Dr. Charles Spain, Morehead's 6th President, to be Inaugurated At Ceremonies on MC Campus

Simplicity Will Mark Program Friday at 2:30

Dr. Charles R. Spain will be inaugurated as president of Morehead College in a ceremony tomorrow (Friday) and will be honored at a reception later the same afternoon. Students have been invited to attend both these functions.

In accordance with Dr. Spain's personal request, the program and reception will be informal, and academic regalia will not be used.

Registration of guests will begin at 2 p. m. in the auditorium. Ten minutes later the college band is scheduled to play, and Dr. Benjamin Johnson of the music department will play an organ prelude.

Presiding over the program proper will be Boswell B. Hodgkin, state superintendent of Public Instruction and chairman of the college Board of Regents. Rev. Gabriel Banks, English professor here, will give the invocation and benediction.

Included in the program will be the traditional short greetings from representatives of other state institutions of higher learning, singing by the college chorus, and speeches by Dr. Harold Benjamin of George Peabody College, and by Dr. Spain in his inaugural address. Dr. Spain is expected to discuss plans for the future of the college.

The buffet-type reception will be held at 4 p. m. in the Johnson-Camden Library. In the receiving line will be President and Mrs. Spain, the members of the Board of Regents, Superintendent Hodgkin, and Superintendent-elect Wendell Butler.

A Message From The President

Upon the occasion of my inauguration as President of Morehead State College, I wish to express to all those interested in the institution my appreciation for past support of the college, and to express a hope for the future.

At this time in our history we need to think deeply regarding our individual and institutional roles in the preservation and improvement of our way of life. The role of Morehead in expanding opportunities for young men and women deserves most serious thought by those of us who are immediately responsible for the college, as well as by thousands of other former students and friends.

As the college begins to chart its course for the second half of this century, I have certain ambitions and goals which I hope may be shared by all who have faith in the future of Morehead. I hope a Morehead student will increasingly be recognized as a mature citizen who has a profound faith in the democratic way of life, who vigorously supports its principles, and who possesses the character, the talents and abilities to the fullest extent, who respects and honors the rights of other citizens, who is intellectually curious, and who renders service in accord with the high ideals that motivated the founding of our country.

I trust, too, that Morehead students may be recognized for their high personal values, for their devotion to their chosen profession, for their personal integrity, for their faith in high ethical principles, and for their excellence in the personal traits which characterize the best in our cultural heritage.

With much motivating ambitions as these, Morehead can realize even more fully its great potentialities and its mission. We can be working together make the next decade the "finest hour" in the history of the College.

Haldeman Boy Killed When Hit By Truck

Raleigh Williams, Driver, Is Charged With Manslaughter

Rowan County's motor vehicle accident toll continued to climb this week as an eight-year-old Haldeman boy was killed when struck by a truck late Thursday.

Keith Ray White, a second grade student at Haldeman school in Lexington, was killed by internal injuries and a skull fracture, less than 24 hours after he was struck by a truck driven by Raleigh Williams, also of Haldeman.

Williams was charged with involuntary manslaughter. State Police said, in connection with the accident, after the truck was found that the vehicle had defective brakes.

The truck was being driven westward—the child was struck, police said.

Pfc. Davis was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Karl F. White.

Funeral services were held Sunday at the Haldeman Church of God, with Rev. Ernest Pfister officiating. Burial was in Evans Cemetery in Lexington.

Survivors include the parents, one brother, Edward, and two sisters, Aveline, Sharon, Janis and Maureen, all at home.

The decision was made by the coroner's jury, which found that Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gregory also survive.

Lane Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

Jimmy Clay Named Fund Chairman

Will Head Red Cross Drive In Rowan County 1952 Quota Is $3,100

The Rowan County Chapter of the American Red Cross today named Jimmy Clay, U. S. Senator, as chairman of the fund drive for 1952.

Clay, a graduate of the Jefferson School of Law, recently opened his practice in Morehead. He is the son of the late James C. Clay, who practiced the same profession in Morehead all his life and was one of the best known lawyers in Eastern Kentucky.

The Rowan County Red Cross goal will be $3,100. The fund drive starts in March. Mrs. C. C. Mayhall, chairman, announced.

James Earl Davis' prize winning essay about Morehead appears on page four, section two of this issue of the News.

Dr. Harold Benjamin Inaugural Speaker

Dr. Harold Benjamin, state superintendent of Public Instruction, will be the inaugural speaker at the inauguration of Dr. Charles R. Spain as president of Morehead College tomorrow (Friday).

Eagles Meet Murray Christy Creek Fire Claims Second Victim

At 7:30 This Evening

Morehead teams made their poorest showing of the season during the past week as they dropped five games, while winning one.

Morehead High netted the lone victory as they beat improving Olive Hill 54-51 in a thriller at the college gym.

Breck, minus sharp-shooting Jerry Riddle, continued to skid, losing 12-21 to good Fleming's boys five and then dropping a 43-30 decision to Sharpshooter. Both games were away from home.

Prior to the season, Coach Bobby Laughlin thought he might have a good club, but the Eagles, using a pressing down-the-floor defense have lacked the height to compete with most of their opponents. However, Laughlin can never be counted out for he has the reputation of being one of the shrewdest High School mentors in the Commonwealth.

Brightest spot of the week for Morehead was the play of the Eagles against Western State, one of the nation's powerhouse schools, at Bowling Green.

Using a zone defense Morehead more than held its own in all but one quarter, the third. Western won the game 65-54 but the battle was closer than any 11 p. m. game.

The Eagles lost at the end of the first quarter 13-9 and were defeated 20-21 in the final quarter. A little more height would have won this one.

The decisive game was the one against Johnson's club, green but full of the old army try, might not be too much to expect at the Ohio Valley conference.

Morehead lost 67-51 at Murray last Saturday and the coaches return the visit this (Thursday)

All Morehead teams will close out play within the week before the Christmas holidays.

Morehead College is favored over The Citadel in an engagement at Morehead Monday evening. This will be one of the bargain double-headers as Breck plays Paintsville in the preliminary, starting at 8:30. Admission price will be $1.

State Inspects Seaboard In Tobacco Warehouses

The State Division of Weights and Measures is inspecting the Seaboard Tobacco Warehouse in all tobacco processing and manufacturing plants in the state, George L. Johnson, director of the division, said today.

Johnson said it is the first time the state inspectors have checked the instruments in all plants and that the inspection will be completed in a few days.

Johnson's division recently checked the scales in all tobacco sales warehouses in the state.

Special Fiscal Court Meeting Is Called For $50 Road Repair Job

Rift Widens Between Judge, And Magistrates

The first test of an order by the Rowan Fiscal Court, divorcing the rural and urban districts, was given Monday evening when the program from County Judge Sam Green, began.

Residents of Seaboard reported a landslide which caused water to back several feet over the road and made its passage impossible. They asked Judge Green's assistance, pointing out that it would be impossible to get the body of Corporal Andrew J. Christian to his parents home and his remains arrived in Morehead yesterday evening.

"I don't have the authority to do a thing about it," the judge said. "The fiscal court has no jurisdiction over the road."

The fiscal court has decided to run the whole program.

The County Judge then called a special meeting of the fiscal court and said he had to drive all over the county to contact the magistrates. He agreed to agree to fix the road, but this brought up another point: Since the road was in the 10th Army, which went through much of the heavy fighting on the Korean front.

The body was sent to the Lane Funeral Home and then removed to the home of his parents on Seaboard. Funeral services will be conducted at the home Friday morning at 10 o'clock.

Forman Explains His Vote On 'Ripper' Measure

Odell Forman, RFD 3, wrote the News today explaining his vote on the "Ripper" measure.

"In your last issue of the News, you raised the question as to whether the measure was the order to use the county's road equipment equally in all four magisterial districts. You stated that we were obviously in a 'belligerent' mood."

"In order not to seem to be malicious I will not go into any lengthy details in giving my reason for favoring the measure."

"In my opinion, I have several good reasons for my action."

"Considering the amount of money in the road fund to be used from July 1, 1951 to July 1, 1952—this being exhausted by the end of the year—the very small part of this that my district received."

"I am sure that I did to be assured of a fair deal for the people."

"If any one doubts the need for District Number 3 for a day or two of their road for better roads they should try to drive over the roads the county is supposed to maintain."

"In reference to District 1 having such a large population I think the City of Morehead, which is not to be included in a county good precinct, is a county good precinct, for better roads they should try to drive over the roads the county is supposed to maintain."

Essay Contest Announced By Jewelry Company

The J. A. Bays Jewelry Company, Morehead and West Liberty, today announced it was accepting entries in its annual high school essay contest in which three Gruen Watches will be awarded.

The students write on: "I Would Like A Gruen Watch For Christmas." A member of the junior class at Morehead High, Breckinridge, in its annual High School will each receive a new Gruen watch.

Batson's Window Depicts Nativity
 One of the most unique window displays of the Christmas in Morehead is that in Batson's Drug Store which depicts the scene of the Nativity in a stable in Bethlehem.

In the crib in the stable the infant Jesus lies, surrounded by the three wise men, arriving with gifts, the mother, Mary, and Joseph. In the background colored lights illuminate the hills of Bethlehem.

Figures used in the window were painted by Mickie Stammen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Stammen. Mickie is a student in the seventh grade at Breckinridge.

FAIRBANKS-MORSE Home Water System

PUMPS 400 GALLONS STEADILY EVERY HOUR!

Even an old-fashioned 3-story farmhouse can have running water on the top floor when you install this small but powerful pump

The heart of the home water system shown here is its double-acting piston pump. Pumps on both forward and reverse strokes. Delivers a steady, full flow of water at maximum capacity. An ideal pump for supplying multiple sprinkler outlets, a line to barn, or for sending water to the top floor of a 3-story house.

Pump has reputation for long service! Fifteen and even twenty years of use, with only minor expense for leather or belt replacements, are common records of service for this pump.

Let us fit a pump to your needs! Fairbanks-Morse piston type shallow well pumps come in 5 different capacities. We'll be glad to estimate your requirements and recommend the pump that meets them. This service is free. Call at our store, or phone or write today.

Continuance Of Program Is Wetherby Aim

Kentucky's 45th Chief Executive Sworn In At Frankfort Tuesday

Governor Wetherby pledged a continuance of the administrative program he has carried on for the last year and said that his term will be "characterized by efficiency, economy and honesty" in his inaugural speech at Frankfort Tuesday.

The Governor was sworn in for a four-year term along with Lieutenant Governor Emerson Beauchamp, Russellville. Wetherby has served as governor since November 27, 1949, when he succeeded Earl C. Clements who was elected United States senator. He and Beauchamp were elected to office on Nov. 6.

Wetherby pointed to achievements already gained in a road building and repair program, a state park and tourist promotion program, expansion of public utility, industrial expansion and welfare and education services. He said work will continue in those fields and that new programs will be started.

He said his administration plans improvement in mental health treatment "that will return to many patients as possible to useful lives." He also said he will ask the General Assembly for the new registration and purification law to assure fair elections throughout the state and said he will recommend a comprehensive code dealing with child welfare problems.

Wetherby spoke out strongly for honesty in government, declaring that "corruption and mismanagement" in the part of many in responsible public positions have struck "serious blows" at the confidence of the American people in their government.

"Those serving in a public policy role must renew with determination their efforts to insure that public service is characterized by efficiency, economy

Federal Agents Close Mt. Sterling Liquor Store

Agents of the Federal Alcohol Tax Unit closed the Bank Street Liquor Dispensary at Mt. Sterling Saturday for the second time this year and confiscated approximately $18,000 worth of whiskey, wine and beer.

E. M. Statton of the tax unit's Lexington office said the dispensary's stock was confiscated because distilled spirits were being sold in wholesale quantities without a basic permit to do so.

The agents arrested Oliver Henry, operator of the dispensary, and charged him specifically with "selling distilled spirits in wholesale quantities without first procuring a basic permit from the secretary of the treasury."

Henry will be arraigned before U. S. Commissioner William Hays, Winchester, probably Monday.

The dispensary also was raided last March, when agents confiscated approximately $24,000 worth of whiskey, wine and beer. Henry was fined in U. S. District Court on a similar charge last May.

Stock confiscated in Saturday's raid was loaded onto a tractor-trailer truck and taken to a bonded storage warehouse in Lexington.

Little Hope Is Held For U. S. Sailor's Baby

Navy doctors held out little hope this week that they can save the life of a sailor's baby rushed to Washington in a mercy flight ordered by President Truman.

A spokesman at the Naval hospital at Bethesda, Md., said everything possible will be done for two-month-old David Minter, who was flown from Key West, Fla., where the President has been vacationing.

"We always hope that some-

New York Hoboes Seek Flophouse Site

At least one Fifth Avenue bank doesn't consider a loan to hoboes a bad risk.

But the hoboes, who borrowed $2,000 to set up a "model flophouse," so far can't find a place to spend the money.

With the cash borrowed recently from the Modern Industrial Bank, the hoboes have been roaming the city looking for a suitable vacant lot or condemned building to set up a 50-cent-a-night hotel. The proceeds will go to pay off the mortgage.

thing will turn up," the spokesman said. But he added the outlook for the infant's recovery is "poor."

Little David son of D. K. Minter, Delhi, Fla., an electronics technician at the Advanced Undersea Weapons school at Key West, has hydrocephalus—water on the brain.

When his worried father appealed personally to the president, Mr. Truman instructed Chief of Staff Warden, physician assigned to his yacht, Williamsburg, to check the child's condition.

Warden reported that immediate brain surgery was needed, and the chief executive promptly arranged for the child and father to be flown to Washington aboard a Navy courier plane en route to ferry papers between the White House and Key West.

Brain specialists began examination of the baby as soon as he was brought to the Navy's Skidder hospital in nearby Maryland. The studies continued all day.

But the proposal for an immediate operation was abandoned. The hospital spokesman said that "no surgery is contemplated until further tests are conducted."

He added that it does not appear now as if surgery would do any good. He explained that the child's defect is congenital—present at birth.

While the brain fluids could be drained off as they appeared, he said, they presumably would continue to form. Such pressure on the brain would eventually cause death.

The War Claims Commission urges all former prisoners of World War II to file claim for benefits immediately if they have not already done so. Although Congress has extended the final date for the filing of claims to March 31, the Commission said it hoped to have all claims settled by the end of this year.

Conduct Final Rites For Youth Killed In Korea

Funeral services for Glenn E. Henson, 21, son of Alton and Alma Glover Henson, were conducted at the Bowen Chapel in Morehead, Ky., Saturday afternoon with interment in the Bowen Chapel cemetery.

Young Henson, born March 21, 1910, was killed in action on the Korean battlefield in August. He had served in Korea for eight months before he met his death. Henson enlisted in the armed services in 1918.

He is survived by his mother, Alma Glover Henson, of Upper Tygart; four brothers, Robert, now with the Army and stationed in Korea, Alton, Jimmie and Dick, all at home; a grandfather, J. W. Glover, Upper Tygart; and four aunts and four uncles.

The remains were shipped to the Lane Funeral Home at Morehead which handled the arrange-

Thinks Democrat Mule Needed Mink Coat

Rowan County's democratic mule made a real hit at the inauguration of Governor Wetherby and Lieutenant-Governor Emerson Beauchamp in Frankfort Tuesday.

Newspaper wire stories say the mule talked, bucked and brayed. At the last minute, the mule was taken to the elephant bearing the word "Republican" was placed near its head.

The mechanical mule, constructed by Tom Young, caused many good-natured comments. One Morehead Republican, after seeing the mule go down Main Street Monday, commented: "He looks all right, but he ought to have on a mink coat."

ments. Rev. Ott Furnace officiated at the final services.

Farmers Club, Farm Bureau Hear Nadler

Rowan County's Farm Bureau and Farmers Club held a joint mid-week dinner Friday night at the Morehead Glades. Harry Nadler, assistant director, Kentucky Division of Forestry, was guest speaker for the evening. He spoke on the need for proper management of privately owned woodlands in this state. He declared that timber could be Rowan County's largest crop with the right care and protection. The wood and owners should take advantage of the services offered in fire protection, planting and management by the local Forester and F.

U. L. W. To Publicize Must of Homeowner

The entire Ohio Valley will know of Rowan County's champion homeowner, Nadler, of Mrs. Sam Linton's receipt of the 1931 award will be given on the W. L. W. program, Christmas, at 6:30 a. m., Friday, Dec. 18.

A news article appearing in the Rowan County News, giving the details of the homeowner award was the basis for the W. L. W. announcement.

The broadcast is one of a series planned by W. L. W. station to publicize interesting happenings in the Ohio Valley.

Music, Speech Festivals

The regional high school speech festival will be held on Morehead's campus March 26 and 27, and the music festival will be held April 3, 4, and 5. It was announced by Breckinridge Training School.

Christy Creek--

(Continued From Page 1) found her covered by flames. He ripped the clothing from her body and carried her out into a parked truck. The truck was so near the blazing home that he had to back it up to get her to safety. In the meantime the oil-fed flames spread to the roof where their four-year-old son was sleeping and he was unable to get back in the house to rescue his daughter.

Morehead firemen, answering the alarm, said it was the most horrible scene they had witnessed. The mother had been burned all over and when the blaze was extinguished the child's remains, then unrecognizable, was loaded into an ambulance.

Funeral services for Mrs. Frayley were conducted Sunday morning at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mays at Elliottville. The last rites were said by Rev. Zura Trent and arranged by the Lane Funeral Home. Burial was in the Frayley cemetery alongside her baby girl.

Besides her husband she leaves her parents and four brothers, Clyde Mays, RFD 3, Everett Mays, Omaha, W. Va., Charlie Mays, RFD 3, also surviving is a sister, Cledith Mays.

Dr. Spain enrolled at Bethel College, McKenzie, Tenn., where he completed a year's study before leaving to teach in a Carroll County rural school. After one year of teaching he became principal of Mount Zion grade school in that county. After two years in this position, he left to return to Bethel to finish his B. A. degree with a major in history, and also his M. A. in the same field.

Next Dr. Spain became supervisor of student teachers in his county. After their marriage they moved to New York City where Dr. Spain began his work toward a Ph. D. in education at Columbia University.

During his first year at Columbia, he was research associate in education, and in his second year had a fellowship from the General Education Board of the Rockefeller Foundation. During the summers he had a teaching job.

After completing his doctorate, Dr. Spain became head of the education department at Fayette State Teachers College in Florence, Ala. He began a two year term in the Navy in 1944, and upon his discharge in 1946, became a professor and Director of the Bureau of School Service at the University of Kentucky.

In 1946 the Spains moved to Nashville where Dr. Spain was

Dean of Instruction at George Peabody College, where he remained until coming to Morehead this fall.

Dr. Spain's name appeared in Leaders in American Education in 1947, and in Who's Who in America in 1949.

Passports Suggested For Hitchhikers

Miss Margaret (Teddy) Mayer, 21-year-old Bostonian who hitchhiked to California and back, has proposed passports for hitchhikers to help wipe out crime on the highways.

Back from a rambling 10,000-mile tour of the nation, Teddy set down her rucksack to take up a cudgel against a bill to outlaw hitchhiking which was introduced recently in the Massachusetts legislature.

"Instead of banning hitchhikers, why don't they make us register and issue us police identification cards," the petite, bright-eyed Miss Mayer said.

"Motorists could ask to see a hitchhiker's passport before giving him a ride and that way protect themselves against picking up a potential killer."

As for protecting hitchhikers—especially girl hitchhikers—against designing motorists, Teddy didn't think that was necessary.

"Whenever a guy tried to get fresh with me I'd just turn off the ignition key and hop out of the car," she said.

However, Teddy observed certain rules of the road which she advised all hitchhikers to follow.

"The first is never travel at night and, second, if you're a girl, never let a man drive you down a side road," she said.

Teddy admitted that "occasionally a fellow would get ideas but she usually managed to talk him into keeping both hands on the steering wheel before it ever reached the "turn off the switch" stage.

Most male motorists are "perfect gentlemen," according to Miss Mayer. But she thinks truck drivers are the most chivalrous of all. "These fellows are absolutely wonderful," she said.

Miss Mayer, whose mother and father both are ministers, started out on her zig-zagging thumping tour soon after she received her A. B. degree in psychology from Boston University last August.

Her psychology courses came in handy on the highways where men were in the habit of "just listen" to her marital troubles to Teddy. Occasionally she gave them advice, but mostly "just listen."

Maysville Woman, 111 Years Old, Is Claimed

Maysville's oldest resident, Mrs. Mary Brewer Patterson, died at the age of 111 Sunday.

A bride at 14, she had married three times. She died in the Mason county infirmary.

Mrs. Patterson gave birth to 11 children, all without the aid of a doctor. Five sons saw service in World War I and four of her grandsons were in military service during World War II.

Mrs. Patterson went to the infirmary in 1945 and had been bedfast for the past two years. She was born March 1, 1840, during the administration of President James K. Polk, and was a member of the Christian Church.

ed.

The entire trip cost her $120. She carried her food in her 30-pound bag and stayed with friends of her family or at college "co-op" houses along the way.

At Los Angeles she was interviewed by newsmen and appeared on television show. Then she went to work for a few days at a Long Beach, Calif., fish cannery.

Right now Teddy is planning to start on a hitchhiking tour of Western Europe in February.

"I want to get the wanderlust out of my system before I settle down and get married," she said.

Higher Prices For Autos Is Predicted

Government Order Will Permit Manufacturers To Recalculate Costs

Higher prices for automobiles are expected to result from government order, authorizing car makers to compute new price ceilings.

The authorization will be another in a series by the Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) allowing business concerns to recalculate their prices under the Capcart provision of the economic controls law.

OPS cleared the way for possible price increases on a wide range of consumer items. These include clothing, meat, food, milk and butter, gasoline, oil, tobacco, drugs, beer and cosmetics.

The agency estimated that about 100,000 manufacturers, processors, refiners and mining concerns were affected.

The Capcart provision requires that OPS ceilings permit manufacturers to take their own prices and add or subtract all cost changes through July 26 in computing new ceilings.

The auto price adjustment will be the third since the Korean outbreak. Car prices were first frozen as of Dec. 1, 1949.

Spring manufacturers were granted a 3 1/2 per cent increase. In September they were permitted another adjustment which OPS expected would average from 5 to 6 per cent. Most of the industry has been granted new ceilings.

As long ago as August most of the car makers told OPS they wanted to see adjustments under the provision, named for Senator Capcart (R-Ind.). The September order allowed makers adjustments based on cost increases through last March 15. The order will bring the adjustments up to July 26.

OPS noted that in all cases application of the Capcart provision is optional. Manufacturers can apply for new ceilings if they wish. If they apply for higher prices for any given line, they must put into effect any reduction on other lines which results from application of the formula.

OPS reserves the right to review applications and to reject them if they are considered unreasonable. OPS approval is needed before the new ceilings can be put into effect.

OPS said it could not estimate adequately the effects of its order concerning a wide range of consumer commodities. But, it added, "the parties' effect will be to raise prices wherever an application for adjustment is granted."

USED CAR PRICES

The Government has rolled back ceiling prices on used automobiles six per cent below the levels of last January. The new dollars-and-cents ceilings set prices at about current market levels. An exception to the immediate rollback will be 1951 models which may be sold at the former market price. The OPS specified that used cars on dealers' lots must bear tags stating the make, model, line or series and the ceiling price, including any extra, special or optional equipment. The tag must also show the price at which the car is being offered for sale.

Recite Masons' Battle Against Communism

Masonry's stand against communism was cited at Lexington by George E. Stringfellow at a dinner climaxing Oleika Temple Shrine's fall ceremonial.

"One of the principal bulwarks of liberty and our way of life is Masonry," Stringfellow told the approximately 600 Shriners, their wives and guests at the Joyland Park casino dinner meeting. Stringfellow, of West Orange, N. J., imperial second ceremonial master, declared:

"The great issue today is God or Stalin. We Masons choose God."

The national Masonic leader asserted that Masonry and communism cannot exist in the same world, pointing out that Joseph Stalin, who proclaims that "Christianity or belief in God must be exterminated everywhere before communism is safe anywhere," is aware of the incompatibility of the precepts of Masonry and communism.

The Masons, who are Protestant, have the same attitude toward communism as the Catholics, Stringfellow declared, since both believe in God. "Communists substitute belief in Stalin for belief in God," he said, "for their god is Stalin."

He said there now are 3,750,000 Masons in the U. S. and that the group has a greater responsibility of keeping America American than "any other group of citizens."

During the last 25 years, the speaker told the group, membership in Protestant churches has increased 56 per cent and membership in the Masons has risen 37 per cent—greater than the population increase.

Explaining that the first Shrine hospital was organized 25 years ago, Stringfellow stated that Shrine hospitals have cared for a quarter of a million children. "It has been truly said that this activity has given the Shrine a soul and I would like to observe that the membership of Oleika Temple has provided sustenance for that soul."

Membership In Veterans Organizations Hits New Low

Membership in the nation's veterans organizations has dropped to a postwar low, it was revealed this week.

Some officials are concerned. Others predict that a big flow of ex-servicemen will swell membership rolls again next year.

The four big veterans organizations are the American Legion, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the Disabled American Veterans, and the American Veterans of World War II.

The Legion, which had a peak enrollment of 3,320,000 members in 1946, now has 2,728,000. The VFW had 1,440,000 in 1946, which has dropped to 1,250,000. The DAV and Amvets claim their membership has been increasing with the DAV now at 133,000 members and Amvets at 76,000.

The unofficial newspaper publication, Army Times, has been critical of the postwar drop. It says there is a feeling among many veterans they have gotten all the benefits Congress will authorize and therefore are dropping their memberships.

The newspaper also says that veterans are dropping out because they feel that their leaders are engaging too much in national politics outside the special field of veterans problems.

Spokesmen for the organizations discounted both reasons. Some admit that a few members have taken an "I've-got-all-I-can" attitude and this is dropping out. They claim the number is small.

Legion and VFW spokesmen say the drop in enrollment in their organizations was to be expected during the postwar period. They claim applications for enrollment are far above last year's pace.

All veterans groups are plugging membership drives. They figure nearly 16,000,000 are in the pool of eligible ex-servicemen.

A little drop isn't bad, as some people may say.

The Tragic Aftermath

Effects of Highway Tragedy Include Terror and Anxiety

Suppose you are behind the wheel of a car involved in a major accident. What will it mean to you and to your passengers? This is the third of a series intended to show what happens to people in the months and years after a highway accident: an effort to total the cost, not in money, but in pain and grief.

By Robert V. McMenimen.
 Human nerves, twisted and torn by the horror of a major highway accident, are merciless in their revenge. Even after surgery and rest have repaired the physical damage, the body's nervous system continues for years to reflect the terror of impact, pain, blood and death.

Three years ago next month a car carrying a group of New Jersey professional women was battered into scrap by a trailer truck loaded with 15 tons of potteries. When the dust settled, one of the women, her neck broken and her internal organs lacerated, was seriously injured.

For the dying woman the end came mercifully in a hospital-bound ambulance. She left behind her a husband and daughter, grief-stricken at the loss of a loved one unnecessarily slain.

For the dead woman's companions in the crushed car, the sound of squealing brakes and the church of steel against steel are still terribly, sickeningly vivid today. To them the accident remains a nerve-wracking memory.

Thirty-four months after the crash, one survivor, a passenger, was still undergoing psychiatric treatment. The driver of the car, adjudged blameless in the crash, suffers from a nervous tension.

The woman patient was an active intellectual contributor to the welfare of her community.

Aware of the high accident rate, which is climbing and climbing, particularly in the series of Kentucky, this newspaper prints this as one of a series of articles from the Newark, N. J. News.

The highway crash robbed her of that status.

The most seriously injured of the survivors, she was long unconscious and underwent months of treatment for skull and leg fractures and shock. Apparently fully recovered, she returned to work about 14 years after the accident but was unable to continue.

The ill-fated car's driver was hospitalized for two months with a brain concussion, a broken pine bone, a chipped ankle bone, a rib cage laceration, numerous bruises and severe mental shock. On her return home, treatment continued for the physical injuries as well as for a nervous condition that not only produced nervousness and depression, but occasionally manifested itself in the form of a rash.

Post-hospital recuperation, the woman's husband says, consumed 18 months. Referring to the nervous tension that persists, he adds: "In one sense she is still recuperating."

"This nervous condition," the husband says, "worried me more than any thing else at the time of the accident, and even today—three years later—it still worries me more than anything else."

The woman knows the cause and details of the crash only through having been told of it by others. She has no actual memory of her own concerning the facts. Because of the tension which thought of the event provokes in her, the husband does not permit discussion of the accident in his wife's presence.

This tension continues to reflect the horror of the crash. It appears, at times, when the woman rides as a passenger with her husband, "even though she knows I'm a careful driver."

The woman did not resume driving herself until two years after the accident. Even now she only drives locally, as on shopping trips in her home town. "She is likely to become upset over even the most minor mishap—such as skidding against the curb while parking," her husband says. "Something like that may provoke her to tears when she reaches home. It may take her a couple of days to forget the incident."

Except in one vital aspect the woman has made a complete physical recovery, according to her husband. At the time of the accident she was undergoing treatment designed to enable her to bear a child. The pelvic bone break sustained in the crash, her husband says, means there is "no

Water Will Help Keep Christmas Tree Fresh, Green

The most practical, satisfactory and convenient way to keep the Christmas tree fresh, green and resistant to fire is to select a fresh tree and then keep it in water, according to the Forest Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

A fresh, moist tree actually is difficult to burn and is easily kept so all during the holidays. One way to test for freshness is to force buying is to shake the tree to see if any needles fall. If so, the tree already is dry and will soon lose its looks and become a nuisance in the house. Also, if it is too old, it will not be able to draw up water.

A fresh tree that is given water will keep its color and fragrance and look alive. As soon as the tree is brought home, throw water all over it. Then cut about an inch off the butt, standing, to open the pores for drawing up water. Set the freshly cut end promptly in water and keep the tree in a cool shady place until it comes indoors for trimming.

To hold the tree in water, a crosswise rack may be fitted over a pail or other container, concealed by a cover of metal foil. Small stones or brick pieces in the container give weight and support as the tree won't topple.

Add water daily, because a five or six-foot tree can take up as much as a cup a day. Every needle gives off moisture in the warm dry air of the house and the tree must replace this moisture to keep fresh. The more moisture, the more fragrance.

For safety, set the tree away from radiators, fireplace, stove, candles, hot light bulbs, or the television set—also out of entranceways or the line of traffic for Christmas visitors.

Most Christmas tree shoppers want a symmetrical tree with branches even all around, but a flat-sided tree—which may not look so attractive outdoors—may be more convenient and better suited to a small room because it will fit against a wall or into a corner. Such a tree usually sells for less than one of perfect shape.

possibility of our hopes being realized.

The financial loss suffered by all concerned as a result of the accident is virtually impossible to determine because of the intangibles involved. It was, however, severe.

Insurance available from operators of the truck was "not half enough" to cover the death of one person and injuries to four others, according to the husband of the woman driving the car.

The insufficient sum was apportioned among the victims by mutual agreement.

Hospital and medical bills for the car driver alone came to $480 more than was covered by a hospitalization policy.

The family car valued at $850 shortly before the crash and expected to serve several years more, brought $75 as junk afterwards. Insurance collected on the battered vehicle came to something over $700, but a new car cost the family $1,950 under inflated prices.

In addition, the husband's business was "terrifically neglected." Work was sacrificed to two months of daily visits to the hospital, an hour away from the man's office, as well as to required attention following his wife's return home.

"I estimate," he says, "that I lost 25 per cent of my working time and a considerable amount of business over a period that covered many, many weeks."

The truck driver, responsible for all this physical, mental and financial misery, pleaded non-vult to a charge of causing death by automobile and was fined $1,000. A two-to-three-year prison sentence imposed upon him was suspended.

Because of the high cost of machinery and because some machines may not be available on the market next year, it is especially important to properly store machinery for the winter and to go over all machines for needed repairs.

Check all machines for broken, loose or defective parts. Don't trust to memory but tag each part that will need repair and replacement before next season.

Arrange to have precision equipment, engines and motors checked in "shops of machine dealer."

Clean all machines, rust-proof when necessary and paint exposed wood and metal parts.

Take off canvases and belts. Clean and put in dry, safe shelter.

Pack bearings and other movable parts with proper lubricants to keep out moisture.

Take the batteries out of power equipment and keep them properly charged.

Jack up machinery on rubber tires to relieve the pressure on the tires. Drain radiators and engine.

No editor has yet lost his temper when a subscriber paid up his dues.

Then there are the people who like jokes—on the other fellow.

She Gets 300 Eggs From 300 Chickens

With eggs 75 cents a dozen, a visitor in the Rowan County News office this week to renew her subscription, attracted considerable attention.

"If you need any fresh eggs we have plenty to sell," Mrs. J. C. Wells told the editor.

"How many eggs do you gather a day?"

"About 300," Mrs. Wells replied.

"How many chickens do you have?"

"A little over 300," she replied.

The doubting editor investigated and discovered this was correct. Just about every chicken

Mr. and Mrs. Wells, who own a beautiful farm with a "dream" ranch-type home on the Flemingburg Road, has laid an egg a day. Of course, she has the best poultry facilities, all pure-bred stock and employs modern practices.

But, 300 eggs every day from 300 chickens — that really is something to an editor that grew up on a farm where 500 chickens loved about a dozen or so eggs on a cold day. In these days of stream-lined production, it wouldn't be surprising to hear about the development of a new breed of chickens that will lay an egg every hour on the hour.

You can always borrow all the money you want when you don't want any.

Hard work may not kill anybody, but, occasionally, it sure wears one down.

Cowden's Mt. Sterling Plant Plans Open House

The process of manufacturing overalls and work shirts will be explained and demonstrated to the general public at an open house at the Cowden Manufacturing Company's new plant at Mt. Sterling Friday, Dec. 21.

Everyone is invited to visit the company's new factory building on that date, company officials said. Women employees of the plant with the longest record of service will act as guides for the visitors and will explain each operation demonstrated.

The plant now employs about 175 workers with a payroll of nearly $12,000 a week, or over half a million dollars a year. Production amounts to about 1,200 dozen pairs of overalls and 800 dozen work shirts each week during normal operations.

The company, which has its home office in Lexington, also operates plants in four other Kentucky towns — Morehead, Lancaster, Springfield and Stanfield.

MHS Student Wins Rowan Essay Contest

Entry Of 17 Year Old James Earl Davis Captures Award

What does Morehead as a community need?

Fifty-three students of Morehead High and Breckinridge Training School have given their views in essays written for the state-wide contest sponsored by the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce and locally by the Board of Trade.

The winning Rowan County essay on "What My Community Needs" was written by James Earl Davis, a 17 year old senior at Morehead High School. His prize is a $100 savings bond contributed by Lee Clay Products Company. Davis' prize-winning essay now becomes eligible for a like award in Region 'C' and if best of the 36 entered there will be judged for the state prize.

The state prizes are: (1) $500 scholarship; (2) $300 scholarship; (3) $200 scholarship; and (4) $100 defense bond.

Davis barely noted out Kay Elaine Hackney, 14-year-old Breckinridge Training School girl. Miss Hackney received a $50 savings bond for her second-place essay, the gift of the Citizens Bank. Third place went to Billie Gay Bailey, 16-year-old Morehead High School girl, who lives at Clearfield. Miss Bailey gets a $25 savings bond, contributed by the Rowan County News.

Judges for the contest were: Henry C. Hagan, head of the Morehead State College department of agriculture; Tom Cox, manager of Cowden Manufacturing Company; and County Agent Adrian Razer. It took the judges almost a week to decide the winners because of the unusually large number of entries and general skill the High School students manifested.

There were so many good essays, according to the committee, that three others were given honorable mention. They were written by Sara Glenn Lane, Breckinridge; Louise E. Erwin, Morehead High; and Fern White, Breckinridge.

Announcement of the prize winners was made this morning by John Palmer, president of the Board of Trade and chairman of the Essay Contest in Rowan County.

Palmer said the judges commented that "it was unusual that most of the 33 entries listed about the same shortcomings in Morehead and Rowan County."

Prize winner James Earl Davis thought Morehead's basic-needs are: cooperation, understanding, education, health and sanitation recreation, civic pride, safety equipment and religion. He built his six typewritten-page discussion around these points.

Davis said "My community has had many elections on improvement that would have helped the city if they had passed, but the people were uninformed. If my community does not have understanding and cooperation it will never go forward very rapidly."

In another portion of his essay Davis said "there is a lack of education in our city" ... that he knows of many people who have left Morehead because of the sanitation problem, particularly from sanitary sewers ... suggests more drives against flies, rats, mosquitoes and other pests ... says the foremost need of Morehead is a new modern high school building ... that Morehead has neglected its duty to provide recreational facilities ... and declares Morehead is lacking a great deal in civic pride.

Young Davis thinks Morehead merchants should clean up their back lots and the town has many eyesores in old and neglected buildings.

The 17-year-old Morehead boy had the same thought as practically every one of the entrants as he closed his essay with "Each time I think of what we need most I come back to one thing — a new school."

Rowan County voters rejected by almost three-to-one a proposal at the last general election which would have levied a 50 cent tax for money to construct new school buildings at Morehead, Clearfield and on North Fork of Triplett and most of the high school essay writers bitterly attacked this in their discussions.

Players Get Contract For Children's Play Next Year

The Morehead Players were awarded a contract for next year's production of a children's play at the last meeting of the Morehead Women's Club.

The Players produced "Jack and the Beanstalk" this season under the sponsorship of the Women's Club. Last year the Strawbridge Players, a professional troupe, gave a performance of "Puss in Boots."

The Club also voted to use the proceeds from this year's play to set up a scholarship at the college. It will probably go to a drama major.

First Graders Give Reading Party For Parents

Children in the first grade at Breckinridge Training School celebrated National Education Week and American Book Week with a reading party for their parents November 14.

After each child had read a selection, refreshments were served. Later the parents were taken on a tour of the library by the children, who told what they had learned about choosing, checking out, and returning books.

Morehead's Shortcomings Bluntly Listed By Student In Prize-Winning Essay

James Earl Davis
Says New School
Is Primary Need

This essay, written by James Earl Davis, 17-year-old Morehead High student, won first prize in the contest, "What My Community Needs." Young Davis was awarded a $100 savings bond.

contributed by Lee Clay Products Company and the essay is now eligible for regional and state prizes.

WHAT MY COMMUNITY NEEDS

By James Earl Davis
Many young men and women leave Kentucky to work and live in other states. Why? This question is asked time and time again. The immediate answer is "More money. Higher Wages." This, of course, has a great deal to do with it. But there is something more, something "deeper" than that. The community is a great factor in most cases. Simple deduction shows us that when people leave Kentucky because of the community, then that community is lacking something. What do these communities need? It is responsible to believe that different communities have different specific needs, but I believe that these communities have some general and basic needs in common.

These basic needs are: Co-operation, Understanding, Education, Health and Sanitation, Recreation, Civic, Fringe, Safety, Equipment, and Religion. The beginning and the end of a community problem is co-operation and understanding. These two factors have kept more improvement from being made than any other. The very first things my community needs are these two. No matter how much equipment and facilities we have, we cannot go very far without the understanding of those facilities. Neither can we go far without the cooperation as to the use of the facilities.

My community, as well as others, I am sure, has had many elections on improvements that would have helped the city a great deal if they had been passed, but the people were uninformed and did not understand the issues; consequently these issues did not pass and the community is no better off than before they were suggested. The preceding incident illustrates that we must have understanding in order to have cooperation. These two, I believe, are the most important of all the needs of my community. If my community does not have understanding and cooperation it will never go forward very rapidly. My community needs education. When many people leave this community to go to other states, it is often because they realize something is wrong, but the lack of education keeps them from knowing exactly what is wrong and want to go on and on. These people are overwhelmed by the conditions they find themselves in, so they leave and go to a vicinity where the improvements have already been made.

There are many illustrations to show a lack of education in this city. Many times one of the clubs I belong to at school has tried to make improvements and to help others, but the other students did not understand, so about their cooperation our plans failed. This is one of the main things my community needs more of. These clubs that are honestly "service clubs." They can help make my community a better place in which to live.

The next thing my community needs is improvements in health and sanitation. I have heard so many people say "I cannot sit on my front porch because of the odors of the sewers." This is not only an uncomfortable condition but an unsanitary one. Why are such things as this allowed to exist? I have known many people who actually left this city because of the sanitation problem. The flies, rats, mosquitoes, and other pests are a menace to our health, why then can't this city have more drains against them as one of our neighboring cities, Mt. Sterling, has done.

This phase brings in another pressing community problem, the problem of our high school. Morehead High School is unsanitary. It is detrimental to the health of our youth. I believe that first and foremost our community needs a new high school.

The recreation problem is one that has faced Morehead for years. Each day, I hear someone say, "There is nothing to do in Morehead except go to the movies." If we could have a recreation center then much of this problem would be eliminated. The boys Morehead would be grateful for a field to play football and other games in, then they could have it. These recreational facilities wouldn't cost much and they would make life more enjoyable for us. They would encourage us to stay in this community.

Civic pride is something a community cannot do without. Every community must have it. It is not a question of whether a community has it or not, rather it is a question of how much it has. My community is lacking a great deal in civic pride. When we go down the street we see many number of business places that are neat in front, but their "back lot" is the "skeleton in the closet." These "back lots" always eye sores, are sometimes breeding places for germ carrying flies. At any rate, they are a black mark on our civic pride. We don't enjoy seeing them, and they do not make a good impression on our out-of-town visitors.

The old and the unkempt buildings of our city are not only eye sores, but they are a menace to the safety of our town. These buildings should either be torn down or remodeled. When people who are not familiar with our city happen to see these barn like structures, they have a lowered opinion of the city as a whole. All of us should set higher standards of civic pride.

Safety is a community "must." The lower the safety standards of a city, the lower its desirability. In the past year there have been probably as many, if not more, automobile accidents and railroad accidents in Rowan County than in any other county of its size in the state. This has not been a very good indication of our safety standards. If a community accident rate is high, then people are not going to want to live there nearly as much because their chances of losing their lives are much higher. I do not intend to infer that people should be scared about the accident rate of a city, but it is one of the great short-comings of Morehead.

If we all remember that "safety begins at home" and practice it in our homes, at school, walking, and in our automobiles, then our accident rate will decrease.

The equipment, or lack of equipment, is probably what holds my community back more than any one of the other needs. We need as first in equipment a new school. This has been, will be, and I believe should be, stressed time and time again.

The need for recreational equipment has been felt very much by all, especially the young people of this community. My town needs better equipment for government. The county needs a new courthouse, and the city a new street.

Each time I think of what we need most I come back to one thing—a new school. If my community is to be a good community in the future then it must train the children of today for the world of tomorrow. "The world of tomorrow" is the youth of today. This community cannot train adequately for the future. The high school today, when the new high school problem will be solved.

The recreation problem was surely felt by a group of people the other day. It happened that the street was on, incidentally one of the better streets, was heavily parked. They had driven off to work up it when they met another car. They were forced to back for about three hundred feet and then another car pass.

A teacher at Morehead High School had to go back home and change clothes because there were no sidewalks on the street she travelled. The lack of sidewalks is very inconvenient. There is one matter of equipment that should be considered second only to the school need. That is the need for a hospital. There are several reasons why we need a hospital. The most obvious of these is the distance from Morehead to one. There was a man in Morehead who broke his leg. This would have been a very common and easily healed injury if Morehead had not been so far from a hospital. There was a long delay in getting him to Lexington. The resulting consequence was that his leg had to be amputated.

I believe the preceding conditions show that the equipment problem is the greatest problem. Never can a community leave out that underlying fundamental religion. If and when any community makes religion its foundation, then there is a trusting in others that makes for advancement. I heard a person say the other day "There is no use to go to the dentist or the optometrist because they will tell me I need my teeth filled or that I need glasses whether I do or not, just to get the money." I believe there are few dentists, doctors, or optometrists, who would tell say, if these communities will develop these qualities of cooperation, understanding, education, health and sanitation, recreation, civic pride, safety, and religion; then the young people would be contented to stay here because they would be prepared for the future. Their lives would be happy and contented ones.

Dr. Hillman, 81, Claimed At Ashland

Native Of Elliott County Was Widely Known In E. Kentucky

A prominent Eastern Kentucky physician, Dr. Andrew Jackson Hillman, died last Wednesday at Ashland. Born in Elliott County July 7, 1870, the son of Sabra and Robert Hillman, he was 81 years of age.

His father was a widely recognized minister. Both his parents were natives of Wise County, Virginia.

After attending school at Cincinnati, Dr. Hillman taught in the Elliott County public school system. He graduated from the Louisville School of Medicine in 1895 and practiced his profession in Elliott, Carter, Lawrence and Fleming counties before moving to Ashland in 1916. He health forced him to retire in 1930.

He was a member of the Kentucky Medical Society, a former President of the Boyd County Medical Association and for four years a member of the Boyd County Board of Education. He was active in civic affairs.

Dr. Hillman was a member of the Centenary Methodist Church and formerly taught a Bible class there. "Who's Who" lists him as an outstanding diagnostician and physician.

He was one of the first members of the Sandy Hook Masonic Lodge.

He leaves a wife, Mrs. Lina Sparks Hillman, the daughter of Judge Joel Sparks of Elliott County; two daughters, Mrs. J. E. Hale of Ashland and Mrs. A. F. Ellington, formerly of Morehead; and two sons, Joel E. Hillman, Columbus.

He also leaves a granddaughter, Betty Jo Harris, Tranton, Ohio; and two sisters, Mrs. Harve Sturgill of Grann and Mrs. Dave Sturgill, Greenup County. Watt Hillman of Olive Hill is a first cousin.

Before moving to Ashland his most extensive practice was at Olive Hill.

Eagles Collide With Murray Team Tonight

Morehead's inexperienced but hopeful basketball team is a 20 point underdog this (Thursday) evening as they tangle with Murray's Thoroughbreds, last year's Valley Conference champions.

The skirmish is scheduled in the college gymnasium at 7:30. The Eagles, loser in three of four games, could not match Murray's height at Murray Saturday evening and lost 87 to 51, but Morehead is expected to do better on its home floor.

A shuffling of the Morehead line-up may be forthcoming as Ellis Johnson's experiments with his best combination. But, regardless of who starts, Morehead will have a decided height disadvantage.

Indication of the tough row Morehead has this season came during the week as it appeared certain that Eastern, Western, Murray and Marshall, all OV members, are loaded this year, while Louisville, another future Eagle opponent, may have the best team in history. All of these are expected to be rated among the nation's top 25 clubs.

If you believe in the freedoms of civilization you must see that they belong to the other fellow.

Good luck rarely comes unexpected; usually, it is over-expected.

U. S. Woman Has A Distinctive Figure

John Everard of London, England, who claims to have photographed more naked women than any other man in the world, has a standing bet that he can pick an American girl right out of a whole army of nudes.

"American men probably don't realize it because they haven't my cosmopolitan experience," Everard said, "but the American woman is developing into a recognizable physical type.

Nudes are like fingerprints. No two nations breed them alike. The American type is beginning to emerge—medium long in the legs with good calf, narrower in the hips than the Italian or Spanish and smaller busted."

Everard has just finished his most ambitious collection of nude studies, "Artist's Model"—hundreds of pictures of girls and women.

After twelve months of doing

1952 Burley Quotas Are Slightly Higher

The burley tobacco quota for 1952 has been set at 501,000,000 pounds as compared to 500,000,000 pounds this year. Or, in terms of acreage, the quota for next year is put at 475,000 acres as compared to 472,000 acres allotted for 1951.

He has about 30 photographs, in the current volume, of his favorite British model—a piquant beauty whose finely chiseled face rests like a flower above magnificent shoulders.

Caution Urged On Highways During December

Nine Kentuckians were killed in traffic accidents during a four-day period at Thanksgiving. Commissioner of State Police Guthrie F. Crowe reminded motorists today in calling for greater highway safety during the Christmas period. Crowe is also chairman of the Governor's Highway Safety Committee.

He said traffic on the state's highways is expected to be much heavier than over Thanksgiving and the outlook is for a larger traffic toll. The heaviest part of the Christmas travel will be from Friday, Dec. 21, through Christmas Day, he said.

Besides the hazard caused by increased traffic, Christmas motorists may have to combat weather that is the worst for driving, and they will probably encounter more drinking drivers than at any other time of the year, Crowe pointed out.

He asked employers to emphasize the danger of drinking and urged party-goers to make plans for safe transportation before attending holiday functions. More than 6,000 persons were killed in the United States last year in accidents in which either a driver or pedestrian had been drinking, Crowe said.

Increased traffic caused by cities by Christmas shoppers is cited by the commissioner as a danger to pedestrians and he warned both pedestrians and drivers to use extra caution, particularly during the evening hours when business activity is at its greatest and visibility at its poorest.

Beware of the person who smiles all the time.

And then there was the young couple who could live on love.

Second Week's Burley Sales Are Strong

Average For All Markets In Kentucky Good At $53.13

Burley tobacco prices continued strong as Kentucky markets averaged $53.13 a hundred pounds last week.

This was only 56 cents a hundredweight lower than the all-time record weekly high average of $53.69 set the previous week.

A record high daily average of $53.25 hundredweight was set Monday. But prices declined daily, hitting a seasonal low of $52.20.

The week's sales brought the poundage auctioned this season in Kentucky to 131,358,071 for $70,558,094.31, making a seasonal average of $53.38, the agency reported.

Heavy volume and offerings slightly off in quality marked the second week of 1951 burley tobacco auctions in the eight state belt with the season average at $53.66 a hundred.

The Federal-State Market News Service said gross sales for this week amounted to 112,657,722 pounds for an average of $53.25 down 84 cents from the first week because of slightly poorer quality.

The season total now is 109,998,081 pounds as compared to 117,750,000 pounds for the same period last year when the average was $48.21 a hundred.

Prices for most grades during the week held steady to slightly stronger than opening week. Better cigarette tobaccos were unchanged to $1 higher while lower qualities of leaf and tip were up $1 to $4. There were a few scattered losses. Grades offered in heaviest volume generally averaged $2 to $7 above support prices.

The proportion of sales in unsafe keeping order increased because of wet weather. Bulk of the marketing consisted of low to good leaf, low and fair tips, flimsy and tins and nondescript.

The 2-inver to 100 lb. administering the government loan program amounted to about 10 per cent of the total sale.

Truce Talks Enter Their Sixth Month

United Nations Demand Immediate Action Of Prisoner Exchange Plan

Korean truce talks entered the 6th month with Allied and Communist negotiators each awaiting some move from the other side to break a deadlock over supervision of an armistice.

Allied truce negotiators bluntly asked the Communists to make a quick decision on the UN demand for immediate discussion of prisoners exchange.

The Reds were told: 1. An Allied subcommittee would be ready at 1 p.m. Tuesday (11 a.m. EST, Monday) to discuss the problem of exchange prisoners.

2. An Allied liaison officer would be at Panmunjom two and one-half hours earlier "to receive your answer."

A tersely worded statement was given to the Reds immediately after today's meeting opened.

Mal. Gen. Howard Turner, who headed the statement pointed out that it had been seven days since the Allies proposed a second subcommittee to discuss item four on the armistice agenda—exchange of prisoners.

Before the meeting, Allied and Red staff officers signed an agreement fixing specific boundaries of a provisional buffer zone. The agreement must be approved by the full delegations.

The staff officers have been discussing the northern and southern boundaries of the militarized zone ever since the full delegations approved a cease fire line based upon the agreed battle line.

A pooled dispatch from Panmunjom said Turner presented the demand on prisoners to the Reds at the direction of Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, chief Allied delegate.

Turner told the Reds the proposal was made for the sole purpose of speeding the talks.

"If you are in fact interested in an early armistice and in the humanitarian features of consequent war matters," Turner was quoted, "we can see no justification for further delay in your acceptance of our proposal for concurrent discussions of items 2 and 4 on the subcommittee level."

Item 3 is supervision of the truce, currently deadlocked. Item 4 is exchange of prisoners, which the Reds have resisted discussing until truce supervision problems are settled.

Urges Farmers To Purchase Fertilizers Now

Having their own needs stored away in advance is about the only way farmers can be assured they will have enough fertilizer for the coming year, in the opinion of men who are in positions to know about the fertilizer situation.

Supplies of certain fertilizer materials will be limited. Transportation and labor difficulties may be expected. This means that farmers should order fertilizer early, accept delivery as soon as possible, and provide dry storage for the materials on the farm.

The total supply of nitrogen available for agriculture will be about eight per cent above that of last year. Particularly all this increase will be in liquid form of nitrogen. However, the demand for nitrogen has increased, more rapidly than the supply, leaving the situation still tight.

The superphosphate supply will likely be 10 to 15 per cent under last year because of a reduction in sulphuric acid for superphosphate manufacture.

The potash situation indicates about 13 per cent more potash than last year is available.

Meantime, an estimated 20 per cent increase in fertilizer demand above last year is predicted. This points up the wisdom of obtaining early the amounts and kinds of fertilizer needed.

Fertilizers can be successfully stored on the farm if the following simple precautions are followed:

1. The storage place must be weather-proof so fertilizers will not be subject to weather damage.

2. If fertilizer is stored on a dirt or concrete floor, boards or poles should be placed under the bags to prevent them from picking up moisture.

3. Bags should be stored loosely to afford good circulation of air between the sacks.

4. Sacks should be piled not more than five or six high. If fertilizer is piled higher than that, the bottom sacks will probably be hardened due to heavy pressure on them.

5. To further insure circulation of air, use boards between each row of sacks.

Morehead High Chorus To Go Christmas Caroling

Members of the Morehead Junior and Senior High School choruses, under the direction of their teacher, William Martin, graduate student at the College, will go Christmas carolling throughout the city on Wednesday evening, Dec. 18.
