Another Canyon On The Floor Of The Ocean

Columbia University scientists, headed by Bruce C. Heezen, geological research expert, have announced the discovery of a second vast canyon on the floor of the North Atlantic Ocean. The first canyon to be discovered was found about two years ago. It ran north-south and was found in about mid-ocean. The second canyon discovered, which was located on a 7,000-mile trip taken by Columbia University scientists recently, runs east-west.

Both the huge gorges are said to converge on a flat mid-Atlantic plain which is about 18,000 feet below the surface of the ocean. The new canyon, running east-west, is estimated to be from 300 to 500 miles in length.

As a result of these discoveries, the latest theory is that these canyons, and perhaps others, form a part of a huge network of canyons, which may connect with canyons originating in river mouths. The theory proves true, some of the mysteries of the depths may be solved, and surprising information uncovered.

Observance Of Bible Week In America

National Bible Week is being observed from October 18th to 24th this year. The purpose of the observance is an effort to reawaken religious thinking in every possible way, and is in line with a year-round campaign carried on by the Laymen's National Committee, Inc., to encourage the reading and study of the Bible.

Among other things, the Laymen's National Committee, Inc. provides graces, of all faiths, in dining-rooms of restaurants and hotels, and in radio and dining cars, provides favorite prayers of the people in the newspapers, sponsors spot announcements over the air throughout the year, and talks by outstanding men and women.

National Bible Week is, however, perhaps the most important of all the organization's activities. It is an effort from which millions of Americans can profit greatly.

Though the Bible is the greatest book ever written, there are those who will not necessarily agree with everything in it, or agree with it with all other books ever compiled, it stands far and away above them all, and carries Christ's message in clearer form than any other book.

The week of October 18-24 is a good time for you to review your study of the Bible, and think about its message, and how much time you have spent studying it recently. Many of us have not read the Bible thoroughly completely for a number of years, and the benefits to be gained from a thorough knowledge of the Bible and its lessons, are so great as to make this re-reading well worthwhile.

In fact, life's problems today are little different from those of the times of the Bible, and a study of the Bible will do more to help you meet these problems and arrange your life satisfactorily than anything else we know of.

A Debate On Placing Airline Seats

The debate still continues on the question whether to reverse airline passenger seats. One U. S. air line announced, over a year ago, it would face passengers toward the back of the plane, as it has today, but it said that time few other air lines have followed this example.

United States Military Air Transport Service (MATS) is now conducting research and experimentation with the rearward-facing seats and some planes are already using this system. In fact, no many weeks ago, a MATS plane crashed in England, with some 50 persons aboard, and the crash took lives. There was only one injury.

The British Air Ministry is reported to have credited the remarkable escapes of the plane's passengers for the reason that the U. S. air line which has adopted the reversed seat-facing system is North American Air Line.

Its president, Stanley Weiss, was recently quoted as saying the idea behind the experiment is to reduce air sickness and to provide greater safety for passengers. He noted that air travelers in a sudden impact—are now thrown against their safety belts and that only a small area of the body is expected to absorb this sudden forward motion.

On the other hand, if one's back is to the forward end of the plane and there is a sudden stop, then the force of the impact is directed against the back of the neck. This works to prevent injuries caused by undue strain, and sudden forward movement.

The debate on the seating arrangement in airplanes will probably continue for some time, and many air lines argue that there are no advantages to backward seating. We believe, however, that there are many advantages to this system, and that, in the interest of safety, all the major air lines should adopt rearward facing seats.

If North American Air Line's experience is typical, passenger reaction indicates that most passengers prefer the backward facing seats, since they have a tendency to limit air-sickness and also because they are a safety measure, which reduces any mental strain which might be incurred.

Television Being Used For Education

The National Citizens' Committee for Educational Television, recently reported that educational TV is now being seen by 15,000,000 Americans who live within range of non-commercial television stations. The committee also reported an expected thirty to forty million more Americans will be receiving educational television soon when outlets "already financed and building" are completed.

The N.C.C.T. was formed two years ago—when no educational TV station was in operation. The report shows seven are operating today, and thirteen more are in some stage of building activity.

Executive Director Robert R. Mullen, of the N.C.C.T., says the committee feels recent progress has been "most encouraging although at times it has been discouraging during the last two years." An interesting part of the N.C.C.T. report is its finding that in all instances where educational people are within broadcast range of a reserved HF channel, stations are either on the air or well advanced with plans for building, with only two exceptions. These exceptions are Minneapolis-St. Paul and Milwaukee.

The annual report of the N.C.C.T. is interesting because it indicates the Federal Communications Commission acted wisely in setting aside channels for educational TV when channel allocations were made several years ago. That is the major criticism of U. S. radio and television—that little of the wonderful transmission possibilities of these media are utilized for educational purposes—as is done in Britain.

To correct this condition, the FCC—when allocating channels—set aside some of them for educational purposes, and there were loud objections from some commercial interests that they would go unused and unneeded. However, it seems that they are being utilized, and that they offer the American people a great opportunity for cultural advancement and mass education.

23 Breckinridge Students Trained For Fire Duty

Twenty-three members of the Breckinridge Training School Fire Squad were trained last Thursday. These boys are all over 16 years old. Charles Staton was selected leader, with Charles D. Caudill and Gerald Crawford as Assistant Leaders.

The Rowan County Fire Guard, Herbert Barker, assisted the U. S. Forest Service personnel in the training program. This is probably one of the biggest turnouts since the crew started functioning.

Radar Being Used In The North's Silent War

The silent war in the far north goes steadily on, with the United States now constructing a second radar-warning line across Canada, with Canadian cooperation. A line even farther north is also being contemplated, in addition to the first line, which is now complete, and the second line, which is now under construction.

The third line would run above the Arctic Circle, and would present difficulties, due to the cold weather, which are now not so severe in the southern locations of lines one and two.

One reason why the Defense Department wishes to extend our radar picket line to the North is the unmistakable evidence that Soviet Russia is building bombers which can travel at speeds 600 miles an hour and above. Until recently, it was thought that the main Russian bomber—in an immediate war—would be the 300-mile-an-hour TU-4 bomber, which carries only 125 men, three hundred and four hundred miles an hour.

While some of these preparations may not seem directly important to Americans at the moment, they are vital, and the scientific war now being waged by the United States will have a decisive influence on the outcome of the next World War.

Parents Should Guard Against Diphtheria

Meade County has reported several cases of Diphtheria to the Kentucky State Department of Health.

It is the parents' responsibility to see that their children are immunized against diphtheria, which is preventable. Neglect to do so exposes not only their children but children and schoolmates as well.

Such preventable diseases as diphtheria, whooping cough, tetanus and smallpox. The above mentioned diseases can be prevented by having your children immunized by your family doctor or at the local Health Office.

Many physicians now recommend a triple vaccine which immunizes against diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus. But whether or not immunization against these three is given singly or simultaneously, the important thing is that children be immunized.

Since epidemics often result through negligence, it is important that you know your child at an early age, in infancy as early as three months of age, which emphasizes the need for immunization as advised by the family physician.

Diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus may leave serious after effects or may be fatal, which emphasizes the need for early immunization. If vaccination against smallpox, is relaxed,

Football Is Rough With Many Uspets

As football has taken over the sports spotlight from baseball, it has quickly become apparent that 1954 will be a season of major upsets. Already the No. 1 team has been topped, and most of the nation's most powerful teams have fallen by the wayside in upset victories.

Like the New York Giants' World Series triumph, the unexpected is good for sports, and these upsets create much interest, surprise and elation among fans everywhere. A season of upsets is bad medicine only for the prognosticators and crystal-gazers, but the fan finds upsets highly satisfying.

The opening weeks of the football season give every indication that this year will be one packed with thrills. There will be candidates for the various bowl games, and many strong teams, and the bowl games should be better than usual on January 1st. It is always better to have a number of strong teams, rather than to have any one team dominating the field, and, therefore, we think the present football season a more promising one than has unfolded in several years.

The Best Proof Of Recent Progress On Rowan Co. Farms

Eight years ago Dr. W. P. Garrigus, Lexington, recognized as perhaps the foremost authority on cattle in Kentucky, was asked to judge the cattle show at the Rowan County Youth Fair.

Looking over the six or seven entries in the baby beef ring, Dr. Garrigus called the Fair committee aside and said: "I understand I am to judge under the Danish system. There's not one of these deserving of a blue ribbon."

Dr. Garrigus did tie a blue ribbon after the committee asked him to be lenient because it would encourage the youngsters.

Dr. Garrigus has been judging the ring at Morehead County year and in his travels over the state he often refers to the progress that has been made in quality cattle production.

When Dr. Garrigus walked into the baby beef judging ring at the 1934 Fair, he was (as he explained later) amazed. There were 300 babies and a perfect baby heaves awaiting his discerning and critical eye.

Dr. Garrigus ended his judgment with an almost unprecedented 13 blue ribbons.

The above is mentioned to give you the idea of the remarkable strides Rowan farmers, FFA, FHA, 4-H and other organizations have made.

Another indication of our progress is a local television dealer informs us that there are 1,500 TV sets in Morehead County. About half of these are in Morehead. Its suburbs and Clearfield.

It is further evidence of the higher standards of living and cash income of our farmers. The electric refrigerator in nearly every farm home, improved electric stoves, and the automobile in the drive-away era when our farmers had to accept relief.

When the Morehead-Flemings Road was built in 1932-33, the contractor paid for the road with 20 cents an hour rate for every job. Many people walked several miles each morning to start an hour hoping they might get work on the road.

At the same time the Senff Natatorium and Jayne Stadium in Morehead were built on 20 cents an hour rate.

Proclamation From Morehead's Mayor

Mayor William H. Layne is issuing a proclamation reaffirming the all-out support and cooperation of the citizens of our town to Morehead State College.

The Mayor will act business president of the town.

Dr. Adron Doran is being inaugurated President on Friday next.

A Good Leader

Passes On

Countless thousands of Kentuckians had about the same feeling when they learned of the death of Dr. John Howard Sayre, president of the state. He had a big heart, strong in carriage, and a big brain.

Morehead College is fortunate that Dr. Payne was its leader during the last year of its infancy. He has earned by public service the peaceful honor to which he has devoted his life.

Dr. Payne will not be forgotten.

We Don't Know How They Did It

Thoughtful official announcement has been made by teachers in Rowan County's public school system. They will begin with their first check, one half of the salary increase they had been promised.

Studying the income and budget of the Board of Education let us know how this was accomplished since the State Board of Education cut the equalization funds for the county back to last year's figures.

It is a happy day for the teachers. They deserve it. But if the Board exceeded its budget by $17,500, it is hard to grant this, we're concerned that the salary increase is only temporary.

Our Prediction About Correct

We said in the last issue that if Morehead was to win the football game this year it would be against Western or Louisville. The prediction was made because reports that Western had one of 13 better ball clubs and the excellent quality of the Hilltoppers' four or five touchdown favorites.

We knew, despite reports, that the Hilltoppers' were in the passing attack of past years. Well, the Eagles could have won the game if they had taken their 15-13. It was a tough loss for Shorty Jamerson and his team. Who are putting everything they have into building Morehead's football so that it can compete in the Ohio Valley Conference.

Ballots In This Issue Of News

The general election is less than three weeks off. We believe there will be a fair turn out of voters. We will have a record as many think. Interest is not nearly so great as the politicians believe.

Facilities of the official general election are being set up in other schools elsewhere in this issue of the News.

He Thought Our Informal Visit

We have a right fair idea that an informal visit Henry Ward that will have a good something to do with Morehead College students being selected as the 1955 state of Kentucky publicity.

Henry and your editor were visiting Morehead when the Commissioner of Welfare commented: "My, but you have a lot of pretty girls here." Henry remembered this when he and Mack Skiff (Publicity Director) chose Morehead.

Deadline For Absentee Ballots

Oct. 23 is the deadline to make application for an absentee ballot. You can apply and vote at the same time. Write to the County Clerk's office or you may mail your application. The Clerk cannot count absentee applications received after the deadline.

Rowan Clerk Ottis W. Egan said that he has already received about 50 applications. He's expecting three times that many.

Strawberry Patching Tomorrow Evening

Morehead merchants will hold their second Strawberry Patching tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock in the City Hall. Business and pleasure groups are to group another cash crop for Rowan County.

The will carry their plans, along with inducements, to community meetings in rural districts.

You'll read much in future issues of the Rowan County News about the economic and potential profits to producers.

Sam Litton, Jr., Candidate For Board of Education, Issues Statement to Voters

To the voters of Rowan County School District Number 5, consisting of the following precincts: Little Brushy 6, Morehead 10, Big Brushy 20 and Morehead 21s. Many citizens, interested in our school system, urged me to become a candidate for the Board of Education. I advised them at first that I was not interested, since it is necessary that I work every day to provide a living for my family. However, as the father of two children, and concerned with the manner in which our school system is operated, after much thought, consented to file. Now, that I am in the race, I respectfully present my candidacy for your consideration and request that you cast your vote on November 9 for the person whom you think will best represent the interests of our people and our children. Many of you know me personally and I invite those who do not to inquire as to my ability to properly represent you and my record as a citizen and a person interested in our county and our people. I have lived most of my life in Rowan County, engaging in farming and other work. I am married and my children are 13 and 4 years of age. I have some very definite ideas about the operation of our school system and it is on these and my past conduct as a citizen, that I solicit your support. To begin with, I am not running this race for anyone and I am not obligated or tied to anybody. In the selection of a Superintendent and all other personnel my mind is open. I will be for that which I think is best for the children of Rowan County. I respectfully solicit the vote of every teacher, but will not make any difference whether you vote for me or my opponent insofar as your future employment and career is concerned. I believe in employing the most qualified and experienced teachers regardless of their politics or how they vote in this or any other race. I feel that preference should be given to Rowan Countians in teaching and other positions which they are qualified to fill. I request of the teachers that they not vote at the polls on election day, but think it is the duty of our teachers to properly handle their school work and so conduct themselves as an exemplary citizen. I feel that it is unbecoming, and entirely out of place, for a teacher to vote at the precincts in a School Board race as this indicates that they are under pressure and lowers the peoples estimation of our teachers as individuals and our school system as a whole. It is my belief that the Board of Education should be a non-partisan board, a group of qualified people, devoid of political scruples, working conscientiously together for our schools and not for any personal or political gain. I know that both democrats and republicans will agree with me at the educational system of Kentucky is by law, so founded. For example, the laws of our state require that the Board of Regents at Morehead State College (whose functions are akin to a County Board of Education) and all the other state colleges and universities be composed of an equal number of appointed democrats and republicans. Our forefathers long ago realized that partisan boards in our educational system are not good for our adult citizens and our children. This race is important. Our population is expanding and there are more and more children in our school system each year. There are demands for more buildings and higher standards. Rowan County is in a very favorable position since our school tax rate is the highest allowed by law. The Board of Education has a staggering debt. The Board has stretched its budget as far as it can go. A perusal of the records discloses that Rowan County's public school system is probably in worse financial shape than in any eastern Kentucky county or perhaps the entire state. This is one of the multiple problems that will face me, if elected, and other Board of Education members. In finally consenting to make this race, I took into consideration that strong leadership is needed on our Board of Education during these difficult times. It will take many years of proper management, and wise expenditure of the money available to alleviate this financial condition. It must be done with existing revenue, because the Board has borrowed every dollar it possibly can under the law. If you believe that I will make a good member of the Board of Education; if you think that my life as a citizen and a person interested in our county merits your confidence; if you feel that I can provide a balance wheel on the Board and contribute my services conscientiously and unselfishly, I ask that you vote for me. I pledge to you the best that is in me. Respectfully yours, Sam Litton, Jr. -Pol. Adv.

Group Plans To Improve Cemetery At Siloam

'People in the Siloam community and those with relatives buried in the Siloam Cemetery will gather Saturday evening at 7 o'clock to organize a cemetery improvement group. James B. Calvert, Sr., and Henry C. Hagan, who are spearheading the movement, said the cemetery is in a pitiful state of neglect. They met with the Siloam Church group at a basket dinner Sunday and made plans for this Saturday's meeting. The Siloam Cemetery Association will be like the many others that have been started in Rowan and other counties of this part of the state. Members raise the money but most of the improvements are by donated labor. Generally, the work is a full day in the cemetery and their wives prepare a noon-day meal. Mr. Calvert issued a request today that all who possibly can attend Saturday evening's meeting. Those who have an interest in this cemetery and cannot attend, are requested to contact or write Mr. Calvert at Morehead.

Eagle Track Team, Victorious In First Meet, Competes Saturday At Oxford, Ohio

Morehead's cross-country team, victorious in its first meet last Saturday over Berea and Bellarmine, will be pitted against Miami, Butler and Ohio State Saturday at Oxford, Ohio. This meet will test the strength of the young Morehead squad as Miami will have virtually the same team that finished ninth in the National Championships last year. The Eagle's victory last week was essentially a team victory. Six Morehead runners finished in the first nine, extraordinary performance in a tri-angulation meet. Coach Nolan Fowler had nothing but praise for his boys, especially sophomore Carl Deaton. Deaton, competing in cross-country for the first time, set a new course record, covering the grueling three mile distance in 17:49 minutes. The former record holder, Charles Wilson of Berea, finished second.

Payne's policy to identify himself as president at Morehead, and to possess the hearing and knock to mingle with any crowd and converse on practically any subject.

Perhaps his best known trait was his friendship for students and his office was always open for them. He often used his high office in diplomatically siding with a student which, at times, exasperated members of his faculty and staff.

Persons closest to the college credit Dr. Payne with a major contribution during its infancy.

The educator, a past president of the Kentucky Education Association, was born in Campbell County on April 27, 1889, the son of the late Edward and Agnes Miles Payne.

He spent his early life in Campbell County, attending public schools of the county. He received his A. B. degree from the University of Kentucky, his masters degree from Cumberland University and an honorary doctorate from UK.

His first work in the state's educational system was as superintendent of the Bedford school system. Dr. Payne then became superintendent of Richmond schools, after which he went to Mayville as school superintendent.

During his three years at Mayville he obtained financing from the Rosenwald Fund to construct a modern high school for Negroes. Dr. Payne was one of five national educators selected to represent the National Educational Association on a trip to Germany to study the German-type school system. For a number of years he was regarded as one of Kentucky's foremost orators.

In recent years, Dr. Payne was a training supervisor in the Department of Economic Security, Frankfort, retiring from the post last April.

He was a member of the Masonic lodge at Bedford and the Morehead Methodist Church.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. John E. Jenkins, Frankfort; a son, Duval Payne, Venice, Fla.; a brother, Henry Clay Payne, Columbus, O.; and three grandchildren, Van Jenkins, Vanderbilt University, and Phillip and Allen Payne, Venice.

On third down Western failed to gain, but was offside. Morehead refused the penalty which would have moved it fourth down and four.

On the next snap from center the Hilltoppers failed, but Morehead was called for a personal foul, giving the Hilltoppers a first down on the one yard line.

Then Westerns penalized five yards. Gunnel faded back for a pass and Morehead tackled, giving the Hilltoppers an opening around his left end and skirting the necessary six yards. It was mistakes like that that kept Morehead from winning.

Western came back strong in the second half, and while the fans were watching the finish of a triangular track meet between Morehead-Bellevue and Berea, the Hilltoppers were in a practice drill for a touchdown.

From then on Morehead had glorious scoring opportunities but failed to cash in on their chances.

Officials said the first half of the game was one of the roughest they had ever seen. Westerns penalized nine times for clipping and slugging. One player was ejected from the game and the Hilltoppers were warned repeatedly by the OVC officials. Six or seven Eagles were injured.

Cooper-Barkley Debate Is Tonight

Eric Severid, chief Washington correspondent for the Columbia Broadcasting System, will moderate a debate between U. S. Sen. John Sherman Cooper and former Vice President Alben W. Barkley over a six-station radio network this (Thursday) evening at 8:30 p. m.

The debate between Cooper, the Republican senatorial nominee seeking re-election, and Barkley, his Democratic opponent, will originate from WHAS in Louisville.

Five other Kentucky radio stations also will carry the program.

125,000 On Farms Included In SS Law

Approximately 125 thousand self-employed farm operators and about 75 thousand additional farm workers in Kentucky will be affected by the new social security law which becomes effective January 1, it is announced by the College of Agriculture and Home Economics of the University of Kentucky.

Farm operators, who make as much as $400 profit a year, as well as farm employees who earn as much as $100 each, pay in a year for any one farmer, will have old-age and survivors insurance protection under the new law. Monthly payments in old age and monthly payments to survivors in case of the breadwinner's death are some of the benefits for which such workers will now be eligible.

Under the law, workers and their employers and self-employed people contribute to a fund while they are working. When earnings stop because of the death of the worker or because of his retirement at age 65 or later, payments are made from the fund to the worker and his dependents or to his survivors.

The tax for employees is 2 percent of their pay up to $3,000 in 1954, and $4,200 in 1955, the amount paid to be matched by the employer. The tax for self-employed people is 3 percent of their earnings.

Farmers employing workers whose annual earnings total more than $100 from any one employer will deduct 2 percent of each worker's pay, add an additional 2 percent, and send the total amount to the Director of Internal Revenue along with a list showing the wages and social security account number of each employee. Self-employed farmers pay their 3 percent tax once a year along with their income tax return. First payment for farm operators not previously covered under Old Age and Survivors Insurance will be due in 1956 for 1955, and will be part of the income tax return.

$10 Limit On Corporation Fee

County court clerks are not entitled to a greater fee than $10 for recording consolidation agreements between corporations in the county clerk's office, according to a ruling of Assistant Attorney General M. B. Hoffield.

The ruling was given to Louis Cox, Frankfort, who wrote that certain clerks had complained the fee was too small, and had insisted a larger fee be paid. Hoffield cited a statute which limited both the Secretary of State and any county clerk to a fee of $10 for recording such agreements.

Religion often suffers as much from the actions of those on the inside as from on the outside.

Jones Again Elected To Head Co-Op

Tobacco Producers Choose Officers At Lexington Gathering

John W. Jones, North Middle town, president, and other officers of the Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-Operative Association were re-elected at Lexington this week by the pool's board of directors.

Chosen with Jones, who was named to his 14th consecutive term, were John M. Berry, New Castle, vice president; William L. Stalon, Lexington, executive secretary-treasurer; and C. J. King, Nicholasville, assistant secretary-treasurer.

With the exception of three directorships on the 25-member board, all directors and directors-at-large were re-elected in a recent balloting by the association's 250,000-farmer membership in Kentucky.

The new directors, all from Kentucky districts, are A. W. Ayers, Owensboro, president, succeeding Clark Karsner, Monterey; Joe McDaniel, Cynthiana, 2nd district, succeeding J. C. Beckett, Butler, and Scott McClain, Taylorville, 20th District, succeeding Charles D. Bean, Cox Creek.

W. E. Poston, Vevey, Ind., was returned as director from the 7th District, where no election was held.

The top officers' re-election was unanimous on motion of A. H. Calvert, Maysville, who moved their election at the salary currently receive. No opposing candidates were nominated.

The directors discussed the cross-compliance provisions of the quota program whereby a burley farmer, who also produces another commodity under quotas, must comply with quotas on both crops to be eligible for price support loans on tobacco.

The cross-compliance provision has been relaxed, but still affects certain burley-producing areas where corn also is produced under quotas. The board took no action, other than discuss, cross-compliance.

The directors also discussed the practice of marketing the basket ticket of "red card" tobacco at the price support rate for that basket. So-called "red card" tobacco is not eligible for association loans, but it is graded by federal inspectors along with other eligible tobacco.

A warehouse employee follows the inspectors, and marks on each sales ticket the minimum price as set up in the advance schedule for the grade set by the graders. The minimum price, in effect, is the pool's bid for that basket which must be topped by commercial bidders or it is "pooled" at the loan rate.

It was suggested that warehouses be required not to mark the loan rate on basket cards of "red card" tobacco, and actually to have different color cards to distinguish the "legal" from the "illegal" tobacco.

Almost all directors opposed the present practice, but Berry disagreed with the view, saying a change in the setup would discriminate against certain growers who market "red card" consignments.

Truck Service Under Probe By State Department

The State Department of Motor Transportation has begun a survey to determine the "quantity and quality" of service being rendered by common carrier truck operators in Kentucky.

Civic groups, business interests, shippers and others have been furnished questionnaires seeking data involving truck shipments to learn whether deliveries are satisfactory, whether truckers make prompt deliveries, whether C.O.D. claims and other data in connection with those operations.

Delmer Isom, director of the Division of Rates and Service for the Department, declared the principal objective of this survey is to help us assure the public of better truck service in the future.

"If we can determine, through this survey, that deficiencies exist in our aim to bring about a correction," said Isom. "The survey should prove of substantial help to the segment of the public which relies so heavily on this form of transportation."

FHA Week In State Proclaimed

Governor Wetherby designated the week beginning October 31 as "Future Homemakers' Week" in Kentucky and asked citizens to encourage and acquaint themselves with the organization which, he said, contributed to "strong foundations for future homes and the developing of future leaders."

State Income Tax Forms Are Mailed

First Reports Of Withholding Due Soon By Employers

Forms for filing declaration of estimated Kentucky income tax are being mailed to 200,000 Kentuckians from the Department of Revenue in Frankfort, Commissioner Robert H. Alphin announced this week.

The new state income tax law requires self-employed persons to file declarations of estimated income and pay-the tax during the year in which the income is earned. Most salaried individuals will have tax withheld by their employers and should not file declarations. However, a declaration of estimated tax must be filed by every individual who expects to receive total gross income of at least $1,500 during 1954 of which more than $1,000 is income from which no tax has been withheld. The declaration must be filed by Nov. 15, and one-half of the estimated tax paid at that time. The remaining one-half is to be paid when a final return is filed on or before April 15, 1955.

Persons who do not receive a form by mail but are required to file, may obtain forms at Kentucky Department of Revenue district offices located in Ashland, Covington, Louisville, Lexington, and Paducah and at banks, county tax commissioners' and county farm agents' offices.

Advertising between now and Christmas will sell a world of goods.

Seek Stork With A Broken Heart

Ornithologists, policemen and a wrestler armed with a 40-foot noose searched Zurich, Switzerland this week for the lone stork that refuses to fly south for the winter.

The stork, who has captured the imagination of Zurich residents, does not know his mate was killed when she flew into a high tension wire and he has refused to fly south with the other storks. The police want to put the stork in the zoo to keep him from freezing.

Establish New Bangs Testing Laboratory

Commissioner of Agriculture Ben S. Adams announced establishment of a new Bangs disease testing laboratory at Hopkinsville, to serve 40 Western Kentucky counties. Establishment of the new laboratory, under supervision of the state veterinarian, will make it unnecessary for farmers in the area to send specimens to the University of Kentucky laboratories at Lexington for analysis.

U.S. Government Is Turning To God

Back in the pit of the depression in 1931, the United States declared officially: "In God is our trust."

Today with other troubles confronting the nation, the government has added new emphasis to the motto.

It has, for the first time, set aside a prayer room in the national Capitol.

It has made "under God" a part of the pledge to the flag.

It has provided a new pension system and tax benefits for clergymen.

It has put the words, "In God We Trust" on the stamps that carry the bulk of the country's letters.

It has weighed proposals for even more specific action affirming national religious faith.

All these things came in, this year's session of Congress, which mark it as a sort of watershed for legislation related to God.

Government action in this realm always has been a touchy business in this country, and some of the new steps didn't come without murmurs of anxiety.

Most of the new legislation was generally acceptable to major church bodies.

"The state must not be Godless," commented the Lutheran, a church magazine. "It must be neutral toward both Christians and Jews, but it can not be neutral toward God."

Although history bulges with rulers and empires that traced their authority to God, this country's constitution bars any laws "respecting an establishment of religion."

The idea has been interpreted as keeping the state separate from religion, so that every man's way of worship, if any, will be entirely up to him—and not the lawmakers.

But on occasions, as at present, the government has sought to express its reliance on a higher power. Usually, this has been in time of stress.

The first occasion was in the Declaration of Independence which voiced recognition of "our Creator" as the source of human rights.

In the unrest following the Civil War, the federal mist first began stamping the motto, "In God We Trust" on U. S. coins.

This was done, not by legislation, but by a directive from Treasury Secretary Salmon P. Chase, on suggestion of a Pennsylvania pastor. The practice has continued since.

In the economically bleak days of 1931, Congress officially adopted Francis Scott Key's century-old "Star Spangled Banner" as the official national anthem, with its declaration: "Let this be our motto, in God is our trust."

Among the 1934 federal moves concerning religion, the only one drawing major opposition was an unsuccessful proposal by Sen. Ralph Flinders (R-Vt.) to amend the constitution to acknowledge "the authority and law of Jesus Christ."

Declared the non-denominational Christian Century: "What enactment of such an amendment would do... to guarantee of religious freedom... and to relations between religious groups in this country, the mind can scarcely comprehend."

"Our nation should get a lift from this evidence of renewed interest in religion, prayer and meditation," they said.

New legislation on clergymen provides for a voluntary pension system and also allows them to deduct costs of housing, if not supplied to them, from income tax returns.

State Dairy Herds Record Production

Eight institutional farms of the State Departments of Welfare and Mental Health announced their dairy herds produced 585,989 pounds of milk for patients and inmates during the month of September. Butterfat totaled 29,053 pounds.

The monthly report prepared by Dairy Specialist Albert O. Davis shows that the State Reformatory at LaGrange led production with 112,012 pounds of milk but that the herd at the State Penitentiary at Eddyville was tops in butterfat per cow with 37.7 pounds.

Kentucky State Hospital, Danville, was second in milk production with 99,004 pounds. Other herds reported were at Central State Hospital, Lakeland, 92,750 pounds; Eastern State Hospital, Lexington, 81,961; Western State Hospital, Hopkinsville, 74,507; Kentucky Training Home, Frankfort, 60,744; Kentucky Village, Greendale, 40,826; and the State Penitentiary, Eddyville, 23,085 pounds.

All Kentucky Employees Now Covered By SS

Kentucky's entire body of 182,500 employees—and an additional 17,000 employees of cities, school districts, utility boards and independent governmental agencies—are covered by the Federal Old-Age and Survivors Insurance law, according to H. B. Fabian, director of the Division of Personnel in the Department of Economic Security.

The 1931 special session of the General Assembly caused state employees to be placed under the system, and permitted local governments to elect whether to come under it.

The 17,000 employees of local governments covered by the law include those in 100 cities, 82 counties, 150 school districts and 70 independent units such as utility boards.

Taxable wages of those currently covered include $41,875,000 for state employees, and $27,000,000 from the local government, with $1,873,000 yearly in contributions from the state employees and $1,075,000 from the local governmental units.

The school units covered in the program include only non-instructional employees, while public school teachers are not covered by the program. They have their own program.

Recent amendments to the Social Security Act, however, make it possible for the Division of Public School Teachers through legislative action to come under the program, according to Fabian.

Marilyn, Joe Split Up—Both Unhappy

When Marilyn Monroe emerged from her honeymoon house after two days of seclusion this week, she revealed a Monroe the public had never seen before.

An hour after Joe DiMaggio had left the house, formally ended their nine-month marriage, Marilyn came out and faced the 30 newsmen. She was frightened and emotionally upset. She clung to lawyer Jerry Giesler and scarcely heard the questions that were flung at her. Her eyes filled with tears.

A far cry from the beautiful blonde who delighted interviewers with quotes like: "Sex is a part of nature; I'd rather go along with nature." Quite different from the girl who admitted she set—the fulfillment of the dreams of an orphan girl.

You get a different picture of Marilyn Monroe from those who have worked closely with her. Says one of her admirers, actress Lauren Bacall:

"She's a hard girl to get to know. But you have the feeling that she wants to be liked. That's more important to her. Her instincts are those of a nice gal, not a phony. She's wary of people and probably with good reason, she's been stung by many of them."

The press agent who works closest to Marilyn has this to say: "To understand Marilyn, you have to study her life. She was taken in as a little girl by a group of religious fanatics who told her 'God will hate you because she was singing and dancing. Then she lived with some British vaudeville acts who taught her theatrical tricks. She also lived with an elderly woman, a lawyer and others. She's bound to be confused by a living legend."

The other side is a girl named Norma Jean Baker. She led an orphan childhood, unwanted and unloved. She grew up painfully shy and fearful of people. Yet her ambition to be liked drove her to universal prominence.

The Hollywood know-it-alls have guessed at the real cause of the DiMaggio-Monroe split. They're stabbing in the dark, because Marilyn has told no one. Perhaps she never will. Only one person ever came close to gaining her complete confidence and that was Joe. Now he is gone. It may take her a long time to recover.

Production Of Cigarettes Is Declining

Production of cigarettes is declining slightly in 1934 for the second consecutive year after hitting an all-time high in 1932. Meanwhile, the population continues to grow. Marketing specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture figure the high birth rate since the war is fast boosting the number of young folks under 15 years old. The number of oldsters over 60 has also increased sharply.

But more of the people between 20 and 40 tend to be cigarette smokers and probably smoke more cigarettes per day, than those in other age groups. The number of adults in the 20 to 40 age bracket has actually decreased in the past three years. That's one reason, the specialists think, that output of cigarettes has declined while the population has increased.

Before Dec. 1, the Secretary of Agriculture will announce the 1933 marketing quotas and acreage allotments for the several kinds of tobacco. Supplies of most kinds of tobacco for the year ahead are fairly large. Supplies of flue-cured and burley are larger than last year. Marketing specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture expect use of most kinds of tobacco in the country to run about as large or a little larger next year than this past year.

The United States may manage to ship a little more tobacco abroad during the year ahead, although American tobacco is facing more and more competition abroad.

It would be a nice world if everyone behaved like they acted in church.
