Construction Workers To Be In Morehead

Road Of Trade Asks
Residents To Provide
Rooms, Apartments

Morehead Board of Trade President John M. Palmer today issued a request that if you have a vacant room, cabin, apartment, trailer or any accommodations please open them for rent. More than 350 workers of the Trojan Construction Company, Kansas City, Mo., will start moving into Morehead Friday and will remain here from two to three months.

Telephone 249 If You Have Accommodations

If you have a sleeping room, apartment, cabin or any kind of accommodation which you will rent, telephone Mrs. Virginia Wolford, secretary of the Morehead Board of Trade. The phone number is 249. Accommodations are sought for 350 people with the Trojan Construction Company which will make Morehead its headquarters for the next two to three months.

Morehead residents have been laying a three-inch pipe line for the Eastern Transmission Company. The line will not pass through Rowan County, going through Fleming and Mason near the Rowan line. However, the Trojan Company will make Morehead its headquarters during the balance of construction work through Kentucky. The company will be moved to Morehead from Winchester where they have completed that section of the line.

The Board of Trade is making arrangements to assist the company in securing living quarters for the men and their families. Some desire residences, apartments, etc., while others want only sleeping rooms. Palmer said that construction work will bring a "right sizeable" payroll to the county.

Tobacco Stripping Demonstrations Set

Rowan County will renew its series of tobacco demonstrations next week as Kenneth Greene and L. H. Sharkey, county Marketing Service, come here to head a schedule of county-wide appointments.

Here is the schedule: Monday, Oct. 29—North Fork Luster Wain's barn, 9 a. m.; Creek at Ed Mabry's barn, 1 p. m. Tuesday, Oct. 30—Upper Lecky creek at Owen Seeks', 9 a. m.; Farmers at Hobart Johnson's barn, 1 p. m. Wednesday, Oct. 31—Poplar Grove at John Fuller's barn, 9 a. m.; Little Brushy at Elmer Kinners', 1 p. m.

Purpose of these demonstrations is to give farmers an idea of the way tobacco is graded in order to get it classified as high as possible when it reaches market. Many a good crop has been sold at a loss as a result of improper grading and stripping. Rowan County Agent Adrian Razor says: At a meeting of the committee which set up the time and places for these demonstrations, an effort was made to get them scattered through the county so that as many people could attend as possible without having to travel. Since it is impossible to hold only one demonstration each day, there will be six demonstrations held in the daytime and one at night in the Sharkey community. Many farmers who have watched the variety demonstration which was given at the home of Elmer Kinder, on the Flemingsburg Road, may want to get in on the demonstration which will be held at his place at 11 a. m. on Oct. 31, at which time the tobacco to be graded will be compared. Every farmer is being urged to get in on one of the meetings so that he can be graded.

Lower Pitch To The Morehead Fire Siren

When the Morehead fire siren sounds the next time you may be surprised how loud it may be. The siren has just been installed here. Reason: The old siren could not be heard by volunteer firemen on a chattering and windy noisy place and it was placed so it was louder in some parts of Morehead than in other sections.

Rowan Farmers Dig Ponds During The Fall Months

By John D. Atkinson
The fall weather has been ideal for building farm ponds and several farmers have taken advantage of it to construct ponds to insure adequate livestock water. Rowan farmers who have recently constructed ponds are Charles Fry, Elvin Eiam, Sherman Brown, D. Caudill and Everett DeWitt. These pond sites were located and staked out by the Soil Conservation Service personnel working with the local soil conservation district. Mr. Caudill is putting a pond which will serve both as stock water pond and as a pond to make it possible for him to fence the livestock out of the area.

Three Ballots Liven Rowan Vote Interest

Battle For 'Hawg Rifle' Will Be Renewed Saturday at Richmond

At the eight times the teams have battled for the "hawg rifle" Morehead has won five and Eastern three. One game was a tie. On the basis of last Saturday's scores Eastern appears to have the edge. The Maroons dropped Erskine by a top-sided 59-0 tally while Morehead was swamped by Middle Tennessee 33-13. The Eagles will defend on the trusty right arm of Charlie Porter, the nation's leading small college passer last year. However, with Pendergast back in the lineup the Morehead running attack should be greatly improved.

Ballots May Be Voted At Court House

Attorney General Gives Ruling Clarifying Absentee Balloting

The Attorney General's office at Frankfort, through Asst. Attorney General E. H. This does away with the procedure of mailing the ballot to the voter, and his returning it through the mail to the clerk.

Design Law To Further Help FHBorrowers

Farm Operation Adjustments, Increased Production Made Possible

Farmers who borrow from the Farmers Home Administration will be better able to make adjustments in farming operations, increase production and work out balanced farm and home management plans under the newly authorized Farm Law 128, by S. Department of Agriculture, announced today.

The law, amending the Farmers Home Administration Act of 1948, enables the agency to make loans for farm operating expenses up to $7,000 for an initial loan and $3,000 for a ceiling of $10,000 on the indebtedness outstanding at any one time. The maximum repayment period is seven years. Previously the initial loan was limited to $3,000, the maximum indebtedness to $5,000 and the maximum repayment period to five years.

In amending the loan terms, Congress recognized that the costs of farm operating expenses have increased sharply in recent years. Dillard B. Lasseter, administrator of the Farmers Home Administration, explained "A farmer who required a $3,000 loan in 1948 for farm operating expenses and the purchase of machinery and livestock probably have required a loan of $5,000 for the same purpose in 1951.

The main objectives of the Farmers Home Administration is to help family farm operators make the most efficient use of their land and family labor supply. The new loan terms will be of great help in achieving this goal. In the past we have had to turn down many young veterans and other farmers who came to us for assistance simply because we could not provide them with adequate financing under our previous loan limitations to enable them to work out a balanced farming system.

A sound farm home management plan is drawn up with each family who receives a loan, and no loan is made unless the plan shows that the family will receive enough income to pay operating and living expenses and retire their debts, Lasseter pointed out.

Loans are made only to farmers who are unable to obtain necessary financing from other sources. Committees of three local farmers approve each applicant. Veterans receive preference.

The FHA office in Morehead serves the counties of Rowan, Boyd, Elliott and Carter.

Ky. Livestock Review

Hogs In State Drop 50 Cts.; Hogs Steady

Kentucky hog prices averaged 50 cents lower last week on the state's major auction markets. Reports to the Department of Agriculture show veal averaging 25 to 50 cents higher, while cattle and lamb prices were generally unchanged.

Over 11,000 hogs were sold on the 25 markets reporting. The per market receipts have been increasing weekly, along with receipts on the country's major terminal markets. Prices on 180 to 250 pound butchers averaged 50 cents lower over Kentucky last week. Sales ranged from $18.30-20.75.

Cattle-Cattle sales increased to an average of 621 head per market last week as compared with 733 the previous week and 847 head during the first week in September. Over 20,000 head were sold on the 25 auction markets. Prices on good and choice steers and heifers were mostly steady at $29.25-36, mostly $31.25.

Veal-Veal prices were again 25 to 50 cents higher as receipts declined to an average of 81 head per market. Prices on good and choice grades started at $28 and ended at $42, with the bulk of sales $38.50-40.50.

Sheep and Lamb-Sheep and lamb receipts increased last week with a total of 7,189 reported sold. However, only a few markets reported sales on good and choice lambs. Prices on these were generally unchanged at $22.50-32.50, mostly $30-$31.00.

Red Cross Bloodmobile In Morehead

West Urges Donors To 'Be Sure And Come To Christian Church'

"Today (Thursday) is one day you should not forget," declared Dr. Fenton West, "for the Red Cross Bloodmobile visits Morehead this afternoon."

In urging every person who has signed a pledge card to be at the Christian Church between the hours of 11 a. m. and 5 p. m., Dr. West said that Rowan County's quota is still short.

"If you signed a card please show up as we're counting on you," Dr. West declared. "If you haven't signed one of the cards we ask you to come to the Christian Church anyway and give a pint of blood as we do not have enough supplies to meet our quota," he continued.

Dr. West urged that blood donors not eat a noon meal, but they might partake of milk or fruit juice prior to giving.

Blood given here goes to the Huntington Blood banks and may be drawn upon, without charge, by any Rowan Countian. The blood supply in Korea is dangerously low, the army has reported, while the Red Cross has pointed out, in a nation-wide campaign, that if total war or an atomic attack on the United States should develop the nation would be in a critical position because of the shortage of blood.

Civic clubs and Morehead State College have cooperated in an effort to fill the county's quota.

AAUW Book-- (Continued From Page 1) invited to be present at this first meeting, according to Miss Humphrey.

Co-hostesses with Mrs. Palmer are Miss Hazel Nollan, Mrs. James McConkey, and Mrs. Mary Northcutt.

Improvement Of Rural Boxes Urged

By Evelyn Sinclair

For two years, Rowan County Homemakers and a 4-H Club members have been busy trying to get every mail box in Rowan County an acceptable appearance.

In some sections of the county, the members have done a good job. The Sharkey community is congratulated for the fine work it has done, but in some parts of the county, the project has not been scratched. Many people of U. S. 60 said until the road has been finished. The U. S. 60 road is now completed and we urge all box holders to get busy with their job.

It is true that in going east on

U. S. 60, the ditches have removed the boxes, but when this is completed, each one should do something. A suggestion is to paint the box and post white. After it dries, stencil the name in black in neat letters—or buy your name already printed on the box.

If an owner is proud of his home and his residence, he should be proud of the place where he gets his mail. The following are good reasons why rural boxes should be attractive:

1. Makes our county look more progressive.
2. Makes our highways more attractive.
3. A stranger will find and take your place easier.

4. It will be easier for a new or substitute mail carrier.
5. When a new owner moves in, it helps people to know him better.
6. It helps to bring the post office rules for specification and care of mail box to public attention.

"Morehead Has Progressed More Than Any Small City in the State"

There's Many Reasons for This Remarkable Progress and Growth...

Many forward-thinking citizens and groups have worked together to achieve Morehead's growth and progress which has labeled this "as the small city that has progressed more than any other in Kentucky." Spearheading this growth has been a city council working untrammelled and faithfully for which is best and right for our people. It is a program that has attracted desirable people and businesses to our town... a program that has helped make Morehead secure for many years to come.

Here Are The Accomplishments of Your Present City Council

Natural Gas...

Until this council took office the people of Morehead were freezing because of completely inadequate supplies of natural gas. Citizens even had to move from their homes during coldest weather. This council, after months of effort on Transmission, laid lines to make that connection, fought a half-dozen legal battles and has brought to the people an ample supply of natural gas. This council has also fought a half-dozen legal battles and has brought to the people an ample supply of natural gas. This council has also fought a half-dozen legal battles and has brought to the people an ample supply of natural gas.

Street Lighting...

Under this city council the new white-way street lighting system was installed, another progressive improvement.

Parking Meters...

This council installed the parking meters, which are now bringing in $12,000 annually. This revenue has greatly helped in the financing of Morehead and the many improvements, which otherwise couldn't have been accomplished during these inflationary times.

Utilities...

When this council assumed office all utilities... gas, water and sewer... were about ranted out. The facilities were inadequate, obsolete and break-downs were almost daily. The council divorced the utilities from the regular city government, created the Morehead Utility Plant Board which is well managed and properly functioning. Revenue bonds were issued by the Utility Plant Board and the entire water, gas and sewer systems rebuilt. These bonds are being retired through profits from the water and gas systems. Every payment has been met and a satisfactory balance is now on the books. Without the improvements in these utilities Morehead couldn't have advanced much further.

Water Reservoir...

This council negotiated with the Board of Regents of Morehead State College and the Kentucky Building Commission whereby a $400,000 reservoir is being built to guarantee Morehead against any future water shortage, such as we have experienced in the past. This did not cost the taxpayers of Morehead a dime and was also beneficial to Morehead College in financing this construction because they were able to issue revenue bonds. Members of your city government worked for months with the college to get this done. This is but one example of the cooperation in this council's having a courageous battle to keep our people warm.

Financial Management...

It is a known fact that, through the years, many thousands of dollars have escaped from the Morehead city treasury through loose methods of handling funds and audits. This city council has all its records examined and audited by a Certified Public Accountant, the first time in Morehead's history this has been done, although it is required by law.

Insurance Rates...

The city council has been assured of the raising of Morehead from a seventh to a sixth class city for insurance rates. This will save our citizens thousands upon thousands of dollars. Another fire truck will be purchased. The cost of this truck will be more than offset through savings in fire insurance premiums. Without the improvements in the water system, including new mains and hydrants and assurance of an adequate water supply at all times, the lowering of Morehead's insurance rates would not have been possible.

Paving...

In keeping with the progressive policies this city council, at the request of the majority of property owners, let the contracts for paving Second Street, Fleming Avenue and Lyons Avenue and resurfaced, among other street improvements, Railroad Street, Bishop Avenue, Fairbanks Avenue, Carey Avenue and Wilson Avenue. Black-topping has been completed on Tappet Avenue, Fourth Street, two streets between Second and College Streets, etc. The street paving projects were the first that a city council in Morehead had led for 30 years. Among other street improvements all concrete joints in the city have been repaired. New under construction, seven streets being paved in Morehead to be completed before the first of the year.

Garbage System...

In spite of rapidly rising costs an adequate garbage collection system has been maintained and one new garbage collection truck purchased and paid for.

Police Department...

This city council has demanded that our police force be sent and properly dressed whenever on duty, in keeping with the progress of our town. This city council purchased a new Police Patrol Car and has closely supervised the work of our progressive police force.

Indebtedness...

More than $8,000 in indebtedness, inherited from previous city councils, has been completely paid off. With the exception of a small amount on parking meters, which will be retired by next June, Morehead is debt free.

Fire Department...

Morehead's Fire Department, often classified as the best volunteer unit in Kentucky, has been extended and improved. New hose and other equipment was purchased. A new fire alarm, one of the most modern made, is being installed this week. Morehead can well be proud of this fire department.

Time Spent...

As you know the members of the city council are paid practically nothing... it is a civic duty. Most city councils meet every month but because there has been so much business, the members of this council have given their time and efforts with meetings held almost every week.

Program for Future...

Above have been listed part of the progressive achievements of the present city council. The Progressive Ticket pledges a continuance of this program to make Morehead a larger, cleaner, healthier, more prosperous and happy community in which to live.

Police Department...

Indebtedness...

Fire Department...

If you favor continued progress for Morehead, and if you believe in the above achievements...

The Mission Of 'Democracy' And How It Works

It is the fashion just now to speak of the workings-of-democracy. We speak of it as though it were a blueprint of some intricate machine, turning out articles with precision, like the shedding of a hair.

But democracy is not a blueprint or a machine—not even a machine in the political sense. Democracy is a way of life which stems from the individual. It is the method by which we live amicably with our neighbors.

Democracy being a way and not an arbitrary law has laws—many of them. But those mistakes are made and can be corrected by the will of the majority. What rights the majority have can be retained by them only if they allow the same rights to the minority.

Communist China Is Fighting Against Christian Faith

For many years Christian missionaries worked actively to promote the cause of their religion and the improvement of the Chinese people. With the advent of Communists into China, however, most of the missionaries have been forced to leave the country, where the present regime insists that Chinese churches be "self-supporting, self-governing and self-propagating."

Americans, who are familiar with the religious appeal for funds to support the missionary enterprises in China, may be mystified by the report of many missionaries who have returned to this country. They say that the Chinese Christians have been critical of the effort of the Christian church to meet the social needs of the Chinese people, asserting that the church did not live up to its social responsibilities.

Indicative of this attitude, among Chinese Communists, is the resignation of Professor T. C. Chao, dean of the School of Religion, Yenching University, at Peiping. He was one of the first six presidents of the World Council of Churches, elected in 1948 in Amsterdam. He had been in China since the pronouncement at Toronto, condemning North Korea as an aggressor and questioning the motives behind the Stockholm peace appeal. He protests that the message "sounds so much like the voice of Wall Street."

This interesting reaction on the part of a Protestant leader in China seems to indicate that the propaganda of the Soviet Union has made more progress than that of the free peoples of the world. Professor Chao, it seems, is dissatisfied with the material contribution that the Christian church has made to China and, consequently, he seems to have accepted the Communist regime in the hope of more substantial progress in meeting China's social needs.

Fluoridation Will Help Prevent Tooth Decay

Because it was known that millions of persons, living primarily in Texas, Colorado and the Dakotas, have much less dental decay than those in other parts of the nation, scientists conducted an investigation, which finally convinced them that the protection came from fluorides, naturally found in the water supply in the areas mentioned.

As a result, a number of public water supply systems have been equipped to add fluorides to the water supply. The adoption of fluoridation of the water supply will not eliminate tooth decay but dental experts and the public health officials are sure that, in connection with other defenses, including tooth-brushing, the process offers hope of preventing many dental pranks.

The dental experts estimate that half of all two-year-olds have one or more decayed teeth and that, from six to eighteen, need more than 250,000 fillings. If the new process will reduce this number, it will save millions of children much pain, the families considerable expense and relieve over-worked dentists of much of their present work, enabling them to give more time to preventive dentistry and the more difficult dental problems.

Eisenhower Is A Key Man In Defense Of Our Nation

The people of the United States may not be aware of the magnificent job that General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower, Supreme Atlantic Commander, is doing in Europe, where he enjoys the confidence and admiration of the leaders of the group of nations planning a combined defense against Russian aggression.

Talk of General Eisenhower's political prospects in the United States fills many officials in the United States with trepidation. They regard him as indispensable and pay tribute to his tact, forcefulness and experience. Certainly, he has made great progress in bringing about the satisfactory formation of a European army.

The European military leaders do not hesitate to assert that the job that the general is doing in Europe is more important than that of the United States general, quoted by a newspaper correspondent, says that Americans would recognize this if the Russians were sitting on the Mexican border and General Eisenhower was trying to unite forty-eight different states to resist them.

We know a fellow job is to head up of the college air force. His job is to blow up all of the footballs.

A fool and his money are soon parted, but a lot can happen in that short time.

Men fight for freedom and then accumulate laws to rob themselves of it.

It's getting harder and harder to support the government in the style to which it has become accustomed.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Fear Came Upon The Egyptians So The King's Counsellors Decided To Make Slaves Of The Israelites

International Sunday School Lesson for October 28th, 1951.

Memory Selection: "Be strong, fear not, behold, your God will come... and save you."—Isaiah 35: 4.

Lesson Text: Exodus 1: 7-14.

The first five verses of the first chapter of Exodus give the background of the new king, who was Pharaoh, and his family when they first arrived in Egypt. From his small beginning, Jacob and his 12 sons, his wives and servants of the "seventy souls" in all, that came into Egypt to escape the disastrous famine that was threatening their very existence, the children of Israel were fruitful, and increased abundantly, and multiplied, and waxed exceedingly mighty; and the land was filled with them.

Upon the death of Jacob, Joseph, Pharaoh, and the ascendancy of a new king, who had nothing about Joseph, fear came upon the Egyptians, for the Israelites became mightier than they and take over their land. Therefore, the new king called together his counsellors and they decided that something drastic must be done about the situation. As a result, the children of Israel were reduced to slavery, and their taskmasters placed over them, and were assigned difficult and well-nigh impossible tasks to perform. They were made to perform arduous tasks of construction, of digging canals, and making bricks for the service of the Nile River.

In spite of the hardships heaped upon them, the Israelites continued to multiply and, seeing this, the Egyptian rulers made their lives even harder and harder service, so much so that the Israelites cried out to God for help. And our scripture reference declares: "God heard their groaning, and God remembered their covenant with Abraham, with Isaac, and with Jacob. And God said unto the king of Egypt, 'Behold, your people are now more numerous than we.'"

As one writer, referring to God's providence, points out: "We find it difficult to accept the doctrine that there is a Providence in the individual life, that is interested in and watches over the growth of the child and the man and little child in all the world, and it is not easier to believe that God is to whom the life and fate of a whole are matters of concern."

As we take the long view look upon the broad sweep of the history, we find it easier to believe that he has taken knowledge of the lives of the individuals, and he can save individuals from the grasp of their own folly and willfulness. He is nevertheless true to his covenant with us, and he will see this in his history with the Israelites.

Benjamin Franklin said: "God sends you in the affairs of men and if a sparrow cannot fall to the ground without his notice, neither can a kingdom; and he will order his aid." While a long period of time, probably several hundred years, elapses between the death of Joseph until the call of Moses to deliver his people, God is watching them and will bring them out of their distress in his own good time.

The words of our Memory Selection come to us in a day when great courage is also needed. Dr. H. C. Moore declares: "The folk of the fearful heart are in their own way, and the way of others. They may not be cowards, but their acts are cowardly. They may not mean to be hindrances, but they block the way with their hesitations. To one who has the word of course, and all come from the throne on high: 'Be strong, fear not.' Strength first; for the tonic of strength is needed to quiet the fearful heart. 'Behold, your God will come... and save you.'"

It has been this department's contention for a long time that a new, incentive wage scale, which would encourage the Assembly to get on with the work, would result in faster, better, sounder action. Pay them in a flat fee, whether they are in session two months or ten months. None of the really worth-while members of the legislature will want to dawdle in Frankfort. They'll want to do the job and get along home.

We've got to make some major changes if they should make as expeditiously as possible, which means we've got to approve this amendment this year or call a Constitutional convention (which can't be called now for several years because of restrictions) or continue to limp along in a horse and buggy when our neighbors are casting eyes at jet-propelled, stream-lined government.

Not Tolerance, But Respect Is What We Should Seek

It is the fashion at the moment to talk of tolerance as though it were something to be desired.

I disagree. I hold that no blooded man or woman wants tolerance. We don't like to be condescended to. That sort of thing went out with the Lady Beautiful style of charity.

We don't want respect—respect for those hates. It is something that among us who deserve respect and respect for ourselves. It is something that we are ready and willing to give to others. It is something that we are all the obligations of citizenship, which are unwilling to ask for special favors, but are equally eager for equal responsibilities.

There was a paragraph I read somewhere, written by a Princeton graduate: "If you discriminate against me because I am uncouth, I can become mannerly. If you ostracize me because I am unclean, I can cleanse myself. If you segregate me because I lack knowledge, I can become educated. But if you discriminate against me because of my color, I can do nothing. God gave me the color of my skin and I cannot change it. I can do nothing but to take refuge in cynicism, bitterness and hate."

When I first read that, I had the same reaction you probably had. I thought it was a stupidly—the sheer, utter, dense stupidity of it. I thought it was when I read it over a few times, I realized that whoever wrote it had really said something that was just a protest. It was a call to his own people to be ready for respect, not really to get their own rights for any minority group of the prejudices were brought up and corrected. It implied personal responsibility and willingness not to ask for tolerance but to deserve respect.

It seems like putting the cart before the horse—but I can show them by my own apt, get rights for any minority group is to prove that there are responsibilities that group is ready to accept and perform the responsibilities that always accompany their prejudices but you can show them by your own apt, change their prejudices but you can show them by your own apt, your conscientious work and your spirit of cooperation, not unfounded and how unfair are their prejudices are.

Most people want to be fair. They just started out with the

THE CONSTITUTION OF Kentucky Is Outmoded, Needs To Be Changed

There is a determined little crew which is not at all satisfied with the outmoded, cumbersome way much of our state and local government business is conducted.

That band of progressive individuals who are not "no take-no give" even a very amenable, but for an answer, they are trying again and again to persuade us to get out of the old constitution.

Last time we called for a constitutional convention failed, but now, they are approaching the imperative task of getting the old 1891 relic changed by a different means.

The Constitution now permits only two amendments to be submitted at any one election. The proposal on which you vote either yes or no would permit a number to be submitted at any election.

There is no need here to go into all the reasons why our state charter needs some re-doing. Suffice it to say that hardly any man-made creation will go along, despite after decade, without being at least a patch job and a little repair work.

Lets take some specific examples. The constitution limits the exact dollar and cents debt limits for many units of government. The State Legislature has now passed a whole lot more than a dollar in debt. The 1951 dollar bought the equivalent of about $4 worth of goods, services, material or merchandise when it was first issued.

But those arbitrary, dollar and cents debt limits, have not been adapted to our times. They are original amount.

We have a badly outmoded court system, an Executive vision for handling matters which were quite important 60 years ago, but are not so important today as some other things. Our relations with other states and nations are almost a necessity in our society, but the Constitution makes no provision for them.

The Constitution allows the State Legislature to raise taxes only .60 cents. It takes a little time to get the bulky machinery of state government going. That means that a whole lot of bills are "horse traded" into passage, or jammed through an Executive order the last days—and too many state representatives don't even know any real ideas about many of the bills on which wrong picture in mind. The thin to do is not to ask for tolerance or charity, but to give them a new picture. Some will be too blind to see—but there will also be some who will see and be seen and respected.

Radio Towers Are Installed On Forest Lookout Stations

Earl Young, local business man and short-wave radio station operator, spent last Friday setting up the radio communication for the lookout towers on the quarter Bill Brandau forestry aid, accompanied Earl on the trip.

Anyone acquainted with radio knows that keeping 181 models in operation isn't the easiest job in the world. Earl has been doing this work free for the past four years.

How would you like to have a bear drop down on top of a tree and shake you for a few feet? It is reported that a man named G. E. Nielsen had this experience recently while hunting squirrels in Rockbridge Park. Apparently the bear took a liking to him.

His personal wants were few. He felt it was a sin to spend money for finery and luxury. He seldom took money for them and now and then, when he came across a poor settler who could not pay for the trees, he would set out an orchard for him without charge.

His manner of dress was another of his oddities. He seldom wore a suit and his clothes were found going barefooted in winter weather. His trousers were ragged and his shoes were made of short hair, long straggly legs; he was used as a place to carry his boots. He never wore a coat except during the winter. He had a tin utensil which he used also as a pot in which to cook his meals while on the hills. Sometimes he made a hat out of paper, with a wide rim to keep the sun out of his eyes. He had a tin canteen as a home, most of the time staying in the woods or making camp near the hills.

Many stories are told of his eccentricity and his interest in the subject of raising fruit and on certain new varieties of apples he was known to introduce. A pioneer fireside was often lit by his stories and descriptions of orchards that sometimes would bloom on every farm in the country.

In religion, he was an ardent follower of the great Swedenborg and used every opportunity to plant the seeds of his faith as well as his apple seeds. He was the first circulating library in the county. He carried an abundant supply of leaflets and pamphlets on the Swedenborgian religion, giving them to any who would promise to read them. Sometimes, he was short of literature, he would buy a book in two, giving each part to a different person, and at a later date exchange the parts for them.

He was a naturalist and believed strongly in the healing power of herbs. One of his special herbs was fennel which he found in Pennsylvania and carried to Ohio. His pockets were filled with the seeds of the plant, which he scattered along the trails. Today it has become a pest to his garden, second only to the daisy and plantain.

It is said that he took up his manner of living in order to forget a bitter disappointment in a love affair. Only on rare occasions did he discuss his personal affairs, but it was known he carried a resentful feeling and distrust for all women.

After his civilization had been well established and civilization spread upon his trails, bringing mail routes and towns, he left his familiar haunts and moved westward into Indiana, where he again took up his strange mode of living. He died in Indiana at 84 at the age of 72. A fitting monument was erected and dedicated to his memory at Ashland, Ohio, on July 28, 1915. No one individual did more to bring wide-spread blessing among the

Johnny Appleseed Was Most Colorful Pioneer Character

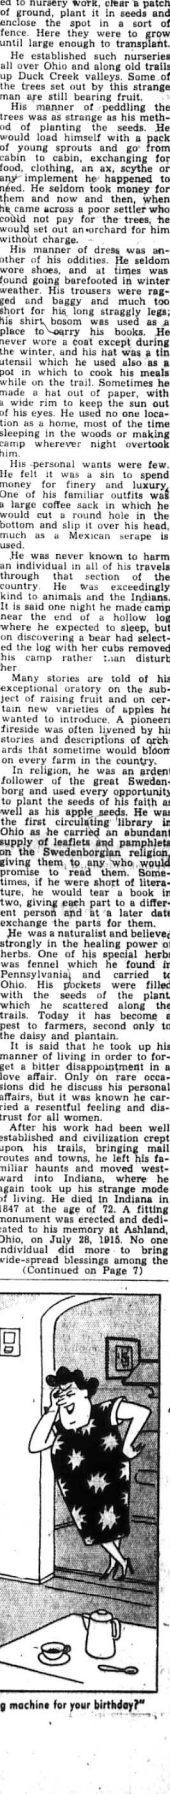

By Les Stewart

John Chapman, better known as "Johnny Appleseed," was the most peculiar and widely loved individual of pioneer days. There was not a farm house or clearing in Marietta up Duck Creek Valley or through the central or western part of Ohio that was not visited by this man of the open trail.

The Indians of Ohio loved and respected him as superior to other white people. Chapman was born in Springfield, Mass. in 1774, and in 1801 migrated to Ohio near a half brother. About five years later his family followed and settled at Marietta.

At the time that Chapman came to Ohio, the entire territory was virgin and filled with Indians. There were no roads, and the only way one could travel was by horseback or on foot over rough trails. It was such a wilderness that Chapman thought of the idea of planting orchards for the benefit of future settlers. Up and down the Ohio valley there seems to be orchards everywhere, and the famous old time popular "Roman Beauty" was originated in Rome, Ohio. I am informed, in order to carry out his idea he located cider mills in Western Pennsylvania where he could secure an abundance of apple seeds. From this outpost he would take them down the Ohio River in a canoe to Marietta. From this point he would carry apple seeds by horseback, or on his own back, up the Duck Creek

Rowan Youth Wins FFA Farmer Degree

The first Rowan County to receive the American Farmer degree in the Future Farmers of America is Lloyd Dean, RFD 2, Morehead. The award was made at the annual meeting in Kansas City, Mo.

The American Farmer degree is achieved on the basis of leadership, character, thrift, cooperation, scholarship, citizenship and patriotism besides the first requisite of carrying out an outstanding program in vocational agriculture each year for four years.

The degree is earned by one of each 100 FFA members. Dean was one of 10 Kentuckians to learn it this year.

In the past Dean has won the district field day contest in aviculture and then captured second place in the state. Lloyd sold 20 swine, weight 4,953 pounds, for an average of 24 cents a pound. These brought more than $1,000.

In 1949 he had 18 hogs, weighing over 3,000 pounds, and bringing over $650.

Young Dean has practically all are building their herd to improve beef cattle. Lloyd's new peach orchard will produce its first crop next year.

A total of 2,700 white pine have been planted on the Dean farm. Among other achievements a corn crop averaged 125.7 bushels to the acre.

Lloyd is a graduate of Morehead High School, attended Morehead State College and is now a student at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture. At Morehead College he received agricultural training under Henry C. Haggan, head of the department.

Dean's first advisor was Charles Hughes, but most of his training has been under Carl W. Sinclair.

Glenn L. Reynolds, vocational agricultural teacher at Morehead High, accompanied Lloyd to the Kansas City meeting.

Jobsless Fraud

About 18,000 persons filed faked claims to unemployment compensation, amounting to a total of $1,151,284, during the three months of April, May and June, according to the Labor Department. Director Robert Goodwin, of the Labor Department's Bureau of Employment Security, said the states are conducting campaigns to nab the chiselers.

Tackett Service Station, Flemingsburg Road, Plans Formal Opening Tomorrow

Two Morehead brothers, known to just about everybody in this community, have decided to go into the service station business. They are Harvey and Bob Tackett, who have opened a completely modern station at the busy Flemingsburg Road-Fleming Avenue corner.

Formal opening for the "Tackett Service Station" is scheduled Friday and Saturday of this week.

Specializing in Ashland Petroleum Products the business offers every service of a modern, complete and well equipped station. Among the services offered are complete lubrication, car washing and greasing and accessories.

The station is housed in a new building, just completed.

Harvey Tackett was a former associate editor of the Morehead Independent and has been with the Rowan County Lumber Company as office and plant manager since he was discharged from the army. Bob Tackett has, among other things, already been in the filling and service station business.

The business, which will be open from 8 a. m. until 11 p. m., will be operated as a partnership. Although the station is now modern, further improvements are planned now and next spring.

Both brothers served in the army during World War II. Harvey for 21 months and Bob for three years. Both are natives of Morehead and graduates of Morehead High School.

Pastor Given 5 Weeks Leave Of Absence

The Clearfield Church of God has granted its pastor, Rev. B. W. Moore, a leave of absence for five weeks.

He is now conducting a revival at Sanford and will go from there to hold services at Middlefield, Ohio. He will return to the Clearfield pulpit November 18.

There seems to be so many systems that about the only way to expedite any thing is to leave them alone.

Lee Stewart—

first citizens of Ohio than did this peculiar man of the woods. A pleasing tribute to the memory of Johnny Applesseed can be found in one of the old issues of the Christian Standard.

Grampa stopped and from the grass at his feet

Picked up an apple, large, juicy and sweet.

Then took out his jackknife and, cutting a slice,

Said, as we ate it, "Isn't it nice To have such apples to eat and enjoy?"

Well, there weren't very many when I was a boy.

For the country was new-e'n food was scant.

We had hardly enough to keep us for want

And this good man, as he rode around,

Always carried and planted apple seeds.

Not for himself, but for others' needs.

The apple seeds grew, and we today

Eat of the fruit planted by the way.

While Johnny—bless him—is under the sod,

His body, ah, he is with God.

For, child, though it seemed a trifling deed

For a man just to plant an apple seed.

The apple trees shade, the flowers, the fruit

Have proved a blessing to man and to brute.

Look at the orchards throughout the land.

All of them planted by 'old Johnny's hand.

The trouble with life today is that there are too many people who recommend themselves too highly.

This Is Morehead High School →

A MODERN SCHOOL that will build better men and women for our neighboring Fleming County. This is the kind of school Rowan County needs.

MOREHEAD HIGH, where the plaster is falling in. The heating system is gone. Twice as many are in each room as there should be. The toilets are beyond the realm of 'human decency and sanitation.' Condemned by the Fire Department, the Health Department and every person that walks through it. Will you wait until a fire or some other disaster overtakes our children here? This is Rowan County's only four-year high school. If you are thinking of voting against this school question the Citizens Committee sponsoring this ad will pay for your time if you will just make one trip through this building.

THIS SCHOOL is a credit to Owingville and Bath County. What shameful contrast to Rowan County and Morehead! Rowan County has the poorest facilities of any county in this part of Kentucky.

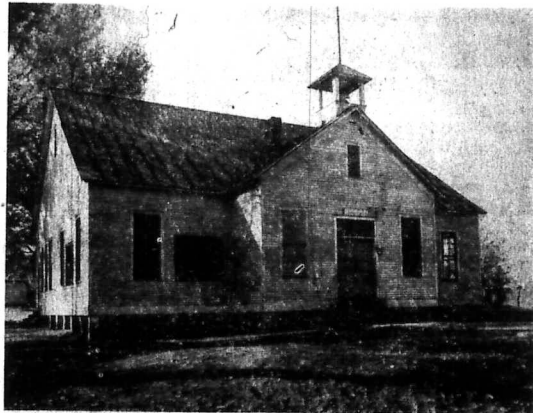

MOREHEAD GYMNASIUM—No toilets or showers. Heated by pot-bellied stoves. So bad that visiting basketball teams refuse to play in it. Yet, the students must use this for their only recreational spot. An eye-sore and a disgrace to a progressive county like Rowan.

Please, please Mr. and Mrs. Citizen of Rowan County think of these children when you vote on the school question. Please don't turn them down!

Higher Income, Whiskey, Cigarette Taxes Will Be Additional Burden To Americans

Senate, House Are Agreed On Revenue Measure

A $5,750,000,000 tax increase which among other things would boost the levy on most individual incomes by about 1 1/2 per cent was approved by a Senate-House conference committee.

The measure—the nation's second largest revenue bill—is scheduled for House action today. It then will go to the Senate. Approval by both is anticipated.

In addition to the income tax rise—effective Nov. 1—the bill calls for sharp increases in the excise taxes on whiskey, beer, wine, cigarettes, gasoline, automobiles and a number of other articles.

Corporation taxes are jumped by upward of $2,300,000,000, retroactive to last April 1.

In many aspects, particularly in estimated revenue yield, the bill is closer to the $5,400,000,000 measure passed by the Senate than the $7,200,000,000 version voted by the House. Nevertheless a number of key House provisions were included in the compromise, worked out after session spreading over nine days.

The bill provides only a little more than half the $100,000,000 additional income which President Truman said represents the government's minimum needs.

With enactment of this bill, the tax load will have been increased some $15,575,000,000 since the start of the Korean war. A record-breaking $5,100,000,000 increase went on the statute books in September, 1950; a $3,900,000,000 excess profits tax act in January, 1951.

The individual income tax increases are integrated into the regular bracket rates. As a result of rounding off the figures to produce even numbers in the rates, the increase for most taxpayers actually varies from 1 1/4 per cent to about 1 1/2 per cent. A single person earning $14,000 a year after deductions for interest, taxes, contributions, etc.

Henderson Farmer Severs Own Hand

A Henderson County man was forced to sever his own hand at the wrist this week when it became caught in a corn picker.

Claude Homer Roberts, who lives south of Henderson, was reported in "fair" condition after his left hand was amputated.

Reports said Roberts was working alone in his cornfield when his hand became caught in the corn picker.

but before his personal exemption will pay $700 a year in federal income taxes instead of his present $700 obligation. A married couple with two dependent children and an income of $8,000 will owe $1,285.50 instead of $1,152.

An alternative tax increase is offered persons in the higher income brackets. They have an option of paying an additional $1,450,000,000, and the excise tax increase remaining after payment of taxes at existing rates. This alternative is advantageous to single persons with an income of $28,500 or more, and married couples above $37,600.

For the first time, single persons who are heads of households are granted half the tax benefits available to married couples under the income splitting provisions of the tax law.

The next increase in individual tax liabilities was estimated at $2,450,000,000, and the excise tax boost at $1,204,000,000. Some of the miscellaneous provisions of the bill will result in loss of revenue to the Treasury.

The excise (sales tax) increases go into effect Nov. 1, if President Truman signs the bill by Oct. 21.

They include the following increases: Whiskey and other spirituous liquors, from $9 to $10.50 a 100-proof gallon, or about 20 cents a fifth; or ordinary liquor, from $9 a barrel to $9.75; wine taxes up an average of 1 1/2 per cent.

Cigarette taxes increase from 7 cents a pack to 8. The tax on chewing and smoking tobacco goes down, however, from 18 to 10 cents a pound.

Gasoline tax up from 1 1/2 to 2 cents. New automobiles are taxed 10 per cent of manufacturers' price instead of current 7 per cent. Tax on trucks and buses up from 3 to 8 per cent. Several additional electrical appliances made subject to 10 per cent manufacturers tax.

Bowing to protests from mothers of small children, the lawmakers took off the 20 per cent retail tax on baby oils, powders and lotions.

The excise tax increases are to remain in effect until April 1, 1954, when the rates are supposed to go back to the present level provided Congress doesn't change its mind.

Despite stiff opposition from House members, the conference agreed to apply corporate taxes now-exempt farm co-operatives, mutual savings banks, and building and loan associations.

Cooper Endorses Siler For State's Chief Executive

A former U S Senator called this week for voters to put aside their politics and to "his utmost to restore morality to government."

John Sherman Cooper, a consultant for the U S Department of State, said, "Our government today has sunk to the lowest form of corruption ever seen in this nation's history."

"Today this Democratic party is only a pressure organization designed to perpetuate itself in office. The time has come when our people are disillusioned and disgusted."

Cooper, a former senator from Kentucky, spoke at Nicholasville in behalf of Eugene Siler, the Republican nominee for governor. Cooper spoke later at Paris and Cythiana.

Cooper said if Siler is not

Is Lady Luck Deserting Him?

Has the famed Luck of the Irish deserted little Larry Ryan of Sandoval, Ill?

He's only seven but has just suffered his third major misfortune.

In '47, Larry received national attention by falling into a deep cistern and being rescued by his sister Daisy, then 11. She jumped in after Larry, then held him with one arm, wrapped her legs around a pipe and looped a chain around her other arm. Thus, they kept afloat two hours before a barking dog brought neighbors.

Larry, black with cold, received the Carnegie medal for bravery. This happened when the Ryans lived at Festus, Mo.

In '48, Larry got polio. It left him physically handicapped.

Thursday, Larry—no longer as agile as other little boys—fell as he entered his Sandoval, Ill, classroom. His mother said Larry may have a fractured skull.

elects his courage has been felt. The speaker said nothing was done about vice in Kentucky until Siler threw his hat in the political ring.

"There is a lack of good, moral standards all over the country," added Cooper, "and this has had an influence in our schools and throughout our community."

"If I were a Democrat in Kentucky and wanted to see change in politics I would vote for Eugene Siler and crash this corrupt machine."

Paint, Nails Help Float Coming Parade

Hammers and paint brushes will vie with pencils and notebooks at Morehead College the next week or so, as organizations get their floats in shape for the homecoming parade November 3.

Fourteen groups have already entered the float contest being sponsored by the Alumnae Association and all of them are deciding where to display the cup which will be awarded for the best float.

Plans for floats must be "patented" by Dean Marjorie Palmquist's office, to prevent duplication of ideas. Already patented is a hubbly float by the Open Forum Club, and a float based on the theme, "A Stairway to the Stars" by the sophomore class.

A number of clubs will have floats related to their special activities and interests. The Morehead Players are planning a wagon with a medieval stage. The Future Teachers of America will show a little R N school house. Old and modern chemistry laboratories will be represented in the American Chemical Society's float, and the Crescendo Club will have a gigantic lyre on theirs.

Football themes will be used by the YWCA, and by Kappa MU, which will feature a thoroughbred horse and an eagle. Wetherby also asserted he will not hesitate to prefer charges against Sheriff W. W. Brackett, providing the affidavits sent him by the Henderson County Good Government League are in proper order.

The governor did not mention Brackett by name but said he understood a petition against one of your county officials" awaited him in Frankfort.

"Earlier this week, League representatives submitted to the governor's office a petition calling for Brackett's removal on the grounds he has not enforced the gambling laws."

"I have never yet shunned my responsibility and shall not do so," the governor told his audience.

Wetherby reminded his listeners that "if you are desirous of having laws enforced, you can take the necessary steps."

Concluding his address, he said: "If laws are not enforced locally, it is your governor, will not hesitate to use all the methods at my command to break up organized gambling in Henderson County."

Gamblers Hit By Wetherby In Major Speech

Gov. Lawrence Wetherby this week outlined his position on the local gambling situation and promised to clean up Henderson County if local officials do not act.

In a major campaign speech, the Democratic gubernatorial nominee again declared he considers law enforcement the problem primarily of local officials.

Wetherby also asserted he will not hesitate to prefer charges against Sheriff W. W. Brackett, providing the affidavits sent him by the Henderson County Good Government League are in proper order.

The governor did not mention Brackett by name but said he understood a petition against one of your county officials" awaited him in Frankfort.

To The Citizens And Voters of Morehead

- It fits close to our attention that rumors are being circulated that the undersigned candidates for Members of the City Council on the Citizens Ticket are in favor of radical changes in our police force and will not cooperate with the fire department.
- It is recognized that we have one of the best volunteer fire departments in the state. If elected we will do everything within our power to maintain and improve this service wherever possible.
- So far as we are informed our police force is rendering satisfactory service. This we propose to continue. There will be no radical changes in the force unless it may become necessary to give our people better police protection.
- We desire to give to the citizens of Morehead an efficient and economical government and where ever possible to save the taxpayers a dollar and give good government.

Don't be Surprised for a lot of folks

EVERY time we publish the price of a Buick, it seems to surprise a lot of people, because they come in and tell us so.

They just can't believe that so little money buys such a lot of car—but it's a fact, as the prices published here will prove.

And that brings us to the second surprise—which is how much power and performance—how much comfort and room—what a long list of standard engineering features you get for the price.

Take power. You'll find that no other car at the price of the Buick SPECIAL pictured here delivers the horsepower you get from its high-compression, valve-in-head Fireball Engine.

Take comfort. The best thing to do is try the depth of its seats—their width—and the headroom you get in this Buick SPECIAL, and judge for yourself.

Take the ride. This Buick has big soft coil springs on every wheel, plus the solid firmness of a torque-tube keel—and the way this combination smoothes the bumps is something that's hard to match in cars costing a thousand dollars more.

Nutrition, Supervision, and Fiction Taught Here Evenings

Over 60 teachers and adult part-time students from Rowan and nearby counties are attending the three evening courses offered on the campus of Morehead College. The courses are Fiction, Supervision, and Nutrition for the elementary teacher.

An unusual feature of the Fiction class is its traditional fiction hour. Several students plan refreshments for the entire class each Friday night and the class discussion is carried on in an atmosphere of warmth and informality. James McConkey, assistant professor who teaches the course, believes that this contributes to clearer thinking and livelier discussions.

The course is designed to give an understanding of the concepts of the writer, student, and to develop effective methods of student at Morehead State College; three teachers at Morehead High School, Grace Crusthwaite, William Martin, and Beig Shipley; Ollie Adams from Upper Tygart school; James Bots from Elliottville, and Jerry Wine, the assistant coach at Morehead State College.

The purpose of the course, according to Mr. Walter, is to improve the methods of instruction in schools. The course deals with actual problems in the schools in which the students teach or supervise.

Students in the Nutrition class taught by Mildred Stanton, registered dietitian, receive material from the class which can be used in their schools. Some examples of the material they get are food charts and dietary surveys. Most of the students are teachers and expect to use the course work in their classes. Two of the teachers work in schools where there is a cafeteria and the course will prove useful in planning menus. Five of the students are housewives and wanted to learn to prepare more nutritious meals for their families.

Late in the school year the class will be divided into laboratory groups according to the age group they intend to teach. One of the projects to be undertaken in the groups is to learn how to use powdered milk and eggs, especially in cafeterias.

WOMEN NEEDED
The Defense Department has received the recommendation of an advisory committee on women in the services that the present total of 3,000 women in the armed forces be increased to 112,000 within the next few months. The committee, composed of 48 women representing a cross-section of civilian life, said "there are sufficient numbers of American women to meet all the needs of maintenance of home, industry, educational and medical institutions, as well as military requirements."

People who think they are too smart to be governed by the laws of their land are over-estimating their smartness.

$56 Billion Appropriated To Army, Navy

Largest That Congress Has Allocated Since End of World War II

The Senate voted $56,937,908,030 to run the Army, Navy and Air Force for a year.

It was the largest military appropriations bill passed since World War II.

Senators approved the measure on a voice vote and sent it to President Truman for his signature. The House passed it on a voice vote last week. The bill is a compromise of two military budgets passed previously by the Senate and House.

Consensus there was little debate when it came up for final action. Sen. O'Mahoney (D., W. Va.), floor manager of the measure, assured the Senate that a close check would be made on how the armed services spent the money.

Sen. Case (R-S. D.), (Ivy (R-Min.) and Ferguson (R-Mich.) had warned that there will be some "waste and extravagance" as the billions are paid out.

The measure carries these sums for the fiscal year ending next June 30: Air Force—$20,642,785,000, Army—$19,888,022,000, Navy—$16,382,901,000, Defense Department—$529,100,000.

The armed services had a carry-over of $7,000,000,000 from previous years. Taus they will have about $94,000,000,000 to spend this fiscal year. It is estimated, however, that they will use only about $40,000,000,000.

The balance will be committed for aircraft, tanks, guns and other equipment, but will not be delivered until after June 30.

The bill has a provision in it to increase from 17 to 25 per cent of the military service of World War II veterans recalled to the service in the Korean crisis.

O'Mahoney remarked during the debate that "our manpower is not particularly interested in volunteering to go to Korea."

Many young men volunteer only after they know they will be inducted under the Selective Service system, he said, adding that that's why Congress is reducing funds formerly spent for recruiting advertising in the press and on radio and television.

O'Mahoney said this was no reflection on the value of advertising through these media.

After disposing of the defense measure, the Senate passed and sent to the President a bill providing $1,242,867,887 for the operation of the State, Commerce and Justice departments and the federal judiciary in the current fiscal year.

The vote was close—31 to 27. Ferguson made an unsuccessful fight to send the compromise measure back to committee because the conferees had eliminated a section making a 25 per cent cut in public relations personnel in the three departments. Ferguson said the section was included in every other money bill passed this session.

Arguing that only a small amount of money was involved, Sen. McCarran (D-Nev.), floor manager for the bill, pleaded "We can't afford to send this bill back to conference and hold the Senate here for God knows how long."

Now Congress has only four more major money bills to handle before its autumn adjournment. Members are hoping to get them passed by the end of next week.

So far Congress has appropriated a peacetime record of $171,136,000,000 for fiscal 1952. Another $15,000,000,000 is involved in pending legislation.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics reports that retail food prices rose seven-tenths of one per cent during August to bring the nation-wide index to 227.2 per cent of the 1935-39 average. The new figure was about 12 per cent above the pre-Korean level.

Hired Man Slays Ex-Con In Fleming

Three pistol shots cracked through the early morning air, leaving an ex-convict dead in a pool of blood on a deserted ridge-top in Fleming County this week.

Killed was Richmond Royle, 71, of Muses Mills, convicted of bootlegging and, at the time of the slaying, out on parole for robbery.

Velvie Springer, 29, hired hand on the Peter Morrison farm where the shooting took place, walked to the Muses Mills store of Deputy Sheriff Lloyd Compton to confess to the act.

Sheriff Compton arrested Springer and took him to Flemington where he signed the confession.

Fleming Coroner J. W. Mallikin, of Ewing, attributed death to three .38 calibre pistol bullet wounds through the victim's chest.

When found, the body lay face-down on a small ridge on the Morrison farm located one mile east of the Plummers Landing-Muses Mills road. Mr. Morrison is a brother of the dead man's wife, Mrs. Etie Royle. For the past three days, she had stayed at her brother's home.

A search of the man's clothing revealed a hunting knife in his pocket. A four-foot walking stick protruded from beneath the body.

The victim was indicted by the Fleming County grand jury last Monday for carrying a concealed weapon. If convicted, he would have been sent back to the penitentiary for breaking parole.

Springer gave his account of the shooting to Fleming County Attorney Howard McCartney.

Royle had threatened to "burn some barns and kill some people" before he left for prison Saturday night. Springer slept in the Morrison barn as a precautionary measure.

Springer said he heard somebody walking through the woods about 100 yards from the barn. Going outside to investigate, he saw Royle walking towards the barn.

Springer said Royle shouted "I am going up there and kill some of the people at that house." Springer then reported Royle struck at him with a four-foot long walking stick, with his .38 pistol already in hand. Springer fired one shot point-blank at Royle. It struck him in the left side of his chest.

Royle stumbled and Springer said he fired three more shots, two of which caught the victim in the back. Royle staggered a few more steps before dropping stiff to the ground atop his walking stick.

Springer said he went to the Morrison home to tell Mrs.

Royse what he had done. After that, he walked nearly two miles to the Muses Mills community to make his confession.

Earlier, the 13-year-old son of Harry Shields, a neighbor, had given Attorney McCartney a conflicting account. He said that Springer had gone to Royle's farm and forced Royle at gunpoint to leave with him.

The youth said he and Royle were in the barn feeding livestock when Springer came in the door with a gun in his hand. He said the two men started toward the Morrison farm located on the other side of a small hill. The shooting followed.

Royle had been convicted on three federal charges for bootlegging and had served time for a robbery in Lewis County. Approximately 20 years ago, he was charged with killing his nephew.

A native of Rowan County, Richmond Royle was the son of the late William and Georgia Ann Riddle Royle. He is survived by his wife, Etie Morrison Royle, and one brother.

Arguments directed to the emotions and prejudices of men suggest a lack of reasonable support.

Corn Price Supports For State Given

Range In Kentucky Varies From $1.64 To $1.75 By Counties

Corn price support loans ranging by counties from $1.64 to $1.75 a bushel on 1951-crop corn grading U. S. No. 3 or better, or No. 4 on test weight only, will be available to Kentucky growers from time of harvest. Government purchase agreements also will be available at the same prices.

The national average corn price support level is $1.57 a bushel, up 10 cents a bushel from the $1.47 a bushel average support level for the 1950 crop. The national average price support is also 3 cents a bushel higher than the minimum support announced last February before the 1951 crop was planted. This increase is a result of an increase in the parity price of corn.

The corn price support reflects 90 per cent of the October 1 parity price.

Corn price support at 90 per cent of parity was available last year only in the commercial area where acreage allotments were in effect. The support for the non-commercial area, where allotments were not in effect, was limited by law to 75 per cent of the commercial area rate. With no allotments and no designated commercial area for corn this year, supports are at 90 per cent of parity throughout the nation.

Loans and purchase agreements under the 1951 corn price support program will be available by July 31, 1952. Farmers may under certain conditions apply in 1950—request earlier delivery of the corn. Price support is available on both farm and warehouse-stored corn.

Protective Lighting Good Theft Insurance

How much would you be willing to pay to keep thieves off your farm? Our guess is, "Fifty," because thievery and vandalism can wreak havoc in poultry flocks, gardens, orchards, and the like.

The answer to your problem is simple and inexpensive. Protective lighting will almost invariably keep off intruders as well as night riding varmints.

For the best in protective lighting, PAR-38 projector type flood lamps, rated at 150 watts, are recommended. Direct the light away from the house toward the area to be illuminated. Install the control switch in kitchen or bedroom. Most prefer the bedroom because the switch can be reached swiftly in time of need. Nothing will discourage prowlers so quickly as a flood of light.

Many farmers like to keep flood lights on from bedtime till dawn. They regard it as mighty cheap insurance. An inexpensive time switch that will automatically turn the lights off and on whenever you wish can be obtained for this type of operation.

In 1929 and 1930, taxes took 29 per cent of the national income of Russia, 22 per cent in Germany, and 21 per cent in Great Britain. Russia was already Communist, Germany soon had the Nazi Socialists under Hitler, and England too has come under Socialist rule.

The United States has now passed the taxation point reached by Germany and England just before they became Socialist. Will we follow them in government, too?

During the past summer more than 2,000 Kentucky 4-H Club summer campers were taught how to handle electricity safely, how to make simple electrical repairs, and other factors of farm electrification by KU farm service personnel.

FACT FACTORY

A recent U.S. visitor to England noted that the farmers of that country have been deprived of many of the liberties still held by U.S. farmers. In July, 1950, the British Socialist government was supervising the operations of 159 farm owners and 1,489 farmers because they had not been operating their farms according to government decree. The government has even gone so far as to dispossess 57 of these farm owners.

During good and bad years, the net profit of manufacturers averages about a nickel, or five per cent, out of each sales dollar. If all factories made no net profit at all, you would still pay 85 cents for every dollar's worth of manufactured products.

Today KU is serving more than 42,000 rural customers in 74 Kentucky counties. This is an increase of about 4,500 farm customers over last year.

There is more electricity available to Americans than to the people in any country in the world, and since World War II, business-managed electric companies have doubled the country's electric supply.

Egg Production High Even in Cold Winter

Rowan Farmer Jesse McBrayer, left, and KU Farm Service Advisor Bill Johnson discuss the value of water warmers in the McBrayer poultry house.

Even during last winter's sub-zero weather, Rowan County Farmer Jesse McBrayer's egg production dropped only 10 per cent. During even the worst weather, his 500 White Rock layers continued their high egg delivery.

McBrayer attributes this record to his use of immersion type electric water warmers, and to poultry house lighting.

Not only do the hens drink more water when it's kept warm and available, keeping egg production high, but caring for the waterers is vastly more convenient.

McBrayer begins lighting his chicken house about the middle of September, keeping the lights on all night. He has found that the lights increase his egg production and keep the chickens cooler by keeping them from crowding. Lights during the pullet raising season, he believes, save five per cent of his flock by preventing crowding.

McBrayer installed an electric water system last year, but already rates it his most valuable piece of equipment. Ordinarily he has 800 layers which consume some 80 gallons of water a day. Once it took him an hour each day just to hand the water for them. Now his labor has been cut at least 50 per cent.

He believes that low cost, dependable electricity is responsible for much of his success with his flock.

In spite of the increased cost of nearly everything else you buy today, Reddy Kilo Watt's wages buy more electric service than before. Electricity is now, more than ever, the lowest cost item in the average family's budget.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture says that milking machines save 684 man hours per year.

Miss Humphrey Retires After Teaching 35 Years At Morehead

By Ruth Phillips

A unique record has been set by Miss Inez Faith Humphrey, who retired this year as associate professor of English. She has taught on this campus for a longer time than Morehead State College has existed.

When Miss Humphrey first came to Morehead 35 years ago, the old Morehead Normal School occupied the site where the college is now located. She taught science and English for six years in the Normal School, and has taught at the college since its opening in 1923.

Miss Humphrey has seen the city of Morehead develop from a small town with "unpaved streets and no water system." She has watched the campus change from an area of "natural forest land" with frame school buildings to its present "man-made beauty of buildings and grounds." And she has had a great share in the progress and development of the college.

Miss Humphrey, who is living permanently in Morehead, first came here in 1916. The Normal School, sponsored by the Christian Board of Missions, was a teacher-training institution of high-school level, and was at that time the only high school in the county. The educational level all over Kentucky, and especially in this section of the state, was quite low. Miss Humphrey said, and it was a constant subject of conversation to raise educational standards. "It is almost impossible to convey an idea of the enormous improvement that has been made in the entire educational system," she said. "I would say that Kentucky has made greater progress in education in the last 10 or 15 years than any other state in the union."

Many well-known and successful men and women were educated in these early institutions, however. Miss Humphrey pointed out, for example, Dr. Harlan H. Hatcher, now president of the University of Michigan, was a student at the Normal School.

The campus, in the early pre-college days, had little resemblance to its present appearance. Miss Humphrey recalled one of the old Normal School buildings is still extant; it has been moved to College Street, across from the Administration Building, and is still standing in the grounds between Allie Young Hall and the Administration Building, was the original pump used for this dormitory.

Miss Humphrey is originally from Palmyra, Ill., and graduated from Eureka College in Eureka, Ill., in 1910. She received a master's degree with extra credits from the University of Chicago in 1913 and completed most of the work for a Ph. D. degree from the University of Michigan in 1915. She taught in Illinois, Mississippi, North Carolina, before coming to Morehead. During the school year of 1922-23, just before Morehead State College opened, Miss Humphrey served as state secretary of youth work for the Christian Church in Illinois.

During her years with the college, Miss Humphrey has participated in many extra-curricular activities. She helped organize the YMCA and started an English major's club (similar to the present Coffee Club) which published the Quill and Quair, a literary publication. She was acting head of the English department until 1940.

One of Miss Humphrey's greatest interests is travel. She attended, in 1925, the World Convention of Christian Churches in England, and followed this with travels throughout England, Scotland, Switzerland, and France.

Last year she vacationed in Mexico with a group of teachers and professional women in recent years she has traveled extensively in Canada, the United States, and has just returned from a group of mobile trips to which she devoted almost a year of the summer. Her plans are not definite yet. She taught a course in Literature for children at the college.

Nature study is another long-standing interest of Miss Humphrey. According to Henry C. Haggan, head of the department of agriculture, Miss Humphrey taught classes in biology, zoology, and even agriculture in the "old school." "In the early days of the college," Miss Humphrey was the best informed faculty member on the local flora, he said.

She also conducted field trips on week-ends for those interested in animal life. She said the hollows and ridges where the choicest plants could be found and the birds were interested in bird life, and was a member of the Kentucky Ornithology Club for many years. Many former students will tell you that Miss Humphrey did more to interest them in plant and animal life than any teacher they had ever come in contact with.

Mr. Haggan and Miss Catherine Braun, instructor in geography, are the only other faculty members who have been with the college since its founding.

Miss Humphrey has always been active in the community. She is a member of the Christian Church and of the local chapter of the American Association of University Women. She is a member of Delta Kappa Gamma, national honorary society for teachers, and at present is on the local, state, and national committee on Pioneer Women in Education. This year she is chairman of the A.W.U. Book Club of Morehead.

It is generally agreed that although Miss Humphrey is no longer teaching at the college, she is still an active and vital member of the college community.

Miss Humphrey has retired to her lovely home on Second Street, in the shadows of the institution she loved so well and nurtured so long.

CLARK B. LANE for Coroner (Rowan County)

After having been asked by many Rowan County citizens to run for Coroner, I announce myself as a candidate for that office, at the election to be held Nov. 6, 1951.

Since I have been a Funeral Director for 25 years, I have visited the scene where many persons died from mysterious causes. Due to this, I believe I am better qualified than people who have not had such experiences.

If elected to this office I promise to give it the same careful attention as I would to my own private business. In cases where it is not possible to determine from the surroundings of the place of death and the condition of the body as to the cause of death, I propose to call a physician to examine the body.

I also propose, in each and every case, to permit the family to decide what Funeral Director or Funeral Home they wish to do otherwise except where the family cannot be contacted. Most all the voters of Rowan County know me and I am sure the great majority of you feel that I will give this office the attention it merits.

It will not be possible for me to see all the voters so I take this means of soliciting your support.

My name will appear on the ballot in the Democratic list of nominees. I will appreciate your support.

Respectfully,
CLARK B. LANE

Event Nov. 3 To Feature Parade, Football Game, Banquet, Dance

By James Owens

Campus organizations are nearing completion of plans for Morehead's Homecoming which is scheduled for Saturday, November 3. The Homecoming celebration, which will be highlighted by the football game against Murray State College in the afternoon, is expected to be one of the most elaborate celebrations ever held here.

The traditional day when the old graduates return to the campus will start with the registration of the alumni at 9 a. m. in the Administration Building. Coffee and doughnuts, provided by the college, will be served at the registration desk by a committee under the direction of Mrs. Stanley Radjmas. Registration will continue until noon. All those who do not register at this time will have an opportunity to do so until game time at Jayne Memorial Stadium.

The Homecoming parade, which will be composed of the college marching band and floats, prepared by campus organizations, will start on College Boulevard at 10 a. m. The city of Morehead has approved the parade and will provide a police escort. Walter Zeno, a junior here, has been appointed parade master by the Student Council.

The Alumni Association will present a cup to the organization judged as having the best float. The Association will also award a plaque for the best decorated dormitory on campus.

Other events planned for Saturday morning for the entertainment of alumni include a trip to the site of the new dam, open house and refreshments in Field Hall, and various tours of the campus. All classrooms will be kept open and the faculty will be on hand to welcome the visitors.

The program for the half-time presentation of the candidates for Homecoming Queen.

Lounge facilities will be made available to alumni after the ball game in Allie Young Hall and Thompson Hall.

The annual banquet of the Alumni Association will be held at 6 p. m. in the college cafeteria. Dr. Charles R. Spain, president of the college, will be the principal speaker. The annual business meeting will follow the banquet.

Final event of the evening is to be the Homecoming Dance from 8 to 12 in the gymnasium. This dance, arranged by the Alumni Association, will be free to all students and alumni in good standing. Music will be furnished by Rogo Shipley "Kentuckians".

Election of Homecoming Queen is under the direction of the Mystic Club, which plans to submit the names of all sophomore, junior, and senior girls for election by the entire student body in convocation Thursday. The 11 girls who receive the highest number of votes will be present at convocation next week and final choice of the queen will be made by members of the football team immediately after the convocation program.

A pep rally and "snake dance" through the streets of Morehead will be sponsored by the Mystic Club Friday night.

Have You Been Approached By The Job Holders and Corrupt Politicians From The State Administration?

if not ...

You will be between now and the election HERE IS THE MAN THEY'LL CRITICIZE

What They'll Tell You ...

They'll tell you to pay no attention to this man Eugene Siler. They'll tell you this present state administration is so powerful that nobody can defeat it. They'll tell you they've done so much for you and this county.

Look at those that are doing the telling... job-holders, parasites on the public payroll... and people with a selfish interest that are getting something out of the big bags of money coming from Frankfort.

They won't tell you that figures from the Revenue Commissioner's Office show that the present corrupt state administration is collecting three times as much tax money today than at any other time in Kentucky's history and they won't mention the highway suit and corruption at the State Capital.

They've Even Criticized This Statement Made by Judge Siler ...

In all his speeches Judge Siler has said:

"Religion has a place in everything I do. It is part of my life on Sunday; it is part of my life during the week; it is part of my life when I wake in the morning and when I go to bed at night. I am making it part of my life right now and it will be part of my life if I am elected your Governor."

The job-holders have jeered at this. But, the honorable, honest people of Kentucky know that Judge Siler, a Baptist layman and a man that has been an active church and civic leader all his life, is Kentucky's only hope to return to respectability.

How About Schools and ### Old Age Pension & Welfare Checks

Under the present Democratic Administration schools of Rowan County received sixty-six and two-thirds percent more than they did from the State of Kentucky during the four years of the Republican Willis Administration.

An almost like increase has been given Rowan County's aged who draw pensions and Rowan is now getting more than double the amount of money for Child and Welfare Care than they did under the Republicans.

Check the Facts and Figures!

That is the way to kill that old Republican 'smear' campaign of trying to deceive the people!

This is an aerial view of Morehead State College, the lifeblood of this community — East Kentucky's Seat of Higher Learning.

Let's Compare What the Last Two Administrations, One Democratic, the Other Republican, Have Done for This School . . .

Under the present Democratic State Administration the appropriations for Operation, Maintenance and Capital Outlay for Morehead State College has been:

1951-52 SCHOOL YEAR	$707,000.00
1950-51 SCHOOL YEAR	$560,000.00
1949-50 SCHOOL YEAR	$315,000.00
1948-49 SCHOOL YEAR	$315,000.00

A total for the four years of Democratic Administration of $1,897,000.00

Under the preceding Republican administration of four years the total appropriations for Morehead State College was:

1947-48 SCHOOL YEAR	$306,000.00
1946-47 SCHOOL YEAR	$305,000.00
1945-46 SCHOOL YEAR	$234,000.00
1944-45 SCHOOL YEAR	$234,000.00

A total for the four years of Republican Administration of $1,080,000.00

The above figures do not include the $700,000.00 Student Union Building which this present Democratic Administration has planned for Morehead State College.

Besides this the Willis Republican Administration all but wrecked this great college and the Democrats saved it!

Russian Plane May Be Tested By U. S.

American pilots may be test flying a Russian MIG-15 jet fighter within the next few months.

Reconstruction work on a damaged MIG plucked from enemy territory in Korea last July is under way, although delay has been encountered in reproducing some parts lost in the crash, officials familiar with the project told a reporter this week.

The painstaking, bit-by-bit reassembling of the damaged fighter is being done at the analysis division of the Air Force's Air Materiel Command Center at Wright-Patterson Base, Ohio.

The plane was recovered from 17 feet of water off Hanchon, North Korea, through the combined efforts of the British, American and South Korean navies and the U. S. Air Force.

Surface craft, operating under air cover of allied planes, hauled the wreckage aboard a land vessel and hurried out of the enemy waters.

The MIG, shot down in a duel with an American F-86 Sabre, made a crash landing near a mud flat. The tail cone of the MIG as it struck, but it was recovered along with the main part of the plane, including the engine.

While actual flight of the MIG in operations with American planes will give valuable combat information, scientists already are compiling vast amount of aeronautical data from analyses of the plane's parts.

Information from this wind tunnel, which can accommodate an entire wing, tail assembly or even fuselage of a fighter plane. It shoots tunnels, speeds ranging from 650 to 800 miles an hour—the upper speed of jet fighters—can be simulated. Tests at slower speeds such as that for landing (about 100 miles an hour) are possible in full-scale tunnels where an entire assembled fighter can be tested.

Files Suit To Halt Vote On Amendment

Action Started In Frankfort That Issue Not Clearly Stated

A move to bar voting on a proposal to make it easier to amend Kentucky's constitution was made in circuit court at Frankfort this week.

Harry G. Fielder, Frankfort, who was active in the State Rights party in 1948, filed a suit charging the proposed amendment was prepared for the ballot in such form that the voters can't clearly understand it.

Fielder's suit asks that the 120 county clerks be prohibited from putting Atty. Gen. A. E. Funk's wordage of the amendment on the ballots on the grounds that it is unclear and incompletely set out.

The attorneys who filed the petition for Fielder are John and Scott Breckinridge of Lexington and John L. Vest of Walton, all of whom are active in the Committee of One Thousand which opposes the amendment.

The amendment proposed by the 1950 General Assembly would permit any number of amendments to be voted on at one time, and the legislature could submit them separately or lump them under one "yes" or "no" vote.

The proposed change also would permit amendments to be proposed at any regular or special legislative session and would enable them to be voted on during the same calendar year they are proposed.

At present Section 256 of the state constitution, which this year's amendments propose to change, limits amendments to two at any one election. It requires separate votes on each amendment proposed. It permits only regular legislative sessions to submit amendments and requires them to be voted on during the calendar year after they have been proposed.

As proposed by the 1950 General Assembly, the amendment would be voted on Nov. 12 on two-type-written lines. The attorney general, who is required by law to prepare the ballot which appears on the ballots, reduced the wordage in an attempt to state in fewer words what is proposed. Fielder's suit charges that the question be "bolded down" after being presented to the voters "so couched as to misinform and mislead" the voters.

Fielder sued in behalf of himself and of all other residents, taxpayers and voters of Kentucky. His suit named Atty. Gen. A. E. Funk, Secretary of State George Glenn Hatcher and all the 120 county clerks as defendants.

No date has been set for a hearing of the suit.

A Few Words To The Voters of Rowan County

In behalf of my race for Coroner all of you people know this is to fill the unexpired term of T. F. Anderson, deceased. He was the choice of the people by a large margin of votes and it was asked by several good people to make this race.

At the time I filed Mr. Grover Trumbo was the only opponent I had and, as you know Mr. Clark Lane filed and Mr. Trumbo withdrew from the race leaving me and Mr. Lane to face each other in the final election.

I will not be able to canvass the whole county and see the voters as the Coroner's place doesn't pay very much to a man like me, but an underwriter would have a better chance of getting something out of it.

I want to say to the people of Rowan County I have nothing personal against Mr. Lane and, as far as I know, he is a gentleman. But I am just in favor of an underwriter being Coroner as it gives him all the advantages over the other undertakers in the county and if I am elected Coroner all the cases I have jurisdiction over I will divide with all undertakers in the county.
