State Brucellosis Program Is Getting Big Push This Year; Goal Set For 1960

Kentucky's brucellosis-eradication program is getting a big push this year from state and United States authorities, who have set Jan. 1, 1960, as the date when the disease will be under light control.

Brucellosis is also known as Bang's disease or in human beings as undulant fever.

Kentucky has appropriated a considerable sum for the fight, about 1,000,000 cattle in Kentucky breeding herds will be affected by the drive. About 70 per cent of the number are dairy cattle, the remainder beef. In addition, there is an annual calf crop of about 1,000,000 head.

In 1956 blood tests for presence of brucellosis were run on 188,270 animals in Kentucky. Of this number, 5,839 were reactors, in addition, 37,175 calves were vaccinated.

Ring tests of milk, a special method of locating brucellosis, were run last year on 28,217 herds in the state, of about 338,000 cattle. About 7,533 "suspect" herds were found.

Officials point out that eradication of brucellosis grows more important every year. The disease is dangerous to cattle and humans; it is a production-reducer in dairy herds; it has great effect on breeding capabilities of the animals, and at least 20 Kentucky cities have milk ordinances requiring that cows furnishing milk to those cities be negative in brucellosis tests.

The 1956 testing figures indicated that about a third of the cattle in the state were tested that should have been. A step-up in this testing figure is one of the 1957 goals of the anti-brucellosis drive.

Kentuckians will emphasize the "area plan" as a method of getting wholesale testing. Under this plan, workers will try to get one county to have all its breeding animals tested for brucellosis, then adjoining counties are canvassed with the same idea in mind.

The first golf course in America was at Middleboro.

Insurance Firm Plans Rowan Enrollment Drive

Union Bankers Insurance Company will conduct an enrollment program throughout Rowan County starting this coming Monday.

The campaign is to be conducted by Lewis Conn, Lexington, district manager, and many of the top representatives carefully selected from throughout the state, especially for this campaign.

Union Bankers enrollment program is highly recommended in principle by medical authorities in that it is voluntary and encourages the average family to save money for reasons of protecting health and wealth in times of illness and accidents.

A wide range of coverage designed to fulfill the needs of the individual as nearly as possible, including payment for hospital and surgical care, as well as doctor calls in the home, has been designed by Union Bankers, Mr. Conn declared.

Mr. Conn added that Union Bankers Insurance has particularly appeal to many elderly persons inasmuch as aged persons are eligible to apply for this protection past the usual age limits.

"In an effort to give everyone an opportunity to learn about our program first hand, we are obligating ourselves to contact throughout the county during this campaign," Mr. Conn concluded.

Admission Set On Length Of Foot

The size of the foot determined how much teen-agers in Morehead paid at the annual Valentine Box Supper that was held by members of the Morehead chapters of the Future Homemakers and Future Farmers of America Wednesday at the Morehead Grade School.

This event was planned in honor of the new members and guests of the chapters.

No admission was charged to attend the fun night activity, but each person helped defray expenses by paying to leave. The amount determined by "foot size." The boy with a size 12 unshirring paid more to leave the party than his girl friend with a size 6 foot.

This "pay-to-walk-out-of-party" idea was originated by the recreation committee to eliminate the confusion caused by teen-agers of running in and out.

The "have-fun" idea prevailed throughout the evening as each guest responded to all remarks made with the by-words—"let's have fun."

Highlight was the grand march when the announcements were made that the chapter sweetheart would be installed for 1957-58. These awards are selected from candidates from both high schools in Morehead and are voted on by the members of FFA and FFA after each has agreed to assume definite responsibilities to carry out the chapter program of work throughout the year. At the end of the year awards are presented to the sweethearts who have earned these symbols of achievement.

Wayne Moore, was presented a watch box key by Shelby Jean Manning, FFA chapter President, in appreciation for serving as chapter sweetheart.

The new sweethearts were crowned for the coming year by Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Hunt and Mrs. Monroe Wicker. They were: Marshall Dean Hardin, Morehead High School; Paul Blair, Breckinridge Training School; and Clara Lee Crabtree, Morehead High.

Prizes for the best decorated Valentine boxes were awarded to: Martha Jayne Waltz, Sarah Coleman, first prize; Nancy Hall, second; and Hazel Kidd, third prize. Scottie Martin won the prize for the musical chair relay.

Committee members in charge of the party were: Sarah Coleman, Sue Sharekford, Edna Jennings, Wilma Jean Crawford, Rosecell Crawford, Sue Crager, Martha Waltz, Janice Caudill, Joyce Caudill, Peggy Hamm, Jo-Anne Keeton, Nancy Hall, Janet McBrayer, Peggy Hamm, Paul Blair, Jimmy Porter, Harold Elington, Jackie Baldrige, Scottie Martin, Andrew Kidd, Buddy Sitcham.

Chapter mothers who assisted included: Mrs. Calvin Hunt, Mrs. James Kidd, Student teachers in home economics who assisted Mrs. W. H. Rice, FFA chapter adviser, and Mr. Clay Banks, FFA adviser, were: Mrs. Joyce Ashbury, Mrs. Pat Rowark, Mrs. Nova Childers, Hazel Nunn, Eugenia Hatton, Ollie Marie Nickell, Ina Carky.

Disaster Plans Are Discussed At Meeting

Civil defense officials in Kentucky are making plans to relocate the state government in event of enemy attack or natural disaster at Frankfort.

This was announced at a governor's cabinet meeting recently by Maj. Gen. Jesse S. Lindsey, Kentucky civil defense director. He said the command and control plan will be prepared by his department and the University of Kentucky's bureau of government research. Federal officials will help.

Finding a temporary location for the government will be the major problem, officials said. The site would have to be adaptable to a communications network.

THE EDITOR'S PEN Cave Run Advocates Meet This Morning With Gov. Chandler

The Licking Valley Improvement Association will carry its program as usual at the new location in Rowan County directly to Gov. A. B. Chandler this afternoon. The group headed by President Dr. Alex Spencer, will discuss the agreement made with the Chief Executive at 11 a. m. Many leading citizens from the Cave Run area of Morgan and Elliott counties are expected to be in the delegation that will ask the Governor to seek a survey of the Cave Run project.

Approaches have been made to Senators Thurston Morton and John Sherman Cooper as a effort to get the $50,000 survey money for Cave Run in the Congressional Appropriation bill, though any dams of this nature are strictly federal financing. Several professors, the secretary of the University of the South, Governor of the State. Governors Simon C. Willis, Eddie Clements and Lawrence Wetherby adopted a hands-off attitude on a request of similar nature. However, proposals made to them were for impounding the entire Licking River north of the dam at Al-mouth. The Cave Run Association is in a bad way. The Cave Run river except the one about a mile above Farmers. They have several names on petitions for the $13,000,000 project.

Hotter Team Will Have Ever Seen Few knew it but Bob Laughlin and the other members of the team working on a zone defense for several days in preparation for the important OWS class with Western in Bowling Green Saturday.

The zone was tight, except at times the Morehead guards seemed to fade too much. But, the Morehead guards did a good job in working in any case. The river except the one about a mile above Farmers. They have several names on petitions for the $13,000,000 project.

This is written before the general meeting of the Morehead, but by the time you read this the score of that important game will be history. We are hoping that the Eagles will employ that zone again. We can't visualize Western hitting that high percentage for the second time. Talk at Bowling Green was that Western don't want the NCAA bid because they lose two star players who will be ineligible having played four years of varsity ball. The Toppers prefer an invitation to the NIT where they have participated eight times, more than any other college outside the New York area.

The OVC ends in a deadlock. The zone last year in Morehead, just as Alabama did last year in giving the berth to Morehead because of the best players of the Crimson Tide were ineligible. We report this is written before the Wednesday meeting of the Eagles and Toppers. But, if Morehead wins that engagement, followers of the Eagles will be on pins and needles when that match comes up Saturday with Eastern at Richmond.

Paul McBrayer and the Martens are really going for our boys. In contrast with the smooth floor play of Morehead the Eastern lads play a knock-down and drag-out style.

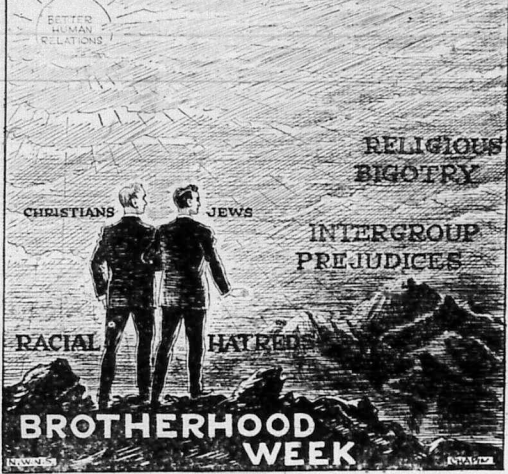

Somebody Has To Make The Decisions This is a right critical time for Morehead citizens. Here are some of the things that the city faces.

Our streets are going to pot. There's no money for repairs. Construction of a septic disposal tank for garbage appears mandatory. Where is the $400,000 coming from? There are complaints that the city is in a jam.

BREAKING THROUGH THE FOG

BROTHERHOOD WEEK

When Must We Take The Easy Way Out?

This morning the papers seemed more than usually full of declaratory statements. The world must have been short on news, for they used so many cliches. The authors had a set pattern for their remarks—first, the more we are in, and second how to find a way out. They only differed in which particular mess, who was to blame, and what the method of getting out would or should be.

Which started my mind juggling with three phrases—the way out, the way in, and the way out. Certainly when we see in a mess—be it international, national, or purely personal—we want to get out. Just how bad is the situation? Sometimes we will find that it looks much darker from a distance than it does when we look at it closely—just as a mountain appears an impassable black barrier until we come up to it. On the other hand, if we after careful reflection, find it is worse, then we are ready to face up to it, cut our losses and walk out. Sometimes pride or unwillingness to admit a mistake keeps us trying to shore up an impossible situation. Sometimes the desperate need to not enable us to act or to dare the unknown, but simply choose to ignore it, and simply choose to ignore it.

Now for the way in. That is the constructive program, when there is a glimmer of hope on the horizon. It is then we need to get out, not on what others have made—but to carefully lay out the road there is available for us, and what our talents are and how we can utilize them.

Here are many other possibilities—you can probably think of several yourself, new slippers for the living room, a rug for you (not black, though a pre-pregnant bonnet that looks like Easter, a nice fuzzy rug, or anything of winning at the local level.

That's one you decide upon, you'll not only feel better mentally, but because the mind plays a big role in health, you need it. And if nothing worse, remember that February still has only 28 days this year.

Price Of Food May Continue To Increase

In case you are wondering whether the price of food will be going up or down in 1957, the latest expert opinion is that it will go up slightly. Although there is a difference of opinion among executives in the food industry, few believe prices will go down.

A number believe prices will remain steady in 1957, increasing only a little and as a result of wages and taxes. Another group believes that food prices are sure to go up, since prices of other commodities have continued to spiral and since wage increases are to be expected in 1957.

Washington Quilt School Early Lincoln Born 146 Years Ago

Americans honor the birthday anniversary of George Washington on the 22nd day of February of each year. Washington, the first President and the man responsible more than any other for the successful establishment of the American Republic as an independent country, was a man who quit school at the age of sixteen.

His father had died and left him only a farm on the Rappahannock as an inheritance. Although his elder brothers had enjoyed schooling in England, George was not fortunate enough to have this advantage and began his career as a woodsman and surveyor, or working for an Englishman who was looking after considerable inherited property.

Actually, one of George's brothers did much to get him started on the road to success. This brother, Lawrence, was in ill health when George began his career as a woodsman and surveyor, and in 1751 his falling health induced George to accompany him to the Bahamas. Though George stayed with him a while, he finally was forced to bring him back to die, but his brother made him executor of his will.

Lawrence had also given George his place in the Virginia Militia and in 1752, Lieutenant-Governor Dinwiddie gave George a commission as Major and Adjutant General, in charge of one of the four military districts of the state.

From this beginning, Washington went on to become the General who fought for many long and disastrous years against the British to win American independence. It was largely through his patience, perseverance and steadfastness that the American colonial army was held together and maintained as an effective fighting force.

George Washington was chosen to lead the Continental Army over John Hancock, mainly because of the influence of John Adams, who saw the wisdom of binding the Southern middle colonies to New England, which was already in an uprising against the British. The choice was a wise one.

The victorious turning point of the war for independence came when Washington crossed the Delaware on December 25th, 1776, and won a major victory against the Hessians, taking 900 prisoners. Then he crossed to the other side of the river and won another great victory at Princeton. These victories, after adverse conditions and silent suffering on Washington's part, brought him the sympathy and admiration of the world, and from then on, confidence in their leader increased among Americans and abroad.

Washington, however, went through other trials, especially in 1777, and during his encampment at Valley Forge, and for the next three years. Finally, the British surrendered on the 19th of October, 1781.

The doctor says I've got the virus," said Old Sorehead, "but when I used to have the same thing years ago it was called the grippe."

Many Need Salk Vaccine

It may be surprising to the reader, but fewer than half of 108,000,000 Americans in the age group which can profit most from the Salk polio vaccine have been vaccinated. This means that nearly 26,000,000 doses of the vaccine are now unused and available for those who want to take advantage of the anti-polio serum.

Because some people have not utilized the serum, at least two firms have cut back production and there is some doubt as to whether the supplies on hand will be used up quickly. Since this is the time of the year to begin thinking about vaccinations in 1957, we would point out to all parents and all adults in the age bracket where serums are available that the run has been generally successful, in spite of the sensational and highly-publicized mistakes at the beginning of its use.

Dr. Jonas Salk recently said there need be "little, if any" polio in the United States this year if all potential victims are vaccinated. This would be a wonderful event if it came to pass, and those who refuse to have their children vaccinated, or who are not vaccinated themselves, will feel rather shabby if members of their family, or they themselves, come down with polio this summer.

The polio vaccine consists of a series of three shots and is advised for everyone up to the age of twenty. Vaccinations are also urged for adults up to the age of forty.

Since the three shots must be spaced apart, parents are urged to inquire about the availability of serum and the proper time to give their children their first shot. Generally, younger youngsters should complete their series of shots before the hot weather begins in May or June.

The achievement and essay contests for members of 4-H and Future Farmers of America clubs were sponsored by the Courier-Journal, the Louisville Times and WLAS, Inc.
 A $100 Savings Bond went to Randle A. Flowers, a 17-year-old junior, for his grand prize winning essay in the soil conservation essay contest. Flowers lives on a 90-acre farm near Dale Hollow Lake.
 Runners-up in the essay contest were: Ben Boston Barnett, Hickman, who received a $75 bond, and Miss Neida M. Workman, Falmouth, who received a $50 bond.
 James W. Decker, a University of Kentucky freshman, received a $50 award in the FFA vocational agriculture division for his diary program on his parents' 200-acre farm near Crestwood.

Flood Counties To Get Feed, Corn
 The state is making available to eastern Kentucky's flood-stricken farmers about 16,000 bushels of feed corn, donated by the U. S. Agriculture Department from surplus commodity stocks.
 The state agriculture department has shipped the first several thousand bushels of the corn. Gov. A. B. Chandler has turned over money from his emergency fund to pay for the cost of trucking the feed grains into the flood areas.
 The first shipment went to farmers in flood-damaged areas of Pike and Floyd counties.
 The nine counties qualifying for such aid are, Breathitt, Perry,

Harlan, Floyd, Pike, Letcher, Bell, Knott and Leslie. Local distribution committees "allocate" the corn to a central point in each county.
 Agriculture commissioner Ben Byrd named W. L. Rouse, assistant director of administrative services for the state agency, to serve as coordinator of the emergency feed program. He will allocate feed to the distressed areas on the basis of needs established by an investigating committee.
 The U. S. agriculture agency plans to donate eventually 175,000 bushels of corn for distribution under the federal-state program.

Hickory Stick Favored Over Psychology
 A top-ranking Salvation Army officer last week suggested modern mothers look for a hickory stick and not a psychology book when correcting mischievous youngsters.
 "Kids are born anti-social and they need discipline," said Col. P. L. DeBevoise, national secretary of the religious organization. Quoting scriptures, he said that foolishness is found in the heart of a child, but the rod of correction will drive it far from him.
 In an interview DeBevoise also said the whip is not the permanent answer to juvenile delinquency. "That solution can come only through internal restraints supplied by religion."
 He added that too many mothers "pamper their little darlings. They think they know all about the new sociology, psychology and psychiatry."
 DeBevoise said he favored the disciplinary viewpoint. "Rightly used, there is more value in the application of a hickory stick than in any psychology book ever written."

S. S. Taxes Increased In January
 Federal social security taxes increased in January 1957 due to provision of social security insurance payments to qualified disabled workers between the ages of 50 and 65, explained Robert A. Flynn, manager of the Ashland district office. The increases are 1/4 of 1 per cent for the employee, the same for the employer, and 3/4 of 1 per cent for the self-employed person.
 The total social security tax rates beginning with 1957 are 2 1/4 per cent for the employer and employee and 3 3/4 per cent for the self-employed. The employer and employee will notice the change right away because it applies to wages paid during 1957, but the self-employed will not pay the increased rate until 1958 on their earnings for 1957.
 The tax increase will not be more than $10.50 a year for the employee or employer, or more than $15.75 a year for the self-employed person because only the first $4,200 of earnings in a year are counted for social security.
 The new system of disability insurance benefits will afford monthly payments to many workers over age 50 who are prematurely retired because of severe long term disability which prevents their working. Monthly benefits can start with the payment for July 1957. Thus, severe long-term disability means old age and death as the major hazards insured against by social security.
 Flynn pointed out that the tax money from social security taxes goes into trust funds which under the law can be used only to pay the cost of social security benefits and the expenses of administering the program.

 Further information concerning social security may be obtained from the District Office of the Social Security Administration located at 340 14th Street, Ashland. The office is open from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Monday through Friday except national holidays.
 Jarrel Vinson, field representative of the Ashland office, will be in Morehead each Tuesday at the Hall at 11 a. m. and will give you information concerning social security. This service is free of charge.

 Dr. T. H. Biggs, medical director of the host hospital, is in charge of program arrangements. Activities will begin at 2:30 p. m. with registration and end with dinner, scheduled at 6 o'clock.
 Guest speakers will be Dr. Nathan Levine, thoracic surgeon, Louisville, and Dr. James Gilboy, medical director of Julius Marks Sanatorium, Lexington.

401 Moonshine Stills Seized Last Year, ATTD Report Says

A total of 401 moonshine stills were seized during 1956 in Kentucky, 754 arrests were made and 95 vehicles seized.

These figures were released recently by the Cincinnati regional office of the U. S. Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division through the Lexington office.

Federal state county and city officers participated in the seizures and arrests.

The 401 stills seized were valued at a total of $1,000,000. Of these, 1953 to 1954, however, 97,000 gallons of 754 were up from 733 in 1955, and 617 '55 which mixed rose from 1955's total of 87.

Arrests covered the making, operation and sale of moonshine shakies, and vehicles seized were those allegedly used in connection with the operation of stills and transportation of it.

Almost five times as many stills were seized in the Eastern District of Kentucky as in the Western District—333 as compared with 68. Arrests were 168, to 24.

In the Lexington post of duty, covering 24 counties, 23 stills were seized last year, and 41 in 1955.

The principal counties in this area where stills have been found in recent years are Estill, Garret, Jackson, Madison, Menifee and Wayne.

Eighty-six stills were seized last year in the Pineville post of duty, more than in any other area in the state. The Louisville and Covington areas had no seizures last year.

More stills—47—were seized in May last year in the Eastern District than in any other month. January led with 11 in the Western District, and June and October, with 13 each in the Western District, indicating that there is little consistency about which months lead in this category.

Former Magoffin Sheriff Arrested In Michigan

Hade Montgomery, 37, former sheriff of Magoffin County, was jailed Thursday at Adrian, Mich., on a fugitive warrant.

He was indicted by a grand jury in Kentucky last Oct. 10 for the alleged embezzlement of $29,773.30 in Magoffin County funds.

Deputy sheriffs at Adrian quoted Montgomery as saying he had told Kentucky authorities he would return any time they wanted him.

Montgomery moved with his wife and three children to Michigan.

Sheriff Noah Rudd of Magoffin County said in Saltersville after the indictment was returned he was unable to serve a warrant on Montgomery because, "I don't know where he is."

Rudd said, "He's not in this county. At least, if he is, there's no record of it."

Montgomery was removed from office last June 15. A. C. Otis is Montgomery's accounts in county and school taxes. The indictment covered only the county accounts.

The audit was supported by an affidavit signed by S. C. Otis of Ashland, a certified public accountant. The county court employed Otis after Montgomery was unable to renew his annual bond.

The former sheriff had been associated with an oil company before his election on the Republican ticket to a four-year term as sheriff in 1952. He had not previously held elective office.

Morehead Chapter Of Future Farmers Of America Is Observing National FFA Week

This week 350,000 members of the Future Farmers of America throughout the United States, Hawaii and Puerto Rico are celebrating FFA Week. The week of Washington's birthday was chosen because he was the first scientific farmer.

FFA is the farm boys organization that grew out of a need. It is a part of Vocational Agriculture which is a part of the public school's program of education.

The Kentucky Association of FFA has 12,000 members. It has a Leadership Training Center at Hardinsburg which is second to none. The Agricultural Education and Supervisory staff is among the best in the nation.

Many chapters in Kentucky enjoy a very high rank nationally. The fact that Vocational Agriculture is vocational makes it highly desirable for farm boys because they learn to do by doing.

In the Rowan County Chapter 28 boys have various projects. A part of the farming program in Rowan County includes 46 head of beef cattle, 26 head of swine, breeding animals and 142 acres of corn.

Newly elected officers of the Morehead Chapter are: Wayne Moore, president; Andrew Kidd, vice-president; Jimmy Porter, secretary; Russell Burrows, reporter; Scotty Martin, sentinel.

All officers and several other members plan to attend the State Leadership Training Center this summer.

score was tied four times in the waning minutes of the period, saw Case drop through six straight points to move 42-32 advantage. As the teams left the floor at halftime, Western nursed a 42-30 lead.

Stout Steve Hamilton, who registered 26 points to lead all scoring leaders, fouling out with 2 1/2 minutes left in the game, dropped in a left-handed shot to bring the margin to four at 42-38 as the last half got under way, but before Morehead had scored 10-0 spurt and a 52-38 lead and that, for all purposes, just about put icing on the cake.

Morehead kept fighting back, but the closest the Eagles could get was within seven points at 54-47 and 58-51 as the Toppers met the challenge on each occasion and roared to victory.

Bernie Shintzell was second top scorer for the Eagles—and for the game—with 24 points. Ronnie Clark was the big guard, A.C.A. the Hilltoppers with 20, but several others were close. Case, of course, went next with 19, then came 6-9 Ralph Crosthwaite and Eric Back, with 16 points apiece, while Owen Dawson, who had scored Case when the Bourbon basketball fouled out, was next with 13.

Who broke Murray's stick-tight zone defense last week, once again proved to be a pretty good cookie as Morehead broke up a zone in the first half. Case canned seven fielders, mostly on long set shots, and added four free tips to lead the teams into halftime with 18 points.

The best Hilltoppers broke on top and led by 26-22 with about six minutes remaining in the first half. However, the Eagles fought back and finally deduced the contest at 26-26 on a one-hander by Hamilton.

The tie didn't remain long as Daniels dropped through a one-hander from near the foul circle. Shintzell cashed out two gratis heaves to tie it again. Ronnie Clark hit one of his specialties and then tried to put Western into a 30-28 advantage, but Kelleher hit a jumper to tie the contest at 30-30 with 3 1/2 left in the first half.

Back dropped through a one-hander from the circle to put the Toppers back in command, but Shintzell duplicated to dead-end the issue again.

Then came Billy to make a case out of it. He hit a set shot from 20 feet, stole the ball a few seconds later for a jumper and then he rammed it down the throat and emptied the net. The Western warriors into a 38-32 lead. Crosthwaite, being forced outside by Morehead's zone, hit a one-hander from the foul line to give the Toppers a 40-32 advantage with 1 1/2 left. Hill hit two free tips for Morehead, but Case came right back with a set shot to restore the eight-point lead.

With time running out, Hamilton dropped through a jump shot to narrow the Western lead to six points at 42-36 as the teams departed at halftime.

U.S. Population Reaches 170-Million Mark

Growth At Record Rate Of Three Million A Year

The population of the United States reached an estimated 170 million last Friday with a blinking of lights, a turning of wheels and with some sobering figures.

The new mark was scheduled to show on an elaborate electric display in the Commerce Department as a white light flashed to net gain of one in the population, boosting the total to the magic 170 million mark at 11:58 P.M. EST.

Twelve seconds later, the figure moved on to 170,000,001. It is expected to reach 200 million in 10 years or less.

All this is estimated. Actually the 170 million figure may have been reached several weeks ago. Or maybe it won't be reached until next month. But, until someone comes along with a better way of counting people than the one used by the Census Bureau, Friday was the day.

John Buckler, 26, farmer, Wood Ky, and Alice Joy Goe, 21, Globe Ky.

Boy Declares The Durn Thing Hurt

Nurses busily engaged in giving over 13,000 shots to people in Hazard after the recent flood took of two small boys, four and five years old, who appeared in one line and announced they wanted shots.

The four-year-old wanted to take his first, bolstering his nerve by telling his brother that he wasn't afraid of "no old shot."

Rolling up his sleeve, he finished when the needle struck home, causing a tear to roll down his cheek, and blurted out an adult oath, while the nurse looked on.

His five-year-old brother reprimanded him. "You're not supposed to say that. Say thank you."

Still frowning, the hurt youngster said, "Thank you, I'm being killed!"

Tells How To Produce Best Cigarette Burley

How to produce the kind of burley tobacco the manufacturers use is covered in a new leaflet issued recently by the Kentucky Agricultural Extension Service's Agronomy department.

The narrow price range among grades of burley tobacco on the 1956 market created the impression there has been a drastic change in the type of tobacco needed by cigarette manufacturers, the leaflet says.

"Although there appears to have been some shift in the kind of tobacco manufacturers can use, the 1955 and 1956 sales still indicate a strong demand for ripe, thin leaf.

"Nearly ideal weather conditions in both seasons resulted in production of useful tobacco from the bottom to the top of the plant," the leaflet says. "The 1953 and 1954 crops were entirely different, producing much less thin leaf, high nicotine tobacco, can be detrimental to the competitive position of burley, especially if 1957 should be average or below in the amount and distribution of rainfall."

It recommends choosing a "lower-nicotine" variety, planting on fertile soil and refraining from overfertilizing with nitrogen, harvesting ripe tobacco,

1956 Economy Set Many New Records

In 1956 Americans earned more, spent more, and saved more than in any other year in history, the Commerce Department reported this week.

The gross national product—the market value of all goods produced and services rendered—was $12 billion dollars, or 5 1/2 per cent, over 1955. Roughly half the increase represented rising prices, the Department said. The balance was an expansion in the volume of goods and services.

The 1956 figures showed a steady increase throughout the year. In the final quarter the gross national product was running at an annual rate of $44 billion dollars.

Personal incomes for the year totaled $225,290,000,000, personal consumption expenditures were $285,700,000,000, and personal savings were $20,900,000,000—all new highs.

The figures for 1955 were incomes of $200,100,000,000, expenditures of $244,000,000,000, and savings of $16,600,000,000. The nation's payroll of 239 billion dollars up 16 billion from 1951, accounted for the bulk of the gain in the national-income total.

Corporate profits were about the same as in 1953, after having risen sharply the previous year. After taxes, 1956 profits were $23 1/2 billion dollars, compared with $21 billion in 1955 and 19 1/2 billion in 1954.

All major industry divisions except agriculture contributed to the rise in national income, the Department said. Farmers' income leveled off on an annual basis after a four-year decline in farm prices was checked.

Farm income totaled 12 1/2 billion dollars in 1954, $11,700,000,000 in 1955, and $11,600,000,000 in 1956. However, an upturn in the last quarter of 1956 showed farm income at an annual rate of $12,100,000,000.

Three State Policemen Are Suspended

Charged With Misconduct During Recent Flood

The suspension of three officers accused of misconduct during the recent flood emergency in Pikeville was announced last Saturday by State Police Director Paul M. Smith.

He identified them as Capt. John B. Watts, Lt. Homer Howard and Cpl. Ira Taylor, all attached to the Pikeville area headquarters. Watts has been troop commander of the area.

Smith said the men were suspended pending investigation prior to preferring formal charges. He declined to give details before the men receive notice of charges. The notices were sent by registered mail Friday.

Watts, of Muldraugh, Meade County, joined the State Police in April, 1947. Howard, whose home is at Royalton, Magoffin County, has been with the force since March, 1948 and Taylor, of Pikeville, since August, 1948.

They have five days from receipt of the notices to file answers and demand hearings before a trial board of fellow officers.

Capt. Vernon Sanders, troop commander at London, was sent to Pikeville as acting troop commander. Acting Safety Commissioner Don Staggill said he was "extremely disappointed" in the conduct in general of the men assigned to that emergency area.

He said that Pikeville area was given about 20 men to reinforce the normal complement during the emergency.

Booklet Points Out Opportunities For Farm Income

The first in a series of three publications designed to point out the opportunities for raising truck crops to supplement farm income is available for distribution to farmers and food processors, according to George Habley, Commissioner of Economic Development.

The findings of the booklet, "Food Processing Opportunities in the Purchase Area," are based on actual field studies of various crops under differing growing conditions. The booklet was prepared jointly by the Department of Economic Development and the Agricultural Experiment Station of the University of Kentucky. Other publications will deal with the Bluegrass and Cumberland Valley areas.

A meeting to discuss the findings of the Purchase report was held in Paducah, Feb. 19, at the county courthouse. The meeting was sponsored by the Agricultural Development Division of the Department of Economic Development and the University of Kentucky Extension Service and brought together members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, processors and farm groups.

To combat the sharp decline in Kentucky's farm income, the study recommends production of specialty crops, especially vegetables, as additional sources of cash for the farmer. The report shows the Purchase area is well suited for vegetable production with a long growing season, extensive areas of level land with excellent soils and a high potential for irrigation in most of the area. Especially recommended for growth in the Purchase are lima beans, snap beans, broccoli, cauliflower, brussels sprouts, green peas, sweet corn, tomatoes and green peas. Small fruit production was also suggested as a possible source of additional income.

Frank LeBus, director of the Department of Economic De-velopment's agricultural division said the series of tests conducted in the Purchase, Western Bluegrass and Cumberland Valley areas were started after U. S. Department of Commerce figures showed a sharp decline in farm income, beginning in 1953 when Kentucky ranked 2nd in the southern United States. In 1955, when the state's farm income ranking had slipped to 8th in the south.

A study of states which had an increase in farm income revealed a diversified farm economy. Kentucky—with its large dependence on one crop, tobacco, and with a steady decrease in tobacco acreage allotments—has shown the greatest income drop.

LeBus explained that with a guarantee of sufficient crops to meet the demand of food processors there would be an increase of plants utilizing farm commodities, in the farmers buying power and in the general economy of the region.

March meetings are planned in the Bluegrass and Cumberland Valley to discuss the results of pilot tests conducted in those sections.

One of the main functions of the newly created Agricultural Development Division is to fill the gap created in existing food research efforts and to gather and present this information to processors of food items in an effort to attract them to Kentucky.

The division recently allocated $5,000 to the University of Kentucky for research in the use of re-constituted tobacco. Officials also reported talks with University and U. S. Quartermaster Corps officials concerning the establishment of laboratory facilities for conducting research in processing food by radiation and other means.

Gas Rate Hike Asked By Five Subsidiaries

Five Subsidiaries of Columbia Gas System have filed proposed wholesale natural gas rate increases totaling $19,956,000 annually, the Federal Power Commission said last week.

The commission said the proposed increases are based principally on a proposed rate increase of $24,077,000 by Tennessee Gas Transmission Co., which is a supplier, directly or indirectly, of gas to the companies. Tennessee had proposed to make its higher rates effective as of Thursday, the same date the commission had proposed to make its higher rates effective.

The commission last week suspended Tennessee's proposed increase until July 14. On that date the new rates may be put into effect, subject to refund, if the proceedings involving the increases have not been concluded.

increase, and the number of wholesale customers which would be affected are:

- United Fuel Gas Co., Charleston, W. Va., $10,956,000; six customers in West Virginia, Kentucky and Ohio.

Kentucky Gas Transmission Corp., Charleston, $2,380,000; 10 customers in Ohio and Kentucky.

The companies asked authority to make the increases effective as of Thursday, the same date Tennessee had proposed to make its higher rates effective.

The commission last week suspended Tennessee's proposed increase until July 14. On that date the new rates may be put into effect, subject to refund, if the proceedings involving the increases have not been concluded.

Lake Fishing Is Improving In Kentucky

Report Shows Good Prospects For Fishing

Fishing on lakes in Kentucky state parks is returning to normal after flooding and prospects for top-notch big-fishing season, as good reports from Lake Cumberland, Dewey Lake and Kentucky Lake show, Mrs. Ben Kilgore, director of the division of parks, reports.

The outlook is bright at Kentucky Lake where Jim Cookey, operator of Cookley's Village Dock, reports all flood gates will be closed, stabilizing the big lake. "After the gates are closed conditions should be excellent," he said.

At Lake Cumberland, water is still rising and is now eight feet above normal level. Flood conditions on streams below the dam prevent stabilization. Jig-fishing is expected to boom when water recedes after flood gates are opened.

Bass are being taken at heads of creeks on artificial lures, especially the yellow doll-fly. An expected run of walleyes should develop soon, adding to the anticipation of a full season when flood conditions abate, Mrs. Kilgore said.

Now that cigarette tar has been found to contain a chemical that definitely causes cancer in mice, without a full suspect sales will pick up again.

Project Of Microfilming State Records To Be Started

A housecleaning of archives which hold governmental documents dating to the 18th Century is planned by the secretary of state's office.

Mrs. Thekla Stovall, secretary of state, said last week storage spaces will be cleared soon to make way for microfilming project aimed at saving money and space as well as preserving the historical value of records.

Gov. A. B. Chandler has appropriated $3,000 to start the microfilming of corporation papers, executive orders, deeds and other records kept by the secretary of state since Kentucky was admitted to the union in 1792.

Even before that time, there were land grants by governors that are still on record in the office.

The microfilming project, under study since September, will require at least two years to complete, Mrs. Stovall said. She estimated between 40,000 and 50,000 articles of incorporation alone will be microfilmed.

Two copies will be made of each record—one for security purposes and the other for everyday use, Mrs. Stovall said.

Her assistant, Miss Frances Marshall, said a third copy might be filmed for storage in a bomb-proof, temperature-controlled vault, where it could be preserved for 100 years.

Mrs. Stovall said she would keep some of the original records and turn over others to the Kentucky Historical Society or a similar agency. This will be left to the discretion of the Records Control Board.

Mrs. Stovall emphasized the originals of microfilmed deeds and their abstracts will be kept in her office, as required by law.

She said microfilming will reduce cost of materials and labor, give a superior method of filing and more complete and accessible records and have an 85 per cent. reduction in filing space.

The sorting and classifying of records will begin as soon as the microfilming equipment is obtained.

Edsel, In Elliott County May Be Honored

The community of Edsel on Blaines Trace in eastern Elliott County may find itself playing a major role this fall in a Ford Motor Company production.

This rural community in the extreme eastern section of Elliott near the Lawrence County line, happens to have the same name as that of a new automobile which will be put on the market by Ford's Edsel Division.

If things go as planned, when the new Edsel is introduced in Kentucky the village in Elliott County will be linked with the company's promotion, and the residents will be treated to a barbecue.

Kentucky Bids For Nation's Vacationers

Kentucky will participate in four national travel shows during February and March, according to W. L. Knight, deputy commissioner of the State Department of Public Relations.

A panel display featuring Kentucky's vacation attractions was constructed by the Department of Public Relations for the February show at St. Louis and the March shows at Chicago, Milwaukee and Cleveland.

Attendance at the show is one of the functions of the State publicity agency designed to encourage show patrons to spend their vacations in Kentucky. Personnel attending the shows will distribute literature and answer any questions prospective visitors may have concerning Kentucky.
