You Can Have Your Own Project For Needy At Christmas

Every American family who enjoys the benefits of good food, clothing, shelter, and some of the luxuries of life, would do well to look around them and decide upon a Christmas project for a needy family, or a fellow citizen who is less fortunate.

If every family in our community would assume the responsibility of helping one other family, or some unfortunate, ill or needy individual, this Christmas could be made the best ever observed in the United States.

We are not suggesting that families wait until Christmas time, go down to the local store and buy a few groceries to take to some family. In this way, the really deserving cases are not found because there is not time to investigate the situation properly and the real spirit of Christmas is not fully carried out.

Those who wish to make this Christmas season a happy one for all the children, and not just those children with wealth at their command, should look around to discover other ways of helping their fellowmen. Perhaps it would not be a financial contribution of any kind. It might be helping them to obtain a certain job, or to get their children in school, to secure medical help or other forms of aid they might need.

If we should all do as we are, we could make this Christmas the best of all such undertakings. Our community would greatly profit because the spirit of brotherly love and friendship would be enormously enhanced by the active efforts of those who are able to help those who might be temporarily struggling through difficult times.

Our final comment on this subject is that those who follow the suggestion and adopt a project for their family, or themselves, will be the real beneficiaries through living the Christmas spirit and gaining the full satisfaction which comes from doing what Christians should do at a time when they are celebrating the anniversary of the birth of Jesus.

This Was Not By Choice

Seventeen-year-old Cynthia Moran, of Windsor, Conn., is a hot-rodder, though an unwilling one. Cynthia got into her 1956 sedan recently and started downtown.

About a mile from her home, her engine began to accelerate rapidly, even though Cynthia was not depressing the gas pedal. She attempted to stop the automobile with the foot-brake, and then the hand-brake, but the car picked up speed as it reached the top of a hill.

At the bottom of the hill, the police were lined up in the street and a patrolman was directing traffic. Trying everything, including turning the ignition off, Cynthia still could not stop the car, which picked up speed as the speed downhill. She got into the middle of the street, flew the horn and roared through the crowd at seventy-five miles per hour. The patrolman jumped aside just in time.

About this time, Cynthia managed to get the car into reverse and this threw the car in a circle, turning it all the way around, so that Cynthia was facing the car approaching her head-on, though she actually crashed into it with the rear of her car. Although the rear bumper was hooked with the front bumper of the car she had hit, both the drivers managed to get out unhurt.

Shortly after Cynthia got out, her car decided to take off again and it and the other car started off down the street at twenty-two-and-a-half miles an hour. Finally, a patrolman, who was nearby, took chase, boarded Cynthia's automobile, and barely managed to stop it with the foot-brakes. Then he jumped out and pulled ignition wires loose.

Instead of being arrested, Cynthia was praised for her gallant efforts at the wheel of the runaway automobile, and the patrolman said she was actually a fine hot-rodder. She is probably one of the country's greatest unwilling hot-rodders, and the garage or whoever is responsible for the defective carburetor and gas-line connection which is thought to have jammed, is lucky that lives were not lost in the accident.

Some suspect the 1957 cars were made considerably longer than preceding models so that people who wear them out driving around trying to find parking spaces long enough to accommodate them.

"More economy in Government is needed," says an editor. In this case, wouldn't any be more?

Here's why it's so difficult to reason with a woman: She's a human being.

Enough to stand the shock.

Not in every case it is the unusual that gets into the newspapers. The press continues to carry as illustrated news the attendance of church services by President Eisenhower.

If the trend to increasingly long movies continues, there will soon be a market for saucer-sized corn plaster.

Mother Nature is indirectly responsible for much of the trouble in the Middle East, in that she produced enormous quantities of oil in that area.

RUTH TAYLOR OBSERVES

It's Time For Self-Analysis Before New Year

In the weeks before the New Year, it will be wise to devote a little time to self-analysis to determine what we are, and to decide what we want to be, in order that the resolves we make on New Year's Day will be resolves we can keep and that we will want to adhere to in the days to come.

You notice I said "self-analysis." I have no quarrel with it. I am old-fashioned enough to hold that a perfectly normal, rational human being, with a belief in God and a desire to do right, can pretty well face up to his or her own character—and in the last analysis, he or she is the only one who can do anything about changing it.

When I was growing up, I can remember being told: "You can't live with anyone unless you can first live with yourself." Think that over. There is a lot of meat in it. And a pretty good explanation of a lot of so-called wrecked lives.

The one person you can't dodge is yourself. The one criticism you can't dismiss is that of your own self-knowledge. The one charge you cannot argue against is that before the bar of your own conscience. The one person you can't get out of living with is yourself.

Know yourself and your capabilities. There is a great deal of difference between being critical and being self-contained. One will not get along with others; the other will. Know yourself and live up to yourself. If you would spend as much time and energy in living up to what you want to be, as you do in putting on a front for the benefit of others, you would rarely get somewhere.

Find out what you believe and why. Then you won't be swayed by momentary emotion. Think by reasoning, hatred, or prejudice. One will not need to lean on others or to depend on what they can do for you, or to feel that if you go bad, you must push others aside.

Know yourself—and you will be your own master. It is not easy, but the rewards are great. And—therein lies the only real freedom from fear, because the solution to any and all problems lies within one's self.

If you wish a good, a happy and a prosperous New Year—begin with yourself. You'll find it a worthwhile study.

REFUGEES

Nearly 100,000 Hungarians have fled into Austria in the last four or five weeks and are scattered throughout that country. Many are being housed in temporary camps. The American Red Cross is aiding in caring for these people who have left their homes in Hungary.

Everybody is for economy in government until they need an appropriation for a pet project of their own.

Christmas Seal Funds Pay For TB Research

"You know today's my birthday, I figure this is another present for me," the Center said as he stood in line with the rest of the high school basketball team waiting for his chest X-ray.

It didn't seem like such a good present when his family doctor called him in a week later. There was a shadow on the X-ray film. The doctor took more tests. Yes, it was tuberculosis. The Center felt pretty bitter about that birthday present for awhile. But as time went on he began to understand what the Doctor said. "If you hadn't had that X-ray—when we did, it might have been too late. Too late for you and for some of the others who would have caught it from you."

That was just a year ago. The Center was just out of the hospital in time to celebrate his birthday. He's making a special occasion of combining it with another birthday—the birthday of the tuberculosis-fighting Christmas Seal.

He's learned that medical research paid for by Christmas Seal funds had a lot to do with getting him well. He's learned that if he had had TB 50 years ago—before the Christmas Seal was born—he wouldn't have been much hope for his recovery.

When the first Christmas Seal was sold in Wilmington, Del., on Dec. 6, 1907, the fight against TB was little more than a dream of a few doctors and others who believed TB could be defeated.

Since then the Christmas Seal has been developed an effective nationwide campaign against TB. The Center knows better than most people that the fight is far from finished. He has faced the fact that he won't be playing championship basketball for some time, that he'll always have to be extra careful of his health.

But he's grateful to have a future ahead of him—thanks to Christmas Seals.

Plenty of good seals remain for the game which is being sponsored by the American Legion.

What A Wonderful Christmas Gift

We have already received many Christmas cards but the one we liked best was from Mrs. Roger Teyssier (the former Sue Russell of Verdun, France).

Mrs. Teyssier's husband, I. J. Teyssier, was a Colonel in the Army, stationed at Verdun in 1918, and daughter Rosemary have joined him.

On her card to the Editor Mrs. Teyssier wrote: "I'm sending you a Christmas gift, a beautiful French maid, although she speaks no English. I think you will appreciate her."

He Knew What He Wanted

Rev. B. W. Moore is playing Santa Claus for a local department store. He finally persuaded a half-sister, two-year-old to go on his list.

"Now, son, what can old Santa do for you?"

Young Moore started screaming and replied: "You can let me do-o-o-n."

Magistrate Fee Plan Argued Before Court

Kentucky's system of paying magistrates out of the fees they collect was defended Friday as a necessary adjunct to county governmental functions.

His elimination under present conditions, the Court of Appeals was told, would create physically impossible hardships for county judges, county attorneys, other officials and citizens in general. The argument was offered in asking the court to reconsider its ruling of last May that magistrates could not try criminal cases because they had financial interest in convictions they return and fines they collect.

Mason County Attorney Herbert L. Wood suggested a system of trial commissioners to replace magistrates who hold court. They would be paid a salary and the fees they collect would go to the county government.

Wood said he was not speaking officially for the Kentucky County Attorneys Assn., but that he spoke the sentiments of at least 31 county attorneys who felt the ruling would be untimely.

Dedication Game Has Two Features

The dedication basketball game for the new Kentucky Fair and Exposition Center Complex, Dec. 19 will feature a contest between Western Kentucky and San Francisco, 1956 NCAA champions.

Another feature will be the awarding of a $1,000 Savings Bond to the Kentucky high school student who has sent in the best name for the new Coliseum. The student's teacher will receive $250 if the student's name is chosen.

While then comes fourth and advises Alibi for game 41, 42, 43, 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, 59, 60, 61, 62, 63, 64, 65, 66, 67, 68, 69, 70, 71, 72, 73, 74, 75, 76, 77, 78, 79, 80, 81, 82, 83, 84, 85, 86, 87, 88, 89, 90, 91, 92, 93, 94, 95, 96, 97, 98, 99, 100.

What A Wonderful Christmas Gift

We have already received many Christmas cards but the one we liked best was from Mrs. Roger Teyssier (the former Sue Russell of Verdun, France).

Mrs. Teyssier's husband, I. J. Teyssier, was a Colonel in the Army, stationed at Verdun in 1918, and daughter Rosemary have joined him.

On her card to the Editor Mrs. Teyssier wrote: "I'm sending you a Christmas gift, a beautiful French maid, although she speaks no English. I think you will appreciate her."

THE EDITOR'S PEN

The Editor Omits Serious Writing As Yule Approaches

Mrs. Bill (Sidney) Lane almost landed in the hot seat about Lexington last week. You don't jump to conclusions because she didn't do anything wrong.

Mrs. Lane made a purchase at a Lexington store and handed the clerk a $20 bill in payment.

The clerk suspiciously eyed the bill. He then went to the cash drawer and checked it, with another of the same denomination.

Embarrassed by it, this Mrs. Lane finally inquired: "What's the matter?"

"Looky, I'm afraid this is counterfeit."

Mrs. Lane recalled where she had obtained the bill, and told the clerk to give it back and the clerk wrote him a check for the amount of the purchase.

"It's not that easy. I must call the police," Mrs. Lane said.

In a few minutes the Chief of Police and other officers arrived. Following a close scrutiny of the alleged spurious currency, Mrs. Lane indignantly and squirmed just as you and I would.

Observing her mounting ire, the Chief explained that she was under no suspicion and that the investigation had been flooded with counterfeit $20 bills during the shopping season and stores had been alerted.

She was then shown that the twenty bill was not different from currency of the same denomination in two ways: (1) the bill was more than twice as large as the one in the pocket of the White House and (2) the word "The" was omitted from "The White House."

However, it was ascertained that the Treasury Department had made some of twenty dollar bills. The bill had been turned over to the FBI and Mrs. Lane was given her change and purchase money.

It was a sharp-eyed clerk, indeed, who spotted the difference.

Come to think of it, we doubt that we have ever examined a bill for its authenticity and couldn't tell you what picture is on it except the one and $5.

Hamilton Paces Morehead To 81-79 Victory Over Small But Stubborn Marshall Five

A Morehead College basketball team that was as cold as kraut juice for the first five minutes and played thereafter in spurts, downed the Thundering Herd of Marshall College 81-79 at the Huntington Memorial Fieldhouse.

It was Morehead's third victory in a row after losing the opener to NIT champion Louisville.

The Eagles used their height to close the boards most of the evening, but their timing was spotty. Only veteran Steve Hamilton played his usual game as he netted 30 points and set the mark that brought victory for Bob Laughlin's side.

This was the fourth straight time the Eagles have beaten arch-rival Marshall. They turned the trick three times being in the final victory in NCAA play.

Morehead garnered just about every rebound in the first five minutes but shot and shot without the ball going through. Finally, after 4:30 Hamilton hit a free throw to break the ice.

With four minutes remaining Morehead led 77-69 when Marshall caught fire to narrow the margin. Marshall deliberately fouled from then on, but the Morehead eagles couldn't hit their free throws hanging on for a hard-earned victory over a foe they should beat easily in the return engagement at Morehead Fieldhouse.

Morehead's impetuosity at the free throw line this time was causing Laughlin plenty of concern.

Kelleher followed Hamilton in the scoring with 18 points while Thompson made 17 and Tolle 10. Underwood and Green were high pointers for the Herd with 20 and 19, respectively.

Instead of the usual hectic Morehead-Marshall game this one was cleanly played and the officiating was so good that very little booing came from the near-capacity crowd.

Morehead 81. If fit it is fit to win.

Eaglets Gain 3rd Victory Of Season

Breck Downed Meade Memorial 49-48 Tuesday Evening

Brookridge Training School Eaglets won their third game of the current basketball season Tuesday evening in the MNC gym by defeating Meade Memorial 49-48.

Guard Ronnie Bach scored the winning goal with little more than two minutes remaining in the game.

The lead changed hands many times during the hard fought contest, especially during the first five minutes of the game. However, Breck jumped into a 11 to 7 first quarter lead.

However, Meade Memorial came back and held a 20-23 first half margin. Breck outscored the visitors one point during the third period but were still behind 41-37. The Eaglets were able to pick up 12 points in the final frame while their opponents were getting only 7.

Guard Danny Pierce was high point man for the Eaglets with 17. Center Dave Hatcher collected 14 and forwards Tucker and Stewart each contributed 6 points. Guard Ronnie Bach also scored 6 for the Eaglets.

Breck now has won three and lost three.

The Eaglets travel to Paintsville Friday evening for their next encounter. They will play host to a strong Ashland club Tuesday, Dec. 18 and will close out their pre-holiday season against Sharpsburg Dec. 20.

Both the Ashland and Sharpsburg game will be played in the college gym.

The hard work of other people often explains the success of some men.

MHS Notches Ninth Win Of Season

Hardin Scores 23 To Pace Vikings Win Over Haldeman

Diminutive guard Don Hardin poured in 23 points Tuesday evening to pace the Morehead High School Vikings to their ninth victory of the season in a 45 to 40 win over Haldeman. The game was played at Haldeman.

Captain Warren Cooper's Vikings now have a 9-2 record for the season and have won their last four outings.

Haldeman was able to exchange baskets with the superior Vikings during the first five minutes of the game. However, Morehead began finding the range and could not be stopped.

Morehead led 15-8 at the first quarter and boosted their lead to 37-15 at half-time. During the second half Morehead substituted freely.

Haney collected 20 points to the Viking cause. Hall and Adams led Haldeman's scoring with 10 points each.

The Vikings play Fairview tomorrow (Friday) night and Olive Hill Tuesday. Both games are away.

Morehead held an earlier win over Fairview, 42-34. However, the Vikings have not played Olive Hill, considered by many as the best team in the 10th region. They return home Dec. 21 to play South Portsmouth in their final game before the holiday season.

Box Score: MHS 45, Haldeman Bowman 2, F. 10 Adams Marshall 4, F. 5 Castle Ramsey 20, C. 2 Bowen Pierce 11, G. 10 Hall Hardin 23, G. 5 Barker Subs: MHS—R. Moore 6, Caudill 8, Hall 2, Jones 4, Markwell, Greenhill 3, Atkins 2, Haldeman—Fraleigh, Landis 6, White 2.

Eagles Win O. V. Game By 95-72

Laughlin Club Has Little Trouble With Middle Tennessee

Morehead College, with all five starters missing in the double figures for the second straight game, defeated Middle Tennessee, 95-72, in an Ohio Valley Conference basketball contest at the Morehead Fieldhouse Saturday.

The Eagles opened scoring and never relinquished the lead at halftime. Morehead held a 49-22 advantage.

Despite the high scoring, the game was marred by raggedness. The Blue Raiders forwards were thwarted by the tall Morehead defense. And Eagle ball handlers fumbled frequently.

The Morehead attack was led by Dave Kelleher, who accounted for 21 points. Behind him in the scoring parade were Ken Thompson and Steve Hamilton with 18 and 17 points respectively.

Highman for the Blue Raiders was Oscar, Fitzgerald with 13.

It was the second victory in three starts for the Morehead eagles and the first conference game.

In a preliminary, the Morehead Froshmen defeated Clinton County Air Force Base (Ohio), 86-42.

court 12 indictments. We have heard all witnesses coming before us, on both hold-over cases and new cases and we have returned into open court true bills in each case where the evidence was sufficient. In those cases held to await the action of the grand jury where the evidence was not sufficient we have so indicated upon the warrants.

"We, the grand jury, having inspected the courthouse and grounds, found them to be satisfactory, except the condition of the courthouse rest rooms which we found to be in a deplorable condition. We further found the caves of the front of the courthouse to be in a very damaged and dangerous condition and recommended that these conditions be corrected immediately.

"Upon inspecting the jail we found it in a reasonably satisfactory condition, except toilet facilities were very inadequate and we recommended that private toilet facilities be installed at once for women prisoners. We further recommended that the upstairs back room of the jail be so improved to serve as a place for women prisoners.

"We further recommend that proper and immediate medical attention be given to any and all injured and ill prisoners of the county jail. We have discovered that the lower court at times transfers cases to the grand jury where they have jurisdiction to hear that this is an improper practice and that the lower court practice try all cases where it has jurisdiction and the practice of transferring cases from one court to another should cease.

We also recommend that the grand juries of the future read and refer to the report of the previous grand jury."

of those games for the title. The pressure will definitely be on Western if Morehead beats Tech tomorrow and, by the same reasoning, Morehead will face the upstart battle should Tech down Laughlin's club.

Victory for Morehead can spell the national ranking and acclaim that the Eagles have long sought and often unfairly denied.

Although Morehead has appeared sloppy and off-its-timing recently there are two bright spots for the Eagles. Center Thornton Hill has apparently re-animated in a semi-prained covered in the last 35 seconds of the Middle Tennessee game while dependable Steve Hamilton is proving to be the take hold guy.

that Laughlin needs to badly Hamilton made 30 points against Marshall Monday at Huntington. The schedule may also be in the Eagles favor as the club is almost certain to gain fitness and pose as the season progresses. The tougher games, including Western, come late in the campaign.

Another phase of the meeting concerns the 4-H Club members who are signed up for a beef dairy project.

The Livestock Improvement Association members are planning to give a heifer calf to some 4-H Club owner to start a calf main. Details may be obtained from Mr. Wade. 4-H members who are interested in the calves are being urged to attend this meeting along with their parents.

The dairy heifer is already promised to the association. Either an Ayrshire or Holstein will be donated. If the beef heifer is not donated, one will have to be bought. It is the hope of the association, however, that some beef breeder in the county will donate a heifer, Wade said.

He suggested that any person interested in working for the state in the testing work attend this meeting. Dr. Irvin will answer questions concerning the program.

Glenn Lane Reelected By Democrats

Mrs. Carter Named Secretary At Harmonious Meeting Saturday

Everything was harmonious Saturday afternoon at the meeting of the Rowan County Democratic Committee in the courthouse and Glenn W. Lane was reelected County Chairman for his third straight term.

The Democratic precinct committee and committeewomen also reelected Mrs. Lydia Carter Secretary.

They will serve for the next four years.

Lane is a supporter of Gov. A. B. Chandler and a close personal friend and confidant of Lt. Governor Harry Lee Waterfield.

Accepted prior to the election. Any one desiring membership may secure a membership application card by contacting Garvey, Glenn Lane, vice-president; H. H. Lacy, secretary-treasurer; Russell Wade.

He was commended Saturday as "the best Chairman Rowan County has ever had."

Arch Williams was named temporary chairman of Saturday's meeting without a dissenting vote. W. Y. Bailey and D. H. Gevedon placed Lane's nomination before the group and he and Mrs. Carter were elected unanimously in an obvious show of good feeling.

Lane called for unification of the party and "laying aside any factional differences."

Thirty-seven of the 40 committeemen and committeewomen were present or represented by proxy.

One precinct, Morehead 21, will select a committeeman and committeewoman at an election which Mr. Lane said he would call soon.

English Duke Comes To Aid Of Nudists

The Duke of Bedford, one of Britain's best dressers, came to the aid this week of some of the world's foremost nudists—the "World Congress of Nudists." The Duke, said the 39-year-old duke, "that the nudists are having trouble in finding a place to hold their 1946 international congress." It seems to me that Woburn could provide the necessary facilities.

Woburn—pronounced Woburn—is his grace's palatial estate near London. In the county of Bedford, the seat of his 99-room house, Woburn Abbey, it has several thousand acres of green lawns, spreading trees, lakes and streams.

"I'm getting in touch with the organizer of the nudist congress," said the duke. "I'm going to tell him that I think we can accommodate his congress."

The duke was speaking from another of his "troubles," on the island of Jersey. In the English Channel, he was reached by telephone after he wrote to the Sunday Pictorial offering his slavey grounds to the nudists.

"Really," he said, "I'm serious about this. If they want to hold their congress on my lawn, I'll try to help them. We've got plenty of space, you know."

The duke would admit the nudists free. He said he presumed ed they would sleep in nearby hotels, but if they brought along tents he saw no reason why they shouldn't pitch them.

"The food is up to them," he said, "but of course we sell tea to tourists."

The British Sunbathing Association, which is trying to bring the 1946 congress to the United Kingdom, has had no success so far in finding a city that will play host to the international meeting.

Told of his grace's offer to let the congress come to his estate, Arthur Hodgson, secretary of the sunbathing association, said: "We are terribly honored. The duke's offer would seem to solve our difficulties."

EDUCATIONAL AID

Together with graduate and post-doctoral students, a total of 390,000 young Americans received for the average of $1,000 cash for instruction in all fields of study at colleges and universities in the United States during 1945. While only 82,000 or one-fourth, of the undergraduate students were pursuing scientific studies, about one-half of 10,000 graduate students and virtually all 1,300 post-doctoral students receiving aid were preparing for careers in science.

ONLY HALF RATIONS

By Maud McCurdy Welch

SHE WAS walking slowly down the colorful business street, a woman of indeterminate age, neatly dressed, with sad, hungry eyes. Now she was stopping at a window where there was a tempting display of lingerie and it seemed as if the black look in her eyes momentarily changed to brightness and interest. But after a moment, she went on walking slowly down the gay street, a little more tiredly, it seemed.

Next there was a pastry shop. She stopped here too, casting a look of longing at the rows of eclairs and cinnamon buns, at the great length of nut-brown rolls cunningly displayed in a shiny new tin.

Her tongue came out and touched her lips, but she lingered here for only a moment, went on. After a few moments she unexpectedly turned, came back and stood in front of the window again. It was as if she were saying, "Oh, well, no harm to look."

At the stand here, the hungry light in her eyes deepened. She looked at the price of the eclairs with eyes that were suddenly rapacious. Only five cents. Five cents each, so cheap, and yet so dear... so very dear.

Once she figured the thin slab of her purse as to count mentally the small store of pennies it might, or might not contain. Then with an air of sudden resolution, she walked firmly on.

On down the gay street she went, this time holding her head straight ahead, not even turning her eyes once to the shop windows of which there were so many. It was as if she had taken a vow to herself: "I won't look... there are so many pastry shops. Then I shan't realize how hungry I am."

For the length of nearly two blocks she kept her resolution not to stop and gaze in the shops. But the one at the far end of the corner at last proved her undoing. Another pastry shop it was with its rows of eclairs and buns and rich cakes with a great luscious pile in the center richly adorned with brown coconut shreds. More tempting far, she knew, than the others she had passed with her head held so resolutely high.

She made a faint effort to pass on this time. But her feet lagged against her will. She moistened her lips avidly as if in anticipation. Then it seemed as if her knees began to weaken beneath her. All imagination of course. But she couldn't go on this time.

She stood there gazing to the right, her heart content. There was a small splintered crack in the heavy plate glass of the window. Perhaps she was thinking as she looked at the crack how very easy it would be to give it a tiny push, and make it crumble. Quite simple then to thrust her hand inside the break and secure at least two of those delectable eclairs, then whisk away before anyone had time to notice.

She straightened up. Such a thought was sheer idiocy. Was she taking leave of her senses? But the idea must have been fascinating for she stood there a long time with a sort of avid smile on her face... perhaps she was thinking how deliciously the rich brown crust of the eclairs would crunch beneath the savage attack of her strong teeth.

And now it had happened. Her rebellious hands were making up and beginning to clamor loudly for food. It was as if someone were fiercely and fantastically beating a drum beneath the walls of her lower torso.

She felt herself growing weaker, emptier, every minute. Once there are so many pastry shops. Then I shan't realize how hungry I am.

Suddenly she flung her head back and marched with firm, determined steps into the shop murmuring to herself in a voice of thick disgust, "What's the use? I never could stay on a diet, anyway."

Mrs. Doran Lends 'Touch Of Broadway'

(By Maud Welch)

Louisa was treated to a "touch of Broadway" recently in a most delightful program of organ music rendered by Mrs. Adron Doran.

Aside from her well-deserved reputation as a talented musician and complete master of the organ, with a technique and style all her own, Mignon Doran might well be referred to as a good-will ambassador of Morehead State College, of which her husband is the President.

The concert was presented in the auditorium of the new Elementary School, where the stage facilities with the new curtain of royal red velvet, created a perfect setting for the magnetic charm and beauty of the guest artist.

For one and one-half hours the music-loving audience of approximately 200 gave rapt attention throughout the program which opened with "Viva," followed by Victor Herbert's "Kiss Me Again" and "Indian Summer," the beautiful "Melody of Love"—in which she combined the organ and the piano. She also included selections from the musical comedies "The Girl Friend," "No, No Nanette" and "Carousel." Her audience showed their delight in her playing of a medley of Hoagy Carmichael, which consisted of "Star Dust," "Lazy River," "Giggles on my Mind" and "Lazy Bones." Her remarkable technique and showmanship was best displayed in Keyboard Capers—a medley which comprised "Ain't She Sweet," "Bye, Bye Blues" and "Whispering." The combination of sleighbells as she played "Winter Wonderland" and "White Christmas" was appealing and appropriate to the season.

"Remember me" says the 1957 March of Dimes poster, featuring a tiny boy, fortified with braces and crutches.

"Look at me," say several young voices from hospital beds in the 1957 March of Dimes public-distribution film. And this will be the unofficial theme of the annual fund campaign of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, to run Jan. 1-31.

Kentucky Village Reports Progress

Forty-two major improvements at Kentucky Village were listed in a report by Superintendent Robert Hammond. Prepared at the request of Welfare Commissioner Charles Alphin, the report covers the first nine months of this year.

Among the improvements and additions listed are:

Renovation of the third floor of the salvage building into a dormitory to relieve any serious congestion at the institution.

Repair of classrooms and the school roof.

A full time chaplain is employed and a monthly budget, approved for the purchase of religious material.

Vocational classes were started in shoe repair, sewing, wood-working and automobile repair.

A service station training program was started with the assistance of a major oil company. Hammond said a program has been formulated with the assistance of Dr. A. M. Lyon, superintendent of the Kentucky Training Home, for the treatment of mentally defective children to the home.

A program also has been initiated for the children needing psychiatric treatment to be transferred to Eastern State Hospital.

In his report, Hammond said the number of children at Kentucky Village has been reduced to approximately 300. The institution at Greendale, near Lexington, is one of three caring for delinquent children under the direction of the Department of Welfare.

Appellate Court Ends Term This Friday

The Kentucky Court of Appeals' final opinion day of the current term will be Friday, Dec. 14.

Following a Christmas vacation, the high tribunal will sit in its first regular session of the winter term Friday, Jan. 14.

The court, however, is subject to call by the chief justice at any time he deems a session necessary.

Pre-Schooling Permits Are Sought By 45

The State Education Department has received 45 applications from persons desiring to operate private child care centers since that agency set standards and regulations for the centers.

The department's program is designed to improve the training of pre-school children who attend the centers. The 1956 Legislature authorized the agency to regulate their operation.

The program is supervised by Mrs. Virginia Chapman, the department's supervisor of pupil personnel.

The department reported about 320 members and professional consultants attended the recent annual workshop of the Kentucky Assn. of Future Teachers at Transylvania College, Lexington.

The association's goal is to recruit students into the teaching profession. It has member chapters in colleges and clubs in high schools.

JR. CHAMP... Janice Hallinger, 18, of Manly, Iowa, exhibits "Dale", her 1850 pound Angus steer which was chosen grand junior champion at Chicago's 57th annual International Livestock Exposition.

Hypnosis Used In Operation

A 27-year-old Chicago housewife has undergone an operation for removal of most of her thyroid gland with hypnosis as the only pain killer.

Mrs. Roberta Westwood, mother of two children, said the scalpel felt like "a feather being drawn across my throat."

A general anesthetic was set up at the operating table in the event she needed it. She didn't.

SPRING GROVE MILK

It's a Whiz at Everything a car should do

It turns out that the 1957 Buick is far more than just a brand-new automobile.

It turns out this new '57 Buick is winning the raves with a new kind of going and a new kind of stopping—a new kind of handling and a new kind of road sureness—a new kind of safety and a new kind of comfort.

We'll be specific.

When you press the pedal of a new '57 Buick, the response is literally instant . . .

Because the high-torque power of a new 364-cubic-inch V8 engine is delivered in the split of a second through a new full-range Variable Pitch Dynaflo* that's immediate in its oil-smooth action.

When you brake to a stop, you and the car stay on a level plane . . .

Because an ingenious new ball-joint suspension in every '57 Buick virtually ends the down-in-front dip that cars have on sudden stops.

When you take a turn or swing into an "S" curve, you still hug the road like a streamliner on rails—

Because under you is a massive wide-frame new chassis that "nests" the whole car inches closer to the road with the lowest center of gravity in Buick history—yet with no change in road clearance.

And when you sit in the deep comfort of those soft wide seats, you can drive with the pleasant ease of a clear conscience, without watching the speedometer . . .

Because only in Buick today can you have an ingenious new Safety-Minder* that acts as a warning sentinel for the miles-per-hour you press for yourself.

There are many other new things that make this gorgeous Buick a car of limitless wonders—from the bigger and more rakish windshield that makes seeing more relieving, to the extra roominess that's so surprising in this beauty with the sports-car lowness.

But there's nothing like a firsthand sampling to know how modern the newest thing on wheels really is. Come in today for your meeting with the new '57 Buick yet.

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Speed, Safety-Minder standard on Roadmaster, optional other Series.
