Murder Suspect Apprehended

By JOE LAMB

A weekend drama that stirred the anger, fear and apprehension of residents of the county apparently ended Saturday night with the arrest of a 30-year-old Rowan County man for the brutal beating death of a young Morehead woman.

State police still have not released all the details of the arrest of Alexander Edward Bowling for the murder of Donna Jean Utterback Markwell, 20, of 303 Parkside Court, Morehead, whose body was found in the trunk of her 1979 Pontiac Grand Prix Friday about 12:30 p.m. on Nickells Branch Road.

A warrant for Bowling was issued about 9 p.m. Saturday after police had said earlier in the day they had no leads in the murder.

Lt. Herb Bowling, who was heading up the investigation, said Sunday a lot of questions were "still up in the air." He said it was not known if Bowling knew Mrs. Markwell personally or not and he did not elaborate on whether or not the suspect had a motive for the murder.

Saturday and Sunday Bowling was placed under armed guard at St. Claire Medical Center where he was being treated for an undisclosed ailment. About 4 p.m. Sunday, he was taken to the Fayette County Detention Center in Lexington "for medical attention and extra security," Lt. Bowling said.

Although he would not elaborate on why Bowling was hospitalized, Lt. Bowling said his condition is "not serious at all."

The suspect is being held without bond.

Lt. Bowling said there are no other suspects in the case at this time but he added quickly, "We're leaving everything wide open."

State police would not give any details about the evidence against Bowling, but the lieutenant said, "We're certain in our own minds we've got the right man or we wouldn't have made the arrest."

In addition, Lt. Bowling said, "People don't have anything else to fear."

According to police, the suspect has faced "a series of criminal charges over the past few years" and has served time before.

The hospitalization of Bowling was not directly related to his being charged, police said. He was "being looked at real strongly as a suspect before then," Lt. Bowling noted.

Incidentally, the suspect's birthday was Friday, according to police.

Police said that Mrs. Markwell was last seen alive about 8 p.m. Wednesday by a clerk when she went through a check-out lane at Roses department store in Trademore Shopping Center.

Her husband, Danny, had told police she went there to purchase some candy for Halloween. He last saw her about 7:30 p.m.

According to Lt. Bowling, the woman's husband and members of her family looked for her Wednesday evening before making a report to authorities about 7:30 a.m. Thursday.

Police then issued a bulletin alerting units to be on the lookout for Mrs. Markwell and her auto and noting the possibility of foul play. Lt. Bowling said information from the family indicated it was "very much out of character" for Mrs. Markwell not to return home on

Campbell Named Director Of State Police Division

A 39-year-old Morehead man has been named the new director of the Kentucky State Police division of security and compliance.

Marion D. Campbell, Sherwood Forest, will be reassigned from the Dry Ridge post where he served as commander. He has also been promoted to the rank of lieutenant colonel.

Campbell's move to Frankfort will bring the division under the command of a sworn state police officer. He succeeds Gregory L. Williamson, a civilian state police employee whose position as director of the division was terminated earlier this month. Until now, security and compliance was the only division not headed by a sworn officer. Acting State Police Commissioner A.D. Fortner said that putting a career state police officer in charge of the division would strengthen the command relationship between it and the other divisions and, "given Campbell's extensive experience both as a working trooper and state police commander, will promote its growth and development as a security and enforcement agency with special responsibilities to the people of Kentucky."

Campbell, 39, is a graduate of Eastern Kentucky University with a master's degree in public administration. He has been with the KSP since 1964, serving first as a trooper in Wolfe and Rowan counties with the Morehead post and later as a detective.

Prior to his assignment as post commander at Dry Ridge, he served as post commander at Harlan and as training commander at the police academy in Frankfort. He has also served as head of the special services division, the crime lab and other command-level, investigative posts in Frankfort.

The Nicholas County native and his wife, Glenna, a Bath County native, have lived in Morehead since 1966. Their son Michael, 18, is a freshman at Morehead State University. Mrs. Campbell is assistant professor of English at MSU. The family will continue to reside in Morehead.

The division of security and compliance was established within the state police last March to provide security coverage for all of the state's waterways, parks, enforce water safety laws and regulations on all of the state's waterways and maintain the safe flow of commercial carrier traffic on the highways.

It is also charged with the security of nearly all state-owned and leased property in Franklin County, including the State Capitol.

Mills Honored For 4-H Work

Paul Mills, Rowan County 4-H extension agent, has been honored for his 25 years of service by the National Association of Extension 4-H Agents meeting in their annual conference in Detroit.

Mills has worked with Cooperative Extension Service in nine counties since 1955. He has served as 4-H agent in Rowan County since 1967.

Here he has built 4-H enrollment from 150 to more than 1,200 youngsters, who participate in 36 programs. Mills has developed programs in veterinary science, horses, business enterprise and cooperatives, energy, and teen leadership. He has coordinated community clean-up projects and initiated a forestry field day last year.

The association noted that Mills has emphasized volunteer leadership in Rowan County and expanded the ranks of adult and teen leaders from 25 to 215 during the last 13 years.

Housing Authority Will Negotiate With Developer

The Morehead Housing Authority will meet Friday with representatives of a construction company to negotiate the price for the development of a 40-unit federal housing complex on the city's Divide Hill property, adjacent to the Carl Perkins Community Center.

The housing authority's Oct. 8 recommendation of Confederated Housing of Memphis, Tenn., was rejected by Housing and Urban Development because the grading system used by the architect to select it was not consistent with HUD guidelines.

Because of that, Coleman Construction Co. of Louisville is now apparently the best qualified bidder on the project. Coleman had a price of $1,287,326 compared to $1,325,436 for Confederated. The lowest of the six bids examined was $1,275,000 but portions of that bid were graded lower than the others by the architects, Wichman and Sallee.

The housing authority now will negotiate with Coleman for certain items in the bid package and for design modifications on its plans.

Housing Director Bill Patrick said that Coleman had agreed to complete the project in eight months after the start of construction. Confederated had asked for 12 months to complete the job.

Through the federal program, HUD will award the housing authority project notes to pay for the construction. When the "turn key" development is complete, the housing authority will then purchase it and will pay the city $65,000 for the property used on the project.

Patrick indicated all the details for the project could be ironed out as early as one month from now.

In other matters during a meeting Friday, the housing authority decided to advertise for 30 new ranges and 30 new refrigerators for Rawcell Heights

Second Meeting Set For KY 32 Sewer Line

A second meeting to discuss final cost figures, possible financing sources, and location of a sewer line along KY 32 in Rowan County will be held here on Wednesday, Nov. 5, at 7 p.m. in the new Carl Perkins Community Building.

A preliminary meeting was held last week and a "rough" cost estimate of $1,233,000 was suggested to construct the new sewer line from Trademore Center along KY 32 to serve the new Rowan County High School as well as 650 other possible users along the highway.

Gateway spokesman Ron Clark emphasized that the figure, "an educated guess," was based on costs other cities are currently experiencing. Clark said more exact figures would be available from Morehead City Engineer Albert McNeely.

All of those present at last week's meeting, including subdivision residents, city councilmen, and representatives of the Rowan Schools were in favor of running the new sewer line.

"The problem is that if we can't find some way of financing this line for public use," Superintendent John Brock said, "then the school will have to run the line itself, and the money for it will have to come out of funds set aside for classroom space. We don't want that."

Brock went on to explain that if the school runs a sewer line to the new high school from Trademore, by law it could not be used for anything else, not even for any future housing in the area.

Gateway Area Development District board member and school principal Marvin Moore pointed out that the Area Development Fund allocation for the city and county totals $125,000 for the current fiscal year and that the money could be used for the sewer project.

Brock said there was a time problem with letting the bids for the high school and urged those present at last week's meeting to make their decision at the earliest possible moment.

Moore and other local members of the Gateway Board — Larry Breeze, Mayor Crayton Jackson and Judge/Executive W.C. Flannery — had planned an informal session this morning to discuss the situation.

Tobacco Method Tested

A method of housing tobacco is being tested at Morehead State University that could prove to be beneficial to the one-man operation.

"This method is not for someone who has a lot of tobacco to put up," said Carl Masters, farm manager of MSU's

Derrickson Agricultural Complex. "But, for a one-man operation with about one or two acres of tobacco, this method is very effective and beneficial to the farmer."

The operation permits a farmer to cut his tobacco and hang it on scaffolds in the field until he is ready to house it.

The farmer then uses a front-end loader to lift the scaffolds and stack them in the barn, doing a job alone which normally would take three or four men to accomplish.

"This is a very innovative method in tobacco housing and is something new for us at the farm," added Masters. "I don't know of any farmers in Eastern Kentucky using this method, so we hope to inform them and get them interested."

The wooden scaffolds are 11 feet long, 56 inches wide and seven feet high and are capable of each holding 22 rails of tobacco depending on available barn space.

"We had a lot of tobacco here to put up this year and we needed some way to

Tobacco loader — Carl Masters, farm manager of Morehead State University's Derrickson Agricultural Complex, loads a scaffold of tobacco as part of a new method in housing tobacco being tested at the farm. The method makes it possible for one man to do the work of three in housing tobacco. MSU has approximately two acres of tobacco housed by the new method.

Five-County Loan Fund Is Approved By Gateway

OWINGSVILLE — The Gateway Area Development District Board of Directors last week approved preliminary efforts aimed at establishing a $750,000 revolving loan fund for business and industry in the five-county area.

"This gives us the authority to prepare the grant application for the Economic Development Administration," Gateway's Ron Clark said.

Rabies Clinic Set For Nov. 12

The Rowan County Health Department will conduct a rabies immunization clinic from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Wednesday, Nov. 12, at the rear of the Health Center.

The attending veterinarian will be Dr. Cheryl A. Caudill. There will be a $3.00 charge per animal for the rabies immunization plus additional charges for distemper, hepatitis, leptospirosis and para-influenza (DHPP).

All dogs are required to be vaccinated according to Kentucky law by the age of four months. The first vaccination lasts for one year. After the second vaccination, dogs should be vaccinated every three years. Dogs and cats may be vaccinated as early as three months of age. Cats may be vaccinated yearly.

Rabies is on the upswing in Kentucky for the third straight year, the health department reports. The number of reported cases this year has already exceeded the number of 138 reported cases in 1979 statewide. There have been two cases of rabies reported in Rowan County this year, one skunk and one dog, along with numerous cases in surrounding counties.

Pet animal rabies is virtually 100 percent preventable and every case of dog or cat rabies represents a failure on the part of the owner to have his pet properly vaccinated or a failure to control strays that are not vaccinated, health department says. The immunization of pets not only protects them but serves as a buffer between wildlife and humans. Wildlife and dog rabies is also a threat to cattle and livestock which hurts the economy of agriculture and related businesses.

Many hours of time spent investigating bites by animals could be prevented if all pets were vaccinated, the department says. And much anxiety could be alleviated to persons involved in bite incidents if this were the case.

In 1980 alone in this county 25 bite investigations were conducted, resulting in 37 dogs being quarantined, vaccinated and released. Several persons were also bitten by stray dogs, cats and other animals with one person receiving post-exposure rabies prophylaxis.

The following precautions should be observed to avoid exposure to a rabid animal:
- Never handle or adopt stray dogs, cats or wild animals.

- Avoid a wildlife that appears friendly or unafraid.
- Have all pets properly immunized.
- Seek medical attention immediately if bitten.
- If bitten notify the local Health Center of the bite so the animal can be observed or quarantined if necessary.
- Any wild animal or stray or unwanted animal that bites a person should be killed and its head submitted for examination.

The virus is now so well established in our animal populations that no Kentucky county can be considered free of the threat of rabies. Any warm blooded animal theoretically can contact rabies even if it is not normally considered a biting or vicious animal. Rabies is endemic to Kentucky, and without adequate control and prevention, it can periodically be expected to reach epidemic proportions.

Rabies in humans can be very expensive to treat, so every precaution should be taken to avoid exposure to a rabid animal.

For further information concerning the clinic call the Health Center, 784-8554.

Fall In Kentucky: An Ideal Time For A Walk

By HELEN PRICE STACY

"Yet ah, that summer should vanish with the rose!"

That our sweet-scented manuscript should pass.

No problem to the Nightingale who on sweet carpet sang

About an autumn flower that still grows!"

With no apologies to the Persian poet who wrote with such sensitivity but who knew nothing about Kentucky autumns, it is tantalizing to wonder what he would have written had he strolled the paths that wind through this "Eden of America!"

In the commonwealth the autumn rose still blooms, as do the lavender-blue hardy ageratum, the fuzzy fuchsia fringe of gerardia and calico asters.

A Kentucky autumn is for romantics, poets and dreamers as much as it is a time of reaping in of the golden harvest of field and garden. For those who go for the Midas touch, field after field of brilliant yellow tickseed sunflowers make roadside beauties and river and creek bottoms as pretty as impressionistic works of art.

Fall in Kentucky is a homespun splendor - A barbed sack hangs over a leaning gray fence post, both nudged by goldenrod that moves in the breeze with ballet grace. Sun gilds a rusty can with goldplate, a ragged rope with 24-karat softness and makes a common pot an objet d'art.

Kentucky's autumn carpet is, like an oriental rug, woven all the way through warp and woof of 31 different species of goldenrod, 28 different asters, plus dozens of thickseeds, sneezeweeds, coneflowers and small sunflowers. This makes golden threads for contrast to the brilliant reds, purples and oranges of other flowers.

With all the magnificence of a Kentucky autumn there is that haunting, longing, yearning melancholy that injects a sadness into the landscape.

Making changes in lifestyle, such as losing weight and giving up smoking, often can help the 16.2 percent of persons over 18 in Kentucky suffering from high blood pressure.

According to the Kentucky Department for Human Resources, the number of people who moved to Kentucky during the 1970s was greater than the number who left the state to live elsewhere. The 70s marked the first time in many decades that Kentucky experienced this "net-in" migration.

Cuddly Bears

Halloween doesn't always have to be frightening as these three bears prove. The bears, Cheryl and Paul Caudill and their seven-month-old son, Jonathan, were dressed up for a Halloween party last week for Rowan County foster children. ## New Waste Regulations Might Cause Problems

FRANKFORT, Ky. (UPI) — Industry representatives have voiced concerns that Kentucky's new hazardous-waste regulations would require them to print forms and placards different from those required by other states. That is a misinterpretation of the proposed permanent hazardous-waste regulatory program, according to Roger Blair, director of the state Division of Hazardous Material and Waste Management, which sponsored a public hearing on the matter Friday. The proposed regulations require generators of hazardous wastes to attach warning labels to containers. The regulations have the flexibility to allow industries to use forms of their own design if they are substantially equivalent to the recommended form, Blair said. He said he foresees no problems in allowing industries to design forms that can be used for interstate commerce. The manifest forms are designed to accompany every shipment of waste, he said. Every time the material changes hands the handler will keep a copy of the manifest, he explained. Then after the substance has reached its destination, the original manifest form will be mailed back to the originator of the material. If the originator does not receive his copy of the form within 35 days, he is to contact the transporter and begin an investigation. After 45 days of not knowing where the material is, the state Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection must be notified and given a complete report of the material's movement through the state. The suggested wording for labels on hazardous-materials containers says to notify the Kentucky Department for Natural Resources, Blair said, adding, "I am open to moderating our stance to allow a label that is general enough to be used by any state." In the event of an emergency, he said, the warning labels could say to contact the nearest police, public safety, state environmental protection authority or the federal Environmental Protection Agency.

Fad Diets May Hurt, Not Help Dieters

As books, magazine articles and advertisements constantly announce easy new ways to lose weight, diet plans seem as abundant as overweight Americans. But the "new" diets do little to help people lose weight permanently and may harm the dieter's health, according to Darlene Forester, Extension food and nutrition specialist in the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

Fad diets are cashing in on the feverish desire in this country to lose weight. Thirty percent or more of the American adult population is obese, said Forester, who is a registered dietician with a doctoral degree in nutrition.

But the would-be skinnies want to reduce quickly and easily, and so fall prey to the lure of fad diets, which promise immediate payoffs with little effort. The currently popular Scarsdale diet, for example, promotes a way to "lose 20 pounds in 10 to 14 days."

Dramatic weight loss is possible through fad diets, Forester said, but it is usually not permanent. Several pounds dropped in a short time — more than one to three pounds a week — is a result of water loss and will be regained quickly when the dieter resumes normal eating habits, she said.

Son Born

Dr. and Mrs. Charles H. Morgan Jr. of Morehead announce the birth of their second child, a son, Oct. 15 at 3:46 a.m.

Benjamin Charles weighed six pounds two ounces and was 18 inches long. He has a seven-year-old sister, Jennifer Susan.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Hein of Station Island, N.Y. and Mrs. Charles H. Morgan and the late Dr. Morgan of Gastonia, N.C.

In the Oct. 22 issue, this photograph of Dana Greenfield, was incorrectly identified. Greenfield was elected to serve a three-year term on the board of directors for the Wilderness Road Girl Scout Council.

she cited the Scarsdale diet, as an example of one recommending too little food — a mere 1,000 calories a day. "That's just too low," she said. "The minimum for women would be 1,200 calories a day, more for men."

Diets suggesting too few calories from only a few foods are nutritionally unsound and may be harmful, Forester said. "Most fad diets fall into the skip-a-nutrient category," she said, "since they drastically reduce or totally eliminate one of the essential food nutrients."

The ketogenic diets popular now, such as the Scarsdale Diet, the Mayo Clinic Diet, Dr. Atkin's Diet Revolution and Dr. Stillman's Quick Weight Loss Diet, are examples of potentially harmful diet plans, said Forester. They recommend high amounts of protein and fat, and little or no carbohydrates. "They are called ketogenic because they produce ketosis, a metabolic state similar to that experienced by diabetics," Forester said. "High fat produces ketone bodies in the blood, which may suppress appetite," she said. "But ketosis is an abnormal metabolic state."

The concentration of fat in the diet suggests it is questionable also because many foods high in fat are also high in cholesterol. Because the controversy about cholesterol is still unsettled, Forester recommends moderate intakes of fat and cholesterol.

Baby, Grandfather Share Birthday

Mr. and Mrs. Danny Knipp of Ashland are the parents of a son born Oct. 27 at 7:38 a.m. in the Kings Daughters Hospital in Ashland. Joseph Daniel Lawrence weighed 8 pounds 5 1/2 ounces and was 22 1/2 inches long.

He arrived on the birthday of his grandfather, Lawrence Knipp of Rt. 6, Morehead. At home is 5-year-old Brent Michael. Other grandparents are Mrs. Knipp and Mr. and Mrs. Baxter Osborne of Ashland.

Ann Landers

Copyright 1980

Field Enterprises, Inc. Field Newspaper Syndicate

Dear Ann Landers: I am not very good with English. This letter is from Bangkok, Thailand, so please excuse the mistakes.

My husband is a high paid executive in a big bank here. Because of his position he must do much night entertaining and traveling. When he returned from a trip recently, I discovered unused condoms in his bag. It shocked me. When he came home that evening, I confronted him with my discovery.

I cannot believe even now his explanation. He said the condoms were not his and that his colleague who shared his room on the trip must have left them in his toiletry bag by mistake. He further added that, if he were to be unfaithful, he would not be so careless about leaving the evidence around.

I decided to phone his colleague and ask him straight out. He confirmed that the condoms were his and that my husband was completely innocent. What is your opinion? I am not a woman of the world and I need your view to settle my mind. A Far Away Friend With Doubts.

Dear Friend: I am not up on the social mores of Thailand, but I can tell you that if an American woman telephoned the colleague of her husband and asked such a question she would be in big trouble. Problems of such intimate nature should be settled in the family.

You have already done more than enough checking. Now I hope you will accept your husband's word and never mention the subject again.

Dear Ann Landers: You (and the London Times writer) have gone on record as being opposed to the use of "Ms." So far I have not seen a letter defending the use of Ms. and I would like to submit mine. I hope, in the interest of evenhandedness, you will print it.

I prefer to be addressed as Ms. because: As a businesswoman I have received too many letters addressed to "Mr." "Miss," "Mrs." and "To Whom It May Concern." Also, "Hello, there."

As a 40-year-old currently single female, I haven't been "Miss" (or a long time. I wouldn't think of calling a 40-year-old businessman "Master."

I resent any title that indicates whether or not a woman is married. This is nobody's business. The only thing that counts: can she do the job? Minnesota Message

Dear Ms. Minnesota: Here's your message, and it's a good one. But please call me Ann.

Dear Ann Landers: Here's the situation: I'm a guy, 17. I have a younger brother, 14. We've always been close. I hug him a lot and even give him a brotherly kiss when I feel like it. The thing that bothers me is that my friends think I'm some kind of a weirdo. I'm no weirdo, and I'm NOT gay. I just happen to love my brother.

I wanted to use your column to ask if there is anything wrong with brothers showing affection for each other. What do you say? Bob Brother.

Dear Brother: I say it's great. In many European countries it is not uncommon for male friends to greet one another with hugs and sometimes a kiss on each cheek.

These days when "Man's inhumanity to man makes countless millions mourn," any expression of affection is a joy to behold. Keep it up, fella, and if you get any flak, ignore it.

Buchanan On Federation

Reuel Buchanan, director of the Morehead Recreation and Tourism Commission, has been named a member of the first fully elected board of the Kentucky Tourism and Hospitality Federation.

The federation was formed about a year ago to promote the hospitality industry and represents tourism and convention related associations around the state.

Buchanan had been serving as a member of the federation prior to the recent election.

Kentucky Briefs

PADUCAH, Ky. (UPI) — An assistant attorney general has been named as special prosecutor to make an independent check of misconduct charges against the Paducah police. Internal probes have cleared the department of claims funds were misused and that in at least one case, a policeman may have been paid to administer a beating. Ray Larson of Frankfort is the special prosecutor.

SAE fraternity came up with this ingenious way to display their banner during Saturday's Morehead State-Western Kentucky football game which ABC telecasted regionally.

Letters To The Editor

The Editor: On Friday night (Oct. 24) I was the recipient of the athletic Hall of Fame award at Morehead State University. I traveled by plane from Murray to attend the banquet at the request of Wally Howard of the Alumni Association. I felt the award was important and one that necessitated my being in attendance despite the distance of the weather.

As I returned to Murray following the banquet, many thoughts passed through my mind. As I stated at the presentation, "I have never apologized to anyone for the education I received," and have always been well prepared for the vocation I chose and studied for at Morehead State. There are many positive areas at the University and the number one is the people.

When I chose to attend Morehead and left Ohio for the first time, I was unsure of my future. I was fortunate to have been awarded a scholarship from Coach Penny and have always been thankful for the chance he gave me. I had outstanding coaching at the University and I was constantly studying each coach for the day I would be able to practice my philosophy and planning. One man, Coach Earl Bentley, taught me more about football and working with people than any man I've ever met. Along with Bill Mack, they had much to do with my remaining at school and overcoming my homesickness. I decided to stay in school and several times I was fortunate to have people take time and talk with me and discuss my problems.

I found in the community many nice people, too many to mention, whose friendliness was more than anyone could expect. Dr. Jake Smith and his family practically raised me during my four years and have a home away from home. So many people were so friendly and helpful and only wanted to see people succeed. My friendships with the Smith and Bentley families along with many others, have grown in the past 18 years. When we played Morehead State this fall I tried to contact many people who made my past so helpful. One of the first calls was to Dr. Wilhelm Exelbirt, a former teacher. He was very happy I called and I told him how much I respected him and what he meant to me. At the banquet it was so good to see Coach Laughlin and Dr. Playforth; people who were instrumental in my feeling at home in the 1960's.

I always respected the leadership of our school in Dr. Adron Doran and I was proud to be one of his students. He was proud to be the image of first class and he exemplified the image at all times. To me, you will always be as good as you think you are. In closing, there is no way that I can totally ever repay the individuals that made my stay at Morehead both warm and informative. The Coach Bentleys and Dr. Smith's and all the people that went out of their way to help me will always be in my thoughts and prayers. I only hope that in my coaching career same in order to do justice to the children who cannot speak out for themselves.

I hope the Lord richly blesses the people and, once again, thanks.

Sincerely, Mike Gottfried Head Football Coach Murray State Racers

The Editor: I will send the following letter to every state and federal governmental agency, our governor, senators, and representatives. I would like to ask the help of every concerned parent to do the same in order to do justice to the children who cannot speak out for themselves.

"Sirs: I am a concerned parent, and I head (Rowan County), Kentucky, of Morehead (Rowan County), Kentucky, and I would like to know exactly what you are trying to do to our school system. We have had no budget cut after another, plus the passing of House Bill 44, besides which, we are already on the bottom of the list for dollars spent on education in the United States.

Rowan County has many government facilities - to name a few, Cave Run Lake, Daniel Boone National Forest, Interstate 64, Morehead State University, Morehead City Park, Rouburn Park, three low income housing developments and another one under construction (all of which bring children to our schools), Perkins Community Building, churches and other city and county buildings, and water and sewer works. We cannot collect the school tax on any of these properties, and we do not have enough industries to compensate for the property tax loss.

This is not even counting inflation, which hits the schools just as hard as anyone else. All other agencies can raise the taxes, except the schools, which always have to go to a vote of the people. I don't have to tell you that the tax will always be defeated, not because the people don't care, but because that is the only outlet they have to vent their frustrations about all the other taxes that have been levied on them.

"As an elected official, you should be aware of our problem and hopefully you will do something about it."

Sincerely, Sue Woodrow "Elliottville, Kentucky"

Local Poets Place In Contest

Several area residents were among winners from all over the United States and Canada in the KSPS Poetry Contest.

Winning first place in the "Through A Child's Eyes" category for elementary students was Niki Jones of Salt Lick. The poem was entitled "Song of the Hills."

Another first place award went to Nida E. Jones Ingram of Salt Lick. She wrote, "A Ballad of Two White Doves." The entry was in the Mountain Ballad division. Ingram also captured third place in the Ben Ray Memorial competition for a tribute to a teacher or teaching. That poem was titled "A Star To Hold."

Paul Salyers, Olive Hill and Jeanette Stone, Morehead, placed third in James Ray Johnson Memorial competition for Shakespearean sonnets. Salyers entry was "In Accord," Stone's, "I Remember Woods."

Stone also won second place in the perception division with "The Beauty of an April Day," and third in the Albert R. Evans Memorial competition for chinquapin sequence with "Silent Stones."

Jan M. Baldrige of Morehead placed third in the Jesse Stuart division with "Black Rocks."

To enter the contest next year, send a self-addressed stamped envelope after March to James Proctor, 505 Southland Blvd., Louisville, 40214.

Vikings Finish Season On A Losing Note To Fleming Co., 14-6

The proud Rowan County defense wasn't able to recapture a share of its last contest of 1980, but they can't be held responsible for the 14-6 loss to Fleming County.

In the end it was the offense which gave the Panthers several opportunities to score and the host team took advantage of the Rowan County gifts which came in the form of fumbles.

The Vikings were trying to defeat Fleming County for the first time since 1977 and at the same time total seven wins in a season for the second year in a row.

In a game which didn't mean anything for either team, other than a pride in the cross-county rivalry, the Vikings simply weren't able to capitalize on what few errors the Panther's made.

Fleming County fumbled away the ball on their first play from scrimmage right after the opening kick off.

The Vikings enjoyed excellent field position for their first possession of the contest, a first down on the Panther 36 yard line.

On the second play junior Bill Brock broke loose for a 11-yard gain, giving the Vikings a first down.

Rowan County then returned the favor to Fleming County by fumbling away the football on the next play.

Neither team could manage a score during the first 16 minutes.

Junior Lowell Thompson returned a punt 33 yards down the left sideline for the first touchdown of the game with 7:13 left in the second quarter.

A Chuck Davis pass attempt for two points sailed out of the endzone.

Fleming County responded with their only sustained drive of the afternoon, moving from their own 33 for a touchdown in just over four minutes.

Panther quarterback Tim Williams, facing a third and seven situation, passed to Curtis Jackson for a 18 yard gain and a first down on the Rowan County 45.

After two short runs by Bubby Lewis, Williams tossed again to Jackson, this time good for a 21 yard touchdown, ending the nine play drive.

The point after touchdown gave the Panthers a 7-6 lead.

Wrong Play Led To Key Fumble

The Vikings started the second half in bad shape and then made things worse.

With the line of scrimmage on the Viking five, the offense fumbled on a play that wasn't sent in from the bench.

Fleming County's Lewis didn't waste anytime getting into the endzone, scoring on the first play. The extra point attempt gave the Panthers a 14-6 lead.

Rowan County didn't allow any more points. In fact the defense came up with a great goal line stand when they kept the football on the line inside the five yard line in the third quarter.

But the Vikings quarterback didn't help his teams cause with three second half interceptions, out of four passing attempts.

Davis complained to the Viking coaches that the wind was playing havoc with his passing attack.

On the afternoon, Davis connected on two out of nine passes with a total of four interceptions for 12 yards.

Despite not starting for disciplinary reasons, Junior Marvin Adkins was the Vikings leading ground gainner with 46 yards in 11 attempts.

Brock, racked up 35 yards in 15 carries.

The Vikings gained just 107 yards on the ground.

Rowan County limited Fleming County's highly touted running back, Lewis, to just 39 yards on 17 carries.

Mike Ishmael gained 21 yards for Fleming County on 4 attempts. The Panthers totaled 70 yards on the ground.

Williams threw 13 passes, and connected on six for a total of 101 yards.

Most of the defense was made up of those catches and 95 yards.

Each team had nine first downs. Rowan had five rushing, one passing and three on penalties. Fleming had four rushing and five passing.

After the game Rowan County coach Ray Graham told his team they had played good solid defense, but they beat themselves by giving Fleming County the ball at the wrong time when they fumbled in their own backyard.

Most of the defense will be back next year. Two players who made significant contributions this season who will graduate are Randy Riddle and Darrell Glover. Glover led the team in interception.

The Vikings finished the season 6-4. Last year the Rowan County went 7-4, with two losses to Fleming County.

Greg Brown, age 12, raced down the sidelines 60 yards on this play Sunday afternoon for a touchdown.

Junior Bill Brock gained 35 yards Friday afternoon for the Rowan County Vikings on 15 carries.

No Surprises This Time As WKU Beats Eagles, 17-7

There were no surprises this time, unless you consider the fact that Morehead held the Western Kentucky scoreless for 34 minutes. Last year the Eagles surprised Western by defeating them 3-0 in their homecoming. The Hilltoppers were not going to lose two games in a row to Morehead. Western defeated MSU 17-7 in front of a regionally televised audience. The Eagles did hold the leading Ohio Valley Conference scoring team below their 25.3 average per game. Western entered the game averaging 143 yards worth of offense through the air, but only threw twice in the second half for minus two yards. For the game Western had just 22 yards in the air.

What the Hilltoppers didn't gain in the air, they made up on the ground. Troy Snardon led Western with 160 yards on 27 attempts and scored two touchdowns. Dorrin Hunter, didn't have a bad game for the Eagles, racking up 131 yards in 18 attempts. "It was a very physical football game, that's for sure," said Eagle coach Tom Lichtenberg. "Even I've got a headache. All week long I thought they were better off just lining up with two tight ends and running the ball. I was hoping they wouldn't do that. But they did in the second half and they were able to control the football. But they didn't shove it down our throats. Nobody did that."

Western opened the second half with a nice 80 yard play drive, with took just 4:04. Snardon carried six times during the drive including a sweep from six yards out for the games first touchdown. The Eagles responded with a touchdown drive on the next possession. MSU drove 90 yards in eight plays, highlighted by a 68 yard scamper by Hunter on a third and eight situation. Western broke the deadlock at the beginning of the fourth quarter with a 33 yard field goal. The Eagles had four more possessions, but never could manage a score. Lichtenberg tried a desperation move which failed late in the game.

Facing a fourth and 20 on their own 15, the Eagles tried a fake punt which didn't fool Western. It only took them two plays and 17 seconds to travel the 12 yards for another touchdown. Western is now 8-0 overall and 4-0 in the conference, while Morehead drops to 3-5 and 2-4 in the OVC.

Ken Hopkins, free safety for the Morehead State Eagles, came up with this interception to stop Western's first offensive drive Saturday afternoon. Morehead fell to Western, 17-7.

Analysis Of TV Coverage

For two frantic hours Saturday afternoon it seemed as if all the preparation which took place on the Morehead State campus last week for the ABC regional telecast was for nothing. An unexpected power surge about an hour before kickoff played havoc with a microwave dish used to transmit the signal to Lexington. As 3:50 p.m. rolled around viewers asked where he would be traveling to after the game. He replied, "Who would want to go anywhere after being in Morehead?" ABC used three cameras to cover the action on and off the field. One located on the top deck of the press box, one in the Alumni box at the top of the stands on the 50-yard line and a hand held camera which mostly focused on the two coaches, cheerleaders, the mascots, and pretty women in the stands. The remote camera was on the Western side of the field during the first half, spending a lot of time on Hilltopper coach Jimmy Frew. Tom Lichtenberg, the Eagle head coach was given a close-up just once during the first half.

Among banners shown was the SAE sign highlighted by colored balloons. ABC allows each school featured on football telecasts to air a brief spot of information about its university. Morehead's was aired first, as halftime began and Western's was shown toward the end of halftime.

Western's spot contained a personal message from WKU president Dr. Donald Zacharias about the value of higher education and the goals he hoped students would realize while attending college. Morehead's spot on the other hand contained an overload of visual and audio information. Simply too much crammed into the one minute package.

who tuned in expecting to receive the Morehead State-Western Kentucky cross-county rivalry. Fortunately the technicians were able to correct the problem and the first ever live television broadcast of an Eagle football game began with just over two minutes left in the first quarter. The announcers, Chris Lincoln and Len Grosscutt, gave viewers a brief rundown on the Ohio Valley Conference, the top teams and mentioned the fact that Murray State was ranked number one in the I-AA poll and Western was ranked fourth. Lincoln said, "It's great to be in Morehead and the Bluegrass state." Later in the second half Grosscutt may have laid it on a little too thick when

Vikings, Giants Get Junior League Victories

By KURT PICKERING Sports Staff Writer

The Giants wrapped up their second straight Morehead Junior League regular season title Sunday with a 14-0 victory over the Bengals at Viking Field. The Vikings, meanwhile, moved into a second-place tie with the Bengals at season's end by rolling over the Steelers 22-0.

Vikings 22
Steelers 0

The Vikings evened their record at 3-3 and collected their first win over someone other than the Bengals by throttling the Steelers in Sunday's opener. There also may have been a measure of revenge involved, since the Steelers outlasted the Vikings 14-8 in their first meeting this season.

Whatever the incentive, the final margin victory was the widest in an M.J.L. game this season. The winners picked up the only score they would need on their first possession, moving 69 yards in six plays, and took over at the touchdown from Denver stepped out with 2:45 left in the opening quarter. The Vikes added a controversial touchdown victory was the widest in their first play after a Steeler punt. Greg Brown raced 60 yards down the left sideline for a score. The left sideline, in this case, was the Steeler side. The entire Steeler staff protested staunchly that Brown stepped out of bounds inside the 25 yard line. The score stood, however, and Tony Trent added the conversion by making a sliding catch on both knees of a pass from Shannon Day.

The score stayed 14-0 until the last play of the game. The Vikings held the Steelers on downs and took over at the Steeler 32 with only enough time left for one play. Day used it to throw a pass to Keith Parent, who raced down the left sideline. He was hit by several Steeler tacklers near the 10 and appeared to be stopped, but he slid off the right side of the pile and scored with no time left. Trent added the conversion.

The Viking defense was at its best, allowing the Steelers only two first downs and just 41 yards total offense. Offensively, meanwhile, the winners rolled up nine first downs and 261 total yards.

The loss landed the Steelers, 1-5, in the cellar for 1980. For the Vikings, 3-3, the win apparently means they will appear in Thursday's Pee Wee Bowl with the Bengals by losing to the Vikings.

Giants 14
Bengals 0

The Bengals missed a sure berth as the Pee Wee Bowl by losing to the Giants. The top two M.J.L. teams are to play the Flemingsburg clubs, and the Bengals would have tied the Giants for first place if they had won. By losing, however, the Bengals fell into a second-place tie with the Vikings at 3-3.

An M.J.L. official had said before Sunday's twinning that such ties would be broken by a coin toss, but all four coaches expressed the opinion that head-to-head competition should be employed as a tiebreaker before a coin toss. After Sunday's action left the Bengals and Vikings tied, Bengal Coach Mike Price went a step further than expressing that opinion. "We will not play in the Pee Wee Bowl," Price announced. "The Vikings beat us twice this year and it wouldn't be fair to the boys for us to play in it because of a coin toss."

There was no lack of incentive for the Giant-Bengal game. For the Bengals, there was the matter of a share of first place and the Pee Wee Bowl. For the

Once On The Air, Telecast Went Smoothly

The script just spit out almanac type facts. It was obvious that the announcers did their homework. They referred to Dorrin Hunter as 'Mr. Everything' and he didn't let them down. On the play before the Eagles scored their only touchdown, Lincoln asked Grosscutt what he would call. Grosscutt said, "I'd roll out to the top of the screen and throw to the tight end," which is exactly what Don Reeves did. Morehead women who received close ups during the broadcast included, Gail Russell and Alison Hill. Each were shown twice.

Gail is a biology teacher at University Breckinridge and a former MSU cheerleader. Her husband, Don, does the play-by-play of Eagle games, over television, since he's not sure this week. He had a moment or Saturday evening and remarked over the air upon seeing his wife of the screen. "Now that's a fine looking woman on the TV."

Alison Hill is a sophomore from Bristol, England and a member of the Lady Eagles tennis team.

During the second half the roving camera spent most of the time on the Eagles side of the field, showing Lichtenberg pacing back and forth the sidelines.

Vicki Collins, a MSU cheerleader and 1980 Homecoming Queen, received a close up.

As the evening progressed ABC technical people were overheard complaining about the quality of the Jayne Stadium lights.

The lights weren't made for television. In fact, I'm not sure this stadium was made for football, one cameraman said.

The Viking defense had a lot to cheer about on this play early in the first quarter when Fleming County fumbled and Rowan County recovered on the Panther 36 yard-line. After a 11 yard pass play to Bill Brock, the Vikings returned the favor by fumbling the ball back to Fleming Co. The Panthers won the game, the last one of the season for both teams, 14-6. Fleming Co. finished the season 10-1, while the Vikings 1980 mark was 6-4.

Area Football Roundup Lewis Co. Drops Close Game To Mason Co.

By KURT PICKERING
Sports Staff Writer

Pikeville 15
Morgan County 20

The Lewis County Lions dropped a 22-21 decision to Mason County Friday night in Maysville in a game that paralleled a frustrating season.

The Lions started superbly and finished on crutches because of the Royals and during the overall campaign. This year, Lewis County won its first three games but then lost seven of its last eight games. Friday night, the Lions rolled up a 21-0 lead before losing.

Lewis County scored on its first two possessions, once on an 18-yard run by Charlie Thompson and the other on a four-yard pass from Ernie Robinson to Bob Poynter. Robinson, playing his last game as a Lion, kicked both extra points for a 14-0 edge.

The Lions added what appeared to be an insurance touchdown in the third period on a one-yard plunge by Terry Hughes. Again Robinson added the extra point, his 58th conversion in 63 attempts during a three-year career.

Mason County started its comeback later that same quarter, scoring on a 34-yard bomb from Allen Feldhaus to Ken Render. Feldhaus hit Tony Pollitt for a two-point conversion, making it 21-8.

The Royals scored twice in the fourth quarter to pull out the victory. The first came on a four-yard run by Jim Brogan. Feldhaus hit Pollitt again to close the deficit to 21-16. The final score came with just 20 seconds left on still another pass play. The combination again was Feldhaus to Render. On the conversion, a perfect pass from Feldhaus was dropped, but the Royals still came out a 22-21 winner.

Losing the three-touchdown lead left Lion Coach Bill Robinson wondering what his club has to do to get a good break. He felt they got plenty of bad ones. "On both of their touchdown passes," Robinson explained, "our defender slipped and fell down allowing the man Feldhaus was throwing to. There's no quicker way to cover a touchdown."

The victory was the second straight for the Royals, evening all three of their 1980 records. Overall, Mason County ends up 5-5. In the Eastern Kentucky Conference, the Royals finish fourth with a 3-3 mark. And in the subdistrict, Mason County's final record is 2-2.

The numbers are not so rosy for Lewis County. The Lions finish 4-7 overall, including one string of five straight losses. In the EKC, Lewis County tied two other teams for fifth at 1-5, and their subdistrict record winds up at 1-3.

Sammy Holbrook was the only Eaglet besides Battson in double figures with 10 points, while Magrane had nine before leaving. Elliott County's Steve Gillum led all scorers with 20.

The Eaglets, who divide their time between two leagues — the FHC and the Eastern Kentucky Conference — next see action tonight at 8 p.m. at Wetherby Gym against Magoffin County.

Grade School All-Stars End Season

By KURT PICKERING
Sports Staff Writer

The Rowan County Grade School League All Stars wrapped up their post-season action Thursday in Ashland, dropping an 16-12 overtime decision to Summit Middle School.

Head Coach Gary Gartin had understood that his all stars would play an all star team selected from Summit and Ashland-Cattlettsburg, after which the Rowan County freshmen Vikings would play their freshmen. Apparently there was a misunderstanding, however, and only Summit was on hand. Since the Rowan County all star roster was composed of eighth graders, Summit agreed to limit itself to eighth graders, as far as possible in the opener. The Summit coach told Gartin, however, that he would be playing two freshmen. The combined Summit team had a record of 2-4.

Meanwhile, the All Stars, now 2-1, had to try a new center. Troy Carter, who centered for Morehead during the HCSL season and had worked with Quarterback Cameron Kenney for three years, had dropped off the all star team.

Away from home, against a team that was physically bigger as well as older and at least two positions, missing half of the well-oiled combination that must handle the ball on every offensive play, Rowan County was ripe for a loss.

Actually, things got worse as the game went on; four players left the game with injuries. Jeff Cossity, Gyp Bowman, Steve Back and Joe Taylor were hobbled at one time or another. Only Back was able to return.

cluding a four-yard touchdown strike from Kenney to Back with just five seconds left in the half.

Rowan County succeeded in getting the ball back when Bill Muser covered the outside kick, but the All Stars had used all their time out during the scoring drive and were unable to get a play off before intermission.

Breck Drops Opening Basketball Game

University Breckinridge opened the 1980 basketball campaign Thursday night in Sandy Hook, dropping a 50-48 overtime decision to Elliott County. The loss made a short Foothills Conference Tournament for Breck, which came close to avenging a 66-42 setback in an identical situation last season.

The game was close most of the way, with ties of 20-20 and 44-44 marking the end of each half and Breck leading by two points at the end of the odd quarters. The only time either side moved to a lead of any significance was in the third quarter, when Breck snapped off a 12-2 spur in the first six minutes to go up by 10. When Forward Joe Magrane, Breck's big man at 6-5, was pulled with four fouls, though, Elliott County quickly began to chip away.

Magrane, the only starter left from last year's senior-dominated squad, was re-inserted to start the fourth quarter and Breck edged back out to a five-point lead, Magrane then fouled out, allowing the Lions to move ahead late.

Donnie Battson, the only Eaglet senior, picked up two of his team-high 12 points on a 15-footer with just a second left to send the game to overtime. The teams traded buckets through the extra period until, with Breck in possession and tied at 48 with 19 seconds left, the Eaglets committed a costly foul. Handy Flannery hit two free throws to wrap up the scoring.

Sammy Holbrook was the only Eaglet besides Battson in double figures with 10 points, while Magrane had nine before leaving. Elliott County's Steve Gillum led all scorers with 20.

The Eaglets, who divide their time between two leagues — the FHC and the Eastern Kentucky Conference — next see action tonight at 8 p.m. at Wetherby Gym against Magoffin County.

Summitt Regains Lead

The All Stars received the second half kickoff and drove into Rebel territory before Billy Ball picked off a pass at the 32 and returned it 10 yards. Three plays later, Summit, facing a third and two at midfield, went ahead 12-6 when Jeff Walden broke through the left side of the line and outran the secondary.

Rowan County came within inches of tying it again on its next possession. The All Stars moved the ball 48 yards to the Rebel six on a 13-play drive. On a fourth and goal situation, however, Kenney was forced to job a pass over several Rebel defenders and Back was unable to make a diving catch in the left corner of the end zone.

A holding call wiped out a run of some 60 yards by Bell on Summit's next series and forced the Rebels to punt. The ball spun off the side of the kicker's foot, though, traveling just five yards. A three-yard return put Rowan County in business at the Summit 25. Three plays and a pass interference call later, Kenney hit Back perfectly for a 14-yard game-tying touchdown. With 1:05 left, Rowan County was in a position to win with a conversion, but Kenney, rolling right, found no receivers and was stopped at the one.

Summit put the ball in play at the Rowan County 49 after another outside kick. The ball spun off the side of the kicker's foot, though, traveling just five yards. A three-yard return put Rowan County in business at the Summit 25. Three plays and a pass interference call later, Kenney hit Back perfectly for a 14-yard game-tying touchdown. NEW YORK (UPI) — Outfielder Claude Washington, one of the few offensive threats for the New York Mets, has notified the Players Association he intends to become a free agent and will be eligible for the Nov. 14 reentry draft.

Washington, the 4th major league player to declare for free agency, joins 19 other Mets — outfielder Jerry Morales and pitcher Ray Bruns — on the list.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Fred Lewis, president of the New York Road Runners Club, denied Friday that a network television contract has been signed for the city marathon next year, or that $12,000 had been earmarked for the 1980 winner.

Stars Stayed In It

Still, Rowan County stayed with the Rebel, even after Summit looked invincible early on.

After the kickoff, the Rebels put together a 14-play drive, the longest of the game by either side. Rowan County finally stopped it on downs, however, taking over at its own 38. The untaking over at its own 38. The untaking familiarity of the players involved with the center exchange became a factor instantly, though, on its first possession. Even the punt didn't come off when a high snap robbed the All Stars of their chance to kick. Summit took over on downs at the Rowan County 21.

Two quick penalties moved the ball back to the 41, but the Rebels moved in for the score in seven plays from there. The key play came when Tommy Bell ran for a first down at the five on a fourth and nine play. It was Bell, who scored from the two.

On the first play after the kickoff, Rowan County lost a fumble which was recovered by Andy Huston at the Rowan County 43. The All Star defense stopped the Rebels cold, however, allowing just one yard in four plays.

The Viking defense had a lot to cheer about on this play early in the first quarter when Fleming County fumbled and Rowan County recovered on the Panther 36 yard-line. After a 11 yard pass play to Bill Brock, the Vikings

Area Football Roundup Lewis Co. Drops Close Game To Mason Co.

Pikeville 15
Morgan County 20

The Lewis County Lions dropped a 22-21 decision to Mason County Friday night in Maysville in a game that paralleled a frustrating season.

The Lions started superbly and finished on crutches because of the Royals and during the overall campaign. This year, Lewis County won its first three games but then lost seven of its last eight games. Friday night, the Lions rolled up a 21-0 lead before losing.

Lewis County scored on its first two possessions, once on an 18-yard run by Charlie Thompson and the other on a four-yard pass from Ernie Robinson to Bob Poynter. Robinson, playing his last game as a Lion, kicked both extra points for a 6-0 edge.

The Lions added what appeared to be an insurance touchdown in the third period on a one-yard plunge by Terry Hughes. Again Robinson added the extra point, his 58th conversion in 63 attempts during a three-year career.

Mason County started its comeback later that same quarter, scoring on a 34-yard bomb from Allen Feldhaus to Ken Render. Feldhaus hit Tony Pollitt for a two-point conversion, making it 21-8.

The Royals scored twice in the fourth quarter to pull out the victory. The first came on a four-yard run by Jim Brogan. Feldhaus hit Pollitt again to close the deficit to 21-16. The final score came with just 20 seconds left on still another pass play. The combination again was Feldhaus to Render. On the conversion, a perfect pass from Feldhaus was dropped, but the Royals still came out a 22-21 winner.

Losing the three-touchdown lead left Lion Coach Bill Robinson wondering what his club has to do to get a good break. He felt they got plenty of bad ones. "On both of their touchdown passes," Robinson explained, "our defender slipped and fell down allowing the man Feldhaus was throwing to. There's no quicker way to cover a touchdown."

The victory was the second straight for the Royals, evening all three of their 1980 records. Overall, Mason County ends up 5-5. In the Eastern Kentucky Conference, the Royals finish fourth with a 3-3 mark. And in the subdistrict, Mason County's final record is 2-2.

The numbers are not so rosy for Lewis County. The Lions finish 4-7 overall, including one string of five straight losses. In the EKC, Lewis County tied two other teams for fifth at 1-5, and their subdistrict record winds up at 1-3.

The Pikeville Panthers wrapped up their district playoff berth Friday with a 25-20 win over Morgan County.

The Panthers spurred to an early 12-0 lead by capitalizing on Cougar mistakes and the lead seasawed between one and two touchdowns the rest of the way until Pikeville added two late scores.

Cougar Coach Bruce Herdman called the first two touchdowns giveaways. "One of our defensive backs slipped and that made it 6-0," he said. "On the second one, we had an interception. I don't know how it got off our man's fingers, but it did, and one of their players caught it and took off. You just can't give a team like Pikeville 12 points like that and hope to stay in it."

Pikeville led 24-12 at halftime, and the outcome was still up in the air late as halfway through the final frame. A fumble on a broken play gave the Panthers a break at that point, however, and they wound up scoring two quick touchdowns to wrap up the win.

The Cougars, 4-6 with the loss, picked up one touchdown on an option pass play covering some 60 yards from Tommy May to Terry Litteral. Both of the other scores came on quarterback snooks by Bill Allen.

Herdman said Allen was impressive in the loss. "Pikeville is just huge - they're the biggest high school team I've ever seen in my life - but Allen did a good job of getting the ball back. I don't know how he could see over their half the time."

Morgan County's final district record was 1-2, while the Cougars were in the Northeastern Kentucky Conference.

Afterward While the ROGSL All Stars were congratulating the Rebels after the game, it was pointed out along the Rowan County sideline that "there were a lot of clean white pants in there for them when the going got tough." The Summit Middle School listed only 12 players on its roster for the eighth grade game, possibly including the two freshmen known to be playing.

Gartin then told his players, "There's nothing to hang our heads about. You played a fine, fine game." His players, in impressively good spirits after such a tough loss, headed for the Rowan County bus. When they got there, they made a discovery. Someone had emptied the vehicle's fire extinguisher all over its interior. Apparently, they celebrated Halloween Thursday night in Boyd County.

RCHS Having 'Energy Adventure'

Energy doesn't just pop out of the walls. But where does it come from? How do we use it? why is it getting expensive?

This is the subject of a special traveling program at Rowan County High School, Nov. 10, called "Energy Adventure." The program has been developed and operated by Oak Ridge Associated Universities (ORAU). Production assistance was provided by Ashland Oil, Incorporated.

It features an array of unusual electronic teaching devices like a supply-demand see-saw to demonstrate economic principles, a hand pump to demonstrate energy concepts, and a walking, talking gas pump.

The teacher-demonstrator, Debbie Cagle, uses this equipment and other devices to describe past and present energy sources, methods of energy use, possible future sources of energy and the social, economic and environmental choices we face when we use energy. Ms. Cagle, who holds a BS degree from the Tennessee Tech, has had special training from ORAU about the complex subject of energy.

"Energy Adventure" visits a different high school each school day. The demonstration is presented in an assembly and is then followed by special classroom sessions adapted to the size, interests and grade level of the students. These sessions are designed to stimulate both science and non-science students into thinking about energy and the impact of science and technology on modern life. A similar demonstration/discussion program is available for city schools on request.

The "Energy Adventure" program is one of seven similar units appearing daily at high schools throughout the country. They are part of an extensive traveling exhibits program designed to bring the public a greater understanding of energy and its uses.

ORAU is a nonprofit education and research consortium of 50 Southern colleges and universities.

The program at Rowan County begins at 9 a.m. For more information contact Lloyd Dean, Counselor, Rowan County High, 704-9596.

PBL To Meet In Louisville

Some 2,500 students from a 12-state area are expected to attend the Southern Regional Leadership Conference of Future Business Leaders of America and Phi Beta Lambda to be held in Louisville Nov. 7-9.

The future business leaders will meet at the Galt House while Phi Beta Lambda, a post-secondary organization for business students, will convene at the Hyatt Regency Hotel for the three-day conference.

Three fires have occurred in the old governor's mansion, but only one resulted in serious damage. The first fire occurred during the term of Gov. Gabriel Slaughter. The mansion was almost destroyed in the second fire that occurred during the administration of Gov. William O. Bradley. It took three months to repair the damage. The third and last fire occurred during James McCreary's term, after the mansion had been vacated.

Food Dollar May Not Buy Enough Nutrition

Americans spend an average of $1.20 per person for food each year, but they may not be buying their money's worth in nutrition.

Americans have changed both where and how they spend their food dollars during the last 15 years. They are eating out more, and spending a greater part of the food budget at the restaurant than they did in 1965, said Dr. Eudeko Maruyama, Extension food and nutrition specialist in the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

Of weekly food expenditures, averaging $22 per person, $17 or 77 percent goes for groceries, and $6 or 27 percent for meals and snacks away from home, according to Maruyama. In 1965, Americans spent an average 17 percent of their food budgets for restaurant meals.

The groceries they bring home have changed as well. A recent USDA survey shows Americans are buying less milk, dairy products, breads and cereals, eggs, fats and oils, sugar and candy, and vegetables — especially potatoes. They are buying more beef, poultry, fish, fruits, soft drinks, desserts and alcohol, especially beer and wine.

The supermarket food dollar now consists of 38 cents for meat, poultry, fish and eggs; 20 cents for fruits and vegetables; 12 cents for dairy products; 12 cents for breads and cereals; 7 cents for sugar, candy, soft drinks and wine — 4 cents for beer and wine; and the remaining 7 cents for fats, oils and other foods.

Not all the changes in eating and buying habits have brought nutritional benefits. Studies continue to show people in this country are not as well nourished as they might be, said Maruyama. "Americans still consume too many calories, and too much fat, cholesterol, salt and alcohol."

Sugar and alcohol consumption has increased dramatically since 1965. Americans are drinking 38 percent more alcoholic beverages, mostly beer and wine. And although they buy less sugar and candy, they actually consume more sugar — largely in soft drinks, punches, and desserts, Maruyama said.

Use of soft drinks and desserts has jumped a whopping 155 percent in 15 years. Per capita consumption of soft drinks is now 33.8 gallons per year, and that amount contains 34.4 pounds of sugar, said Maruyama. "That is the equivalent of each American drinking a 12-ounce can of soda every day, and consuming more than three tablespoons of sugar in that 12-ounce can."

As Americans buy more beer, wine, soft drinks and desserts, they may short-change themselves on nutrition. "Alcohol and soft drinks provide calories, but few nutrients," Maruyama said. "Buying more of these takes away from money available for nutritious foods."

Eleven cents of every grocery dollar buys beer, wine, soft drinks or desserts, she said. She pointed out that money spent at the supermarket for beer and wine — 4 cents of every dollar — does not reflect how much people spend for alcohol. Most money for alcohol is spent at the liquor store and for drinks at bars and restaurants, she said.

"Does eating more meals out encourage people to spend available food money for high-calorie, low-nutrient food and drinks?" Not necessarily, said Maruyama.

"If people choose well, they can get nutritious meals when they eat out," she said. "Even the fast food places are becoming more nutrition-conscious, and are offering more vegetables and salad bars."

Sale Of White Corn Promoted

White corn has plenty of friends on both sides of the Caribbean Sea. Kentucky farmers want to grow it, and consumers in South and Central America are eager to buy the meal for use in their kitchens.

But marketing and supply problems have discouraged both domestic producers and foreign consumers in the past couple of years. And if something isn't done to correct those problems, trade specialists say, the markets could be lost forever.

That situation was the stimulus for a recent trip to Puerto Rico, Colombia, Venezuela and Mexico by three Kentucky Farm Bureau officials: The leader of the delegation, KFTB's chairman, Ray Mackey, hopes the tour will promote direct marketing of white corn and other grains between the Kentucky grain trade and buying agencies in those countries.

Such arrangements could allow for contract production of white corn by Kentucky farmers, at a price premium to justify switching from yellow corn or soybeans. At the same time, price and supply for the buyers could be guaranteed. That market stability for this important native foodstuff would be greeted enthusiastically by these far-off Kentucky farm customers, Mackey said.

In a report last week to the Kentucky Farm Bureau Board of Directors, Mackey said Kentucky produces about one-fourth of all the white corn grown in the U.S. It is used primarily in the production of native breads in South and Central America.

He said this year's white corn crop was reduced about one-half by the dry summer weather, leaving very little if any surplus to ship overseas. But in future years, production contracts, backed by delivery agreements negotiated by the Kentucky grain trade, could mean an additional $10 to $50 million in income for farmers, he said.

Mackey said the Farm Bureau delegation was given a hearty reception by industry and government officials at each stop. Populations are exploding in all four countries, and government incentives to increase farm production so far have failed to slow down the exodus of farmers from the countryside and into the cities.

"Venezuela alone could use all the white corn the Kentucky can produce," Mackey noted. "That country has an oil economy, and declining farm production. They want to buy our grain, and they've got the foreign exchange to pay for it."

Mackey said Farm Bureau will support efforts to promote the formation of a grain elevator export cooperative in the state. Such a co-op could amass white corn or other grains in shipload lots, move it to Gulf ports and sell it for shipment to the South or Central American region.

Major international grain companies are currently handling most of the trade in white corn to these areas, and Mackey said he hopes they continue their efforts.

"But we feel that our plans for more direct marketing will provide these people a higher quality product, since it would move through fewer steps along the way," he explained. "We could produce it for about a $1-a-bushel premium over yellow corn, or half the price differential that has existed this past year."

Letters To The Editor

The Editor:
On Friday night (Oct. 24) I was the recipient of the athletic Hall of Fame award at Morehead State University. I traveled by plane from Murray to attend the banquet at the request of Wally Howard of the Alumni Association. I felt the award was important and one that necessitated my being in attendance despite the distance or the weather.

As I returned to Murray following the banquet, many thoughts passed through my mind. As I stated at the presentation, "I have never apologized to anyone for the education I received, and have always been well prepared for the vocation I chose and studied for at Morehead State. There are many positive areas at the University and the number one is the people."

When I chose to attend Morehead and left Ohio for the first time, I was unsure of my future. I was fortunate to have been awarded a scholarship from Coach Penny and have always been thankful for the chance he gave me. I had outstanding coaching at the University and I was constantly studying each coach for the day I would be able to practice my philosophy and planning. One man, Coach Earl Bentley, taught me more about football and working with people than any man I've ever met. Along with Bill Mack, they had much to do with my remaining at school and overcoming my homesickness. I decided to stay in school and several times I was fortunate to have people take time and talk with me and discuss my problems.

I found in the community many nice people, too many to mention, whose friendliness was more than anyone could expect. Dr. Jake Smith and his family practically raised me during my four years and have a home away from home. So many people were so friendly and helpful and only wanted to see people succeed. My friendships with the Smith and Bentley families along with many others, have grown in the past 18 years.

When we contacted Morehead State this fall I tried to contact many people who made my past so helpful. One of the first calls was to Dr. Wilhelm Exebirt, a former teacher. He was very happy I called and I told him how much I respected him and what he meant to me. At the banquet it was so good to see Coach Laughlin and Dr. Playforth, people who were instrumental in my feeling at home in the 1960's.

I always respected the leadership of our school in Dr. Adron Doran and I was proud to be one of his students. He always carried the image of first class and he exemplified the image at all times. To me, you will always be as good as you think you are.

In closing, there is no way that I can totally ever repay the individuals that made my stay at Morehead both warm and informative. The Coach Bentleys and Dr. Smith's and all the people that went out of their way to help me will always be in my thoughts and prayers. I only hope that in my coaching career and life that I can touch people with a little bit of happiness and joy that was given me by the people of Morehead.

I hope the Lord richly blesses the people and, once again, thanks.

Sincerely,
Mike Gottfried

The Editor:
I will send the following letter to every state and federal governmental agency, our governor, senators, and representatives. I would like to ask the help of every concerned parent to do the same in order to do justice to our children who cannot speak out for themselves.

"Sirs:
I am a concerned parent of Morehead (Rowan County), Kentucky, and I would like to know exactly what you are trying to do to our school system. We have had one budget cut after another, plus the passing of House Bill 44, besides which, we are already on the bottom of the list for dollars spent on education in the United States.

Rowan County has many government facilities - to name a few, Cave Run Lake, Daniel Boone National Forest, Interstate 64, Morehead State University, Morehead City Park, Rodburn Park, three low income housing developments and another under construction (all of which bring children to our schools), Perkins Community Building, churches and other city and county buildings, water and sewer works. We cannot collect the school tax on any of these properties, and we do not have enough industries to compensate for the property tax loss.

"This is not even counting inflation, which hits the schools just as hard as any other else. All other agencies can raise the taxes, except the schools, which always have to go to a vote of the people. I don't have to tell you that the tax will always be defeated, not because the people don't care, but because that is the only outlet they have to vent their frustrations about all the other taxes that have been levied on them.

"As an elected official, you should be aware of our problem and hopefully you will do something about it."

Sincerely,
"Sue Woodrow

Local Poets Place In Contest

Several area residents were among winners from all over the United States and Canada in the KSPS Poetry Contest.

Winning first place in the "Through A Child's Eyes" category for elementary students was Niki Jones of Salt Lick. The poem was entitled "Song of the Hills."

Another first place award went to Nida E. Jones Ingram of Salt Lick. She wrote, "A Ballad of Two White Doves." The entry was in the Mountain Ballad division. Ingram also captured third place in the Ben Ray Memorial competition for a tribute to a teacher or teaching. That poem was titled "A Star To Hold."

Paul Salyers, Olive Hill and Jeanette Stone, Morehead, placed third in James Ray Johnson Memorial competition for Shakespearean sonnets. Salyers entry was "In Accord;" Stone's, "I Remember Woods."

Stone also won second place in the perception division with "The Beauty of an April Day" and third in the Albert R. Evans Memorial competition for children in sequence with "Silent Stones."

Jan M. Baldrige of Morehead placed third in the Jesse Stuart division with "Black Rocks."

To enter the contest next year, send a self-addressed stamped envelope after March to James Proctor, 505 Southland Blvd. Louisville, 40214.

According to the state police water safety division, the seven most common causes of boating accidents are having an engine too large for the craft; making high speed turns, overloading, riding on decks or gunwales, making large wakes, failing to have life jackets and fires from careless refueling.

Vikings Finish Season On A Losing Note To Fleming Co., 14-6

Junior Bill Brock gained 35 yards Friday afternoon for the Rowan County Vikings on 15 carries.

The proud Rowan County defense wasn't able to record a shutout in its last contest of 1980, but this can't be held responsible for the 14-6 loss to Fleming County.

In the end it was the offense which gave the Panthers several opportunities to score and the host team took advantage of the Rowan County gifts which came in the form of fumbles. The Vikings were trying to defeat Fleming County for the first time since 1977 and at the same time total seven wins in a season for the second year in a row.

In a game which didn't mean anything for either team, other than pride in the cross-county rivalry, the Vikings simply weren't able to capitalize on what few errors the Panthers made.

Fleming County fumbled away the ball on their first play from scrimmage right after the opening kick off. The Vikings enjoyed excellent field position for their first possession of the contest, a first down on the Panther 36 yard line.

On the second play Junior Bill Brock broke loose for a 15-yard gain, giving the Vikings a first down.

Rowan County then returned the favor to Fleming County by fumbling away the football on the next play.

Neither team could manage a score during the first 16 minutes. Junior Lowell Thompson returned a punt 36 yards down the left sideline for the first touchdown of the game with 7:13 left in the second quarter.

A Chuck Davis pass attempt for two points sailed out of the endzone. Fleming County responded with their only sustained drive of the afternoon, moving from their own 33 for a touchdown in just over four minutes.

Quarterback Tom Williams, facing a third and seven situation, passed to Curtis Jackson for a 18 yard gain and a first down on the Rowan County 45.

After two short runs by Bobby Lewis, Williams tossed again to Jackson, this time good for a 21 yard touchdown, ending the nine play drive. The point after touchdown gave the Panthers a 7-6 lead.

Wrong Play Led To Key Fumble

The Vikings started the second half in bad shape and then made things worse. With the line of scrimmage on the 50-yard line, the offense fumbled on a play that wasn't sent from the bench.

Fleming County's Lewis didn't waste anytime getting into the endzone, scoring on the first play. The extra point attempt gave the Panthers a 14-6 lead. Rowan County didn't allow any more points. In fact the defense came up with a great goal line stand when they kept Fleming County from scoring as the Panthers had the ball inside the five yard line in the third quarter.

But the Vikings quarterback didn't help his teams cause with three second half interceptions, out of four passing attempts. Davis complained to the Viking coaches that the wind was playing havoc with his passing attack.

On the afternoon, Davis connected on two out of nine passes with a total of four interceptions for 12 yards. Despite not starting for disciplinary reasons, junior Marvin Adkins was the Vikings leading ground gainer with 46 yards in 11 attempts.

Brock racked up 35 yards in 15 carries. The Vikings gained just 107 yards on the ground.

Rowan County limited Fleming County's highly touted running back, Lewis, to just 39 yards on 17 carries.

Mike Ishmael gained 21 yards for Fleming County on 4 attempts. The Panthers totaled 70 yards on the ground.

Williams threw 13 passes, and connected on six for a total of 101 yards. Jackson was responsible for five of those catches and 93 yards.

Each team had nine first downs. Rowan had five rushing, one passing and three on penalties. Fleming had four rushing and five passing.

After the game Rowan County coach Ray Graham told his team they had played good solid defense, but they beat themselves by giving Fleming County the ball at the wrong time when they fumbled in their own backyard.

Most of the defense will be back next year. Two players who made significant contributions this season who will graduate are Randy Riddle and Darrell Glover. Glover led the team in interceptions.

The Vikings finished the season 6-4. Last year the Rowan County went 7-4, with two losses to Fleming County.

Greg Brown, age 12, raced down the sidelines 60 yards on this play Sunday afternoon for a touchdown.

No Surprises This Time As WKU Beats Eagles, 17-7

There were no surprises this time, unless you consider the fact that Morehead held the Western Kentucky scoreless for 31 minutes. Last year the Eagles surprised Western by defeating them 3-0 in their Homecoming. The Hilltoppers were not going to lose two games in a row at Morehead. Western defeated MSU 17-7 in front of a regionally televised audience. The Eagles did hold the leading Ohio Valley Conference scoring team below their 25.9 average per game. Western entered the game averaging 143 yards worth of offense through the air, but only threw twice in the second half for minus two yards. For the game Western had just 22 yards in the air.

What the Hilltoppers didn't gain in the air, they made up on the ground. Troy Snardon led Western with 160 yards on 27 attempts and scored two touchdowns.

Dorron Hunter, didn't have a bad game for the Eagles, racking up 131 yards in 18 attempts. "It was a very physical football game, that's for sure," said Eagle coach Tom Lichtenberg. "Even I've got a headache. All week long I thought they were better off just lining up with two tight ends and running the ball. I was hoping they wouldn't do that. But they did in the second half and they were able to control the football. But they didn't shove it down our throats. Nobody did that."

Western opened the second half with a nice 80 yard fly drive, with took just 4:04. Snardon carried six times during a drive including a sweep from six yards out for the games first touchdown.

The Eagles responded with a touchdown drive on the next possession. MSU drove 90 yards in eight plays, highlighted by a 69 yard scamper by Hunter on a third and eight situation. Western broke the deadlock at the beginning of the fourth quarter with a 33 yard field goal.

The Eagles had four more possessions but never could manage a score. Lichtenberg tried a desperation drive which failed late in the game. Facing a fourth and 20 on their own 15, the Eagles tried a fake punt which didn't fool Western.

It only took them two plays and 17 seconds to travel the 12 yards for another touchdown. Western is now 8-0 overall and 4-0 in the conference, while Morehead drops to 3-5 and 2-4 in the OVC.

Ken Hopkins, free safety for the Morehead State Eagles, came up with this interception to stop Western's first offensive drive Saturday afternoon. Morehead fell to Western, 17-7.

Analysis Of TV Coverage

For two frantic hours Saturday afternoon, it seemed as if all the preparations which took place on the Morehead State campus last week for the ABC regional telecast was for nothing. An unexpected power surge about an hour before kickoff played havoc with a microwave dish used to transmit the signal to Lexington. As 3:50 p.m. rolled around viewers asked where he would be traveling after the game. He replied, "Who would want to go anywhere after being in Morehead?"

ABC used three cameras to cover the action on and off the field. One located on the top deck of the press box, one in the Alumni box at the top of the stands on the 50-yard line and a hand held camera which mostly focused on the two coaches, cheerleaders, the mascots, and pretty women in the stands. The remote camera was on the Western side of the field during the first half, spending a lot of time on Hilltopper coach Jimmy Feix. Tom Lichtenberg, the Eagle head coach was given a close-up just once during the first half.

Among banners shown was the SAE sign hoisted by colored ballons. The remote camera was on the Western side of the field during the first half, spending a lot of time on Hilltopper coach Jimmy Feix. Tom Lichtenberg, the Eagle head coach was given a close-up just once during the first half.

ABC allows each school featured on football telecasts to air a set spot of information about its university. Morehead's was aired first, as halftime began and Western's was shown toward the end of halftime.

Western's spot contained a personal message from WKU president Dr. Donald Zacharias about the value of higher education and the goals he hoped students would realize while attending college. Morehead's spot on the other hand contained an overload of visual and audio information. Simply too much crammed into the one minute package.

Once On The Air, Telecast Went Smoothly

Grosscut what he would call. Grosscut said, "I'd roll out to the top of the screen and throw to the light end," which is exactly what Don Reeves did. Morehead women who received close ups during the broadcast included Gail Russell and Alison Hill. Each were shown twice. Gall is a biology teacher at University Breckinridge and a former MSU cheerleader. Her husband, Don, does play-by-play of Eagle games over WMKY. He had a monitor Saturday evening and remarked over the air upon seeing his wife of the screen. "Now that's a fine looking woman on the TV."

Alison Hill is a sophomore from Bristol, England and a member of the Lady Eagles tennis team. During the second half the roving camera spent most of the time on the Eagles side of the field, showing Lichtenberg pacing back and forth the sidelines. Vicki Collins, a MSU cheerleader and 1980 Homecoming Queen, received a close-up. As the evening progressed ABC technical people were overheard complaining about the quality of the Jayne Stadium lights.

The lights weren't bright enough to permit close up shots from the press box cameras. When the camera zoomed in the depth of field was lost. "These lights weren't meant for television, in fact I'm not sure this stadium was made for football," one cameraman said.

Fortunately the technicians were able to correct the problem and the first ever live television broadcast of an Eagle football game began with just over two minutes left-in the first quarter.

The announcers, Chris Lincoln and Lee Grosscut, gave viewers a brief run down on the Ohio Valley Conference, the top teams and mentioned the fact that Murray State was ranked number one in the I-AA poll and Western was ranked fourth.

Lincoln said, "It's great to be in Morehead and the Bluegrass state." Later in the second half Grosscut may have laid it on a little too thick when

Vikings, Giants Get Junior League Victories

By KURT PICKERING
Sports Staff Writer

The Vikings wrapped up their second straight Morehead Junior League regular season title Sunday with a 14-0 victory over the Bengals at Viking Field. The Vikings, meanwhile, moved into a second-place tie with the Bengals at season's end by rolling over the Steelers 22-0.

Vikings 22
Steelers 0

The Vikings evened their record at 3-3 and collected their first win over someone other than the Bengals by throttling the Steelers in Sunday's opener. There also may have been a measure of revenge involved, since the Steelers outlasted the Vikings 14-8 in their first meeting this season.

Whatever the incentive, the final margin of victory was the widest in an MJL game this season. The winners picked up the only score they would need on their first possession, moving 69 yards in six plays. Don Wells scored the touchdown from seven yards out with 2:45 left in the opening quarter. The Vikes added a controversial touchdown with 2:12 left in the half. On their first play after a Steeler punt, Greg Brown raced 60 yards down the left sideline for a score. The left sideline, in this case, was the Steeler side-line, and the entire Steeler staff, protesting staunchly that Brown stepped out of bounds inside the 25 yard line. The score stood, however, and Tony Trent added the conversion by making a sliding catch on both knees of a pass from Shannon Day.

The score stayed 14-0 until the last play of the game. The Vikings held the Steeler on downs and took over at the Steeler 32 with only enough time left for one play. Day used it to throw a pass to Keith Parent, who raced down the left sideline. He was hit by several Steeler tacklers near the 10 and appeared to be stopped, but he slid off the right side of the pile and scored with no time left. Trent added the conversion.

The Viking defense was at its best, allowing the Steelers only two first downs and just 41 yards total offense. Offensively, meanwhile, the winners rolled up nine first downs and 261 total yards.

The loss landed the Steelers, 1-5, in the cellar for 1980. For the Vikings, 3-3, the win apparently means they will doubleheader against the top two teams from Flemingsburg.

Giants 14
Bengals 0

The Bengals must have a sure berth in the Pee Wee Bowl by losing to the Giants. The top two MJL teams are to play the Flemingsburg clubs, and the Bengals would have tied the Giants for first place if they had won. By losing, however, the Bengals fell into a second-place tie with the Vikings at 3-3.

An MJL official had said before Sunday's twinbill that such ties would be broken by a coin toss, but all four coaches expressed the opinion that head-to-head competition should be employed as a tiebreaker before a coin toss. After Sunday's action left the Bengals and Vikings tied, Bengal Coach Mike Fricke went a step farther than expressing that opinion.

"We will not play in the Pee Wee Bowl," Fricke announced. "The Vikings beat us twice this year and it wouldn't be fair to their boys for us to play in it because of a coin toss." There was no lack of incentive for the Giant-Bengal game. For the Bengals, there was the matter of a share of first place and the Pee Wee Bowl. For the Giants, now 5-3; it was both a chance to win first place outright and a chance to advance their only loss, a 6-0 overtime squeaker October 12.

The game figured to be a defensive classic along the lines of that earlier meeting. Not counting overtime scores, the Giant defense had not allowed a point all season and the Bengals had not allowed a point since their opener.

The game ran true to form early, with the Giants losing eight yards in total offense on their first two possessions while the Bengals gained only 12 on their first two series. Then, late in the first quarter, the Giants found a chink in the Bengal defense: susceptibility to the sweep.

The Giants used that chink to score their first touchdown, going 65 yards in six plays to paydirt. Three of the plays were sweeps and all got substantial yardage:kip Cramer led, Richard Lambert right, Cramer left again for 13 yards and a score with 1:07 left in the frame. Lambert was hit solidly shy of the goal line on the conversion but overpowered the tacklers to score with a foot to spare.

Mike Vice set up the Giants' insurance touchdown by recovering a Bengal fumble at the Giant 41. Coby Adams knicked up the score four plays and a penalty later, hooking up with Lambert for a 21-yard option-pass play.

Pee Wee Bowl Playoffs
Thursday's Pee Wee Bowl will put the Giants against Flemingsburg's first place club in one game and the Vikings against Flemingsburg's runnerup team. The order of the games has not yet been announced, but the first game of the doubleheader will get underway at 6:30 p.m. at Jayne Stadium. MJL action will continue Sunday.

Area Football Roundup Lewis Co. Drops Close Game To Mason Co.

Morgan County 20

The Lewis County Lions dropped a 22-21 decision to Mason County Friday night in a game that was a frustrating season. The Lions started superbly and finished on crutches both against the Royals and during the overall campaign. This year, Lewis County won its first three games but then lost seven of its last eight games; Friday night, the Lions rolled up a 21-0 lead before losing possessions, once on an 18-yard run by Charlie Thompson and the other on a four-yard pass from Ernie Robinson to Bob Foynter. Robinson, playing his last game as a Lion, kicked both extra points for a 14-0 edge.

The Lions added what appeared to be an insurance touchdown in the third period on a one-yard plunge by Terry Hughes. Again Robinson added the extra point, his 59th conversion in 63 attempts during a three-year career. Mason County started its comeback later that same quarter, scoring on a 54-yard bomb from Allen Feldhaus to Ken Rinder. Feldhaus hit Tony Politt for a two-point conversion, making it 21-8.

The Royals scored twice in the fourth quarter to pull out the victory. The first came on a four-yard run by Jim Brogan. Feldhaus hit Politt again to close the deficit at 21-16. The final score came with just 20 seconds left on still another pass play. The combination again was Feldhaus to Rinder. On the conversion, a perfect pass from Feldhaus was dropped, but the Royals still came out a 22-21 winner.

Losing the three-touchdown lead left Lion Coach Bill Robinson wondering what his club has to do to get a good break. He felt they got plenty of bad ones. "On both of your touchdown passes," Robinson explained, "our defender slipped and fell down covering the man Feldhaus was throwing to. There's no quicker way to allow a touchdown."

The victory was the second straight for the Royals, evening all three of their 1980 records. Overall, Mason County ends up 5-5 in the Eastern Kentucky Conference, the Royals finish fourth with a 3-3 mark. And in the subdistrict, Mason County's final record is 2-2.

The numbers are not rosy for Lewis County. The Lions finish 4-7 overall, including one string of five straight losses. In the EKCC, Lewis County tied two other teams for fifth at 1-5, and their subdistrict record winds up at 1-3.

The Pikeville Panthers wrapped up their district playoff berth Friday with a 45-20 win over Morgan County. The Panthers spurred to an early 12-0 lead by capitalizing on Cougar mistakes and the lead seasawed between one and two touchdowns the rest of the way until Pikeville added two late scores.

Cougar Coach Bruce Herdman called the first two touchdowns giveaways. "One of our defensive backs slipped and that made it 6-0," he said. "On the second one, we had an interception. I don't know how it got off our man's fingers, but it did, and one of our players caught it and took off. You can't give a team like Pikeville 12 points the third and fourth time, and the outcome was still up in the air as late as halfway through the final game. A fumble on a broken play gave the Panthers a break at that point, however, and they wound up scoring two quick touchdowns to wrap up the win."

The Cougars, 4-6 with the loss, picked up one touchdown on an option pass play covering some 60 yards from Tommy May to Terry Littler. Both of the other scores came on quarterback sneaks by Bill Allen.

Herdman said Allen was impressive in the loss. "Pikeville is just huge — they're the biggest high school team I've ever seen lineise — but Allen did a good job of getting the ball off. I don't know how he could see over them half the time."

Morgan County's final district record was 1-2, while the Cougars were 2-1 in the Northeastern Kentucky Conference.

Sports Briefs

NEW YORK (UPI) — Outfielder Claudell Washington, one of the few offensive threats for the New York Mets, has notified the Players Association he intends to become a free agent and will be eligible for the Nov. 14 reentry draft.

Washington, the 4th major league player to declare for free agency, joins two other Mets — outfielder Jerry Morales and pitcher Jay Burris — on the list.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Fred Lebow, president of the New York Road Runners Club, denied Friday that a network television contract has been signed for the city marathon next year, or that $12,000 had been earmarked for the 1980 winner.

The Viking defense had a lot to cheer about on this play early in the first quarter when Fleming County fumbled and Rowan County recovered on the Panther 36 yard line. After a 11 yard pass play to Bill Brock, the Vikings

Grade School All-Stars End Season

By KURT PICKERING
Sports Staff Writer

The Rowan County Grade School League All Stars wrapped up their post-season action Thursday in Ashland, dropping an 18-12 overtime decision to Summit Middle School.

Head Coach Gary Gartin had understood that his all stars would play an all star team selected from Summit and the Ashland-Cattlettsburg, after which the Rowan County freshmen Vikings would play their freshmen. Apparently there was a misunderstanding, however, and an all star team was on hand. Since the only Rowan County all star roster was composed of eighth graders, Summit agreed to limit itself to eighth graders as much as possible in the opener. The Summit coach told Gartin, however, that he would be playing two freshmen. The combined Summit team had a record of 2-6.

Meanwhile, the All Stars, Nov. 2-1, had to try a new center, Troy Carter, who centered for Morehead during the RCGSL season and had worked with Quarterback Cameron Kenney for three years, had dropped off the all star team.

Away from home, against a team that was physically bigger as well as older at least in two positions, missing half of the well-oiled combination that must handle the ball on every offensive play, Rowan County was ripe for a loss.

Actually, things got worse as the game went on; four players left the game with injuries — Jeff Cassley, Gyp Bowman, Steve Back and Joe Taylor were hobbled at one time or another. Only Back was able to return.

Stars Stayed In It

Still, Rowan County stayed with the Rebel, even after Summit looked invincible early on.

After the kickoff, the Rebels put together a 14-play drive, the longest of the game by either side. Rowan County finally stopped it on downs, however, taking over at its own 38. The unavailability of the players involved with the center exchange became a factor instantly, though. On its first possession, Rowan County was penalized twice, fumbled the ball twice, and ran only one play cleanly. It all added up to a fourth and long. Even the punt didn't come off when a high snap robbed the All Stars of their chance to kick. Summit took over on downs at the Rowan County 21.

Two quick penalties moved the ball back to the 41, but the Rebels made in for the score in seven plays from there. The key play came when Tommy Bell ran for a first down at the five on a fourth and nine play. It was Bell, who scored from the two.

On the first play after the kickoff, Rowan County lost a fumble which was recovered by Andy Huston at the Rowan County 43. The All Star defense stopped the Rebels cold, however, allowing just one yard in four plays.

That display seemed to inspire the offense, which took over on downs at the 42. Battling both Summit and the clock, the All Stars scored in just five plays. Four of them were passes, including a four-yard touchdown strike from Kenney to Back with just five seconds left in the half.

Summitt Regains Lead

The All Stars received the second half kickoff and drove into Rebel territory before Billy Ball picked off a pass at the 32 and returned it 10 yards. Three plays later, Summit, facing a third and two at midfield, went ahead 12-6 when Jeff Walden broke through the left side of the line and outran the secondary.

Rowan County came within inches of tying it again on its next possession. The All Stars moved the ball 48 yards to the Rebel six on a 13-play drive. On a fourth and goal situation, however, Kenney was forced to lob a pass over several Rebel defenders and Back was unable to make a diving catch in the left corner of the end zone.

A holding call wiped out a run of some 60 yards by Bell on Summit's next series and forced the Rebels to punt. The ball spun off the side of the kicker's foot, though, traveling just five yards. A three-yard return put Rowan County in business at the Summit 25. Three plays and a pass interference call later, Kenney hit Back perfectly for a 14-yard game-tying touchdown. With 1:05 left, Rowan County was in a position to win, with a conversion, but Kenney, rolling right, found no receivers and was stopped at the one.

Summit put the ball in play at the Rowan County 49 after another outside kick. On fourth down, Bill Kemp recovered a fumble at his 39 and nearly got away on the return, but was stopped short of midfield.

In the overtime, the Rebels won the coin toss and, wanting the last possession, gave the ball to the All Stars first. Tony Butery was decked for a two-yard loss, and the Rebel defense followed by forcing three straight passes to fall incomplete.

It was a game of almos, and Rowan returned the favor by fumbling the ball back to Fleming Co. The Panthers won the season 10-1, while the Vikings 1980 mark was 6-4.

Breck Drops Opening Basketball Game

University Breckinridge opened the 1980 basketball campaign Thursday night in Sandy Hook, dropping a 50-48 overtime decision to Elliott County. The overtime decision to Elliott County. The loss made it a short Foothills Conference Tournament for Breck, which came close to avenging a 60-42 setback in an identical situation last season.

The game was close most of the way, with ties of 20-20 and 44-44 marking the night in Sandy Hook, dropping a 50-48 overtime decision to Elliott County. The loss made it a short Foothills Conference Tournament for Breck, which came close to avenging a 60-42 setback in an identical situation last season.

Magrane, the only starter left from last year's senior-dominated squad, was re-inserted to start the fourth quarter and Breck edged back out to a five-point lead. Magrane then fouled out, allowing the Lions to move ahead late.

Donnie Battson, the only Egglest senior, picked up two of his team-high 12 points on a 35-footer with just a second left to send the game to overtime. The teams traded buckets through the extra period until, with Breck in possession and tied at 48 with 18 seconds left, the Egglests committed a costly foul. Randy Flannery hit two free throws to wrap up the scoring.

Sammy Holbrook was the only Egglest besides Battson in double figures with 10 points, while Magrane had nine before leaving. Elliott County's Steve Gilium led all scorers with 20.

The Egglests, who divide their time between two leagues — the FHC and the Eastern Kentucky Conference — next see action tonight at 8 p.m. at Wetherly Gym against Magoffin County.

Rowan County quarterback Chuck Davis, playing his final game as a Viking, takes a fourth quarter snap from junior center Greg Ramey Friday afternoon at Fleming County. The Vikings lost to the Panthers, 14-6.

Afterward

While the RCGSL All Stars were congratulating the Rebels after the game, it was pointed out along the Rowan County sideline that "there were a lot of clean white pants in there when the going got tough." The Summit Middle School listed only 12 players on its roster for the eighth grade game, possibly including the two freshmen known to be playing.

Gartin then told his players, "There's nothing to hang our heads about. You played a fine, fine game." His players, in impressively good spirits after such a tough loss, headed for the Rowan County bus. When they got there, they made a discovery.

Someone had emptied the vehicle's fire extinguisher all over its interior.

Apparently, they celebrated Halloween Thursday night in Boyd County.

RCHS Having 'Energy Adventure'

Energy doesn't just pop out of the walls. But where does it come from? How do we use it? why is it getting expensive?

This is the subject of a special traveling program at Rowan County High School, Nov. 10, called "Energy Adventure." The program has been developed and operated by Oak Ridge Associated Universities (ORAU). Production assistance was provided by Ashland Oil, Incorporated. It features an array of unusual electronic teaching devices like a supply-deman see-saw to demonstrate economic principles; a hand pump to demonstrate energy concepts; and a walking, talking gas pump.

The teacher-demonstrator, Debbie Cagle, uses this equipment and other devices to describe past and present energy sources, methods of energy use, possible future sources of energy and the social, economic and environmental choices we face when we use energy. Ms. Cagle, who holds a BS degree from the Tennessee Tech, has had special training from ORAU about the complex subject of energy.

"Energy Adventure" visits a different high school each school day. The demonstration is presented in an assembly and is then followed by special classroom sessions adapted to the size, interests and grade level of the students. These sessions are designed to stimulate both science and non-science students into thinking about energy and the impact of science and technology on modern life. A similar demonstration/discussion program is available for civic groups on request.

The "Energy Adventure" program is one of seven similar units appearing daily at high schools throughout the country. They are part of an extensive traveling exhibits program designed to bring the public a greater understanding of energy and its uses.

ORAU is a nonprofit education and research consortium of 50 Southern colleges and universities.

The program at Rowan County begins at 9 a.m. For more information contact Lloyd Dean, Counselor, Rowan County High, 784-8956.

PBL To Meet In Louisville

Some 2,500 students from a 12-state area are expected to attend the Southern Regional Leadership Conference of Future Business Leaders of America and Phi Beta Lambda to be held in Louisville Nov. 7-9.

The future business leaders will meet at the Galt House while Phi Beta Lambda, a post-secondary organization for business students, will convene at the Hyatt Regency Hotel for the three-day conference.

Three fires have occurred in the old governor's mansion, but only one resulted in serious damage. The first fire occurred during the term of Gov. Gabriel Slaughter. The mansion was almost destroyed in the second fire that occurred during the administration of Gov. William O. Bradley. It took three months to repair the damage. The third and last fire was during Gov. James McCreary's term, after the mansion had been vacated.

Americans spend an average of $1,200 per person for food each year, but they may not be buying their money's worth in nutrition.

Americans have changed both where and how they spend their food dollars during the last 15 years. They are eating out more and spending a greater share of the food budget at the restaurant than they did in 1965, said Dr. Fudeko Maruyama, Extension food and nutrition specialist in the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

Of weekly food expenditures, averaging $22 per person, $17 or 73 percent goes for groceries, and 27 percent for meals and snacks away from home, according to Maruyama. In 1965, Americans spent an average 17 percent of their food budgets for restaurant meals.

The groceries they bring home have changed as well. A recent USDA survey shows Americans are buying less milk, dairy products, breads and cereals, eggs, fats and oils, sugar and candy, and vegetables — especially potatoes. They are buying more beef, poultry, fish, nuts, fruit, soft drinks, desserts and alcohol, especially beer and wine.

The supermarket food dollar now consists of 36 cents for meat, poultry, fish and eggs; 20 cents for fruits and vegetables; 12 cents for dairy products; 12 cents for breads and cereals; 7 cents for sugar, candy, soft drinks and desserts; 4 cents for beer and wine; and the remaining 7 cents for fats, oils and other foods.

Not all the changes in eating and buying habits have brought nutritional benefits. Studies continue to show people in this country are not as well nourished as they might be, said Maruyama. "Americans still consume too many calories, and too much fat, cholesterol, salt and alcohol."

Sugar and alcohol consumption has increased dramatically since 1965. Americans are drinking 38 percent more alcoholic beverages, mostly beer and wine. And although they buy less sugar and candy, they actually consume more sugar — largely in soft drinks, punches and desserts, Maruyama said.

Use of soft drinks and desserts has jumped a whopping 15 percent in 15 years. Per capita consumption of soft drinks is now 33.8 gallons per year, and that amount contains 34.4 pounds of sugar, said Maruyama. "That is the equivalent of each American drinking a 12-ounce can of soda every day, and consuming more than three tablespoons of sugar in that 12-ounce can."

As Americans buy more beer, wine, soft drinks and desserts, they may short-change themselves on nutrition. "Alcohol and soft drinks provide calories, but few nutrients," Maruyama said. "Buying more of these takes away from money available for nutritious foods."

Eleven cents of every grocery dollar buys beer, wine, soft drinks or desserts, she said. She pointed out that money spent at the supermarket for beer and wine — 4 cents of every dollar — does not reflect how much people spend for alcohol. Most money for alcohol is spent at the liquor store and for drinks at bars and restaurants, she said.

Does eating more meals out encourage people to spend available food money for high-calorie, low-nutrient food and drinks? Not necessarily, said

Maruyama. "If people choose well, they can get nutritious meals when they eat out," she said. "Even the fast food places are becoming more 'nutrition-conscious, and are offering more vegetables and salad bars."

Sale Of White Corn Promoted

White corn has plenty of friends on both sides of the Caribbean Sea. Kentucky farmers want to grow it, and consumers in South and Central America are eager to buy the meal for use in their kitchens.

But marketing and supply problems have discouraged both domestic producers and foreign consumers in the past couple of years. And if something isn't done to correct those problems, trade specialists say, the markets could be lost forever.

That situation was the stimulus for a recent trip to Puerto Rico, Colombia, Venezuela and Mexico by three Kentucky Farm Bureau officials and leader of the delegation, KFB President Ray Mackey, hopes the tour will promote direct marketing of white corn and other grains between the Kentucky and buying agencies in those countries.

Such arrangements could allow for contract production of white corn by Kentucky farmers, at a price premium to justify switching from yellow corn or soybeans. At the same time, price and supply for the buyers could be guaranteed. That market stability for this important native foodstuff would be greeted enthusiastically by these far-off Kentucky farm customers, Mackey said.

In a report last week to the Kentucky Farm Bureau Board of Directors, Mackey said Kentucky produces about one-fourth of all the white corn grown in the U.S. It is used primarily in the production of native breads in South and Central America.

He said this year's white corn crop was reduced about one-half by the dry summer weather, leaving very little if any surplus to ship overseas. But in future years, production contracts, backed by delivery agreements negotiated by the Kentucky grain trade, could mean an additional $10 to $50 million in income for farmers, he said.

Mackey said the Farm Bureau delegation was given a hearty reception by industry and government officials at each stop. Populations are exploding in all four countries, and government incentives to increase farm production so far have failed to slow down the exodus of farmers from the countryside and into the cities.

"Venezuela alone could use all the white corn the Kentucky can produce," Mackey noted. "That country has an oil economy, and is declining farm production. They want to buy our grain, and they've got the foreign exchange to pay for it."

Mackey said Farm Bureau will support efforts to promote the formation of a grain elevator export cooperative in the state. Such a co-op could amass white corn or other grains in shipload lots, move it to ports and sell it for shipment to the South or Central American region.

Major international grain companies are currently handling most of the trade in white corn to these areas, and Mackey said he hopes they continue their efforts.

"But we feel that our plans for more direct marketing will provide these people a higher quality product, since it would move through fewer stops along the way," he explained. "We could produce it for about a $14-bushel premium over yellow corn, or half the price differential that has existed this past year."

Murder Suspect

 Time
 Police, along with members of the woman's family and friends, searched all over the county for her car before it was finally found Friday afternoon parked off Nickells Branch Road by a family friend, Jeffery Doug Morgan. Lt. Bowling said that location was just one of many areas in the county searched.
 The suspect was said to live in the area near where the car was discovered.
 State police said Mrs. Markwell apparently was "severely beaten" with some sort of blunt instrument. Coroner Jim Barker said the preliminary autopsy report showed the cause of death was "multiple blunt traumatic injuries to the head."
 Lt. Bowling said a murder weapon has not been located.
 Barker said the woman had marks of defensive wounds on both hands, wounds to her chest and wounds to both knees.
 The coroner said there "didn't appear" to be any evidence that Mrs. Markwell had been sexually assaulted, although he admitted the autopsy tests were inconclusive.
 Barker also said there was evidence that Mrs. Markwell had struggled with her assailant, but he declined to be specific about that.
 The trunk to the car was locked and the keys were in the car, according to

Lt. Bowling Barker said that was some blood underneath the trunk of the auto.
 Initially police canvassed residents in the areas of Jones Ridge, the CCC Trail and Nickells Branch Road to see if anyone had noticed the car.
 In addition, Lt. Bowling said police were talking to people in Trademore Shopping Center as part of the investigation.
 Lt. Bowling refused to comment on how the investigation culminated in the arrest of Bowling. He said he was afraid comment might damage the case.
 Sheriff police, the coroner's office and State Jim Nickell assisted in the investigation.
 Lt. Bowling said police were still actively investigating the case.
 Services for Mrs. Markwell were conducted Monday, Nov. 3, at the Lane-Stucky-Bach Funeral Chapel with the Rev. Sherman Arnett and the Rev. Lawrence Arnett Jr. Officiating. Burial was in the Forest Lawn Memorial Gardens.
 In addition to her husband, she is survived by her parents, Chalmer and Phyllis Fultz Utterback, three brothers, William C. Doug W. and Tom M. Utterback, all of Morehead. Her paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. William R. Utterback, of Morehead, and she is also survived by her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Charles Fultz, of Morehead.

Elliott Man Is Suicide Victim

A 35-year-old Elliott County man died Friday night from an apparently self-inflicted gunshot wound.
 Carl L. Sloas, of Bruin in Elliott County, was pronounced dead on arrival at an Ashland hospital with a single gunshot wound to the head from a 25-caliber automatic pistol.
 Other details were not available.

 Masters added that MSU is currently housing approximately two of the farm's 10 acres of tobacco by this method.
 "It may not save the farmer a great deal of time overall, but it does make it possible for the one man to do the entire job from the field to the barn," said Masters.

FRANKFORT, Ky. (UPI) — The state Energy Regulatory Commission has approved gas customer refunds by Union Light, Heat and Power Co., based in Covington, and Columbia Gas Co., headquartered in Lexington. The commission said both refunds are a result of refunds from wholesale gas supplier, Columbia Gas Transmission Corp. The Union Light refund will total $632,325.12. The Columbia Gas refund will total $1.57 million.

Snow Removal Priorities Noted

Snow and ice removal priorities for State Roads have now been determined for the 1980-81 winter season, according to State Transportation Secretary Frank Mettis. Individual county maps show the four levels of priority.

According to A.R. Romine, Assistant State Highway Engineer, the priority system is necessary to coordinate the activities of the various crews so that continuing routes will be treated at nearly the same time. Since the Department of Transportation cannot do all roads at the same time, it is desirable the early efforts provide a meaningful network to facilitate long trips.
 The maps will benefit the public when they are forced to make long trips during the early stages of typical winter storms. During severe storms the workers will stay on the first priorities until they are clear.
 The priority guidelines follow:
 Priority One: Interstate highways, parkways (toll roads), urban expressways, and any other state maintained road of exceptional traffic volume.
 Priority Two: State primary roads (such as U.S. 60, U.S. 127), expressways, by-passes and other roads with slightly lesser traffic volume.
 Priority Three: Some state secondary roads such as KY 32, some rural secondary roads, and other roads with moderate traffic.
 Priority Four: All remaining state maintained roads included in one of the first three categories.

Morehead Police Report

Two windows in Rowan County High School's band room were broken and two were cracked Oct. 28 at about 8:30 p.m. Robb Jackett, who resides in a mobile home on the school property told Officer John Brown he saw two boys at the scene. Lt. Det. Robert Wright is investigating the matter.
 Four batteries valued at $200 were stolen from county school buses parked in the garage on US 60 East the night of Oct. 30. Lt. D. Robert Wright is continuing the investigation initiated by Officer Kenneth Trent.
 Bertha Kettler, St. Louis, told city police four hubcaps were stolen from her car parked at the Holiday Inn Oct. 29. Kettler estimated the time of the theft at between 5:35 and 7:30 p.m.

Officer Gordon Lambert reported the incident.
 Two Latin Americans in Augusta County, Va. have been charged with the theft of a Fluke Brand frequency counter taken from a General Telephone truck parked in the Holiday Inn the night of Oct. 30.
 Russell Gilbert, reported the theft of the equipment valued at over $2,845 at 6:59 a.m. Friday, Oct. 31. The incident was filed in the police department's computer, and at 12:10 a.m. Saturday, Nov. 1 Augusta authorities notified Morehead.
 Chief of Police Fred Barnsdale said warrants have been issued for Pedro Isidro Poveda, 19, and Reinaldo Estatis Cabrera, 20.

Loan Fund

 with the proposed "We will come back to the board for final approval," he added.
 Clark said the loan fund would function as a secondary money source for private business and would be governed by a nine-member board appointed by the Gateway Board of Directors.
 The acting director of the Kentucky Development Finance Authority in Frankfort, Roger Peterman, also addressed the board regarding four money sources his organization has available for small business.
 "We are authorized to issue industrial revenue bonds," Peterman said.
 "We also offer a guarantee for industrial revenue bonds and, in addition, have a direct loan program. An additional program is the Enterprise Development Loan Fund, which is geared to the start-up of new business and expansion of small business."
 Peterman said the Gateway area was fortunate to have one of its own bankers, Billy Joe Hall, of Mt. Sterling, on the Enterprise Development board.

 Peterman also said he thought the Kentucky Finance Development Authority had received "unfair" press from the Louisville Courier Journal and the Lexington Herald regarding its financial backing of a shopping center in Floyd County.
 "We don't think that two metropolitan newspapers know what's best for Floyd County," Peterman said. "We think the people of Floyd County know what's best for their own county, and they are the ones who want the shopping center. Our business is to provide jobs in Kentucky and a shopping center will do just that."
 Peterman encouraged the board members to become active in economic development in their respective communities, because, he said, "The attitude of the local community is one of the major items taken into consideration by companies considering expansion."
 The Gateway Board of Directors also approved a variety of Area Development Fund applications after being informed that the fund has been "unfrozen" by the state.

 Ron Clark said seven applications for the ADF monies had been received so far and would be funded from an allocation of $272,000 for the current year for the Gateway area.
 The applications received thus far include:
 Morgan County Courthouse for debt retirement.
 Menifee County Library, debt retirement.
 Both County Fiscal Court in behalf of the Sharpsburg Water District for rehabilitation of the water treatment plant.
 City of Mt. Sterling for the purchase of property for a new sewer and water office.
 Montgomery County for the Midland Trail Industrial Park (formerly the Little Mountain Industrial Park).
 Rowan County for sewer projects.
 City of West Liberty for two used police cars.
 Individual dollar amounts were not immediately available.

Four Arrested For Mining Without Permit

FRANKFORT, Ky. (UPI) — Four men have been arrested in Pike and Knox counties on charges of surface mining without a permit, investigators for the state Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection said Friday.
 The men were identified as Granville Hoskins of Barbourville, Bill Rose of Ordler, Gabel Bartley of Pike County and Garry Hibbits, who gave police three different addresses, said John Nagle, chief of special investigations for the Bureau of Surface Mining.
 Nagle said Hoskins and Rose were observed removing coal from a one-acre site near Kay Jay in Knox County Oct. 29. More than 384 tons of coal were removed, he added.
 Hoskins and Rose were arrested and arraigned Friday in Knox County District Court, which set a hearing date of Dec. 9.
 Bartley and Hibbits are accused of mining about 2,000 tons of coal from a five-acre site on Dry Fork off Rockhouse Creek in Pike County, Nagle said. They were arrested and arraigned Thursday, then released on individual bonds of $2,000. Jan. 22, 1981 is the date set for their hearing in Pike County District Court.
 The maximum penalty for mining without a permit is up to 12 months in jail or a fine of up to $5,000 for each day of violation.

Kentucky Briefs

FRANKFORT, Ky. (UPI) — The state Energy Regulatory Commission has approved rate increases for Western Kentucky Gas Co. totaling $2.8 million under a purchased gas adjustment. This increase will result in an average annual hike per residential customer of $10.15. Western Kentucky Gas serves about 45,000 customers in 16 communities. The purchased gas adjustment was necessary since the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission approved an increase for a Western Kentucky supplier, Texas Gas Transmission Corp., the commission said.

Greenup's John Tong, Like Many, Looks To Rocks For Past

By JOHN COLE

"To Whom It May Concern:
In Autumn of 1962, Mr. George Corum showed me a crude sketch of some Indian signs formed by rocks which a hunter drew in his drug store on a small piece of paper smaller than an index card. The sketch consisted of an arrow, a crescent, a star and a serpent which the hunter advised was located on the hill above Potter's Cemetery, West of Greenup. Mr. Corum could not recall the hunter's name and mentioned that he had then recently died. I agreed to check this out..."

From a statement by John W. Tong, dated September 7, 1979.

John Tong enjoys checking things out. Practically nothing escapes his attention at his hands. As he walks down a road, a peculiarly shaped object may catch his eye, leading him to stoop, pick it up, roll it in the palm of his hand and place it back on the pavement, observation completed.

The Indian signs and rocks he wrote of in the sworn statement are located on a hill approximately two miles west of Greenup on the near side of Coal Branch Road.

Tong made several trips to the site of which the hunter spoke. At first he was unable to locate many of the "symbols" the rocks were supposed to form. Later, on other "assisted" trips to the site, along with different members of his family, he compiled a long map of the formations he thought the rocks indicated.

The rocks themselves are small and sit on the ground in an apparently random formation. (As it was autumn when this reporter ventured up the hill with Tong, most of the rocks were covered with dead leaves and decaying matter).

Anyone unfamiliar with the "story" — if there is one — behind these stones may not even notice them. They are strewn about the area in a seemingly disorderly fashion. Closer observation, however, indicates that there is practically no exposed bedrock in the area. The rocks are simply lying on the ground with no indication, to the layman, of how they got there.

Another thing that Tong brought out is that the rocks appear to be arranged in a long strip which runs perpendicular to the Ohio River. The "strip" is only about 50 feet wide. If an investigator goes too close to the top of the hill, the rocks disappear, and if the investigator heads toward the bottom of the hill, again, the rocks disappear.

Jake Savage, president of the Greenup County Historical Society 1977-79, made the trip to the site last September with Tong. Savage said "I don't know enough about (the rocks) to make an opinion."

Savage explained he had written a letter about the rock formations to Lee Pennington, a Greenup County native, now a Middletown author, and that the letter was sent to the University of Louisville. He said that was the last he ever heard of the matter.

By simply looking at the rocks, Savage said, one cannot tell who set them at their location and what possible purpose they served.

During Tong's most recent trip, his first since September 1979, he was unable to locate the "serpent formation" (consisting of a series of rocks which zig-zag away from the main line of rocks), the "star" (consisting of a number of rocks set in the shape of a four-pointed star), and the large "oval" (approximately 15 feet across).

The line of rocks extends almost 300 feet until underbrush completely obliterates the patterns. The head of the line of rocks was destroyed when the hill was sculpted away to make way for the then new U.S. 23.

"Y" Do These Face The River?

Along with the various patterns which occur in rocks, several "Y" shapes can be found. Without exception, most all of these configurations point toward or away from the river. Tong felt that the rocks were placed by Indians, as there are several Indian burial mounds in the area.

If these rocks were actually placed by prehistoric Indians, they could have served as a means of direction to the river. Two hundred years ago, there wasn't the span of trains and traffic to give one a sense of direction.

Or, they could have been placed 50 years ago for some unknown reason. No one, including Tong, seems positive of how they got there.

Tong said he has written the National Geographic Society in Washington and received no reply. He wrote the Physical Anthropology Research Section of the Smithsonian Institute. Again, he received no reply.

His most recent trip to the rock site was somewhat unsuccessful, as Mother Nature had covered the area with a layer of leaves, concealing the majority of the stones.

Some of the rocks were not in their original places, Tong said, while scratching his thick head of hair and looking in vain for the serpent and the star.

"It is my intention... to assist future parties or organizations in further exploration of this site and to set up some protective measures to prevent further destruction."

Doctor Amputates Wrong Leg Of Patient

LOS GATOS, Calif. (UPI) — California medical officials are investigating the case of a respected surgeon who amputated the wrong leg of a patient.

The 65-year-old patient, who awoke from surgery to find his ailing right leg still intact and his left leg amputated, was not identified.

But state investigators Friday identified the doctor as Allan Vishoot, whom colleagues described as a careful, meticulous surgeon.

Vishoot, who has practiced surgery for 30 years in Santa Clara County, was unavailable for comment.

State authorities are investigating the details of the incident, which occurred two months ago at Los Gatos Community hospital.

The patient, suffering from diabetes and circulatory problems was to undergo an amputation of his leg at the right knee. The doctor scheduled to perform the surgery apparently was unavailable and Vishoot was called in at the last moment.

It was not known exactly what confusion in the operating room led to the removal of the wrong leg.

The patient, who awoke from surgery to find his wrong leg had been amputated, subsequently became a double-amputee after doctors decided to go ahead and remove his other leg. He later left the hospital and is in a rehabilitation program. He was said to be in good condition.

A hospital spokesman said although a mistake was made, it was only a matter of time before the patient's condition would have required amputation of both legs.

But, the spokesman said, "What happened should not have happened. It was unfortunate."

Conferences Set

Conference dates and locations are: Nov. 5-7, Ramada Inn, Madisonville; Nov. 10-11, Berea College, Berea; Nov. 17-18, Drawbridge Inn, Fort Mitchell; and Nov. 20-21, Ramada Inn, Bowling Green.

Rowan County High football Vikings have won their first district football championship after defeating Morgan County 34-6 Friday night.

A new fire truck ordered by the city arrived last week and is on exhibition in city hall. A Model T Ford had been used for the past ten years.

Dr. Norman Roberts attended the Mississippi Valley Industrial Education Conference in Chicago last week where he presented a paper.

City Attorney Wee Proctor made a "three-ringed circus" out of a city council meeting. In anger that his water was cut off for failure to pay a $35 bill, Proctor stated that the councilmen were ignorant, insolent, knew no law and have no government.

Rowan County had to cast their votes in the basement of the courthouse instead of the typical upstairs location. An editorial says there was no ventilation there because the stairs were nailed up; fluid poured from the men's filthy toilet which was behind the booth; and drunks were forcing their way through to the toilet, cursing and reciting.

Dr. Mary E. Brock, registered veterinarian and graduate of the University of Michigan, has set up practice in Morehead.

Permitting activities for September authorized the disturbance of 6,711.1 new acres of land and resulted in the collection of $339,550 in fees.

Morehead High School's band, which has gained reputation as one of the best in Eastern Kentucky, has new uniforms. Public subscription and community fund-raising events resulted in the $3,000 needed.

The list of permits in this area follows:

Allie Messer, business agent of United Brick and Clay Workers, says the relationship between the union and General Refractories at Haldeman were excellent, and the plant was closed in 1983 because steel people and other users of clay firebrick demanded a refractory that was baked at above 200 degrees Fahrenheit. The Haldeman plant was not equipped to bake a this temperature.

Ashland Oil Releases Quarterly Earnings Of $35.3 Million

ASHLAND — Ashland Oil, Inc. recently announced net income for the three-month period ended Sept. 30, 1980 was $35.3 million, equal to $1.12 a share. The earnings reflect the establishment of reserves for loss contingencies in the amount of $27.4 million and losses on the sale of operations and other nonoperating deductions of $6.7 million for a total of $34.1 million, equal to $1.29 a share.

For the comparable period last year, net income was $52.9 million, equal to $1.66 a share, including nonoperating losses of $2 million, equal to 6¢ a share. Net income for the year ended September 30, 1980 was $205.1 million, equal to $6.80 a share. Results for the previous fiscal year, when the company reported net income of $526.3 million, equal to $15.55 a share, are not comparable to this year's results because of a large gain from the sale of various operations in 1979. Excluding such nonoperating income, comparable results show net income of $196.5 million, equal to $6.49 a share, for the fiscal year ended September 30, 1980, compared with $186.4 million, equal to $5.31 a share, for 1979.

Sales and operating revenues for the fiscal year totaled $8.4 billion, a record. Cash flow from operations amounted to $361.2 million, more than offsetting capital expenditures of $264.1 million. The number of common shares outstanding at the end of fiscal 1980 was 26.4 million, compared to 30.4 million at the end of fiscal 1979.

In making the announcement, Orin E. Atkins, chairman and chief executive officer, stated, "Even though the U.S. economy was sluggish in 1980, the company was able to adapt to an uncertain and everchanging business environment."

Dedication Is Nov. 15 For Morgan Courthouse

WEST LIBERTY — The historic old Morgan County Courthouse will show off its new look on Saturday, Nov. 15, with dedication ceremonies and open house at the renovated facility.

U.S. Congressman Carl B. Perkins, who helped secure federal funds for the renovation, will be among the special guests. Invitations have also been extended to Gov. John Y. Brown Jr. and former Gov. Julian Carroll.

The Morgan County Historical Society is helping plan the dedication and has invited Mrs. Eldred Melton, Executive Director of the Kentucky Heritage Commission, which was instrumental in getting the courthouse included on the National Register of Historic Places.

The dedication ceremonies will begin at 2 p.m. in the second floor courtroom. A fish fry on the courthouse lawn is planned for 11 a.m. and tours of the building will be conducted throughout the day.

The courthouse was condemned in 1975 as unsafe and all county offices were moved to a remodeled garage building.

A group of local citizens, headed by Lynn Nickell, worked with local, state and federal officials to obtain $760,000 for the renovation.

The building, constructed in 1907, will be unique among other Kentucky courthouses in that it will be the only such facility to be used solely by the court of justice and leased entirely to the state.

The exterior of the building has retained its 1907 design.

Voyager One Speeds Toward Saturn, Clicking Pictures

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — The Voyager 1 space probe, snapping pictures of Saturn and transmitting them nearly 1 billion miles to Earth, sped toward the ringed planet at a clip of 45,200 mph.

The instrument-packed Voyager clicked off about 200 pictures of Saturn and its satellites Friday, as it headed for a fly-by of the ringed planet next Wednesday, a spokesman for the Jet Propulsion Laboratory said.

The spacecraft was in good shape and all instruments were functioning well, he said.

The pictures of Saturn and its planet-sized moon, Titan, were transmitted through space by radio signal. Traveling at the speed of light, the signal takes about an hour and 25 minutes to reach Earth.

By noon today, the spacecraft was to be 9.5 million miles from Saturn, speeding toward its ring-plane at 45,200 mph relative to the sun. It was to be 949.2 million miles from Earth.

The closest encounter with Saturn is to come at 3:45 p.m. next Wednesday when it hurtles 77,000 miles above the planet's cloud tops. Voyager will fly by the planet outside the major rings but within the sparsely filled E-ring — the zone around Saturn that is cleared by the small moon Dione as it orbits the planet.

Voyager will make its closest approach to the moon, Titan, at 9:41 p.m. at 2,500 miles, above the satellite's surface Tuesday. Titan is larger than the planet Mercury and has an atmosphere, but scientists do not yet know how thick it may be.

After its Saturn encounter, Voyager 1 will continue toward the edge of the solar system, then sail off into deep space.

Director Defends KET

LEXINGTON, Ky. — Comparing Kentucky Educational Television with commercial television is like "comparing apples with oranges."

That's the way a KET official phrased it for members of the Subcommittee on Education and the Arts, a panel of state legislators who toured the network's Lexington-based production facilities last week after a meeting with KET officials.

Much of that meeting centered around the recently released report of the Governor's Executive Management Commission. In the report KET was criticized, among other things, for purchasing what the commission considered seemingly unnecessary and expensive equipment, and for its overly large and elaborate television productions.

The commission of executives and experts from the private sector was assembled by Gov. John Y. Brown Jr. to analyze state government operations and suggest improvements. KET, governed by a nine-member authority (board), is under the state Education and the Arts Cabinet.

Leonard Press, KET executive director, told the panel the commission's report, although useful, is misleading because commission members visited KET during the summer when KET's instructional broadcasting service for schools, known as ITV, was shut down. That fact was not mentioned in the commission's report, Press said.

Video recording machines the commission found unused during their visit are used at near full capacity during nine months of the year, Press said.

While local commercial stations depend on a "network feed" for a majority of their programming, KET has a more diverse programming schedule which necessitates the full use of its video recorders, Press added.

He said besides carrying the more than 90 ITV series during the school year, video machines must also be used for local productions, for "dubbing" and to record shows relayed to Kentucky by satellite from the Public Broadcasting Service.

Three studio cameras purchased by KET for $40,000 had been criticized by the commission for their impracticality. Press told panel members the cameras were saving KET money, improving studio picture quality and replacing six older cameras.

Press also pointed to the success of KET's two new evening productions, "Bywords" and "Kentucky Journal," to answer the commission's complaint that KET productions were in the past too large. The two series, Press said, are popular and require smaller production crews.

Taylor Hollin of the state Department of Education, which is responsible for the curriculum development for KET's daytime instructional programming, said the Education Department views the role of ITV as supplementary to the regular school curriculum. He said the Department of Education is preparing the ITV curriculum, "targets programming where maximum usage would be."

Approximately 89 percent of the state's elementary and high schools use ITV programming, said Sandy Welch of KET. Another KET official told the panel that a questionnaire returned to KET by more than 4,000 teachers indicated "roughly 50 percent were making regular use of instructional programming during the school day."

Rep. Carl Nett, D-Louisville, said the number of schools using ITV might actually be smaller than KET's figures indicate. He further suggested that KET's daytime programming might be more useful if geared toward more cultural programming, such as plays and opera. Another KET official said that ITV's usefulness and popularity could not be discounted.

The KET official cited the number of school superintendents who complained to KET recently when the state decided to end funding of a school equipment project, which provided a 50 percent match to schools during the past two bienniums to buy video equipment and televisions for ITV programming.

During that time, more than $3 million worth of equipment was bought and installed in Kentucky schools, the official reported.

Press told the subcommittee the commission's report, which also included recommendations concerning the hiring of personnel and KET's use of the Kentucky Early Warning System, will be seriously studied. "In one way or another, we'll implement all of the suggestions," he said. "We may surprise ourselves with how much mileage we can get out of those recommendations."

Neither reptiles nor frogs nor toads are found in Ireland.

APPLE JUICE
Nearly 42 million gallons of apple juice, made from about 12 million bushels of apples, make their way into American homes each year.

Apple juice is the same product as sweet cider but is often clarified, say specialists with the N.C.A. Extension Service.

Most of the suspended apple solids, which give sweet apple cider its cloudy, opaque appearance, have been removed, and the juice is pasteurized to destroy fermentation and spoilage microorganisms.

It is then hermetically sealed or vacuum packed for preservation.

Unopened, apple juice needs no refrigeration and will keep well for a year or longer. Once opened, it should be refrigerated or it will lose flavor and spoil.

Bass Fishin' With Tom Mann

(Part One)

EDITOR'S NOTE: Kentucky Publishing Company's Wildlife Editor, Soc Clay, has just completed a week's stay on Eufaula Lake, located on the south Alabama-Georgia border. Eufaula is considered one of the best trophy bass lakes in the United States. It is also home for Tom Mann, who is considered one of the top bass fishermen in the world. This, the first of a two-part series about this exciting fishing area, deals with a day of bass fishing that Soc and Tom recently shared on the fish-rich waters of Eufaula.

No question about it, Tom Mann is one of the finest bass fishermen I have ever had the pleasure to fish with. Funny, though, he doesn't act like the famous angler he is and I supposed should act like.

Though I'd corresponded with him in the past, I'd never met Tom face to face and I didn't quite know what to expect when I walked up to him inside his pet operation, Tom Mann's Fish World, located on the shores of bass-famous Eufaula Lake, deep in the southeastern corner of Alabama.

There facing me was a tall, darkly tanned, part Cherokee, part Alabamian who women folk would call incredibly handsome and who bass fishermen all over the world say is one of the very best in their field.

It didn't take long for me to discover why Tom Mann is so highly regarded by his peers. He's perhaps the most friendly and congenial bass fisherman of such high regard I've ever run into. Fact is it only required a minute of getting to know each other when Tom suggested we might as well do some chatting out on the waters of Lake Eufaula, the lake he has caught more lunker largemouths from than any of the others, regardless of where they are located.

No wonder, either, Tom's house is also located at lakeside and he keeps a boat ready for launching at all times.

No more than 10 minutes had elapsed before we were skimming over the snag and shallow bar filled waters of the lake. As we headed for a special spot that Tom knew about, we discussed what it means to be considered one of the best bass anglers in the world.

At 48, Tom has probably been more successful as a professional bass fisherman than all the rest who have gained fame in a sport that has come to the front in the past 15 years.

Formerly a clerk in a sporting goods store and later a conservation officer on the lake for nearly five years, Tom was talked into entering a bass tournament by the founder of the Bass Anglers Sportsmens Society (BASS), Ray Scott, who had already heard of the lanky C.O.'s reputation as a bass fisherman. That tournament, the first ever by BASS, started Tom on his way toward a highly successful career as both a bass fisherman as well as one of the more highly acclaimed lure manufacturers in the business.

As we slid across the still surface of Eufaula, Tom said he still got serious about bass fishing when he purchased his first rod and reel. He recalled that first rod was an old steel model made by Shakespeare and the reel was a J.C. Higgins, level-wind casting model.

Like most modern bass fishermen, Tom graduated to a spinning rod and reel when they first came on the American market and so liked the open-faced spinning reel that he still uses spinning outfits exclusively in his fishing, something that is a rarity among most bass fishermen today, who prefer to use highly developed casting rigs.

A long-time fly fisherman, Tom started making bass bugs and polar bear hair jigs as a hobby. Later he would turn his lure-making talents into a line of bass fishing lures called Mann-O-Lures. Most of these baits were developed after Tom became famed as a bass fisherman, but the real meat of his tackle line, the Little George was what helped him to establish his reputation as one of the world's top 10 bass fishermen for more than 10 years running.

It was a modern take off of the Little George that Tom tied to his line after lining up the boat over a submerged ditch line, where he'd taken some nice bass in the past.

Called "Craw George," the heavy, but small-bodied lure looks like a crawfish with a spinner on its back. Its effectiveness was soon demonstrated when a three-pound bass came to the boat. Fat and sassy, the healthy-looking bass would later be used to help stock his huge aquarium where all sorts of fresh water fish swim, making up the core of Fish World, the most recent venture of the plain ol' bass fisherman who has made it very good, to say the least, in the fishing business.

Among the most successful of all the lures that Tom manufactures is the "Mann Jelly Worm." This plastic worm is now the top selling worm, with more than 50,000 of them being purchased by bass fishermen all over the world.

I asked Tom how he became such a successful bass fisherman. He responded by saying 50 percent of his good fortune was due to knowing how to fish for bass from the top of the lake to the bottom, from its headwaters to the dam. The other 50 percent is pure luck, he claims. "It's the luck of the draw, mostly," Tom explained. "In any tournament, you draw a partner. Frequently, he'll have several spots in the lake located where he's found fish. In this case, if you have a number yourself and are able to cash in on both, your's and your partner's hot spots, you'll come pretty close to winning the contest," he added.

Though Tom makes it seem simple enough, I've been around bass fishermen long enough to know when you place in the top 10 in the world, year after year, you have to be more than just a bit lucky. My guess is that Tom has more bass fishing savvy locked up in his head than he admits to. Take for example his success with another little fishing venture he started in the small town of Eufaula, which the 45,000 acre lake was named for.

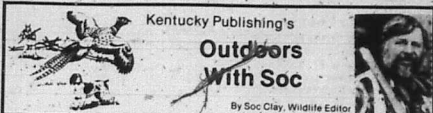

A buddy of his was putting together some of the first sonar kits sport fishermen used on fresh water, called a Health Kit, he was selling a few to his fishing pals when Tom decided to get into the picture. After buying his partner out, Tom formed a company with seven stock holders, who put up the money for Tom to go down to Texas and hire some of the best electrical wizzards he would find, who were working in sonar.

The results was the Hummingbird line of depth sounders, considered to be among the best such devices in the country today. Last year alone more than 100,000 of the small sonar units were sold to sport fishermen in the United States.

Ironically, Tom rarely uses his depth sounder or graph recorder when fishing Eufaula. Apparently, he knows the lake bottom well enough without their help.

Four good bass came to the boat before we decided to pose a few shots in front of a glorious sundown. While Tom was standing on the bow of his Ranger bass boat, he tossed out a Mann-O-Lure and caught another bass just as the sun sank over distant cotton fields.

Tom was reluctant to leave the lake without a lunker in the boat, but I convinced him I had a meeting to attend in a short while, or I suppose we'd have still been there.

On the way back to the ramp, Tom explained that Eufaula is still one of the best places in the United States to take a lunker bass. "The lake record is 14 pounds and I believe there are larger fish than that in here," he said, adding that it is not at all unusual to take a 10 pounder nearly anytime of the year.

Tom extends an invitation to all eastern Kentuckians to drop by his Fish World and chat with him awhile about fishing. "If you're like me, you'll probably be fortunate enough to get an invitation to fish with this famous angler. If so, don't pass it up even if you have to borrow his tackle, which I'm sure he'd be happy to loan you."

ONE OF THE BEST bass anglers in the world, Tom Mann appears quite contented as he fishes a stick-up field on Lake Eufaula.

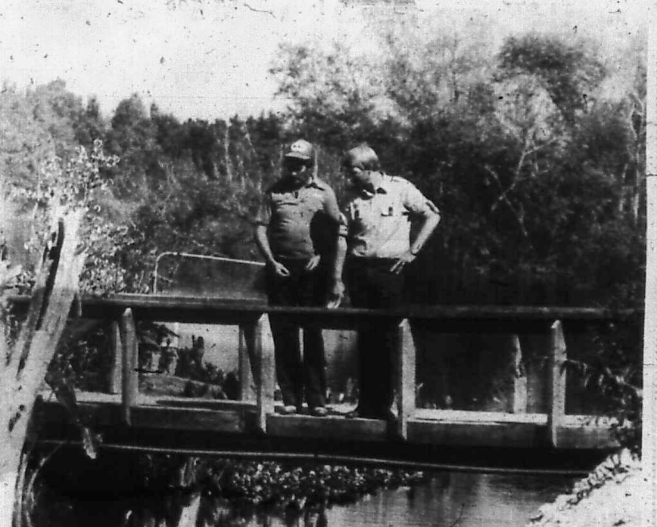

HE DOES CATCH BASS as demonstrated by this three pounder that will go into the big tank at Tom Mann's Fish World.

DEDICATED. Even though he's already gained world-wide fame as a bass fisherman, Tom Mann can still be found pursuing his favorite pastime, bass fishing on Lake Eufaula.

A GOOD ANGLER, but not as famous in the sport as his big brother, is Don Mann, an associate in the Mann fishing tackle operations.

AVOID THESE COMMON DOG CARE BONERS

Want your dog to obey you out of fear or love? There's a difference, you know. Here are a few of the and don't ask ways to gain the respect—and obedience—of your dog.
* Do not put your puppy on newspaper immediately if he has an "accident." Then praise him if he performs properly.

Prize, never punish your dog. That way you'll gain his respect and his obedience.

* DON'T let your dog get into the habit of chewing on old shoes, furniture, or books. Satisfy his need to gnaw by providing him with a rawhide bone or rubber toy.

* Do be firm when training your dog. He'll sense it if you don't mean what you say.

* DON'T punish your dog for not obeying orders or being slow in responding. Rewards—praise and tidbit treats—enhance learning and love.

* Do keep your dog in better health by watching for these seven symptoms: excessive scratching, hot spots, hair loss, cuts and scrapes, sores, eczema, and chafing and scales. If any of these symptoms appear, Sulfolone Medication for Dogs, developed by a veterinarian, can help. It's available wherever pet products are sold.

What Can Go Wrong With Your Eyes?

Amblyopia

Sometimes called "lazy eye", amblyopia is a dimness of vision in one eye. It it goes uncorrected, the brain will "turn off" the eye in time. Your child won't be able to tell you something is wrong. You can be on the alert for these symptoms: tilting head to see something, bumping into things, or sitting close to TV.

The time for an eye exam is any age - age 3 or younger is not too early.

If you suspect something about your child's vision or if you want to make sure his/her vision is the best, call for an appointment now.

still Your bill is 'near the bottom of the list.

Even after the increase approved on October 1, KU's rates are still among the lowest in the nation.

A KU customer's bills for 500 kilowatt hours, both in August and in October (with the rate increase), are well below the national average and near the bottom of the list in the comparison. The KU bills include fuel adjustments but do not include applicable taxes.

The cost of electricity will continue to rise due to inflation, environmental regulations and fuel costs. And with winter just ahead, you should think now about ways to save on your heating bill.

We can help with a number of free pamphlets on conservation which are available at local KU offices.

Holding down the cost of energy is everyone's concern and responsibility. We're working to keep costs as low as possible. You can do your part by using electricity effectively.

Pepper Station May Locate In Morgan County

WEST LIBERTY — A committee to look into the possibility of establishing a bell pepper station in Morgan County was appointed during a recent meeting of the Morgan County Rural Development Committee.

According to Brenda Oldfield, vocational agricultural teacher at Morgan County High School, the Campbell Soup Company is interested in the Eastern Kentucky area as a possible site for one of their two pepper stations to be established in the state.

"In order for Morgan County to be considered as a site for one of the stations, it is necessary for the committee to come up with enough farmers to grow 150 acres of bell peppers," Miss Oldfield said.

"A farmer could net approximately $11,000 per acre from bell peppers with one third the labor and cost of producing burley tobacco," Miss Oldfield said.

"As an example of what can be done with bell peppers in the area, the Morgan County FFA Chapter planted three-fourths of an acre in an abandoned field by the high school and netted $900 for their efforts," she continued.

Miss Oldfield said the station would serve farmers in Magoffin, Morgan, Rowan, Menifee and Elliott counties.

Miss Oldfield said that farmers in the area interested in growing peppers should contact her at 743-3403 or one of the following committee members:

Larry Smith, 725-5562; Wendell Sherman, 743-3843; or John McClurg, 743-3192.

The committee will meet with representatives of the Campbell Soup Company on Nov. 13.

In 1939, Charles W. Anderson, of Louisville, became the first black man to serve in the legislature of a southern state after Reconstruction.

Sign Repaid After 40 Years

FRANKFORT — State Transportation Secretary Frank Metts admires a man who practices what he preaches.

When the Rev. Walter Price of Lexington was a teen-ager in 1939, he took a smaller route to a bridge in a rural area of Kentucky.

Last week, Metts received a $10 check made out to the Kentucky Department of Transportation to make amends for the teen-age lark, which Price said has bothered him for more than 40 years.

"Your act is inspirational and a clearly visible demonstration that you practice what you preach — particularly where the Eighth Commandment is concerned," Metts wrote, noting the $10 would be used to bolster the Road Fund shortfall.

Women's Study Minor Set At UK

The University of Kentucky has established a minor in women's studies.

"With this minor the University has now joined more than 300 other colleges and universities which offer some form of women's studies program," said Dr. Ronda S. Conaway, associate dean of the UK Graduate School.

The required course for the minor — "WS 200, Introduction to Women's Studies" — will be offered for the first time during the 1981 spring semester.

UK students may now choose among 16 additional courses to make up the required number of hours for the minor, Ms. Conaway said.

There will be a reception for women faculty and students in the UK Student Center from 2 to 4 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 5 to celebrate this new development in women's studies at UK.

Further information on women's studies is available from Ms. Conaway by calling (606) 257-1759.

Technology Discussed

LEXINGTON, Ky. — Three of Yugoslavia's leading scientists met last week with their Kentucky counterparts at the Kentucky Center for Energy Research laboratory to discuss coal liquefaction technology.

"Our experiments have been based almost exclusively on the work done at Kentucky's laboratory," said Dr. Dragomir Vitorovic of the University of Belgrade.

The internationally acclaimed research facility is administered by the Kentucky Department of Energy and Operated by the University of Kentucky's Institute of Mining and Minerals Research. Much of the facility's work is in direct support of Kentucky's emerging multi-billion-dollar synthetic fuels industry.

Accompanying Dr. Vitorovic were Mr. and Mrs. Bojana Aleksic, physical chemists who specialize in catalysis at the University of Belgrade. Catalysis are most commonly industrial materials used to increase the reactivity of coal in liquefaction processes.

A plant spokesman said another production line might be added at the plant but added that no announcement was expected before next summer.

FRANKFORT, Ky. (UPI) — Democrats criss-crossed the state Friday in a final appeal for votes, and Sens. Wendell Ford and Walter "Dee" Huddleston in separate appearances at Russellville and Murray in western Kentucky where President Carter is struggling said revenue sharing for cities will likely be restored.

Toll-Free Number Available For State Tourist Information

FRANKFORT — Keeping up with events and activities in Kentucky will be easier starting Monday, Nov. 3, when a toll-free tourist information service number begins operation.

The new service, sponsored by the state Department of Tourism, will replace the toll-free central reservations number for Kentucky state parks. "The decision for discontinuing the central reservations number resulted from a study of the phone system by the Parks Department. Approximately 20 percent of total parks reservations were made through this system and that did not justify the enormous expense," said Jim Carr.

Carr, director of the department's division of marketing and business development, said people calling the old central reservations will be given the toll-free information number.

The number Kentuckians will call is 1-800-372-2961. A toll-free number also will be available to people in 22 other states, Carr said.

The new service will provide telephone numbers of individual state parks and also numbers of local chambers of commerce and tourism commissions, for people desiring lodging at facilities other than those at state parks. "We will provide information on tourism-related facilities in Kentucky. We also will have the capability to mail material to those requesting more detailed information than we can give over the phone," Carr said.

The division is in the process of assembling nine different types of packets of information for distribution. Eight packets will concentrate on specific areas of the state and one packet will provide general information on the entire state.

In addition to its primary purpose of serving as an information center, the new service will aid the Tourism Department in two other ways. "We will use the phone system as a research tool to gather more information about potential visitors to Kentucky tourist attractions and to test the effectiveness of the state's advertising," said Carr.

Phone operators will ask a variety of questions to a random sample of callers to obtain more information for the Tourism Department data base. The questions will cover subjects ranging from the demographic backgrounds of the callers to the areas of the state the people plan to visit.

The phone operators also will ask a sample of callers where they obtained the information service number. This will assist the department in tracking the effectiveness of the media the department will use in its 1981 advertising campaign, Carr said.

Although the new service will serve as a multi-purpose system, its most important function is to provide callers with answers to their questions about what is available in Kentucky, Carr said.

Federal Official Calls Aid To Underprivileged Students Successful

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — U.S. Education Undersecretary Steve Minter says the success of the government's 15-year effort to help disadvantaged school children can be proven.

Minter — a native of Akron, Ohio, and former public welfare commissioner of Massachusetts — said in a speech Friday in Louisville that "we know Title I is successful."

Five million children currently are enrolled in Title I programs which seek to provide remedial help for children from underprivileged backgrounds.

According to Minter, recent tests have shown that federally funded remedial programs achieve academically "at a rate equal to other youngsters who are not suffering from the ravages of poverty."

Another study has shown that youngsters in such remedial programs have developed favorable impressions of themselves as students, thus further helping their outlook for academic success, Minter told several hundred parents and educators at a convention of the Elementary and Secondary Education Association, a Title I advisory group.

Minter substituted as the convention keynote speaker for Secretary Shirley Hufstetler, who was campaigning elsewhere for President Carter at the secretary's request, according to Minter.

One ESEA official agreed privately that Mrs. Hufstetler's appearance before the convention probably wouldn't help Carter because the group's large minority membership already assured the likelihood of a pro-Carter vote among its members.

The U.S. Department of Education was created last year with the strong support of Carter. Republican presidential nominee Ronald Reagan opposed creation of the department.

Minter said the Title I program — established 15 years ago by President Lyndon B. Johnson as part of his Great Society legislation — has benefited more than 45 million youngsters from poor backgrounds. In all $19 billion has been spent to help such youngsters achieve better academic performances.

Bureau Of Training Holds 115th Graduation

RICHMOND, Ky. (UPI) — The state Justice Department's Bureau of Training Friday held its 115th graduation of Kentucky officers from the police basic training academy in Richmond.

The 10-week basic course involves physical and academic programs that prepare officers for law enforcement work. A wide range of subjects are studied by the officers, including criminal law, first aid, firearms, social services and investigation.

To date, 2,966 police officers from throughout Kentucky have completed the basic training, qualifying them for a salary supplement from the state. Don J. Higgins, chief of the Louisville Division of Police, was the guest speaker. In addition to the 26 graduates, family members, friends and Bureau of Training officials attended the graduation ceremony.

The graduating class included Michael Clay Hall and Kenneth C. Ratliff of the Boone County Police Department; Gerald D. Billiter, Erlanger Police Department; David L. Nicholson, David R. # Shakespeare Opens With Hamlet On KET

Derek Jacobi stars in the title role of "Hamlet" in a special three and one-half hour presentation when "The Shakespeare Plays" returns to KET with a new season. Airing Monday, at 9 p.m. the television adaptation of Shakespeare's tragedy features a distinguished supporting cast which includes Claire Bloom, Patrick Stewart, Eric Porter and Laila Ward. "Hamlet" is generally acknowledged as the greatest single achievement in English drama, and Jacobi's performance in the title role on the London stage earned him international acclaim. It also earned Jacobi the distinction of becoming the first British actor ever to play "Hamlet" in the People's Republic of China; his 1979 tour in the play was a triumphant success. In this country, Jacobi is perhaps best known to public television audiences as the bumbling Roman Emperor in "I, Claudius" and as the tragically deluded king in last year's "Shakespeare Plays" presentation of "Richard II."

"The Shakespeare Plays," which will present all 37 of Shakespeare's dramatic works over a six-year span, is a BBC-TV and Time-Life co-production.

Council To Meet

The Appalachian Development Council will meet Wednesday and Thursday, Nov. 5-6, at Boone Tavern Hotel, Berea.

Topics to be discussed are manpower, basic skills in education, housing and energy. Secretary of Energy William B. Sturgill will be the Thursday luncheon speaker.

The 23-member council was formed in 1978 to advise the state on the problems of Appalachia. Members include state legislators and local leaders. The council is attached to the state Department for Local Government.

WORLD CHAMPS — Gary Babb, right, Irvine freshman at Morehead State University, and other members of the Kentucky Chimes, clog dancing team, won the recent World Clogging Championship in North Carolina. The group became the first team to win state, national and world championships all in the same year. The group consists of Babb; Mike Cassidy and Teresa McClanahan of Mt. Sterling; and Susie Holland and Jeanna Holland of Winchester.

World Champions Dance 'Mainly For The Fun Of It'

When Gary Babb and friends put on their dancing shoes, people stop to watch and marvel.

After all, Gary Babb, Irvine freshman at Morehead State University, and friends are the reigning World Clogging Champion Kentucky Chimes dance group.

The Chimes recently outdanced more than 40 groups from around the world to win the title in North Carolina and become the first team to win state, national and world championships in the same year.

Babb's clogging career began at age 11 when he taught himself to dance well enough to be invited to join the Little Kentucky Colonels dance group.

After seven years, the 1977 Grand National Championship and a fifth place individually in the 1978 Grand National Championship, Babb joined the Chimes when the Colonels disbanded.

During his clogging career, Babb has danced across the nation displaying the Appalachian-style dancing and introducing it to many areas.

"Clogging and square dancing are much the same thing, except clogging is more precise in movement and timing," said Babb. "What the dance is called really depends on what part of the country you are from."

Members of the Chimes include Babb; Mike Cassidy, 26, of Mt. Sterling and the group's leader; Theresa McClanahan, 10, of Mt. Sterling; Susie Holland, 19 and Jeanna Holland, 16, both of Winchester.

Cassidy, who won the state, national and world singles titles this year, teamed with Babb in the male duo competition and took third place in the world.

"I love to dance singles competition," said Babb. "But, being number one is not all that important to me. That doesn't mean that I don't go out and do my very best, but I don't feel bad or down after a competition as long as I know that I gave it my very best."

The Chimes' performance for the world championship audience and judges received a standing ovation at the conclusion of their program, which was a thrill, but Babb says dancing isn't everything to him. He plans to continue his pre-veterinary and agriculture studies at MSU.

The studies are important. I like MSU's agriculture program because I didn't find a better one anywhere else in the state," Babb said. "I also like the countryside around the school because it gives me an opportunity to escape which I think everyone needs to do sometime."

"I dance mainly for the fun of it," he said. "There is really nothing like getting up in front of a crowd and putting on a show."

After the world championship, the shows for the Kentucky Chimes will add regional, national and international appearances including television and personal appearances.

The Chimes have recently taped segments for "Hee Haw" and "PM Magazine." They will also appear at the Grand Ole Opry and at the 1981 International Festival of Dancing in Europe as guests of the government of France.

They have also received an invitation to visit the White House.

Corrections Officers To Get Salary Boost

FRANKFORT, Ky. — Effective Nov. 16, a 10 percent salary increase will be given to all correctional officers in the Kentucky Bureau of Corrections.

The pay increase is in accordance with a federal district court consent decree mandating certain improvements in Kentucky's adult correctional facilities. The decree mandates that a 20 percent salary increase be given to all correctional officers in the system. On June 16, 1980 the first 10 percent was allocated by the Department of Finance.

THE GAS PUMP

Whoohs not properly aligned waste gasoline. A misaligned wheel causes a tire to "flex" which increases road friction, that in turn makes your car's engine work harder. Proper alignment will more than return the money spent in fuel savings.

I worry when they interrupt a TV program with a news flash. I really worry when they interrupt a commercial.

TV TATTLE

That took the wind out of their mills
 VARA-TV, Holland's Socialist television station, decided to show viewers just how lucky they are. The station recently aired a "typical day" of American TV programming, designed to demonstrate the "horrors" perpetrated by Freddy Silverman and company. The Amsterdam-based broadcaster exposed audiences to "Tic Tac Dough," "Gilligan's Island," "ABC's Wide World of Sports," "Love Boat" and similar Yankee abominations. One flaw in the whole scheme though: The Dutch loved it. According to Variety, VARA's ratings doubled, wiping out the competition.
