County Office Aspirants May Be Plentiful

Deluge Of Announcements Expected After November Vote Count

With a Presidential race, two vital U. S. Senate seats and several Congressional seats in the offing, it is probable that the county aspirants will be plentiful.

Every courthouse will resound with public addresses. Senatorial nominees, Earl Clements and Lawrence Wetherby (democrats) and John Sherman Cooper and Thurston Morton (Republicans) have announced they will scatter different directions with old-fashioned stump-making, hand-shaking campaigns.

It is also probable that both President Eisenhower and Democratic Presidential nominee Adlai Stevenson will be in the Commonwealth because the Senate seats here may make the difference in control of the Upper House at Washington.

About the only time Cooper, Morton, Clements and Wetherby may be seen together will be at Morehead State College, where the four nominees are expected from all parts of the state, particularly Eastern Kentucky. The four nominees accepted the invitation of Morehead State President Adam Doran to the non-partisan forum.

Kentucky and Georgia are the only two states permitting 18 year olds to vote.

But, while Kentuckians are streaming and fretting over the November election, the "courthouse boys" will be thinking much deeper than that about their own welfare.

The county elections come next, and May and campaigning at the local level has already started. That, Kentucky voters will be plagued with the national election plus the county election and the state election trying to get in some early links.

In fact there are a few scattered cases of announcements already being made in newspapers for such offices as Sheriff, County Judge, Jailor, etc. However, the heavy influx is expected to arrive before the November ballots are counted.

Seasoned political observers say more county speakers will be seen than depression days, which, during unusual periods of inflationary times.

The "boys who know" attribute this to the following reasons:

1. Most county office pay better than they used to.

2. The bitter Chandler-Combs battle of last year made more people politically active and as a result many will seek office for the first time. In other words, last year's election created more "want-to-be" local political leaders.

3. There is still much bitterness in the democratic party between the administration and the vote and each will seek control at the county level.

4. Republicans, confident of November victory in the Presidential race, and with high hopes of electing two Senators, will try for offices in counties normally controlled by democrats.

Anyway you look at it there will likely be more major aspirants for the county posts in 1957 than in 1952.

Heretofore the primary has been the first Saturday in August, but the last Legislature has changed it up to the last Tuesday in May.

More Than 100 Canners Checked In Rowan County

Over one hundred pressure canner gauges have been tested in Rowan County during this canning season.

Gauges should be checked at the beginning of the canning season and replaced if they register as much as two pounds off low to high temperature, to be sure can result in food spoilage and too high temperature may cause fruit and vegetables to be discolored, poor flavor and texture, and loss of nutrients.

There are many reasons why vegetables yet to be preserved and the Rowan County Extension office can help in many ways. A safe food supply by checking your canning gauge free of charge.

Peace is not a matter of standing idly by. It is an ideal to be sought for with all the wisdom and all the experience of the past.

Second Issue Of Kentucky Writing To Be Published By Morehead State College

The second issue of Kentucky Writing, only periodic anthology of the new regional writing in America, will be published Sept. 3 by Morehead State College.

The four nominees expected from all parts of the state, particularly Eastern Kentucky. The four nominees accepted the invitation of Morehead State President Adam Doran to the non-partisan forum.

Of the 24 authors included in the forthcoming issue, ten have attended the Morehead Writers' Workshop as students and two have served as staff members.

Represented in the volume are: Virgil Bernhardt, Cincinnati; Wendell Berry, New Castle; Edwin Carter, Richmond; Henry Chambers, Louisville; Billy C. Clark, Lexington; Estelle Durrett, Louisville; Helen Brink Glover, Louisville; Clavia Goodman, Paris; Mildred Hanna, Louisville; Geneva Hargis Emily, Danville, Tenn., formerly of Murray; Virginia Hendrick, Harpordsburg; Georgia Hughes, Lexington; Edward Krackel, Columbus, S. C., formerly of the Dept. of English, Murray State College; Wendell Maynard, Clifford, Ky.; Inez Meyer, Georgetown; John Napier, Oak Ridge, Tenn., former Perry County; Mary Virginia Hendrick, Harpordsburg; James P. Turner, Prestonsburg; May C. G., formerly of the Dept. of English, Murray State College.

Sod Waterways Are Constructed By 8

Sod waterway development is rapidly becoming a major conservation practice in Rowan County. The Soil Conservation Service has received many requests for technical assistance on this practice this summer.

Sod waterways are one of the basic conservation practices on a farm. A sod waterway is a shallow, shaped and vegetated waterway which carries water to a place where water can be used.

Farmers in Rowan County have constructed sod waterways for many years. Herb M. Moore, Emory Pratt, Ted Moore, Burl Moore, Bryant Kinisk, J. D. DeBorde and Edgar Black.

These farmers have found that sod waterways have many advantages. They eliminate unsightly areas on the farm. Many places where waterways are needed have been built up and detract from the appearance of the farm. When waterways are built, the soil is stabilized and the soil is not eroded.

Rowan 4-H, FFA Members Enter Dairy Show

Rowan 4-H Club members and FFA members are expecting to show 12 or 15 dairy animals at the annual district 4-H and FFA Dairy Show in Flemingsburg today (Thursday).

Those expecting to attend and show animals are Jerry Curtis, Jerry Edridge, David Jefferson, Nola Jefferson, Darlene Gregory, Janie Gregory, Billy A. Laffon, Joan Moore and Bemis Sluss.

The number of animals to be shown is an increase of over 100 per cent since there were only five entries in last year's show.

Eagles To Play Nation's Top Teams

Morehead Accepts Invitation To Senior Bowl Tourney

Some misunderstanding continues to exist over the 1956-57 Morehead State College basketball schedule judging from inquiries at the Rowan County News Office.

Coach Bob Laughlin today verified the entire schedule which calls for 10 home games, some against the outstanding clubs of the nation.

In addition, the Eagles, a national power on the hardwood, will participate in the Senior Bowl Tournament at Mobile, Ala. Jan. 2 and 3.

Laughlin pointed out that many of the top attractions at Morehead will be played late in the season to insure completion of the new $650,000 gymnasium with a seating capacity of 5,000.

This is the schedule:

If Chandler Runs Again For President He'll Start His Campaign Four Years Early

Gov. A. B. Chandler would do it differently "next time."

Instead of trying to win the Democratic presidential nomination in four months, he would give himself four years.

He would announce "soon," presumably after the November presidential election—and would establish organizations in every state from the start.

He would enter every presidential primary and would be prepared to show the world when convention time rolled around again.

He wouldn't want to lay his hopes on an upset among candidates who were miles ahead of him.

Chandler talked about 1960—the next Democratic National Convention year—aboard his presidential special train returning from Chicago.

Some of the men who know Chandler best suggested he was running more seriously for the 1960 nomination in Chicago last month than he was for the 1956 bid.

If so, a statement he made on the train was significant.

"We made lots of friends and got words of experience," he said. "We saw how the big-time operators. Our team learned a lot."

After that he talked about how thoroughly he would operate next time.

Chandler's remarks when the Chancery Frankfort Saturday night may have tipped his thinking. He told a welcoming party of townspeople:

"I am a candidate for the 1960 nomination in Chicago last month than he was for the 1956 bid."

"I am a candidate for the 1960 nomination in Chicago last month than he was for the 1956 bid."

State Traffic Toll Now Stands At $35

Two more traffic deaths were reported Friday by state police, bringing this year's total to 435. The toll was 462 at this time in 1955.

The latest fatalities as reported to state police headquarters: Jackie Damron, 14, Regina, killed Thursday in a Pike County accident.

Paul S. Jackson, 25, Cropper, killed early Friday in Shelby County.

Razor Leans To Priming Of Tobacco

Says Growers May Add Materially To Production, Quality

Rowan County Agent Adrian Razor said today that Rowan burley growers may add materially to production and quality by priming.

Pointing to acreage reduction and damage from excessive rainfall, Razor said that growers had already started priming this year's crop.

He admitted that some farmers had previously been averse to priming their tobacco and added: "By priming growers may save many high quality leaves which they are able to leave on the stalk standing longer resulting in a more mature and ripe crop."

Pin-pointing the advantages Razor said his office had records that the county's "earned" as much as $44,000 for time spent in the operation.

The county agent said that Charlie Morehead reported that he saved over a hundred dollars in tobacco this year by priming and these were leaves that would probably have never left the barn otherwise.

Sales Toll $29,837

The citizens of Rowan County processed $2,000 in Series E and F stamps during the week ending July 28, bringing the county's cumulative sales for the year up to $29,837.

The county's goal is $68,000. In Kentucky, sales during July amounted to $68,000, the highest cumulative figure up to $37,923.15. The state's 1956 goal is $67,000,000.

Cannery Processes 1,600 Cans In Week

Sixteen hundred cans were processed last week by 25 families at the Rowan County Community Cannery located two miles east of Morehead.

Total for the season is 3,421 processed by 50 families living in Rowan, Bath, Fleming, Elliott, Carter and Morgan Counties.

This large volume of canning is a boon to the county's electrical time-saving equipment that has been installed by the Rowan County Board of Education as part of the Vocational Education program offered in Rowan County.

One popular machine is the corn cutter which cuts corn at the rate of 60 ears a minute.

Large steam jacketed kettles precook vegetables in seconds and the corn cutters and mashers insure top quality products due to the speed they can run.

The flavor is improved by packing foods in cans suitable for use in the home. The cooking after processing by plunging them in cold water.

Dam Question To Be Aired This Evening

Meeting Scheduled
At 7:30 In Courthouse At Morehead

Whether you favor, oppose or are neutral about construction of Cave Run Dam or any dams on the Licking River your chance to air specific information on the proposal comes this (Thursday) evening at 7:30 in the Morehead courthouse.

A mass meeting will be called by the Licking Valley Improvement Association and the President, Dr. Alex Spencer, West Liberty, made it plain that opponents of the dam can ask any questions they desire.

Col. Glen R. Taylor, U. S. Army Corps of Engineers will address the group as will Mr. Spencer and Bill Gorman, a leader in the drive for the Buckhorn Dam.

Construction of Licking Dams is a controversial matter. The Licking Valley Improvement Association has headquarters at West Liberty, where the Cave Run Dam but mentions no action on the river.

The Licking Valley Protective Association, with headquarters at Flemingsburg, opposes high dams, particularly the Cave Run Dam.

The Licking River Home Protection Association, with headquarters at Frenchburg, is against the Cave Run Dam.

Rowan Strawberry Growers Urged To Start Getting Their Mulching Material

By Adrian M. Razor
Rowan County News

Now is the time for growers who expect to harvest the strawberry crop next spring to be getting their mulch material on the farm.

If you plan to use straw which is the best material, it is important that this straw be obtained now so that the bale can be opened and moisture can be soaked in so that the straw can be purchased cheaper now than later.

Not Too Late To Fertilize Berries

Many folks, who have had strawberries to pick this past season have worked out the middles and fertilized them in preparation for another picking next season.

However, I have seen who have not and those are the folks I am thinking about when I say it is important that they apply their fertilizer immediately.

We recommend a complete fertilizer, preferably a 10-10-10 analysis, put on at the rate of around 800 pounds per acre.

Since berries now have the new leaves on, this fertilizer should be brushed off the leaves as it is put on. This can easily be done by having a brush handy and brushing the fertilizer off as you go. This will prevent burning of the foliage.

The plant needs extra fertility at this time to make rapid growth and set fruit buds for next year's berries. We can realize a good harvest next year if we follow recommendations on cultural practices.

Eliminate The Unproductive Birds. This is a good time to work over that poultry flock and get out those birds that are not laying or that are not good prospects for layers. Lets not keep any more "boarders" in the poultry flock this year. They cost too much money.

Seeding May Be Done Now. Now is a mighty good time to prepare that seed bed for this year's fall seeding of pasture. This is also a good time for

Ken Meyers Will Attend Morehead

Bob Laughlin, Morehead State College basketball coach, has announced that Ken Meyers will attend Morehead State College.

Meyers, 6'8" tall, 165 pounds, averaged 24.7 points a game as he scored 1,866 points during three years at Montgomery County High School.

The 18-year-old high school state who was a second team all-star choice in both his junior and senior years was an East in Mt. Sterling to his high school sweetheart, Janis Ann in the East-West all-star game.

Meyers was married Saturday in Lexington, Ky. Laughlin said, "I thought he was one of the best boys at the all-star game in Lexington. After watching him play, I feel certain he can fit into our pattern of play. We are mighty glad to have Ken with us."

Meyers' high school coach, Jess Clark said, "Ken is undoubtedly the best boy I have ever coached. He has a great desire to play."

Guideposts The Invisible Heavens

One of a series of 12 stories of inspiration and the power of faith.

By Igor Sikorsky
 (World-Renowned Plane Designer)

Not too long ago I had the good fortune to visit that gloomy wilderness overlooking the Jordan Valley where Jesus was planned, or preventable, hunger; by the Red revolution; by the two world wars; and the careless bloodletting that followed each.

The future may seem ominous, but the victory of darkness is never an enduring one. It is confidently foreseen the triumph of life, truth, and light.

Before leaving the desert I looked at the vast visible heavens, and felt the challenge of the vast, invisible heavens. I knew for the thousandth time they would prevail because, in the final plan of the Creator, the power of life, truth, and light is infinitely greater than the sum of evil.

From the magazine Guideposts and copyright, 1956, by Guideposts Associates, Inc., Carmel, N. Y.

Morgan Almost Had Mountain Searcher Paper

About 1880 Judge Edward C. O'Rear and Sam S. Cassidy began publishing a newspaper at West Liberty and called it the Mountain Searcher. They got all the subscriptions they could and took considerable other than cash for subscription on occasion, money at that time being scarce.

His Thoughts Wandered
 My thoughts wandered from the stars to the heavens. What is this visible heaven? Is it the foolish invention of the astronomer? And what is the vast, invisible heaven? The universe itself?

Five centuries ago man saw the stars shining and beautifying only the earth. Now he knows they shine and beautify the entire universe, the invisible as well as the visible heavens.

And I became suddenly, and keenly aware of the relation between resurrected man and the mysterious immensity of the universe. I was a part, it only a minute part, of this tremendous creation. The thought awed me. Such thoughts. And they should be approached with care.

A Sixth Sense
 From time to time I have had such an inner feeling. That sixth, indefinable sense that goes beyond mere mechanical intellect, intuition, or even inspiration, if you will. It is one of the faculties of the spiritual component of human personality. It is also a thing beyond brain, eyes, nerves, tissues.

The same intuition stands behind considerable scientific discovery and exploration. Columbus is but one of thousands of examples. Pacha did not tell Columbus that America was here. Inspiration did. And I believe it is no mere coincidence that Columbus was a praying man.

Concerning myself, it was not until I was 25 that I began to search alone, and became more and more interested in the thoughts behind faith.

My present convictions are not the result of a sudden awakening or conversion. I arrived at them slowly. It was an inner process, carried out mostly in complete solitude; often in the woods or while climbing mountains. It is not necessarily the only road, as the best road, but it was my road.

Belief In God
 It would be difficult to explain within the limitations of human language, but it did bring me to the fundamental conclusion of my faith: Belief in God Almighty, the Creator of the earth, and all the visible and invisible heavens.

While I was in the desert of temptation, I looked down at the flat, smooth stones and up to the endless heavens again, and considered the temptations Jesus resisted so firmly, and only He knew with what torment. These temptations exist today perhaps as viciously as when Christ faced them.

The challenge to turn stone into bread finds its evil today in the malvolent desire of the godless to control all food. There is no more powerful argument than food. Feed them first, and then it is easy to compel their obedience.

The devil dared Jesus to cast Himself down from the pinnacle of the temple. The objective of a miracle in such a place was to control and capture the imagination and obedience of the crowd by sheer demonstration of superhuman forces and without attempting to influence their souls or opinions. The nihilist of our day seeks to capture the minds of men by exhibitions of overwhelming power and frightening them into submission.

 used in the study."

Sparks was silent for years; the values of phonetic training have been debated. Much of the controversy has centered whether it is worth while to spend the extra time required to teach phonetics.

The principal believes his study is "the answer" to Rudolf Flech, who, around the country two years ago with his book, "Why Johnny Can't Read," Flech maintained Johnny couldn't read because he hadn't been taught properly — by phonetics.

Incidentally, Sparks' began his study before Flech's book was published.

Sparks, 46, a native of Louisa, Ky., has taught in Louisville schools 21 years. He has been at State College for 15 years and before that was principal of Emmet Field four years. He also has taught at Western Junior High, Stoddard Johnston, and James Russell Lowell.

He began his teaching career in Lawrence County. He has a bachelor's degree from Morehead State College and a master's degree from Northwestern University.

He served four years in the Air Force and was discharged as a captain. He lives at 155 N. Hite with his wife, and son, 11.

Sparks began work on his doctorate in 1951, attending school mostly in the summer. He took a sabbatical leave in the spring of 1955 and was at IU for eight months.

He was president of the Louisville Principals Club in 1949 and is a member of Phi Delta Kappa, an honorary education fraternity. He is the only City school principal with a doctorate.

Some of our June brides are beginning to wonder whether or that big church wedding, with its attendant costs, was such a wonderful idea.

The trouble with most minds is that they are unused.

Tourist Promotion To Undergo Change

A note of pessimism about new tourist travel was sounded at Corbin last week by an official of a tourist-promoting outfit in Kentucky.

J. B. Sasser, a director of "Senior" Cumberlandians, Inc., said the superhighways of tomorrow will harm the tourist industry as Sasser also is a director of the Southeastern Kentucky Tourist's known in Kentucky today. Development Association.

He said in a report issued last Thursday that Kentucky's planned system of high-speed expressways will virtually eliminate Kentucky's bread-and-butter industry.

But, he added, "we can not stand in the way of progress."

"Now that we know the superhighways are bound to come, we should not waste our time fighting them. Instead, our tourist industry must prepare plans to adjust and adapt itself to the transition."

Sasser said the problems of prospective tourists zipping through on superhighways must be solved on a state-wide level.

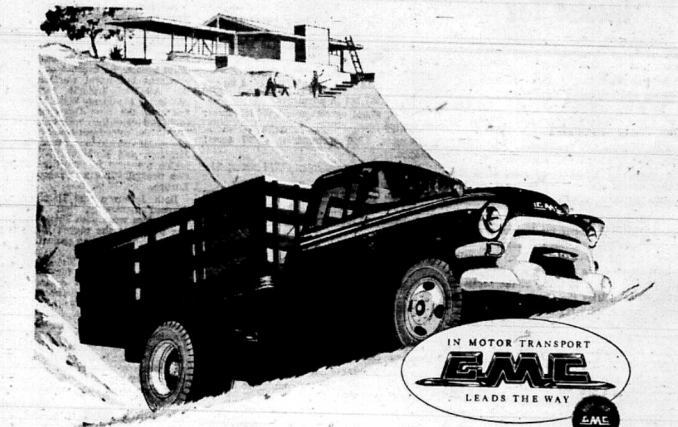

"And it must be done now," he said, "while we still have time, before the new roads are built."

Hugh Collett, SCI executive director, said the organization's

This GMC has "muscles" unsurpassed in its class!

The simple facts speak for themselves.

This new GMC 250-S has 180 V-8 horsepower standard. No other truck in its class comes even close to that.

The extra power delivers 276 foot-pounds of truck-propelling torque. Over-the-road trucks call it "guts" — and this GMC's got up to 33% more than the others.

It's at the top of the heap in frame strength, too. In fact, there's as much as 10% more "muscle" in its chassis than you'll find in comparable trucks.

And there's more. For this rugged GMC has 3500 lb. front axles and 7200 lb. rear — unsurpassed in its weight-bracket. It has extra-size brakes and springs.

Add it all up and you can see what GMC Blue Chip stamina really means. Especially when you team it with a GMC's dependable performance and Hydra-Matic® savings.

For here's a truck that not only delivers the goods at lowest cost — but keeps delivering long after an ordinary truck would have faded out.

Come in and find out about having one start work for you! *Optional at extra cost

"BIG THREE" OUTPUT
During the first six months of 1956, the auto industry's "Big Three"—General Motors, Ford and Chrysler—built 3,082,122 cars and 456,103 trucks. This compares with 4,030,460 cars and 488,041 trucks in the same period of 1955. Chevrolet production led with 878,892 units. Ford totaled 701,501 cars, while Chrysler's car output of 381,023 cars included 243,541 units by the Plymouth division.

ne Soil Bank Payments

It is estimated that farmers retired 10-720,794 acres of land which otherwise would have been used to produce crops this year. The number of farmers who joined in the Soil Bank program is significant—495,432.

Terrapins Are Mighty Slow But They Get There; it's Bad Luck To Kill One

By Clarence Holton

Ain't it a sight how bad the terrapins are about eating the tomatoes, melons and cucumbers. Ain't no use to carry a terrapin out'n the garden and toss him away because he will be right back busting his sides with vegetables the next morning. They're slow but sure. Now, I ain't never killed no terrapins because I always heard it was mighty bad luck to do so. Of course several neighbors are a taking chances and killing the things out'n their gardens. Preacher Ray says he kills them and then takes the eggs and cooks them right into pieces. I just don't like to have bad luck and I keep trying to carry them away. Anyway, it is dangerous to be carrying terrapins around because if'n they let you they will hold on until it thunders they tell me.

We reckon everyone knows that to kill a tad frog will cause the cow to give bad milk. These days you hear everybody of some body's cow a going bad and giving bad milk. This is all caused by killing tad frogs. The roads are full of dead frogs where cars run over them. Even though you run over a tad frog in the big road and don't aim to, chances are your cow will give bad milk anyway.

Got to be careful of snakes right along about now because it is "dog days" and they bite you worse'n any other time. You see they are blind during dog days and children must be careful to stay out of the dew early in the morning—except for going after the cow. Ties are bad to crack underneath during dog days and the morning dew will poison them mighty quick. Best to keep a cracked toe from getting worse is to tie a yarn string right around the toe and over the cracked place. It will get well.

Kirt Abner killed a big rattlesnake down there near Yaller Rock but he said he didn't look to see if'n it was blind or not.

Courtesy Chubbard says this is the best time of the year. He's got his corn and tobacco here and got a garden full of beans, roasters' years, tomatoes, cabbagers, and cucumbers. Says he likes them better'n anything. Yet we bet he is missing a lot of these vegetables right now because we even a lot of his brothers and his brother's friends a going up the hill towards his house over the weekend. We bet they eat a lot of his grub. Bill Stone was with him and told us that he wasn't as fat as he used to be but that he eat good and slept good.

School started over at Canyon Falls last week and Duane Ray went to school for her first time. We overheard her a telling our young'un, "I like school, just fine. You can holler when the teacher goes out of the room for something—but not very big."

Dale Thomas tells us he has his girl young'un, pretty well disciplined. She has been walking only a short time. She came thru the house father day with her electric razor. He stormed at her in put that razor up. She did. She took it into the bathroom and dumped it into one of the bathroom fixtures. It didn't dispose though.

Hazen Holton fetched Preacher Ray's basket of good ripe tomatoes. He left them in the store. My young'un Janie fell back into this basket of tomatoes. It didn't hurt her though since the tomatoes were soft and ripe.

Sedley Stewart was gone plumb up to New York to go to school. That's a mighty far place to go from home but we guessed he had already learned all there was to learn in Kentucky. I'd like to go plumb outside Kentucky but I don't know the way. Nevelly Shackelford and his woman went plumb up to Michigan for a visit. We guess Nevelly didn't know the way up there because he didn't drive his car. He went on the bus. Them bus drivers know the way everywhere we reckon. We don't know if Sedley went on the bus or not to New York. New York is bigger'n Beattyville. Uncle Sam let me go to New York and get on a big old boat during the war. We sold four more packages of them long cigarettes last week. Just can't tell a stranger is a going to drop by anymore.

It's rather unusual that the weather is hot enough to keep a man from church on Sunday, but not hot enough to interfere with a game of golf or a fishing trip.

A raise in pay, voluntarily granted by an employer is one of the rarities of economics and, largely explains organized labor.

RUTH TAYLOR OBSERVES

'They' Lose Identity As Rumor Spreads

I remember once, when I was a tiny, I was telling my grandmother something that to me was most important. To emphasize my point, I said, as I'd heard the grown-ups say, "And it is all true, because they say, it's so." I can just see the way the laughter and shook her head and said: "Now, now, child, and who's they?"

As is usual in an election year, "they" are doing a lot of talking. Rumors and conversational tidbits of confidential information are going the rounds from one person to another, losing nothing. The word is repeating. And the authority is usually "they."

As is nothing new in American political history—but when you add to it the tense international situation, and the eye-focusing position of the United States, the situation becomes more serious. We may discount what we hear—but will the rest of the world discount what we say?

Rumor is like a grass fire, starting from a spark dropped carelessly, and blazing a devastating track across miles of countryside. The time to stop it is when it starts.

And one of the most effective ways to do this is, whenever "they" are quoted, to ask "Who's they?" If it is authentic information, then "they" are identifiable. If the source remains cloaked in secrecy, then ask yourself: "Whom does it profit to have this story told?" When you really do some serious thinking on that last question, you will come up with some surprising results!

For the past 20 years we have seen what devastation the dictator of both left and right have wrought by the skillful use of rumors. They have been—and are still being—used with as deadly skill as the development of armies by a military strategist.

To be forewarned, is to be forearmed. So be sure of the source of what you hear before you repeat it. You may well be serving an enemy when you repeat a rumor carelessly.

Or in the words of the old country saying—"It ain't the things you don't know that gets you into trouble; it's the things you know for sure what ain't."

Who's they?

will discourage enemy fifth column's. Insecticide "bombs" containing pyrethrum and DDT are powerful offensive weapons, but must be used with caution to avoid harming human beings and pets.

Despite all precautions, insect attacks are frequently successful. Now that malaria and yellow fever are under control, the greatest danger lies in scratching the greatest itch. This can lead to infection and possibly blood poisoning. Keep the skin clean, apply calamine lotion, Epsom salts, or a wet paste of equal parts of baking soda and water. This treatment will soothe the sting and the bites should disappear shortly.

It may really necessary to spend the summer in an air raid shelter. Man's courage and ingenuity should win this war.

Cards Continue To Lead Little League

The Cards continued their move for the second-half championship Saturday with a 9-2 win over the Indians.

Jerry Marshall pitched very good ball as he went the distance for his first victory against two defeats. He gave up only four singles and only one earned run.

The Indians took an early 1-0 lead in the first inning. However, Marshall held the Indians hitless for the next six innings.

The Cards picked up five insurance runs in the seventh, three walks and a single by Buddy Stidman.

Losing pitcher was Jim Crawford.

Red Sox 6, Indians 4
Jim Crawford of the Indians scored first on a double by Ronnie Bach in their game against the Red Sox Tuesday. However, the Red Sox came back in the bottom half of the first to score five runs.

The Indians picked up two runs in the fifth and another in the seventh. The Red Sox scored another run in the sixth to chalk up another victory.

Ronnie Bach had two doubles in the day.

The player who expects to discover how to raise a child successfully by reading books has a lot to learn.

Moore, Dean Elected To Co-Op Board

Annual Meeting Is Held At Morehead By Southern States

Farmers in the six-state operation of Southern States Cooperative used their organization more than ever before during the fiscal year ended on June 30, according to a report presented to members by their local annual membership meeting held recently at Morehead, Kentucky.

The total service volume for the cooperative and its affiliates, was reported at about $150,000, up about 12 percent over last year.

The State's Cooperative, including membership in its affiliates topped off the 1935-36 mark—an all-time high.

Southern States Cooperative itself will pay a patron's refund of 44 percent on patron's purchases.

In addition to the report given by District Manager Tommy Conlin, members were elected to the local board and the Farm Home Advisory Committee.

G. W. Glavin, manager of Rowan Farmers Supply gave the report on local operations and service. The local residents qualified for the special "What The Answer" contest grand prize company who were the winners as part of the Southern States Annual Stockholders meeting at Lexington, Ky., in November.

These are Mrs. Nina Gent, Mrs. Nellie Brannan, Clarence Baldwin, Mrs. Myrtle Gent, Charlie Gent and Van Brannan, all of Lexington, Ky., in November.

James Munday and Walt Steffen, both of Olive Hill, Mrs. Ruth Kidd of Farmers and Phillips Maury of Smith.

Mr. Brannan and Mrs. Stephens also won electric skillets in a special competition.

Elected to the local board were Earl Moore and Bert Dean, both of Morehead.

Elected to the local Farm Home Advisory Committee were Mrs. John Caudill of Morehead and Mrs. Charles Roe of Elliottville.

W. M. Perkins of Morehead was chosen to represent the local board as its delegate at the Southern States annual stockholders meeting in November.

Bert Dean, of Morehead was chosen as alternate.

Brown entered the service at the Army's Armor Training Center, Fort Knox, Ky.

Brown was trained to drive the Army's medium tank. He passed the 30 and 50 caliber machine gun proficiency tests and qualified as a gunner in the firing of the 90 millimeter tank gun.

Strawberries Put Money In The Pockets Of Many Small Eastern Kentucky Growers

Leonard Lester Cowan lives on a small farm on Cowan's branch of Branching Creek, near Cabbagetown, on the side of Cumberland Mountain. To reach their farm, the small creek flows through a maze of small fields.

A year ago last spring, Leonard Cowan set out his first strawberry plants. Since then, he has been growing them in his garden and on his fields.

When the berries began to ripen, Leonard visited the Cowans to see if they were making out. When Leonard visited the Cowans, he found them making out.

It's usable horsepower that counts!

Rated horsepower figures don't tell the whole story of truck performance! Many passenger-car type engines have to strain at the job of developing power to pull a normal load. They have to "give it all they've got" to move their loads and keep them rolling, cost big money in wear, repair and shortened life.

INTERNATIONAL Truck engines—built for trucks—turn at relatively low rpm—deliver high usable power at normal road speeds. They are part of the all-truck engineering that asks no passenger car component to do a truck job—part of the thinking that builds trucks stronger, to last longer—save you the BIG money in operating and maintenance costs.

Come in and let us give you all the facts!

All-Truck Power Plus Today's Most Modern Truck Features

- Functional, practical, money-saving styling
- Famous driver-designed Cante-Voice cab
- Power steering, power brakes available for most models
- Automatic transmission optional on many models
