Three Injured Seriously As Framework Collapses At Morehead Tobacco Warehouse

Four men were injured—three seriously—Tuesday when the framework of a tobacco warehouse, under construction two miles east of Morehead on U. S. 60, collapsed.

Frank Holbrook, Sandy Hook, two broken ribs.

Howard, Jones and Fannin are patients at a Lexington hospital. Holbrook was released from the hospital after receiving treatment.

About 200 feet of framework, ranging from 12 to 16 feet high, built from heavy, green lumber, gave way. Part of it had been covered with metal sheet.

About 20 other workers escaped injury.

The framework said they thought the accident was caused either by insufficient bracing or weak braces installed with nails that were too small.

Many workmen were on the structure, but rode it down without incident.

The injured men were caught by heavy 18 foot rafters that were knocking loose and flying through the air.

The warehouse, begun three weeks ago, was being constructed by Richardson and Flannery Construction Co., Lexington, for the Morehead Tobacco Warehouse Corporation of which A. T. Sanders, Lancaster, is president.

TV Cable Franchise Advertised

Maximum Rental
Under Plan Would
Be $3.50 Monthly

The City of Morehead advertised today (page two) for letting a contract for installation and maintenance of a TV cable in Morehead.

The 10 year franchise provides a maximum installation cost of $85, with $10 allowance for an old cable. Maximum monthly rental is $3.50.

Proposals will be accepted by the city until Aug. 15.

Paul Butcher, Paintsville, and Roy Wilson, Cincinnati, have organized the Morehead TV Cable Company and started to seek customers. However, they will be unable to follow through unless the city awards them the franchise.

Butcher and Wilson have also contracted with Kentucky Utilities for stringing TV wire on electric poles in the city limits.

Morehead has had good TV reception because it is in a fringe area, surrounded by hills. Most Moreheadians get only one station but the cable is expected to bring in at least the three major networks—NBC, CBS and ABC.

Woods Named To MSC Alumni Post

Carl N. Woods, assistant professor of history and political science at Morehead State College, has been named Executive Secretary of the MSC Alumni Association.

Woods, who graduated from Morehead in 1939, received his M. A. degree from George Peabody College in 1951 and has been at Morehead since 1956.

The newly appointed Executive Secretary was in the Floyd County school system for 17 years as a teacher, principal and supervisor and taught at the University of South Carolina for four years before coming to Morehead.

A native of Prestonsburg, Woods was married and has two children.

"I know Carl will do an exceedingly good job as Executive Secretary of the Alumni Association as we are continually expanding," said President Adron Doran.

Bob Warnock, president of the Alumni Association, said, "Carl has always been a faithful, hard

90 Year Old Woman Is Claimed

Mrs. Margaret Davis Dies At Home Of Son In Rowan County

Mrs. Margaret Davis, one of Rowan County's pioneer citizens, died last Wednesday at the home of her son, Albert Sturgill.

She was 90 years of age. Her funeral services were conducted Saturday at Primitive Baptist Church on Christy Creek with interment in Newell cemetery.

Mrs. Davis was born Feb. 4, 1867, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Greenberry Hall.

She married Lewis Sturgill who preceded her in death. They were the parents of six children of whom four survive. Later in life she married Zeff Davis and also preceded her in death.

Immediate survivors are a daughter, Mrs. Sula Clinch Bonimus, Mich.; three sons, Frank Sturgill of Haldeman, Lawrence Sturgill of Morehead, and Albert Sturgill, Haldeman; and a sister, Mrs. Roy Jones, Huntington, W. Va.

She leaves 23 grandchildren.

Reverend Luther Bradley, Kelly Proffitt and Ted Sparkman officiated at the funeral. Arrangements were cared for by Stuckey and McBrayer Funeral Home.

Wednesday Is Deadline For Driver's Permits

This is the final warning to drivers whose last name begins with "L" through "Z".

Next Wednesday (July 31) is the deadline to purchase new drivers licenses.

The cost is $2 and they are good for two years.

Circuit Clerk Herb Bradley said about 1,000 drivers had new licenses in Rowan County. He estimated another 1,000 would procure them by Wednesday, which means there will be waiting lines at the court-house.

Motorists should bring their old licenses, Bradley said.

Man Charged With Possessing Beer, Moonshine

State Police continued their drive against illegal sales of whiskey and beer in local territory of this area Saturday evening as they raided a place at Access in Elliott County.

Johnny Binion, 28, who gave his address as Graham, was charged with illegal sale of beer.

Troopers Everett Kaulk and David Finch, who made the raid, said they confiscated 243 cans of beer and a quantity of moonshine.

The moonshine will be turned over to Federal authorities; this constitutes a federal offense.

The District State Police office at Morehead reported.

Binion was placed under $500 appearance bond in Elliott County.

Benson Is Criticized By Perkins

Congressman Says Secretary Of Agriculture Is Biased

The wide-open and deep-seated dispute over inspectors for Morehead's tobacco warehouse remained in "status quo" during the week, but there was a growing feeling that the Department of Agriculture is trying to stand by its guns in refusing to furnish the graders.

The matter involves a far-reaching policy decision by Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Tamm.

Central Kentucky tobacco farmers, led by Mayville interests, say that if Morehead gets a sales floor every town in Kentucky will want one.

Morehead claims this is a fringe area and farmers will be saved around 30 miles each way, a saving of $100,000.

USDA has never before refused to send graders to any town.

The Morehead Tobacco Warehouse Association, principally owned by Lancaster, Winchester, Lexington and Richmond interests, say they are only asking the government to produce the same service to Morehead as they are rendering other towns with a similar plant.

No tobacco can be sold unless government graders are present.

Seventy-four Congressmen, led by the fact that the Secretary of Agriculture is conscientiously opposed to the plan, and politically opposed to governmental farm programs.

It is unfortunate that the programs which mean everything to the farmers of our country.

Although part of the framework of the new warehouse fell this week contractors said they had been told to go ahead with completion of the 400 foot by 400-foot building. Owners said they would sell leaf in December.

Meanwhile petitions were being circulated to force the resignation of Benson to provide the inspectors.

L. Licking Road Gains State Okeh

Six Mile Stretch Will Be Let On August 23

Deputy Highway Commissioner Bert Kiser said today that the contract for construction of Lower Licking Road will be advertised Aug. 1 with an Aug. 23 letting date.

Kiser set out that this six mile stretch in northeastern Rowan County had been on the agenda all year, but was held up because federal aid had been withdrawn.

The road was set up under the federal secondary system but was pulled out last year. Kiser said that federal participation would be reinstated which was done this month. This means the state will pay half the construction costs, but also generally means a higher type road to meet federal specifications.

The road will be expensive, Kiser said, because of a mile of fill and many culverts. The six miles, grade and drain, will cost around $234,000, engineers estimate.

Kiser said long range plans call for later construction of the road from the junction of the Linton-Jacobs-Elliottville Ky. 504 road in Carter-Rowan counties has been awarded the East Kentucky Paving Corp. of Glasgow, Ky., the contract.

Acting Gov. Harry Lee Waterfield, Highway Commissioner Robert Humphreys and State Police Commissioner Don Stull were in the making. Waterfield will be releasing the Chandler organization in Rowan County.

A delegation from Morehead was in Frankfort all day Thursday conferring with state officials. It is known that they were over plans for 22 miles of blacktopping to be paid for from two state bonds collections, a state police barracks; a zone engineering office; completion of the Morehead-Vanderburg road; and the Morehead-Franklin road.

Five miles of Main Street in Morehead and a U. S. 60 truck route to be by-pass Morehead's business section.

Death came Thursday last week to Mr. Bob (Nellie) Stapleton, 34, at her home on Broadway, near Morehead.

Only immediate survivor is her husband.

Funeral services were taken to Ferguson Funeral Home where services were conducted by Rev. J. C. Rainer. Interment was in Lee cemetery.

Main Street Widening Is In Prospect

State Engineers Meet With City Officials; Sidewalks Involved

Mayor William H. Layne said today that prospects appear for widening part of Main Street this fall.

Layne, Morehead Commissioner and highway engineers met Friday and the Mayor said he understood the state is about ready to let a contract for the work which has long been sought by city fathers.

A bottleneck exists on Main at the street narrows from the Post Office to the city limits.

Layne said he did not know whether the widening will be from the Post Office to the court house, or to the Jayne Stadium or the fieldhouse.

Layne and a Morehead delegation met with state officials last Thursday in Frankfort on this and other projects. The city and state also have a three year plan to complete construction of Railroad Street from city limit to city limit, creating a U. S. 60 truck route. About half of this work is finished, except surfacing. However, the city has rights-of-way problems on the building. Several new business buildings are under construction now.

Widening Main Street will necessitate tearing up and replacing some sidewalks. Layne assured state engineers that rights-of-way for the street widening and sidewalks will be available. The city already has title to most of this, Layne said.

Higher Rates Permitted for the Kentucky Water Service Co. to Submit Proposed Higher Rates for Middle- ment address to the State Public Service Commission at Frankfort. The rates, put into effect tentatively, will produce additional yearly income of $13- 623.

State Representative Lynn Boyd Wells of West Liberty said last Wednesday enroute to a Lexington hospital after suffering a heart attack. He was in Lexington for his second term as Democratic representative for Wolfe and Morgan counties.

City Raises Taxes On All Real Estate

New Rate, Effective This Year, Hikes Rate From 40 To 48 Cents

The City of Morehead today raised real estate taxes 20 per cent, from 40 cents to 48 cents on each $100 valuation.

The increase came in the form of an ordinance, but Commissioner last week pointed out that Morehead has one of the most favorable tax schedules in the state.

State law permits the city to charge 75 cents on each $100 valuation, but Mayor W. H. Layne said most municipalities charge the full 75 cents.

Layne declared the increase is necessary to cover higher operating expenses and expanded services rendered by the city.

The new rate applies on 1957 calendar year bills, due before Jan. 1.

A two per cent discount is allowed on all bills paid by Nov. 1 while a six per cent penalty is added after Dec. 31.

Contract Let For Work At Morehead State

Mahry Company Has Low Bid Of $113,257 For Renovations

The Kentucky Building Commission announced today the letting of a contract to E. Mahry Company, Morehead, for renovation and remodeling of the old Morehead State College.

Mahry's bid was $113,257. Other bidders were J. C. Cravens and Cravens, Louisville, $119,741; and Home Appliances, $122,540.

President Adron Doran said among other things the contract calls for:

Construction of 34 new dormitory rooms. These will be erected by eliminating plans in the basement of Allen Young Hall, presently used for the cafeteria.

Complete re-wiring of library, cafeteria, recreation and construction in the auditorium.

Interior painting of auditorium and recreation building.

Dr. Doran said the college planned to later provide more dormitory space in the basement of Allen Young Hall, presently used for the cafeteria.

The cafeteria and grill will move to the new dormitory building, which is under construction.

Mahry's contract calls for completing the work by Oct. 1.

Catlettsburg Rally Beats Morehead

Little Leaguers Lose In First Round District Competition

Catlettsburg came from behind in the first two innings to beat Morehead's Little League All Stars in the district tournament at Catlettsburg yesterday afternoon, 5 to 4, in a 14-3 score.

Morehead held a 3-2 advantage going into the eighth inning, but Jim Bob Laughlin was rolling along with near-perfect control when the Gate Cityans started connecting. Catlettsburg garnered five hits, which coupled with two errors enabled them to go ahead 5-2.

The Rowan County youngsters came back in the bottom of the 5th to knot the count at 3-3.

But Catlettsburg was not to be denied when the Gate Cityans scored six more runs in the top of the 6th off Laughlin and relief pitcher.

Bonnie Caudill was the hitting star for Morehead with a home run and a clutch double. He had five runs while Laughlin had two doubles and a single.

Catlettsburg meets Ashland for the district title this afternoon.

Oliver Hill shared the same fate, dropping a first round decision to Ashland.

Rowan Soils Studied By Scientists

Conservation Measures Under Scrutiny Of U. S. Experts

By John D. Alexander

Soil Scientists of the Soil Conservation Service from Kentucky, Tennessee, Illinois, Indiana, Pennsylvania, New York, West Virginia, Ohio and Washington, D. C., spent part of last Wednesday in Rowan County studying soils to correlate land capability and soil types in Kentucky with those of other states.

The group stopped on the farm of Robert Bishop to study soils of this area and to see the conservation measures he is using on his farm. Bob is using his land within its capability, and has used the proper conservation measures to protect the land from erosion.

Their day-long SCS soil scientists dug soil characterization pits in Rowan County to compare the soil types in this area with sections of the county. These studies were made on soils in the Rowan County area. Samples of soil from these pits were taken to the University of Kentucky to be examined and checked for all major and minor plant food elements.

Survey Shows People in the West Live Longest

It has long been known that women in the United States outlive the men. In the west of the fact that men are supposed to be the stronger of the sexes, women are actually stronger, as far as life span and resistance to disease is concerned.

A recent state-by-state survey gives the states where citizens live longest. It is interesting to note that men and women live longest in a cluster of six states—Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Iowa, and Kansas. The life expectancy in these states is about 68 years, which is above average.

In the rest of the Midwest and in the East and South, the men's life expectancy ranges close to the national average of 66.3 years.

In general, wives can expect to live at least six years longer than their husbands, and this is true in almost any part of the country. Women live longer in the West than in the Eastern region, where their average life expectancy is between 73 and 74 years, about two years greater than the national average.

For the men at age 65, the greatest life expectancy can be found in Arkansas and Florida. Arkansas has an average life expectancy for men at 65 of 79.1, while Florida's average is 78.8.

Also for men, these are the states where life expectancy at birth is lowest: Nevada has the lowest life expectancy of all, with a 62.8 average, followed by Arizona, with a 63.3 average, and then New Mexico, with a 64.3, and South Carolina with a 64.8 average. For women, states in which the life expectancy is lowest are: West Virginia, with a 71.1 average; Alabama with a 71.2 average; Kentucky, Delaware and New York with a 71.3 average; Arizona with a 71.4 average; and Nevada with a 71.5 average.

The best life expectancy for men, at birth, is to be found in the West. North Dakota has the highest life expectancy of all, with 82.2 averages, while Kansas has a 68.0 average. North Dakota at the top has a 68.4 average. North Dakota is only a tenth of a point behind, with a 67.9 average.

Using Net Is No Disgrace

A few days ago, a pretty, 28-year-old Danish trapeze artist and her husband were performing before 5,000 persons at the Ringling Brothers, Barnum and Bailey Circus in Charlotte, N. C. The Danish acrobat and her husband are known as the Piatos, and are a well-known trapeze pair.

Below them was no net, and they were performing some three stories above the sawdust-covered floor. It was a hot day and both the performers were hot with perspiration.

As the performance continued, Lilly Kirstensen, and her husband, attempted a relatively routine somersault and catch act. Although her husband swung out and grasped her hands, they were so wet with perspiration that they slipped, and Mrs. Kirstensen plunged to the floor, thirty feet below seriously but not fatally hurt.

This is a relatively infrequent occurrence in trapeze acts, although it is always possible. However, it is an unnecessary one and should never happen.

While performing without a net may draw a few customers, we do not think that the consequences of accidents to the participants or to the spectators, are good and we firmly believe that steps should be taken to prevent such accidents.

If the net is not used, and it usually will not be, then no harm has been done. If the net is required, then the performer is saved from possible death, and the spectators are spared a rather ugly scene, one which children should not be subjected to.

It's Dumb To Be Jealous

Jealousy is a wasted emotion, in our opinion, and one which never produces a good result. It merely reflects a lack of intelligence.

Sometimes, however, jealousy brings about a humorous situation. Not long ago Vincenzo Nappo, a Naples, Italy, man, was arrested on a charge of trying to stab his girlfriend. The reason for his attack was attributed to a fit of jealousy.

Filomena Capelli, his girlfriend, admitted to police she had flirted with other men. So far, the story is merely a routine police blot. But Nappo is 104 years old, and evidently his love life is still going strong. However, he can be charged with robbing the grave and be defended on the same count.

His girlfriend, Filomena, is 65. And while she is about thirty years younger than her boy-friend, she at least couldn't be accused of not knowing better. Any woman, aged 65, has long since become an expert at flirting but we suspect that poor Vincenzo would not like to admit as much.

Suggestion to a considerable percentage of motorists: Try to drive as if you had good sense.

VACATION COMES TO SUBURBIA

RUTH TAYLOR OBSERVES

Voters Have The Right To Give Orders

In the early stages of the last war this nation faced the vital need of transforming the independent, sometimes willful and untrained thinking of our well-brained civilians into efficient officers. The Command and Staff School at Fort Leavenworth was one of the places where such transformation, normally requiring two years of intensive study, was crammed into a nine week course.

One day, on the route to a lecture hall, the student-officers faced signs closely spaced along each walk leading to the hall. The signs read merely—R-Y-O. They learned, during the lecture, the meaning of the cryptic letters. Read Your Orders.

The lecturer's delivery of so many carloads of requirements of war demanded construction of an airplane factory at a given location at a given time, in order to produce a given number of a given type of fighting plane for delivery overseas at a date which will support a planned attack.

Building that factory calls for delivery of so many carloads of cement at the factory site on a given Monday morning. Somewhere along the line someone misread the order. The cement went to a different delivery point—and a week later. Plant construction was delayed. Plane production was delayed. The attack was delayed. The enemy was able to reinforce his line and the attack when it came was not successful. It became a lesson, did not read his orders.

Responsibility, in this over-the-hill world, is almost everywhere along the line someone misread the order. If the order had not been clear, beyond all chance of double interpretation. Responsibility, if the order was clear and without ambiguity, rested with the individual who misread it. The effect, regardless of responsibility, was failure.

In our complex mode of life today, we all work under orders. We delegate authority to our representatives in town councils, state legislatures, in Congress. In the delegation of authority, through the ballot box, we give our representatives their orders, but we vote, we have the power to order.

When management and labor make a contract, negotiations, each group, through delegated power, has orders from the constituents each represents, to do certain things, to accomplish certain ends.

So it is in everything we do—we give orders and we take orders. If failure comes, two things need to be ascertained. They are: Were the orders clear, with no chance of misinterpretation, misinterpretation or deviation? And if so, were the orders carried out? Both questions must be answered before responsibility is fixed.

Read Your Orders!

TB Patients Are Leaving Hospital Earlier

A year or more in the hospital. That's what people with tuberculosis had to face only a few years back. Imagine yourself faced with that prospect, and you'll understand how the TB patient of today feels when he hears words like streptomycin, para-aminosalicylic acid, and isoniazid.

These words? Mouthfuls, all right, but he doesn't have to pronounce them. He only has to swallow them. They are the modern drugs that mean the TB patient of today can usually go home after only a few months in the hospital.

The shortening of the hospital stay for TB is probably the greatest advance in recent years—certainly from the patient's point of view. A few months away from home isn't too hard to face. You don't lose contact with your family. The children still know you when you come home.

Of course, you can't come home and pitch right in to hard work. You have to take it easy, follow the doctor's orders, and take your pills. Otherwise, you may throw yourself back in the hospital in more serious condition than when you were first there.

Today, for the first time in history, there are enough beds for TB patients in almost every part of our country. The turnover is greater as patients are being discharged to their homes earlier. It has been possible to close down some of the old sanatoriums or convert them to other uses. Modern treatment of TB has meant better treatment for more TB patients.

REMINISCING WITH LEE STEWART

Kentucky Home Couched In U. S. History

By R. Lee Stewart
At the Kentucky Home commemorative session on March 10, 1920, the House Committee on Rules of which I was a member introduced Resolution No. 42 for the purchase of the Old Kentucky Home, to be reported at the next session which was in 1922.

A committee was appointed by the Governor and they purchased the estate known as Federal Hill near Bardonia at which Stephen Collins Foster wrote The Old Kentucky Home. At that time an appropriation was made by the state for the amount of $20,000. Annual maintenance was appropriated thereafter.

The Old Kentucky Home contains 235 acres, including the imposing home (Federal Hill) built by Judge John Rowan in 1818. This is maintained as a memorial to Foster, a relative of Judge Rowan.

My Old Kentucky Home or Federal Hill, is one of the most famous homes in America. The original rear wing was built in 1785 by Judge John Rowan, who had been a U. S. Senator, Chief Justice of the State, Secretary of State, member of Congress and Minister to Naples. He died in Louisville, July 13, 1853.

During the life of Judge Rowan and later, the old home welcomed many distinguished visitors. Among them were eight Presidents: Phillips, Duke of Orleans and later, King of France; and Marquis de Lafayette.

The front of the house was added in 1818. About the middle of the 1870s Colonel Stephen Collins Foster visited his cousin, John Rowan, here as he wrote the famous song "Old Kentucky Home."

It is a spacious and dignified house of Georgian architecture, typical of the best of the Kentucky homes of its day. The doorway is considered exceptionally fine. The home still contains some of the actual furnishings in use when Foster visited it on his wedding trip.

A portrait of Foster hangs in one of the rooms. Also in the park are the family cemetery, the garden and a replica of the spring house, which was Judge Rowan's law office.

It is open to the public from April 1, to November 1, daily from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m. The state charges a 35¢ admission fee.

Proclaims Oct. 18 Insurance Day In Commonwealth

Oct. 18 has been designated all-industry insurance day in Kentucky by Commissioner C. P. Thurman of the state insurance department.

"The insurance industry must unite in a spirit of cohesion and co-operation to support state regulation of insurance matters in preference to federal bureaucratic control," Thurman said.

It would be an open invitation for federal agencies to step into the picture, if we fail to establish proper and adequate regulation of all phases of the insurance industry at state level, the Commissioner continued.

Thomas I. Ball, a Louisville insurer, was named chairman of a committee to study the subject.

Bitter Battle Is Building Up Over Burley Warehouse

The in-fighting of the battle between the central Kentucky burley industry and Morehead is getting rough.

It is no longer a secret that big interests—who have always controlled the tobacco business in this Commonwealth—are going to fight tooth and nail to prevent the United States Department of Agriculture from sending inspectors (graders) for Morehead's new auction warehouse.

The pressure they are putting on USDA Senators Cooper and Morton, and others in Washington is terrific.

So far, the big interests have won every round. But this is only the preliminary. The main battle is still to come.

Central Kentucky and Mayville tobacco people, who have grown rich and lush off burley, see a threat to their domain if Morehead successfully establishes and operates a warehouse then, they believe, other towns will do likewise.

We can't see how, under the law, and in this democracy, USDA can fail to supply graders for Morehead. It would be the same thing as refusing inspectors for a new meat packing or cannery. The thing goes to the heart of the Bill of Rights and the Constitution.

USDA has taken an arbitrary position. The interpretation they gave Senator Cooper last week (in this column) was confusing but not amusing. Instead of answering Cooper's distinctly plainly stated question if USDA had a lot of past history, played round-the-house and did nothing.

The people who are putting up money for the Morehead warehouse are a dogged and determined bunch. They are going ahead with construction, even though there is a chance it will never be sold on the floor. Further trouble piled up Monday when 400 feet building collapsed, injuring four workers.

A Forecast Of What To Expect
Page one of this issue carries the most welcome tidings in history to the people on Lower Licking, the northeastern area of the county.

The state has announced letting of contracts for the long prayed for, but never obtained, road which will get those people out of the water. Because of a mile long and many curves, it will be an expensive road—around $234,000 for six miles.

Most of the folks in the beautiful and productive Lower Licking valley are Republicans. But, that doesn't mean, too much these days, as everybody is crossing his ballot.

It seems that every past Democratic administration at Frankfort adopted the attitude of "let the Republicans build that road."

And now, the GOP gained control they took the people of Lower Licking for granted—as already happened the fold and counted in the ballot box.

In announcing the decision Thursday at Frankfort to build the road, Deputy Highway Commissioner Bert Kiser pointed to the fact that the road was a hard road to build. But, what stuck in my memory was your statement that you had seen corpses being brought out by rowboat for a decent burial.

I was determined to build the road. Go back home and tell your people that the contract is being let on August 23.

Here's A Tip-off
Advent. Come another year and we think you'll agree, there was much in the making of this editor in 1935 in leaving his business for several months and touring 36,000 miles, with 113 Happy Chandler.

Look for these things to happen, most of them soon.

A new state police barracks will be built at Morehead;

A new engine house and office will be built at Morehead;

Contracts will be let for 22 miles of rural road that has been closing sections on Dry Creek, Wagner, Clearfield and Rock Fork.

The Morehead-Vanceburg road will be completed.

A survey is being made on the Morehead-Flemingburg road.

The Morehead-Flemingburg road will be widened and resurfaced.

Main Street in Morehead will be widened.

The Sharkey-Farmers-Tar Flat road will be blacktopped; and

More good things are in store for Morehead State College.

Remember our statement in this column back in 1935—Rowan County will get more in the next four years than has been done in the past 100 years, excluding the establishment of Morehead College.

The four years will be up in 1939 and you'll be the judge.

There are a lot of things being done in Rowan County. We have been working constantly to put over this program. One of these is going to the aid of the people who are in the line of the plaudits we can bestow.

The day and age of the office seekers going around and making a lot of promises and making a lot of promises is over. The highly desirable present status in Rowan County is not promising to be any more.

It's A Shame
Too Fast
Don't get your clocks by the Morehead fire alarm which is supposed to blow at noon. The darn thing is about five minutes off and keeps gaining all the time.

More About
The Interstate
The huge gas lines in the North Fork of Triplet valley have been under construction for engineers planning the interstate highway in Rowan County. Some of the lines will be up to date with developments on this super-highway, a question of time.

Two routes have been under consideration the most. A half mile of road has been built. One provides for the road to pass close to Morehead, near the mill, just south. The other is North Fork of Triplet.

Both may be abandoned and the road will be a road which few, if any, have thought of.

Controlling the water is the life of the burley of the near-Morehead plant. The gas lines will probably be built on the highway of Triplet valley.

Engineers say they don't mind cutting these gas lines because the pipe can be reinforced. But, running parallel to them for serious matter. Not only is there the danger of a gas leak, but in the event of war one bomb could blast both the gas lines and the highway. Both are vital in defense.

Their Feeling
The Pinch
Morehead merchants are beginning to grip right sharply about the local post office becoming first class. It's costing them a lot of money to handle the first class office.

We have mentioned this several times in this column but few realized how serious it is. It will cost most stores many hundreds of dollars a year.

The post office department has been distributing the new classifications and overweight packages, which have been coming through during the change-over, will be no more.

Watch for a business boom in Morehead railway express office.

We read so much about the postal department and observe the department running business away. Doesn't make good sense—that utility factor recognize that the mail order houses and express companies have large powerful lobbies in Washington.

They work around the clock for special concessions and favors. Each government agency as the post office department in business.

Hounds Failed To Chase Fox For Bologna Smelled Good; Neighbor Bitten By Fish

By Clarence Holton

Seen Taylor Profit at the county seat Saturday and he thought I was dead since I had not went anything for so long. But he said he was not off. I weren't dead since I was still alive and still writing. Nice to have sympathetic friends.

Poor Arthur Kincaid had just as well not have no woman. She makes him do all the work around the house like moving their one acre lawn, sprinkling the lawn, trimming bushes, and keeping wife "eager" around all the shrubbery and blossoms so that the dogs will have to sniff of the neighbors' shrubbery and blossoms. I didn't see no chip yard around so the Kincaids must not have no wood cooking stove. Good thing they don't "cause" changes, he should have to stoke the stove wood, if he had a wood stove. Women should take care of all these little jobs like they are, supposed to do. They should have plenty of time to raise a right kind of a garden too.

A hornet bee stung Richard Palmer on the back of his head last week and he said it just set there and stung and stung. He says he sure couldn't hardly stand it a tall. Nearly drove them to a big dinner down to Mom Creech's last Sunday and my woman, Inez, took some cooked up stuff down there to sort of help fill up all what had come to eat. She nearly lost our big meat platter down there. One of the neighbors what had come to eat just happened to see the bound, Old Blue Bill, just ready to go across the top of the hill with this big platter in his mouth. The chicken was all gone from the platter but it still smelled so good that Old Blue Bill thought he still might eat it. If he carried it away from all the other hounds. We don't much need a meat platter at our house any ways.

Ben Creech ran his truck over one of his hounds and killed it pretty dead. He was sort of sorry about it but he was pleased to know he still had a right kind of a hound. He said he got a whole lot of hounds. Tom Keen Barker took care of all these little jobs like they are, supposed to do. They should have plenty of time to raise a right kind of a garden too.

Booklet Explains How S. S. Provides Family Protection Upon Death Of The Insured

John Harris and Bob Wilson had a good deal in common. They had worked side by side at the steel plant, each had three young children and the family exchanged social visits. The sudden death of John was quite a shock and Bob offered to help the confused, bereaved widow, Jean, to determine the financial position of the family. John had sufficient insurance to cover the costs of burial but aside from a small savings account, the widow knew of no other funds which would provide for the maintenance of the family.

As Jean went about the task of paying through the assortment of papers her husband accumulated, Bob was moved by the thought that his own family might encounter the same difficulties if he should die. Jean's social security card and a booklet called "Your Social Security" do not know whether death benefits are payable from the money John paid in.

Booklet explains how, I really should know since I've been paying social security taxes for twenty years. He spoke up, "One way to find out is to look it up in the booklet. If it's not there, we can ask at the social security office."

Sure enough, the desired information was there. Because John's average earnings had been the maximum that can count toward the family's benefits, the benefits of $200 monthly would be payable to Jean and her children. The checks would continue until the youngest child reaches 18. If Jean did not remarry, her monthly benefits would remain the same as long as she lived.

Says Some Filter Cigarettes Have More Tar And Nicotine

A researcher said some tobacco companies are producing filter cigarettes which have as much or more tar and nicotine than unfiltered cigarettes.

Dr. Ernest L. Wynder said in Washington this week "a safer cigarette can be made today by using an effective filter plus the proper blend of tobacco."

But, he added in testimony for the House Government Operations subcommittee, some companies have taken advantage of the public desire for filtered cigarettes by marketing "increasingly ineffective filters" on cigarettes containing tobacco which yields greater quantities of what he said was cancer-producing tar.

Wynder, of the Sloan-Kettering Institute for Cancer Research, said about 25,000 persons will die of lung cancer this year. He added that at least 80 per cent of those who die could have been prevented if the patients had not smoked.

Wynder defined an "effective filter" as one which would remove at least 40 per cent of the tar and nicotine from tobacco smoke of the average regular-size cigarette.

Group To Boost Industry In East Kentucky Formed

A state-backed Business Credit Corporation to encourage industrial growth in Eastern Kentucky was recommended last Thursday by a professional study group.

The corporation would provide low-cost loans to promising firms that could not qualify for bank financing.

Acting Gov. Harry Lee Waterfield said the Legislative Research was well along in a study of the credit plan, which will provide equal benefits throughout Kentucky. Present plans call for introducing enabling legislation in the 1958 General Assembly.

Waterfield also said efforts to bring new industries to Eastern Kentucky already are showing results, with some "big" announcements anticipated in the near future.

The credit plan would give the state an added selling point in its efforts to induce industry to come to Kentucky.

This arrangement, already tried successfully in other parts of the nation, was suggested for Kentucky "in view of present difficulties in marketing community industrial revenue bonds."

The recommendation was contained in a 92-page final report that outlined a broad program for controlling flood damage and advancing the economy of Eastern Kentucky in the immediate and long range future.

7,079 High School Grads Enter College—Report

The Department of Education reported at Frankfort last week 7,079 of last year's Kentucky high school graduates entered colleges in the fall.

Since there were 22,575 graduates, this means just 31 per cent pursued a higher education.

Knott County had the highest per cent of its high school students enter college—52 per cent—and Fayette was a close second at 51 per cent.

Others in which 40 per cent or more went to college were Calloway, Breathitt, Madison, Mercer, McCracken, Jefferson, Todd and Rowan.

Breckinridge County had the lowest number at 4 per cent. The department's report commented:

"College attendance appears to be stimulated by the presence of a college in the county. At least one college or junior college is located in all but two of the ten counties in which 40 per cent or more of the high school graduates went to college."

Not Dead, Instead He Was Dead Drunk

Dan Gallagher, of Chicago, was buried and a fine was levied for him last week when Dan walked in.

His brother, Tom, said "You're dead," his sister snapped "What are you doing here?" Dan, 51, looked hurt. He explained he had just served 17 days for being drunk and this was no way to welcome him home.

Dan's family had to agree it was really Dan. That left them wondering who was buried in the family plot. All they knew for certain was that they had identified a man found dead on the street as Dan and that he certainly had a fine funeral.

Kentucky Lake Is Popular Spot For Vacationers

"Kentucky Lake State Park is having one of the best seasons on record so far this summer," Mrs. Ben Kilgore, state park director, has reported.

"While we are having many visitors, there are still availability at our Kentucky Lake Hotel. Reservations are still being taken for late summer vacations," she added.

"We welcome out-of-state guests, from such neighboring states as Ohio, Tennessee, Indiana, Illinois and West Virginia, and other states. At the same time, we welcome Kentuckians to take advantage of the state parks here," Mrs. Kilgore said.

Kentucky Lake Hotel, at Kentucky State Park near Harlan, is one of the finest places of its kind in this part of the nation. It features real southern cooking in an excellent dining room and modern facilities, including air conditioning.

Swimming, fishing, boating, horseback riding, golf are some of the sports available. The lake abounds in attractions and historical spots for the vacationers.

State Police Using Mobile Roadblocks

Use Roadblocks To Spot Cheek Kentucky Drivers

Kentucky's Department of Public Safety is striving to block the highway death toll with mobile roadblocks.

The roadblocks, says State Safety Commissioner Don S. Sturgill, "are set up at strategic traffic locations at varying times and places."

Manned by Kentucky State Troopers, the new mobile roadblocks occur at unannounced times and places.

"Purpose of the system is to spot checks on persons who may be driving without a driver's license, driving on revoked licenses, and, of course, driving under the influence of alcohol," Sturgill emphasized.

Begin Survey Program For East Kentucky

State And Federal Funds Finance Project

Commissioner George W. Hubley, State Department of Conservation, has announced a program to step up the survey of mineral, fuel and water resources of East Kentucky.

Hubley said the plan, submitted at his request by the U.S. Geological Survey, has been approved and preliminary work is under way.

To finance the project, $25,000 was made available last February by Gov. A. B. Chandler from his emergency fund. State money will be matched by Federal funds.

Hubley said the plans call for completion of this phase of the program during the 1958 year. The work is being carried on with the Federal government and coordinated through the Division of Maps and Minerals.

A summary of the plan calls for:

- Completion of three coal reports.
- Establishment of a coal resources data file at the Kentucky Geological Survey in Lexington.
- Augmentation of the existing program of work on refractory clay.
- Geologic mapping for coal and clay resources and reserve data.
- A study and report on quantity, quality and availability of ground and surface waters of the region.

John R. Hutchins, acting director of the Maps and Minerals Division, explained that the data compiled in the survey will have a continuing value to any long range programs involving economic and social studies of the region.

Appointments To Highway Group Made

Appointments of Leonard Preston, Glasgow, to the Advisory Highway Commission and Robert Cherry, former mayor of Paducah, to the Merit Council, were announced recently.

Acting Gov. Harry Lee Waterfield named Preston to succeed Tom Mobley in the second congressional district. Mobley resigned from the commission recently after a run-in with the Governor's so-called loyalty committee.

The committee, named by Gov. A. B. Chandler and headed by Waterfield, is trying to succeed in the administration politically through a statewide reorganization.

The department also presented pins to 250 employees with 20, 15, or 10 years of service as of Jan. 1, 1957.

Veterans Advised On G. I. Loans By R. R. Thomas

A veteran who tells his home purchased by "G.I. loan" to take a better job in another city may be entitled to new loan eligibility. Director R. R. Thomas of the Kentucky Disabled Ex-Servicemen's Board advised:

Thomas said a "better job," according to the Veterans Administration, "usually means one that will increase the veteran's income or give him greater opportunity for advancement. The director added:

Restoration of eligibility formerly was made only if the loan change was involuntary or beyond the veteran's control.

The new ruling also applies to veterans moving to a different city following retirement.

No loan entitlement can be restored unless the V.A. is relieved of liability on the old loan. This generally is accomplished by payment of the loan in full either by the veteran or the new purchaser.

Other circumstances under which a veteran may be entitled to new loan entitlement occur when the property was taken by a governmental agency for public use, destroyed by natural hazard, or disposed of for reasons of health or reasons beyond control of the veteran.

Representatives of the board will assist veterans in applying for restoration of G.I. loan eligibility.

Gardner Winner In Elliott County Race

Special Judge Landon Bright of Flemingsburg last week ordered that Commonwealth's Attorney W. Major Gardner be declared winner of the Democratic nomination for re-election in the 37th Judicial District.

He acted after Ralph N. Walker withdrew his petition contesting Gardner's victory in the May 28 primary. Gardner withdrew, his counter-contest suit.

Judge Landon, sitting in Morgan Circuit Court, ordered confirmed the canvass of the election returns showing Gardner the winner by 137 votes.

Ike Urges Farm Safety Week Support

President Proclaims July 21-27 14th National Farm Safety Week

Proclaiming National Farm Safety Week and the theme, Safety Makes Sense, President Eisenhower pointed out a heavy loss upon the nation's economy and cause untold suffering among our rural population. He said or caused accident-prevention programs and the growing safety consciousness of rural residents can greatly reduce these accidents and the resultant loss and suffering.

The President requested all persons and organizations interested in the welfare of farm people to support and participate in the special endeavor of National Farm Safety Week.

Ned H. Dearborn, president of the National Safety Council, co-sponsor of the campaign with the U. S. Department of Agriculture, characterized the growing menace of traffic accidents to farm people.

"Dearborn Stresses Traffic," "It is a rather startling fact," Mr. Dearborn said, "that three-fourths of all traffic accidents deaths happen on rural highways and not in the city. Of course, this does not mean that rural residents are involved in all these accidents. But more than 5,000 farm people have been getting themselves killed every year in traffic accidents. Modern highway traffic has many hazards and your own driving requires constant attention and common-sense caution, because so much of your business and pleasure involves traveling along those rural highways. For the sake of your family and yourself, take care—don't take chances."

"When driving," Mr. Dearborn urged and remember that anger and stress are close kin. Know and obey the traffic laws and regulations. And be extra cautious in bad weather, after dark, on hills and curves, and at grade crossings. Safety Makes Sense on the highway for everybody—especially you and your family. So, in every way you can, help back the Attack on Traffic Accidents."

State Revenues Show Increase

State general fund revenue reached $126,643,375 in the 1956-57 fiscal year—27.4 per cent greater than the previous high in 1955-56, officials said. And, as reported by Commissioners J. E. Luckett, finance, and J. W. Martin, revenue, showed: Corporation and personal income taxes now comprise more than half of the general fund revenue. Both showed almost a 50 per cent increase over last year.

Individual income tax receipts rose from $30,387,201 to $45,346,021 and corporation income tax receipts from $11,855,449 to $17,489,794.

Your success, if you are wise, does not depend upon somebody else.

Personal income in May was at the highest peak in history, totaling $340,500,000, compared with $299,500,000 for the previous month and $223,000,000 for May, 1956.

THE WORLD OUTDOORS

THE best starting point for a novice fisherman who is interested in the sports of baitcasting is the purchase of an inexpensive spinning outfit.

Many would-be fishermen quickly lose patience with their own inability to acquire a degree of skill with conventional reels. Backlashes, a hazard always in the most expert bait caster, are nightmares to the beginner.

Amusing backlashes are eliminated in the principle of the spinning reel, where the line "spills" off non-rotating spool in a continuous and a minimum of tension. With little practice, the novice finds that he can make long, accurate casts with a spinning outfit.

Most beginners lose big fish, because of a tendency to "choke" the fish or reel him in too quickly. This danger is greatly reduced when using spinning reels because of anti-reverse gears which stop the crank handle from turning in reverse while the fish is stripping line off the spool, but still allow for forward cranking which helps to bring the fish under control.

Spinning reels, the majority of which are glass, come in a variety of lengths and weights. Conventional casting rods cannot handle a reel with spinning reels, because the rod guides are too small and do not allow the line to spiral when casts are made.

Popular opinion has tried to place the spinning outfit in the "light tackle for light fish" category, but such is not the case. Plenty of backyard practice is recommended before trying out your new equipment on the stream. You can buy a practice reel at the store where you get your spinning outfit and you'll have more fun and probably catch more fish if you sham your casting eye before the first expedition.

Fort Campbell, Home Of Police Action Outfit

One of the best examples of the U. S. Army's "new look" is training in Kentucky—the 101st Airborne Division, which calls Fort Campbell home.

This outfit is a "pentomic" or five-sided division which is advancing the army into the age of modern weapons and airfields.

Let the world's precarious balance of power shifts suddenly against the U.S., the 101st is being readied to take off for the other side of the globe at a moment's notice, drop upon a trouble spot by parachute with heavy weapons and transport and wage a police action.

The army believes the 101st and divisions like it may act as forces to deter smaller wars. If a possible aggressor knows the U.S. can fly highly mobile troops across the world at short notice, another Korea might be averted.

A pentomic division comprises five 1,500-man combat groups, instead of regiments. Each group can operate independently of the others, thus creating dispersal and mobility indispensable under nuclear attack.

Dispersed in five independent units, the 101st would present smaller nuclear targets. With transport highly mobile and air-lifted, the 101st could group quickly for attack and disperse under nuclear threat.

The go-to-church movement can be given your personal support without any community-wide drive.

Immediately Regulation sheet and trap ranges have been erected, the REA has run electricity to the area, the city of Danville built a road in the refuge which Boyle County has agreed to grave, explorers scout have begun clearing an area for a 10 to 15 acre lake, a concrete block construction stand to be constructed soon; local plumbers and electricians have volunteered their services; a pistol and rifle range is in the planning stage and a contract with the state has been made to post the area as a game refuge.

Field days planned Aug. 10 and 11 will allow the public to inspect the site. The first day's program includes sheet and trap shooting contests. A noon drag casting contests and other events are planned for the second day.

Lower Rates Mean $31,000 To Kentucky

About $31,000 will be saved by the use of improvements made in three years through a reduction in fire and tornado insurance rates, Deputy Insurance Commissioner E. W. Fennell said.

Fennell said the saving is a result of improvements made in a state-owned property through operation of the state fire insurance fund, a function of the Insurance Department.

The rate reduction is a result of careful engineering, inspection and installation of sprinkler systems, fire escapes and other safety devices in a number of buildings, Fennell said.

State Agency Reports On Traffic Fatalities

Thirty Kentucky counties had either more motor vehicle fatalities in the first half of this year than in either 1956 or as many, the Department of Public Safety reports.

Carlsie and Robertson counties had no traffic deaths in 1956 nor in the first half of this year, the agency adds.

Highway fatalities in the Commonwealth totaled 778 last year and 388 through June 30, 1957, the department reports.

Opening Planned For Game Refuge

An example of what can be accomplished through joint effort and community spirit is described in the July issue of Happy Hunting Ground, publication of the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources.

For many years the Boyle County Fish and Game Club wanted a game refuge. After failure several years ago, the sportsmen recently banded together in an all-out effort to achieve their goal.

The club purchased a 205-acre farm near Danville. Loans of $50 were obtained from each member and interested person in the community. Over $7,000, or approximately two-thirds of the price of the farm, was raised in one week.

Fifteen committees began work
