Group Seeking Cave Run Dam Will Meet

Gathering Called At Morehead Courthouse Friday Evening

A movement for construction by the Federal Government of a dam at Cave Run, about a mile north of Farmers in Rowan County, is gaining momentum. A meeting is scheduled at the courthouse in Morehead for Friday evening at 7 o'clock.

Groups from five counties to be affected have formed the Cave Run Reservoir Association and are meeting in West Liberty Monday elected Dr. Spencer of West Liberty as president.

Proponents of construction at Cave Run are from Rowan, Morgan, Bath, Menifee and Mingo counties, all on the headwaters of the Licking.

The group has made it plain that they are not seeking the Falmouth dam, a controversial matter for the past 15 years. They set out at the West Liberty gathering that their interest was in Cave Run and that "the bottom line" would be to have a dam which would be insignificant compared to possible advantages through construction of the Licking.

It is known that the Licking River Valley Protective Association will make a dam at Falmouth, but the high Falmouth dam, but there has never been serious opposition from them from the fact along the river of the Cave Run project. However, opponents of the high dam may view the Cave Run project as the opening wedge to construct the Falmouth dam.

After years of controversy among engineers designating for Licking River dams because of strong opposition from the Protective Association, it was claimed that it would amount to direct several Bluegrass counties.

SEGREGATION IS OVER

Two Negro Women Enrolled At Morehead State College

Segregation ended this week at 33-year-old Morehead State College when two Negro women enrolled for the summer session.

They are: Mrs. Anna Louise Randolph, 42, of Germantown, a graduate of Kentucky State College, Frankfort, who transferred for the summer session to Morehead State College.

Mrs. Ida Mae Ross, 65, who is taking courses in commerce and library science, Mrs. Ross previously attended the University of Cincinnati.

They are roommates at Fields Hall, dormitory for women.

Never before has a Negro asked to enroll at Morehead but the Supreme Court has banned race segregation in public schools.

Meanwhile, presidents at all state colleges and the University are expecting Negro students in their fall enrollment.

Western President Kelly Thompson has said he believes that several will be in the student body at Bowling Green this fall.

A Western Kentucky group has announced plans for the re-segregation of the State Department of Education. Bowling Green to be operated as a privately-endowed school and from which the colored race will be barred.

Oden was merged with Western in 1928, but Oden trustees have more than a million dollars in accumulated money from the Oden estate.

A Morehead professor said enrollment of Negroes at the school didn't cause much of a stir and that the faculty and student body took it as a foregone conclusion because of the Supreme Court ruling.

This will be followed from 4 p. m. until 7 p. m. with a fish fry for the 224 members of the club and their families.

The club met last week and elected Bob Tackett president. Other officers are: Bob Warnock, secretary-treasurer; Randy Wells, vice-president; and Ora Fraley, chairman of Executive Board.

Russell E. Teague, M.D., Commissioner of the State Department of Health, announced this week that manufacturers are now producing enough Salk polio vaccine to give at least one dose to every one of Kentucky's most susceptible persons who have not yet been vaccinated. This group that polio strikes most often is children under 20 and pregnant women.

"The increase in supply fortunately comes just in time," Dr. Teague said. "The number of polio cases is usually greatest in the summer months."

Dr. Teague stated that if every person of this most susceptible group received even one dose of polio vaccine before July 1, the danger of a paralytic polio epidemic in the state next year would be markedly reduced.

"For widest over-all protection of a community against an epidemic it is better for everyone to get the first injection before anyone receives the second and third doses," Dr. Teague said.

"Now, with the current vaccine production well over $500,000 a month, all persons in the most susceptible group can receive the first injection immediately."

Galen Brown, administrator of the Rowan County Health Department, said ample supplies of the vaccine had been issued to five doctors in Morehead and that the supply here is sufficient to protect all eligible age groups.

Senate Nominee To Be Picked Tuesday

The Democratic State Central Executive Committee will meet Tuesday to pick a nominee for the remaining four years of the late Sen. Alben Barkley.

The call for the committee meeting was issued by Robert J. A. B. Chandler and the governor, who had "no information" that selection of a nominee had been "worked out."

Earlier, the governor's press secretary, said Chandler had no comment on a similar question put to Eastern for relay to the governor.

The Republican State Central Executive Committee is to meet Tuesday to pick a nominee for the Nov. 6 election for the remainder of Barkley's term. In each party, about half a dozen have been mentioned in speculation over who might get the nomination.

The governor will appoint some one to serve until the November election.

Sen. Clements and former Rep. Thurston B. Morton, Republican, will run in November for a full six-year Senate term.

Asked about recent reports that Democratic leaders might try to reach an agreement on who would get the nomination before issuance of any call for a caucus, Sen. Clements said he was not in control of the committee.

Humphreys is a close ally of Gov. Chandler and the governor's highway commissioner, Beauchamp is a close ally of Sen. Earl K. Clements whose forces now control the committee.

Forerunner Of Additional Construction

Black topping of almost 17 miles of roads in Rowan County by the Department of Highways was confirmed this morning by Bert Kiser, Deputy Commissioner.

Kiser said that bids will be let on July 25 for adding 4.5 miles additional miles of the Morehead-Leisure road is scheduled for black top this year.

Contracts to be let July 25 are commonly known as the North Fork of Triplett (Morehead-Vanceburg) and Big Perry-Holly roads. Both are to get class C-1 or I bituminous surface.

The highway department has the projects listed as:

Sp 10-148—The Morehead-Vanceburg road, beginning at Ky. 23, 3.3 miles northwest of Morehead and extending in a north-easterly direction, a distance of 8.044 miles. Bituminous surface class C-1 or I.

Sp 10-222—The Easton-Tripitt road, beginning at U.S. 60, about 1.5 miles north of West of Carter County line and extending to Ky. 377, approximately 1.5 miles north of Holly Fork, a distance of six miles. Bituminous surface class C-1 or I.

The latter project was originally set up for concrete class I base but was changed, Kiser said, at the request of interested parties in Rowan County.

Kiser said he was confident that the announcement today confirmed what had previously been reported but was not officially let the state advertised for bids.

Kiser told this newspaper this morning that the Governor and the administration are happy to be able to include Rowan County among the first letting and that the mileage is greater than you have ever before received.

The Deputy Commissioner added that this work "is but the forerunner of more paved roads for the people of Rowan County."

He said he was confident that this administration would do more road work in Rowan County during the next 3½ years than during the previous 3½ years.

Kiser said plans are to completely pave the Morehead-Vanceburg road, a project that Rowan County leaders have long sought.

Predict End Of Passenger Train In Nation

Assistant Attorney General M. B. Hoffield predicted this week that the rise and fall of the nation's railroads will refuse to handle freight in less than carload lots.

And he charged that the railroads "are going to get out of every corner of the nation's passenger trains if the courts let them do."

The 84-year-old lawyer made his predictions in arguments before the Court of Appeals in a case involving the Illinois Central Railroad's attempt to drop passenger trains from Louisville and Fulton.

"The railroads have been trying for 10 years to avoid carrying passengers. They won't want them. They are using every effort to keep passengers from riding the trains," he said.

Louisville Attorney Thomas Wood, representing the railroad, contended that the Illinois Central is losing $200,000 annually in operating the trains.

Present State law, Wood said, requires the railroads to continue the two trains where service is being carried on at a loss.

Don't Stop Your Education At High School Level

Schools are closing all over the nation and numbers of young people will go into the business world in the hope of making money. Too many of them will stop their scholastic training at the end of high school days without realizing the tremendous advantages that will come to them by pursuing their way through college.

This newspaper does not recommend a college course for every graduate of a high school. There was a time when people thought this was a good idea, but, undoubtedly, there are some boys and girls who will not take advantage of the educational opportunities they can obtain. These young people might as well go to work, whether they are the sons and daughters of rich or poor parents.

At the same time, we would urge all students who are completing their high school courses this summer, to give serious thought to the possibility of attending some college. The right institution, and the right personal application, could make all the difference in your future life.

If a college education seems impossible to some young people—because of financial reasons—let us remind them that "where there's a will, there's a way." Scholarships, loans and aid of various kinds are available to the student who sincerely desires an education.

College Football Professional!

The fairy tale that college football is an amateur sport is pretty well busted. With the recent action of the Pacific Coast Conference—fining all their colleges except one for infractions of football ethics—the professional aspect of college football is once again brought out into the open.

It will be remembered that last year Ohio State was involved in a similar action with the Big Nine, and it is also remembered that a major Texas college in the Southwest Conference, has been involved on charges of similar practices.

In addition, several schools in the Southeastern Conference, or other conferences in the South, have also been involved in "professionalism charges."

We do not know whether this trend can be halted. We deplore it and think it may one day ruin college football. High school football players are not only given scholarships these days, but they receive bonuses, easy jobs, automobiles and all sorts of things to entice them to go to a certain college. The alumni is often at fault as the coaching staff of a given college.

The "grant-in-aid" agreement, which holds true in a conference, allows one college to sign a boy, who then must be left unattended by other conference members. However, it often happens that those coaches who do not secure the talented players in question up off coaches in other conferences, and these coaches conduct raids in attempts to get the bright football prospect to enroll at their school.

It seems that no longer can any one conference point its finger at another conference and say they are guilty of unprofessional practices.

The problem is now a national one. We do not think it can be solved until the various conferences, perhaps with the cooperation of the N. C. A. A., compile a strict code of ethics, which is accepted by all conferences and all independent schools.

Wertz Once Had Dreaded Polio

Vic Wertz, who plays first base for the Cleveland Indians in the American League, is having himself a good year at the plate, currently batting over .300, and as this is written, having slammed over a half dozen home runs.

The reason we mention this in the editorial columns is the fact that Wertz was struck down by polio last August. It was assumed by many that his playing days were over and it certainly was a shock to the erstwhile highly-successful athlete.

Wertz worked hard all winter, trying to overcome his setback, and it wasn't until about two months ago that he knew he had the disease licked. That moment arrived, he says, when he hit one of the longest balls he had ever hit in his career.

The example of Wertz, fighting polio (the non-paralytic type), and overcoming it and returning to active and successful participation in sports, is highly encouraging. It should be inspiring to those who might have similar attacks, either polio or some other disease.

Overheard: "Why do you run when you see a snake? Because I can't fly."

Land Owners Should Be Heard On Proposal To Build Dams

Editor, The News:

As talks are being resumed on the subject of constructing the Licking River dam at Cave Run, Ky., I am enclosing a letter from Mr. W. D. Milne, Corps of Engineers, dated April 18, 1934, answering a petition I had sent to him requesting that the proposed construction of Falmouth and Cave Run reservoirs be abandoned, and a more recent letter from the office of Senator Clements, containing a statement from Colonel W. D. Milne, Corps of Engineers, giving the current status of the Cave Run and Falmouth reservoir projects.

As you will note Colonel Milne's letter is self explanatory. According to the deferred status of these projects results from the local opposition to their construction.

The old headlines in the semi-weekly Eastern Kentucky are attested to the fact that the residents of Licking River were settled long ago.

I think it had been revealed that as a Federal project the Licking River dam would be of very little benefit, not nearly as great as the permanent loss of the production of the land inundated without giving heed to the personal feelings of the land owners. I believe the basic principle of freedom is the right to be secure in property rights, to not be afraid of having all you hold dear in life being taken from you.

If the government takes your property it should be for a very important reason, not for recreational facilities for people, or as an experimental project for water control.

Mrs. Dodd first thought of a special day to be set aside for honoring fathers in 1909, as a tribute to her own father, who had reared a family of children after the death of his wife.

She made the proposal to the Ministerial Association in Spokane, and the association approved the proposal, after it was submitted to members, and the first celebration of the day was held in Spokane in 1910.

Observance of the day did not spread rapidly over the country, and, in various sections of the nation, until 1910, the idea was thought to have been originated. It wasn't until 1934 that Father's Day became a nationally-observed day, on the third Sunday of June.

The official flower for the day is the red rose, and in various sections of the nation, until 1910, the idea was thought to have been originated. It wasn't until 1934 that Father's Day became a nationally-observed day, on the third Sunday of June.

It is not necessary for children, and mother, to lavish expensive gifts on Father, on Father's Day. The spirit of the day is one of honoring the head of the household and the gifts which are hand-made, or which represent the labor or efforts of the giver, represent the true spirit of the Father's Day observance.

Construction, expansion and improvement of highways, streets, hospitals, school facilities and various other things to meet the needs of the future will cost many billions of dollars. Many are beginning to wonder if the future won't be too expensive for us to afford.

THE EDITOR'S PEN

The Editor Goes Some 'Speculating' On Senate Choice

There has never been so much 'speculative' writing about Kentucky politics as recently. The metropolitan newspapers are having a field day advising the Governors and the Senate what probable choice to fill the Senate seat of the late Allen Barkley and what the Senate will choose. The Governor will select to make the race against the yet-to-be-chosen Republican.

The metropolitan writers have been coming in for quite a bit of good-natured criticism from those in the know because the reporters had only a smattering of what happened at that "love feast" the other day down at Frankfort between two seasoned foes—Chandler and Clements.

If this newspaper does any 'speculating' it will be in proper place—either the editorials or a special column. This is where conjecturing about the future of any newspaper. Since this is an editorial page, column we feel in to do a little speculating ourselves, and after the impending events have passed we have the right to do our speculations might out-speculate our learned city colleagues of the fourth estate.

The State Central Committee meets next Tuesday. We speculate that they will choose Mr. Joseph J. O'Leary, who is incidentally one of our close friends, as a Channel for the Barkley seat.

We further speculate that Governor Chandler will also be sworn in. Mr. Leary to fill the vacancy from now until the November election, Chandler to serve in.

Our speculations on the Kentucky Derby winner have, we must confess, been a little awry but we have a right good batting average on everything else. Fact is, we haven't missed in a long time when it comes to political speculation. But it could be that the Governor, Senator Clements and the Committee, which he controls, will select one of the other 20 names which have been in speculation.

Some Speculations Come To Pass

Last year in an editorial endorsement, we made some predictions or speculations. In substance, we said that Rowan County will receive from the present state administration more in the next four years than in anytime in history except the great day in 1923 when Judge Althe W. Young, with full community support, used his influence to secure the location of Morehead State College.

Now that six months have passed since said speculation we note that some of these good things have come to pass.

First, Morehead State College has been granted over $100,000 from the Governor's Emergency Fund. Do not be confused about capital outlay appropriations and that emergency fund. Getting money from the Chief Executive's emergency fund is often more difficult than pulling a hen's teeth.

Bear in mind that most of this $100,000 will be used for new equipment, better working facilities at the college. A perusal of the records disclosed that Morehead had been glaringly and unduly treated as compared with Murray, Western and Eastern when a result every department at the college suffered from lack of facilities. As an example just about every man is ready for the junk yard.

Businesses that succeed do not grow of themselves; they do not advance through work alone but by intelligent planning and courageous action.

Then, announcement has been made that bids will be let of July 23 for the blacktopping of 11 miles of Rowan County roads. Leaving out U.S. 60 and Ky. 3A, which necessarily have to be maintained as thorough east-west and north-south routes, this is more blacktop road than Rowan County has secured in its entire history.

There are people who are friendly with the powers-that-be at Frankfort who have no selfish or mercenary motives—interested only in promoting Rowan County and securing the better things of life for our people.

So, we reiterate our speculation of six months ago, that within the next 3 1/2 years many, many good things will come to our people and our colleges.

The proof of the pudding is in the eating and not in promises or promises spread by some dissatisfied person aspiring to personal glory or remuneration.

So, we reiterate our speculation of six months ago, that within the next 3 1/2 years many, many good things will come to our people and our colleges.

We expect 3 1/2 years of peace, order and good government, that a favorable state administration can do for Rowan County. As time goes on it will be the judge.

Don't Leap

When making a leap for construction of Cave Run Dam, the Licking Valley Protective Association for construction of the Cave Run Dam or low water dam, will be up the river. Big army engineers fight for about 10 years (1918-28) to build the Falmouth Dam. This newspaper editorially approved the plan, but it was not even more outspoken because we knew the facts and are better aware now that a river dam does not bring the prosperity which we thought it would. We doubt this lake a trip down to Kentucky Lake and you'll find thousands of people who are better off than they were before the dam had never been thought of—and along its borders you'll find many of the poorest people in the county since existing day by day.

It would take every column in every newspaper to tell the story of the facts about the high dams on the Licking but here are a few facts: The dam would be two-thirds under water; the Farmers Postoffice would be submerged; the lake created by the high dams would extend from the Brady Curve just west of Morehead for about 14 miles to the hill west of Salt Lake; the water would be over most of the Morehead-Flemingburg Road; executives of the CBO testified that re-routing of the road to Morehead might be feasible; and most of the farm land west of Morehead in Rowan County would be either a lake or mud flats.

There are people who are friendly with the powers-that-be at Frankfort who have no selfish or mercenary motives—interested only in promoting Rowan County and securing the better things of life for our people.

So, we reiterate our speculation of six months ago, that within the next 3 1/2 years many, many good things will come to our people and our colleges.

This newspaper editorially approved the plan, but it was not even more outspoken because we knew the facts and are better aware now that a river dam does not bring the prosperity which we thought it would. We doubt this lake a trip down to Kentucky Lake and you'll find thousands of people who are better off than they were before the dam had never been thought of—and along its borders you'll find many of the poorest people in the county since existing day by day.

It would take every column in every newspaper to tell the story of the facts about the high dams on the Licking but here are a few facts: The dam would be two-thirds under water; the Farmers Postoffice would be submerged; the lake created by the high dams would extend from the Brady Curve just west of Morehead for about 14 miles to the hill west of Salt Lake; the water would be over most of the Morehead-Flemingburg Road; executives of the CBO testified that re-routing of the road to Morehead might be feasible; and most of the farm land west of Morehead in Rowan County would be either a lake or mud flats.

There are people who are friendly with the powers-that-be at Frankfort who have no selfish or mercenary motives—interested only in promoting Rowan County and securing the better things of life for our people.

So, we reiterate our speculation of six months ago, that within the next 3 1/2 years many, many good things will come to our people and our colleges.

The proof of the pudding is in the eating and not in promises or promises spread by some dissatisfied person aspiring to personal glory or remuneration.

So, we reiterate our speculation of six months ago, that within the next 3 1/2 years many, many good things will come to our people and our colleges.

We expect 3 1/2 years of peace, order and good government, that a favorable state administration can do for Rowan County. As time goes on it will be the judge.

Don't Leap

When making a leap for construction of Cave Run Dam, the Licking Valley Protective Association for construction of the Cave Run Dam or low water dam, will be up the river. ## Administration Top Hats Have Meeting

Waterfield Says It Was To Promote Happy For President

A group of Democrats described as interested in boosting Gov. A. B. Chandler for the Democratic presidential nomination met in Frankfort Monday. The governing group in the gathering before it ended but later he had no comment about it.

Robert Humphrey, chairman of the Democratic State Central Executive Committee and high way commissioner in Chandler's administration, estimated about 40 persons attended from over the state.

In reply to a newsmen's questions, Humphrey said those at the closed meeting in a State Senate committee room were interested in furthering the candidacy of the governor for the presidency.

Chandler, who was elected last year to the governor's office where he served in 1952-55, has repeatedly said he is not an active candidate for the presidential nomination. But he has also said he would accept the nomination at the Democratic convention at Chicago in August should it fall his way.

The governor reportedly was called to the meeting, to which he went shortly before 3:30 p.m. (C.D.T.), accompanied by Harry Davis, executive secretary, and Robert Hensley, Louisville attorney, who was active in the governor's campaign last year.

Attorney Tom Burns is expected to be appointed to the Mayor and City Commissioners to fill the unexpired term. This is a good appointment.

He Will Do
A Good Job

Governor Wetherby appointed Finore Ryle, former Morehead Christian Church Pastor, to the State Board of Pensions and Pensions.

Rev. Ryle took a keen interest in his work, but felt out of his work over administration of the program.

Gov. Chandler has now appointed Rev. Ryle Director of the Board, a full time and a high job. The appointment has met with state-wide approval.

Rev. Ryle has the ability, personality and the interest to make the finest director in the state's history and we think you will be hearing a lot of favorable comment about his work in the days ahead.

There Could Be Fireworks

Democrats of Rowan and all Kentucky counties will meet at courthouses June 30 to elect delegates to the state convention. This may be a harmonious meeting, with few in attendance or it could develop into a party of tug of war.

At state is control of the State Central Executive Committee, naming the National Committee and the delegation to the Chicago convention.

He Has Time A Good Job

We've written about it before, but we are not anxious to reiterate the work H. K. Taylor has done to promote the Mountain Strawberry Growers Association.

Strawberry production and marketing is almost an obsession with Mr. Taylor. He has spent thousands of hours, along with many other civic-thinking and working citizens, in this work.

If we were awarding plaques for community service we certainly would have one with his name inscribed.

No Doubts In This Edition

Perhaps, you wouldn't have noticed it, but this issue of the News is unusual in that not a single death occurred in Rowan County during the past week.

Bath County Library Quota Not Reached

The 1955-56 subscriptions to the Bath County library have fallen $200 short of the budget, according to figures released by Mrs. C. C. Dotson, library treasurer.

The budget for the year had been set at $1,000. The library is in the county for the expense of operating the library and paying a librarian's salary.

Members of the library board had planned to use state-donated money for the purchase of new books, but when the budget goal was not met, a county drive was organized, and $125 was obtained by individual donations for book purchases.

In addition to the money raised, approximately 100 gift books were received from the state library and local residents.

Know Your Bible - "WHENCE COMETH SIN"

Since Adam, man has had knowledge of sin. Before eating of the forbidden fruit, man could not recognize sin—he had no knowledge of it. He did, however, make a choice whether to obey God or Satan. He was not compelled to eat but did it of his own choice. The woman was beguiled (Gen. 3:1-7, 13), but Adam was not deceived (1 Tim. 2:14). We are not responsible for Adam's sin, but we do suffer the consequences.

Eye was tempted in three ways. Satan appealed to her through the lust of the eye, the lust of the flesh, and the pride of life (cf. Gen. 3:6). Christ was tempted by the Devil in the wilderness. Like Eve, he was tempted in the same manner. Taking advantage of Jesus' forty days of fasting, Satan appealed to him through the lust of the flesh (Matt. 4:2-4). Then the Devil sought to make the Lord Meek by casting himself from the pinnacle of the temple (Matt. 4:5-7). He was not allowed to entice Christ by the lust of the eye when he showed Him the kingdoms of the earth (Matt. 4:8-9).

Christians are admonished not to love the world nor the things of the world. "For all that is in the flesh, and the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world" (1 John 2:16). Let no man say when he is tempted, "I am tempted of God; for God cannot be tempted with evil, neither tempteth He any man: but every man is tempted, when he is drawn away of his own lust, and enticed. Then when lust hath conceived, it bringeth forth sin; and sin, when it is finished, bringeth forth death" (Jas. 1:13-15).

Government To Pay For Drought Loss

Policy Announced By Secretary Of Agriculture

In a change of mind, the payment announced last week it would be their policy to limit payments to reductions brought about by a farmer's own actions. This would have ruled out crop failures beyond his control.

Earlier this week, Agriculture Department officials said it would be their policy to limit payments to reductions brought about by a farmer's own actions. This would have ruled out crop failures beyond his control.

Last week's decision to make payments to the broader range was announced by Secretary Benson in a statement outlining eligibility for participation in the soil-bank program.

This program, authorized by the new farm law signed by President Eisenhower in 1955, provides for an annual payment of up to $1,200,000,000 to farmers who cut their production of such basic surplus crops as cotton, wheat, corn, rice, peanuts and tobacco below government planting allotments.

Under last week's new policy, a farmer who did not plant his full allotment of winter wheat last fall because of drought or other natural causes will be eligible for a payment of $4 an acre on the unplanted portion.

In addition, farmers whose crops of wheat, cotton, corn, rice, peanuts and tobacco have been destroyed by natural causes will be eligible for $6 an acre within a maximum acreage.

Last Monday, Benson told a farm audience at Beaver Dam, Wis., that the soil bank was not to be regarded as a drought relief program. In addition, he said he did not believe a farmer is able to intend to see that the nation gets a dollar's worth of surplus reduction for every dollar paid out.

The first day department officials said they decided that no payments would be made to farmers who brought about by natural causes.

Under Secretary of Agriculture, Benson said that when Benson's speech was made in Wisconsin, "We did not know the amount of the new law as we know now."

Morse was asked whether the department had been in contact with members of Congress and the House on soil-bank policies. He said that members of Congress had sharply criticized the decision to exclude payments on drought-affected land.

Morse replied, "We have worked with the team on this matter." He did not amplify this.

On acreage basis, the payment to a farmer affected by drought and similar factors will be smaller than those on land which has not been planted to 1956 crops. In other words, payments on production loss is brought about by a farmer's own actions will be higher.

Judge Says This Will Cool Him Off

Traffic Judge John D. Watts agreed it was warm but issued Donnoff a different prescription for beating the heat—five days in the cooler and six months no driving.

Election Interrupted Digging Of Mayapple And Ginseng: May Form 'Vote Sellers Club'

By Clemmie Holton

Mighty had time to have an election. Farmers dig mayapple and ginseng to sell. They have got a dab of fishing to do, and every time I went out and voted, but I lost my vote as usual. I usually waste time by voting. I always lose my vote. I should sell my vote, but it is a mighty hard thing to convey the message that a fellow as on the level and won't let on. I'd be tickled to death to get five or ten dollars for my vote. Druther have the best cash of one of them promoters of a paved highway up Blinky Branch or a huge dam in Frayles Creek. They ain't nothing to promote but you can buy hog jaw and soup beans with them new election dollar bills. Some fellows say it's pride what keeps them from selling, but that ain't what keeps me from selling. I ain't never offered nothing. The fellow that is lucky enough to sell his vote is the only one that gains anything from an election unless he's a right smart a kin to the man what gets elected. Then he can get him a job and work. Still a lot of us would druther just get the cash and not have to work it out on no job and give it back to the man that got elected so he can get elected again and so he can pay me again for my vote. I'm thinking about organizing a Vote Sellers Club so that sellers can be more readily recognized by them buyers. As members of this club, we could sell ourselves to the election men. We could show up important each man as we would be toward the winning of an election of any man. We could cash in on our votes. The dam it paid us, and demand this price on election day. We could use these against them. The dam it paid us, and demand this price on election day. We could use these against them. The dam it paid us, and demand this price on election day. We could use these against them.

Got another letter from the Dock postmaster what reads this column in the Green News. He tells us that they have been every election year for the past 20 years. Ain't got it canalized yet. Well, we have been promised a dam in our river for a long time that maybe whenever we get our dam built they will canalize the Big Sandy River. Canalizing the Big Sandy would certainly be a big saving to us taxpayers, wouldn't it? Our dam would protect Beattyville from floods but we don't know who wants to protect Beattyville from anything.

Now a dam in Frayles Creek here, at Williba, would be a mighty big help. My ducks would have more water to swim in and during these dry summers we would have more water around to water our thirsty cows and horses. We could take more baths and be more sanitary. A dam in Frayles Creek would be mighty helpful to us of Williba and a great saving to the taxpayers.

Chester Deaton is out of a job now and he is wanting to establish a little credit with me at a store. He drives a school bus but school is out. He told me that if I would extend him some credit they get over his two hogs to stand good for all he bought. I could keep the two hogs until killing time and if he didn't pay his account, I could sell the hogs back.

Doctor Says Children Have Two Hearts

One Is Emotional
Other Is Physical,
Doctor States

A famed doctor said this week that children really have two hearts. The physical heart, one said, is the emotional heart. The physical heart is the one that pumps blood, and the emotional heart is the one that pumps love.

Writing in the Journal of the American Medical Association, Dr. Potts said it is a "delicate matter" to say that the emotional heart is often the biggest problem to doctors. The physical heart is the one that pumps blood, and the emotional heart is the one that pumps love.

The small child, he said, is often afraid of going to the hospital. The doctor should give children patience, a smile and a cultivated tolerance of their eccentricities. The physical heart is the one that pumps blood, and the emotional heart is the one that pumps love.

To mothers I suggest that the child be given the attention he craves, such as well, Potts said. "A child who is in the hospital should be visited every day. There is no place in the world like home for a child. He told of one little boy who was upset by illness and threatened his doctor. 'You know what? Lions eat people and I hope you eat people.'"

Potts said the best thing to do is to prepare a child by telling him what is in store and why they have to go to the doctor or the hospital or why they have to have an operation and in most instances, they will co-operate in a fashion that adults might well emulate.

"The mystical heart of a child is a precious and beautiful thing," Potts said. "It is marred only by wounds of a thoughtless and not too intelligent world. I am convinced that the heart of a child, nurtured by love, security and understanding, will be able to withstand the storms of illness and pain," he said.

REAL COOL CAT

By R. A. Curtis

BOB JACKSON adjusted the knob of his yellow and red hand-painted, reached for the black button and placed it carefully at the exactly correct angle. "Come on, real cool. Conservative, sure, but distinguished. None of this cheap cat stuff. That was for the cranky pet punk. He was class now. He'd just done an important job for the man. And he was getting ready now to do an even bigger one.

He reached for the chain dangling from the naked bulb overhead and took a last look around the tiny room.

He dropped his hand and knelt to make a last loving inspection of the wrappings on the plain cardboard box in the center of the room. Inside were two brand-new custom-tailored suits and six hand-made shirts; over four hundred bucks worth of new clothes and he'd bought them with the money from just one job for the man.

He cast a contemptuous glance around the room. This was the last time he'd ever have a room to a joint like this. "From as this job was over, and the man paid off, he'd move into real cool quarters; maybe even one of those residential type hotels with real maid service. He pictured himself checking in. He'd be dignified and reserved. When he tipped he'd slip the gold into an envelope. None of this waiting furies and hundreds around like a green punk either. He'd do it like the man did. You could tell just by looking at the man that he was a real smooth operator."

Bob glanced through the open door. The two men in the dimly lit hall stood waiting for him. Let them wait. He was a big shot now. One of the men stepped into the room and looked at his watch. "Getting about time to go, Paul," he said.

Bob frowned. He didn't like being called by his given name.

"Who," had a more tepid sound to it. The man had panted but said nothing. What had he said now? Someone said music.

They walked slowly down the three flights of stairs. Bob in the middle. He wasn't feeling so good about this now. He tried desperately to recreate the scene at the hotel he would check in after, but it wouldn't come.

When they stepped onto the street the two men on either side of him paused and looked carefully up and down the street. At the curb sat a nondescript sedan with a man behind the wheel. This man looked out and said, "Nothing, lieutenant. Been quiet as a mouse."

The man on Bob's right answered, "Okay, sergeant, we'd better get rolling."

They ushered him into the rear seat and the sedan swung from the curb to slide smoothly down the street. The sergeant at the wheel turned once to look curiously at Bob. "Boy," he said, "for a killer on his way to the can—and probably the hot squad—he sure is dressed for action."

"What," the lieutenant answered, "he was just getting ready to go out when we got here, so we let him finish dressing and pack his things for storage. He's a real cool cat alright."

Bob asked and got permission to light up a cigarette. His hand shook in the pack. He felt a little weak in the stomach, but he knew that was only natural. The man wouldn't let him burn. He had plenty of connections. What was he to do when he'd given him the handle of "Bob" of all the others the man had slapped him on the shoulder and said: "From now on your name is Bob because you know how to keep them off and you'll learn how to face the music."

They'd all had a good laugh about it . . .

GOP Women Want 4-Year House Terms

The Women's National Republican Club this week urged a GOP platform plank that would favor four-year terms for members of the House of Representatives.

The club also favored a balanced budget before taxes are reduced; "full rights as citizens" to women, and excluding Communist China from the United Nations.

Mrs. Edward E. Anderson, president of the group, said the recommendations to the party platform committee were based on a poll of the club's nationwide membership.

House members' term of service should coincide with that of the President, it was suggested.

Under the present two-year system, congressmen are handicapped in the performance of their duties by the necessity of devoting so much time to campaigning for re-election during the second year of their term, the club said.

June 7 Fete

In Frankfort Honors D. Boone

On a June 7 many years ago, a man by the name of Daniel Boone climbed Pilot Knob in Powell County. From his lofty perch the leader of Kentucky pioneers first feasted his eyes upon the great Kentucky meadow—the Bluegrass region.

In memory of the day, the occasion and the consequences of that June 7, the Kentucky Historical Society holds an annual observance, "Boone Day," at the Old State House, Frankfort.

Dr. Philip G. Davidson, president of the University of Louisville, was the "main" speaker at the June 7 fete this year. His topic was, "Our Colonial Heritage." George Fowler, Frankfort, provided during the festivities.

A portrait of Governor George W. Johnson, Confederate governor of Kentucky, was unveiled by the Court of Appeals Judge Porter Sims, of Bowling Green where Johnson had his state capital.

The Frankfort members of the society served a buffet luncheon to the visitors. Later in the afternoon the society members attended an open house at the Lt. Governor's new home.

Purpose of the Kentucky Historical Society is to collect and preserve documents and artifacts on Kentucky history. The society maintains the museum at the Old State House.
