PINE DISEASE

Personnel of the Southern Forest Experiment Station of Asheville, N. C. identified the cause of pine mortality in Willetts County as littleleaf disease of shortleaf pine. The discovery by R. K. Mead, Forest Ranger, of Williamsburg, is the first known in Kentucky.

YOUNG, ATTRACTIVE, PLEASANT

Mrs. Flora Cooper Completes 30 Years In Postoffice Service

Ordinarily when a person has 30 years service with the Federal Government it is considered the retirement age, but not Mrs. Flora Cooper, Assistant Postmaster at Morehead. Mrs. Cooper (then Miss Flora Tackett) started working as a Clerk in the Morehead postoffice June 16, 1926 and as the completed her 30 year service this month she appeared about as young, active, personable and attractive as the day she sold her first stamp.

The Postoffice was located in the Masonic Building on Main Street when Mrs. Cooper took the job at a lass of 17 years. E. E. Proctor was the Postmaster.

The office later moved to an rented quarters in the Caskey Hotel and in 1936 to the present Federal Building at the corner of Main and Wilson Avenue.

Postmasters have come and gone but Mrs. Cooper stays on. In all she has served under eight Postmasters. She has been lavished in praise for her efficiency, know-how and punctuality.

In fact, Flora Cooper rarely makes a mistake and her work is so correct and neat that she has been keeping the records and making the reports when the Morehead office almost all the 30 years.

Deadline For Driver Permit Is Tuesday

Bradley Says 700 In Rowan Have Not Secured License

About 700 drivers in Rowan County whose last name begin with A through G have not secured their driver's license, Clerk Herb Bradley estimated this morning.

Deadline for procuring the permits is Tuesday (July 31). Bradley said about 1,000 have purchased the licenses but there are more than 2,200 Rowan County drivers in the A through K listing.

Anticipating a last-minute rush Bradley said he would keep his office open until 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon. County offices usually close at noon on Saturdays.

The drivers license sells for $2 and is good for two years. Drivers whose last names are L through Z procured their drivers permits last year.

Rowan Reaches 31% Of Bond Sale Quota

During the first six months of this year, the citizens of Rowan County purchased $27,631 in Series E and H Savings Bonds, or 31.8 per cent of the county's annual goal of $88,000 Series bonds amounting to $3,262.

This contributed directly to the state's cumulative sales of $41,255,053, or 46.1 per cent of the U. S. goal of $89,000,000. In June, Kentucky's sales amounted to $4,591,519.

Mrs. Flora Cooper started in 1926

She revealed that she pays more into a retirement fund each month now than she received in salary 30 years ago.

Mrs. Cooper probably has known more Rowan County people for a longer period than any other person unless it would be Dub Bellamy, a Clerk, who has outlived more seniority than she has.

"Asked what she thought the most decided change today from 1926 is, Mrs. Cooper studied a moment and said: "Back then I used to know every patron. Now that's impossible because the office has grown so much and people change their residence and address so often."

Mrs. Cooper is pleasantly surprised when she says she has always liked her job because it means contact with so many people.

Soldier From Fort Knox And Wife Injured

Car Leaves Highway Near Hayes Crossing During Rain Storm

A Fort Knox soldier and his wife are in King's Daughters' Hospital, Ashland, suffering from serious injuries after Sunday afternoon when their automobile left the highway on a curve near Hayes Crossing, U. S. 60, about five miles east of Morehead.

Clady Canady, 33, was driver of the 1934 sedan. She suffered a fractured pelvis and chest injuries. Her husband, Bailey Canady, 38, sustained a fractured skull and both arms broken.

Mrs. Canady said she lost control of the car as it came out of the curve and crashed over an embankment.

State Police said the accident happened at 2 P. M. during a driving rain storm and the vehicle was traveling west, toward Morehead.

While State Police were investigating this accident another accident occurred at Hayes Creek in Rowan County, killing two people. (See story on this page).

Morehead Chamber Wants Fast Time

Morehead's Chamber of Commerce on record this week in favor of Eastern time for all of Kentucky east of Louisville, Lexington and other cities have adopted like resolutions. The resolution in the present system hodgepodge, unwise, discriminatory and costly to business and economy.

Any time change must be made by order of the Interstate Commerce Commission and it generally requires three years to secure such approval.

Cooperation Asked By Postmaster

Clayton Says Late Afternoon Mailings Difficult To Handle

Morehead Postmaster Claude Clayton says that because of the little cooperation from the public to avoid delays on outgoing mailings.

Clayton said the major difficulty was heavy mailings a few minutes before 4 o'clock each evening by people who don't know that the mail closes.

He pointed out that everything mailed in Morehead during the day is dispatched on C&O train 22 east, leaving the Morehead, Postoffice at 5:15 p. m. This is to speed up delivery.

For example, a letter to Louisville, leaves Morehead east on train 22. It is picked up at Ashland by a Greyhound Bus, carried back through Morehead, arriving in Louisville about 2 o'clock in the morning, it would not be in Louisville until 4 o'clock.

The same applies for all dispatches, including air mail, which can make better connections out of Winchester, Lexington or Louisville.

This situation resulted when the Chesapeake and Ohio discontinued westbound 46 and eastbound 24 trains.

Clayton said many people, including business places that are heavy users of the mails, have been waiting until almost 5 o'clock each afternoon before mailing. As a result the clerks at the Morehead office are rushed to sort and tie this mail within the 15 minutes before it is taken to the C&O depot.

"If you will make your mailings a little earlier in the day, it will help us tremendously and also assure you of the speediest service we are able to offer," the Postmaster added.

Two people were killed and seven others injured at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon in one of Rowan County's worst highway accidents.

The State Police Office at Morehead listed the dead as Eliza Adkins, 32, and Fred Bennett, 37, of Glendale, Calif., four year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Steele, Dayton, O.

The injured: Mrs. Elza (Lovena) Adkins, 32, cut about the back fracture and maimed shoulder, condition fair.

James Steele, 14, son of Earl Keeling, 52, of Paducah, died of injuries suffered in a automobile collision Saturday night near Paducah.

Another Princeton student, James Yates, 22, was killed when the car she was riding left the road 12 miles north of Hopkinsville.

Walter J. Anderson, 46, of Chicago, was killed in a collision on U. S. 60 Shelby County.

Another Chicagoan, James Paul Bass, 22, was killed when his car left the road four miles south of Pembroke in Todd County.

All are at Good Samaritan Hospital in Lexington, except Glenn Adkins who was admitted at St. Joseph's.

Elza Adkins died in an ambulance near Mt. Sterling as he was being taken to the hospital. The four year old girl died in the Good Samaritan Hospital about 10:30 p. m., when the ambulance was struck by a car.

The two cars contained 11 persons. One was seriously injured and were given first aid treatment at Morehead.

Three Morehead ambulances transported the wreck victims to Lexington.

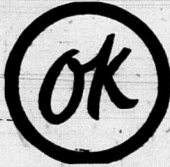

State Police gave this version of the tragedy: Elza Adkins, driver of a 1931 Ford sedan traveling south toward Sandy Hook on Ky. 32 (Christy Creek Road) about six miles south of Morehead lost control of the vehicle and in its efforts to keep it from leaving the road, struck a 1935 Mercury sedan, driven by James Stidham and traveling north.

The accident happened on a straight stretch of road. Elza Adkins was the driver. Her husband, Fred, was in the back seat. Her wife, daughters Peggy and Deborah and son, Fred, were also in the car. The first highway fatalities in Rowan County since January 1935. Police reported the number of wrecks has been (Continued On Page 8)

Is This The End To The Big Top In America?

Several of the few remaining circuses have gone on the rocks in the United States in recent years. The newspapers carried the story of another failure this month.

It is also reported that this may be the last year for Ringling Brothers Barnum & Bailey Circus. It is said that the day of carrying along tents, for huge shows under the big top, is at an end. It is even said that Ringling Brothers-Barnum & Bailey, which has long been recognized as the No. 1 circus attraction in this country, will next year perform in air-cooled, indoor auditoriums.

If this is true, it is the end of the big top as many Americans have known it for decades. It will be the end for many things, and the vast traveling assemblage which has characterized the circus in America for 30 many years will fade from the scene. The smaller circuses have not been able to make it in modern times, competing with television and other forms of entertainment. They are now selling their animals and the show will never again go on the road. Now the giant among them closes down.

This is unfortunate, and to a certain number of Americans it is almost a personal tragedy. The circus, one might say, has been a part of the American way of life. If the traveling circus, its wonderful animal acts, and many others, now fade from view, a little piece of the color of our way of life will have been lost.

Being President Tough Job

Former President Truman recently told reporters that the Presidency involves six major jobs. He said President Eisenhower had not done a complete job in any one of these fields.

The six jobs listed for the President of the United States, are: a proposer of laws for the nation; Commander-in-Chief of the Armed Forces; director of U. S. foreign policy; watchdog of the budget; guardian of relationships between the Executive, Legislative and Judicial branches; "Lobbyist for the entire population of the government." Truman called any one of these jobs a full-time job for any man and said, in addition, to this, the President had to be the head of his party.

Mr. Truman declared he was sympathetic with any President, including Mr. Eisenhower, but that while he sympathized with him, he would later in the year—explain how Eisenhower had failed to do his job in any one of the six fields he had outlined.

In charging that Mr. Eisenhower is a "part-time President," Mr. Truman is striking at one of the alleged weak points of the President. He can expect to hear it repeated often during the campaign. Obviously, this approach will be more effective than an approach dealing with the President's health, and Mr. Truman has ruled out any campaigning on this subject.

It appears that the Democrats will concentrate their attack on the idea that Mr. Eisenhower is a part-time President, not necessarily because of bad health but because of the fact that he takes too much time off his office. That it will be a major campaign issue.

Death Penalty For Dope Peddlers

Congress recently approved legislation which will allow juries to recommend death sentences for those who sell or give heroin to youngsters under eighteen years of age. The death penalty could also be applied to those who distribute the drug to such youngsters.

In addition to this strengthening of the anti-narcotics laws, Congress stiffened other penalties.

We think this legislation is a much-needed step in the right direction. We have little sympathy for narcotics peddlers, in the first place, and none at all for those who sell narcotics to youngsters.

Although this is a spendthrift era, at least a certain some 70 million Americans are now saving something . . . if only daylight time.

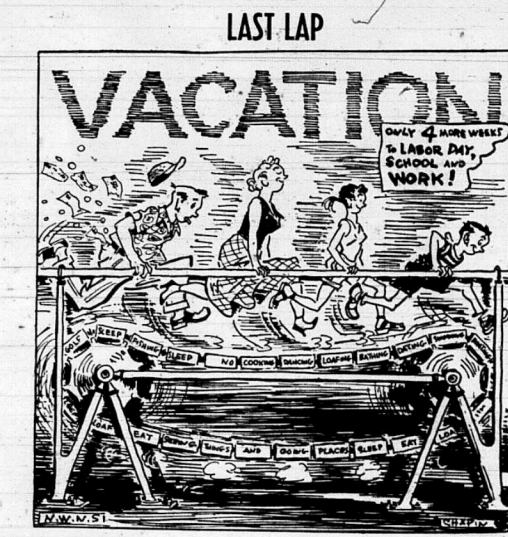

A scientist says a certain type cosmic atom has five million times as much power as an uranium atom. Man may soon learn how to destroy the world at a cost he can afford.

One big advantage in spending a vacation in an isolated and rustic setting, rather than at a more popular and crowded resort, is that it's easier to recover from ivory poisoning than from a whirlwind summer romance.

Leaving the butter on the face after eating corn-on-the-cob brings considerable protection against sunburn in that area.

Political Posts Best Held By Experienced Men

There is a lot of talk these days about "conflict of interest"—but it seems to me that there are certain points that are ignored in the discussion.

The general use of the phrase is to denote those who have gone into government service but who are still tied up with their previous involvements. Whichever side swings the phrase around, there use it as a term of opprobrium.

What I would like to know, however, is where you can find a man worth hiring, who has no ties with his past, whose views are not colored by his previous work, who hasn't some outside interest? After all, a political post is a chance to do something for the benefit of the community. And any man who is intelligent has convictions. His opinions and actions will naturally be colored by those convictions, whether he comes from industry or labor, from the farm or veterans group, or from any minority or majority segment of the population. He is bound to work for what he believes in.

Where "conflict of interest" is bad is when he puts the interest of his group before his job. And one hired for government should have as his primary interest the welfare of the country. And any interest in conflict with that basic requirement should go by the board.

I could have used the word "elected" just as well as "hired"—for a man elected to office must represent all the people of his district—regardless of his personal interest. Of course, the politicians and the lobbyists won't agree with me—but you and I know this must be so or there is no value in a republican form of government. Without this it isn't a true democracy.

We have to face a conflict of interests, too. When we try to get something for ourselves or for our group alone, when we put our own interests before the interests of the community, we are just as guilty.

As citizens, the good of our country should be our first interest. Stand by convictions by all means—but don't make those convictions a plea for special privilege. That is "conflict of interest" and deserves all the opprobrium it can get.

YOU HEALTH TB Prevalent In Many Parts Of The World

These days a trip abroad isn't just a vacation. In time, we are told, we may even hop into a jet on Friday, spend the week end on another continent, and be back at work on Monday.

Although we are living or just seeing the world on a week end, many thousands of us are working and serving abroad in large numbers. We all know someone, a member of the family or a friend, who is living or has lived overseas. So the world has become a smaller and more familiar place for us than it was for our parents.

The "shrinking" of our globe has brought to Americans in some areas of the world the problem of greater exposure to contagious diseases, which makes the difficult problem of controlling such diseases within our own borders even more difficult.

Take tuberculosis for example. The organized fight against this contagious disease in the United States is already more than a half century old, yet despite all that has been accomplished, we have not eradicated tuberculosis as a major public health problem.

Our country is living standards lower than ours tuberculosis is more prevalent than in the United States. Some precautions can be taken by Americans going to those countries, but there is no such thing as tight control over a disease that is present in the Near and Middle East, the world's population and that spreads from person to person.

So today, controlling tuberculosis within the United States depends more than ever on how well the disease is controlled elsewhere in the world. Thus our efforts to help other nations in their fight against TB may result in better protection from the disease within our own borders. In an effort to give people everywhere better protection from the National Tuberculosis Association, with which your local association is affiliated, cooperate with tuberculosis associations throughout the world through the International Union Against Tuberculosis.

REMINISCING WITH LEE STEWART
Stephen Collins Foster Made A Contribution
By R. Lee Stewart
It has been said, "Let me write the songs of a nation and care not who writes the lyrics."
If we in America were to take this literally, Stephen Collins Foster, in the short span of life allotted him, would become the Elzaketae of song. He wrote so many ballads with words and music that when collected they make a fair size volume.

Out of this volume "Old Folks At Home" stands out prominently. Which of us, young or old, is not moved by this haunting melody. We feel the longing in the Negro's voice as he sings the tumble-down cabin and the old folks at home. In it are the memories of a ballad, the tenderness, the accumulated sufferings of his race somewhat akin to that of the Negro.

It would appear that only one who lived before the passage of Dixon law could incorporate in immortal music the shifting panorama of a people's suffering and struggle as it was then in slavery.

While returning from one of the fabled trips, I was asked a request from E. P. Christy of New York to forward an original manuscript of a ballad before submitting same for publication. Christy was then conducting the Negro melody contests and was in the market for compositions

This Is The Kind Of Thing That Causes People To Die

Most states have stringent laws against moving anyone attempting to give such assistance to a person injured in an automobile accident.

We have heard some criticism of such regulation by people who think it is depriving a driver for medical attention or an ambulance.

Accordingly, according to State Police reports, there is evidence why such a law is advisable.

Immediately after the tragic accident on Christy Creek in which two people were killed, a motorist, perhaps a friend or relative, put one of the victims in his car and took her to Sandy Hook. It later developed she probably had a broken back and other injuries.

She was rushed to a Lexington hospital, but this act could have cost this woman's life.

How About A Star Route?
The Morehead Postmaster (page one) properly asks patrons to mail earlier in the afternoon than they usually do (east, west, north and south) goes out of the local office on train 22.

What if you don't understand is why the Postoffice Department hasn't done something to give Morehead a better service through star routes from Lexington to Ashland or Louisville?

We criticize the utilities at Morehead for not doing proper things—some questions at the government when they consider it their duty to get a situation on arrival and dispatch of mail.

We were advocated for years a mail route to Flemingsburg and recently printed some figures showing that it would cost a letter to our neighboring county east of Flemingsburg, than it does to Los Angeles, Calif.

Morehead Did Okeh In Baseball
Congratulations are in order to the Morehead Little Leaguers who went to the finals in District 2 play at Lexington on Saturday.

Morehead's team consisted of Hamilton, Charles Dudley, Caudill, Jim Carter and Pat Tolle who placed West Liberty to the Kentucky semi-pro championship baseball tournament.

Morehead has always been a Mecca for good ball players. We credit it to a few like Rusty Carter, Jim Bob Fugate, Lawrence Friley, Claude Clayton, Carl Hooper, Nick Nickels, Otto Carr, Reb McKenzie, John Allen, etc.

We think that Morehead might form a team next year which could give Lexington a run for the Blue Grass league. The sport has always drawn well here, and Morehead has had several state champions.

Lewis Got To Play After All
Like all the Morehead Little Leaguers Lewis Kennedy found sleep difficult Thursday night in anticipation of the championship journey at Lexington.

Lewis made the trip but a few minutes before game time he was advised the birth certificate he brought was insufficient and improperly filled out. So Lewis was kept out of the lineup.

Morehead Coach Coach Bob Laughlin, who made the trip with his son, Jim Bob, a Little Leaguer, called a friend of his, Charlie Vetterlin, at Louisville. Vetterlin is Director of Recreation and Dean of Kentucky's School of Instruction for Officials.

Vetterlin was able to persuade a keeper of the vital statistics records to go to the office Saturday morning when it is generally closed. The proper certificate for Lewis was made out . . . a young man of 15 (we didn't get his name) who was voted the outstanding athlete of a year who had overcome a physical handicap, flew the certificate to Lexington in time for young Kennedy to play in the finals Saturday.

Vetterlin wouldn't even accept remuneration for the plane ticket.

You Can Register At Courthouse Now
Approximately 1 million young Americans will be able to vote in a presidential election for the first time this year. The ratio is even higher in Kentucky because of the new law permits 18 year olds to cast their ballot.

Are you one of those 4 million? W. Elam will be glad to register you in the office in the courthouse. One time makes you eligible until you die or change your address.

This fall's election is important, particularly in Kentucky. A President who is elected in Kentucky is the only state that will have two U. S. Senators. All Congressmen are also to be voted on.

Dedicate Camp For Youth In Kentucky

State officials gathered at Kentucky Dam Village last week to dedicate a youth conservation training center where young men will raise trees for the state.

The boys, ranging from 14 to 18 in age, are volunteers from the Kentucky Children's Home at Lyndon, near Louisville.

They will live at the campsite year-round and operate a tree nursery.

The boys are living in tents now, but officials said building projects now under way are expected to be completed by fall.

State officials have said they hope the nursery experiment will produce 25 million seedlings a year on the 100-acre plot.

The center is sponsored jointly by the departments of conservation, welfare and economic security.

The boys will work from four to five hours a day and will spend the rest of their time in school and participating in athletic events, officials said.

One of a series of 12 stories of inspiration and the power of faith.

By "Big" Dadrison Zaharias

(World-famous golfer)

A little dazed, my husband and I left the doctor's office and walked through the streets of Beaumont, Texas, to the hotel where we were staying. George kept saying, "Cancer! That's impossible."

It seemed impossible, for me I had never been ill a day in my 34 years of athletics had practically guaranteed good health. I had just won the 1953 Babe Zaharias Open in Beaumont and was packed for an early start at Phoenix where I wanted a few days' practice before the next tournament.

I had been feeling unusually tired, so George and I decided on the medical examination. "Now I had just won the 1953 Babe Zaharias Open in Beaumont and was packed for an early start at Phoenix where I wanted a few days' practice before the next tournament."

Next Week—Adela Ripers

St. Johns, famed newspaper and magazine writer, tells the heart-warming story of Mark Kelly, a sports editor whom she describes as "rough, tough, hard-boiled, tender, loyal, kind, truthful and fearless man."

I found myself headed, not for a golf tournament, but to the hospital.

Many letters

Soon the newspapers everywhere announced that I had cancer. Thousands of cancer patients who were afraid of the disease wired and telephoned in the few days before my operation.

Everybody promised prayers. This was something new for me. All my life, I had looked upon prayer as something very personal between God and me. I guess I've prayed for the same blessings and with the same gratitude as everyone else, but it never occurred to me that thousands of people, separated far from each other, could effectively join in a barrage of prayers for the sake of one person.

Many times after a tournament, I recalled a fan would say something like, "My heart was in my mouth when you lined up that tricky putt on the 18th hole. I was praying all the time." Yet I didn't think anybody was really praying.

Needed Prayers

Now, lying in the hospital, waiting for surgery, I felt differently. If I was going to be all right again, I'd need more than my own prayers. I'd need the prayers of everyone who had promised them.

Suddenly I looked upon prayers as muscles, and I realized that the strongest people in the world must be those who pray for each other. There was strength in this sharing, but I soon realized that I had to give to others as well as accept for myself.

After the operation, the doctor came to me. "All right, Babe," he said. "I want to see you up and out of here real soon, and before the season's over I want to read on the sports pages that you've won another tournament."

The doctor had performed a colostomy—surgery that treated vital changes in my entire way of life. People I had known with colostomies were virtual invalids. For a fleeting moment, I was terrified—until I remembered that I hadn't come into this thing alone.

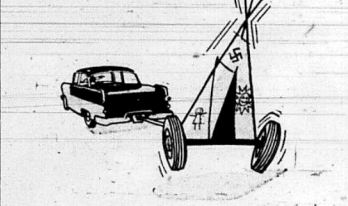

"You Must Return"

Many letters had come from people with cancer, people who seemed more concerned about my recovery than their own. One

Rambling Thru Willits There May Be Too Much Rain, But The Ducks Are Enjoying This Weather

By Glennie Holton

Mighty glad to see that rain, begun last night, has let up to a hatch of a mighty lot of little ducks and little ducks needs a lot of water to grow in. Been looking for them Chandler road men up to put them signs so the my little ducks won't all get smashed up by them big, pretty new cars but have already got killed. Ain't seem it for a day or so and no little duck or no big duck ever ups and dies of no natural cause. I don't reckon. They don't get sick.

That Taylor fellow that married Jerry Crawford's oldest girl young'un and drives a big Packard and smokes a big cigar and lives out in Ohio was up to Willits today day a wanting to join the Young Union and told me Treasurers of Unions "be to how you get it done."

Arthur Kincaid's girl young'un that married a soldier and is out in Sea View Washington, I read this column and thinks it does very well. I'm sure this reader likes Washington to live in. Uncle Sam let me go out the time time to live five months. They've got the awful lot of little hard round rock out there on the military camps ever and was ever time I done something I ortn't to do they would let me go out to pick up these little rocks and pile them up right the way. No use a picking them up. They always come right back by the way. I'm going to out'n the ground I reckon.

George Congleton told me he wouldn't sell me no coal as a Republican. I went right down there to the mine and he never let me no good Republican workers to fill up my truck with coal. Then I had a change. Now, I'm thinking about not paying Kentucky because he wouldn't let me have no coal. Poor fellow, he never been a Democrat all his life and it looks like he never intend to wise up even in his later years.

Dale Thomas can't understand just why his chickens would leave a good green field, a pretty good rip in a corn-feeder full of yaller corn, and come into his yard and eat up the man's best petunias. They eat these flowers right into the ground and were caught a scratching up the roots to eat.

Me and Jackie went over to Chder Doctor. Folks might right about supper time. "I would we get to eat with him. But we never. Whenever the woman called him to supper, he took them up all his young'un and took them to supper and never even asked me and Jackie in for supper one time for manners. Feller ain't supposed to go with his neighbor the first time he asks him. He is supposed to say, "No. I just had a little bite to eat afore." But the second time a feller is asked, he had better get up. He wants anything to eat. It's getting so a feller better go the first time he is asked and not wait for the second invitation because just apt as not there won't be no second invitation.

I tell you I wish I lived closer to the County Seat so that I could go down there and stay a lot more of my time. I set down there Saturday with Taubee right over in front of the Courthouse and it's amazing what one can learn at the County Seat right near the Courthouse. Only thing is one can't be too rosy around the Courthouse cause he might wake up some of the County officials and get run off in the place. Anyway, Taubee told me that he had got to be home a right smart over to the Courthouse to spend his time. Told me that he was doing his best to get the "line" so he could draw them "Modities" and be able to spend more time away from his farm.

Me and Taubee discussed the "life" the morning glories, the twilight's new babies, the life health and many other vital news subjects. It's a sight how somber and worried the Democrats are over Ike's health. Seems the Republicans don't let the "line" get any better and his health angle don't aim to keep them from a voting for Ike. But the Democrats are different. It seems from the talk one can get a setting around the Courthouse is that the Democrats once elected an ailing president to office, they ain't willing and ready to try to elect no other ailing person. We understand that they get into pretty bad shape and ain't got over it yet; but we believe Ike is so well enough to get things straightened out. At least that was the hope of all the Republicans at setting around the courthouse. We watched them new cars

Congress Expects To Adjourn This Week

The Democratic-controlled 80th Congress has set its sights on an adjournment by week-end. But final battles over foreign aid and housing barred the way to home and the postponed conventions.

Also still facing the legislators, whose record will be an issue in the November election, was a showdown fight over the government's role in peaceful development of atomic energy, social security revision and several other ends of legislation.

Work Strawberry Patches Now—Razor

By Adrian M. Razor

It is highly important that those growers who harvested strawberries this year get their patches worked out immediately in order to have a crop next year from the same plants. The procedure is to mow the areas about three inches high, rake them if necessary and apply about 800 pounds of a 10-10-10 fertilizer or its equivalent. Then it is recommended that the mow be worked out leaving a 20-24 inch row as indicated on the service letter received by all growers or, if you have lost this issue, you can secure another copy at the extension office. Wife Shoots Hubby Over Electric Fan

A blonde, 17-year-old hobbyist whose temper soared with the Texas heat, was charged Sunday with shooting her husband during an argument over who should use the electric fan.

Mrs. Donnell Perry, 17, was charged with shooting her husband of six months. He was hit in the chest and jaw and was in critical condition at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Mrs. Kell, clad in baby-sock, moccasins, shorts and a blouse when arrested, said authorities she and her husband argued over the fan during last Saturday's 100-degree heat. She said her husband was lying on the bed in front of a window and was using the fan. She moved it to blow on her while she watched television.

An argument followed. She told officers her husband struck her. She said she got a small .23 caliber revolver he had bought for her protection and fired at him as he went into the bathroom. She said she slammed the door and she-gunned firing through the door, five times at all.

State Moves To Complete Work On Expressway

The state will begin negotiations for right-of-way for grade separations on Waterson Expressway at Louisville, including a full four-lane cloverleaf at Taylorsville Road. Highway Commissioner Bert Kiser announced.

The separations will replace the present grade crossings. The federal government would pay 60 per cent of the cost of the cloverleaf interchange.

Kiser said State Highway Department engineers are at work on designs for the separations. The work is expected to be completed. "We will begin negotiations for the rights-of-way."

The Expressway will be tied with the federal interstate highway system. Plans call for extension of the Expressway from U.S. 60 to U.S. 42.

Interchanges are planned at Westport Road, the Louisville & Nashville Railroad line between Westport and LaGrange Roads, Shelbyville Road, Brown's Lane, Mansfield Road and the entrance to the new State Fairgrounds and Standard Field.

The way to get rich is to save some of the money you spend. slaughter up seven per cent during the first half of 1956. Hog prices, lower by 17 per cent at mid-year, followed an increased slaughter of 24 per cent during the first six months of this year as compared with 1955. Hog market expansion in supplies appears to place the hog market in a stronger position for the last half of 1956 as compared with the distressed prices of the past winter.

Lamb prices currently are showing about a 10 per cent higher level than that of mid-year 1955.

Hope Bang's Disease May Be Eliminated

Dr. Brock said under the plan started last May every herd in the state will be tested. About 4 per cent of the 40,000 cattle already tested were found to have the disease, he added. Successful herds are later given blood tests, and diseased cattle labeled and reported.

During the discussion, Butler said the state next intends to begin a similar testing and eradication program for swine.

Farmers Eligible For 2 Cent Gas Refund

Kentucky farmers are entitled to claim a refund of two cents a gallon of the federal tax on gasoline bought and used for farming during the period Jan. 1 to June 30, 1956.

Claims must be filed on IRS Form 2240, available at county agents' offices, by the date of Internal Revenue. Date for filing is not later than Oct. 1, 1956. Late claims will not be honored. In the future, claims will be filed for a 12-month period beginning from July 1 through June 30.

Reviewing the mid-year farm market situation, M. Paul Mitchell, Purdue University agricultural economist, reported steady to slightly stronger prices featured the grain markets during the first two weeks of July, despite the current harvest.

Contributing to the stronger price position in the cash and nearby future contract market were: Reported reduced supplies of feed grains (not so much affected by price supports), rather substantial reductions in new crop oats and barley contracts, and a smaller spring wheat crop than estimated earlier. On the strength of a bullish estimate for the size of the 1956 corn crop, new crop contract prices weakened while contracts dependent on old crop supplies showed strength.

Soybeans continued their downward price movement, although the market was erratic, with day to day price fluctuations showing both gains and losses of as much as five to nine cents. Net losses for the two-week period amounted to about six cents on all contracts. Weakening prices for both oil and meal were largely responsible for the decline in bean prices, although increased selling proved to be a weakening factor.

In livestock circles, Mitchell reports a generally steady to slightly weaker hog market, as expanding receipts indicate early spring pigs are being marketed. Top prices for the most preferred types and classes of market hogs fluctuated around $17 at the principal primary markets, while country markets were slightly lower.

During the two-week period, fed cattle prices tended to show some slight strength with a top of $24 a hundredweight reported at Chicago after an interval of several weeks. Receipts of brand cattle are now steady, in line with those of a year earlier, and prospects are that in the next several weeks market supplies will trend downward where a year ago receipts were expanding rapidly.

Lamb prices continued on an erratic basis, with day to day fluctuations of a dollar or more occurring frequently. Despite the day to day fluctuations, top prices ended the two week period at about the same level as at the beginning.

Some of the weakness and price loss which occurred in commercial feeder markets during late June was recovered in early July with prices generally quoted 1-2¢ higher. Near the close of the period best White Rock feeders were commanding prices as high as 22¢ a pound. Egg prices were irregular but about steady with any owner, tenant, or farm operator who buys gasoline for use on a farm or in a business. Claims will be allowed on gasoline used by custom operators or neighbors who farm with or cultivate the soil, or raising or harvesting a crop.

Refunds will not allow for gasoline used on the farm, or for that used for other than actual farm purposes such as high way use, lawn-mowing, processing, packaging, freezing or canning. Good records will be kept too, to justify all claims.

Grade A-Large quoted mostly from 35-38¢ per dozen. The fowl market was on the weak side with heavy type hens generally quoted at 14-17¢ in contrast with above 22¢ quotations a month or so ago.

Reviewing the farm market situation at mid-year compared with the same time in 1955, Mitchell found grains slightly higher than a year earlier, mostly from two to four per cent on the grains while soybeans were approximately 16 per cent higher. Good receipts were noted in the 1955 mid-year levels.

Cattle were irregularly lower, with top grades of fed cattle as much as seven and eight per cent lower, while lower grades of slaughter cattle were selling at about the same level of prices. Feeder cattle prices showed declines of from $2 to $3 a hundredweight.

Weaker cattle and hog prices were attributed to the larger slaughter supplies, with cattle slaughter up seven per cent during the first half of 1956. Hog prices, lower by 17 per cent at mid-year, followed an increased slaughter of 24 per cent during the first six months of this year as compared with 1955. Hog market expansion in supplies appears to place the hog market in a stronger position for the last half of 1956 as compared with the distressed prices of the past winter.

Lamb prices currently are showing about a 10 per cent higher level than that of mid-year 1955.

Court Workers Eligible For Retirement Pay

Kentucky Court of Appeals employees were recently added to the list of State workers eligible to participate in the new retirement system.

An executive order from Gov. A. B. Chandler said the employees had been inadvertently omitted from his July 1 order.

That order, covering most State workers listed in 16 departments, agencies and boards whose employees were made eligible to take part in the system established under legislation established by the 1956 General Assembly.

Owingsville Street Will Be Improved

State highway employees have begun preliminary work on Ky-36 in Owingsville from the center of town to the city limits.

Present plans call for lowering the road to a level with the properties close to town, a matter of from 12 to 16 inches in some places. Plans also include curb and guttering with a 40-foot surface from curb to curb and four-foot sidewalks on each side.

Morehead Little Leaguers Advance To District 2 Finals

Morehead's All-Star Little Leaguers brought prestige to the community during the past week by gaining the finals of the Area 2 championship of Kentucky. Morehead advanced to Lexington by easily downing Olive Hill 12 to 4. They pulled an upset victory by beating Lexington Southern 4-3, but bowed out of the tourney Saturday losing to Lexington Eastern 4-0.

Morehead 12, Olive Hill 4 — Catcher Carl Gully started the downfall of the Carter Couglans in the first inning by blasting a home run to the center field scoreboard, one of the longest hits of the season at the Morehead park.

Pitcher Donnie Stewart followed with a four bagger in the second. Morehead jumped into an insurmountable lead with four runs in the first, four in the second and three in the third, and coasted home.

Dale Botts pitched the first four innings for Morehead and received credit for the victory. Sammy Houston finished the game.

Morehead 4, Lexington Southern 3 — The Fayette County team entered this game a heavy favorite over Morehead, but the Rowan Couglans, behind the six hit pitching of Donnie Stewart, sewed up victory in the late innings.

Morehead capitalized on two errors and a single by Carl Gully for a run in the first inning. Southern tied the count in the bottom of the first and went ahead in the third on a single by Charley Thompson and a long triple by Roy Larson. Morehead regained the lead in the fourth on a single, base on balls, another single and a fielder's choice. In the fifth Morehead got what proved to be the deciding run as Stewart reached base on an error and Steve Young drove him home with a two base smash.

The lefthanded Stewart retired the Lexington team 1-2-3 in the sixth to lock up the victory.

Lexington Eastern 4, Morehead 3 — Morehead's Steve Young allowed only three hits in a sparkling performance but his teammates were erratic committing five errors.

Meanwhile Lexington's Pres Judy permitted Morehead five scattered safeties and earned a shutout victory as his club committed only one miscue.

In the first, second and third innings Morehead had two runners on base but Judy was able to put out the fire.

Morehead rallied again in the 8th with two runners but Judy whiffed the final batter.

The five Morehead hits was the most made during the tournament by any of Eastern's opponents. Eastern earned the right to meet the District 4 winner at St. Matthews this week.

Homey Hall was manager of the Morehead All Star Little Leaguers. Coaches were Joe Houston and Don Hardin.

An oddity of the accident was that a passerby picked up Mrs. Adkins and took her to Sandy Hook. She became unconscious and was rushed to Lexington suffering from shock and possibly a fractured back besides other injuries.

Both vehicles were a total loss. Adkins formerly operated a billiard hall in Sandy Hook.

Also to be discussed at the meeting will be the possibility of growing beans commercially next year. If sufficient interest is expressed by those present, plans will be made to obtain a market for beans.

The governing body of the Democratic Party in Kentucky will move its headquarters from Louisville to Frankfort.

The newly-elected Democratic State Central Executive Committee decided at a meeting at Frankfort last week to move records and archives of the party from Louisville's Seelbach Hotel to the second floor of the Southern Hotel in the capital city.

Iowa Gives Good Reception To Happy

Jack Mofe, Iowa state Democratic chairman, said this week that Kentucky Gov. A. B. Chandler made a "very favorable impression" in his host for Iowa delegates to the party's national convention.

The Iowa delegation is unpledged but Adlai Stevenson and Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.) both have democratic delegate strength.

Chandler, who is seeking the Democratic presidential nomination, spoke Saturday at a centennial celebration at nearby Mitchellville and later dined with Iowa Democratic delegates.

More said of Chandler's visit: "Mr. Chandler made a very favorable impression on the delegates. They like the frankness and honesty in his discussion of the issues."

Trucks Are Being Checked In Kentucky

Revenue Official—Sax Violations Are Extremely High

Kentucky revenue men have caught more than 1,600 trucks at road blocks and charged them with violating the state's motor fuel tax laws.

Of the 1,626 arrested between April 3 and July 1, 1,431 were fined. Under state law, truckers are required to procure highway motor-fuel users' licenses, post bond and file quarterly tax reports on trucking activity in Kentucky.

A 1956 law requires truckers operating heavy equipment of four or more axles to pay a special two-cent-a-gallon surtax on each gallon of fuel consumed in Kentucky. This is in addition to the regular seven-cents-a-gallon tax on gasoline and diesel fuel imposed on all vehicles.

Proceeds from the new surtax, with other highway usage taxes, will be used by Gov. A. B. Chandler's administration to help pay off the proposed one hundred million dollar bond issue to be voted on Nov. 6.

The roadblock program, Revenue Commissioner J. E. Lockett said, was designed to obtain compliance with the law, not to penalize truckers.

The fines and court costs have averaged between $30 and $35. Under the law, a fine could range from $19 to $500.

Moreheadians Pace W. Liberty To Title

Three Moreheadians—Steve Hamilton, Charles Dudley Caudill and Jaws Carter—played major roles during the week that carried West Liberty to the semi-pro baseball championship of Kentucky.

West Liberty defeated Emma 7-0 in the finals after teeing off on Louisa 12-1 in the semi-finals.

Willard (Fats) Tate, Maysville, Morehead basketball star, was a major factor in both victories including a home run against Louisa.

Hamilton and Guy Strong carried the brunt of the hurling duties as the Morgan Couglans marched easily to the title. Both were named on the all-tournament team as was Charles Dudley Caudill, who caught all the games and contributed some of the finest hitting of the championship.

West Liberty is a member of the Blue Grass League.
