Rowan Fair Set Friday And Saturday

Event Opens At 10 A. M. Tomorrow With Parade On Main Street

Rowan County will be portrayed at its best Friday and Saturday at the annual Fair at the tobacco warehouse, a mile east of Morehead.

Fair Chairman Earl McBrayer said that everything is in readiness and that prospects are for an attendance record.

The Fair opens at 10 o'clock Friday morning with a parade of 3,000 children, floats, etc. starting at the Morehead Grade School on Flemingburg Road, and ending at Jayne Stadium.

The marching band of Morehead High will lead the parade. An innovation this year will be carnival rides at the tobacco warehouse.

Briefly, here is the program of events:

- 10:00 a. m. Friday—School Parade. 1:00 p. m. Friday—Athletic Events. 2:00 p. m. Friday—Tractor Driving Contest. 2:30 p. m. Friday—Bicycle Race. 3:00 p. m. Friday—Soap Box Derby. 7:00 p. m. Friday—Amateur Contest. 7:30 p. m. Saturday—Crowning of King and Queen, Prince and Princess. 10:00 a. m. to 11:00 a. m. Saturday—Pet Show Judging. 11:00 a. m. Saturday—Live Stock Show Judging.

Thousands upon thousands of farm and home items will be on display, all the way from rugs and quilts to homemaker dresses.

Canned goods and garden and farm products will have a major space in the exhibits.

Entrance to the Fair is free and there are no shows requiring an admission.

Baby sitters will be provided at the Fair grounds.

Commissions will be in charge of the Morehead Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Lions Throw Support For Bond Issue

Rowan Parents Association announced today that the club has agreed to support morally and physically in support of a new Rowan County High School.

Estimated cost of the building to replace the present Morehead High structure, is a million dollars.

The R. P. A. said the most feasible method to obtain the money is through a bond issue.

Date for the special bond vote has not been set, but has been talked for January or February.

A petition will be circulated to must bear the names of at least 25 per cent of the number who voted in the last general election.

Next meeting of the Parents Association is scheduled Oct. 20 at the MHS cafeteria.

Don't Phone To Find Out Where Fire Is

Did telephones, installed Sunday, have created a problem for the Morehead Fire Department.

Last week the City Manager said that fires should be reported by dialing State 4-5322, and that 24 hour service was provided.

Mayor Throws Switch To Convert Morehead Telephone System To Dial

The Morehead exchange of General Telephone was the site of 1:01 o'clock Sunday morning, without interruption to the telephone service, converted from common battery to dial operation.

The dial conversion project has been in process of preparation for many months, at a cost of approximately $400,000, and will affect 1,800 telephones.

The new dial equipment was placed in operation by Mayor William H. Layne, throwing the control switch in the new office, which was on a timed schedule for the conversion in the National Inter-Toll Dialing Network, whereby incoming long distance calls from other cities on the dial network are not handled by local operators but are mechanically handled by the new equipment to ring the Morehead exchange telephone by direct connection.

Present operators have been properly trained to handle the dialing of out-going long distance calls and information on both local and toll service.

The new two story telephone building on Second Street is of modern brick construction with the first floor providing space for a public lobby, personalized service commercial offices, telephone manager's office, plant assignment and District Plant Supervisor's office, the dial circuiting telephone and telegraph company.

On the second floor is the long distance operating room, equipped with ten positions toll board operator toll dialing designed to give fast and efficient service.

The Morehead office will be the toll center handling long distance calls for the exchanges of Owingsville, Olive Hill, West Liberty, Sandy Hook and Ezel.

Also included in the dial conversion program was the expansion of the cable and rural facilities with additional lines being provided for the handling of long distance calls.

Registration books will be reopened Nov. 10. An expected heavy registration is expected after Nov. 10 because of high interest in the May primary at which time gubernatorial and other state office nominees will be chosen.

Integration Issue BITTER

The Norfolk, Va. School Board has postponed the opening of high schools in that Virginia city while it pushes its legal fight against integration.

City Manager Felix Wellman said he had issued instructions to City Engineer G. E. Estep to answer the phone (ST-4322) a few minutes after the wires are sounded.

Wellman said it is surprising that more citizens try to ascertain location of the fire when they hear the siren.

THE CHANGE OVER—Mayor William H. Layne threw the switch at 1:01 Sunday morning which converted Morehead's 1,800 telephones to dials. George Strunk, left, district manager for General Telephone, and W. E. Crotcher, President of the Morehead Chamber of Commerce, watch the Mayor make the conversion. (Other pictures and news of the new phone system appear on page three of this section.)

Two persons were rushed to a Winchester hospital Sunday night after a truck in which they were riding struck a utility pole 12 miles east of Morehead at the intersection of U. S. 60 and Ky. 32.

The accident occurred about 10 p. m. State Building officials said.

Investigating officers said the truck, driven by Robert Murrell, 63, of Pikeville, was traveling north on U. S. 60 when he ran stop sign and skidded 130 feet in front of the utility pole.

Gary A. Murrell, 2, suffered a broken collar bone and Harvey Fry, another passenger in the truck, had a fractured skull.

Other passengers were Ellis Murrell and Charles A. Murrell.

Two juveniles from Bath County, ages 14 and 15, were placed in the Owingsville jail last week on charges of grand larceny.

The two boys were arrested in Fleming County by Sheriff Robert Stokely, after he became suspicious when they were making a filling station for gas.

The 1948 car in which they were riding had been stolen from a farm used car lot in Salt Lick, owned by Bob Frizzell.

Quits C. of C. The Grand Supreme Council, Chapter of Commerce at Franklin, Ky. quit the United States Grand Lodge of Commerce, Inc. because of the national body's policy on the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Contract Let At Frankfort Of Rowan County Portion Of Morehead-Vanceburg Road

The Department of Highways at Frankfort yesterday awarded a contract for paving the portion of the Rowan County part of the Morehead-Vanceburg Road, including a dream that North Fork, a Triplet residents have had for years.

The bituminous surfacing, preceded by additional rock, for the seven mile stretch, will cost $47,100. Low bidder was Kentucky Road Oiling Company, which has done extensive road work in Rowan County during the past two years.

Barring inclement weather the project could be completed by the target date of Oct. 31. The Highway Department will not approve any back-log laid after that date.

Highway Commissioner Ward Bates had announced he would put the contract in the contract in an effort to get the paving done by Oct. 31.

The Commissioner said in a letter that the Lewis County part of the road, which will connect the county seats of Morehead and Vanceburg, could not be built until next year because more rock and cement is needed. He also pointed out that several hill slides on the Lewis County portion had to be eliminated.

Completion of the seven miles long Rowan County all pavement stretch of the Morehead-Vanceburg road was reconstructed two years ago, but bills for re-surfacing in some places were not paid.

Completion of the road will put Morehead and Vanceburg in 45 minutes driving time, half of that now required because of the circuitous route through either Flemingburg or Olive Hill.

Lewis, Carter, Litton And Holbrook Seek Four-Year Position

Rowan County will have Board of Education races in two districts at the November general election as opposition developed for the incumbents before the filing deadline Saturday.

Incumbent Curt Lewis will be opposed for the four year term of District I by Mrs. Lydia Carter, Morehead retail store operator and wife of a former sheriff, Bill Carter.

District II comprises these precincts: Courthouse 1, Hogtown 4, Wagner 9, Lewis 11 and East Morehead 18.

A Morehead dentist, Dr. Harold Holbrook, filed against incumbent Sam Litton, Jr. in the 15th district, made up of the following precincts: Little Brushy 6, North Morehead 10, Big Brushy 20 and West Morehead 21.

Holders members of the Board are Russell Barker, Morehead; Fred Calvert, Farmer; and Ernest Binion, Haldeman.

Women may enter individual pairings will be announced.

Men and women teams will compete against each other.

Seventy standstills will be played at conclusion of the tournament to decide the champion.

Teams will make their own arrangements on the time and place the winners in each division are expected to meet at conclusion of the tournament to decide the champion.

The four man committee mentioned above will decide this week whether the championships will be awarded on number of victories, or high score, or both.

Prizes are expensive, Bellamy said, and will be awarded at the end of the tournament.

ALIEN BILL MADE LAW

President Eisenhower has signed a bill that allows aliens to adjust their legal status here without going through the traditional process of leaving and re-entering the United States. In the fiscal year that ended June 30, more than 75,000 aliens had to go to Canada, pick up a visa and return to the United States to meet requirements for a change of status. The new law permits the Department of Justice to approve their applications while they remain in the country.

Moreheadians Learn Phone Business Is Right Complicated

Those who took advantage of the invitation of General Telephone to inspect their new $400,000 dial installation and district office building at Morehead yesterday evening were agreeably surprised at the complexity of local and inter-toll dialing and future plans which make a great customer long distance dialing.

The new circuit has one party service for all who desire it, and if a party line user changes to better service he will retain the same number.

The charge for one party is higher than for a party line. Strunk said many patrons do not want to pay for the higher type service but there are plenty of lines if they want to change.

In the past new customers had to take a party line as the old switchboard and lines were overtaxed. Morehead has some eight party, four party and two party users.

As many have already discovered you can dial a local number by omitting the prefix 5T46.

However, General strongly advises against this, because the customer soon gets in the habit of advising out-of-town callers this is his number and when inter-toll the number, without the prefix, is incorrect and results in delay.

What is inter-toll dialing? This was a question many asked at open house.

Inter-toll dialing simply means that if you have the number of the party in another city which has inter-toll that the Morehead operator does not have to go through another exchange.

For example, if you were calling TWInbrook 5-1234 at Louisville, the long distance operator at Morehead would contact long distance at Louisville, but dial the number directly.

General explained that in the same manner if you are being called, the inter-toll dialing is the reason why Morehead has the State prefix.

Changes in the nation are now to inter-toll, and a call can be completed, if you have the number, to a number in a few seconds.

Customer dialing is in the experimental stage, but telephone executives believe it is coming.

If this is put in effect you can call TWInbrook 5-1234 at Louisville, yourself, without going through the local or any other long distance operator.

The time of the call, originating number, the number called, etc. are electronically recorded.

Winchester will be one of Kentucky's first exchanges to try customer dialing.

The number 4 which follows the prefix at Morehead is the special digit when, and if, customer dialing is available.

The new district office on Second Street has an outside night depository. Customers can drop their payment in this 24 hours a day without entering the building.

following: Olive Hill, Owingsville, West Liberty, Ezel and Sandy Hook.

Because of this Morehead is classified, in telephone vernacular, as a toll center.

The new Morehead exchange has ample inter-toll long distance circuits. For example, there are 10 direct to Cincinnati.

Bell Telephone has leased facilities in the Morehead exchange for carrier service going through these lines as press, transmissions as Associated Press, United Press, Telegraph, baseball and horse race results, etc.

There are 2,400 individual wires in each of the major conduits at the Morehead exchange. These are broken down in small units at the mechanical operations of the room-nerve center of the system.

One of the first complaints on dial came from a blind man at Clearfield who said he couldn't see to dial and couldn't remember many of the long dial numbers.

General anticipated this all he or any person seeking assistance on a call, has to do is dial '0', last digit on the phone.

However, blind and handicapped persons soon learn to dial as well as anyone else.

Members of the Kiwanis Club, City Commissioners and a few special guests had a preview of the new long distance exchange Tuesday evening.

Samuel S. Long, Jr., Lexington, elected and operating vice-president of Kentucky General Telephone Company, spoke briefly.

He said there will be a few bugs and some problems for several days as there always is when a system of this size is placed in operation.

He emphasized that no exchange in the nation has more modern design or is more efficient than the one at Morehead.

Long made a significant statement that the Kiwanis applauded the Morehead job. "I like a town the size of Morehead... you are large enough to be progressive, but small enough to be friendly."

Operators at the switchboard do their dialing a lot easier than you. Instead of the whirl type dial, they punch the numbers like an adding machine.

Officers in the new exchange are modern, fireproof and allow for expansion.

Most popular spots for the personnel are the recreation room where operators and others take their coffee breaks and the space provided for maintenance and construction employees where they can eat their lunch, etc.

In case all commercial power fails the Morehead system automatically switches to its own generating system. This is important in case of war, floods, etc. when power centers like Dix Dam and Clearmont.

Morehead gets its electric current, could be knocked out. The main cables are in a bomb proof room.

Conspicuous at last night's open house was a big basket of flowers from the Chamber of Commerce and scores of others from local business places. This is Mr. Long's statement that "we're large enough to be progressive, but small enough to know you."

The loyal alumni are about to pick up their minds whether the football team justifies the continuance of the institution of learning.

Wallace Retires At 62 As Game Commissioner, But His Tenure Was Colorful

Earl Wallace stepped down as commissioner of fish and wildlife resources recently after a 14-year career bringing accounts and assignments that earned him national wide recognition.

Under his management, junior conservation clubs, preservation of wild game, fishing lakes—all were diligently pursued and perfected under his guiding hand.

Wallace, at 62, physically unable to fulfill the duties of commissioner, was succeeded August 25 by Minor E. Clark, who had been assistant commissioner and director of fisheries.

Wallace, now serving as an editorial adviser for several publications, will be eligible for retirement in seven months.

Under his direction, Kentucky's fish and game management became recognized as one of the model programs in the nation.

Among his accomplishments: 14,000 to 30,000 farm ponds have been stocked with the proper balance of fish.

The farm ponds near Frankfort were established and some 100,000 baby quail are hatched there each year.

IRONING OUT YOUR TROUBLES—In any new installation as large as the Morehead dial system there are bound to be gimmicks. Some phones were out and others didn't dial properly Sunday morning. But, these are rapidly being worked out by the crew and others. General has some of its key personnel in Morehead this week to handle these initial problems.

MOST MODERN AVAILABLE—This is a portion of the automatic switching equipment necessary to give dial service and the new 25 numbering plan to Morehead telephone customers. General Telephone guides explained this, and other phases of the operation, at open house in their new building on Second Street yesterday.

COST LOT OF MONEY—General spent $400,000 for its dial system and new district telephone office at Morehead. This is a portion of the dial system in the event of commercial power failure. A popular spot with operators during coffee breaks.

THIS DIESEL POWERED EMERGENCY UNIT has been installed at Morehead's new telephone office to insure constant operation of the dial system in the event of commercial power failure. Master cables for the dials are enclosed in a bomb proof room.

Too Rapid Recovery From Recession Could Be Harmful

In Washington it is currently the vogue to debate the benignness of the present business recovery. Actually, some government officials are hopeful that the recovery will not be too rapid, touching off an uncontrolled spiral of sharp inflation.

On the other hand, business men are a little hesitant to accept the upturn as a permanent, broad business movement. Investors, who are active in the stock market, have accepted the business recovery, and the stock market has reflected the new economic turn for several months.

The latest indications are that business men who have been decreasing their inventories are slowing down this process and will probably halt it in the near future. And while there is still some pessimism, and while some areas of economic depression, the general picture is constantly improving.

New orders for durable goods are rising considerably, and the average work week in the manufacturing industry has increased. Residential building and the dollar value of new construction in August was very high.

From Brussels comes word that the World's Fair of 1938 will definitely conclude next month. This is saddening to those who had hoped to see the Fair, but who had not been able to get to Belgium this year, and to some who had spent some time there in 1938 and who hoped to return.

A World's Fair is a difficult thing to describe to one who has not visited it. Each country has its own personality, and World's Fairs have many various themes. However, the leading theme of the Brussels World's Fair was that of paving the way to a new and better life, and exhibiting those things which civilization and science have produced to make lives easier, more productive and more successful in other ways.

In past years, it has sometimes been possible to extend a World's Fair for another year. When one considers the vast expenditure which goes into such an event, it is unfortunate that such an elaborate opportunity must be abandoned at the end of one summer season.

In Brussels, a traditional village in the architecture of old Belgium has been constructed, and scores of countries had erected exhibits at a cost of millions and millions of dollars. They displayed the customs, traditions, products and beliefs of their country, and the visitor who could never visit all of these countries learned much by being able to attend the World's Fair and view the exhibits of so many of them in a short time.

It is too bad that the Brussels World's Fair is ending. Many Americans speculate on when Europe, and there is no doubt that many of them will miss the 1938 World's Fair, not having been able to attend this year, who have made it in 1939—possibly on new jet transports, flying from the United States to Europe in six hours.

Building At All Time High

The latest report on construction in the United States is eye-opening. While just a few months back the pace of construction seemed to be moderate, now it is headed for an all-time record year.

Construction contracts awarded in July—on which figures were finally tabulated in late August—totalled a hefty 24 percent increase over the same month of 1937. Taken with the heavy construction contracts awarded in May and June, the total makes the third month period from May through July a record quarter year in U. S. history.

These are some of the traditionally early signs of a recovery, but there are other signs—some of which are termed by economic experts as late signals of recovery. These include the trend of employment and unemployment, industrial production, personal income, retail sales, etc.

The key to the present recovery probably lies in some of the props which the government has built into the economy since the depression of the 1930's. The Federal government increased spending tremendously this year, and many millions of workers actually obtained federal pay increases.

These increases, added to the millions of social security payments, the steady and increased military salaries of millions, and the unemployment insurance and other stabilizing influences, obviously prevented another depression from developing. Even if there is a strike in the automobile industry, we believe the economy is on the upswing for a period of some years. Too many signs of recovery are now apparent to justify any other conclusion.

Modern Churches Are Different

The modern church, little as we may think of it, is a blessing which we seldom appreciate to the fullest degree. Think, for a moment, back to the years when conditions were not nearly as stable and organized as they are today.

The modern church is freed from the horrible rites and hideous customs that man once practiced—and practiced in the name of religion! Gone are the days when animals and small children were sacrificed to appease the angry gods.

Also gone are the days when beautiful maidens were shamed and slain in the orgies of the temple as common occurrences.

In these periods there was a sinister, crafty priesthood which fattened itself on the superstitions of the people. The exploitations and corruption of the priesthood and of religious fanatics who demanded allegiance to their claims, that their religion was the only religion, was a terrible handicap in the path of progress.

Also gone, for the most part, are the terrible wars caused by religious fanaticism, the untold sufferings and death caused by these selfish and truculent views. The great lesson which has been taught by all these years and such suffering is that religious intolerance and fanaticism is often a major evil in itself.

Today most of us are born under the blessing of churches which labor in behalf of society, working for peace and good will, with exploitation and corruption at a minimum. The collective work of the churches, therefore, is greater today than ever before in history, and all of us should contribute our small share, however small it may be.

Beauty Just Isn't Everything

The first Miss America, Margaret Gorman, who was sixteen when she came to Atlantic City in 1921 and was named the first Miss America, says that beauty isn't everything.

She offers some sterling advice to the young things of today, in her opinion, the world on which she is now. Mrs. Victor Cahill, and is reported to seldom think of her fame as the first of the thirty-one Miss Americas. (Says she to the new Miss America: "You will be Miss America for only one short year, and then you will just be you, all the rest of your life. Being Miss America doesn't mean you will get a lot of money. Don't expect too much. And remember that being Miss America is very important for Miss America, but most other persons don't really care.")

Class Of 1933-34 Interested In Playing Once More At M'head

Editor, The News: Paul (Mosie) Combs and I were together the other day and agreed to write you because of your interest for the past 30 years in Morehead College and its athletic teams.

As you know we had a right good record in basketball in 1933-34 and it occurred to us that that team could be brought back to the new fieldhouse this year for a short in-between game. We could have as our opponents some other team, a mixture of former stars from other Eagle teams.

Some of the players on the 1933-34 team, besides myself, are: Paul Combs, Lewisburg, Va.; Sprout Johnson, Carr Creek, Ky.; Caudill, Morehead; Tommy Ryan, Mayville; Doc Adams, Louisville; and Fred Caudill, Morehead.

College records will probably show where the others have settled. It has been a quarter century since we played our own time flies. The college could make this an annual affair of "Return of Quarter Century Terrors and next season the 1934-35 team could be invited.

It had been many years since we had met and through the following months we shared many happy moments together as we turned back the pages of yesterday and re-lived our girlhood days. In memory we walked hand in hand on the campus of the Old Morehead Normal School or sat together in the chapel and listened to the great Dr. G. Butler as he spoke to us. Memories, golden

Martin Is Criticized For Decision

Politics as practiced in neighboring Kentucky never ceases to be interesting. Governor Chandler the other day transferred the Division of Property Utilization from the Department of Finance.

Dr. Robert Martin, superintendent of public instruction, criticizes "politics" over the chance. "Happy" happily admits that politics at least had a bearing on the matter.

Dr. Martin has taken on the job as Bert Combs' campaign manager in the gubernatorial race, but refused to quit as superintendent of public instruction. As head of the state's school system he is openly engaging in politics and has found himself out-politicked by a master at the game.

Governor Chandler takes a realistic view about the whole squabble. He declared: If there is to be politics in the division we want it to be ours, not theirs. While Dr. Martin is managing the schools campaign Governor Chandler is working for his man, Harry Lee Waterfield.

Unhappily, public school systems usually are involved in politics. By managing a political campaign while remaining school superintendent Dr. Martin has put them in deeper. In this case the eye of politics is most unconventioning. The pot is calling the kettle black.—(Huntington Herald-Dispatch).

Waterfield Says He Will Win Regardless Of His Opposition

By Paul R. Jordan
(Associated Press Staff Writer)
Could Lee Gov. Harry Lee Waterfield win the Democratic nomination for Governor? He says he will win by a substantial margin no matter how few enter the May 26 primary next year.

Opposing him thus far are Wyatt, of Louisville, and Combs, of Prestonsburg, the so-called anti-administration candidates, and Hubert Carpenter also of Louisville.

Waterfield's expression of victory was contained in the answers to 10 questions he was asked about the primary race.

1. You have stated you will run on the state administration record. How would you weigh the pros and cons of this record?
Waterfield—I have stated I would run on the record of the past 20 years, 16 of which have been as a member of the General Assembly.

2. Do you feel Chandler's personal support for you will be an asset?
Waterfield—I suppose this question is designed to inquire whether I consider the support of the state administration to be an asset. The precise answer is that I do. Governor Chandler's personal support will be an asset and the personal support of every other member of the state administration will be an asset.

3. If the three other gubernatorial candidates remain in the primary, will this strengthen your position?
Waterfield—I am not a sectional man or a sectional candidate. A section of the state from which his best efforts to the entire state. I have tried to observe this par-mount rule of government in every position in which I have served. My strength, I would hope, will come from all sections of the state.

8. Wyatt and Combs have been campaigning hard for months, as you know, now when will your campaign pick up a full head of steam?
Waterfield—I like to put first things first. I am interested in the success of the November election. On the November, 1958, election. Eight Democrats and four members of the Court of Appeals are to be elected in November. I previously have called attention to the November, 1958, election. I urge all Democrats to support the Democratic candidates in that election. I again urge Democrats to give their best efforts to the candidates in the November election. I will not permit my campaign to interfere with the efforts of these candidates and I will undertake to time my efforts so that these candidates are helped and not hindered.

REFORMATORY CHAPEL—Prisoners of Kentucky Reformatory, LaGrange, erected the above Chapel from surplus materials obtained from Fort Knox. The 30x28 building, with extending porches for offices and meeting rooms, was dedicated last week. Taking part in the dedication ceremony were State Commissioner Charles Alphin, Warden Dan Gray, Chaplains Thomas A. Steele and Father William Deirson, and Charles Kammer who represented the Louisville Area Council of Churches. Few and some furnishings for the Chapel were made by institution inmates in the Reformatory Workshop. The Reformatory Committee of the Church Council is seeking donations of additional equipment and furnishings.

This Is Season For Farmers To Sterilize Plant Beds; Filing Time For Gas Refunds

By Adrian M. Razor

Chairman Refuses Wilson Wyatt Band

A teenage band from Louisville supporters of Democratic gubernatorial aspirant Wilson Wyatt, refused admittance to the Fayette County Young Democratic Club barbeque last night at Keeneland Race Course, Lexington.

Later the Wyatt supporter declared that the prohibitions for the barbeque were made at an "executive session" of the club. Wyatt was told there would be no banners and no demonstrations, he said, but nothing was said about the band. The band has played with Wyatt at other affairs.

The United States has prodded the Soviet Union for an answer to its proposal for talks on preventing a surprise attack. A note delivered by the United States Embassy in Moscow acknowledged Soviet willingness to discuss, beginning Oct. 31 in Geneva, a permanent ban on nuclear tests. However, the State Department attaches considerable importance to the surprise attack issue than to the nuclear test issue.

YOUTH HELPS HIM TO DO SO MUCH

Banker, Mayor Phil Smith Has Added Duties, Heading College

Statewide attention is being focused on Phil Smith, graduate of Morehead State College, who has taken on the duties of bank president, church leader, mayor and college president. Mr. Smith is widely known in Morehead and this part of Kentucky. He married Barbara Hogge, daughter of Harry and Mrs. Lester Hogge of Morehead. The following story was written by Gerald Griffin and appeared in the Louisville Courier-Journal.

The personable, friendly young Mayor of Jackson, J. Phil Smith, is an enthusiastic man of many parts. Not only is he Mayor of the Breathitt County seat, but he also is president of his town's First National Bank and is serving, temporarily at least, as president of Lee's Junior College. And he's only 34.

Devout religious, Mayor Smith is lay leader for the Lexington District of the Methodist Church. He is enthusiastic about his thriving town and his adopted county. Don't call it "Bloody Breathitt" in front of him. To him, it's "Beautiful Breathitt," with its rugged, forest-covered mountains and agriculturally productive valleys studied with recently installed oil wells.

A native of Knott County, Mayor Smith came by his banking, naturally. His father, the late Hilliard H. Smith, once served as state banking commissioner. When he succeeded his father as president of the bank at Jackson, he was only 27, the youngest bank president in Kentucky. Mayor Smith is a graduate of the Hindman Settlement School. He attended the University of Kentucky for a year and then was graduated from Morehead State College. He served in the Army for two years during World War II.

As Mayor and a Republican at that, in a Democratic community, Smith draws a nominal salary of $15 a month, which he promptly turns back to the treasury. But he pointed out, all the councilmen turn their salaries back, too.

As acting president of Lee's Junior College, for which he receives no pay, he is the only non-Presbyterian on the school's board of trustees. Lee's is a Presbyterian institution with about 250 students. He says it has the potential of becoming one of the finest junior colleges anywhere.

No More Friction

Until Smith took over as president, there always has been a bit of friction between the college and the town, as often is the case. But that is no longer the case. His first act at the college was to offer the use of its fine new gymnasium and Student Union Building to the Breathitt County High School basketball team, which had been barred from using those facilities. The gymnasium now is used as a recreation building for all the children of Jackson.

Within a week after he took over as president, the painting of the stadium began, fence rows were cleaned out and other repairs long past due got under way.

As a churchman, Mayor Smith teaches a Sunday School class in the Methodist Church, leads a church singing, plays the piano and even substitutes for the minister on occasions. He is on the board of directors of the Deshae Scott Orphanage School between Jackson and Breathitt.

"Love of service to my fellow man was born and bred in me," Smith said, "and I believe that is the duty of every man to give his best first to the church and then to the community."

The youthful civic and religious leader moved to Jackson from Hindman about 10 years ago. Now he wouldn't live anywhere else, I love the people here."

On The Move

Speaking of Breathitt County, Mayor Smith said, "We are on the move, however, he hopes that the county some day will have several small industries. A wood-working factory would do well in the county, he said, because of the abundance of available timber, labor and material. He believes that both his town and county are progressing.

Mayor Smith married the former Barbara Hogge of Morehead. They have three sons.

Besides his other achievements, Mayor Smith is Republican chairman of Breathitt County.

Kentucky Schools To Get Canned Foods

Kentucky is one of several states in the Southeast area that will receive cases of canned food from the U.S. Department of Agriculture this fall for use in school lunches.

The USDA is supplying these foods to schools participating in the national school lunch program to help meet the nutritional needs of children. Buying was started this summer so that most of the food would be available to schools early in the school year. Other regions in the United States will receive their allotted foods within the next few weeks. Kentucky will receive the following foods: 17,324 cases of canned peaches, 2,758 cases of blackberries, and 10,624 cases of green stone peaches. 20 cartons of canned green peas, 20 cartons of canned blackberries, and 31 cartons of frozen ready-to-cook turkeys.

Among the foods acquired and distributed under these programs are: nonfat dry milk solids; rice cheddar cheese; butter, rice flour and enriched cornmeal.

Other Southeastern states and U.S. possessions co-operating in the school lunch program are Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia, and Puerto Rico and Virgin Islands. The total supply of foods to be currently distributed among the several states includes 148 cartons of canned fennel and ching stone peaches, 20 cartons of canned green peas, 20 cartons of canned blackberries, and 31 cartons of frozen ready-to-cook turkeys.

Hunting, Fishing Is Now Big Business

Hunting and fishing were a multi-million dollar industry in Kentucky last year, says an article in the current Kentucky Business Magazine, published by the State Chamber of Commerce.

The article, by Harry Towles of the State Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, said the average sportsman spends $120 a year. Applied to the 700,000 Kentuckians who indulged in hunting and fishing last year, this means that this recreational activity produced $84,000,000, said Towles.

The 700,000 sportsmen consisted of 400,000 who bought fishing licenses and 300,000 who bought hunting licenses in Kentucky last year. The department operates entirely on money collected from the sale of hunting and fishing licenses.

The sportsman's dollar has enabled the department to attain tangible results. Streams, lakes and ponds have been stocked with billions of fish native to Kentucky waters. Continued propagation of game—deer, quail, dove, the ruffed grouse and other species—has resulted in fine hunting with prospects for an excellent season this year, Towles said.

He added: Hunters bag as many as 3,000,000 squirrels annually in Kentucky. Last year Kentucky's dove crop ranked third among the states, with 1,500,000 bagged. About 1,300 buck deer were taken last year—23 by bow hunters.

About 3,500 acres of public shooting ground are available to duck and geese hunters. More than 3,000,000 rabbits were killed by hunters in 1957. Last year's quail kill totaled more than 4,000,000.

West Liberty May Resume Grid Sport

A movement to resume football as a major sport in the Morgan County High School at West Liberty is underway. The sport was discontinued four years ago, but many sports fans have sought to have it reinstated. Now they are circulating a petition to determine how many firms and individuals will support football financially. Solicited are pledges to buy season tickets and to donate funds to buy football uniforms. Businessmen and individuals already have promised to buy 12 uniforms, but eight or ten more are needed. Each outfit costs $35.

Retailers Look For Christmas Business Upturn

Retailers are most optimistic concerning sales prospects during the fall and Christmas selling season, according to a survey by the National Retail Merchants Association of 225 executives of department and specialty stores. Apparent is expected to spark an upturn in consumer buying, according to the executives, whose stores have total annual sales of more than $2.5 billion. Other information from the survey: 55 per cent of the executives expect second half sales to rise an average of four per cent over sales for the same period of last year; 29 per cent foresee second half sales matching comparative 57 figures and only 19 per cent anticipate a decline in sales volume during this six-month period.

State Gains 22 Industries In 8 Months

Economic Development Board Believes Future Is Bright

Kentucky has gained 22 new and 10 expanded industries during the first eight months of 1958, the Department of Economic Development reported this week.

This represents a total capital investment of just less than 40 million dollars, Commissioner George W. Hubley, Jr. told Gov. A. B. Chandler in a memorandum.

Hubley said the 1958 capital investment figure already twice as much as the total invested in equipment throughout all of 1957.

These new figures, he added, mean that since Jan. 1, 1956, industry has invested 211 million dollars in facilities in Kentucky, creating more than 18,000 new jobs, or 75 million per year in additional payrolls.

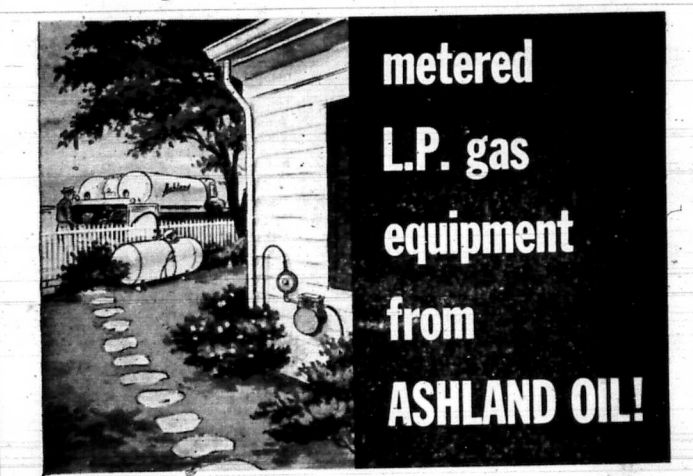

Hubley said during the past decade capital investment in new and expanded manufacturing buildings and equipment in Kentucky exceeds two billion dollars.

"This dollar figure represents the greatest economic change over to take place in any decade in Kentucky's history."

"The magnitude of this achievement is best realized when compared with the two and four-tenth billion dollars added in the course of the entire state of Kentucky, according to a 1957 report by the Bureau of the Census."

Hubley said most of the two billion dollar investment came from governmental sources, with approximately 750 million being invested by private interests.

Happy riding... on modern, smooth-riding concrete

There's no "fighting the wheel"

...new-type concrete gives you the smoothest ride ever!

No bouncing and bumping! No dips and waves! Only concrete can be laid so that... placed and leveled to such highly accurate engineering standards—not just pounded into shape.

Expect that smooth ride to last 50 years or more—for two big reasons. The first is the concrete itself, supported by a specially designed subbase that gives it greater strength. Second is "air entrainment," a new process that prevents surface roughening by freezing and de-icers.

Sound reasons why concrete is the preferred pavement for the Interstate System and other vital roads.

Concrete increases in strength year by year.

Concrete actually improves with age—gets up to 20% stronger in five years. Here's a durability "bonus" you can't get with any other material. Concrete tests under laboratory conditions prove it. It's another reason why concrete lasts longer, costs less to maintain.

Important Recent Change In Social Security Is Greatly Expanded Benefits

Robert A. Flynn, manager of the Ashland Social Security District Office, said that some important changes have been made in your social security as a result of the Social Security Amendments of 1956 which President Eisenhower signed into law on Aug. 28.

All of the changes, directly or indirectly, affect the American public as a whole. Working persons—employed and self-employed—need to know about them, their families need to know about them.

In the articles to follow I shall describe the changes simply and in detail. Today I shall restrict myself to a summary of the most important changes designed to strengthen this Federal social insurance system which provides partial protection against loss of earned income upon the retirement, death, or total disability of the worker.

Most important, because it affects practically all working people and their families, is the increase in benefit amounts. This applies to those now getting benefit payments and to those who will become beneficiaries in the future.

Most monthly benefit checks will be about seven per cent higher, with a minimum increase of at least $3 in the amount payable to a worker who retired at age 62 or later. (Women who retired who began to receive benefits at any time between age 62 and age 65 will receive slightly larger increases.) The maximum monthly payment a family may receive is increased from $20 to $25 a month. Families now receiving maximum benefits under the law will receive increases from $7.50 to $8.44 depending upon the deceased worker's average monthly wages.

Right here I want to point out that people now on the beneficiary rolls do not have to get in touch with the social security office to obtain these benefit increases. The larger amounts are effective with January and will show up on benefit checks for that month which will go in the mails early in February.

As you know, benefit amounts are figured from a working person's average earnings. Right now, only earnings up to a total of $4,200 in a year can be credited to a worker's social security account. Beginning with 1959, however, earnings up to $4,800 will be creditable and taxable for social security purposes.

Social security taxes will be increased beginning with 1959. An employed person will have 2½ per cent taken out of his pay instead of the present 2½ per cent; his employer will contribute 2½ per cent also. The self-employment social security tax will be increased ½ of 1 per cent and will become 2½ per cent of net earnings up to $4,800 in the year. Self-employed people will pay at this increased rate for the year 1960 with the tax return they make early in 1960.

Important changes have been made in the disability insurance provision in the law. If a worker, age 50-64, is getting monthly disability benefits because he is too disabled for further substantial gainful work, payments can be made to his dependents just like the payments made to old age insurance beneficiaries. Moreover, a person entitled to social security disability benefits no longer has the amount of his benefit payment reduced or withheld because he is receiving disability payments from some other federal or state source.

The amended law also makes it easier for people whose disabilities develop gradually to qualify for either cash disability payments or the disability "freeze." This is brought about through a change in the work requirements. It is no longer necessary that the worker have at least 10 years of social security credit out of the three years before he became disabled. The standards for determining disability remain the same. A person must still be unable to perform substantial, gainful work. The new requirement is that the worker be fully insured and have 20 quarters of coverage out of the calendar quarters before he became disabled.

Other changes have been made in the social security law, including several relating to benefits for dependents. I shall address the subject in my next article.

Any questions you may have concerning social security may be answered by calling the Social Security Administration District Office at 411 19th Street, Ashland, Ky. Hours of office are 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., Monday through Friday (except national holidays).

Says France Needs More Bookmobiles

A young French girl, spending a two-month observation tour in this country, wished Friday that her country had more bookmobiles like Kentucky's.

Miss Suzanne LeBlanc said there are a few bookmobiles in France but "we still need more." She works for the United States Information Service Library at Four, France.

She returned Friday from a tour through East Kentucky, where she visited the regional library at Prestonsburg.

Claim 43 Deputy Sheriffs Too Many

A judge has deferred a ruling on Johnson County Fiscal Court's attempt to reduce Sheriff Wince Trimble's platoon of deputies.

Circuit Judge W. D. Sparks completed the hearings last week at Paintsville.

Trimble has 43 deputies, three of them on the payroll.

Fiscal Court contended there is all Trimble needs. It claimed the right under state law to approve all deputies.

Chrysler And G. M. Move To Settle Strike

General Motors and Chrysler offered the United Auto Workers financially sweetened three-year contracts this week in an effort to head off strikes.

The General Motors offer closely paralleled that on which the UAW and Ford settled last week. That pact came after a seven-hour strike involving 38,000 Ford workers.

It carried an estimated 24 to 26 cents more hourly spread over the three years.

GM faces a strike at 11 a. m. Sept. 30, unless it settles by then. Chrysler has a union strike warning without a specified date.

John D. Leary, Chrysler vice president and chief bargainer, declined to discuss details, but added he understood his bid for labor peace was similar to Ford's.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther, who picked Chrysler as possibly the quicker to wrap up, said he still was hopeful of a quick settlement for Chrysler's 70,000 unionists, but that some language in its offer differed "from that in other offers and we want to study it."

Laymen Eligible For Co. Health Boards

Under a new law, the State Board of Health may appoint lay members to a county health board in counties not having three resident physicians.

The county boards usually have five members—three physicians, the county judge and a member appointed by fiscal court.

Before an act of the 1958 Legislature, counties could not have as board members, in place of any of the physicians, dentists, pharmacists or other persons capable of understanding community health problems.

The State Department of Health has pointed out other actions of this year's Legislature which helped solve public health problems:

The way was cleared for the department to supply tuberculosis drugs to patients released from T.B. hospitals through out-patient clinics.

A program for rehabilitation of alcoholics was started under which they could be committed to a designated mental hospital.

The water pollution control program was improved.

The Louisville Eye Bank was legalized and any person authorized to bequest part of his anatomy to an institution approved by the state board.

The state health commissioner was made a member of an advisory committee on nuclear energy.

A dental scholarship program was provided under which a student may receive as much as $1,000 a year for school expenses if he agrees to practice in a rural community for a year for each $1,000 grant.

The voluntary dental health insurance plan was each authorized modeled after medical plans.

Barbiturate and narcotic laws were strengthened.

Central registration of marriages, divorces, annulments and adoptions throughout the Commonwealth was made a responsibility of the state health department.

A community health officer was authorized to serve in more than one county and to appoint an assistant for each county served.

Counties passing the county health tax can now use the tax money for building health centers as well as for operating and maintaining the department.

Company At Burnside May Be Reorganized

Gov. Albert B. Chandler and the State Department of Economic Development have been praised for their part in formulating a plan to reorganize the Cumberland Corporation, Burnside.

Thomas N. Peck, president of Cumberland Corporation, a $2,300,000 charcoal plant, said Allen & Co., prominent New York investment bankers and Eggenmeyer Finance and Equipment Co., Inc., Jacksonville, Fla., have formed Burnside Corporation with $500,000 paid-in capital, for the purpose of reorganizing the firm.

William McClelland, president of the Foremost Co., said Gov. Chandler and the Economic Development Department were "instrumental in bringing this proposition to the attention of Allen & Co."

He said various persons of the department's staff prepared research and gave testimony that were important to the court and his firm's decision to assume control of the Cumberland Corporation.

The Cumberland firm was formed in the summer of 1955 and construction of the plant was completed in March, 1957. The company filed voluntary bankruptcy early this year following a series of engineering difficulties.

The plant has a rated capacity of 75 tons a day of charcoal briquettes. Peck said upon rehabilitation the new company would consider an expansion of production to include recovery of gases, wood distillates and other chemicals.

When in operation, the plant is expected to employ from 60 to 100 persons and have an annual payroll of approximately $300,000, Peck said.

Ayrshire Is Purchased By Wayne Black

Wayne Black, Clearfield recently made an initial purchase of a registered Ayrshire, according to the Ayrshire Breeders' Association Secretary, David Gibson, Jr., of Brandon, Vt.

The transaction was recorded in the National Office of the Ayrshire Breeders' Association in Brandon, Vt., where complete records on all registered Ayrshires in the United States have been maintained since 1873.

Because of their ability to produce at a low cost an abundance of milk with an average butterfat test of four per cent, the Ayrshire breed of dairy cattle has become increasingly popular with dairymen throughout the country.

Flue Cured Leaf Poor But Price Is Good

The opening week of flue-cured tobacco sales on the North Carolina-Virginia Old Belt was characterized by higher average prices on most grades and much poorer quality as compared with the first week last year.

The Federal State Market News Service reported volume heavy on Monday, the first day of sales became extremely light the rest of last week.

On the North Carolina Middle Belt, demand strengthened during the week, pushing grade averages to their highest levels of the season. The market news service also reported quality of the leaf was the best so far this season.

The highest average price since opening week was recorded on the Eastern North Carolina Belt last week. Demand was stronger for most grades, quality showed improvement over the week before and volume was the heaviest of the season.

The Cardinals Border Belt recorded its best prices of the season during the week. Volume was fairly heavy for the area as a whole.

The Virginia markets sold 7,186,155 pounds for $56.15 and North Carolina centers sold 8,328,414 for $57.60.

Maysville Firm Plans Branch Store At Mhead

McHugh Brothers Auto Suppliers, located at 131 West Third Street, Maysville, announced this week they will open a branch store in Morehead in the very near future.

To be managed by Ed McHugh, the Morehead firm will be located on Railroad Street in the old Citizens Bank Building.

The store will handle the line of accessories, DuPont Paints, Libby Owens glassware and a complete line of tools and equipment.

The question of where to park is becoming increasingly difficult of solution, even in the small cities of the land.
