Contributions For Humphrey Awards Sought

Contributions are still needed for the Inez Faith Humphrey award fund at Morehead State College.

In response to the award proposal, the present endowment does not return sufficient interest to provide substantial awards in the future. Dr. James McConkey, chairman of the committee in charge, has announced.

In addition to his initial contribution, the original donor to the fund has promised to provide efficient funds for the first year's dual awards of $75 each.

Purpose of the awards is to honor Miss Inez Faith Humphrey, long-time member of the Morehead English faculty who retired in 1951, and to encourage an interest in creative writing among students at Morehead State College.

Both small and large contributions are needed. Alumni and other persons who wish to increase the endowment fund should make their checks payable to Morehead State College and send them to the Inez Faith Humphrey Award Fund, care of the college business office, Dr. McConkey said.

Sheriff Uses Airplane To Nab Man Running Around In Nude

Three peace officers got their man in a running Sunday afternoon but it required an airplane and some running that would not be a cross-country track man.

Sheriff Carl Lykins, deputy Walter Brown and Sergeant Billy Jones were patrolling in the Farmers vicinity when they noticed a man running around in the nude.

"They found the man's clothes in the barn at the farm. 'Maybe we could spot him from an airplane,' Deputy Brown commented.

The Farmers airport is nearby and a plane was circling overhead. Sgt. Lykins went to the airport and Sheriff Jones ran his man down.

When the nude spotted the Sheriff, who was slipping up on his bicycle, he started running. It couldn't be said that he took off with his shirt tail flying because he wore no shirt or anything else.

The chase went through several rear patches and thorns, but Sheriff Jones ran his man down.

The man, Charles Brown, about 30, was looked on a charge of public drunkenness.

Under Rubie Thomas said he was bleeding all over from the beating and cut from the Sheriff's hands as he 'net' up after he was chased behind bars.

"We looked around before we took him in to be sure there were no women around," the Sheriff reported. He didn't have any schools on then.

A proclamation on World Day of Prayer issued by Morehead Mayor William H. Layne appears on page three, this week.

In 125 other countries, producing a band of prayer encircling the globe and lasting 24 hours. Now an international event the World Day of Prayer dates back to 1857 when a Presbyterian woman in Boston called for a nation-wide day of prayer for world missions. In 1920, the idea was adopted in Canada and seven years later, at the request of Christian leaders in other lands, it became a world-wide observance.

Tragedy struck a group of Morehead College coeds Saturday afternoon leaving one girl dead, three critically injured and two others in serious condition.

Also killed in a head-on automobile collision was a Lexington motorist who was driving a Buick which has many dips, typical of the Bluegrass country, when Howell's car appeared over the crest.

The unidentified car forced Howell's automobile into the ditch. Attempting to right the vehicle on the wet and treacherous road.

The Editor's Pen on four cases this observation: "We would rather be dead than injured." This was the cry of the man who caused this accident.

The motorist who caused the tragedy did not stop, but police said it was possible he did not know of the accident unless he heard the crash. Investigation by police is continuing, and if officers are able to ascertain the driver's name, a manslaughter charge will be placed against him, police said.

The two cars preceding that in which Miss Mullins was killed, were also from Morehead. The three vehicles were transported to Lexington, where they were taken to the University of Kentucky where they participated in a "Christmas program."

Some of the girls basketball team of the Morehead State College, which made many personal appearances in several states, were in Lexington, Ark., on Saturday, where they were participating in a basketball tournament.

The Johnson sisters were first taken to Clark County Hospital at which Miss Mullins was killed. The other girls were taken to Lexington's Good Samaritan where all five are patients.

Police described the accident as "one of the worst" that they had ever seen. The driver of the unidentified car was obviously drunk because he crossed a "no passing" yellow line. They said a bill of $1000 will be levied on the driver.

Funeral services for Miss Mullins were held at 10 o'clock at the home of her parents, one of the most popular girls on the campus, were conducted at Olive Hill Church at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Twenty classmates, all members of the Morehead State College, sang at the final rites. Casket bearers were Morehead students: Jack Adams, Arthur Sautter, Howard Fisher, Ralph Cooney and Gene Cuser.

Production Of Farms About Same

No Increase Noted In 1954 For First Time In Nine Years

For the first time in nine years over-all world agricultural production did not increase last year, as North America output fell slightly and production in the Middle East and Asia failed to maintain its recovery of recent years.

Overall decreases were small, however, and South America showed an increase in production not quite sufficient to offset the decreases elsewhere.

A report by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, based upon information from its agricultural attaches "and other sources abroad, indicates that world output of agricultural products during 1954-55 appears to be almost as large as the record output of the previous year. Crop production, it states, is nearly 2 per cent below 1953-54, but production of livestock products has continued to new high levels, nearly offsetting the crop decline.

Continued large supplies of some agricultural products have led to serious marketing problems in several surplus-producing countries, the report states. As a result, numerous countries have taken steps to increase consumption or bring production more in line with demand and to expand export.

Nominate 30 For Board Of Directors

Final merger of Morehead's Board of Trade and Merchants Club into a Chamber of Commerce will be effected at a meeting of all members on March 11 in the courthouse.

Meanwhile the more than 100 charter members are voting for the Board of Directors. The Board, in turn, elects the President, Vice-President, Secretary, Manager and Treasurer.

Under the Constitution, passed after most members, authority and the real work of the organization is vested in the Board of Directors. The Morehead Chamber will be incorporated.

Retiring Board of Trade President William H. Layne and retiring Merchants Club President H. K. Taylor presided at Friday's gathering which lasted two hours and was attended by almost 100 business and professional men and women. It was pointed out this was the best turnout of business people that had been shown locally.

The Chamber, as a body, will meet only once a year—in February—unless called by the President, the Directors or petition of 10 percent of membership.

Taylor and Layne named a nominating committee of John Palmer, M. L. Tate, Glenn W. Lane, D. C. Gault and J. B. Calvert, Jr., to select candidates for the Board of Directors. The five members of the nominating committee are automatically on the ballot.

Voting is by a secret mail ballot and tabulation will be at the March 11 meeting. The committee selected five persons to supervise the election and count the votes. They are: C. B. Daugherty, Roger Caudill, Earl McBrayer, Oscar Calvert and Wilford Plannery.

UNITED STATES SAVINGS AND LOAN LEAGUE

1955 May Bring Many Changes In Postal System; Republicans Say They Want To Cut Deficit

The Democrats and the Republicans are starting to play their cards in the reorganization of the post office, but this won't be any kind of game.

For two years the Post Office Department has been undergoing its most drastic shakeup since it was founded in 1775. The Republicans say it was in the name of a lot of it was politics.

Now Republican Postmaster General E. Summerfield has asked the Democratic-controlled 84th Congress to help him control the shakeup on a wide out at least on paper, the department's huge deficit.

Summerfield, asked the Republican controlled 83rd Congress and got nowhere. And his program appears likely to run into more heavy bumps the second time around.

When the Republicans swept into power in Washington two years ago, the post office was placed high on the list of organizations needing business like reorganization.

Summerfield brought in teams of private business men to shake up the department, which has a billion dollar annual deficit since World War II.

The business men laid out a blueprint for a vast organization which, with 505,000 employees, is more than twice the size of the federal government, centralized, streamlined, plucked and pruned.

In so doing, Summerfield maintains that they improved service and effected significant savings.

Many Democrats, however, have not shared him down on these premises. They contend that decentralization sometimes does not improve service for local political purposes. They are equally as touchy on the reorganization.

The decentralization, however, powerful, independent, and powerful unions and the railroads have expressed vigorous disapproval of the program.

The reorganization had its first President Eisenhower's 1953 State-of-the-Union message.

"The postmaster general will institute a program directed at improving the service while at the same time cutting costs and decreasing the deficit."

There is agreement that since then the department's financial position has been improved. But how much is a hot point of controversy.

Summerfield says improved management operations saved $29,000,000 in fiscal 1954, the first full year of GOP operation. But he maintains that costs were actually cut much more than that.

The departments financial statement for the year began since 1953. In 1953 it was $353,000,000. Costs were cut $101,000,000 under the budgeted deficit for 1954.

This would indicate that in the first full year of Republican control the deficit was $25 million dollars below the deficit of the previous year.

Sen. Olin Johnston (D-S. C.), new chairman of the Senate Commerce and Civil Service Committee is not sure that is a misleading statement. He objects that the budgets for the two years were figured on different bases.

For example, air line subsidies totaling $60,000,000 were transferred from the Postoffice to the Civil Aeronautics. But the $37,300,000 cost of handling franked and "penalty" mail was switched to Congress and other departments.

In addition to giving up these expenses, the post office took in an additional $141,200,000 in fiscal 1954 from rate increases, mostly on parcel post.

Johnston argues that to make an honest comparison of 1953 and 1954, one has to figure in the new revenues and the transferred costs to other departments.

Under this formula, the department, by its own figures, would show a deficit for 1954 of only $29,400,000—the amount saved by changes in management operations—under the deficit for 1953, rather than the $101,000,000 claimed by Summerfield.

To go past this argument, Summerfield, figures on the same basis he used for 1954 and 1955, which ends June 30, will be 24 million dollars.

He believes that the department has asked Congress to raise postal rates to offset the anticipated deficit.

The program asks that regular rates on letters and mail be increased from six to seven cents; and that publishers pay the full cost of carrying newspapers, magazines, and other publications. It also provides for a "break" on bulk mail.

If Congress should adopt the plan, it would bring in more than 441 million dollars in new revenue in two years.

is acted upon. Mary will have their cards in the reorganization which began two years ago.

The department involved in the question of literally channels the life blood of the nation's social and business life.

It is the world's largest savings institution, with deposits of more than two billion dollars. It is the world's largest truck fleet operator, with 60,000 vehicles.

And Republicans maintain that when they took over two years ago it was the world's most complex bureaucracy.

Among other things, they reported that:

1. To make a purchase of over $25, a postmaster in the field had to send a form to Washington, where it went through 20 steps. The cost of making minor purchases of more than $25 averaged about $20.

2. The Washington office was receiving 400,000 purchase forms every year; 400,000 more were being used to fill out requests, and 400,000 more were being used to fill out requests.

department is Summerfield's employee pay and classification plan.

In February, 1954 George Fry and associates, management consultants, studied 57 post offices scattered from New York to Texas and found there were 92 pay ranges and 200 job titles and that employees were paid by the work they did.

The management experts said there was an absence of incentive pay, and that the pay got narrower in some instances by moving the board increases to a point where a postmaster made only five times as much as a janitor.

The Fry report recommended that pay ranges be reduced to 10, that jobs be classified according to work done as in industry and that an incentive pay plan be added.

Initially the cost of the pay plan was estimated at 80 million dollars but the figure was later raised to 112 million. The report said, however, that cost would tend to level off and decrease in some instances when the plan became operative.

The plan was turned down by the 83rd Congress. Now Summerfield has asked the 84th for salary increases and other benefits totaling 166 million dollars.

This figures out to at least a five per cent hike for all workers, slightly more for some.

The plan calls also for a complete shift in the department's personnel policy, and this is another intramural hot potato.

The four largest postal unions have protested that discretionary powers proposed for the postmaster general are too great, that they would result in a selection and seniority rights, and that employees would be safe against downgrading. Summerfield maintains that without additional authority he will be unable to bring salaries in line with the type of work performed.

This is one promise that everyone involved in the postal system can agree upon. The demand must go through. But step beyond that and you'll probably find an argument.

About 1,600 post offices, mostly small, fourth-class establishments were discontinued in an average saving of $1,400,000, with 200 rural main routes were consolidated.

Some of these changes brought no complaint from Democrats. But others were the subject of vigorous protests.

Where Republicans maintained that decentralization was vital in the event of an atomic attack and that establishment of regional offices was a closer check on operations and improved service, Sen. Johnston growled.

These regional offices are being set up by Summerfield to control decentralization in local areas.

While the dispute boils and bubbles, the department has taken two other steps involving revenue which brought controversy not only among employees and railroads.

One step was to start carrying three-cent letters by air between some cities. The other was to discontinue carrying unaddressed route patron mail sometimes called "junk" mail.

Less than a month before Summerfield announced that route patron mail would be discontinued as of March 15, Assistant Postmaster General E. Lyons had said the department was out for more such business.

Lyons admitted the junk mail was a money making proposition and added:

"It is my opinion that, if we can handle a larger volume of mail by taking up the slack, the more revenue we will have at no extra costs."

Opponents of air transportation for three-cent letters argue that it reduces the premium value of regular air mail.

In October, 1953, the first department began carrying all first-class mail between Chicago and Washington on a "space available" basis.

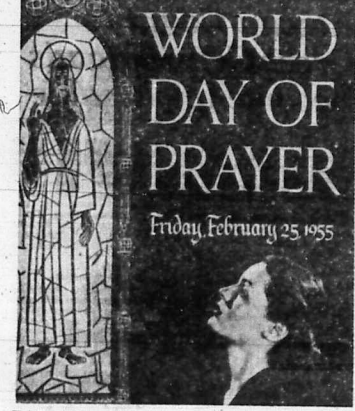

Since then, however, the "experiment" has been extended to large cities along the West coast, various Florida cities and to 13 feeder air lines serving 123 cities all parts of the country.

The railroads and the National Postal Transport Association are the men who set men on trains—want to know where the experiment ends; and if the department plans eventually to carry all three-cent mail by air, they are protesting to the Civil Aeronautics Board that carrying three-cent mail by air is illegal. They also complain that at government handling they have invested nearly a billion dollars in mail handling equipment.

Wm. Caudill Has Contracts To Test Minerals

William A. Caudill left Morehead last Thursday for a 60-day business trip which will take him into the far West, Mexico, and Canada.

He has contracts for analyzing mineral waters and establishing Spas.

Caudill is a recognized authority on water analysis and Spa construction. He has worked out a formula for the extraction of Coloidal Sulphur from properly balanced sulphur bearing waters. A substance may be said to be in the coloidal state when it is in transition from a solid to a liquid or a liquid to a gas. One gram of a solid when rendered coloidal will have a surface area of approximately one thousand square yards.

Mr. Caudill's water soluble colloid in either hot or cold water, and all diseases, toxic in nature, especially those associated with deranged metabolism. Sulphur as a therapeutic agent in the treatment of disease has long been recognized. It is beneficial effect not only upon diseases of the skin but also in the kindred ailments arising from infection or metabolic causes, was recognized even by the ancients in very early times.

Asking the question is much easier than finding the right answer.

"I REMEMBER" BY THE OLDFIMERS

From Mrs. J. R. Pittard, Star Route, So. Boston, Virginia: I remember when I was a girl my mother would burn hickory wood in the fireplace and use the ashes in what was called the "hickory" to be kept dry until the year was saved. Then she would add water to the ashes and make laundry soap from the bacon scraps and bones of pork.

She also remember hearing my grandmother say she had seen the corn cobs and use the ashes for baking soda—that was during the war between the states.

Labor Union Merger Has Political Significance

The recent agreement of the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations to merge before the end of the year is likely to have profound political significance in the United States.

Unlike other countries, we in the United States have had at least two powerful labor organizations; and sometimes three, in recent decades. This kept the labor front from being politically coordinated in some cases, but not in the degree one might have assumed.

In Europe labor has united into a single front in many of the major countries. In England the labor front is a one-party element in political life, and the labor vote is delivered fairly solidly and loyally to the Labor Party candidate in most instances.

The labor vote in the United States is traditionally more independent than in most European countries. Nor is there much chance, at present, that a labor party will spring into being. Americans still hold to the two-party theory of government, for the most part, and to the two principal parties.

Eventually, however, one of the two major parties will probably disappear. It has happened before on the American scene, and one should remember that the Republican Party is just a hundred years old, having been a new party at this time in the last century.

When the party alignment does change in the United States (and the labor front union may be a factor working for such realignment) the single powerful labor organization in the United States might become a party or it might become a dominating element in a two-party system.

We hope we do not see the day in this country of ours when the two major parties are a labor party and a conservative party.

We hope also that the two-party system will remain, at least for the time being, a U. S. political scene and that we will not witness the evolution of several other parties.

The labor union merger is a step forward in the best interests of labor, and we hail it, as do most Americans. We believe it will be of profound political interest to every citizen, and increase the power of labor's voice in coming elections.

Question Of Using Bombs On China

There is much current speculation on the question—whether the United States should and would use atomic bombs in the event of hostilities with China. Although we do not like to speak of major hostilities with China, as if they were imminent—and we do not think they are—nevertheless, the question must be faced and it must be answered.

In the first place, the view is that given if there is a clash between the United States Seventh Fleet and the Chinese Communist air force, no major war will result. This is merely our view and may be proved wrong.

However, we do not believe the clash which might develop between the Seventh Fleet and the enemy would be any more provoking than the actual combat between our divisions and Chinese divisions in Korea. And, one will remember, war was not declared between us and the Chinese during that conflict.

The United States is rightly determined not to attempt an invasion of China with a large army. This would not only be stupid but almost suicidal and could not possibly bring about satisfactory results in the end.

Likewise, the Chinese do not have the resources to invade the United States nor to impede U. S. business and activities in areas of the world other than near the China coast. Thus, there seems to be little point in any declaration of war by the two powers by events.

I find all the different mail carriers we have, to be efficient, courteous, and satisfying in every way, but I wish to call attention to the obstacles Mr. C. O. Smith, our present mail carrier encounters.

The last eight miles of his route is a new road under construction, and is passable with a Jeep only. He has to use chains on all four wheels at times, and during this recent severe weather, he can go only four miles of the last eight with the Jeep.

The amazing part is the cheerfulness and uncomplaining attitude he imparts toward his difficulties.

In my opinion, we would be very fortunate if all our public officials had the excellent characteristics of our rural mail carriers.

Rowan County's Creek Gravel Roads Become Impassable

For the past two years the editorial columns of this newspaper, members of the Fiscal Council, and interested citizens have complained of the use of creek gravel, instead of limestone, on Rowan County's rural roads.

Ironically, the rural highway administration hauled pool-limestone from quarries in Rowan to neighboring counties, but we could never get any for our roads although it was priced at rock-bottom—lower than anywhere in the state.

Now, comes the real storm of protest which we predicted two years ago. With all the snow and rain in January and February we have hundreds of Rowan County families that have mired in... many of our rural roads are impassable by car or truck and the people can't even get a doctor in case of illness.

The situation is general all over the county but it doesn't exist in neighboring Elliott, Morgan, Bath and other Reason, because they have limestone. We have creek gravel and sand. They wouldn't pay any attention to the pleas of our interested citizens.

It Rains And Then Rains Some More: As this is written (Wednesday) the sun is shining. This is the first nice day we've had in weeks. All this cold weather of having very mired roads on us fellows with rheumatism and arthritis.

Only consolation is that our better-to-do friends and neighbors who went to Florida for the winter aren't having very mired weather there. In the Letters To Editor column is a communication from California and it appears they've had as many damp and disagreeable days this year as we folks in Kentucky.

Health Center Plans Are Made: A group of Morehead citizens will meet tomorrow with the Department of Health in Louisville in an effort to work out plans for financing the last $5,000 needed for Rowan County's Health Center. We think they are on the right track and you'll read more about this in the future.

OV Tournament Opens Tonight At Louisville Armory

3rd Meeting Of Eagles, Eastern Probable In Tourney

Morehead Draws Mid. Tennessee In First Game

Morehead College's Eagles, capable of carrying off all the marbles, will meet Middle Tennessee in a first round game of the Ohio Valley Conference Tournament at Louisville this week.

The "Old-Backs" that has always humbled Morehead in the drawings prevailed again Sunday when pairings were made. The Eagles failed to reach into the hat and pick out one of the boys.

Eastern and Murray drew the first round free-pannage tickets this year.

Thursday, February 24
7:30 p. m.—Western vs. Tennessee Tech.

Friday, February 25
7:30 p. m.—Winner Western-Tennessee Tech vs. Murray.

8:20 p. m.—Morehead vs. Middle Tennessee.

Final game will be Saturday evening.

Western and Eastern have been installed slight favorites to again meet in the finals. However, close followers of play in the powerful and well-knit Ohio Valley Conference concede Murray or Morehead an excellent chance to top the bunching.

The Hilltoppers' 1st half spurge Saturday as they downed the Eagles 96-79 ended Ed Diddle's club to annex its third straight regular-season OV championship. Western had an 8-2 conference record. Murray and Eastern finished in a tie for the runner-up with records of 6-4 while Morehead was fourth with five conference victories against as many defeats.

Morehead easily trounced its first-round opponent Middle Tennessee by 96-79 in a league game at Morehead, but had to come from behind for a one-point 97-96 decision at Murfreesboro, Tenn.

The first round games may be closer than many anticipate since Morehead had plenty of trouble with Tennessee Tech in both meetings this year.

If Morehead upholds the favorable role and topples Middle Tennessee Thursday the Eagles will meet arch-rival Eastern at 9:20 Friday evening. And, there is, less a story of blood and thunder.

Eastern beat Morehead twice during the season, but the decisions were by close margins. It was 96-93 in an overtime at Morehead. In the return match at Eastern, Morehead won the ball for 18 minutes of the 30 minutes playing time in the second half to beat Morehead 81-73.

This freeze' brought complaint plenty from the fans and there is a question whether Coach Paul McBryer will try it again this year.

The Morehead-Eastern truce, provided the Eagles get by Middle Tennessee, could be the best of the OV tourney.

Adding zest to this week's activities are uncertain whether Coach Tourney Manager Kelly Thompson of Bowling Green said he had no sure assurance but "I wouldn't be surprised if the NIT secures the OV tourney championship."

Fortunately, Morehead will be in good physical condition for the blood-letting at Louisville.

Steve Hamilton, who has had trouble with a foot ailment while Bonnie Gaudin has recovered from a head injury suffered in the Centre game.

Coach Bob Laughlin is expected to start Hamilton, Gauna Richards, Dangerous Dan Swartz, and either Maycub or Whitehouse.

One bright note for the Eagles is that they seem to play equally as well against a zone as a man-for-man. It will be interesting to see what kind a defense the opposition puts up against Morehead's fast break.

With their attitude for running, plus colorful Swartz in the lineup, Morehead will have plenty of backing from the fans.

Morehead Boosters Club President J. Roger Caudill announced that organization will have headquarters at the Kentucky Hotel, Sandwick and soft drinks will be served at open house for students, graduates, former students and friends of the college after each Morehead game.

If the Eagles beat Middle Tennessee the greatest influx of Morehead fans in Louisville Friday afternoon.

Spirit on the Eagle club is high as they prepare for this last-ditch opportunity to achieve state and national honors. Morehead has never advanced as far as the final in the powerful OV tournament, but as these chances appear better this year.

CROWD PULLER—One of the biggest individual attractions will be the appearance of Kentucky's leading college soccer, Dan Swartz. Dangerous Dan, forward for the Morehead Eagles, has averaged almost 28 points a game. Morehead will also be a crowd puller in that Don Whitehouse, senior, is from just across the river. Morehead plays Middle Tennessee at 9:20 Thursday evening. If the Eagles win this one the Laughlin club collides with Eastern in the semi-finals at 9:20 Friday evening.

Eagle Boosters Honor Whitehouse Thursday Night

By Billy Joe Hill
Thursday night, Feb. 17, was perhaps the most memorable night in the life of the Eagles' co-captain, Don Whitehouse. Don, handsome speedster from Louisville was performing in his last game on the MSC floor. In appreciation of "his night", Don poured in 30 points. Among honors he received were a sports suit from the Booster's Club and the very distinguished honor of being commissioned a Kentucky Colonel by Gov. Wetherby. This certificate was presented to him by W. E. Crutcher, editor of the Rowan County News.

Shooting from out and driving through the Bellarmine defense, Don racked up season highest total of his career. He tallied 31 at Furman this season.

"House", as he is known by his teammates, made the Kentucky High School, All-State first team his senior year and was named Louisville Invitational, All-7th Region, All-State Tournament, All-City, and All-Cumberland Falls Tourney. All these honors were bestowed upon while he was performing for Dupont Manual High School.

During his high school career, Don tallied 822 points which 322 came in his last year.

Following graduation in 1951, Don and teammates, Dave Smith and Tom Watkins, enrolled at Morehead. The latter two boys went with their first year Watkins, who like "House" stood only five-foot eleven and battled himself to a starting position that initial season, but because he got married. All three of these boys went with their high school coach, Dale Barnstable of U.K. fame, to the East-West All-Star classic at Pikeville and combined for 35 of the West's points. Smith was voted the game's Most Valuable Player.

Now that he is only Manual boy left on the squad, Don will always be remembered by Morehead fans because of his very hard-to-stop, "looping lay-up" shot.

Don married the popular Robin Goodlander of Mt. Sterling last fall. They live in Yet's Village.

Entertain Buffalo Tomorrow Night In MSC Gym

Breck downed Morgan County Tuesday night in an overtime 62-58.

Charles Dudley Caudill sank two foul shots in a second overtime to give Breck the 10th victory of the season and their second victory over Morgan County.

The game ended in a 58-58 deadlock. Both teams scored five points in the first extra period to throw the game into a "sudden-death" overtime.

Fair and Caudill each contributed 16 to the winchuck counts. On their other game this week Paintsville downed Breck 75-52 Friday night in the MSC gym.

Dale Fair and Dudley Caudill were in this contest 47 1/2 13 pieces.

Breck will close their season tomorrow night when they entertain Buffalo in the MSC gym.

"B" Team game begins at 6:30.

POLIO IN 1954

Polio in 1954 cases reported by state health authorities totaled 38,590 by Dec. 31, making 1954 the third worst year for infantile paralysis. The worst year was 1952, with more than 57,000 cases, followed by 1949, with 42,000 cases.

The way to get something done right is to tell somebody else how to do it and then go ahead and do it yourself.

An optimist is usually an individual who feels good.

Lacked Money To Buy 'Sure' Thing

Grocer J. W. Joiner, Kingsland, Ga., called off his big sale on silver dollars this week.

He had offered the coins at a "rock bottom price—75 cents each—as an advertising gimmick.

Not more than a dozen customers took advantage of the bargain, Joiner explained in dismay. He said they "told him they 'just didn't have the money to buy them'."

Famous Spanish Dancer Coming Here March 7

Sirha Iberia, acclaimed the greatest Spanish Dancer in many years, is announced to appear with her company in the Button Auditorium at Morehead on March 7, 8 p. m. She brings four assisting artists, being two male Spanish dancers, a Spanish guitarist, and pianist. Sirha Iberia was born in Aragon, Spain, to a famous family of Spanish gypsy dancers, one generation after another. Her infancy and childhood were spent back-stage in the leading theatres of Europe, and her formal education was in a Convent while her parents danced professionally. Under her father's tutelage she made her debut at the age of six, and at an early age became the prima ballerina of the Teatro Real in Madrid. She is one of the few artists to cover the entire field of Spanish dancing, embracing the Classical School of the Goya period, the courtly peasantry of Castile, and the fiery Flamenco of the gypsies of Andalusia. She has toured Europe and South America, and in July, 1952, at the famous Jacob's Pillow Festival, set new standards in the American field of dance. Her third major New York City appearance was greeted by an overflow audience. The music of her program was planned by her husband, Maurice Nedelle, famous Polish pianist and soloist, with Mabel Plaster, and the Longines Symphonette of radio fame.

The awards will be presented at a late spring convocation program. Authors, whose work will appear in The Inkpot are Eunice Boyes, Mt. Sterling; Juanita Brown, South Shore; Paul W. Cox, Baltimore, Md.; Lester Evans, Morehead; Harold Falls, Charleston, Ind.; Glenn D. Fitzpatrick, Garrett; Carol Harfr, Kenton; Patsy Lane, Morehead; Gerry Patton, Olive Hill; James M. Peay, Morgantown; Maxie L. Squires, Greenburg; Kathleen V. Wheeler, Paintsville; and Ted Zachwieja, Thorpe, West Virginia.

Against Minimum Wage Proposal

A minimum wage order for the coal industry would cost a hundred miners their jobs in eastern Kentucky, Robert Stearns of Stearns Ky., told a Labor Department hearing in Washington.

Testifying that he sells most of his coal to the government, Stearns said a requirement that government coal suppliers pay wages equaling United States Workers Union rates would seriously endanger his business.

Stearns, who heads the Stearns Coal and Lumber Co., said he owns and operates 1,000 acres of coal and timberland in Kentucky and Tennessee.

The Labor Department is hearing testimony on proposals to establish the union pay scales as the wage rates which mine owners must pay to be eligible to sell coal to the government or its agencies, including the Tennessee Valley Authority, a large coal consumer.

Democrats Say Ike's Bill Wouldn't Give New School Buildings For 2 Or 3 Years

The Democratic National Committee has told Democratic members of Congress in a "confidential" memo that President Eisenhower's school construction bill would produce no new schools for "two or three years" it was learned this week.

A "preliminary analysis" prepared by the committee's research division also said already underpaid teachers might bear the "main burden" of financing the administration's proposed $7,000,000,000 program through salary cuts and unrealized wage increases.

The memo, sent to all Democratic senators and congressmen, was made available by a member of Congress. The Senate Labor Committee resumed hearings Monday on the President's controversial program with testimony from the American Federation of Teachers.

The federation also fears that teachers may suffer under the proposed program. The Senate Democratic Policy Committee also was given a circulated memorandum analyzing the effect of the administration's bill on individual states.

Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, secretary of health, education and welfare, may return before the committee this week to reply to criticism leveled against the administration plan. She testified last week it would speed school construction by discouraging communities from waiting for outright federal grants.

The Democratic committee's memo countered that it will be "at least September, 1957—and more likely September, 1958"—before pupils could start moving into any schools that might be built under the program. It endorsed the school construction bill sponsored by Chairman Lister Hill (D-Ala.) of the Senate Labor Committee. It said aid to the states is "more speedy and more direct."

Mr. Eisenhower's program calls for the federal government to put up $1,120,000,000, most of it under two separate loan programs. The hope is that state and local communities would advance an additional $6,000,000,000 for new schools during the next three years.

The Democratic committee accused the administration of an "excessive delay" in meeting the "urgent" school "crisis." Despite an "admitted shortage" of 370,000 classrooms and increasing school enrollments, it said "it seems it will be two to three years before the first child will enter the first new school building built under this program." The committee also charged that the program would mean

High School Senior Wins Baking Contest

A dimple cheeked high school senior who had never before been farther west than Rochester, N. Y., checked into Chicago with a recipe and checked out with the national cherry pie baking championship. Blonde Marjorie Campbell, 17, of Red Hook, N. Y., beat champions of the other 47 states and Hawaii.

This year for the first time the national contest had two male competitors, Gene Goff of Jefferson City, Mo., and David Lottie of Grand Forks, N. D., neither of whom finished in the money.

In addition to the title, Marjorie gets a free trip to Washington, D. C. and New York, a $500 college scholarship and the electric range, on which she baked the winning pie.

During her trip to Washington, Marjorie will present the winning pie to a representative of the White House. Spokesmen for the National Red Cherry Institute, sponsor of the contest, say they aren't sure who will accept the pie in the White House.

The champion baker was accompanied to Chicago by her mother, Mrs. Richard Campbell. Business succeed when somebody attends to the small details that the average busy "too busy" to fool with.

It's highway robbery!

For sheer fun out on the road, Chevrolet's stealing the thunder from the high-priced cars!

Up to this year, maybe there were reasons for wanting one of the higher-priced cars. If you demanded something really special in the way of driving fun, you simply had to pay a premium to get it.

Not any more! The Motoramic Chevrolet has changed all that. Who could wish for more excitement than the new 162-h.p. "Turbo-Fire V8" delivers? (For those who do, 180-h.p. is optional at extra cost in all V8 models.) Chevrolet also offers the two highest powered sizes in its field.

Come in and see how the Motoramic Chevrolet is stealing the thunder from the high-priced cars!

The State of Kentucky this year selected students of Morehead State College as 'Models' for its 1955 publicity program.

Prof. Jesse T. Mays was in charge of the student group and photographers made hundreds of pictures, in color and black and white, at the State Parks. These will appear in state magazines, tourist promotion material and other publicity handled by Kentucky Publicity Director Mack Sisk.

New Magazine Of Student Writing Slated To Appear

A new publication is being born at Morehead State College. It will be a literary magazine and will bear the title, Windfall. It will be entirely a student publication, and will be made up primarily of stories and poetry written by the students in the Sophomore Creative Writing Class.

Although there may be some poor writing mixed in with a lot of good writing, it should be all interesting, says Dr. John H. Long, faculty advisor and editor. Bliphard Conley, of the Public Relations Office, will do the printing and some of the editing. Dr. Long will select the material to be published.

Conley, who has done quite a bit of writing, is working on two novels at present. The first issue of Windfall will fall out at the end of the month. It will be an experimental edition with only 250 copies being printed. In order to help pay for the printing expenses, a price of 10c per copy will be charged. It will be sold in the bookstore. Among the contributors will be: Ruth Porter, Herman Smith, Tom Martin, Glen Fitzpatrick, Raleigh Christian, Carol Hafer, Loretta King, Don Young, Fern Cassey, Beth Bassett, and Wendell Maynard. Most of the material will be light and will include both light verse and humorous prose.

Senior Sponsors Hear McShea On Value Of College

Senior sponsors from high schools all over Eastern Kentucky held a conference Thursday at Morehead State College. They were looking over the college so as to be better able to advise their seniors as to college life, and choosing a college. Dr. Hugh J. McShea, Dean Roger Wilson, Mr. Denver Sloan, Mr. Monroe Wicker and Miss Clarica Williams spoke to the senior sponsors. Dr. McShea gave them some statistics from studies made here in Kentucky.

He said that a state-wide census of people over 25 years old showed that 9.1 per cent had attended college for one or more years, and that 2.8 per cent had attended for four years. A more specialized study in 28 counties of the state showed that in these counties only 6.3 per cent of the people had attended college for one or more years, and 2.1 per cent had attended for four years. A 1950 study of teenagers gave the following facts: Seventy-eight per cent of the 14 and 15 year olds were enrolled in school. But by the time the children reached 16 and 17 years of age, nearly one-third of these had dropped out, leaving only 46 per cent enrolled in school. Of these 14 and 15 year olds, 13.8 per cent will go on to graduate. One and two-tenths per cent (or 209) of the 1954 seniors came to MSC.

Dr. McShea compared the cost of attending Morehead to that of attending other colleges. He stated that a study of 250 college seniors in the U.S. showed that $976 was the average amount required for college expenses. Here at Morehead, the same expenses cost a student only $841, over $400 less.

Any graduate of an approved high school may enroll at MSC. A graduate of an unapproved high school, will be accepted after passing an entrance examination, as will anyone who is 21, or older.

Dr. McShea added that the college would like to see the high schools give their students the Iowa High School Content Test.

and the Psychological Test of the American Council on Education. These tests would show how the high school seniors compare with our college freshmen.

College will help a person in many ways, and Dr. McShea listed many of them, including the following:

College will help you to develop an acceptable code of behavior. It make a more informed, responsible citizen of you. Colleges help to foster peace by giving people a better understanding of world cultures. A college education will help you to appreciate the implications of scientific discoveries for human welfare. It will help you to better understand the ideas of others and to express our own effectively.

Helping people to attain a satisfactory emotional and social adjustment is another aim or college. Colleges can help to improve personal and community health. A real college education, such as we get at Morehead, will help you to participate in cultural activities and to develop creative expression.

It can also help to develop attitudes which lead to a satisfying family life. Help can be given a person in choosing a vocation which is personally satisfying to them. And a college education can also help you to acquire the skill of constructive thinking.

Dean Wilson gave general information concerning opportunities for self-help and scholarships for high school seniors who are not financially able to pay all of the costs of attending college. He also gave a complete picture of the efforts of MSC in assisting worthy students to remain in college.

Mr. Sloan led a discussion on the knotty problem of sponsoring senior trips. Mr. Wicker discussed career day conferences and Miss Williams dealt with the social and recreational aspects of college life. Each discussion was followed by a lively group discussion.

The conference ended with an evaluation period. The consensus seemed to be that this was one of the best and most fruitful conferences ever held at Morehead. The group unanimously agreed that the conference should be held again next year some time in the fall.

Rules State Can Legally Sell Building

The Attorney General's office ruled that the state could lawfully dispose of a building it had owned in Lexington for the past 65 years—income from which was to be used perpetually for "entertainment of inmates of Eastern State Hospital."

The state receives $225 a month rent from the building. Assistant Attorney General Earle Powell ruled that the State Department of Mental Health and Property and Buildings agency could dispose of the building, set aside a portion of the proceeds and use that fund for the "entertainment" of patients and meet terms of the original grant.

Live and learn, according to the old saying, but many of our best minds stop learning after reaching 40.

Kentucky's Mental Health Program May Be Paying Off; More Patients Are Discharged

The rate of discharge of patients in Kentucky mental hospitals has risen more than 18 percent during the last three years, indicating that improved treatment of illness may be paying off in the recovery of more patients.

This information is contained in a report released by the Department of Mental Health and cited today by Governor Work.

Work today said that while the report is encouraging, Dr. Frank Gaines, commissioner of Mental Health, and other officials of his department are reluctant to base claims for progress too strongly on the report.

ACHING MUSCLES

Relieve pain of tired, sore, aching muscles with STANBACK, tabaco or powder. STANBACK acts fast to bring comforting relief... because the STANBACK formula combines several prescription type ingredients for fast relief of pain.

INGROWN NAIL HURTING YOU? Immediate Relief!

Dr. Frank Gaines, Commissioner of Mental Health, said that the Department of Mental Health was created on his recommendation by the General Assembly in 1952. Other legislation to strengthen the department was passed as part of the administration program in the 1954 legislative session.

The report shows that patients were discharged from the four state hospitals at a rate of 252 per 100 patients during the 1953-1954 period, the last year for which data is available. Three years earlier the rate was 17. Discharges totaled 1,521 during 1954.

"These figures include patients discharged directly plus those placed on trial this month, minus those for whom trial will not be returned for further treatment," Gaines explained. "We aren't sure just what progress we've made, but we do feel that the program and we try not to get unduly optimistic about it but we think we're better off than we were pointed out."

Gaines pointed out that residential hospitals at the institution located at Lexington, Hopkinsville, Danville and Lakeland, reported 131 discharges in the previous year to 7,653 during the 1953-1954 period. The increase is larger than for either of the two previous years.

"Just what is causing an accelerated increase we do not know," Gaines said, "but we do feel that part of it is because people have greater faith in their system of mental hospital care. There is nothing to indicate a reason for more persons having mental illnesses."

Gaines said that population of the hospitals has increased almost twice as fast as the population of Kentucky during the period since 1940. The rate of patients per 100,000 population has jumped from 6.6 in 1940 to 10.2 last year. At the current rate of increase the hospitals will have to care for more than 1,000 patients by 1964.

The report also pointed to progress in providing better maintenance for patients and in obtaining more qualified employees. A program of special care for child patients is being developed and the help of psychiatric social workers has been increased.

A series of bills that were passed by the legislature last year has emphasized the medical aspects of mental illness—long away with old criminal procedures, Gaines said. The legislation has worked to prevent the exposure of patients as public spectacles, eliminate financial inquiries that would serve as a bar to hospital admission, do away with outmoded terminology and clarify old sections of the law, he said.

Accidents on our highways will continue as long as automobiles operate, but they can be eliminated by careful driving.

REASON FOR THIS SALE

We have purchased an interest in the Big 5c-10c & Dollar Store and are going to move the stock to our present location. This means we must make a big reduction in our Gigantic Furniture stock because we need the space and that is the reason for this drastic action. We have slashed prices and there are bargains for everyone and we know you will respond to this outstanding selling event. We are not going out of business but we are selling out the furniture stock, all of it if possible.

J. Wayne Green, eminent trichologist, demonstrates causes of baldness and how it can be prevented.

How To Have Hair For A Lifetime To Be Demonstrated Here By Famous Trichologist

Offers Written Guarantee

An exclusive interview by Steven Bright

WICHITA (Special)—J. Wayne Green, Director of Rogers, Inc. Hair and Scalp Specialists, exploded the myth of baldness today in an exclusive interview. "Baldness is unnecessary, costly and a plague to mankind," says Green. "No man need be bald. No man need suffer the stigma of premature old age that is forced upon him because he is losing his hair. The Rogers method of hair and scalp treatment can prevent baldness—can turn colorless fuzz into healthy, growing hair—can make you look youthful again."

Reason for Baldness—There is always a reason for baldness," continued the nationally known authority. "Hair cannot grow through a scalp that is infected with dandruff, excessive oiliness, or extreme dryness. A scalp that has never been exercised is expected to produce healthy hair." Men, and yes, women too, walk the streets today, completely devoid of nature's greatest ornament—hair. Simply because they were not taught the basic rules of hair and scalp hygiene while they were growing up. "The simple answer," emphasized this expert, "is that children should be taught the same simple basic rules of hair and scalp hygiene that they are taught for the proper care of their teeth. If this were the case, baldness would be a rarity today!"

Heredity Not Involved—Trichologist Green dodged no issues. He quickly took up the most widely spread theory of baldness—heredity. "Mankind's unresolvable belief that baldness is hereditary stems from a misinterpretation of the theory of genetics. Theory does not state that any person must be bald because baldness exists in the family. What it does say is that in some families, a tendency exists towards an undernourished weak scalp. The purpose of the Rogers Hair and Scalp Clinic is to teach the methods of strengthening the weak scalp and nourishing it to a healthy, vigorous condition. "A healthy scalp will grow if it is not already completely bald," assures Green.

Is There Hope for the Completely Bald—In his travels throughout the United States and Canada, Green has collected hundreds of testimonials of his ability to develop weak fuzz into healthy, mature hair. All of his clients have started with a private examination and a diagnosis of the ailment. Green is quick, however, to tell a hopeless case that he cannot be helped. "We strongly advise," says Green, "that no person who is completely bald, hold any hope whatsoever of regrowing hair. If there is any fuzz at all, we can restore a healthy scalp condition and the hair will grow normally again as nature intended."

Offers A Guarantee—Rogers, Inc., America's Foremost Hair and Scalp Specialists, offers a guarantee to any client who enrolls for treatment. If he or she is not completely delighted with results at the end of 30 days, the money invested will be fractionally refunded," pledged Green. "We must have satisfied clients. We must grow hair. After all, it is our best advertisement."

Is Your Hair Healthy?—If you have a scalp disorder, or if you are worried about your hair, call Trichologist J. W. Green at the Midland Trail Hotel in Morehead, Kentucky, Friday ONLY, from 12 noon to 9:00 P. M. The public is invited. The examinations are private and confidential. You do not need an appointment, and you will not be embarrassed or obligated in any interpretation of the theory of

Woman's Job Is Rekindling The Fire Around Midnight During Cold Winter Months

By Clarence Hallon

The old thermometer is shivering out on the front porch port to a few of its degrees below zero. Might have to fetch it in to keep it from busting. I went down in the store to see if my dog Pop Wee had busted but he hadn't. He was too busy "deflecting" pop bottles, caps and sets of broken glass to freeze too low. Then pop bottles were really popping. Pop Wee was going shy and then cracking bottles had him nervous. But Pop Wee in the store last night so sort of keep him from freezing plum to death. The harness are might be black and I nearly know the later, customers will be fasting all next week.

I slept pretty cranked last night. My old bones ain't very limber and quite a few aches are scattered about my body since I wouldn't have all froze to death if I hadn't got the woman to get up almost at midnight and slip on downstairs to tend to the fire. She was awful good about it because she was young. I got up and hated to make her go down and keep fire but looked like it just had to be done.

Anybody knows that when a groundhog don't see his shadow that we will have less than six weeks more of winter; but look like nature just bundled all the winter up in one big speel and dropped it on us. Must have had enough winter saved up to have stretches over six weeks and then the groundhog didn't see no shadow and the saved up winter had to be let loose. I guess that is what happened. Yet Bob Nook is right when there in the store on warm day last week and wiped sweat as he told me winter is of his own mouth that was with a woman to have some right yet. He said we had to have winter in the winter time and that it was yit to come. It has come! He told me too that the prediction of a groundhog could be depended on.

There's going to be quite a bit of difficulty of getting a fellow pea patch planted on Monday the 14th. If you expect to raise any corn, you better get a fellow to plant them on Valentine's Day. Unless you use a brace and bit that bore the holes into the ground for the planting, I don't see how you are a goal to get

THE THIRTEENTH MOVE

By William L. Roper

From the day when he first mushed into Fort Yukon during a howling snowstorm, Jake McGowan had challenged the checker playing supremacy of old Pop Lubright, manager of the Lone Wolf Trading Exchange. As the Lone Wolf winter settled down on the Arctic Circle and the luminous beams of the Aurora Borealis flashed vividly across the northern sky, their checker tournament became a subject of keen sporting interest to the leaders hunched around the big stove. But neither Jake nor Pop would engage in the betting.

"Betting spoils the fun," Pop would say, and Jake would nod in good natured agreement. Occasionally as they played, Pop would confide broken bits of his dreams to the tall dark headed with fur. He strode into the exchange, shaking the snow from his fur coat. He resembled Jake McGowan, but when he drew the fur back from the lower part of his face, you could see the difference. He was clean shaven, and there was a livid scar across his right cheek. The nose, too, was flatter, broader than Jake's had been. It looked as though it might have been crushed by a terrific blow.

"Heard there was a checker player here," he announced jovially. "So I mashed in for a few games."

In a short time he and Pop were bent over the checker board behind the big stove. They played Pop's favorite game, "The Old Fourteenth."

Halfway through the game, Pop said, "Excuse me 'til I get a drink of water."

When he returned from the water jar in the corner, he had an old forty-five in his right hand. "Okay, Jake," he said. "You've changed your features, but you ain't changed your game. You're the only feller I ever known who played that tricky thirteenth move in the Old Fourteenth. Don't move, 'til the boys fetch the lawman."

Then one dark morning when the Aurora Borealis wavered mysteriously in the sky, McGowan vanished. His dog and sled were missing, and so were Pop's fur cache and gold dust. A fresh snow covered his trail.

It took considerable urging and nagging by the boys to get Pop to report his loss to the police. The Old Pop took it pretty hard. He brooded and for a time gave up his major interest in life—checker playing. What hurt him even more than the loss of his treasure and his broken dream of gold dust was the disappointment in human nature. When he mentioned Jake,

DEFERMENTS

A new list which is to be sent to Selective Service offices and the Defense Department will cut from 62 to 30 the number of occupations for which draft boards may grant deferments from military service. Among the occupations retained in the new list are engineers, chemists, physiologists, master's college teachers, dress, aircraft and engine mechanics, diesel engine and high school and college teachers of subjects required for training critical occupations.

No gasoline—no, not a single one—has higher octane than New 1955 GULF NO-NOX but octane alone is not enough... New No-Nox burns clean!

Only a gasoline that burns clean can make its full octane power really work for you.

Instead of trying to fight harmful deposits with so-called "miracle additives"—inside your engine—Gulf believes in preventing them from forming in the first place; removes the cause—the "dirty-burning tail-end" of gasoline—at the refinery.

and clean-burning No-Nox gives your engine... more complete protection!

Gulf treats new NO-NOX to protect every part it touches against harmful deposits.

See for yourself. Compare clean piston "A" from engine using new NO-NOX with piston "B" from engine using the "dirty, burning tail-end" of gasoline that Gulf refines out. Both pistons, at left, from Gulf test engines, ran the same number of hours under the same conditions.

GULF'S PLEDGE to the motoring public

- We at Gulf make this promise to America's motorists. We will not permit a single competitor to not, not a single one—to offer a gasoline superior to our own Super No-Nox.
- It is our sincere belief that No-Nox is the finest gasoline on the market today, and no matter what others do or say we will keep it the finest—in power, in performance, in engine protection.
- This is not a boast, not a claim. It is a pledge to you, the motoring public—a pledge backed by all the resources—and the integrity—of the Gulf Refining Company.

It's super-refined... to burn clean!
