Ridgway Deplores Asking "Why Are We In Korea?" By Many Of American People

Allied Commander Says Question Has No Validity

Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway said Wednesday it is deplorable that many Americans still ask "why are we in Korea?" The supreme allied commander declared the pattern of Communist intentions is "now spread across the world where even the blind can see."

For his part, Ridgway said there can be no question of the "validity and purpose" of U. S. fighting in Korea "against that deliberately planned, unprovoked aggression."

"To have done otherwise," he said, "would have been a repudiation of every principle we had previously professed."

Ridgway spoke at the annual convention of the Far East Department of the Reserve Officers Association.

He made no mention of the Korean armistice talks at Panmunjon. The address was devoted largely to remarks on military reserve officers and George Washington, who was born 220 years ago last week.

Ridgway said the same situation exists today that Washington found in 1775 when he wrote that one of his hardest jobs to induce people to believe there was "danger until the bayonet is pushed at their breasts."

"Our country," Ridgway said, "still has today many people

One ride and You'll say:

"That's the Smartest Million Dollars BUICK Ever Spent"

WHEN we tell you that every 1952 Buick rides like a million dollars, we're not just slinging slang—we're talking real money—right-on-the-barrelhead cash. A million dollars and more were poured into research and testing—design and tools—engineering, production and components—to team up the combination of ride features you'll find on a Buick—and on no other car in the world. A million dollars and more was the price paid to work out control of end-way and side-roll on curves—to double-check vertical "throw" with shock absorbers and big soft-acting coil springs for all four wheels—to V-brace the torque-tube keel and X-brace frame—to cushion body and engine—and to silk out the whole operation with Dynaflow Drive. You may not care how the job was done, or what it cost. But we'll lay you this: You're going to say "thanks a million" to Buick engineers once you get this spirited smoothie under your hands and haunches. Old, familiar roads take on a new smoothness. Gone are the weave and wander, the jitter and jounce that you've felt in lesser cars. You ride with road-hugging assurance and level ease. All of which only begins to tell you what really great cars these 1952 Buicks turned out to be.

Never before have style and stamina—comfort and character—power, performance and price been brought together with such satisfying skill. The obvious thing for you to do is come in and look them over. How about taking half an hour off to do that—today? Equipment, accessories, tires and fluids are subject to change without notice. *Standard on 1952 Buicks; optional at extra cost on other Buicks.

5 From Here Take Training In Maryland

Five Rowan County residents have started their basic training at the Ordnance Replacement Training Center at Aberdeen Proving Ground, Maryland.

At present the men are assigned to Company 1, 3rd Ordnance Training Battalion Upon completion of an eight-weeks training cycle, the men expect to attend one of the many Ordnance schools in which they will receive specialized training.

The five trainees are as follows: Privates Ernest Bentley, 20, Clearfield; Charles A. Black, 20, Route 1, Morehead; Billie J. Bowen, 20, Route 2, Morehead; Arvel Caudill, 20, 716 West Main, Morehead, and Marvin A. Kidd, 20, Route 3, Morehead.

Their current training consists of fundamental instruction in infantry subjects and applying classroom theory in the field.

Red Cross Fund Head Points Out Services

Editor, The News: As the time draws near to launch our annual Red Cross drive for funds, I would like to say a few words to the citizens of Rowan County concerning this drive.

Most of the readers of this article are familiar with the Red Cross and I need to say little to bring the work of this organization to your mind. However, I believe there are some facts that I can bring more clearly in focus.

There are at present some 194 service men and women in the Armed Forces from our county. These men and women deserve the utmost help and assistance we can give them in any way. One of the ways we can help them is by contributions to the Red Cross. There are many cases on record in the Local Chapter office, where Rowan County servicemen have been assisted, whether it be by direct loan of money, verification of emergencies that exist in that serviceman's family that necessitates a loan, etc. The question is also often presented as to just how the funds that are collected in the county drive are allocated. At present 70 per cent of the funds collected remain in the county and the remainder goes to national headquarters. However, in cases like last year, this county fell far below its drive quota and the chapter ran out of funds. A grant of several hundred dollars was sent to

Rowan County to enable the chapter to operate, thus we actually received more money for actual use than was actually contributed.

I would like to see Rowan County attain its quota this year, as it has failed utterly the past several years. This can only be accomplished with the support and the effort of each and every citizen of the county.

Sunday, March 2, has been designated as "Red Cross Sunday" and the drive officially opens Monday, March 3. I sincerely solicit the aid of each of you in this drive.

tion, Hmdman Democrat, represents the Seventh District. Redistricting was made necessary by Kentucky's failure to keep pace with the growth of population in the nation during the period between 1940 and 1950. Most Eighth District legislators were reported lined up solidly against the administration bill, with a few outstanding exceptions. Bates was first elected to Congress in 1938, to replace Fred M. Vinson, now Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, upon Vinson's appointment to a federal judgeship. Bates served as county clerk of Greenup County from 1921 through 1927. The new Sixth District, under the Wetherby plan, grows all the way from Oldham County on the west, to Carter County on the east, a distance of probably 175-200 miles, and from Garrard County in the south to Robertson County in the north. Addition of Morgan, Elliott, Wolfe, and Breathitt counties to the Seventh District, adds counties which normally give Democrats an aggregate majority in the neighborhood of 5,000 votes. The Seventh, while in the Democratic column now, has elected Republicans to Congress on several occasions.

The Fifth District, however, is not helped nearly as much as the Seventh. Lawrence County is regarded as "close," with Boyd, Greenup and Lewis counties normally Republican. Mason, Fleming and Bracken are usually in the Democratic column. In most meetings, the man with the most money has the most influence, but there are some exceptions, happily. Too many geniuses make for inefficiency.

College Presidents Debate Intramural Athletics

The relative merits of intramural sports and intercollegiate sports were debated this week on a radio forum presided over by former Governor Ken Johnson, vice president of Reynolds Metals Company of Louisville.

To the question "Do you believe that intramural sports could replace intercollegiate sports?" schedules in serving the athletic man L. Donovan, president of the University of Kentucky replied, "Sufficient rivalry to secure the best achievement in sports will never come from an intramural program."

President Paul Garrett of Western Kentucky State College was undecided. "I doubt it," he said. "Go with me to a remote country school where the basketball contest is on with the opponents from down the creek or over the hill, and marvel with me at the frenzied enthusiasm. Then tell me if you think equal interest will be manifest at an inter-class or inter-group game in the same school."

Intramural sports will never satisfy the needs of Eastern Kentucky State College in the opinion of President W. F. O'Donnell. "We still like to match skill with our friendly enemies and neighbors," he said, "for the same reason that we do not play all our golf or bridge games with our own family."

"It should not be a case of either-or," said President Charles R. Spain, of Morehead State College. "Both should have a place in the total collegiate picture."

Paul Garrett was seconded by Dr. Ralph H. Woods, president of Murray State College. "Only a few schools in America have followed the intramural plan exclusively," he said. "We believe that a strong intramural program along with inter-school sports participation is reasonable and desirable in American colleges."

"These forums help to clarify our thinking on today's muddled sports picture," said Ken Johnson in concluding the forum. "Through them, the Reynolds Metal Company hopes to render a very real service to the cause of college athletics in Kentucky."

Jobless Pay Higher For January

Unusually heavy year-end layoffs Result in Climax

Reflecting unusually heavy year-end layoffs, job insurance payments in Kentucky for January totaled $1,175,349, the highest monthly total since June 1950. January payments were 44 per cent above the December total and 34 per cent heavier than a year ago. Benefit payments in December totaled $815,729 and in January last year, $876,292.

In reporting on job insurance in the state, O. B. Hannah, unemployment director for the Department of Economic Security, explained that January normally brings a heavy load of claims because of seasonal layoffs, curtailment in trade, and temporary layoffs for taking of inventory. This year, however, additional drags in construction, manufacturing, lumber and trade along with continued filling of claims by workers normally employed in other states, brought the agency's job insurance claim load volume to its highest for any January except 1939 and 1949.

Hannah said initial claims jumped from 10,645 in December to 18,390 in January. Included in the total were 10,200 new claims (workers not having a new spell of unemployment during the past 52 weeks) and 8,190 additional claims (workers experiencing a new spell of unemployment—have been re-employed, and were re-employed again during the past 52 weeks). Continued claims filed (representing a week or more of continuous unemployment) totaled 97,862 as compared to 69,993 in December and 67,563 in January 1951.

Average weekly benefit payment was $17.61, a few cents lower than December but $1.06 above the January 1951 average check, he said.

The same factors contributing to the increased claim volume also affected the job placement division. The division, according to J. E. Jones, director of the Employment Service, reported a 25 per cent increase in job applications over December. Nearly 11 per cent fewer placements were made in January than in December and 81 per cent under the January 1951 total, Jones said. At the same time job orders placed with division officers by employers were down 6 per cent from December and 13 1/2 per cent from January a year ago, he said.

Jones said that the decreased placement activity which automatically is reflected in the job insurance claims load, has been affected by cumulative effects of weakness in some consumer goods and materials cut-backs.

January job placements (non-agricultural) totaled 2,237, just 263 fewer than in December but 611 less than in January 1951.

Another division of the Economic Security Department, Public Assistance, reported little change in payments to needy Kentuckians.

Aaron Paul, director, reported that old age assistance, aid to dependent children, and aid to the needy blind remained at December levels of total payments, average payments and case-load.

The division paid out $1,929,370 to 65,152 needy aged, $973,747 to 20,656 families of dependent children, and $78,077 to 2,615 needy blind. Average checks in the three programs were $29.23; $41.68 (per family), and $31.44, respectively, Paul said.

Bill Gives Legal Independence To State Colleges

The state Senate recently unanimously passed a bill separating the five state colleges and the University of Kentucky from the State Department of Education, and freeing them from legal control of the Personnel Division. The House of Representatives is expected to follow suit in the near future.

Under the existing set-up, it is theoretically possible for the governor, through the Division of Personnel, to hire and fire professors or to fix salaries. A warning was issued three years ago by the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools that this legal status of the state schools was a threat to their accreditation, since it made possible political control of the schools.

"When the bill becomes law, the Boards of Regents of the various state institutions will legally be independent agencies. These institutions are the University of Kentucky, Kentucky State College at Frankfort, and Eastern, Western, Murray and Morehead State Colleges.

Flinging Man Hurled In Truck-Auto Accident

Elmo Gibson, 30, of Plummers Landing, suffered serious facial and head lacerations this week when a car, crashed into a stalled truck on State Route 32, and then struck the auto in which the victim was a passenger near Plummers Landing.

J. T. Wheeler, of Sandy Hook, was driving east on 32 toward Morehead when at Plummers Landing he failed to avoid hitting a truck which had stalled cross-ways on the road as it pulled out of the Fox Valley garage. Ora Cox, its driver, had alighted from the cab and garage mechanics were attempting to determine the trouble.

When M. A. (Clay) Fairchild went out on his morning business last year in Reno, Nev., he blamed it on ceiling prices and quota regulations of the Office of Price Stabilization. Recently, the OPS announced that Fairchild had been appointed head of the foods section of its district office in Reno.

Profit Shown In Bank Robbery

The Bank of Middleton, Tenn. came out of its holdup last week with a $1.80 profit. Money was tossed about freely asirate citizens wounded and captured the gunman. Robert H. Bondurant.

Citizens, bystanders, hostages, officers and bank employees gathered at it all and turned it over to Bank President H. G. Simpson.

Simpson wouldn't say how much was stolen, but he said he got it all back plus $1.80. Nobody knows where the extra money came from.

SHAVE HEADS TO MOURN . . . In Jodhpur, India, sidewalk barbers do a big business shaving the heads of citizens who are going into mourning for the Maharajah of Jodhpur. The shaven skull is the traditional badge of mourning in central India. The maharajah was killed while flying.

Prichard Plea For Citizenship Turned Down

Governor Tells Group Formal Recommendation Must Be Made

Gov. Wetherby has declined to exercise, without formal recommendation, his executive power to restore civil rights to Edward F. Prichard, Jr. of Paris, it was learned this week.

Prichard, once known as "the boy wonder of the New Deal," was convicted in federal court at Lexington in 1949 for ballot-box stuffing in the 1948 federal election in Bourbon County.

In 1950, when his appeal route ended, Prichard was sentenced to two years in the federal correctional institution near Ashland. President Truman commuted his sentence after he served about five months.

Wetherby declined to act after a group of Prichard's friends asked him to restore Prichard to the rights of citizenship.

Wetherby is said to have advised the group that he will consider a restoration order if Prichard applies and comes up through the regular channels in the state division of probation and parole.

John Connor, acting director of that division, said Prichard, to date, has not applied for his civil rights. If he does, Connor said state agents will investigate Prichard's actions since the commutation, make a report and Connor will make a recommendation to the governor.

The governor doesn't need a recommendation. He could act on his own authority. But sources said the governor wanted Prichard to come up for restoration through normal channels.

Crop Insurance Campaign Stated In Kentucky

Approximately 47,000 Kentucky tobacco growers whose investments in growing crops are not now protected will be given an opportunity to buy Federal crop insurance against all unavoidable hazards this year, Virgil Fryman, chairman of the Production and Marketing Administration committee said this week.

The tobacco insurance, covering both the growing season and the curing season, is available in 17 Kentucky counties in 1952.

Sales agents are now being selected and trained. Mr. Fryman said, and sales campaigns are expected to begin in all 17 counties by March 1.

Six counties already have received 280 applications for insured 1952 tobacco crop. The PMA chairman, said County PMA committees are in charge of local administration of the insurance program except on loss adjustments which are handled directly by the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation.

COAL MINE IN CELLAR

While excavating to extend his cellar, Elmer Evans, 33-year-old postal employee of Foltzville, Pa., found an old coal mine. A 6-foot high tunnel, which extends beyond the 150 feet of the mine, still has a good vein of coal and is believed to be at least 100 years old.

Minimum Burley Base Set At Half Acre

A recommendation that the present nine-tenths-or-an-acre minimum allotment for burley tobacco be reduced to half an acre was adopted unanimously last week at the annual conference of Production and Marketing Administration county committees from throughout Kentucky in Lexington.

The proposal by the P. M. A. group was considered important in view of the fact that the minimum-acreage-allotment regulation has been a highly controversial issue among the state's burley-tobacco producers for several years.

Historic Campus Cornerstone Discovered In Local Yard

Chapel Bell Dating To 1887 Also Available

A cornerstone in honor of the man who gave an initial grant of house and land for what is now the Morehead College campus has been found in the front yard of a local home. The sandstone block, neglected and green with lichen on the wet ground, commemorates the gift of Thomas F. Hargis to the Morehead Normal School, which preceded the establishment of a state institution here.

The engraving on the stone, made legible after much scraping and brushing, reads, "In honor of the first house, also the grounds."

Trail Blazer reporter, Phyllis Ernst scrapes historic cornerstone to reveal inscription which reads, "In honor of Thomas F. Hargis, Giver of the first house, also the grounds."

Thomas F. Hargis, Giver of the first house, also the grounds. The relic was evidently a cornerstone for one of the earliest buildings on this site.

Another interesting relic of the old Normal School is a chapel bell now in possession of Jesse Mays, head of the industrial arts department. According to Mr. Mays, this bell hung in the school's chapel building as long ago as 1887.

The cornerstone was brought to the attention of the Trail Blazer, Morehead College student publication by Mrs. Ruby Fowler, wife of history professor Nolai Fowler. She noticed the stone, examined it and later identified Hargis as the "first man to donate acreage for an educational institution" in Morehead.

Mrs. Fowler suggested that the stone be relocated on the campus as an object of historical interest. Mr. Mays indicated that he would be in favor of having the marker and the bell worked into a monument to be placed in a prominent place on the campus.

The historic cornerstone now lies on the front lawn of the Fifth Avenue residence of J. B. Gilbert. Other yards in the neighborhood have similar unmarked stones, possibly obtained from the foundation of the building when it was razed.

Mr. Gilbert said he had written to the Alumni Association of the Normal School asking if it want-don, a student here at the present time.

The Morehead Normal School was established in 1887 and supported for 13 years by the Kentucky Christian Missionary Society. In 1900 it passed into the control of the Christian Women's Board of Missions. By 1922 when the property was deeded to the Commonwealth of Kentucky for the establishment of a state college, the buildings consisted of two dormitories, a school room building, and a chapel.

On-The-Farm Training Vets Must Report

March 1 Is Deadline For Earnings Data To Be Sent To VA

Veterans taking GI Bill Institutional On-Farm Training were reminded today by Ray E. Adams, manager, Veterans Administration Regional Office, Louisville, that reports of 1951 earnings must be submitted to their VA regional offices no later than March 1, 1952. Failure to submit the reports by the deadline, VA warned, may result in discontinuance of GI subsistence payments until such time as the reports reach VA.

This year in addition, farm trainees must send in a second report—A certificate as to the period of time they may have been engaged in employment outside the farming activity. This, too, must go to VA before March 1, 1952.

The earnings reports—covering only income from productive labor for the calendar year 1951—serve a double purpose, VA said.

First, they are used by VA as the basis for adjusting each veteran's subsistence for the current year, 1952. Second, they are part of the veterans course of instruction in farm accounting, thus giving him the opportunity to put into practice what he has learned in the classroom.

Farm trainees received the necessary VA forms for both reports earlier this year, VA said. They will receive assistance from their instructors in closing their books for the past year, and in transferring data to the VA forms.

More than 237,000 veteran-farmers, all currently in GI training will be required to submit the reports, according to VA.

Farm Income Up In 1951 To $1,020

was $829 and non-farm average $1,863. Farm income included the value of food and other products produced and consumed on farms and the rental value of farm dwellings as well as income from people received from non-farm sources, such as business investments and the like.

Gross farm income in 1951 was reported at $37,494,000,000, the highest on record. Gross income includes money received from the sale of farm products, government payments, the value of home consumption of farm products and the rental value of farm dwellings.

But net farm income—the amount left after paying production expenses—was reported at only $14,929,000,000—or about two billion dollars less than the record set in 1947.

Gross farm income was $32,732,000,000 in 1950 and net income $12,708,000,000.

Millions Lost On Air Base Deal—Hardy

Congressman Says
25-50 Million
Dollars Wasted

The chairman of a House investigating committee said Tuesday he has evidence that between 25 and 50 million dollars "has been poured down the drain" on American air base projects in North Africa.

Rep. Hardy (D-Va.) said he had witnesses who could testify from personal observation that "at least two million dollars' worth of materials have been stolen in the course of unloading and storage." He did not say who did the stealing. Hardy's information was offered to a Senate "watchdog" committee investigating charges of wild extravagance and waste in the defense department's overseas program.

The committee had just been informed that the North African bases may cost 120 million dollars more than was estimated and may take "two or three years" to build instead of six months.

Downey Rice, counsel for the Senate Preparedness subcommittee, said the senators he had the opinion of an "expert" that the program would cost 420 million dollars instead of the estimated 300 million.

Although the bases were part of a "crash" or hurry-up program instituted right after the outbreak of fighting in Korea, with six months allotted for their completion, Rice said it may take five times as long to get the job done. He did not identify his expert.

Students To Apply For Draft Deferment Qualifying Test Now

Students who intend to take the Selective Service college qualification test to be given April 24, have until March 10 to file applications. This announcement was made recently by the Selective Service National Headquarters.

Results of the test, intended for draft registrants who have begun and plan to continue their studies, is used by draft boards in considering students for deferment. The scholastic class rank is also considered by the board.

Application blanks and bulletins of information may be obtained at any local draft board. Authorities caution that the form be filled out correctly, according to instructions, or the student may be disqualified for the April 24 test.

To be eligible to take the exam, a student must now be taking a full-time college course, undergraduate or graduate, leading to a degree. Class standing required for deferment consideration are: upper half of the freshman class, upper two thirds of the sophomore class, and upper three fourths of the junior class. Seniors accepted for admission to a graduate school are eligible if they are in the upper half of their class.

Undergraduates must make a score of at least 70 per cent in the qualification test to merit consideration. Seniors must make that at least 60 per cent of those taking the test will make this score or better. Seniors are required to make a score of at least 75.

A deferment granted on the basis of this test score will be for one year only, but the local draft board may continue the deferment each year until graduation. Students may take the test only once.

The qualifying exam has already been given twice, most recently in December. A total of 300,000 students have so far taken it. Sixty three per cent passed the first time, and 61.3 per cent passed in December.

Students who mail applications before March 1 and do not receive notification that they have been received by the March 10 deadline, are advised by the Selective Service to mail another application, with an explanation of what happened.

Fred Vinson Will Not Take Presidency Even If Drafted Washington Paper Avers

Chief Justice Says Court Should Be Free From Politics

The Washington Post says that Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson will not permit himself to become the Democratic candidate for president even if drafted.

A copyrighted article by Philip L. Graham, publisher of the newspaper, declared the nation's highest judge is convinced that even the gravest emergency can not justify an exception to the non-political role of the court.

Vinson had been frequently mentioned as a possible Democratic nominee in case President Truman bows out.

Graham writes that the Chief Justice's decision was based on a strong belief in the independence of the Supreme Court, and was made prior to June, 1946, when he became chief justice.

The Post story continues: "The only member of the Supreme Court ever to run for president was Charles Evans Hughes, who accepted a Republican draft in 1916 when he was an associate justice. Hughes had resisted an attempted draft in 1912, and his 1916 acceptance has been explained as a result of the emergency situation caused by the outbreak of World War I. Rather than weakening his beliefs about the independence of the judiciary, the Hughes episode has convinced the chief justice that even the gravest emergency can not justify an exception to the non-political role of the court. As a result, he would certainly decline the nomination even if the convention this July decided to draft him without his consent.

"Vinson has been considered by many Democratic leaders the strongest candidate the party could nominate should President Truman decide not to run. The President's high regard for him is well known. In addition he would have been perhaps the single candidate most likely to draw broad support from both Northern and Southern factions of the party."

"The knowledge that the chief justice is not available is bound to have a major impact on Democratic calculations, as well as on the Republican nomination."

The article declares that "a few close associates of the chief justice are well aware of his strong conviction that members of the highest court must be free of political ambition."

"He has even considered it improper to comment on the political speculation about himself," the Post states, "and he has constantly refused to discuss the matter with the press. In answering friends who suggested he publicly deny any thoughts of being a candidate, the chief justice has pointed out that any such denial might falsely indicate that he had ever considered the matter."

Byrd Proposal Would Save $248,454 Here

State Chamber Says Byrd Budget Would Save $92 Million

Eventual tax savings of $248,454 to the people of Rowan County were estimated today by the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce on the basis of proposals by Senator Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.).

"Byrd Budget," released Feb. 14, would save all Kentucky taxpayers $92,020,000, and would effect a national saving of $8,600,000—Byrd's proposed reduction from President Truman's spending budget for the Federal fiscal year 1953.

Calculating that Kentucky bears 1.07 per cent of the total Federal tax burden, the State Chamber pointed out that 1.07 per cent of the $8,600,000,000 reduction outlined by Senator Byrd would be $92,020,000. The State Chamber's estimate of $248,454 as Rowan County's share in the savings is based on the proportionate share each county to State sales, ratio of county sales to State sales, and other income factors.

An even greater saving could be made for Kentucky taxpayers, if the President and his administrators were to give their sympathetic leadership to an economy effort, the Chamber said, citing a contention of Byrd Byrd held that the $6,000,000,000 spending cut he proposed can be achieved by Congressional action alone without active support from the Chief Executive.

"In the absence of such cooperation by the Executive Branch, the only thing left for Congress to do, in addition to reducing 1953 appropriations, is to enact a resolution placing a $7 billion ceiling in 1953 spending by the Government. The $7 billion figure represents the total revenue anticipated by the Federal Treasury next year.

"Federal expenditures are met by taxes levied on the people of the 48 states. If Congress were to carry out Senator Byrd's spending reduction—or achieve an even greater cut—it would make unnecessary the levying of additional Federal taxes to pay the principal and interest on the new indebtedness that will otherwise occur and at the same time reduce the threat of inflation."

Nearly $200,000 Paid For "Abe's" Writings, Books

Relics of a one-time country lawyer sold for $185,253 in New York last week.

The lawyer was Abraham Lincoln. The 392 relics were among 842 items in the famed Lincoln collection of the late Oliver R. Barrett of Chicago, on auction sale.

The sales told the story of Lincoln the man, troubled by self-doubt, quick in wit, rich in prophesy.

"How miserably things seem arranged in this world," he wrote. "If we have no friends, we have no pleasure, if we have them, we are soon to lose them."

He wrote these words to his intimate friend, Joshua F. Speed.

For this letter and 13 others to Speed, the Barrett Lincoln collection fund paid $35,000—the highest price for any relic in the collection of Lincoln letters. They will be given to the Illinois State Historical Library.

Lincoln's own record of the Lincoln-Douglas debates went for $24,000 to Alfred White Stern.

Chicago, second highest price of the day.

Many of the items were intimate Lincolnque material. Lonely letters to his wife, an old text book, an old axe handle, a family Bible.

Others were prophetic. Three years before the outbreak of the Civil War, Lincoln wrote: "No ingenuity can keep those antagonistic elements in harmony long."

And there was a picture of Lincoln the politician. Replying to a Peoria editor who wanted to launch a presidential boom for him, Lincoln wrote: "I must in candor say I do not think myself fit for the presidency."

Two years later he was inaugurated.
