Meadows Motor Company Offers 'ROAD TEST RIDE' You've got to DRIVE IT TO BELIEVE IT! An Invitation From Meadows Motor

An Invitation From Meadows Motor Mr. Herman 'Satch' Meadows, Manager of Meadows Motor Company today announced a 'Road Test Ride' program to familiarize the motoring public with the 148-horsepower Red Ram V-8 engine and other outstanding new features of the 1953 Dodge. Mr. Meadows said the 'Road Test Ride' was part of a nation-wide effort to provide motorists with an opportunity to get behind the wheel of the all-new Dodge. 'Psychologically, the power, responsiveness and maneuverability of the new Dodge are ideally suited for present day traffic congestion and parking problems. This is especially true for women drivers,' Mr. Meadows maintained. 'Since the introduction of the 1953 model, we have discovered that the public sells itself behind the wheel of the new Dodge. That is the reason we are providing a first-hand opportunity to experience this new form of driver mastery. It definitely gives you a feeling of control,' Mr. Meadows declared. Motorists may take the 'Road Test Ride,' by calling upon Meadows Motor Company or telephoning 360. They will be under no obligation except to complete the 12 check points which demonstrate the outstanding features of the new Dodge. The 12 check points of the 'Road Test Ride' include break-away acceleration with Gyro-Torque drive, traffic maneuverability, engine economy, increased roominess, and visibility, no roll-over sways on curves, short turning radius and easy steering, 'seat' rear pick-up for passing, hill-climbing ability, highway handling and control, road leveling action of Orloff shock absorbers, brake safety with less dipping and easier parking. If only she knew-

She's sad and old beyond her years—this child of the world. And hopeless, too.

A candy cane and a box of nuts for a Christmas tree—when what she wanted more than anything else was to be loved and cared-for, with the promise of a better tomorrow.

If only she had heard, at home and Sunday school, the story of the Christ-child who came to bless little children, she would feel loved.

If only she had heard of the Child who grew into a Man, dependable, strong, and wise, she would feel confident of loving care. If only she had heard how He brings triumph over poverty, pain, and failure, her eyes would mirror hope.

Be sure that the light of faith shines from your child's eyes. Be sure that through Church and home, she—and other little ones—learn all about God's ever-present love.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without it can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of his eternal welfare. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

By DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Confess—Follow

Lesson for January 11, 1953

Another of those Bible words which are easy to misunderstand is the word "confess." Ordinarily we connect this word in our minds with a court of law...

Where Do You Stand? But there is another meaning of these words "confess" and "confession" which is quite different. It does not always mean to admit...

Dr. Foreman is not saying for a minute that Jesus admitted that the charges against him were true. What he means is that Jesus stood up for God and his duty...

Christ Never Outranked There is something else tied up in this idea of confessing to Christ. It isn't saying something about Christ, Peter's confession...

More than Mouth-Christians But there is still another word the church has always used, and because Jesus used it...

Stalin Talks One Way, Acts Another

Premier Joseph Stalin's latest assurances, in answer to a series of questions put by a New York Times writer, are an example in the field of propaganda. The Russian dictator has, on other occasions, issued statements which sounded reasonable enough to the unsuspecting. Just under the surface, however, the dictator always turned out to be a cloak for a brutal aggressive policy followed by the "Soviet" Union.

There is no reason at this time to suspect that the Russians have changed their policies and there is little hope that Stalin's latest answers are to be valued more highly than previous propaganda statements. President Harry Truman, commenting on the Russian dictator's latest expressions, says the Soviet Union would welcome a stepped-up war in the Far East, which would give that country a free hand in Western Europe.

General Dwight D. Eisenhower, the President-elect, has had no comment on the statement as this is written. Secretary of State-designate John Foster Dulles has responded to the Stalin statement by announcing that the United States was always ready to cooperate in settling international problems and that the proper channels, such as the United Nations, were always open to any Soviet overtures.

The Soviet Government newspaper, Travest, has said that Stalin's answers meant that the Soviet Union was prepared to solve, by means of conference, all outstanding unsettled international questions, including the Korean question. However, the editorial discussion in both Izvestia and Pravda made it clear there was a wide difference between the Moscow and Washington viewpoints and stressed the fact that Stalin's statement in no way indicated a willingness by the Russians to compromise their previous positions.

If the Russians are unwilling to compromise, or if they are unwilling to compromise on outstanding international questions, there is little reason for any conference or any follow-up of Premier Stalin's propaganda overtures. The major result of the questions put to Premier Stalin will probably be the tremendous amount of publicity given the Russian's policy, which publicity will help to belud the real designs of the Soviet Union.

325,000 Schoolrooms Are Needed In This Country

A recent survey, made public by the Office of Education, showed that 325,000 schoolrooms are needed in this country. U. S. Commissioner of Education Earl J. McGrath, commenting on the survey, said that existing school programs will not carry up the deficit.

Mr. McGrath suggests a Federal-aid program which would provide matching funds for states in the building of new schools. Such a program has worked successfully in the field of hospital construction and also in the field of highway construction.

McGrath further stated that there is not a single state or territory which did not have a school housing problem. He advocates abandonment of obsolete school houses and the construction of new schools, based on the anticipated need as indicated by the number of babies born in recent years.

The 83rd Congress may or may not take action as Commissioner McGrath proposes. Federal money for school construction, as well as the construction of the nation's elementary and secondary public schools—has merit. Such a matching fund would not carry with it Federal control or direction of the policies in actual school operation. Many states seek to avoid Federal intrusion into school operations and this plan would not necessarily carry with it this objectionable feature.

Gypsies Alone Defy Progress Of The Ages

A recent study in Great Britain showed that, in the last 450 years, little change has occurred in Britain's gypsy population. The report showed that gypsies still retain their own language, continued a nomadic life in caravans and settled down only in winter.

Further, gypsies continued to earn their living by fortune-telling, part-time farm work, trading and hawking and remained largely illiterate and ignorant of the laws of the country. This is a remarkable record in one way, since the gypsies seem to be defying the progress of the ages.

Yet the gypsies, it is said, remain extremely proud of their race and their language and are sensitive to prejudice against them. With all due respect, however, we suggest they fall in step with the times and get with it, so to speak.

Though the gypsies have defied modern civilization successfully for many centuries, they are fighting a losing battle, are sure to lose out in the end, despite the predictions of gypsy fortune-tellers.

A move is underway to combine New Year's and Thanksgiving. Most of us are pretty thankful so we set the old year go.

Any day now squirrels will start storing up people for the winter.

Watch your step crossing a street—or a woman.

Too much enjoyment is just mental unemployment.

Rate Increase Upped By PSC

Two weeks ago we wrote that the "action" of Kentucky's Public Service Commission, acting on the rate increase application of General Telephone, was a

Remote Control

The hike in Morehead would be less than 25 cents a customer. Hardly had the ink dried under PSC (in an unusual, unpremeditated and hardly understood) statement that they had made an error and taken on only their approximate $125,000. Seems that accountants at PSC in Frankfort spent months on computations and failed to obtain answers that a school boy wouldn't have missed.

Anyway, your telephone bill (in Morehead) will be hiked effective January 1, 40 cents for a business phone, 35 cents for a rural business phone, and 30 cents for a residence phone.

We doubt if the increase is excessive. In view of rising costs in materials and personnel the telephone company probably deserves it. But we think PSC ought to be a little more diligent before issuing an order affecting practically all the telephone users in Northeastern Kentucky.

We're confident it was an honest mistake. We hope you can realize it has been in for much public criticism through the press, and in the end many of us desire the old cry of "under the thumb" maneuvering" by Kentucky's Public Service Commission.

Koreans Prepare A Christmas Dinner (Korean Style) For Haggan Family In Morehead

A real Korean Christmas dinner was prepared for the Haggan family in Morehead last night. The dinner was prepared by the six Korean students attending Morehead State College. The dinner was a real Christmas dinner, with all the trimmings, and the four collegiate Korean girls and the two Korean boys who attended the dinner prepared the feast for the Haggan family. Albert Sidney Johnston's Life Exciting, Colorful Albert Sidney Johnston was born Feb. 18, 1802 in Washington, Mason County, Ky., son of Dr. John Johnston, who had married Elizabeth, daughter of John Winfield Scott, in 1785. Albert Sidney was the youngest of a large and prominent family. His brothers were successful in business affairs as well as in politics. In youth he was noted for courage, enterprise, generosity and was liked by the young and old. While a student at Transylvania University, a schoolmate said "The was a cadet at West Point by his brother, J. S. Johnston then a member of congress. He graduated in 1826. 7th in his class, though standing 2nd in mathematics. Declining a temporary appointment on the staff of Maj. Gen. Winfield Scott, he selected the infantry as his field of service, his ambition being to win his way by deeds.

He was stationed at Jefferson Barracks near St. Louis in 1828, he met Miss Henrietta Preston, a daughter of Maj. William Clark of Louisville, who was visiting her uncle, William Clark, then commanding the frontier and the two were married.

He first joined the 2nd Infantry, but was transferred to the 6th Regiment of which he became adjutant and served through the Mexican War in 1832 and 1833. He was complimented at the battle of the Buena Vista. In 1834 he was appointed Governor of Illinois a commission as Colonel of the State by Governor Davis and General Sherman Lincoln were both engaged in this war.

On account of his wife's health, he resigned his commission in 1835. Her death in 1836, however, did not prevent him from sympathizing with Texas in her struggle for independence. He returned to the army as a major in February, 1837, and rose in less than a year to the chief command of the 2nd Cavalry. He was involved in a duel with Gen. Felix Smith in 1839, in which he was dangerously wounded. Gen. Houston, regretted his action and he was sent to Gen. Taylor and speaking of him freely as the bravest man he ever saw in 1839.

He was promoted to major and then to lieutenant colonel. He was appointed Secretary of War of the Republic of Texas. He was general of the Texas army and by his foresight and promptness prevented a Mexican invasion and crushed the rebellion of the Cherokee Indians who had been stirred up by Mexico. He was killed at the battle of San Jacinto, which closed the war and Gen. Bullock's army of 1,000 soldiers bravely acknowledged his obligation to his official chief.

At the outbreak of hostilities in 1846 he was elected Colonel of the 1st Texas infantry which was sent to serve in three months. Gen. Taylor assigned him as Inspector General of the army. At the battle of Monterrey when Mitchell's Ohio regiment, on the attack of the Mexican field officers fell into confusion, Gen. Johnston rallied and reformed the line and then assumed the charge of the Mexican Land-catchers.

In 1849 Gen. Taylor appointed him paymaster in the army which office he filled five years in Texas frontier in 1853. Gen. Pierce appointed him Colonel of the 2nd Cavalry then first organized by General Robert E. Lee, made Lt. Colonel. He commanded the department of Texas until the outbreak of the Mexican War. His conduct won the approval of the government and the people.

He was assigned to the department of California, during which service, the success of the Southern States occurred. Gen. Johnston was not a secessionist, but he felt it his duty to stand with his state and people. When Texas seceded he sent his resignation to the government in Washington and was relieved by Col. Sumner when his resignation was accepted.

In September, 1861 he reached Richmond and was assigned the command of the 2nd Cavalry of the Atlantic States, which was organized for the purpose of being sent to the front. An army had barely been levied, and immense preparations were being made by the United States. An sympathy as fatal as it was inconceivable had succeeded in the South after the first battle of Bull Run. Gen. Johnston's utmost indignation was expressed at the sight of the 2,000 offensive men to defend the line from the Cumberland River to the Mississippi River.

The disaster at Belmont Creek and the victory at Fishport were followed by the loss of Fort Henry and the Demolition of the fort. He was the only officer who was the successful retreat of the remnant of the Confederate army.

After the retreat of General Grant and indignation of a people left open to the invader was the result of the fight. The 2nd Cavalry reformed a prize fighting's trunk and weight eight pounds. The weight eight pounds. It is made of 12 feet of 22 gauge galvanized iron, with a water-resistant plastic layer, with an outer covering of nylon fabric.

It Wasn't White Christmas, But It Was A Dry One

That predicted "white Christmas" weather in this area. The fire towers were manned last Sunday by the result of the late weather. Sundays, holidays, or special birthdays mean nothing to the fire towers. The fire towers were manned in every case on the 7th, was able to retake what he had lost the day before.

RANGER'S COLUMN

A few days trip to the north of the falls in Virginia. A lot of you, we Northwest hunters, are out on a hunt. You are eating venison from the many deer that have been killed during the fall hunting season. The deer are being "bagged" in the area west of the Blue Ridge, which is one of our national forests.

The Rowan County fire guard post at the State Division of Forestry has not yet been filled. I haven't seen any of the deer that have been killed here. It is the state employment is having its effect here. Here's wishing you all a Happy and Prosperous New Year.

Everybody Trying To Tell Congress What Laws To Pass

Everybody these days seems to be pecking and hauling at the ears of Congress to solve all the vast problems for the poor lawmakers. So we might as well try to do it.

By this time it no longer is news, receiving attention as an important problem, but the fact is that the nation is facing serious high cost living, high taxes, high inflation, a severe depression, and a living standard which is a disgrace to our people.

What does all this have to do with you? Well, first and foremost, whatever this Congress does for you, or for all is going to hit you harder in the pocket-book—or, perhaps, leave you a little poorer than you are now.

Everyone should watch all the actions of the Republican Administration with a sharp memory of the campaign promises that were made. The GOP platform of 1948 was to do constructive things, it's our job as voters and taxpayers to perpetuate that platform.

TAXES. Are going to be reduced. But whether you and I benefit therefrom is another story. It is doubtful. Democrats were ready to let the excess-profits tax go, but the Republicans are determined to keep it. The excess-profits tax is a national sales tax. The Congress might easily allow the excess-profits tax to expire, and then enact and extend a sales tax that would be worse.

INFLATION. The Congress must decide by the end of April whether it will allow wage and price controls to expire, or whether they'll be extended. Same goes for the materials controls. Such an act would be a much strategic and critical measure.

1953 Will Be Greatest Television Year

David Saroff, chairman of the Board of the Radio Corporation of America, recently announced that the number of homes equipped with television had increased from 15,000,000 at the beginning of 1952, to nearly 21,000,000 at the end of the year. This increase amounts to a gain of about 40 per cent.

It is estimated that more than one-third of the population in this country is unable to receive television transmission. However, this situation is likely to be cleared up rapidly, said Mr. Saroff reported that, compared to 717 television stations on the air at the end of the year, construction permits have been granted to 135 others. It seems likely that, considering the number of new stations which are expected to go on the air this year, the sale of new television sets will increase over the remarkable figure of 1952.

In fact, the year 1953 will be the greatest television year yet realized, with the greatest number of stations and the greatest number of viewers. By December 31, 1953, it is likely that more than 25 million television sets will be outside the reception capabilities of present television transmission will be reduced to a very low figure. The year is expected to mark the end of the television drought in all large areas and make the country truly and thoroughly "televized" from coast to coast.

Farm Families In America Are Very Much Alike

More than half of the farm families in all sections of the country except the Northeast prefer a one-story house with a basement and two porches. This preference is made clear in a report based on rural housing surveys just issued by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

In general, American farm families are alike, with the difference in the kind of home they want.

The report compares results from the Northeastern, Southern, North Central, and Western areas of the nation surveyed by the Bureau of Human Nutrition and Home Economics in Cooperation with 34 State agricultural experiment stations. Homemakers of about 4,000 farm operator families in 42 states were interviewed about household activities and housing preferences. The statistics show which housing features are likely to suit farm families best.

In all regions, most families who prefer a house more than one story high want a bathroom and at least one bedroom on the first floor. Bedrooms also rank as first choice in rooms to be added, even if expansion of present quarters can be started.

A separate dining room, plus eating space in the kitchen, is almost universally desired. Seating space for more than the number in the family at table is desired. Bathrooms and kitchen is wanted since half the families in the Northeast, South, and West serve extra people at family meals as often as once a week.

It was found that more than 90 per cent of the farm homes preserve food for family use, most of them preferring to do this in the kitchen. However, almost 60 per cent of Southern women would rather use a porch for part of the work.

The fact that at least 90 per cent of the farm families interviewed do all or most of the family washing at home emphasized the need for laundry space. Most of the women like a basement area or work room for this, although one-third of the Southern women favor an outside building. And, except in the South, the kitchen is the preferred place for ironing, especially in the winter.

Sewing is an activity in which over three-fourths of farm women engage. A separate room for sewing is on the desired list for about half of the North Central, Northeastern, and Western women who sew. However, almost half of the Southern farm women would rather use a bedroom as a sewing room.

Farm products are prepared for market in the homes of about one-half of the families in the Northeast, North Central, and Western States, and one-third of those in the South, generally in the kitchen or basement.

Morehead Prices Are In Line

We've heard a little more criticism that the price of $1 and $1.25 for Morehead Colgate's home household goods are too high. We've done a little checking and find they are as low as at any store in the Ohio Valley Conference.

We have just received the price for the Morehead-Murray game which will be played at Morehead, The Rotary Club, sponsor of the game, has set the price at $1.50 each, and there's no children tickets.

We Thought The Game Wasn't For Girls

After dinner the Koreans sang Christmas carols in their native language.

The Korean girls are Ester S. Chun, Marian Lee, Chang Suk Oh and Kyung Sang Kim. The young men are Hyundun Choong Kim and Hogan Yoon. Besides Mr. and Mrs. Haggan, guests were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mitchell of Elsie, Michigan.

The Koreans stated as none of their native land only the "Koreans" are invited to a dinner—"while we prepared this Christmas dinner just like a family—we were invited to hear of the Korean young men speak at a civic club. If you are looking for a Korean to adopt any meeting—whether in Morehead or any place in Eastern Kentucky—we suggest you contact one of this group of the college public relations department.

The Koreans are a people of understanding of why we're fighting in Korea. You will realize that if you are truly megalomaniac you will tell me all of the world's news. The Koreans are living in Korea we hope that we could conduct ourself so admirably as do these Koreans attending Morehead College.

Barkley Will Remain Active; May Run For Office In Future

Vice President Alben W. Barkley doesn't plan to retire to his farm in Kentucky Jan. 20.

The 75-year-old Barkley's eyes don't brighten when he declares he expects to lead a busy life after he quits the vice presidency.

"My plans are indefinite," he says. "I have a lot of things in mind, but none of them has jelled yet."

"But I expect to be busy. I don't expect to die on the vine. I'm just as strong now as I have ever been, and I hope and believe that my mind is just as alert."

Barkley expects to do some writing, perhaps about his 40 years in the national capital, some lecturing, and a lot of traveling.

One of the world's most traveled men, he's hopped back and forth across the nation many times, has visited Europe often and only a few months ago toured the Korean battlefield and evacuation hospitals.

The man who made the term "veep" world-famous said he is in no hurry to plan his future.

"I've been approached about making radio and television appearances, perhaps weekly," he said in an interview, "but I haven't decided on anything definite."

Although he plans to spend a good deal of time at his farm home, "The Angles," near Paducah, he's not going to desert the Washington scene and will keep his apartment for a time.

Barkley said he has no political plans but would not shut the door on the possibility of his running again for the Senate or for the Kentucky governorship, the only political post he ever sought and failed to get.

"I'm not interested now in any appointive job," he said. "I'm not seeking one and don't expect to be offered any."

"Whatever activities, Barkley finally decides upon, one thing is certain.

"The Senate will lose one of its most colorful, beloved and feared figures when he surrenders the gavel to young Richard M. Nixon of California.

"In the House and Senate for 40 years, his eloquence and party steadfastness endeared him to friends and his rapier wit made opponents fear him in debate.

A close friend of Presidents Woodrow Wilson, Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry S. Truman, Barkley has been one of the leading voices of the Democratic party since first went to Congress in 1913.

"His political career reached a climax in Chicago last July when he stepped to the National Convention platform to launch off a violent 24-minute oration.

Barkley, at this convention, had withdrawn from the race for the Democratic presidential nomination of a group of what is called "self-anointed" labor leaders, said he was too old.

There was no trace of bitterness in his voice as he told the crowded hall he sought no office in which this convention, he said, "which this convention, he said, he doesn't like and pass up the things he does like."

Perhaps because he grew up in a Kentucky farm, Barkley's formula for health and vitality is "plenty of hard work." In recent years he has adopted a diet practical with his stocky figure.

This is simple but requires a strong will. It is to eat the things he doesn't like and pass up the things he does like."

Barkley served seven terms in the House before he was elected to the Senate in 1927.

Lespedeza Bicolor, Set In Rowan County Last Spring, Is Doing Remarkably Well

By John D. Alexander
The Lespedeza bicolor and multi-flora rose that was set in the county last spring did remarkably well considering the dry weather of last summer and fall. Last spring 200 conservation district operators set 35,000 Lespedeza bicolor and 19,300 roses. These wildlife plantings were furnished by the State Division of Fish and Game and were distributed by the local Soil Conservation Service.

The Lespedeza bicolor is used as a windbreak border and furnishes both food and shelter for quail. It will grow on poor soils as well as on the better soils and will also grow in the shade. One thousand plants will occupy one eighth acre of land and should furnish food and shelter for one covey of quail.

Multi-flora rose is often referred to as a "living fence." It is a thorny, thick growing rose that makes a fence that will turn stock in three to six years. It is used both as a wildlife border with bicolor Lespedeza and as a permanent fence. Wherever it grows, it not only makes a fine, practical fence, but also provides food, shelter and a travel way for many kinds of birds.

Some of the farmers that have been setting bicolor and multi-flora rose in Rowan County are: Y. W. Bailey, Gordon Lewis, Frank Lee, Oryville Caudill, Leland Hall and A. D. White. Harold Barber, district biologist of the State Division of Fish and Game, was in the county recently and said he had these plants available now and would like to have the requests for them as soon as possible. Farmers that are interested in them should write to the Soil Conservation office in the PMA building before the end of January.

FFA Holds Its First Social Of The Year

The Future Farmers of America held the first social of the year 1953 on Friday night, January 3. Several members no longer in school, but who are members of a "Young Farmer" class taught during night classes by the teacher of agriculture, Carl Simlar, were guests of the Rowan County Chapter at their annual holiday party.

Basketball and other games were played and delicious refreshments were served. Those attending were: James Hogge, Irvin Hogge, Rudolph Lewis, Sanford Bentley, James Harold Caudill, Myron Hogge, Donald Johnson, Denver Kinder, Clayton Lewis, Clinton Lewis, Emil McBrayer, Billy Pen, Garland Roe, Jimmy Sparlock, Kermit Burrows.

Others were: Glenn Brooks, Delmore Johnson, Robert Morehouse, Frederick Burrows, Douglas Cooper, Charles Egan, Jerry Eldridge, Robert Hall, Charles Hall, Earl Martt, Junior Seages, Jessie Stinson, Jr., Donald Gearhart, Jay Damm and Carl Sinclair, chapter adviser and teacher of vocational agriculture.

All interested Kentucky boys, eligible for admittance to the service academies, should immediately telegraph Senator Earle C. Clements, Senate Office Building, Washington, D. C., for detailed information regarding the scope and character, exact time and place of the Annapolis-West Point preliminary examination.

State Farm Production Is Climbing

Kentucky's nine institutional farms operated by the Department of Welfare and Mental Health produced food valued at $1,077,500 during the first 11 months of 1952.
A report issued this week by Charles M. Stagner, director of the Division of Agricultural Production in the Department of Welfare, the agency that supervises the farms, shows that the State Reformatory farm at La Grange showed production with $249,375 worth of food. Western State Hospital at Frankfort, Ky. was next with $166,917.
Included in the total production were vegetables valued at $149,512; milk worth $322,296 and meat worth $247,063. The value of food an acre was $133.80.

Woman's Intuition? Not This Time

All that talk about a woman's intuition can be disregarded.
Mrs. Nannie Higgins of the Washington community of Mason County, received a purse as a Christmas present from her husband. She took it back to the store and exchanged it, not because she didn't appreciate it, but because she had seen one she liked better.
When her husband heard of the exchange, he wasn't just disappointed, he was flabbergasted.

Inside the first purse, he told his wife, he had hidden a sizeable amount of money just in case the little lady wasn't satisfied with the original gift.
When Mrs. Higgins took the second purse back to the store the clerk was very cooperative. He found the original gift and Mrs. Higgins exchanged the exchanged article. The Christmas gift that wasn't exactly what she wanted became an extremely lucrative New Year's present.

MHS Farm Training Program Open To Veterans Of The Korean War, Sinclair Sets Out

Farm training classes at Morehead High School are open for veterans of the Korean War, announced in a letter from the school.

This announcement was made today by Carl W. Sinclair, teacher of vocational agriculture at Morehead High School, who supervises the institutional farm training program for veterans in Rowan County. Carl Sinclair, teacher of agriculture, and Clayton Turner and Herbert Webb, who teach the veterans farm training classes, carry out this program for the Rowan County Board of Education. The teacher of agriculture serves in supervising this program without additional pay or salary from any source. The assistant teachers of agriculture are paid from federal funds authorized by Congress for this purpose.

This special class is being offered by the Rowan County Board of Education at Morehead High School as a county program to carry out the act of 550 passed by Congress last year.

All Korean veterans, now farming and who expect to enroll Feb. 1 or March 1, will meet at the vocational agriculture room at Morehead High School, Friday night, 7 p. m., Jan. 3. All necessary documents and official forms must be secured, and turned in to the State Department of Education by Jan. 21, in order to enroll.

All veterans who are not disabled veterans must contact Carl Sinclair, teacher of agriculture, who may be contacted at Morehead High School from 8 a. m. until 3 p. m., each school day.

The disabled veterans who desire farm training must contact Mc Gearhart, veterans representative for this district, who will be at Morehead College each day.

A special committee composed of farmers, teachers, business men, veterans organization members and other professional workers in agriculture, will work at the request of the teacher of agriculture to review each farm program and application to see that it meets the requirements required by the Veterans Administration and the State Department of Education.

RETURNS TO STATES—Carl W. Sinclair, teacher of agriculture, who may be contacted at Morehead High School from 8 a. m. until 3 p. m., each school day.

Kentucky Market News Report 1952 Pig Crop Down 10 Per Cent; Feed Markets Are Weak, Most Slightly Lower

The 1952 pig crop total 91.8 million head, a decrease of 10 per cent from last year, the Bureau of Agricultural Economics reported this week. The spring pig crop was down nine per cent and the fall crop 11 per cent. The number of sows farrowing this fall was 12 per cent smaller than last year but the number of pigs saved per litter, at 8.1, is equal to the record high fall litter size in 1950. The fall pig crop at 33,350,000 is the smallest fall crop since 1948.

For the coming spring crop, reports on breeding intentions indicate a total of 7,395,000 sows in farrow, 13 per cent below the number farrowing last spring. Assuming a litter size of 6.50 the 10-year average of 6.29 with allowance for trend) this number of sows would indicate a pig crop of 48.0 million head in the spring of 1953. Such a crop would be 15 per cent smaller than last year.

Kentucky's 1952 pig crop totalled 1,688,000 head. This was 13 per cent smaller than last year and 400,000 head below the 1941-50 average. The number of sows expected to farrow next spring is 30 per cent below last year and 38 per cent below the 10-year average. The number of hogs over six months old on U. S. farms on December 1 this year was reported to be about 15 per cent below the number on December 1 last year.

Feed Markets Weak Most Slightly Lower

Feed markets continued weak with most prices slightly lower for the week ended December 23 reports to the U. S. Department of Agriculture indicate. Mixed meal markets firmed slightly in recent weeks but offerings below market prices remained mostly unchanged. Wheat milled markets were weak and prices declined to lower. Hominy feed declined about $2 per ton reflecting increased production. With a less active demand for large offerings of animal protein feeds, prices declined around $5 per ton. Alfalfa meal prices were about unchanged with reduced offerings. The index of wholesale feedstuff prices declined 2.3 points to 254.2 compared with 274.6 a year ago. The feed grain index declined 2.1 points to 229.9 compared with 271.8 a year earlier.

Milk Prices Slightly Lower

The milk dealers buying price for class 1 milk of 3.5 per cent butterfat in more than 100 cwt. bulk in December was $2.66 per hundredweight. This price is four cents per hundredweight below the revised average class 1 for November, but it is 23 cents per hundredweight higher than in December last year. It is 60 cents per hundredweight above the 1942-50 average for December.

Retail prices for standard grade milk delivered to homes in 25 major cities early in December averaged 237 cents per quart. This is one-tenth cent under the average price for this group of cities early in November. It is nine-tenths cent per quart higher than the average price in December 1951 and three and three-tenths cents higher than the 1945-50 average price.

Egg Markets Showing Strength

Because of the Christmas holiday this is a limited report on prices received from several Kentucky markets. Price trends compared with those of the week ending December 17.

Commercially grown fryers or broilers 29-30c unchanged to 2c lower (including the Louisville market); heavy type hens 17-23c unchanged on most markets but 2c lower on a few and 2c higher on others; light and leg-horn hens 11-18c, mostly 13-15c; old roosters 10-14c, mostly up to 13c; young tom turkeys 23-28c, unchanged to 2c lower; young hens 35-40c, also unchanged to 2c lower; A large egg 43-48c with markets showing strength on short supplies; current 12-cents 38-46c, mostly 40-43c.

Premium cream unchanged at 56-58c. National butter markets were barely steady during the week ending December 26, as supplies of fresh and storage butter were burdensome and offered freely. Trading was largely limited to business of the first three days of the week due to the Christmas holiday. Thursday prices showed only moderate changes. Choice top grades were 4c lower to 5c higher and at New York all grades declined 1c.

Cattle Steady and Heifers Reported Sold

Cattle: Steers and heifers reported sold ranged up to $18.00 in the week ending December 26. This period with most top prices in the low and middle twenties. Receipts have dropped Numerous persons throughout the county have volunteered to assist in receiving pledges, according to Mrs. Leonard Joyce, chairman of the blood program.

"Of the approximately 12,000 persons in Rowan County there are surely 100 capable of donating blood. Persons between the ages of 18 and 60 and in good health may donate as many as four times a year without ill effects. Persons under 21 must have written consent of parents. Eating anything containing fat or proteins during the four hours before giving blood will not be harmful to you as a donor, but will greatly lower the usefulness of the blood.

"Donors are encouraged to drink fruit and tomato juice or coffee without cream before donating. Fruit juice is served to donors just before they enter the donor room and a substantial refreshment is served to contributors during the 15 to 20 minutes waiting period after making the donation."

The year 1952 closed with record and manufacturers' sales, personal income, employment and other key economic factors above January, 1951, according to the Commerce Department.

MINERS

A total of 465,000 miners were killed in nine accidents during the first 10 months of 1952, according to the U. S. Bureau of Mines. There were 376 fatalities in bituminous mines and 89 in anthracite pits.

Master Plan For All Out War Formed

A master plan is being drafted for military production on a month-to-month scale in case of all-out war. Mobilization Director Henry H. Fowler said this week.

The civilian economy would be stripped to the "bare bones" so the nation could devote even more of its energies to war production than it did in World War II.

The plan calls among other things, for government construction and maintenance, where necessary of standby plants and machinery to remain idle until aggressors strike.

Business, Financial Outlook For 1953

Babson Believes Business To Be Good At Start Of Year, But Will Slacken; Thinks Volume Will Be Less Than 1952

By Roger W. Babson

1. Business will start the year 1953 in high gear. The pace will slacken, however, as the year unfolds, with total business volume for 1953 smaller than for 1952. The powerful supports of the Great Boom—construction and automobiles—will lose strength as the year advances.

2. Barring World War III, 1953 will find business operating under less government control than any year since outbreak of the Korean War. But don't expect removal of price controls to help profit margins.

Intense Competition Predicted

3. Salient economic features of the fact that our productive capacity has now been expanded to the point where, barring World War III, output can take care of both arms and civilian needs.

4. The handwriting is on the wall against inefficient operators. Their days are numbered. The successful businessman next year will be the one who can control his costs and stay out front in his market.

5. A strongly urge my business friends to get out and sell, and sell hard next year. But hire the best cost accountants you can for the back office. Order takers will find fewer jobs as 1953 moves along.

War And Peace

6. My forecasts for 1953 are made on the assumption that World War III will not strike during the year. However, I want to make it clear that "all bets are off" the day Stalin dies or retreats.

7. The H-bomb gives us another lease on time. Our first lease from Hiroshima in 1945 to the Russian A-bomb explosion in 1949, was frittered away in idle bickering. This time we will have another "breather." It may be our last chance.

8. 1953 will be most important in the struggle for World Peace. We will need more than an H-bomb to win this peace. We shall need a great rise of spiritual strength, which is not now evident.

No New Business Boom

9. The long business boom following World War II was beginning to run out of steam when the Korean War gave it a new lease on life. However, the stimulus of defense spending is all-international troubles, defense activity in 1953 will be a floor under, and not a new stimulus to, business activity.

10. Capital expansion will move into a readjustment phase sometime in 1953. This has been an outstanding economic force behind our long period of good times. Nevertheless, I do not now anticipate any sharp break in business—if—should—anticipate should be gradual, not steep.

11. Big credit expansion has been a powerful shot in the arm for business during the past two years. I predict that in 1953 loan repayments will become more important than new credit expansion. This could handicap overall business unless advertising expenditures are increased.

12. Under an Eisenhower Administration I do not look for expansion of our money supply as a result of increased deficit financing. Thus, another stimulus force will be absent next year despite the better confidence following the Eisenhower landslide.

More Conservatism In Govt.

13. Although General Eisenhower can far ahead of his ticket, there has been a considerable gain in the conservative complexion of Congress. The margin in favor of conservatism is not measured by the slight excess of Republicans in the House. It results from the fact that several Democrats can be counted in the conservative camp. The emphasis will be on purifying Bureau and Commissions.

14. Government departments will be at the service of the Republicans after January 20. Nevertheless, the conservative emphasis will be on purifying Bureau and Commissions.

Hang Onto Your Job

15. Unemployment will be no problem for the workers of the year. The demand for labor of 1953. The demand for and the supply of labor promise to hold in good balance. Later, however, unemployment will increase, reaching its highest point toward the end of the year.

16. While employment runs high during the first part of the year, strikes will continue to plague management. Unions, however, will be cautious so that they will not bring down on their heads the legislative wrath of a conservative Congress.

17. During the early months of 1953 amendments to the Taft-Hartley Act will be moderate. Great labor turmoil would surely result in severe restrictions on labor being read into the Act. All in all, I forecast a decline in strike totals for 1953.

Price Forecasts

18. Barring World War III and most raw materials, farm products, and manufacturing goods promises to be adequate during 1953. Even the so-called invisible importers in the hands of consumers are high as a result of heavy buying since the outbreak of the Korean War. I anticipate few shortages next year.

19. Do not forget that there is always a big "if" in the supply situation with regard to farm products. Severe drought could cause havoc. One is already long overdue. Scan closely weather reports from the nation's "bread

Special Feature Of This Newspaper

Through special arrangement with Publisher's Financial Bureau this newspaper reproduces the business and financial outlook for 1953 as seen by Roger W. Babson, recognized as one of the foremost analysts in this field in the nation. Mr. Babson has correctly prophesied many business conditions for many years.

war danger incomes acute.

29. State and local taxes may be increased moderately here and there during the year 1953. However, I do not look for total advances in such to be so great in 1953 as they were in 1952.

40. There will be no increase in capital-gains taxes during 1953 but read paragraph 46 below. Income taxes may be reduced.

Foreign Trade Outlook

41. Exports will fall again in 1953. The drop in imports will be much less than exports. The new Administration will be urged to promote foreign trade instead of foreign aid. Only by buying our neighbors' goods can we get them off the relief rolls. To save ourselves, I predict, we will buy more abroad, although this will be hard on some United States manufacturers.

42. I look for no change in the official United States buying price for gold. We won't monkey with the mint price of gold until the nation gets really "hard up."

Conclusion: Profits Progre, Stocks And Bonds

43. For the year as a whole I look for business profits to be slightly lower than in 1952. Earnings will be better during early months, with a decline occurring later in the year. Profit margins will be better than in 1952, from both domestic and foreign sources.

44. Recently unged wages, plus some additional 1953 boosts, will also put heavier cost pressure on profits.

45. Some companies that have been hard hit by excess-profits taxes will show improved earnings when the excess-profits tax expires June 30.

46. There will be a rubin under falling profits provided by the current very high tax rates. Profits will be heavier loss share the heavier loss. This very fact, however, will make it difficult for Congress to reduce the rate of taxation.

47. Stocks are high historically. We are approaching the end of a long period of property, much of which is based upon artificial means. Therefore, a reaction during 1953 I forecast lower stock prices than last year.

48. Yes, do not forget that the stock market was at about the same price point when President Hoover won by landslide in 1928. With business prospects good for early 1953, confidence might again cause a temporary boom. If an Eisenhower bull market develops, I strongly urge investors to take profits and build up reserves. Within 12 months after Hoover entered the White House the Industrial Average fell 400 points.

49. New Administration will not favor "soft money" policy. Therefore, some further rise in interest rates seems probable. For this reason, I favor high-grade, short-term bonds, rather than long-term.

50. Finally, Wise investors are taking no action unless prepared to follow a carefully planned and supervised investment program. The Kerstone of this program is will, in 1953 as in 1952, prove to be a policy of diversification and selectivity. Among those groups which offer safety and good yield are certain fire insurance stocks, bank stocks, variety chain store stocks, food processing companies, and telephone companies. Even these may fall unless our nation has a real spiritual awakening. This must include both you and me.

24. The trend of wholesale commodity prices will remain in a basic long-term downward. Look for temporary price recoveries in many groups during the early part of 1953, but do not let them fool you.

25. Unless more international troubles or drought strike hard, current costs should average some lower in 1953 than in 1952. Here, again, the tapering-off will occur late, not in the year.

Retail Trade

26. Overall trade in 1953 will be close to 1952 levels as far as physical volume is concerned, with a moderate decline in dollar totals. The most attractive merchandise investments showing: (1) Super-market groceries; (2) Variety chains; (3) Mail order stores; and (4) Department stores, excepting a few in the largest and most congested cities.

27. Demand for capital goods will hold strong during most of 1953. A definite slowing, however, will take place at some time, 1953 sales of consumer durables should about equal 1952's total sales, which were restricted by the steel strike.

28. Movement of soft goods during 1953 should be about the same as during 1952. Some fresh items of demand in the early months may be offset later by a renewed lull.

Real Estate

29. Barring World War III, rent controls will be a thing of the past in most areas by the end of 1953.

30. Home building will be less in 1953. Prices may weaken during the latter part of the year. Building costs should edge lower. Only small new houses will be in demand.

31. In my opinion, the cost of mortgage money will trend somewhat higher during 1953.

32. Construction of municipal and public works should rise moderately in 1953 as compared with 1952. This may be stepped up sharply late in the year if business falters. There may be a surplus of tax-free bonds.

33. A moderate slide-off in the sale of commercial farm properties can be expected. No bid break, however, seems likely in 1953. Fear of World War III, moreover, should help farm prices.

34. Population trend is away from the big cities. Fear of possible bombing and automobile overcrowding will continue as a drag on city realty values. Continued migration from the urban centers will help suburban properties.

35. For those who plan buying new homes in 1953, I strongly urge the purchase of acreage in suitable suburban areas. Surely, the H-bomb experiments should point the trend toward suburban life.

36. As public housing programs are far in the future, the new Congress will not promote such in 1953 unless the need for pump-priming becomes much greater.

Tax Esting Will Be Slight

37. Tax relief will come mostly from expiration of present laws rather than from a new enlightenment tax program. Barring further international problems, the current excess-profits tax will be permitted to expire at the end of June 1953.

38. If the need for new taxes continues high, after expiration of the excess-profits tax, the new Congress may consider additional excise or manufacturers' taxes. They may also serve to discourage consumer spending. If the

State Helps In Training 12,700 Vets

More than 12,700 veterans of World War II and the Korean conflict are receiving training under supervision of the State Division of Education for veterans, an arm of the State Department of Education's Vocational Education, it was announced this week by James L. Patton, director of the Vocational Education Division.

"We expect a still greater number when the second semester begins at the various schools, and as larger numbers come home from Korea," observed Patton.

Veterans participating in the programs draw a subsistence allowance of a few dollars up to $100 a month, depending on the type training and dependency status of each individual. Korean veterans receive the largest subsistence and pay their own tuition from the allowance received.

Veterans include—as of Nov. 30—3,359 in institutions of higher learning, 1,578 in courses below college level, 784 in on-the-job training, 5,723 in farm training programs and 1,322 in correspondence courses in various trades.

Included are 1,193 disabled veterans of World War II and 47 disabled veterans of the Korean conflict, 10,759 able-bodied veterans of World War II and 720 able-bodied Korean veterans.

Tax Cutting May Be Slow, Painful Job

Tax-cutting moves got off to a rapid start in the new Congress, but they face a long and perhaps stormy trip through the legislative mills.

A number of Republicans and Democrats called for tax relief of one kind or another. The emphasis, however, was on cutting government spending first. The key measure, providing for an 11 per cent reduction in income taxes for most persons starting June 30, came from Rep. Reed (R-N.Y.), who becomes chairman of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee.

Farmers Should Make Plans To Buy Baby Chicks

By Adrian M. Razor (Rowan County Agent)

This is about the time of the year that many folks should start making plans to buy baby chicks. The foundation of a successful poultry program is starting out with good well-bred, disease-free chicks. It is highly desirable that chicks be purchased from local approved hatcheries in order that they do not spend too much time in transit.

With chicks, as with other things we buy, cheapness in price may be the most expensive purchase, because if we get quality chicks, we will necessarily have to pay more for them. Do not buy these "bargain" chicks advertised on the radio since in doing so you are not only taking a chance on getting poor quality chicks but also you may infect your premises with one of the poultry diseases which can cause disaster.

Since sanitation is a must, in raising chicks, these bad days are a good time to clean out the brooding house in order to be ready for the chicks when they come. Sweep the ceiling and walls, sweep the floor with boiling water with one ounce of lye added to each gallon and then spray with a good disinfectant.

This should give the baby chicks a good clean place to start out which is very important. Those who are using thermostatically controlled brooders, check them right away to be sure that they are still operating correctly. If the brooder fails to operate the first day or so the chicks are put in the house, it can prove very costly. Plans for the homemade brooder or one of several other homemade type brooders are available and will be furnished free upon request.

If eggs are to be produced buy your chicks early so that the biggest number of eggs possible can be sold during the months of good egg prices. We recommend that chicks be placed in the house in December, January and February.
