

Clean-Up Week Disappointing In County

Citizens Group Thinks Many Communities Did Not Fully Cooperate

Rowan County's Citizens Health Committee at yesterday's meeting expressed disappointment over the response to 'Clean-up' week in the rural sections.

It was brought out that only seven of 35 schools returned the check sheets which were distributed to every child. The committee felt that most teachers had been lax in stressing importance of the clean-up program in each community.

Of the check sheets returned the committee took particular notice to the answer 13: "Do you have your oil cans and rags in a container?" Thirty-three per cent said they didn't and the committee pointed out this is a real fire menace.

However, 93 per cent said they had their tools in the proper place; only nine per cent had their washer on the front porch; 22 per cent admitted their gates were in poor condition; 11 per cent said they had old newspapers and magazines which should be burned; 21 per cent did not have screens on all windows and doors while 30 per cent said they hadn't checked them this spring; and 31 per cent said they had coal and wood piles in their back yard.

Rosemary Stokes, Rowan County Health nurse, just about summed up the Citizens Committee thoughts today when she said: "Of course we were disappointed that only one fifth of the communities reported. But, this is new and I think we'll do much better next year. At least a start has been made."

Kentucky's new state capitol building, in Frankfort, was completed in 1909.

Many enjoyable games were played and later delicious refreshments were served. The party was well attended by several youths from each church.

44 Graduate From 8th Grade At Salt Lick

Forty-four happy but nervous 8th graders sat upon the stage at the Salt Lick School auditorium Thursday night, May 19.

A very interesting talk to the class was given by Rev. George Frye of Owingsville. He compared the obstacles of life to giants, drawing on the well known story of David and Goliath as a basis for his talk. He used five stones, naming them the qualities with which we must fight. Interesting talks and poems were given by members of the class.

At the end of the program the diplomas were presented by Dr. Lester of Owingsville, and chairman of the Bath County School Board.

Carter Caves Will Open Sunday
Cottages May Be Rented And Conducted Tours Taken From Now On

Although picnic grounds have been available since May 18, Sunday is the official opening of Carter Caves and Natural Bridge State Parks.

Cottages may be rented and conducted tours are offered beginning Sunday morning. Carter Caves and Natural Bridge each have 10 modern cottages and facilities for group camping. Both parks are undergoing extensive improvements, with a large swimming pool planned at Carter Caves.

Gate charges on all of Kentucky's parks were removed last week by Commissioner Henry Ward. He explained "visitors are entitled to the fullest welcome at our parks."

Appoint J. T. Norris To MSC Board

Governor Renames Ashland Publisher; Eblen Term Has Also Expired

Reappointment of J. T. Norris, associate editor of the Ashland Daily Independent, to the Board of Regents of Morehead State College was announced yesterday by Governor Lawrence Wetherby.

Norris was appointed to a full four-year term, expiring in April, 1936.

The term of M. K. Eblen, Zander Mayor, has also expired, but the Governor gave no indication whether Eblen would be reappointed. However, sources close to the Chief Executive, believed the Governor would reappoint Eblen if he was receptive.

Other members of the Board are E. R. Price, general manager of Inland Steel at Wheelwright and W. W. Ball, former president of the Kentucky Bankers Association, Mayville.

Norris and Price are Democrats; Eblen and Ball, Republicans. The terms of Mr. Price and Mr. Ball have two more years to run.

This is the Board that former Governor Earle C. Clements named after Morehead had been involved in what the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools termed political maneuvering by the removal of President William H. Vaughan as President in 1948. Clements said then that "we're taking this school out of politics."

The Morehead Board has been generally hailed as one of the most outstanding in Kentucky and Clements said "during my tenure as Governor I never appointed a better one."

Memorial Day Is Friday, May 30

On this, the most solemn day of our year, we properly pause to think of our loved ones who have preceded us.
Because of their loveliness, symbolic of all nature that God created, flowers are the deserving tribute. A wreath, cut flowers, a vase or a potted flower or plant placed on the grave, is the mark of our love and affection to those whom we shall soon join.

Trade Board Renews Plea For Highway

Want State To Build Road From Morehead To Vanceburg

Morehead's Board of Trade Monday renewed its plea for construction of the Morehead-Vanceburg Road which traverses the North Fork of Triplet section of Rowan County.

The road would connect the county seats of Morehead and Vanceburg and this section of Kentucky with the Portsmouth area in Ohio.

The Rowan County section is about completed, but the Trade Board wants this surfaced and the Lewis part finished. There has been some controversy in Lewis County over the location of the road.

Previously the Board of Trade had set three projects, including the Vanceburg road, as the most needed in the county. The rural highway department has announced the other two, Morehead-West Liberty road, via Paragon and the Tar Flat road (Farmers-Sharkey) would be let this year.

Cemetery Group Plans Meeting

In preparation for having the cemeteries in the Haldeman-Hayes Crossing area clean for Memorial Day, President Bert Dean has called a meeting at the Hayes Crossing Nazarene Church tomorrow (Friday) evening at 7:30.

Dean said the organization now has members in Ohio, California, Illinois, Indiana and Korea. It is one of the first groups to band together to properly care for their cemeteries. The movement, started by Prof. Henry C. Hagan, in Rowan County has spread to many other sections of eastern Kentucky.

Persons who have relatives buried in the Haldeman, Hayes-Crossing area should contact Mr. Dean.

$900,000 Will Be Raised For Three Colleges

The Louisville Conference of the Methodist Church adopted a detailed plan of campaign this week to raise $900,000 for its three colleges.

Nearly 600 Methodist leaders from the conference's seven districts attended special meetings at Louisville. The $900,000 already has been earmarked for: Two new dormitories at Kentucky Wesleyan College, Owensboro; a new girls' dormitory and remodeling of other structures at Lindsey Wilson College, Columbia; and a new physical education building at Union College, Barbourville.

The conference area roughly covers Western Kentucky, except extreme western counties, which are in the Memphis, Tenn., conference.

Bishop W. T. Watkins said it is the first united building fund campaign in the conference's 100 year history.

A dinner-meeting climaxed the one-day gathering. Gov. Lawrence Wetherby presided at the dinner, J. C. Penney, New York department store executive and Methodist leader, discussed the role of the church-related college in history.

Dr. Ernest C. Colwell, dean of faculties at Emory University, Atlanta, declared in an address that "Christian colleges render valuable service to our churches, they help to vitalize the concern with religion in our society. They build the foundations on which the churches can work."

E. S. Wooley, chairman of the college board, told the group the $900,000 needed by the colleges.

E. R. Pike, Louisville, executive director of the Kentucky Methodist College Development Fund, declared "many folks will never be saved until they have been separated from some of their money."

A series of district meetings, to discuss the fund raising project, also were scheduled as follows:

Campbellsville District, May 19; Lindsey Wilson College, Columbia; Bowling Green District, May 20; State Street Methodist Church, Bowling Green; Hopkinsville District, May 21; Temple Methodist Church, just outside of Hopkinsville; Henderson District, May 22; the Methodist Church, Sturgis; Owensboro District, May 23; Settle Memorial Methodist Church, Owensboro.

Memorial Day Coon Hunt Scheduled

An "old-time" coon hunt will assemble two miles east of Olive Hill on Memorial Day.

James C. Baker, president of the Carter County Coon Hunters Association said the hunt would start at 1 p. m. and extended an invitation to all owners of coons and coon hunting enthusiasts in Kentucky and the tri-state area.

Club '13 Has 13 Members At Monthly Meet

Here's a coincidence. Morehead Home-makers Club number 13 met Tuesday and 13 members were present.

The club has more than this many numbers and was named "because it was the 13th organized in Rowan county."

President's meeting was at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Bays, Second Street with Mrs. Clifford Blivins as co-hostess. Two new members, Mrs. Joe Tolliver and Mrs. Alpha Hutchinson, were initiated.

The club re-elected the same officers as served the past year. Mrs. W. H. Gentry, president; Mrs. Tommie Caudill, vice president; Mrs. Kenneth Bays, secretary-treasurer; and Pauline Tomlinson, publicity.

Project leaders chosen Tuesday include Mrs. Gentry, Mrs. Thomas Duggan and Mrs. Jack Ellis; citizenship, Mrs. Earl Scott Frayer, reading; and Mrs. Bays, recreation and landscaping.

After the lesson on textile making, Home Demonstration Agent Evelyn Sinclair gave a report of the district meeting at West Liberty and a clinch on cancer was shown.

The next meeting will be June 10 at 7:30 in the Science Building. The lesson at this meeting will be on red work.

New Atomic Gun Hits Target Anytime, Army Spokesmen Say

The Army boldly claimed this week its first atomic artillery weapon can "hit its target under any weather conditions and give ground troops the kind of devastating close support never before available in warfare."

Secretary Frank Pace, in an address laying heavy emphasis on the Army's importance in atomic warfare, revealed for the first time some official specifications on the atomic gun, which has been tested with non-atomic ammunition. He said:

"It is essentially an artillery piece—but with immeasurably greater power than any artillery hitherto known."

"Carried on a platform suspended between two engine cabs at front and rear, this highly mobile weapon can travel at a speed of about 35 miles per hour on highways. Weighing about 75 tons, it can cross bridges which Army engineers are already trained to build for present heavy divisions of equipment. It can travel cross-country, fit into a landing ship designed for amphibious operations. It can fire with accuracy comparable to conventional artillery and tests indicate it is much more accurate at long ranges."

In a prepared address for a convention of the National Wood Manufacturers Association, Pace

Clarify Registration Of 21 Year Old Men

Members of the Armed Forces who have become 21 years old since entering the service may register to vote in the coming elections.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Walter C. Herdman of Frankfort, gave that opinion this week to Roy W. Wallingford, Mason County clerk.

If the serviceman cannot appear in person to register, he may apply to the clerk for an absentee ballot.

"The county clerk, upon being satisfied that the applicant is entitled to be registered, may cause the applicant to be registered" and send him an absentee voter's ballot, Herdman said.

"In a prepared address for a convention of the National Wood Manufacturers Association, Pace retention of Army control over its atomic artillery; answer to questions raised about the mobility of the atomic gun in view of its weight.

He noted that the gun will give a field commander tremendous fire-power at his finger tips and directly under his control.

There has been long argument over how much control a ground commander should or could exercise over tactical aviation, the fighter-bombers and light bombers used to support ground troops. They are United States Air Force planes.

Some military and atomic energy experts have wondered privately whether the weight and size of the atomic gun might limit its use to areas where hard-packed roads or railroad exist.

The Army secretary's claim that the gun can move over the countryside and be handled by landing craft in amphibious operations obviously was his reply to these questions.

Without saying what explosive force a single shell contained, Pace did give a graphic comparison between the power of a standard 8-inch and that of conventional artillery or bombs. He said:

"The atomic bomb dropped on Nagasaki had an explosive force approximately equal in effect to the fire of 1,300 battalions of medium field artillery with all guns firing a single round on the same target. In terms of airpower, it would require 50 to 200 strategic bombers, each dropping a full load of conventional bombs on a target, to achieve the same destructive force as the Nagasaki bomb."

The fire of 1,300 battalions would represent 23,400 guns of 155-millimeter size. Presumably, each's use of "strategic bombers" means the B29 used in World War II and now in Korea. That aircraft has a bomb capacity of 10 tons.

Pace said there is no doubt that "the impact of atomic weapons will eventually bring significant changes" in the Army's traditional mission of closing with and destroying an enemy.

NAUTICAL MILES KNOTS

On July 1, commercial shipping pilots in the United States will express their speed in terms of "knots" and distance in terms of "nautical miles." Private pilots will be little affected by the switch. Knots and nautical miles currently are being used by the Navy and Air Force. A nautical mile is 6,080 feet long instead of 5,280 feet long, and a knot is a nautical-mile-per-hour.

Ashland, Ky., was named after the home of Henry Clay in Lexington which has the same name.

Equality In Tax Assessments Urged

The Kentucky League of Women Voters this week called for greater equity in state property assessment and taxation and the elimination of exemption from taxation of any income-producing properties.

Two other items regarding state taxes were adopted by the league in the opening session of the group's two-day annual convention at the Campbell Hotel. They were:

1. Increased efficiency of administration of existing taxes through constructive economy and by consolidation of duplicating agencies and functions, and by following the best practices in modern budgeting procedures.

2. Special funds (ear-marking) should be eliminated. Revenues should go into the general fund for allocation according to need.

Burley Slips In Favor Of The Public

So Declares Spokesman For United States Dept. Of Agriculture

A government tobacco man suggests that what burley, a principal ingredient in American cigarettes, is slipping in popularity.

S. E. Wraether said there is "some evidence that some people don't think as much of burley as in the past."

He is assistant director of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

"Fiber and other speakers addressing members of the Burley Tobacco Dealers Association claimed 'some growers' for this change in taste."

Some growers in Central Kentucky last year were estimated to have marketed 176,000,000 pounds of burley. Wraether said it could not be graded properly. Speakers explained these growers strip the whole stalk from ground leaves to the top and tie it into single hands; or, they "pettycoat" inferior leaves, putting them beneath more desirable types.

Wraether said it is impossible to grade this tobacco later, except at prohibitive expense. He said the practice constitutes a real problem and hurts the farmer more than anyone else.

Clarence K. Wolf, general counsel of the association, had a letter from the Burley Tobacco Growers Co. in connection with the mixed stripping. The letter urged that steps be taken to stop the practice.

Some other objectionable practices mentioned at the meeting included weighting tobacco hands with sand and scattering inferior leaf through hands.

E. W. Humphreys, retiring president of the association, named a committee of four to see what can be done to solve the problem. It is composed of S. Alex Parker, Maysville; S. P. Owen, Jr., Cynthia; Frank Vaughan, Jr., Lexington, and L. J. Gorin, Louisville.

Dealers said they were not so much concerned about the decline of demand for burley in the American market as abroad. Wood and other speakers foresaw keen competition from growers in other countries.

The association elected Tom N. Austin, Greenville, Tenn., president. Other officers chosen were J. K. Robey, Franklin, vice president, and W. H. Branch, Louisville, treasurer.

State Co-Op Gets Loan Of $15 Million

Rural Electrification Administration Gives Decision on Application

Approval of $15,717,000 loan to the East Kentucky Rural Electric Cooperative Corporation of Winchester, was announced recently by the Rural Electrification Administration. This is in addition to earlier loans of $12,265,000.

The Cooperative is a federation of 19 Kentucky electric distribution cooperatives, whose service has been inadequate. The loans follow years of effort by REA-financed cooperatives in Kentucky to achieve better arrangements for their power supply.

This loan, together with previous loans, will enable the East Kentucky Co-op to supply the power requirements of all its 19 members. The 19 cooperatives are serving or have plans to serve some 125,000 rural consumers, principally farmers, in 84 counties.

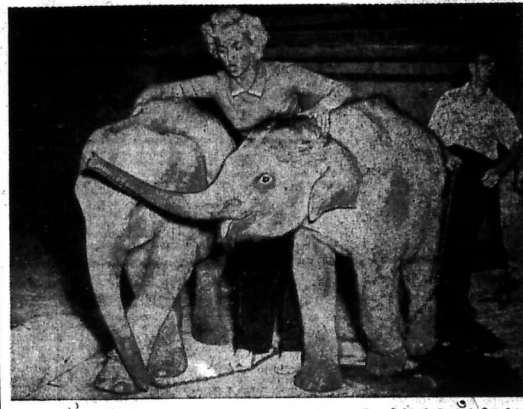

The loan provides for construction of a 40,000 kw steam generating unit and a total of 796 miles of transmission lines, with 35 switching structures and other related facilities.

The league stand on taxation was taken following a report of the past year's study by the various leagues on state taxes and fiscal policies.

OPS Charges Potatoes Sold Over Ceiling

A majority of 37 retail stores of potatoes checked by the Office of Price Stabilization were found charging prices above OPS ceilings. It was announced at Louisville.

Enforcement Director Carl P. King of the Kentucky office of OPS said special agents made the check in Louisville Friday. He said the survey covered all types of groceries in various sections of the city, as well as vendors on the Haymarket and marketing center in downtown Louisville.

"Very few of the stores were selling at the ceiling of 7 to 8 cents a pound, and several were charging as high as 13 cents a pound," King said.

A thorough investigation of the places visited was made. He declared. What civil or criminal action, if any, will be taken depends on what is determined in the investigation, he added.

"I am amazed at what the check revealed," King stated, "because I just can't understand how any intelligent businessman can be so 'penny-wise and pound-foolish' as to run the risk of federal prosecution for charging a few penny cents more than the legal price."

You May Be Starving For Vitally Required Vitamins

You may be eating three big meals a day and yet slowly starving yourself for certain vitamins essential to your well-being.

The amount of food you eat often has little to do with your general health. Your diet must be balanced to include essential minerals and vitamins if you are to avoid deficiencies which cause crippling and killing diseases.

Contrary to the belief of many, vitamin deficiencies are not the exclusive property of any one group; they are often as prevalent among the champagne set as among some poorer classes. For example, alcoholics almost invariably suffer from vitamin deficiencies.

Many factors enter into selection of a poor diet: ignorance of vitamin content of foods, lack of money, seasonal scarcities, to mention a few. Many authorities believe that the average diet in this country is inadequate in vitamin content, and that supplementary vitamins would probably be helpful to almost anyone.

Within recent years, nutritionists have developed multi-vitamin capsules which can be taken by anyone as a supplement to normal diet. These capsules contain as many as a dozen different vitamins needed at all times by the human body. One of the most popular vitamin products made by Lederle Laboratories contains vitamins A, D, B1 (Thiamine), B2 (Riboflavin), B6, C (Ascorbic Acid), B12, niacinamide and folic acid. Regular use of this capsule would help correct any lack of vitamins not requiring heavy dosage for serious deficiency.

The vitamin content of one of these Lederle capsules is almost the same as the content of one quart of milk, one-half pound of steak, one loaf of bread, three-quarters cup of peas, one pear, one orange and one-quarter pound of butter.

Just what are vitamins? Briefly, vitamins are naturally-occurring organic substances which are essential for normal growth and maintenance of life in animals. Vitamins do not furnish energy, but are essential for transforming foods into energy. Also, they regulate many body processes. Vitamins are recognized biologically by their absence rather than by their presence.

Strangely enough, practically all vitamin deficiencies result from lack of several vitamins, rather than just one. A good example is pellagra, whose primary cause is a deficiency of niacin, but the condition is also accompanied by deficiencies of vitamins B1 and B2, as well as others.

Authorities strongly recommend that a person suspected of being deficient in vitamins should see his doctor regularly. There is always the possibility that symptoms of a suspected deficiency are really symptoms of another advanced disease.

Since many vitamins are destroyed through cooking, it is important that raw fruits and vegetables be included in the diet whenever possible. Of all the vitamins identified to date, only vitamin D (which is obtained in the skin of man by action of the sun) can be manufactured in the body. All the others must be ingested as normal food constituents. Unfortunately, the animal organism does not have special organs for vitamins, so a fairly steady intake is necessary for good health. It is generally believed that a person cannot injure himself by taking moderate amounts of vitamins, even if these are in excess of his needs. Any excess appears to be thrown off through natural body functions.

Even animals come in for their share of supplementary vitamins. For example, feed manufacturers are using a supplement containing vitamins B12 and adrenocortin for hogs and poultry.

stock pavilion.

Visitors leave from the Dairy Center will see first of all dairy cows grazing various grasses, including bluegrass, orchard grass and ladino clover. These grasses are being tested for their milk-producing qualities.

After seeing and hearing about grasses for milk cows, the tour will move on to see hogs, beef cattle, chickens and sheep on grasses. Also along the way, at the hog pens, sheep sheds, cattle barns and chicken houses will be seen various kinds of equipment supposed to make stock more profitable and life easier for owners.

Meat-type hogs can be raised largely on clovers and other grazing crops, it is claimed, and even chickens can get 20 per cent or more of their feed in the open field.

On exhibition for the first time will be sheep with windows in their sides. Through these windows, Experiment Station scientists watch the development of blood. Also visitors will hear about tests being made on the effect of temperature on breeding of sheep.

A new brooder house for chickens 40 by 180 feet in size will be on exhibition for the first time.

The tours from the Livestock Pavilion will lead by different all-ages-Atlantic Buffalo, Rang and some unadapted to Kentucky. Also to be seen will be that new crop of birdfoot trefoil, now in its third year of testing at the Experiment Station.

Varieties of grasses to be seen Friday include brome, timothy, orchard grass, Kentucky 31 fescue and other kinds of tall fescue.

Small grains to be seen and explained will include Ky. 1 Kenbar and Jackson 1 barley, and Fulwin, Forkedear and Atlantic winter oats. Their resistance to rusts and other diseases, strength of straw and other good and bad points will be explained.

Vigo will lead the wheat on display. Another good wheat will be Clarkan and a third one, Thorne. A number of other wheats not so good for the state will be seen along the route.

Chemical weed control will be an interesting sidelight in the tour of small grains and forage crops. Special note will be made of pre-emergence sprays on corn land. Also to be discussed will be improved control of weeds in tobacco plant beds.

AN IMPORTANT MESSAGE TO OUR CUSTOMERS AND FRIENDS

We are happy to be able to tell you that the lawsuit brought more than four years ago against Ford Motor Company and Dearborn Motors Corporation by Harry Ferguson and Harry Ferguson, Inc. has been settled by agreement of the parties.

There are three points connected with this settlement which, as a present or possible future owner of a Ford Tractor, we want to make clear to you. Regardless of what you may hear to the contrary, these are the FACTS.

3 POINTS OF INTEREST To Our Present and Future Customers

- 1 Ford Motor Company will continue production of the present Ford Tractor without interruption, and Dearborn Motors Corporation will continue to market them nationally as in the past. By the end of 1952, Ford Motor Company has agreed to make two simple changes, and only two changes. In the means of operation and control used in the hydraulic system in the Ford Tractor. After these simple changes have been made, there is nothing in the settlement of the suit to prevent Ford Motor Company from continuing the manufacture of the present Ford Tractor for as long as it may choose.
- 2 Ford Motor Company will continue to produce and Dearborn Motors Corporation, and ourselves as dealer, will continue to supply all repair parts for all past, present and future Ford Tractors.
- 3 Ford Tractors will continue to offer all the advantages of the present system of hydraulic control, the present method of attaching and operating implements, and all other features responsible for their wide popularity. Dearborn Motors will continue to offer its same complete line of implements.

It is a source of deep satisfaction to us to be in a position to debunk conclusively and finally in this way the assertions that have been made and the propaganda that has been spread over the past four years.

Plans Made For 1,200 At Ky. Field Day

Annual Spring Gathering Opens At Lexington May 23

Plans are being made to accommodate 1,200 to 1,500 farmers and business and professional men and women at the annual spring field day at the Experiment Station of the University of Kentucky next Friday, May 23.

State-wide invitations have been sent out. J. E. Freeman, farm superintendent, said. While he does not expect many persons from the far reaches of the commonwealth, 75 or more counties may be represented, he thought.

Persons living in counties whose names begin with A through H will meet at 8 a. m. (CST) at the Dairy Center on the Nicholasville road, and persons from counties J through W will gather at the same hour at the livestock Pavilion on South Rose Street.

The order will be reversed after lunch, when those who met at the Dairy Center will go to the pavilion and those who met at the pavilion will go to the Dairy Center. Lunch will be available at both the Dairy Center and

CALL 345 MOREHEAD KY

You can swing it if you try

HAVE you, by any chance, been casting eyes at Buick, and promising yourself that someday you will take the Big Step and have one all your own?

Let us whisper something to you. The "big step" isn't big at all.

We know that's true, because such a high percentage of present Buick owners traded in a car tagged as belonging in "the low-priced field."

So why not set your sights on this star performer?

Why not enjoy big-car comfort—big-car power—big-car prestige for your money?

There's one of these lively lovelies waiting for you to come in and try it.

Get the feel of its mighty Fireball 8 Engine, that's a gas-saving high-compression valve-in-head. You could pay $300 to $400 more for a car that doesn't match its horsepower.

Get the feel of Dynaflow Drive*, that lets you ride relaxed—feeds a silken flow of power—and at the same time cuts down on upkeep costs, by protecting the engine, the rear end, and even the tires, from driving strains.

Get the feel of a ride that cost a million dollars and more for controls of end-sway and side-roll and vertical "throw"—for X-bracing the frame and V-bracing the torque-tube keel—for a total of 15 ride-engineering features.

One thing you'll know for sure when you've tried it. This car wasn't "built to a price." It's a Buick through and through.

But the fact remains that—when you check the price of a Buick SPECIAL against the price tags on so-called "low-price cars"—you'll find out you can swing it if you really want to.

And brother, will that make your family happy!

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. *Standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.

"Everybody Wins"

Plan In Brief

The object of this big "Everybody Wins" prize contest is three-fold. Primarily, to increase the already large subscription list of this newspaper, to collect advance subscription payments from present readers, and at the same time afford local wide-awake, energetic men and women (married or single) and young people of this trade territory an opportunity to profit in a BIG way through whatever spare time they might have during the next few weeks. So, it is a plan that works both ways, and to the ultimate good of all concerned.

In order to gain this end quickly and effectively, the most attractive and altogether desirable awards ever offered by any newspaper in this section have been made ready for distribution among those who participate most actively. Ambition and energy are the only requisites for success.

Let it be understood at the very outset that this is not a "lucky drawing" nor something-for-nothing affair, but a strictly legitimate proposition for enterprising men and women, and one in which all active contestants will receive a liberal commission check each Monday morning covering results obtained by them during the past week, while striving to win one of the major awards. An outstanding feature of this big contest is the fact that "Everybody Wins." There will be no losers in this race.

How To Enter—What To Do

The first thing to do is to clip the Entry Coupon appearing on the opposite side of this page, fill in your name and address and mail or deliver in person to contest department at once. This coupon starts you in race with 5000 FREE votes; and by taking the Early Effort coupon appearing on front page of this issue with your first subscription (this coupon good ONLY during first week of contest) you would then be entitled to an extra 100,000 PREMIUM votes for taking IMMEDIATE action—all of which speeds you on your way to win. Only ONE such Entry Coupon and Early Effort Coupon will be accepted for each participant.

The next step is to obtain from contest department one of the little special receipt books, printed for the purpose, partial list of present subscribers showing expiration dates, etc. Thus equipped, you have but to see your friends, neighbors, relatives and acquaintances and ask them to subscribe to this newspaper through you. Just remember this! Anything worth having is worth striving for. Six and a half short weeks and you may be riding in YOUR OWN big automobile for a long, long time to come, or otherwise several hundred dollars richer in purse as the result of a little well directed effort NOW!

Then, too, as more fully outlined below, this newspaper offers "early starters" substantial special cash prizes for substantial results during the very first week of this contest, the small requirements necessary to qualify as a winner being easily attainable and well worth the little extra effort it requires. Try it and see!

How To Win The Big Prizes

It takes votes to win the big prizes, and they are secured in the following ways: First by clipping the free vote coupon appearing in this newspaper. Begin gathering them NOW while they are good for 100 votes each. After next week these coupons will be reduced to 50 votes each; the following week to only 10 votes each, and after that they will be discontinued entirely. Only ten coupons of each denomination will be credited to any one contestant and they must be cast within one week after publication.

Another, and much faster way, to accumulate votes in our "Everybody Wins" prize contest is by securing new and renewal subscriptions to this newspaper. Votes are listed on each subscription secured, the number varying according to amount paid and during which "period" same are received at the contest department. SEE SCHEDULE OF VOTES BELOW.

Early Start Means Easy Finish

The advantages of an early start are manifest. This "Everybody Wins" prize contest is of such short duration that immediate action is necessary for greater success. Subscriptions taken during the early part of drive not only carry the MAXIMUM number of votes, but "early starters" who are first in field will undoubtedly get the "cream" of new and renewal subscriptions, while those who put off starting until a later date will of course have to take what is left.

Don't lose valuable time "waiting to see what the other fellow is going to do" but get into the game today, without delay, and show the "other fellow" how to do it!

Here's How Winning Votes Are Obtained

Schedule of Votes and Subscription Rates of ROWAN COUNTY NEWS

The above schedule of votes, which is on a diminishing scale, positively will not be changed during the contest. However, a special ballot, good for 50,000 EXTRA votes will be issued on every "club" of $20.00 turned in. This ballot will be in effect throughout the entire drive, and is to be considered a part of the regular schedule. No votes will be issued on subscriptions for less than ONE YEAR; nor more than five years in advance from any one participant.

Rules and Regulations

- Any reputable resident of this city or surrounding territory is eligible to enter the contest and compete for prizes and receive weekly commission checks.
- No salaried office employee of this newspaper is eligible to enter contest. This does not apply to country correspondents.
- Winners of main prizes will be determined by (a) their earned votes, said votes being represented by ballots issued for some five new and renewal subscriptions, and (b) free coupons clipped from this newspaper—said coupons to be printed in the third, fourth and fifth issues in denomination of 100 votes each this and next week; 50 votes each the third week, 10 votes each the fourth week and then discontinued. No more than ten coupons of each denomination will be credited to any one contestant.
- Participants in this subscription drive are not confined to their own town or community in which they reside, but may take orders anywhere in this section; or, for that matter, anywhere else.
- Votes are issued free. It costs the subscriber nothing extra to cast their votes for any contestant. Votes must be asked for at the time of paying subscription, however, otherwise subscriber waives this privilege.
- Votes once issued are not transferable. Contestants cannot pool their votes in favor of another contestant. Should a contestant withdraw from the contest, his or her accumulated votes will be cancelled.
- Any dishonesty or collusion on the part of contestants to nullify competition, or any other combination formed to the detriment of other participants or this newspaper will not be tolerated.
- Exact vote standing of each contestant will be published in this newspaper in proportion to earned votes; however, votes issued in the form of ballots, or special votes therefor, may be held in reserve by contestant only insofar as it does not affect position in published standing. The free vote coupons, clipped from this newspaper, must be cast within one week of publication.
- In event of a tie for any one of the prizes offered, an award of identical value will be given each tying contestant.
- Participants in this drive are authorized to accept new and renewal subscriptions and give temporary receipts for same (official receipts will be sent direct from this office) but it is understood and agreed that they will be responsible for all money advanced and will remit such amounts in full to the contest department on regular report days.
- No statements or promise made by any representative or participant varying from the rules and regulations appearing in the columns of this newspaper will be recognized by the publisher.
- In case of typographical or other error it is understood that neither the publisher nor contest manager will be held responsible except to make necessary correction upon discovery of same.
- All active participants will be paid twenty percent cash commission ($1 out of $5) of their individual subscription collections each week up to it accrues. It is to be understood, however, that in the event any contestant becomes inactive (failing to make weekly reports) his or her name will be removed from the published list of contestants until such time as participant again becomes active.
- It is understood and agreed that their weekly pay checks in the light of an "advance", which are returnable upon presentation of prizes—thus obviating double compensation. This does not apply to long double check winners—third, fourth, fifth and sixth bonus check winners.
- To insure absolute fairness in the awarding of prizes, the race will be brought to a close with a sealed ballot box. During the entire life "period" of the drive, a ballot box—locked and officially sealed—will be placed in the vaults of a local bank, where contestants themselves may deposit their final collection and reserve votes in utmost secrecy. In this section and reserves votes in utmost secrecy. In this way no one—not even the publisher or contest manager—can possibly know the actual strength of the various participants, which precludes any possibility of favoritism and insures fairness to the minutest degree.
- Twenty-five thousand extra votes will be given contestants for each 5-year subscription (or extension from previous contest subscription payment to 5-years) turned in by them during their first week in contest, and during third week of the drive half as many special extra votes will be issued on same basis.
- Any subscription once turned in can be extended during either first or second "week" by making extension payment, and remainder of votes will be issued thereon same as if full amount had been paid at the very beginning.
- Any contestant who earns as much as $50 in commissions during their first week of the drive, will receive an extra bonus of $25 cash in addition to regular commissions earned or any other special prize won.
- Ten thousand free "report day" votes will be given participants making a subscription report on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays during drive.
- This newspaper guarantees fair and impartial treatment to all participants, but should any question arise, the decision of the Advisory Board will be absolute and final.
- In becoming a member of this "Everybody Wins" prize subscription drive contestants agree to abide by above condition.

Credit Buying Curbs May Be Softened Soon

Government Says Seller May Require Less Down Payment

Housing and Home Finance Administrator Raymond F. Foley said this week that the government soon may ease its down payment requirements on houses costing more than $12,000.

The Senate Banking Committee unanimously approved a bill authorizing various federal housing agencies to accept an additional $1,507,000,000 in building mortgages and grants.

Foley told the National Savings and Loan League that there is no prospect that the government will abolish entirely its regulation requiring down payment minimums on homes.

"We do not believe it should be removed at an early date," he said.

But he said it is "quite possible" the government will reduce its down payment requirements on houses costing more than $12,000. This would be done by revising Regulation X, which was put into effect in October, 1950, as a brake against inflationary spending.

Regulation X requires down payments of at least 10 per cent on houses selling for $12,000 or less. On more expensive houses the down payment requirement ranges up to 50 per cent on houses costing more than $24,000.

Last week the government suspended Regulation W which set down payment requirements for durable goods, such as automobiles, refrigerators, and television sets.

Foley said, however, that Regulation X will not be abolished in the near future, despite "a great deal of demand" for such action from the building industry.

He said private lending interests contradict builders' claims that Regulation X is "unnecessary" and that it is unduly restricting the market.

The Senate committee cut more than $1,000,000 from the mortgage authorizations originally proposed in the bill sponsored by Committee Chairman Burnett H. Maybank (D-S.C.).

But the senators agreed that the Federal National Mortgage Association should be authorized to buy up another $900,000,000 in mortgages on defense, military and disaster areas.

Maybank had proposed a $1,300,000,000 authorization for this financing.

The bill also would increase the Federal Housing Administration's authority to insure home mortgages by an additional $400,000,000 instead of the $1,000,000,000 requested. It also authorized an additional $112,000,000 for loans for farm housing and a year extension of this program, which

Find Old Bond In Bible Verse Search

A teen-age girl's search for Bible verses to memorize led to good fortune for her grandmother, Mrs. Ruthena Bentley, who resides on Big Branch of Troublesome Creek, four miles below Hindman, in Knott County.

Jeannette Bentley, 15-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Bentley of Big Branch, was spending the night with her grandmother, planning to memorize several Bible verses Jeannette was disgruntled to find she had forgotten to bring her Bible alone. Her grandmother suggested that she use an old family Bible that had been stored away in an old trunk.

A brief search yielded not only the verses, but an old insurance policy, several memoranda, and an official looking government paper which proved to be one hundred dollar Third Liberty Loan Gold Bond of 1928. It was found yellowed and cracked, stamped between the aging leaves of the Bible. The bond bore the issue date of September 18, 1918.

and the interest was set at four and one-fourth per cent. All the coupons were intact. Mrs. Bentley could not believe that this find was valuable; a visit to the local school teacher and a letter written to the treasury Department dispelled all doubts about its worth. She had only to submit to the department the bond with a request for redemption.

Recently she received a check for $143.99 which she says will go for the electric range to replace the old one.

Although Mrs. Bentley, at the age of 73, has never seen a doctor, she has always been blessed with either good fortune or the best of health.

Married to Jephtha Corbett, they had several years of happy home life. Eleven children blessed their home within a period of 14 years.

However, tragedy struck. Knott County was not to be an exception as the flu epidemic of 1918-19 swept across the county. It came into the Corbett home.

Ruthena lingered between life and death for several days. When consciousness returned and her head cleared to find the happenings around her, she found that three of her children and her husband, Jephtha, had been victims. Three days later the fourth child died.

Her husband had been busy before his fatal illness. He hauled soldiers and others desiring to reach the railroad some 20 miles from Hindman to Hazard. He had not thought to tell her about the purchase of the bond. He died on March 7, 1919 and for these last 33 years the bond lay unnoticed.

Several years after Jephtha's death, Ruthena married James Bentley, who had four children by a former marriage. Three of these children later died of tuberculosis and Alec was killed on a logging job in the state of Washington.

Misfortune had come to Ruthena. Yes, she realizes that. But she believes misfortune must be forgotten and those things that brighten the routine of every day living be remembered and smiled upon.

Poor Concerns Pool Kilowatts For Atom Plant

Fifteen Ohio Valley power companies have proposed formation of a power combination to supply electric energy to a proposed billion dollar atomic plant. The Atomic Energy Commission said this week the 15 utilities propose to form a common company or companies to supply the 400,000 kilowatts of power it is estimated will be needed for operation of the gaseous diffusion uranium separation plant. The AEC listed the 15 companies which propose the combination as the American Gas and Electric Service Corp., of New York; Appalachian Electric Power Co., Cincinnati Gas and Electric Co., Kentucky Utilities Co., Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co., Public Service Co., of Indiana; West Penn Electric Co., Louisville Gas and Electric Co., Indianapolis Power and Light Co., Dayton Power & Light Co., Southern Indiana Gas and Electric Co., and Toledo Edison Co.

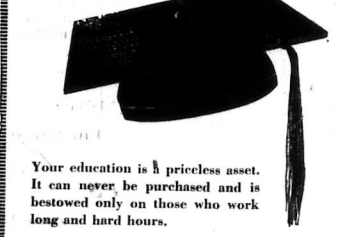

The AEC plans to seek funds for the atomic plant from Congress soon. It has announced it is considering a number of sites in the Ohio River Valley. A spokesman for the commission said it is considering the utilities' proposal and alternate methods of providing for the huge atomic plant. The AEC did not say what alternatives are under consideration. However, power for the atomic plant now under construction at Paducah, Ky., will be supplied by a new Tennessee Valley Authority plant and by combination of five private utilities companies.

Hundreds Of Work In Harlan Field

Poor Marketing Conditions, High Operating Costs Are Blamed

Scattered mine closings and cuts in other working forces left several hundred coal miners out of work this week in this rich Harlan coal field. Poor marketing conditions and high operating costs were blamed for the curtailment of production. Most mines have cut their forces in efforts to pare production costs.

These facts were reported by the Harlan Daily Enterprise after a survey of the coalfield situation. Similar closings were reported in the nearby Bell and Perry county fields.

The survey gave this picture of the situation: The poor market for coal and high production costs caused the closing of the Southern Harlan Coal Mining Company mine at Lanrus Saturday after 50 years of operation. Officials of the firm, the newspaper said, had spent considerable money in the next three years opening a new seam of coal after working out their acreage in the Harlan seam. The River Ridge Collieries closed several weeks ago and at the mine near Everts, Harlan-Wallins Coal Corporation of Verda, which is still operating five mines, closed the Kelloiko seam at its Woods mine near Everts, affecting about 135 men. One of the Stonegas Coal and Coke Company's mines was shut down recently, while the Black Mountain Corporation at Kenvir reduced its working force by about 160 at its two mines. The Southern Mining Company at Insull cut off its night shift, affecting about 48 men. Around Middleboro, the Bon-nebaum, Capito and Premier mines have closed recently. A large mine, the Jewel Ridge, in the Perry County field also closed. Carloadings of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company totaled 69,854 in the first four months of 1932, compared with 57,251 cars in the comparable period of 1931. But Harlan County Coal Operators Association production figures show commercial mines below last year's output, while the huge "captive" mines of U. S. Steel at Lynch and of Wisconsin

Steel Coal Mines of International Harvester Company at Benham show an increase. The newspaper said the "captive" mines have been able to boost production for some higher prices have been absorbed in higher prices received for steel. The first court held in Kentucky was at Harrodsburg in 1761.

Runaway Bus Wreck Averted By Nurse

A young, five-foot, three-inch nurse averted a "very serious" accident this week when she grabbed the steering wheel of a runaway Greyhound bus and guided it through poles, down an embankment and into a field after the driver collapsed near Lancaster, Pa.

Three of the 17 passengers on the bus were injured slightly. The huge vehicle suffered extensive damage.

Mary Bailey, 21, of Whitesville, Pa., was sitting directly behind Driver R. Edwin Smith, 51, of Philadelphia, when he suddenly screamed, raised his hands over his head and slumped unconscious over the steering wheel as the bus proceeded at "normal speed."

As the bus and its panic-stricken passengers roiled along the Lincoln Highway near Lancaster, Miss Bailey jumped up and took the wheel, steering as best as she could over Smith's unconscious form.

The young nurse kept the bus from hitting four telephone poles, but could not halt its runaway trip off the highway.

The vehicle tore down 126 feet of guard cable, rolled down an embankment, through a farm fence and on to a field where it stopped four feet from a big tree.

State Police said Miss Bailey's alertness averted a "very serious" accident. The girl, attached to Methodist Hospital in Philadelphia, was on her way home.

Smith was admitted to Lancaster General Hospital with a fractured back. He also underwent tests to determine why he blacked out.

The first commercial producing oil well in America was drilled near Bailey's home in Cumberland County in 1829.

Your Motor Needs A Clean Cooling System...

For Efficient Performance

Allow your motor to give its best performance by keeping your radiator and cooling system clean. Car manufacturers recommend that these be thoroughly cleaned twice a year to remove dangerous scale, rust, sludge and grease. Unless the cooling system is clean and leak-tight it will not perform efficiently, resulting not only in damaged motor parts but also in loss of power and wasted fuel. It will pay you to keep your cooling system clean. We provide complete cooling system service.

Classification For Mixed Strip Burley Leaf Needed, Burley Growers Say In Report

Major segments of the burley tobacco industry have urged the government to establish classifications for mixed stripped leaf and to set up a lower support price scale for such improperly prepared tobacco.

The recommendations were made by spokesmen representing the Burley Tobacco Growers Co-operative Association, Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation, Burley Auction Warehouse Association, Burley Tobacco Leaf Dealers Association, University of Kentucky Department of Extension and the Kentucky Production and Marketing Administration.

The Tobacco Inspection Service of the PMA's Tobacco Branch, also attended the session.

Firm action is required immediately if the industry is to curtail a practice that threatens to undermine the entire burley tobacco producing and marketing industry, it was pointed out.

In a resolution adopted unanimously at a three-hour session called to discuss the mixed stripping problem and what could be done to halt it, the group urged mixed stripping grades supported at lower prices and requested growers to take more care in preparing their 1932 tobacco for market.

The recommendation will be submitted to the tobacco branch. The meeting hoped that if special mixed tobacco grades are established, the grades and their support prices will be made known to the farmer several weeks before the market opens.

It was brought out at the conference how farmers have discovered that they can make as much or more profit from stripping in three grades instead of the standard five with considerable less time and effort spent in the stripping process.

Several tobaccosmen gave samples where a farmer selling mixed marketings profited more than did his neighbor who stripped properly.

The real danger to the burley industry rests with the upturn in mixed marketings. As manufacturers find they no longer can rely on the quality of standard grade leaf purchased in the burley belt, they will turn to substitutes less adaptable to improper stripping, tobaccosmen have warned. Manufacturers need tobacco of standard grades for their blending formulas, and a variation in tobacco will change the taste of the cigarettes.

The resolution stated that "a full and complete discussion was had of the problem that has heretofore existed, and has grown steadily worse, of mixed stripping of burley tobacco by the farmers of the burley area."

"It was brought out during the discussion that this practice had become so alarming as to seriously affect the continued use of burley tobacco in both domestic and foreign markets to such an extent as to imperil both the present and the future of the burley market, which, in turn would result in a decreased use of burley tobacco and a corresponding diminishing return to the grower."

"It is therefore resolved, that the tobacco branch of the Department of Agriculture urgently request them to set up and promulgate proper grades or specifications necessary to distinguish and identify this type of mixed stripping and that tobacco of these grades be supported at a less price."

Immediate action from Washington was sought because of the "emergency" created by mixed stripping.

4 Fined For Breaking Up Religious Service

Four persons were fined in Garrard County Court this week for disrupting a tent-meeting service at Paint Lick by denouncing the preacher as "anti-Christ" and a "crook" in voice-louder than the congregation's singing.

A crowd which County Attorney Henry Cox said included practically everyone in Paint Lick filled the courtroom as Judge Forrest Callisto imposed 35 fines on Richard (Buck) Lamb, his brother, Cecil Lamb, their mother, Mrs. Eva Lamb, and Charles Vanhook, all of Paint Lick.

Witnesses testified that the four invaded the meeting, loudly denounced the preacher and shouted that he should be "run out of Garrard County."

"Buck" Lamb testified that the minister, the Rev. C. E. McCool, of Gravel Switch, had told him he was "poor," and lived only on proceeds of revival meetings he conducted. Lamb said he learned, however, that the preacher owned two farms.

Cox said the defendants claimed "the Lord told us" to inform the congregation it was being deceived. They said they felt they "had a right" to do so.

Witnesses said the defendants entered the tent while the congregation was singing and that the Rev. Mr. McCool attempted for some time to urge the singers to drown out the intruders' voices.

An uproar developed when this failed, they said, and the meeting "broke up." One of the defendants doubled his fist and threatened to strike the minister, it was claimed. The quartet was charged with disrupting public worship.

Bates Announces Candidacy For Congress From 5th District

Shortly before he boarded a train for Ashland Tuesday Congressman Joe B. Bates handed reporters a statement setting the stage for what may be the most closely contested battle for a Congressional seat in Kentucky's history. Bates said that after three months deliberation "I have concluded that I cannot honorably retire from public life because of a legislative decree conceived for the primary purpose of eliminating me from public life . . . and have mailed to the Secretary of State my declaration as a democratic candidate for Congress from the Fifth District." Brent Spence, Fort Thomas, has already announced in the Fifth. The redistricting act placed Spence and Bates in the same district. Counties in the new Fifth are: Lawrence, Boyd, Greenup, Lewis, Mason, Fleming, Bracken, Pendleton, Kenton, Campbell, Boone, Gallatin, Trimble, Carroll and Grant.

Bates' complete statement: "Before returning today to my official duties at Washington I mailed to the Secretary of State my declaration as a democratic candidate for Congress from the Fifth District of Kentucky. "I have deliberated for nearly three months before making this decision, and have concluded that I cannot honorably retire from public life because of a legislative decree conceived for the primary purpose of eliminating me from public life."

"I have represented seven of the fifteen counties of the Fifth District since June 4, 1938, but as you know, the former Eighth District, which I now represent has been split into three parts, like Caesar divided Gaul. "I have been commissioned for the past 14 years as a member of the Congress. I am asking for a renewal of that commission on feel the people of the seven counties of the eastern part of the Fifth District are acquainted with that record and they have approved it every time I have been reelected.

"I promise to make you a diligent and active Congressman. You may expect the same kind of considerate, courteous and helpful service that I have always rendered to my constituents."

"It is my intention to meet and mingle with you, to hear your problems, to become personally acquainted with you and to render to you every service at my command as your Representative in the Congress."

Henderson was founded by and named for Col. Richard Henderson of North Carolina, head of the Transylvania Company.

the basis of service to the people of Kentucky and to the nation. "For more than half of the 14 years of my tenure in Congress, I have been a member of the Appropriations Committee, which enabled me to be of even greater service to the people. Since the present Fifth District reaches for more than 300 miles along the Ohio and Big Sandy Rivers, I specifically mention at this time that I helped draft the bills to secure flood ways to protect the lives, health and property of the people of Ashland, Russell, Maysville, Newport and Covington. However, it is not of expenditures of which I wish to boast, but of my efforts to economize with your tax dollars. As a member of the Appropriations Committee I am forcefully aware of the fact that a sizeable part of every pay check, whether it be a laborer or a high ranking official of a corporation, is withheld for taxes. For that reason I have opposed the expenditure of your tax dollar except where I thought it was absolutely essential to the preservation of our government and our democratic way of life during these perilous and uncertain times."

"Mr. Spence with a doubt, be a candidate. He and I have been friends throughout the time we have been in Washington, and I seek this nomination through no personal animosity to him. "I am 58 years of age and it is my intention to vigorously campaign for this office on my record of 14 years service in Congress. I intend to bring that record particularly to the people of the night counties of the western part of the Fifth District as it concerns the farmer, labor, management and small business. I

Korean Armistice Would Not Mean End of Third War Danger

Spence Regrets Race Against Friend Joe

Brent Spence, referring to the announcement of Joe Bates to run in the 5th District, said in Washington today: "I'm disappointed, I have nothing against Joe. I regret the redistricting that put Joe in my district, but I have no complaint against him running if he wants to run."

Democratic political observers foresee one of the hardest fought races for a Congressional nomination in Kentucky's history when Spence and Bates, close personal friends, battle each other.

An armistice in Korea would remove none of the danger gripping the world, Secretary of the Army Frank Pace warned this week.

"We must face the fact," he said in a frank, space-calling statement, "that an armistice would at best be an uneasy truce with little effect on the final outcome."

"It would not lessen our danger, nor measurably diminish the burden we must bear if we are to remain free."

In a frank, space-calling statement, Pace said the nation deeply desires a just and honorable armistice by which "this bloody phase of the fundamental conflict between militant Communism and the free world might be terminated."

But he said the United States is alert to the global implications of the Korean War.

"It is not against the North Koreans or the Chinese Reds alone that we are preparing our total defense," he said, "but against the manifold greater power of the international Communist movement headed by the Soviet Union itself."

He said the general contention that the war in Korea is weakening the nation is untrue—"the experience we have gained in Korea has made us a stronger nation, both militarily and morally."

The struggle has compressed years of normal experience into months, he said, by speeding up development of new and better weapons.

"Research on guided missiles has been intensified," he said. "Already a gun capable of hurling atomic shells is being tested, not as a theoretical device but as an actual weapon."

He expressed a belief the 1947 unification of the armed services has proved its worth in Korea. "We are increasing the power of our military pack by seeking to tie the three services . . . into one unified fighting organization," he stated.

"No army has ever been able to move as fast as ours, or as far in a short space of time, or hit an enemy with greater air mobility to a higher degree. As far as possible we are adapting our standard infantry division to air movement."

In an interview before the dinner Pace spoke out for his recently advocated "Good Government Foundation" as a means of improving the quality of American government. The foundation, he said, can help attract the nation's ablest young people into government careers.

"I am convinced," he said, "that a completely independent, non-partisan and privately financed organization can help do this job."

"I would think it might be sponsored by a combination of the existing foundations, and such organizations as the League of Women Voters and the American Society of Newspaper Editors."

"It could urge improvements and clarify issues, much as did the Hoover Commission."

The foundation's chief aim, he said, would be to help in a long-range program of education that would attract the nation's top people into all levels of government.

Pace was accompanied by Air Force Secretary Thomas K. Finletter and U. S. Rep. Overton Brooks stayed only a few minutes at Sandford Field, La., where Finletter was to speak.

Also among the visitors was Elvis J. Stahr, Jr., dean of the University of Kentucky Law School, on leave from the school, as a special assistant to Pace.

American Folk Song Festival Set June 8

The American Folk Song Festival will be held Sunday, June 8th at Traipsin' Woman Cabin on the Mayo Trail about 18 miles south of Ashland. The program begins at 2 p. m. (EST) and ends at sundown and will be under the direction of Jean Thomas, "The Traipsin' Woman," assisted by Mrs. Lyda Messer Caudill, well-known educator of Morehead.

This Festival on June 8 will mark the 22nd year since the founding of this event which grew from the century-old tradition, the Singin' Gatherin' of the Kentucky mountains.

Many celebrated artists from other cities who have brought Kentucky's folk songs to the concert stage, will participate in this year's American Folk Song Festival.

will bring her Celtic harp and ancient lute and sing the ballads of Scotland, France, Spain, Italy. She will sing in native tongue both Gaelic and Irish folk songs accompanying herself on the harp in some instances and again on the lute which has been handed down in her family from the 16th century. Nemene Balfour has been heard in concerts in Louisville and in Cincinnati and has appeared as guest artist on TV in Cincinnati and in New York.

The oldest ballad singer of the Festival will be Rosie Day in her homespun frock of linsay woolsey who will sing a traditional warning song which she has sung each year in the festival for the past 24 years. A full page color portrait of Rosie Day was featured in Holiday Magazine March 1951 in its Kentucky Story, also a group of the little children who sing in the Festival were pictured in the Kentucky Story.

Mrs. Lyda Messer Caudill will lead a group of children singing Bonnie George Campbell a ballad handed down in her family from the time of Mary Queen of Scots.

William Smart, Pipe Major of the Queen's Cameron Highlanders in World War I will play many Scottish tunes on the pipes accompanied by his son, Kenneth, on the drums. They will wear authentic Cameron tartan.

Marion Kerby singing - actress of Hollywood will return to sing "I'm Out the Whole World in His Hands. Her accompanist will be Raymond McFeeters who will bring from the west coast an ancient melodian used by Marion Kerby in her concerts.

Bessie Bondi who starred in Walt Disney's "Dear to This Heart," will fly from Hollywood to read the Elizabethan Prologue which sets forth the Elizabethan argin of mountain music and mountain people who have preserved the precious heritage of their Anglo-Saxon forbears.

Proceeding the Festival program Rev. Cobe Sparks of Rowan County will conduct an old time "meeting" with hymn singing, prayer and scripture reading. Many will bring their basket dinner and enjoy the day in the pleasant meadows of woodlands surrounding the Traipsin' Woman Cabin.

The youngest singer this year will be little Billie Bob Wallace whose great-grandmother, Mrs. Julia Hatfield Murray will also be present to sing old time hymn tunes with her young descendant.

Wide meadow lands provide ample space for parking. Sound equipment will make it possible for all to hear the program which is presented from a large rustic stage in front of the Traipsin' Woman Cabin.

CHICKEN FEATHERS

The use of chicken feathers, at a cost of around 10 cents a pound, to replace $1.50-a-pound wool to make military sleeping bags and bed covers, has been announced by a Munitions Board official. Two pounds of chicken feathers serve the purpose of about a pound of wool—20 cents compared with $1.50.

Here's a Challenge Only FERGUSON Dares to Make!

As the Ferguson Dealer in this community, we will publicly match the new and far more powerful Ferguson "30" against any other tractor. We dare to do this because the new Ferguson "30" is bigger in power, in performance, in economy! At a "Showdown" demonstration we will prove that the Ferguson "30" with Ferguson System Implements, meets more of the needs of more of the farmers... more of the time... than any other tractor... outperforming them doing all of the following jobs:

Moldboard Plowing

Harrowing, Spike Tooth

Row Crop Cultivating

Side Delivery Raking

Disc Plowing

Corn Planting

Field Tilling

Loading & Spreading

Harrowing, Tandem Disc

Rotary Hoing

Subsoiling

Wood Lot Sawing

There you are, farmers! The stage is set for a "Showdown." We know we have the best tractor in the world and we're ready to prove it to you.

We are not just claiming what the Ferguson "30" can do. We'll let this demonstration do the talking for us.

If you are thinking of buying a new tractor, look at all of them. Listen to what other dealers tell you their tractors can do. Ask these dealers if they are willing to prove these claims at a "Showdown" demonstration on your own farm. Then get in touch with us.

Match these jobs a Ferguson Tractor can do with Ferguson System Implements against similar jobs any other tractor claims to do... and you'll see we can do those jobs better with our new Ferguson "30." And we'll ask you to be the judge of how much better we do them.

Brush Teeth After Meals, Dentists Say

The most important time to brush the teeth is immediately after each meal according to the American Dental Association. The A.D.A.'s new leaflet, "Toothbrushing," presents the latest information on this currently interesting topic. If a brush is not available, says the Association, a mouthwash should be used. Toothbrushing, according to the A.D.A., makes the mouth feel clean, helps clean the teeth, aids in keeping the gums healthy and assists in improving the appearance. Your dentist can best tell you how to brush your teeth. But as a general guide, these rules are given.

Brush each of these areas at least ten times: the upper teeth down toward the biting edge, the lower teeth up toward the biting edge, the surfaces next to the cheeks, the surfaces next to the tongue, and the upper and lower chewing surfaces.

The American Dental Association suggests an inexpensive dentifrice made of one-third powdered table salt and two-thirds baking soda. If preferred, baking soda alone may be used. For a mouth-wash, one-fourth teaspoon baking soda in half a glass of water.

Small children should have small tooth brushes; adults should have medium-size brushes. All toothbrushes should have flat brushing surfaces, firm bristles, and small heads. Every person should have two toothbrushes so that he always has a clean dry brush.

In Ripley's "Believe It Or Not" feature, Lost River, near Bowling Green, Ky., is described as the shortest, deepest river in the world.

Rapid Pace of Life May Result In Ulcers

For every case of ulcers that's caused by an allergy, there are many caused by excitement. For every case of acid indigestion caused by a stomach ulcer, there are many caused by fatigue, worry, and the rapid pace of today's living.

These minor irritations are quite different from the danger signals of serious ailments, which are becoming better known to all of us. We watch for these symptoms; they, and other body upsets, send us quickly to our doctor.

Ulcers need this prompt and continuing attention, as do many other conditions and diseases of which acid indigestion is only a symptom. But there are always the occasional attacks of indigestion that come from being tired, nervous, tense, or from over-indulging. These, though just as annoying and uncomfortable, are far more easily remedied.

For years, the baking soda found on every grocer's shelf, which is pure as pure sodium bicarbonate, has been used to counteract acid indigestion. And as yet, no product has come along which can give more prompt and satisfying relief. One-half teaspoon of baking soda in water, quickly relieves stomach distress. And nothing could be more handy than the baking soda in everyone's home - nothing more economical than this easy-to-buy package.

For frequent and severe attacks of indigestion, you'll want to see your doctor. But for the occasional attack of stomach distress, you can still rely on baking soda for quick and satisfying relief.

FOOD PRICES
 The Bureau of Labor Statistics reports that the retail price of food moved up seven-tenths of one per cent during the first two weeks in April, due mainly to higher fresh fruit and vegetable prices. Fruits and vegetables rose 6.3 per cent, to the highest level since April, 1928.

Barkley Boom Launched At Louisville

Kentucky Democrats To Support Him For U. S. Presidency

Kentucky Democrats launched a presidential boom for Alben Barkley Saturday night, but earned no response except profuse thanks.

Formal endorsement of the vice president was given in a unanimous vote by the party's State Central Executive Committee, and a few hours later Gov. Lawrence Wetherby promised his fellow Democrats Kentucky's 22 votes at the coming Democratic National Convention.

Wetherby presented Barkley with a new hat in behalf of Kentucky Democrats and told him before more than 700 persons at the party's annual Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner they wanted him to "throw his hat in the ring" at Chicago in June.

"I don't think the Kentucky Democrats will do it for you," said the governor as the diners leaped to their feet and cheered. Barkley accepted the gift, commenting, "that's a mighty good looking hat to be trumped all over the lot."

Then, in a serious vein, Barkley replied, "I wish had the words to express my profound appreciation for the high honor you have done me. He said that that was all he could say."

In the resolution the committee went on to urge the president "insisting" that their fellow Kentuckians "stand on their feet" in the nomination. It was adopted shortly before Barkley arrived to speak you dinner in Louisville.

U. S. Senator Earle Clements of Kentucky followed that up by saying he would support Barkley in the presidential race this year, adding, "and I think it's going to be a lasting one, with Barkley leading the charge."

The state committee called its county and legislative district conventions for Saturday, May 24, and its state convention and its congressional district convention to be held in Louisville May 27.

That formal business was hardly finished before V. J. Steele of Louisville introduced the Barkley resolution and former state Sen. Charles C. Waggoner, Mayfield, seconded it.

In calling on the coming Democratic National Convention to take the 74-year-old vice president as its nominee, Sen. Clements declared that the Democratic party should "stand on its feet" in this year's political campaign.

Referring to the many charges of corruption in President Truman's administration, Sen. Clements declared, "Of course there have been some things wrong in government, and there always will be, but in all our history when there's been anything wrong, it's always the Democrats who have corrected it."

In the general predictions of Democratic victory and praise of that party's state offices, Clements declared with emphasis that Gov. Lawrence Wetherby "is one of the best governors we've ever had."

The state committee's treasurer, Robert B. Hensley, Louisville, reported it has a cash balance of $28,702.42 on hand. "That's the best speech I've heard," interrupted Robert H. Phryns, Frankfort, chairman of the state committee.

"I remember when we used to pass the hat around to pay somebody for getting out our mail," Hensley said the cash balance was made possible by Clements, who, when governor, had authorized the $50 a plate charge for the Jefferson-Jackson Day dinners.

Hensley also said the funds accruing to the state committee were used for nothing except its expenses and to help pay the expenses of the Democratic National Convention.

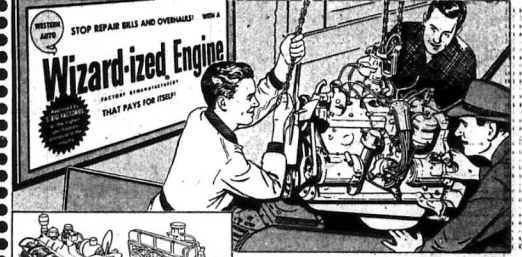

Transportation Prices For Coal Show Sharp Jump
 An increase in retail coal selling prices, to compensate the industry for the freight rate increase effective May 21, was announced by the Office of Price Stabilization.

The increase, effective May 24, is limited to the exact amount of the rate boost, which was authorized by Interstate Commerce Commission. It amounts to six per cent, a maximum of 20 cents per net ton.

The higher ceilings are allowed OPS only because retail coal industry earnings are too small to permit absorption of any rate increase. An OPS survey now is under way to determine whether retail coal dealers can qualify for further increases in ceilings under the OPS Industry Earnings Standard. (Times Standard provides that price relief will be granted when an industry can show that its current earnings are less than 85 per cent of the earnings it had in the best three years of 1948 through 1949.)

Manchester, the county seat of Clay County, was named for the great manufacturing center of that name in England.

Why Hutchinson Realty and Auction Company & Fritts Auction Company Are Getting Most of the Auction Sales in Eastern Kentucky...

- We get the job done. Every Auction we have booked has been a success, and we have obtained a good price for the seller.
- We have two good auctioneers, a clerk and a ground man. This makes four qualified, hard-working men who are continually striving to get high money for your property.
- Our organization and personnel is composed of sober, honest, qualified men who work for your interest. This is our business and we work constantly at it.
- Mr. Walter Fritts, head of the concern, is no beginner in the Auction Business, having been an auctioneer for many years. He operates the only auctioneering school in Ky.
- Mr. Jackson, our second auctioneer, knows how to mix in a crowd and has a pleasing personality. He is a valuable asset to any successful auction sale.
- Mr. McQuitty, a Salt Lick citizen, is clerk of the scales and Mr. Hutchinson is known and respected throughout Rowan County as an evangelist. Having been in the furniture and other business for 10 years he has a good knowledge of property values.
- We keep a record of prospective buyers... for example, who wants a home or a farm... and we take a particular pains to contact these people before the sale, pointing out the advantages of the property.
- We are on the job from the time you list your sale with us, running newspaper advertising in your local paper and others, posting signs on the property, giving out handbills, using loud speakers and other means to advertise your property.
- Under no circumstances do we want your sale if you want By-Bidders. We conduct strict, clean, money-on-the-ground sales. We intend to keep it that way.
- Ask the people who have attended our sales! Ask the man we've conducted a sale for! Then, you'll realize it does make a big difference to you to get the right company to handle your sale.

Another Newspaper Price Hike Announced

U. S. newspaper publishers were in effect handed a bill for 50 million dollars a year this week when it was announced that exported Canadian newspaper will go up $10 a ton on June 15.

The Truman administration immediately asked the Canadian government to recommend and request its approval of the price hike, which would be the second $10 boost in less than a year and which would raise the price of paper on which newspapers are printed to an all-time peak of $128 a ton.

Publishers' representatives said they may ask the government to take further action. Sen. Edwin C. Johnson, (D-Colo.) suggested that a study be made to determine whether the U. S. "should retaliate by upping the price of sulphur, which these newspaper producers must get from us." He called the $10 boost completely unjustified.

5 Conservation Needs In County Noted

Rowan Board Of Supervisors Meet To Discuss Problems

By John D. Alexander
The Rowan County Soil Conservation Board of Supervisors decided at a recent meeting that the most important conservation problems in Rowan County are: (1) Pasture seeding and improvement; (2) drainage; (3) woodland planting, management and protection; (4) terraces, diversions, contour cultivation, and (5) stock water development. These problems will receive the greatest amount of emphasis in planning the future program of work for the district.

The local district board of supervisors consists of Leland Hall, D. C. Caudill, Simon Eldridge, Orville Caudill and George Eldridge.

NEW COMMANDER . . . This is the first informal pose of General Mark Clark since he assumed General Bradley's command in the far east.

Melvin Eldridge, of Sharkey, seeded a trial plot of sorghum this spring. He reports that he has a good stand and that it is coming along nicely. The sorghum was seeded for hay. Melvin also has some good fields of fescue and lucerne for pasture.

Breads Must Be Identified Under Regulation

All the varieties of bread now on the market still will be available to consumers under the standards of identity for bread announced this week by the Federal Security Administration, Curtis H. Scott, chairman of the American Bakers Association, emphasized.

The only major effect of the law will be to require some changes in the labels on a very small percentage of the bread now being produced, he said.

Bakers generally are in accord with the standards," Scott said. "The baking industry cooperated fully with the Food and Drug Administration in preparing the standards in the full knowledge that the interest of the consumer is paramount to the industry as it is to FDA. Exclusion of the so-called chemical softeners was consistent with our recommendations."

"Since according to the FDA statement, an overwhelming percentage of all bread now sold commercially already meets the standards, the new order shows that the Food and Drug Administration endorses what a majority of the industry is doing."

As one example, the standards permit a maximum of 88 per cent moisture in bread, with a minimum of 82 per cent solids. The official findings of FDA state that this percentage of moisture is in excess of that used by most bakers."

Scott said the baking industry is in agreement that only white bread should be called white bread; that enriched white bread should contain the vitamins and minerals at the levels recommended by leading nutritionists; that milk bread should contain a definite minimum amount of milk so on.

"Basically there will be very little change within the industry as a result of the standards of identity," he said. "The baking industry now has its own identity law, similar to those which the Food and Drug Administration has prepared for other industries in its long-range campaign of safeguarding the interests of the consumer."

LUCKY MAN

The city of Ashland, Ky., was laid out in 1850.

Woman Says Uranium Mine Located In Rowan County

A woman, about 50 years of age, address and name unknown, visited the office of County Attorney Elijah M. Hogge Monday with a tale about a uranium mine in Rowan County and a request for police protection.

She possessed, so she told Hogge, a letter more than 100 years old, giving the location of a silver mine discovered in Rowan County about 1500. This is only eight years after Columbus discovered America, but she claimed she had inside information from a half-breed Indian about the location of the mine, and added "wherever there's silver there's uranium."

"Crooks are after me," she told the County Attorney. She said that one man had followed her from Ashland "because he knows I know where this mine is located and he will kill me as soon as I find it." The woman wanted to "see the pictures of all the crooks in Rowan County so that I can identify him."

"When I find the mine," she continued, "I will put lime all around it and drive stakes. But I want you to get the Sheriff to hide behind a tree and guard me because I'm afraid these crooks that are following me, or moonshiners, will kill me."

The woman, evidently from another state, wanted to know "all the laws that Kentucky has on minerals, and the search for treasure." Besides seeing the County Attorney she checked out old deed books in the office of County Clerk B. P. Day.

She said that as soon as she was staked out her claim she intended to turn it over to the government and claim the big reward for finding the uranium deposit. She admitted she didn't anybody, including county officials, but called on Hogge because she had to have police protection and legal advice on the validity of her claim.

Report Released On Feeding From Bluegrass Silage

With the season here to make silage from corn, sorghum, bluegrass, clover, alfalfa and other crops, the Experiment Station of the University of Kentucky the past week issued a report on steers-feeding tests with various silages.

Fifty individual digestion trials were run with steers on six different silages as follows: five with ladino clover-molasses silage, six with soybean-molasses silage, 12 with Kentucky 31 fescue-molasses silage, nine with Kentucky bluegrass-molasses silage, nine with alfalfa-molasses silage, and nine with corn silage.

Comments of Dr. W. P. Garrius follow:

"Ladino clover silage, because of its exceptionally high content of digestible crude protein, is especially well adapted to the feeding of dairy cows, pregnant and lactating ewes, rapidly growing young stock of calves, and brooding sows during the winter."

"Silages made from Kentucky bluegrass and Kentucky 31 fescue vary considerably in nutritive value, depending on the fertility of the soil and the stage of maturity at which they were harvested."

"Kentucky bluegrass-molasses silage made from good forage in a pastured field of maturity contains approximately the same amount of total digestible nutrients as an excellent grade of corn silage but more than 2 1/2 times as much digestible crude protein. Since a good stand of bluegrass on fertile land will make over three tons of wilted silage an acre in one mid-May cutting, the best bluegrass silage is a cheaper and more nutritious feed than corn silage."

"Bluegrass-molasses silage ranks very well in over-all feed value because of its high content of digestible crude protein. It ranks low, however, in total digestible nutrients even when grown on fertile land and harvested in the quarter-bloom stage. Ease of harvesting alfalfa, however, and its heavy yield an acre and ten-

Striped Cucumber Beetle Is Pest To Be Feared

By Evelyn Sinclair
(Home Agent)

The striped cucumber beetle is the main cause of cucumbers and 14 "fin" crops dying over night. Those plants really started dying when the seedlings first started coming up, because that is when the over-wintered beetles lay eggs in the soil close alongside the seedlings. These hatch out "worms" that play havoc with the roots, destroying some plants forthwith. Other plants preserve up till cucumber picking should start, and then die. But when the dying has started, the time has passed for stopping the damage.

Several other beetles attack the crops, but their damage is usually minor. The control procedure for striped beetles controls them too.

As the damage starts when the seedlings start, so must the control. The method is by dusting, sifting through a porous sack or with a puggin or a bellows duster. Three per cent DDT dust may be used, but to escape burning, "purified" DDT is recommended, or, more safely, 5 per cent Methoxychlor dust.

Five dustings are recommended, always in the middle of the hills: (1) When the first seedlings start, the hills then "burning" to be dusted too; (2) three to five days later; (3) five days later; (4) 10 days later, and (5) 10 days again.

The first three dustings are effective by getting some of the material into the open soil cracks. The last two dustings are effective by placing the material about the plants' bases, to keep at their distance the striped beetles that arise from the "worms" that have escaped the underground treatment. For the later dustings with a sifter, the plants' leaves should be parted with the hand to let the dust fall through. A duster would drive it there.

By this means, more seedlings will survive than should be left in the hill. Thinning should be done when the plants start running, when presumably the striped beetle will have done all his "thinning." A perfect stand of cucumbers is two plants, or the rest of the vine crops, one plant.

ATOMIC GUN

An atomic gun, developed by the United States Army, has been described by Army Secretary Frank Pace as an accurate and devastating weapon, providing field commanders with tremendous "finger-tip" fire power, and heretofore new era in the waging of war. The gun weighs about 75 tons but is highly mobile and is carried on a platform, suspended between two engine cabs at its front and rear. It can travel at about 35 miles per hour on highways and can cross bridges "which Army engineers are already trained to build for present heavy divisional equipment." It can also travel cross-country.

1951 Burley Crop Brought Most Money

Report Shows That Farmers Received More Than Billion Dollars

The Agriculture Department said last year's tobacco crop was worth $1,900,000,000, an increase of $142,417,000 over 1950.

The only other billion dollar crop prior to 1950 was produced in 1946. The average price in 1951 was 51.2 cents a pound compared with 47.7 cents in 1950.

The value of the burley crop was $315,853,000, a big leap from 1950's total of $244,656,000. Fire-cured tobacco also showed a hefty hike to $780,828,000 as compared with $688,298,000.

This record volume is about 2 per cent greater than estimated last December and compares with the revised estimate of 2,030 million pounds harvested in 1950. Record high 1951 fire-cured and burley crops account for most of the increases, however; production in 1951 exceeded that in 1950 for all classes except cigar tobacco.

Fire-cured tobacco production, placed at 1,452 million pounds, is 15 per cent greater than 1,257 million pounds produced in 1950 and 43 per cent higher than the 10-year average of 1,015 million pounds. The record 1951 crop of fire-cured tobacco was produced on 1,113,100 acres. In 1950, the acreage harvested was 958,400 and the 1950-51 average acreage harvested was 935,930.

Production of fire-cured tobacco in 1950, estimated at 59.5 million pounds represents a downward revision from the December estimate. The volume produced exceeds the 1950 production of 58.3 million pounds but is far short of the 10-year average of 77.8 million pounds.

Early production in 1951 is estimated at 517 million pounds, at all time record. The largest crop in the years was 514 million pounds in 1946. The 1951 crop was approximately 24 per cent greater than the 1950 crop of 499 million pounds. The increased poundage resulted from 12 per cent larger acreage and heavier yields.

Cigar tobacco production in 1951 is estimated at 126.6 million pounds which is well below the 1950 production of 146.2 million pounds. Production of binder tobacco was sharply below 1950 and accounted for most of the decrease. Production of filler and wrapper types only moderately below 1950 for burley tobacco the production figures for 1950 and '51 along with the value of the crop for those years by states included:

Kentucky, $23,670,000 and $158,372,000 and 418,080,000 and $211,548,000.

The report listed these production values for other types of tobacco for 1950 and 1951 in that order:

Fire-cured: Type 21 Virginia belt, $4,660,000 and $5,253,000. Hopkinsville belt, $1,111,000 and $1,211,000. Type 22, $10,510,000 and $14,542,000. Paducah-Mayfield belt Type 23, $2,985,000 and $4,027,000.

GRATEFUL IMMIGRANT

The Treasury of the United States recently received a check for $5,000 from the trust department of the First National Bank, Chicago. The donor was Arthur Strauss, who died in 1946. Under his will, after the death of his mother (who died last Feb. 6), the $5,000 should be paid to the Government "in recognition of the benefits bestowed upon the assured and members of his family since the time of entry into this country and in appreciation of the opportunities that have been made available to them." Mr. Strauss was born in Germany and came to this country when he was 14.

CANCER

Doctors are saving one in every four cancer patients and could possibly double the rate "without a jot of further knowledge" if the disease is caught early, according to the American Cancer Society. About 70,000 lives were saved in the U. S. last year, while 215,000 died of the disease.

WESTLAKE AND KAZAK
May Bolster Cincinnati Team

The two new additions to the Cincinnati Reds' roster, outfielder Wally Westlake and third baseman Eddie Kazak will make their debut in Redleg livery at Crosley Field Friday night when the Reds return from their eastern jaunt and play a nocturnal contest with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Westlake and Kazak, obtained from the Cardinals for Dick Sisti and Virgil Stallcup, are expected to strengthen the Redleg aggregation.

Westlake broke into professional baseball in 1940 with Elmhurst and Dayton. After spending 1943-44-45 in the military service, Wally hit .315 for Oakland in 1946 and the following season was with Pittsburgh where he remained until traded to the Cards in 1951.

In five National League seasons Westlake has averaged 20 home runs and 88 runs batted-in yearly.

The big slugger is also noted as a valuable defenceman. He is a good runner, smooth fielder and an outstanding arm.

Kazak was a candidate for Rookie of the Year honors with the 1949 Cardinals. Eddie led the National League hitters early that season and was selected to start at third base in the All-Star game. He wound up the season with a fine .304 mark after being sidelined after mid-July because of an ankle injury.

He was optioned late last May by the Cardinals to their Houston farm club and he batted .304.

The Cardinals will also be at Crosley Field for a Saturday afternoon Ladies Day game and a Sunday doubleheader (May 25).

Following the three-day series with St. Louis the Reds will go on the road until Sunday, June 1 when they return out a doubleheader with Boston.
