Academic Support

Set an appointment with your professor or visit him/her during office hours. Visit your professor during office hours to have him/her look over your notes and assess whether you are getting all the information you need. Discussing a problem with a professor one on one can quickly resolve the issue.

Academic Advising and Retention - Meeting with your academic advisor can help you with all the academic guidance you need, and can answer your questions (or get you in touch with someone else who can.) There are also academic advising centers on campus for the College of Education, Caudill College of Arts, Humanities, and Social Science, College of Science, and the College of Business & Technology.
