Ghent Fined $100 in Rowan Circuit Court

A Rowan Circuit Court jury was evidently convinced this week that Ghent Gault, 30, of Rowan Park, near Morehead, was the outgrowth of two friends falling out after a wrestling match.

The jury found Willard Ghent guilty of cutting and wounding Lester Fultz with intent to kill. Evidence was that the men were companions and decided to see which one could throw the other.

The match became rough, tempers flared and it was alleged that Ghent drew his knife and cut Fultz in several places.

The jury amended the charge to a misdemeanor and Ghent was fined $100 and costs. Convictions on the felony would have meant a reformatory sentence.

The grand jury has returned nine true bills. Judge John J. Wilson appointed Luther Jayne foreman.

Other cases before the court: Harold Myers, petit larceny, bench warrant issued; Arthur Gausberry, petit larceny, set for trial on Mar. 20; Burl Porter, child desertion, bench warrant issued; defendant not before the court; Lowell Bowles, child desertion, bench warrant issued; Delbert Thornberry, child desertion, bench warrant issued; Delbert Lancaster, possessing whiskey without tax stamps affixed, set for trial Mar. 27; Fredrick Finley, possessing whiskey in local option territory, set for trial Mar. 27; Arthur Johnson, same as above, property, set for trial Mar. 20.

Rowan Group Favors Tax For Conservation

Throw Support Behind Bill Now Before Kentucky Legislature

Rowan County's Soil Conservation District voted last week in favor of a two cent acre tax on all farm land for soil conservation.

The action to support a bill in the present legislature for this tax was made by the district's Bishop, Morehead retail merchant.

The bishop's motion followed a report that at the annual meeting of conservation supervisors at Kentucky Lake the recommendation was made that the State appropriate $500 each year to the district for soil conservation districts for clerical work. This was not included in Gov. Chandler's record budget.

Bishop said he understood the bill for the two cents an acre levy is now before the General Assembly, which ends its session March 21. He said this is a very important tax because of the view of the many benefits derived from conservation of water and other resources in Rowan and all Kentucky counties.

It was brought out at the meeting that the recommendation the present set-up of the Work Unit Conservations is a p. n. c. very local tax on the district work and the additional money would give them more time in the field.

Herbie Triplett, Doug Moore Subdue One Of Sneak Robbers

Little Herbie Triplett, the 11-year-old son of a young man who drew some criticism when he shot a robber during the last two minutes of the crucial Morehead-Benches-Tech game, was a hero today when he and Doug Moore subdue one of the sneak robbers.

Triplett, who stands at 5.5, helped break the automobile hub cap theft ring, according to Police Chief Callis Coyle.

Clayton Ferguson, another male Morehead College student, discovered two men removing a hub cap from a Buick automobile parked on College Boulevard Thursday evening. One was arrested. The other ran, but was later captured by Morehead Police.

They were given 30-day jail sentences each by the county of City Police Judge Tom Burns.

The culprit:

Clayton Ferguson, about 25, of Hayes Crossing, Rowan County; James L. Hamm, 22, of Soldier, Carter County.

Ferguson and Hamm denied other thefts. Morehead has been plagued recently by a series of hub cap robberies. Chief Coyle said the culprit could obtain a hub cap for $10 to $15 to replace. The thieves usually removed hub caps from expensive automobiles.

Coyle said the arrests were part of a trap set by police laid for the thieves. The Chief said that Ferguson and Hamm were arrested on charges of being under scrutiny for the past two weeks.

Officials at the college said that Triplett and Doug Moore, strapping football player, were among the college students who discovered the thieves. It was a bit one of the culprit, knocking him unconscious with a baseball bat, and Miss Coyle said the college official said.

Ferguson and Hamm pleaded guilty before Judge Callis Coyle. Triplett is the college player criticized by fans when he fired at the robber, and Miss Coyle said he had a four point lead over Tech.

Coyle said he was convinced that this was not the first hub cap theft by Ferguson and Hamm, but expressed the opinion that "others may also have been out of town."

Police Chief Warns That Series Of Robberies May Be Facing M'head Stores

Police Chief Callis Coyle said today that "we have a right good lead on who the robbers are."

Coyle also issued a request to merchants to avoid keeping sizeable amounts of money in their stores overnight.

"I am concerned," Coyle said, "that we may be in for a mind wave of robberies like these. We have observed this little gang, do not bother stores unless considerable cash is available. This ring of thieves are smaller than most people think. The Chief said to thought the break-in at Calvert's, across from the courthouse, and Sinclair, corner of Main and Lexingtonburg Road, were perpetrated by the same person or persons.

Heaviest haul was at Calvert's where the thieves obtained $1,811 in checks and cash Sunday night after the business closed. They also took six electric razors and a 12 gauge Remington automatic shotgun.

Owner J. B. Calvert, Jr., today issued a request: "I would appreciate any person who gave a check between Mar. 3 and Mar. 31, 1958, to call my office."

Chief Coyle said the money was hidden in Calvert Drug where the thieves obtained $1,811 in checks and cash Sunday night. The money was in a cash drawer.

"Don't fool yourself about these robberies," Coyle declared. "Few people know it, but we have two or three people we suspect in the community who planned this and will plan other robberies. . . they won't stop until we catch or kill them."

He re-emphasized "they are smart" and "have probably learned a lot of the tricks while in prison."

Monarch Receives Its 1st Diesel Tractor

Monarch Supply Store, Ford tractor dealer in Morehead, has received their first United States-made diesel tractor produced by Ford Motor Company.

This tractor will be on display Friday, March 14, at their showroom on Main Street.

Ford Motor Company has used its superior research and manufacturing know-how to do something which the farm equipment industry has been trying to do for years. It has substantially cut the price differential between gasoline and diesel tractors.

The Ford four-cylinder diesel engine it delivers up to 40 belt horsepower. The torque characteristics of diesel power make the new tractor capable of pulling semi-mounted, four-bottom plows in many soil conditions.

Mr. Glenn Fraley said, "With the new diesel, we have a complete line of new tractors in power classes and prices which will be of interest to every user. We cordially invite everyone to drop in, see and try out these new Ford tractors."

Normal starting is provided by a 12-volt electrical starter, without recourse to a special starting engine or supplemental fuel.

In extremely cold weather, optional pre-heaters in the manifold or other cell may be used as a starting aid.

Although the Ford diesel and gasoline engines are similar in size and appearance, the diesel is equipped with much larger air intake, air cleaning and exhaust systems.

An overhead valve-type cylinder head has been designed to accommodate the fuel, air and pressure requirements of the Diesel.

The Ford diesel engine features heavy pistons equipped with five rings, forged steel crankshafts, new connecting rods and other special parts. The Ford diesel engine is available in Ford's 801 and 801 series of tractors, in seven models of utility, row-crop and all-purpose types.

Olive Hill Is About to Lose Its Main Street Highway

Whether it is justified or unjustified Olive Hill is in considerable disfavor with most of the people in Kentucky. We hear outspoken criticism every place we go.

The criticism is over rights-of-way for improvement of U. S. 60. Unfortunately, the feeling in the State against Olive Hill is, and will in the future, reflect on all of Carter County and Eastern Kentucky.

To give you an idea of how serious this business is, we quote:

Gov. A. B. Chandler: "I promised Olive Hill this road... I acted in good faith... but the State of Kentucky will not be a sucker for outrageous rights-of-way costs... I want to build roads, but we must give a place to build them..."

Highway Commissioner James W. Martin: "We are postponing indefinitely any work on the project... the rights-of-way costs are unreasonable..."

The Federal Bureau of Roads, in substance: "The road should have never been planned through Olive Hill in the first place..."

Attorney Hogge, Chief Legal Counsel for the Department of Highways: "... The $5,000 judgment awarded in a suit for a small parcel of land by a jury in the Carter Circuit Court is outrageous... I recommend against any such purchase with the people's money..."

There are those uniformed people who say that the original purchases of rights-of-way were too high and that former Highway Commissioner Bert Kiser was "stealing under the table. But, the real facts in this case are irrefutable. Let us get away from street corner talk and examine the record.

The State acquired 75 parcels of land for $279,967.56. This was probably high, but a perusal of the records shows that State Highway personnel and a firm of independent appraisers fixed the value of these tracts at $293,483.74 or about $14,000 more than the State paid. There is nothing in the record to indicate any crooked maneuvering in these cases.

Thirty-eight sites are before the Carter Circuit Court. The appraisal on this property was $168,781.24. On the basis of the recent judgment of the Carter County jury the State would have to pay $483,875.00 for these rights-of-way through Olive Hill.

The Federal Bureau of Roads believes this is ridiculous. The Governor is adamant that he won't maintain such rights-of-way purchases. Dr. Martin speaks softly, but he is highly respectful and honestly determined.

The plain truth is that just about everybody in Kentucky believes that property owners in Olive Hill connived for a bonanza at the expense of other taxpayers.

What will be the outcome?

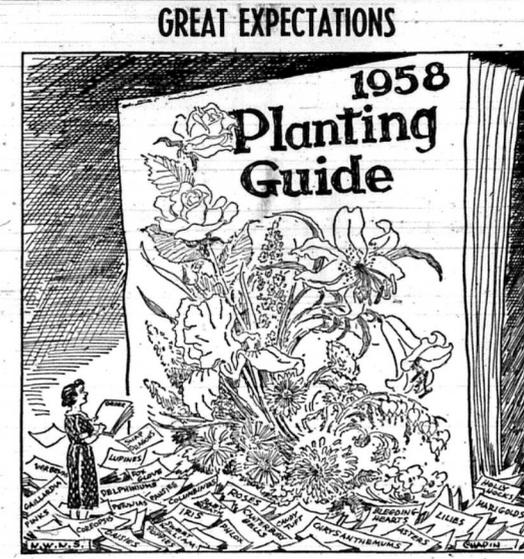

The thinking in the State Highway Department and the Federal Bureau of Roads is that Olive Hill should be by-passed if possible. But, there is an investment of more than a million dollars in the part that has been constructed to the west.

This is U. S. 60, one of Kentucky's main highways. It is believed by a number of people in authority that an overpass of something like 600 feet will be constructed over the General Refractories plant-and the highway will be re-routed to the north of Olive Hill, near the present baseball field.

But, if the same rights-of-way trouble develops on this route, the thinking is to start over again and re-rout the entire highway, starting in Rowan County, so that it will miss Olive Hill by several miles.

The inescapable truth is that just about everybody in State government and the Federal Bureau of Roads chiefs feel unkindly toward Olive Hill.

The pending rights-of-way suits in Carter Circuit Court might as well be wiped from the docket. If they are tried the judgments will be nothing but a farce. The State and Federal Bureau of Roads no longer want rights-of-way on Olive Hill's Main Street. That is how bad this situation is. Another Governor's election won't help because Olive Hill, justified or unjustified, is in bad repute with just about all the factions of both the Democratic and Republican parties.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

This Is Girl Scout Week In Morehead And Over World

Editor, "The News":
This is Girl Scout Week. Every year the Girl Scouts in this country celebrate the week of March 12, the birthday of the Girl Scouts, by making a special effort to show their community what they are doing. We started the week by attending church last Sunday at the Free Will Baptist Church. About seventy-five girls in uniform and the adult workers worshipped together.

You have been very kind to this organization by giving us publicity and praise in your paper. For this we are very grateful.

Each year the Girl Scouts sell cookies during, or near as possible, Girl Scout Week. This year our troop members are selling cookies during the annual camping trip to Carter Caves State Park.

Due to the bad weather, we did not get all of our candy sold before receiving the cookies. The Senior troop is kept pretty busy washing dishes after dinners at the Christian Church to pay for its complete trip.

The Girl Scouts in this community are operating on lone troop basis. This means that we receive no financial support from the national organization. Neither do we pay into the organization other than the individual dues that are paid by each member annually. Neither do we keep any individual's name allowed to solicit any money for our continuation. This is the reason for our different efforts to make money for our survival and activities. We think an ideal situation would be one in which each troop is sponsored by an organization. We can, however, keep our own name and we receive very nice ones each year from the Morehead Woman's Club. Christian churches have furnished us with a meeting place since we reorganized in 1948.

The Boy Scout motto, "Be prepared," we appreciate all the kindness and consideration given us by everyone. Sometimes one might get a little provoked by being approached by so many girls to buy their cookies or candy. We plead with everyone to please be patient with them and understand that they are not asked for a cash donation and the profit on each purchase is given to the troop. Their giving in our community. In addition to this, quality merchandise is given with each sale at a popular price.

The adult workers in this community do all their own work and effort to carry on this program. Sometimes it is a great strain on all of us to find that time and energy, however, we have great satisfaction at the end of the year to discover that we have raised money for our troop.

Statistics have proven that all but a very small percent of Scout leaders are very good citizens. We know that we have the backing of the paper and all the good citizens of Rowan County and give our thanks.

May Williams

Scout Association.

17-When the solicitor comes for your donation, remember the many services which the Red Cross renders.

First, there is the blood program. That saves lives and money. It saves lives by having a supply of blood in the blood bank for use when needed. Also, blood that can not be used as whole blood is given over to other important medical uses. It saves money for the people who belong to a blood bank as they do not pay for any blood used. This saves $25 a pint. Mr. Russell Brown is in charge of the blood program in Rowan County.

Another service of the Red Cross is the official line of communication between the man in service and his family in time of stress. Mrs. Corrine Castle is the Red Cross Home Service Secretary and the one who makes the telephone calls in all cases of emergency.

Rowan County is set up so that if a disaster should strike this county, that Red Cross would go into immediate action. Dr. Harold Holbrook is in charge of this program.

The local chapter carries on several instruction programs. Mrs. Robert Stokes has charge of the Home Nursing instruction. First aid and water safety courses are also offered. Since Red Cross has been teaching water safety, death from drownings has been reduced 90 per cent over the nation.

Surely every person, man, woman and child, will want to aid in the worthy work by becoming a member.

Rowan County Chapter decided to observe Red Cross Week.

Editor, "The News":
I want to thank Superintendent Clifford Cassidy for his concern and consideration for our children in stopping the school buses during the recent cold weather when the roads were icy and dangerous. In doing so they may have saved many lives. The Red Cross should be given credit for the terrible bus tragedy at Prestonsburg.

I stop and think and appreciate all precautions taken for the safety of the children.

When my little girl climbs aboard that big yellow school bus each morning it relieves my mind to know we have a safe, capable driver behind the wheel, and the bus is considered safe to transport her to and from school.

We as taxpayers should do all in our power to help keep our buses safe. Our children are the greatest gift God ever gave us.

Mrs. Kenneth RFD 1 (Lower Licking) Morehead, Ky.

Policy Is The Important Thing
Editor, "The News":
I am not one who has criticized the building of the State Fairgrounds or the toll road nor can I see myself criticizing the building of the fieldhouse in Morehead. I can understand some folks reasoning when they constructively or otherwise criticize these things.

I must say this criticism and reasoning usually comes too late and is as effective as crying out spilled milk. It appears to me in time to print and the time to write letters to the Editor is before the milk is spilled. This could also apply to communications not only to the Editor but to government officials of all levels.

With this line of thought, we are heard and usually our report is given consideration.

I do not imply or agree that predictions made willy nilly or unreasonably are justified to say, "I told you so." I believe now is the time to write about things being proposed or it happens us to either speak up or shut up. It is not after the fact and the fact is to the aid of their affairs? The do-ers are the early birds and shrewd investors for the progress of the world.

There is much to be said about things pending today and thanks to the Publisher for his open space "Letters to the Editor", we all have a way open to express our thoughts.

Stubborn TPI May Have Hurt O.V. With NCAA Officials

Notre Dame beat Tennessee Tuesday night at Evanston. Tech picked up what everybody expected. That is, $3,000 or $4,000 as their part of the gate, but the Golden Eagles patterned an injustice against the Ohio Valley Conference.

Without three star performers, including Jimmy Sidwell, Tech was simply no match for the fighting Irish.

The only team that would have had a chance against Notre Dame was Morehead. But, Tech, after being supplied for an NIT bid, was adamant and refused to let the best representative in the O.V. play.

Tech even told NCAA officials they were polling the conference. Tech is nobody who would care if they had been it would probably have been almost unanimous.

Morehead had the best chance.

Tech lost three front line performers in the NCAA game because they played on the varsity as freshmen. This eliminated Sidwell, Merritt and Sexton and Johnnie Oildham's team is incapable of making a decent showing against the big South Bend team.

We wouldn't be surprised if the NCAA refuses next year to give an automatic bid to the O.V. camp, as a result of this farce.

On the other hand, we have little need or grief for Morehead. They would have won the O.V. crown and their performance in losing in an overtime to Tech would have been a disappointment. We have seen in many years, particularly from 1945 to the present, so much wrong and talent.

Maybe we're much bright, but if we were the Morehead coach we would make one iron-clad rule—if a scholarship athlete married his girl, he would automatically be cancelled. This includes books, board and room.

One day they go to school they never seem to be able to perform the same... that is, for at least a year or so, and by that time the graduate who also benefits in the team anyhow.

This has been a disappointing year for the owners of the basketball Eagles.

The fans didn't let them down "let us do us".

Blackburn is presently Commissioner of Motor Transportation. Gov. Chandler, and the boys in the know, pool-pool the prize support that Martin will become President of Eastern State College. Don't be surprised if this happens. It is a very attractive offer from private business, but the presidency of a state college is not to be taken lightly.

He did a fine job selling Kentucky's road bonds at less than three per cent and at about par. This is better than any other state has been able to do.

If the change in the highway department materializes for some news on construction of the zone engineering office at Morehead—and also the state police barracks.

It is obvious that Martin's job will cost the bonds—raise the money. He has kept everything in status quo since he has been Commissioner, probably on the basis of the Governor's name.

If Blackburn isn't named Commissioner don't be surprised if he goes to the state to look for some body who lives in this part of Kentucky.

Let's See If We Are Right
We Are Right
Gov. Combs made a pointed barb at this Editor a couple weeks ago.

The Prestonsburg attorney, who has been peddling a territorial election, ended a rather incensed, and unnecessary statement with "I make my intentions in the Governor's race known by March 21." He indicated that he would be a candidate for the office.

March 21 is not far off—the day the Legislature ends.

Gov. Combs has not yet identified Mr. Combs would be a candidate, although he would like nothing better if the proper support could be had. He is waiting Earle Clements. Let's wait and see what he does say come Friday of next week.

Roads Are In Terrible Condition
We have never seen Rowan County roads in worse shape.

The hard winter, with freezes and thaws, has done a lot of damage. Then high impassable. Maintenance crews have a tough job, and it will take weeks before some can be restored.

Joe Friday May Be Slipping Fair Trade Prices Hitting Drain

The word in television circles is that Sergeant Joe Friday of "Dragnet" fame is about to part company with his sidekick, Frank Smith. This is almost historic news in the television industry.

Dragnet was one of the early highly-popular detective series. It came into vogue before the groaners and crooners took over, and had an extremely high audience rating for a long time.

It was so popular that another version of it, "Badge 714" was put on the air. But for many years officer Frank Smith, who did not have the rank of detective, had been "second string" on the two-man team. It seems as if he is now studying for his examination on television.

And, when he passes the examination, on television, he will probably move up to Detective Frank Smith, with his own sidekick, Jack Webb, and the rest of the cast will move into the background. The rumor is that Sergeant Friday will be promoted to lieutenant, and that he will appear only occasionally, in an effort to keep the continuity of the program.

No matter what happens to the series from here on out, it is accurate to say that the original Dragnet was a milestone in television, something like Amos 'n' Andy in radio, which showed the way for several similar television series which followed it.

The announcement by a major producer of electrical goods and appliances, that it would no longer seek to enforce compliance with the system of fair trade pricing, is an important business omen.

The company announced that it was not feasible to police the actions of dealers all over the United States. It had instituted legal proceedings in thousands of cases, when dealers were accused of selling the manufacturer's products at below list prices.

As soon as this announcement was made, major advertisements appeared in some of the nation's largest newspapers, showing reductions which certain department stores were offering on these nationally-known products. Items reduced from the list of fair trade price included irons, coffee-makers, automatic toasters, rotisseries, electric mixers, automatic slicers, electric clocks, sandwich grills, radio, clock radios, and vacuum cleaners.

This is naturally to be followed, and is being followed, by reductions on the products of other nationally-known manufacturers. It means the advocates of fair trade pricing policies are in for a rough time.

It is extremely difficult, at first, to force a small dealer, or any dealer, to hold his prices up when he is losing money, or business, or his survival is threatened. The current business recession seems to have been the last straw for the fair trade pricing system in many stores, since it has now become a matter of dog-eat-dog in the retailing business, especially in the appliance and electrical fields.

A number of Los Angeles citizens laughed so heartily over the recent three-inch snowfall in Tallahassee, capital of Florida, that they almost choked on smog.

Old So's excuse for taking a drag on the bottle before breakfast is that he can't take food on an empty stomach.

When you've seen one Western movie, you've seen them all—and none of them were worth seeing.

Their singing indicates that birds are among the happiest of creatures. It is difficult to understand, though, how they can be so happy, when they have to get up early and eat worms.

The opening major a person needs most is one in his closed mind.

You could achieve quite a bit of fame and attract considerable attention by living to be 100, but it probably wouldn't be worth the time and trouble entailed.

Claig Sprout

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:
Looks like that House of Delegates down at Frankfort finally decided to do something. They passed five ordinances in seven weeks and now they've voted two more in four or five days.

Pears like they don't know too much what they are voting for or what they are doing. The criticism from us tax paying people they're bound and determined to pass just about every ordinance that comes along. It's even got to the point that Harry Davis, the Governor's Secretary of Finance, and the one who is Earle Clements hatchet man, are drinking coffee together and talking about the tax payers watch out or 'tither one will slip some rat poison in the other's drink.

This fellow Edison Everset ever at Mayville introduced a bill that stops school teachers from holding office. We knew that if it was coming and the school teachers shouldn't be offended. After all, Edison and his cronies have introduced an ordinance which gives the school teachers just about all the money they want. The money can collect from us taxpayers.

This House of Delegates beats just about every other body in the state. They are passing an amendment to lower the taxes of all of us folks out in the State by fifteen million dollars and then, according to the newspapers, they wanted to raise taxes in Louisville by taking a dollar and one quarter out of each hundred dollars in all their pay checks. Hereafter, I haven't had much use for those tipsy (Continued On Next Page)

At least three large muskies have been taken by anglers in Triplett Creek, near Farmers, during the past week.

Largest was a 15½ pounder caught by a fisherman from Morehead. We failed to get the name.

Muskies start hitting about the same time as walleyes. They begin their run in Cumberland and other Kentucky lakes.

The three best muskie fishing parts of Kentucky, according to the Department of Fish and Wildlife are: Triplett Creek in Rowan County; Kinnickinnick Creek in Lewis County; and Green River.

Maybe This Will Mean Some Progress
Prediction—Come April 1 Dr. James Martin will resign as Commissioner of Kentucky Highway Department.

It's a fifty-fifty chance that Charles Blackburn will succeed the present one who is expected on government finance.

Non-Geniuses Please Read This

Nine out of 10 of the world's geniuses have either been alcoholics, drug addicts or have been disturbed or mentally unstable. A British surgeon said:

"I have seen 5-foot-3 and have seen syphilitic parents also being well, said Dr. V. B. Green-Armytage of London, who was interviewed on his arrival in Los Angeles, Calif., for the 11th biennial congress of the International College of Surgeons.

Dr. Green-Armytage, whose specialty is genetics and gynecology, has been studying the medical history of geniuses for a number of years.

He said the various disorders observed in geniuses apparently were inherited or affected on body chemistry, serving as a stimulant to higher level of brain function.

REMINISCING WITH LEE STEWART
Definition Of Sweet And Sour Mash Whiskey
By Robert Lee Stewart

The general prejudice against the Federal whiskey excise tax culminated in Eastern Pennsylvania in the summer of 1794, and extended to Virginia, North Carolina, and Kentucky, where there were many small stills.
The Kentucky Mountaineers' antipathy to the "revenooer" born then, still persists.
I recall when a boy that all men were called in the spring of 1888, five miles up the creek, from where Carr Creek Church is now located, a pitched battle was fought between a Deputy Marshall's posse and the moonshiners. Two were killed and one wounded.

The strongest and most open opposition, to the collection of the excise tax was in Pennsylvania. The Kentucky Gazette reported that "the militia of the U. S. of more than 20,000 men, were called into service, commanded in person by the President. The President reportedly accompanied the troops from Philadelphia to Carlisle, Pennsylvania.

The army was within 30 miles of Pittsburgh, and the Gazette of that city said in 1794 the rebels gave "assurance of their friendly disposition toward the general government and their determination to support the laws." The Kentucky Gazette reported that the militia was discharged, but 1,800 men, enlisted for six months, were stationed 15 miles from Pittsburgh, commanded by Gen. Morgan. Twenty-two insurgents were taken to Philadelphia for trial. Another 300 were set at liberty.

Most people know there are two kinds of Kentucky whiskeys: one made in pot stills, the other by furnace heat. Sweet mash is produced by mashing the grain with water and sour mash whiskey by mashing with spent beer or slop. Corn meal is used in the latter process.

Never take the problems of life so seriously that other people fail to take you seriously.

boys, except the time I sold Mayer Watson Whiskey a country ham for a dollar and a half a pound and told him it was two years old when it was only last fall's hog and I made it smell good with some pepper and sorsum. You got to hand it to Louisville because it is self-evident they want to help us country cousins by reducing our tax burden, but they are also lutely willing to more than pay their own—that is they are positively unbiased in so long as the money is coming out of the working man's pocket. Wouldn't it be something if somebody asked for an ordinance to take one dollar and one quarter out of the members of the House of Delegates?

I've had a little touch of the flu and ain't been able to get further than hollerin' distance from home all week.
"About all I know is what I've seen on television, heard on the radio, read in the papers, and picked up eavesdropping on the party line. And of course I've been sitting my daily allotment of mail from the various state and federal agencies.

But I didn't get up to the country store Saturday night and until you get the low-down from the boys up there, and unless they don't know nothing official.
I see where some preacher in Pittsburgh told his flock that he'd been in touch with hell for some time now. Unless he's been off in a space ship for these few years, he ain't got nothing to brag about. All of us keeps in hell in a space ship for these days. All he's got to do is look around him a little.

So this preacher wants to talk about hell? I wonder if he ever stopped to think how slow a jet plane is along side how fast our unfated dollar is traveling these days. I bought my old lady a electric iron for $5 in 1935 and last week it cost me $7.50 just to get it repaired. Any feller that has any trouble communicating with hell these days is a sacker. He's lost. They say the saddest thing in this world, Mister Editor, is a country dog that is lost in town, and looking for his master. I'd say the next saddest thing is somebody who has got to go out of his way to get in touch with hell in 1936.

Another item in the paper that struck me as funny was a story about a street employee in London that got caught stealing man-hole covers and selling them to the junk yard. Over in this country it run for after six months, and then steal the junk yard. Them English always was a little slow about things, though.

Not being able to get out and about for a week has been hard on me and the old lady both. It's just like a wife to take a lot of pot shots at her old man when he ain't able to dodge. For instance, I'm having another birthday day next week and I asked my old lady how I was holding my breath. "Look in the mirror," she says. I did, and all I can say is that they don't make mirrors good like they did when I was younger. Like some feller said the other day, I'm too old for Geritol. My old lady says that after a man gets 50 he is mostly a maintenance problem anyhow. Yours truly,

Forest Service Concerned With Rural Programs

By Joe J. Mank
S. G. Hile of the Forest Supervision Office in Winchester, C. C. Elstree, District Ranger of U. S. Forest Service and Chauncey Lohr of the U. S. Forest Service Forestry of Morehead attended the Rural Development Program meeting in Sandy Hook last Friday. He do you just shrug your shoulders and say, "It's only human nature—that's politics." So you don't like the way other groups are lobbying for special interests to the disadvantage of your own group? Well, have you ever tried to study what they think is right in their cause and then tried to show them, as individuals, just why you feel as you do? Or have you ignored their side of the picture and expected them to hunt up the facts on your side? An ounce of understanding would be lots more effective than fighting or bitter recrimination.

Work is underway this week on preparing several old fields on the Rock of Marshall area on approximately 10,000 white pine and 1,000 short pine are due to be set on the area of seedling size.
Last Friday Arthur and John (Buster) Quisenberry along with Charles Cullitt of this county were lodged in Rowan County because of charges of drinking in public places. They were picked up by Deputy Sheriff Roy Anderson and Chester Robinson. In addition to the drinking charges the Quisenberys were charged with the tampering with a motor vehicle pending action of the grand jury in session this week. The arrests and charges were the aftermath of a beer drinking party at the home of Mrs. Morehead Triangle Fire Tower and the removal of accessories from the car of the same townsmen which was parked by the tower.

Sheriff Sam Green and State Police officers informed this office that they were taking aggressive action to break up the beer drinking and the littering with beer cans and rubbish on the roads leading to the Fire Tower and Woodland Park in Beulah Hollow as well as the dumping of beer cans wholesale quantities along Big Perry Road.

District Forester Chauncey Lohr of the Ky. Division of Forestry informed me that a load of some 285,000 tree seedlings were due to arrive in Morehead next Monday, Feb. 17 for distribution to Rowan and adjacent counties. These seedlings will complete delivery on orders taken for seedlings by the Division up to Jan. 1. Farmers planting these seedlings this spring should be able to start harvesting products from the plantations within 15 to 20 years.
Service is now selling poles and pulp wood from the DAR Plantation on Grassman road which was established in 1940. A quantity of both have been sold from the area with several acres yet to be worked.

I would like to take this opportunity to express to the Editor and readers of the Rowan County News the thoughts of the employees of the Forest Service of the Editorial concerning the Cumberland National Forest in the last issue of the News? We feel that it was factual and to the point. Thanks Mr. Editor.

This Makes You A Part Of Bad Government

So you don't like it? Well, what are you going to do about it? So you don't like the legislation that is passed—unfavorable to your particular interests or group? Well, what did you do to prevent it? Did you take an active interest in the last election? Did you begin to work in the party of your choice when they were Both Taylor picking the candidates and laying out the program? Did you work actively all through the campaign? Have you kept your elected representative informed of your opinion on all pending legislation? Or do you just complain?

So you don't like the infiltration tactics of the subversive? Well, do you work in the organizations to which you belong? Do you attend meetings? Do you only take on as many confederates as you can honestly serve? It is carelessness on the part of the average person that opens the doors to subversives. The Communists know that—and act accordingly.
So you don't like the way things are going? So you don't like the way things are run? You think something should be done about it?
Well, you are an American citizen. When is the primary day in your state? After all, there is an election this year.

$200 Increase In Exemptions Is Proposed

A $200 increase in income tax exemptions is one way to help fight the business recession according to Rep. Perkins (D-Ky.). Under Perkins' bill, a community that had as much as 6 per cent unemployment for as long as a year ago could get loans and grants for local projects from a commission set up to administer it. The money would thus provide work, he said.
Perkins also asked the administration to "open up the purse strings" by approving funds for various authorized flood control reservoirs on the Big Sandy River in Kentucky.

Modern industry has developed many gadgets for smart people to own that only the very rich people can buy.

Kentucky Is Near Population Center

"Kentucky is within one day's drive of one-fourth of the population of the United States," Mrs. Ben Kilgore, state parks director, told the Boyle County Historical Society in Danville and the Woodford County Women's Club in Versailles recently.

"In keeping with the trend for people to become more vacation and recreation minded, more tourists visited our parks during 1952 than any other year since their development," Mrs. Kilgore continued.

The state plans to expand recreational facilities and develop camping areas, she added. She said camping is popular and there is a growing demand for good accommodations.

Kentucky Dam Village and the TVA dam there are among the top tourist attractions, drawing more visitors than any other TVA installation. The duck and pheasant hunting at the Village was very popular last fall and winter, she said.

"Fishing at the lakes is improving and the season will soon be at its best, with jig fishing and walleye run expected to begin soon," Mrs. Kilgore continued. Crappies are already being caught at Lake Cumberland and Kentucky Lake, she added, "and many guests will stay at Cumberland Falls State Park during the walleye run and fish in the river below the falls."

Mrs. Kilgore said while all hotels and cottages are now open for guests, dining rooms which are not operated year round will be open by April 15. She urged people to make reservations for park vacations now.

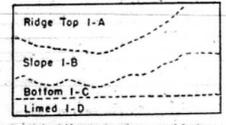

"Don't Cheat Yourself - Take Good Soil Samples," Says Your County Agent

A soil test is the best guide to determining what plant nutrients to buy in fertilizers so that those nutrients in the soil will be balanced for the best results. It is the best guide in determining when and how much limestone should be applied so that the greatest returns can be obtained from the fertilizer bought. The test is no better than the soil sample taken from the field or garden to be treated. The accompanying illustrations show how to get good soil samples.

1 If the field is uniform in soil type and if fertilizer and lime treatments have been the same spot should be selected from each of the 10 or more borings. Remove trash from the spot to be sampled but be sure to include the surface soil in the sample.

2 If the field varies in soil type, or if fertilizer or lime treatment or cropping has been different on various parts of the field during recent years, a separate sample of 10 or more borings should be taken from each area and labeled as shown.

3 A core of slice of soil from the surface to a depth of 6 inches or to plow depth should be taken from each of the 10 or more borings. Remove trash from the spot to be sampled but be sure to include the surface soil in the sample.

4 The uniform cores from the 10 or more borings should be placed in a clean pail or box. Be sure that no lime or fertilizer is sticking to the inside of the container. This will give a better soil sample. Good samples can be taken when the soil is dry but crumbly or crusting or clumping should be delayed until the soil is partly dry.

5 If the soil crumbles easily, pulverize and thoroughly mix the collected borings as shown, then spread on a clean paper to dry. The sample can be stored in the bag, airtight, for several days. Do not dry the sample in an oven, below an open fire, on top of a furnace, stove or radiator.

6 When the soil is air dried, thoroughly mix again, put one pint in a clean paper bag, label the bag with owner's address and the field number. Deliver the sample to your County Extension office, and fill out the just treatment and cropping history form.

Get Kentucky Extension Service Leaflet No. 139 at your County Extension Office for more complete instructions.

Red Sassafras Tea Powerful Body Builder And Cleans The System This Time Of Year

By Cleonie Hollon

The ground has thawed out and lots of fellers are out a digging them up some red sassafras roots for to make some tea to drink. Red sassafras tea is powerful body builder and cleans the system during the early spring days and getting one ready for the spring chores. Be sure you get red sassafras roots though.

The roots of white sassafras will bear a tea what tastes just as delightful and refreshing as red sassafras but it contains not the medicinal properties required of the body for spring blood purifying. It has been told Uncle Floyd Mann has been drinking red sassafras tea for a lot of years and he warns, "White sassafras tea will thin the blood and will not do for a spring tonic even though it tastes the same as the red."

new duties as poke wardens for Lee County. They will appoint responsible persons to perform these duties as poke wardens in the various localities of the county.

Herbert Lutes has traded for him a good little boss and he tells me that he aims to make good use of this little boss. He already has a good set of saddle pockets and last week he set down, and ordered him a good supply of products and he aims to ride about over the country a peddling products to the neighbors. He figures he can pick up a few dollars by selling his stuff and pepper and flavoring and butter and is almost certain to get his dinner every day with one of his customers. He said the boss would come to night handy for his woman about a good to the rag shaking every week. She can fill some meal sacks full of them bargains and toss them right across that boss's back and head back for home. She can also take a few sacks of bargains for her neighbors, too. That boss is going to come in mighty handy for the Lutes' family unless a Junion takes a notion that he wants to go sparring on this boss of a night.

But we think it is a little dangerous to go out sarking of a night while that boss is still out. It could eat up a feller and a boss too because it seems to be a awful big bear from the descriptions we get. This bear is visiting quite a few neighborhoods. Last week it was in the Canyon Falls and Tallaga neighborhood. David Palmec seen that over at Tallaga and Bedford.

Cooper Says No Increase In REA Interest

Rate Will Remain At Two Percent

Congress will not pass legislation increasing interest rates of the Rural Electrification Administration.

That prediction came from Sen. Cooper (R-Ky.), who said "if such legislation should be introduced in Congress, it will not be passed."

It has been recommended the interest rate be upped from 2 per cent to 3 or 4 per cent.

Cooper told a delegation of Kentucky REA directors "until the original objectives for which REA was established are fully carried out, I feel the Congress will continue its full support of this great and effective program."

J. K. Smith of Louisville, executive manager of the Kentucky REA Assn., said increased loan rates would attack "the very heart of our program."

All of the seven Kentucky congressmen attending the breakfast in Washington given by the Kentucky group assured directors of their support.

The manager of the Eastern Kentucky REA generating plant near Winchester, H. L. Sparlock, estimated the plant has served Kentuckians about 1 1/2 million dollars in power costs in three years.

Resources Of State Banks On Increase

Reserves of Kentucky banks increased more than $1 million dollars last year to a record-breaking high of $1,639,949,343, Banking Commissioner S. A. Phillips has reported.

He said net profits after taxes of the 278 banks was $10,662,697, compared with $9,139,666 the previous year.

Phillips said dividends paid on common and preferred stock totaled $3,743,269, leaving a net profit after dividends of $9,919,427, compared with $5,709,177 in 1956.

PROTEST-MQUNT

Pentagon proposals for reducing the strength of the Army National Guard have let loose a flash flood of protests. It appears that Congress will not permit a reduction in these reserves unless a conclusive showing is made that it will produce a stronger retaliating firing power in the event of an attack.

Support For Four Crops To Be 70 Percent

Gray Says This Will Be Figure For Oats, Barley, Rye, Sorghum

Roy C. Gray, Chairman of the ASC State Committee, today announced the national price support rates for 1958-crop oats, barley, rye and grain sorghum will be supported at levels reflecting 70 per cent of parity prices which is the same parity level as used for supporting these crops during the 1957 crop year. The national average support rates announced by Mr. Gray are:

- Oats—61 cents per bushel based on grade No. 2
- Barley—93 cents per bushel based on grade No. 2 or better.
- Rye—$1.10 per bushel based on grade No. 2 or better.
- Grain Sorghum—$1.83 per hundredweight based on grade No. 2 or better.

Mr. Gray stated that the Kentucky state and county support rates, which are usually about 9 cents higher than the national support rates, will be announced in the near future. He further stated that loans on these grains would be available at county ASC offices from the time of harvest to Jan. 31, 1959.

A Drowning Person Doesn't Rise 3 Times

"A drowning person always rises to the surface three times before finally sinking." Do you believe that? Are you positive? Imagine a lifeguard watching a swimmer struggling in the water and saying, "Plenty of time to save that fellow. He's only been down once." But a drowning man doesn't take time to count. He comes up as many times as he can—or as few.

Here's another old notion some people still believe. You may have heard it: "I don't have tuberculosis. If I had TB, I'd know from the symptoms." Do you believe that? Are you positive? You can feel perfectly healthy, and have TB. The symptoms: fatigue, loss of appetite and weight, chronic cough, fever and night sweats, indigestion, spitting blood—these are usually signs that the disease is well advanced. TB can progress quietly for months, even years, before obvious symptoms appear. The best time to look for TB is before you start to worry about it. Feel fit as a fiddle or low as a dachshund? Either way, you should have a regular physical check-up every year. Then, if you do catch TB, the doctor is most likely to find the disease in an early stage when it's easiest to cure. The farther the disease is allowed to advance, the longer and more difficult the cure. Thousands die of TB every year because their disease wasn't found and treated in time. You can be educational about that.

Ask your TB association about the new educational cartoon film, "Are You Positive?" Showings can be arranged for community groups.
