY IN WINTER

FOR ALWAYS-PERFECT JUICES,
REMEMBER . . .

- Valencia oranges make the best juice. Make it ahead, cover and refrigerate.
- Juice from Navel oranges may turn bitter if not used immediately.
- Roll citrus fruit on the counter before squeezing.
- The most juice comes from room temperature fruit.

SUNNY AMBROSIA

3 cups assorted fresh citrus sections
2 tablespoons powdered sugar
½ cup shredded coconut

Place half of the fruit in 4 individual serving dishes. Sprinkle with sugar and coconut. Add the remaining fruit and sprinkle again with sugar and coconut. Makes 4 servings.

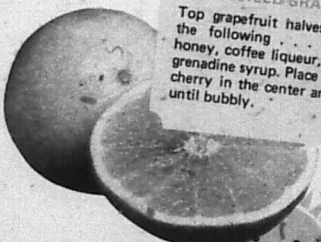

FRUITED SPINACH TOSS

6-7 cups torn fresh spinach
2 cups assorted fresh citrus sections
¼ cup red onion slices
2 tablespoons slivered almonds
Oil and vinegar dressing

Toss all ingredients together with just enough dressing to coat. Serve immediately. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

BROILED GRAPEFRUIT

Top grapefruit halves with any of the following . . . brown sugar, honey, coffee liqueur, maple syrup, grenadine syrup. Place a maraschino cherry in the center and then broil until bubbly.

Seedless Navel oranges are considered the finest eating orange in the world. They are recognized by a navel-like formation at the blossom end.

Valencia oranges are great for juice. They do have a few seeds and their often green-tinged skin is thinner than Navels.

Easy peeling Tangerines come in several varieties like the Algerians and Dancies with their thin, pebbly skins. The stem and leaf are often still attached.

Mandarins, like the Kinnow, have a light orange smooth skin with a mild flavor and a few seeds.

Tangors, like juicy Temple or Royal Mandarins, are a cross between a tangerine and an orange. They're larger than other tangerines with a very sweet orange-like flavor and many seeds.

A cross between a tangerine and a grapefruit is called a Tangelo. Their tart-sweet flavor is characterized in the Minneola which has a knob-like formation at one end.

Both pink and white grapefruit have few seeds plus an eye-opening flavor. Many people feel that the pink fleshed varieties are sweeter, though experts say there's no difference.

Lemons are picked by size and then allowed to ripen. One lemon gives 1 tablespoon grated peel or squeeze 6 lemons for 1 cup juice.

Bears and Persian are varieties of refreshing tart limes. One lime yields 2 tablespoons juice or 2 teaspoons grated peel.
