Sheep For E. Kentucky Discussed

Five Counties Hope To Accelerate Program This Spring
Farmers from five counties Monday discussed the scarcity of sheep in Eastern Kentucky. The speakers were: Dr. W. P. Garrigus, head of the animal industry department at the University of Kentucky; R. C. Miller, sheep specialist from UK, discussed several ways residents could go about buying sheep.

The group decided that persons in each county would buy sheep individually. It was pointed out that farmers are not having much extra income by not having sheep. Generally, each county has about 10 flocks of sheep, with 30 head apiece. The group said that, within five years, each county would like to have 2,000-2,500 head.

Two events were set to promote sheep-raising. One is a sheep shearing school, set for April 19 at West Liberty, for persons newly acquiring sheep. A "sheep feed day" is set for May 5 at Morehead, during which farmers will tour several farms, hear speakers and have a lamb barbecue.

Employees At Morehead Company Work 308,000 Hours With Six Days Lost Time

An award for an outstanding safety record was presented Monday to the Morehead Company, West Main Street garment plant. Jack E. Marble representing the Employers Mutual of Wausau, said that only six days were lost last year by employees out of 308,000 man hours. The six days lost time resulted from two minor accidents.

Plant Manager Steve Blythe told employees, "you are to be commended. It is through your cooperation this fine safety record was achieved."

The Morehead Company employs about 220 people who come from seven counties of the area, many commuted daily.

The present weekly payroll is $11,000, or over a half million dollars a year.

The finished garments are shipped to every state in the union. In addition to the modern West Main Street plant, the concern has a considerable rented space for storage of raw materials and finished products.

Records show the plant has not had a lost-time accident in the last 150 days.

Blythe said peak employment at the plant is 230, or only 10 more than are now working.

Vencill Rites Are Conducted Wednesday

Lingering Illness Fatal To Widely Known Morehead Citizen
Funeral services for Henry G. (Gus) Vencill, Morehead citizen, were conducted Tuesday afternoon at the Morehead Methodist Church with burial in Brown Cemetery.

Mr. Vencill, who lived on Flemingsburg road, died Monday afternoon of a lingering illness which forced hospitalization.

He was 62 years of age, being born in Morehead, Oct. 11, 1895, son of the late C. W. and Nana (Fanning) Vencill.

E. Kentucky In Throes Of 'Frustration'

Chamber Of Commerce Speaker Says Morehead's Future Brighter

"Frustration exists in most of Eastern Kentucky," James Patton, Director of Vocational Education in Kentucky, told the Morehead Chamber of Commerce at a dinner meeting in Doran Student House Tuesday.

He called upon his audience to "review our past mistakes and plan for the future" and recommended an eight-point program to help the area which he said had "overcoming paralysis."

The speaker recalled the story of a manufacturer who located in Cincinnati, "near enough to get the good labor from Eastern Kentucky, but far enough away so he wouldn't have his plant and home midst our suffering and waning economy."

Patton stressed better schools as "a must" and "improvement in our towns and cities mandatory to prevent the spread of mental, physical and economic paralysis."

The Vocational Director told of a survey he made in an Eastern Kentucky county. He was the Superintendent of Schools there. "We found that 90 per cent of our high school graduates migrated to other states."

"Morehead is somewhat different from other Eastern Kentucky communities," he pointed out. "Here you have a large and growing population and excellent leadership. You are close enough to the distressed counties to attract their labor supply and possibly on the fringe of the Bluegrass which means that your standards of living and housing are more metropolitan and advanced."

Patton painted a favorable picture of the county's future with completion of the Interstate Highway, its present favorable status as a growing town, and the programs that are being carried out. But, he was pessimistic about the rest of Eastern Kentucky.

Another guest speaker on the Chamber's program, Rev. Ray Allen, called for the people of Rowan County to vote for a bond issue to construct a new high school building and possibly other physical improvements. Allen represented the Citizens League seeking passage a bond issue to raise school taxes 50 cents on each $100 valuation.

Allen said that a religious and moral issue. The Pastor of the Christian Church told the businessmen guests.

"But, from a pure business standpoint, it should be passed," he said. "The county needs a school building to locate in a community that has sub-standard public education."

He said that the present Rowan County High School had twice as many students as the old building and that the new building is a plumbling system is so bad at the high school that the fireman has to build up 20 pounds of pressure, because of the leaks. This is a dangerous situation.

The Citizens League announced the printing next week of 10,000 illustrated brochures showing the "drastic need" for the new building and "the small amount it will cost the average taxpayer."

Allen told the group that a 39 year limit for retirement of the bonds would be included in the question on the ballot.

In keeping with past custom the Chamber served old Kentucky country hance and cherry pie since George Washington was born in February and it is also Valentine month.

In welcome speech Morehead College President Adron Doran outlined growth and plans for the institution and said the Chamber of Commerce "has a played a major part in our achievements through your continued cooperation and continuing support."

President W. E. Crutcher presided at the gathering while dinner was provided by Leslie Wolfelin and his woodland settable.

Sandy Hook Woman Hurt In Auto Accident Monday

A Sandy Hook woman was injured by an early Monday morning east of Morehead's city limits when a car in which she was a passenger struck the highway and skidded into a ditch.

Mrs. Clarice Lyons, 56, was treated at an Ashland hospital for a broken arm and minor abrasions. Driver of the vehicle was her husband, Mr. Lyons, 65, Sandy Hook. State Police officers said Lyons lost control of his car when he passed over the highway on Feb. 17 at about 6:30 p. m.

Co-Op Meeting Set At West Liberty

Approximately 64 members of Southern States Cooperative's central office. In addition, there will be a general discussion period.

Southern States district manager, Tommie C. Gentry, of Morehead, is in charge of arrangements for the meeting and will act as moderator of the discussion period. Kenneth B. Stewart of Wildie, a director of the Cooperative, will preside at the meeting.

P. E. Mullinix of the cooperative's central offices in Richmond, Va., will present the mid-year report and discuss the role of Southern States in a changing agriculture.

Expecting to attend the meeting are the Morehead area area William T. Garcy, Manager of Rowan Farmers' Supply at Morehead; Leiland H. John D. Caudill, Earl Moore, Bert Dean, all of Smith, and Curt Evans, of Farmers.

Board members attending the session, will hear a report on Southern States operations during the first six months of the 1958-59 fiscal year. There will also be a report on "Southern States in a Changing Agriculture," presented by a representative from the organization's central office.

UMW To Fight For Increased Wages

The secretary-treasurer of the United Mine Workers said this week the union will not lower its wage demands for 19 Harlan County operators.

The only contract the union could sign at Harlan is the one that has been signed by other large commercial mines," added John Owens.

He said if concessions were granted one group, they would have to be passed along to all.

The contracts call for $24.25 a day but operators argue that such payments would bankrupt them.

The UMW, claiming 90 per cent of the nation's mines are under contract, already has served strike notice on the Harlan County operators. It expires March 8.

Owens came to Harlan from Washington to look over the situation. He also deposited one million dollars in two local banks but offered no explanation.

Clay D. Dussell, president of the Harlan County Coal Operators Association, said it is still negotiating with the UMW, in hopes something could be worked out.

There are about 5,000 UMW members in the county, most of them employed at independent mines.

Last year, the county produced eight million tons of coal.

Among those who have signed UMW contracts are U. S. Steel at Lynch, Peabody Coal Corp. at Alva, and the Stonega Coal and Coke Co., Glenbrook.

Vincent Joins Highway Dept. Legal Staff

Highway Commissioner Ward J. Oates has announced the appointment of former Daviess County Judge Norris Vincent as head of the legal staff of the highway department's Division of Right of Way.

Vincent, 41, of Owensboro, heads the division's legal staff as a $745-a-month assistant division director under Director Carl H. Bradley.

A former FBI man, Vincent last year was president of the Kentucky Welfare Association and was acting as state chairman of the White House Conference on children and youth. He has been active in working with juveniles and aided in establishing the Jevy Memorial home at Owensboro.

Vincent began his new duties Feb. 2. The division's legal staff includes five other attorneys in the central office at Frankfort and one in each of the department's six area offices.

Oates, Bradley, and Astor Hogg, chief assistant attorney general, met with Vincent to discuss the department's legal staff. Vincent expressed pleasure upon obtaining Vincent to head up the legal staff of the right of way division.

With Kentucky's expanding road program, they pointed out, there has been a corresponding increase in legal matters pertaining to right of way acquisition and condemnation proceedings to obtain right of way.

As a result, Bradley said, the legal staff of the division has had to be increased to handle the growing amount of work. The department's Law Division represents the highway agency in general legal matters and provides legal advice to the commissioner and other administrators.

Bennison In Army Maneuvers In Germany

Pfc Kenneth R. Bennison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Bennison, 106 Knapp Avenue, Morehead, participated Feb. 7 with the 4th Armored Division in Exercise Free Play, a large-scale Seventh Army field training exercise in Germany.

The maneuver, which matched the 4th against the 3rd Infantry Division under simulated combat conditions, was designed to determine the readiness of units and to provide further training in the various concepts of modern warfare. The exercise involved 50,000 men, 7,000 vehicles, 250 light Army planes and 60 jet aircraft.

Bennison, assigned to Headquarters Company of the 4th's Combat Command A, entered the Army in May, 1957 and received basic combat training at Fort Hood, Texas. He arrived in Europe in December, 1957.

Dreaded Ellis Island Will Be Sold

The government is still trying to get rid of Ellis Island, near New York.

A 27-acre piece of land fill and rock in New York harbor, the island was once the first stopping place for thousands of immigrants on their way to the mainland. But now it is a vacant brick buildings stand empty, filled only with memories.

The General Services Administration advertised that it would open sealed bids on the island March 10. The U.S. GSA has been trying to get rid of Ellis since the immigration service pulled out in 1954.

Rowan County Agent Urges Farmers to Start Making Plans For Western Ewes

By Adrian M. Rator (Rowan County Agent)

Sheep producers in Rowan County attended an area sheep meeting at Grayson Monday afternoon to work out ways and means of stimulating the sheep program in this and other counties of the area.

It was brought out at this meeting that, in spite of the fact that some 900 ewe lambs have been brought into the area for breeding stock next year, there will still be a shortage of western ewes to work out ways and means of ordering directly from breeders. It was brought out by speakers from the Experiment Station that farmers wanting breeding stock out of the West should make plans early. Attending from the College of Agriculture were Dr. W. P. Garrigus, head of the animal husbandry section; R. C. Miller, Extension sheep specialist; and Joe Mobley, economics department.

The proposed legislation which also took part in the discussion. Garrigus and Miller said that most farms in Eastern Kentucky, being fairly small, were well headed with one or two ewes, and most farmers could add as much as $1,000 each year to their income with a one-ran flock of 20 to 30 ewes.

Miller stated that the few pilot flocks in this area were now bringing in about one-half million dollars a year but this enterprise could be increased in a short while to bring in three or four million dollars a year.

Those attending from Rowan County were: Wilzie Perkins, Leland Hall, Clyde Litton, H. C. Haggs, Clark (D. Pa.) and separately that he will co-sponsor the measure.

Kennedy, Morse and Roosevelt said in a statement:

"The present $5 minimum wage is even less adequate in 1959 than the original 25 cent minimum was in 1938. The lowest paid workers have fallen farther and farther behind the average wage-earner. Moreover, a smaller proportion of our nation's work force has wage-hour protection today than had such protection in 1938."

The proposed legislation would repeal a 1949 amendment which restricted the coverage of the minimum wage law to employees of producers of goods in interstate commerce and of others whose operations are closely related and directly essential to such production.

"Another" Kennedy-Morse-Roosevelt proposal would extend the wage-hour coverage to several enterprises not now covered but still subject to the broad jurisdiction of the National Labor Relations Board.

A third proposal would eliminate certain exemptions from the wage-hour coverage, such as some local transportation and communication services, and specified retail establishments. However, Kennedy, Morse and Roosevelt said their legislation will be so written as to exempt explicitly "the so-called ma and pa' family-operated enterprises."

Clark said the proposals are of major importance to the Northern states because they will "help stop other parts of the country from using substandard wages as a bait to lure Northern industry."

President Eisenhower called for extension of the wage-hour law in his economic message to Congress. The administration has favored some limited extension of coverage in the past but has opposed raising the minimum wage level.

Increase In Minimum Wage Sought

Proposal Made In Washington To Hike Pay To $1.25 Hour

An increase in the minimum wage from $1 to $1.25 an hour and extension of wage-hour law coverage to seven million more workers were proposed in Washington by three senators and one House member.

Sens. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) and Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) and Rep. James Roosevelt (D-Calif.) said they will introduce the legislation. Sen. Joseph S. Clark (D-Pa.) said separately that he will co-sponsor the measure.

Kennedy, Morse and Roosevelt said in a statement: "The present $5 minimum wage is even less adequate in 1959 than the original 25 cent minimum was in 1938. The lowest paid workers have fallen farther and farther behind the average wage-earner. Clergymen Urged To File Returns Properly For Full S.S. Returns In The Future

The Social Security Administration reminds clergymen that some of them will never be able to have their earnings from the ministry count toward old-age survivors or disability benefits, or for religious order which they fail to make certain steps within the next few months. Robert A. Flynn, District Manager of the Ashland Social Security Administration office, declared:

Clergymen may have their earnings from the ministry count toward old-age survivors, or disability insurance protection if they formally indicate within a specified time their desire to have these earnings counted. When a clergyman comes under social security he reports his earnings as self-employment.

The Lord Is Coming Soon - Please Give Heed

After The Great Tribulation The Lord Is To Come In Battle

We have stressed the spiritual truth of a great time of trouble which is soon to engulf this earth. The Bible titles it Jacob's trouble, Jeremiah 30: "Alas for the day is great, so that none is like it: for the time of my people's trouble, but he shall be saved out of it." God is going to use the nations as chastening rods against the Jews which are now being gathered into the land of Palestine; in their time of great trouble, He will pour out upon His Elect, the 144,000, according to Zechariah 12:10 "the spirit of grace and supplications; and they shall look upon Me whom they have pierced, and they shall mourn for Him, as one mourneth for his only son, and they shall be in grief as he that is alone; and they shall earnestly for his firstborn." That cry is not going to be vain. Our Lord told the Jew in Matthew 23: 38, "Behold your house is left unto you desolate; ye shall say unto you, ye shall not see Me henceforth, till ye shall say, Blessed is He that cometh in the name of the Lord of Hosts, the God of Israel, even as King of Kings. However, though He be the Saviour of His Elect of Israel, He will not be content with the salvation of the earth. He will be the Avenger and the Judge. Matthew 24: 29, 30 informs us that immediately after the tribulation "the sun shall be darkened, and the moon shall not give her light, and the stars shall fall from heaven, and the powers of the heavens shall be shaken; and with a sign shall the Son of Man come in heaven; and then shall all the tribes of the earth mourn (12,000 of each tribe), and they shall see the Son of Man coming in the clouds of heaven with power and great glory." Second Thessalonians 1:8 says that He shall come in flaming fire taking vengeance on them that know not God, and that obey not the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ, the mighty Warrior, the Lord of Hosts, the faithful and the true, who shall judge and make us righteous according to the revelation 19:11. His avers will be as a flame of fire as He appears clothed with a vesture dipped in blood. Out of His mouth will go a sharp sword, and with it He shall smite the nations; and He shall rule them with a rod of iron as He treats the winepress of the fierceness of His wrath, and He shall tread down the winepress of His anger, and make them drunk in His fury, and will bring down their strength to the earth. This, my friends, is according to God's unchangeable word, and is just as true as I can say, and has already taken place. Our plea to you, if you can hear, is to pay heed and study the Scriptures as the Bereans of old to see if these things be true.

Nine Eagle Players Endorse Waterfield

Lt. Governor Harry Lee Waterfield last Saturday received a telegram from nine team members and the coach of the Morehead State College Eagles, pledging the basketball team's support of Waterfield for governor.

The telegram said: "Sorry unable to attend Collegians' Waterfield for governor. We were on road trip beating your alma mater (Murray State College) in a basketball game. We pledge our support and best wishes."

The telegram was signed by Granville Williams, Heike Thompson, Jim Harrison, Dale Fair, Herbie Triplett, Arthur Cole, Thornton Hill, Gerald Ventes, J. P. Deaton and Coach Bob Laughlin.

This is the third Kentucky college basketball team to publicly endorse Waterfield. Previous pledges of support were received from the University of Kentucky Wildcats and the Western State College Hilltoppers.

Mental Health Employees Keep Jobs

Of the 2,299 employees of the Kentucky Department of Mental Health, 742 have had their jobs five years or longer.

This was noted by Commissioner H. L. McPheeters recently at Hopkinsville as he awarded special pins to 225 long-time employees.

He said personal vacancies in the agency were at their lowest point in many years. "Dedication to the job of treating the mentally ill characterizes these employees," McPheeters said. "As treatment facilities have improved, employees morale has grown higher. Staffs of four state mental hospitals and administrative offices are more professional employees than ever before, McPheeters said."

Rowan Is Better Off Than Most Eastern Kentucky Counties

College who were placed on probation, or forced to leave college. The reason for this is that the freshmen students at the University of Kentucky are on probation because their first semester grades were low. If they can't make their standing up by June, they will be forced to leave college.

Here's the real reason your boy or girl may be unable to attend a college education. Regardless of how much money you have to finance him—university and colleges are bidding at the seams with more students than they can handle. The war babies are coming in. They are almost here that only the students who have high intellects, or can make a "C" average will get a degree.

Warning for you high school students—you had better prepare yourself in the next few months. A. B. The competition is really getting keen and colleges don't want pushovers and backward students.

A Real Nice Vacation
A score, or more of Morehead basketball fans, will travel to Florida today and tomorrow, by plane and automobile.

The Eagles play at Tampa Saturday night. The day after tomorrow we expect in view of the recent poor showing of the team, that they will get the trip more for the sunshine than to see a couple basketball games.

In their three last outings—against Western, Eastern and Murray—Morehead made one more field goal than their three opponents. Yet lost all three. Fouls have plagued Morehead all year, not only the number committed, but those that have been missed, often on the one plus one.

Some Advice To Our Farmers
The "Oh, what's the use taking the trouble to vote in the tobacco referendum. It will pass, anyway."

Yes, it will pass. But, if you've been reading the news from Washington lately you will understand that Secretary Benson would like to change the entire farm program.

That's the reason an overabundance of turkeys is being slaughtered. It is so important.

His Condition Is Improving
"Every time we hear Morehead's file some of the always sounds at 12 noon—we think of Hoy McCallough, the chief, who has spent so many years promoting the department."

We are happy that Boyd is recovering from a automobile accident that proved more serious than first diagnosed. We still can't talk as his jaws are wired, but he's mighty fast conversing with a pencil and tablet if you pay him a visit.

State Losses Two Tax Appeal Cases
The Commonwealth suffered a double reversal last week in tax cases before the Court of Appeals. In separate rulings, appellate court held:

1. The Department of Revenue can not levy a special tax on funds for the Greyhound Corporation stores in Kentucky but uses on highways outside the state.

2. The Kentucky Tax Commission can not levy a franchise tax on any out-of-state firm conducting interstate commerce in Kentucky but having no property in the state.

There is unemployment, and perhaps a shortage in Rowan County.

But, it is not so great as the pessimists would have you believe. In a county of this size, a considerable problem, and much talk about a college education, hundreds of men are out of work.

But, it must be admitted, after conferences with banks and business men who cash checks, that if it wasn't for the social security, welfare, and unemployment payments that are coming in we would be in a tough economic straits.

We must recognize that around 400 Rowan families are drawing monthly relief supplies of milk, rice, butter, flour, shortening and sometimes cheese. We have been advised the cheese will be taken off the list soon, perhaps this month, but there is possibility of a canned pork.

Perhaps hurting most locally is the return of workers from the industrial areas to the north. When they are laid off they generally come to a college education. The 26 weeks of unemployment money ceases, each adds another county problem.

Anyway you look at it, and from all reports at hand, Rowan County are doing much better than most Eastern Kentuckians. Folks in the mining fields are actually starting, even though bank assets are up.

In most communities like Harlan you either have a lot of nothing... a Cadillac or no car at all... a fillet mignon or chicken wing... by malnutrition.

Situation Attracting National Attention
The Louisville Times this week is running a series of front page articles, and pictures, about the sorry plight of thousands of Eastern Kentucky families. It is the fact that people in this land of plenty are literally starving is attracting nationwide attention.

Morehead Chamber of Commerce speaker James Patton Tuesday blamed much of the sad situation on centralization of business and power.

"The people of some Eastern Kentucky counties are as frustrated as the little boy who dropped his chewing gum in the chicken house," Patton illustrated.

"It's not so for what he explained. People in Rowan County should be thankful for jobs we have and for past, and continuing good leadership of some people who are interested in our community and our citizens instead of personal gain."

Always keep an eye on that fellow who has no interest in your welfare, or that of your neighbors, but tries to feed you a line of hollow, political and otherwise, to promote a job for himself or his own selfish interests.

Local Rumors On The Political Scene
Friends of Morehead restaurant and motel operator Arch Williams say he will file this week for the Democratic nomination for Railroad Commissioner in the 3rd district comprising 44 counties.

Gravine reports are that Russell Reynolds and Bill Whitaker are toying with the idea of seeking the Democratic nod for Representative from the Rowan-Bath District.

Republicans are talking Herb Moore as the GOP nominee for the House.

Morehead Students Fared Very Well
"The courses are too hard" was the complaint of scores of students last month at Morehead State

"With attacks on the program coming from many sources, it is more important than ever before that farmers go to the polling places in greater numbers than ever demonstrated in the past. This will be the individual growth of the best chance to convert the critics of the program that the overwhelming support of farmers."

Layne Graduates At Fort Campbell
Army Cpl. William T. Layne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Layne, of Morehead, graduated from the Fort Campbell, (Ky.) Non-Commissioned Officer Academy on Jan. 21.

Cpl. Layne received four weeks of classroom and practical training in tactical, defensive, combat tactics and leadership. An assistant is assigned as an layne's leader in Company of the 20th Engineer Battalion at Fort Campbell. He entered the Army in April 1953 and was last stationed in Korea. The 23-year-old soldier attended Morehead High School before entering the Army. He was employed by Kingsbury (Ind.) Ordnance Plant. His wife, Martha lives in Hopkinsville, Ky.

Highway Accidents Almost Cease To Become News

You can pick up a newspaper anywhere in the United States, any day in the week, and you will read about fatal highway accidents. The accidents you read about will be mostly local, unless the victims are of wide importance and even the local deaths will get small space unless the people are especially prominent.

There was a time, not so long ago, when the killing of a pedestrian by an automobile was news. The crash of two speeding automobiles, involving the death of two or three persons, got the headlines. Today, however, the public takes the highway fatalities, matter of course, assumes that they are, in part, unavoidable and, in almost every instance, acquiesces in the verdict that nobody is especially to blame.

In a recent study of almost a thousand drivers involved in fatal highway accidents, highway officials found that twenty-eight served time in jail and only ninety-five paid fines. More than eighty-six per cent of the drivers were not penalized by the courts in any way.

A study of the case histories creates the Impression that the penalties imposed by the courts are seldom in "reasonable proportion" to the offenses, but the Bureau does not find fault with the courts, saying that the failure to inflict proper punishment is due to the difficulty of obtaining evidence admissible to court under the rules of evidence sufficient to convict. It may be, perhaps, the lack of a criminal code designed to fit present-day motor-vehicle accident cases.

In regard to many of the highway fatalities, the public takes the view that they are the result of the hazards of the road. While there is basis for such a conclusion, in regard to some accidents, the fact is that many are caused by failure to follow regulations set up for highway safety. The careful supervision of the issuance of drivers' licenses, rigid inspection and strict regulation of motor vehicles on the highways, and vigorous enforcement of highway regulations will do much to cut down the death toll on our highways.

The time to avoid many fatal accidents is before they occur. Afterwards, it is too late to do the victims any good.

Best Students Don't Have Cars The Proposal Of Pope John

An interesting answer to the question whether automobiles and scholarships mix was provided in a survey made of the four-year grade averages of the typical High School class recently. The senior class involved is at Madison High School, in Rexburg, Idaho.

No straight A student had the use of a car in Madison High School's Senior class. Only fifteen percent of the B students drove a car to school.

Of C students, forty-one percent brought cars to school. Of D students seventy-one percent drove cars to school.

While the averages might be different, and while the situations at various schools would widely vary, this is an amazing correlation of automobile driving as opposed to scholarship. To emphasize these facts, we must be expected to give up driving automobiles, but as far as taking automobiles to school, this survey should make parents think. As a result of the survey, the Rexburg Board of Education adopted a resolution, which (1) required Junior and Senior students who drive cars to have written application to the Board showing the reason or need to drive cars to school. (2) Required students driving cars to park them in designated areas. (3) Required student permits, under the above rules, and provided for expulsion of students who did not comply with the established regulations.

The entire community in Rexburg is supporting the School Board, and hundreds of citizens have signed a pledge to back the drive.

The principal at Madison High, W. G. Nelson, says: "We believe that restricting automobile use will make for better attendance and closer attention to studies."

In this connection, the University of Virginia has recently banned all student-owned automobiles from the campus. Princeton University has forbidden car privileges for many years now. We believe there is a direct correlation between automobile drivers and a scholastic achievement, and call the above facts to the attention of local authorities.

"The number of clerical workers here is doubled in the U. S. in the past 25 years," says a statistician. We probably don't know where we're going, but we certainly have more than ample records of where we've been.

There are problems concerning inner space, too, in addition to the primary problem of finding parking space. For example, there is never enough space in the front of the bus or in the rear of the church.

It is well that American manufacturers will build some medium-sized cars to meet the demand of those with small-sized incomes. Those with medium-sized incomes will, of course, continue to buy the large-sized cars.

The perpetrators of fads seem to be losing their ingenuity (it is hoped), as they haven't yet come up with some food thing to succeed the hula hoop insanity.

PTA Observes 62nd Birthday
Editor, The News:
This month at Parent-Teacher Association meetings throughout the nation, the observance of the 62nd birthday of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers is being celebrated, paying tribute to its two founders, Mrs. Theodore Birmey and Mrs. Phoebe Applegate Hearst.

On Feb. 17, 1897, Mrs. Birmey met her first class, addressing the First Congress of Mothers, aided by Mrs. Hearst, at a convention in Washington with 2,000 delegates, from every state in the Union, formed the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Their efforts resulted in an organization—dedicated to improve the child in every child which may enjoy sound health, spiritual security, careful nurture, and wise schooling.

In 1897, an attempt was made to halt the wheels of industry to rescue children from young farmlands, confining labor. In those days there were few who believed that the children of the land untaught were deserving of all advantages open to the children of the privileged.

In 1918, Kentucky with 600 members, became part of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers. The State Department of Education had been in operation since 1910, their formation having been stimulated by Miss Edna Gardner, of Carlisle, then superintendent of schools in Nicholas County.

Mrs. Raymond J. Bolton, of Corbin, is president of the Kentucky State Department of Education. Teachers, which has a membership of more than 180,000 persons. The State Department of Education provides a office for the group in Frankfort, Mr. Dallas Brightwell, of Frankfort, is the office director.

Among accomplishments through the years are: The Children's Bureau established, child labor laws enacted, hot lunch program, safety program, school library, use of the Soviets.

Heavy Burley Vote Urged Next Tuesday

Kentucky Farm Bureau Asks State Growers To Ballot Yes

Kentucky's tobacco growers have been urged to vote their convictions in the upcoming referendum on the burley price support acreage control program, set by the Secretary of Agriculture for Tuesday, February 24.

Burl S. St. Clair, president of the Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation, has issued a statement, calling upon tobacco growers to turn out in greater numbers than ever before to demonstrate their interest in the tobacco program. Here is St. Clair's statement:

"During the past several months many of your elected leaders and paid personnel in Farm Bureau have been working hard to protect our burley tobacco program, and to insure its continued success.

"Our efforts have not been in vain. With the help of many other groups interested in the tobacco program, we have been successful in keeping acreage for 1959 about the same as 1958. Progress has been made in building a high degree of unity in support of the program. The most powerful farm organization in the country—the American Farm Bureau Federation—has an official platform in support of the present program."

"Now on February 24, the growers of burley tobacco will have an opportunity to express their views on the program. If two-thirds of those voting approve the present program, the support and control program will be continued for three years.

"St. Paul, no stranger to want and anxiety, to understand the trials, to suffering, and bitter frustration, was likewise a man of great faith and power. He reminds us we can be confident for nothing, prayerful for everything, thankful for anything because 'My God shall supply every need of yours according to His riches in glory in Christ Jesus.'"

It is then "the peace of God which passes all understanding" comes through trusting support in our faith in God. When sin sets you down and life lets you down the God picks you up.

'ECONOMIC NATO' IDEA
A proposed "economic NATO" report, prepared by the National Administration Quarters. The proposal would have the North American Treaty Organization countries set up the economic group to bolster Western defenses against Soviet economic pressures. Its purpose would be to tighten trade restrictions with the Communist bloc. The proposal would, if not reverse, the cautious relaxing export curbs on shipments to Russia.

The most powerful farm organization in the country—the American Farm Bureau Federation—has an official platform in support of the present program."

"Now on February 24, the growers of burley tobacco will have an opportunity to express their views on the program. If two-thirds of those voting approve the present program, the support and control program will be continued for three years.

"St. Paul, no stranger to want and anxiety, to understand the trials, to suffering, and bitter frustration, was likewise a man of great faith and power. He reminds us we can be confident for nothing, prayerful for everything, thankful for anything because 'My God shall supply every need of yours according to His riches in glory in Christ Jesus.'"

It is then "the peace of God which passes all understanding" comes through trusting support in our faith in God. When sin sets you down and life lets you down the God picks you up.

'ECONOMIC NATO' IDEA
A proposed "economic NATO" report, prepared by the National Administration Quarters. The proposal would have the North American Treaty Organization countries set up the economic group to bolster Western defenses against Soviet economic pressures. Its purpose would be to tighten trade restrictions with the Communist bloc. The proposal would, if not reverse, the cautious relaxing export curbs on shipments to Russia.

Among accomplishments through the years are: The Children's Bureau established, child labor laws enacted, hot lunch program, safety program, school library, use of the Soviets.

A True Friend Is Valuable

Friends are hard to come by in this life, as anyone who has ever had occasion to have one's friends tested undoubtedly knows. Nevertheless, one of life's greatest joys is to have one true friend—or more—if that fortunate circumstance should favor an individual.

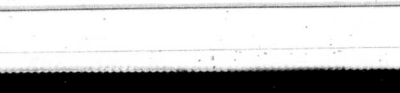

One will find that the test of friendship comes when it costs something to remain a loyal friend. The money test will eliminate ninety per cent of one's friends, but the test which will eliminate ninety per cent is the occasion which demands loyalty to a friend who is suddenly an "expensive" friend.

Realizing that no one is perfect, we must all adjust our thinking and philosophy to the fact that our friends will make mistakes, just as we will. Mistakes must be forgiven, although not necessarily forgotten, in a spirit of give-and-take and understanding. And, just as a misfortune can alienate unsuitable friends, success often alienates those who appear to be true friends. While envy and jealousy do not part genuine friends, such developments inevitably part the sunshine variety.

Using the Bible as a guide and some of the great examples of friendship and love in history, one can generally establish upon one basic rule for friendship. If we can be happy over the sudden success and wealth of our friend, share his misfortune and unpopularity, if that is the turn of events, and stand ready to help or advise, or even get out of the way, as the occasion may warrant, we have come close to being a true friend.

Finally, if you have such a friend, loyal all the way, hold on to him or her. That should be your most prized possession, outside of God and your family.

111 Year Old Former Slave Dies

Death came Saturday to Mrs. Georgia Ann Cross, a 111-year-old Kentucky-born former slave. She was born in Todd County, Ky., in 1847, according to records in the family Bible. Authorities believed she was the oldest living victim to be officially listed in recent history. She would have been 112 on April 1.

"I don't know what's made me live so long," she often remarked. "I just let the next day come as it will."

She said she could no longer keep track of how many grandchildren and great-grandchildren she had. She said she had out-lived five of her 11 children.

"She often recalled memories of her early life, the most outstanding being that of the day her slave parents were freed."

"My mother's mistress taught me never to be cruel to anyone, and I've tried to live up to it," she said.

Knox County Superintendent Is Indicted

The Knox County grand jury has indicted County School Superintendent Jesse D. Lay on a charge of falsifying a school record.

Indictments also were returned Friday at Corbin against Ralph Mays, a teacher at Knox Central High School, Barbourville, and O. Miley of Hendrick. They were charged with knowingly receiving votes of non-qualified voters in the Nov. 4 school board election.

The jury accused Lay of listing Willie Carnes as a teacher and having checks written to Carnes.

The indictment stated that the searching was done by Mrs. Betty Smith and that the checks were endorsed over to her by Carnes. The jury also stated Mrs. Smith was not qualified to teach.

Indicted for voting in the school board election without having residential qualifications were Andy Dunn, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Long, and Sam Blevins, all of Knox County.

None of those indicted was available for comment.

New Variety Of Burley To Be Available

A new variety of burley tobacco will be available this year for Kentucky farmers under the name of Ky. 9, according to Dr. W. D. Valleau, Kentucky Experiment Station plant pathologist.

Dr. Valleau said it comes from a test variety known as "Exp. 9."

It has good resistance to black root rot, mosaic, and is fairly high in resistance to wildfire. Dr. Valleau said it would compete in disease resistance with Ky. 61 and with Burley 21.

Ky. 9 has a larger leaf than Burley 21, is a good standup variety, but is not quite as high in quality as the latter.

The variety has been in an experimental stage for the last five years; for the last two years, it has been widely grown in special trials over the state and by many farmers. Considerable seed is now in hands of seedsmen, Valleau said, and will be on the market this year for the coming crop as Ky. 9.

It was favorably received by farmers, he noted, in the state trials of the last two years. It seemed to have been related to as a variety a little earlier except for the objection of one grower who had been in the objection has been withdrawn, Valleau said.

One reason so many middle-aged men die of heart attacks is that they "too often stop taking regular exercise."

Shad Elimination Means Good Fishing

The average fisherman caught twice as many fish from Dewey Lake last year as he did in 1955, the annual fishing census of the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources shows. Also, the report for the two years by the Division of Fisheries revealed that the size of the fish caught in 1958 increased over 1955.

Bernard Carter, director of the Division of Fisheries, points out that this increased catch in 1958 was a result of remedial projects conducted by the Fisheries on this lake since 1955.

Carter declared that it is usual for a new impoundment to furnish outstanding fishing for three to five years after it is opened, then there is a decline and unless something is done to improve the fish habitat and environment, fishing will continue to decline.

After the early peak years of fishing at the lake, Carter said, biologists started a study of the lake conditions and found that food had become more scarce, that the balance of rough fish as compared to game fish had increased greatly and that the game fish were being crowded out by the great number of shad, which had increased from year to year.

Fisheries biologists started, in 1955, when fishing hit a new low, to eliminate these shad by a chemical treatment. It was found, after the first treatment, that many shad had been eliminated, and that better fishing was experienced that fall.

Further treatments were made each year of this lake until fishing last year was a new high since treatment was started.

Carter pointed out that all shad cannot be eliminated in these treatments and that it is necessary to carry out the project from year to year. By these continued treatments, he says, fishing should improve from season to season.

Carter's report showed that in 1955 fishermen averaged one fish every two hours. Similar cards, which are compiled by a check of the fishermen encountered on the lake, showed that during 1958 the average catch was a fish each hour and that larger fish were being taken.

The Director of Fisheries believes that fishing in this lake for 1959 should be better than for last year and he is continuing his work and checks on the lake to determine, as far as the Department can, that fishing will continue good in this small, but important lake.

BENEFITS RAISED
The government has started mailing out fairer Social Security checks to more than 12,500,000 persons. The checks reflect the 7 per cent average increase voted by Congress last year. Social Security Commissioner William L. Mitchell says the new monthly total of insurance benefits will be about $740,000,000, an increase of $50,000,000.

Memoranda On Leaf Sales May Be Halted

U. S. Rep. John C. Watts said in Washington this week that he had been assured by the Department of Agriculture that memoranda of tobacco sales will not be abandoned "unless an equally effective substitute is developed."

Memoranda of sales are used to record tobacco marketings at the auction warehouse at the time the tobacco is sold. They are used in double-checking and verifying sales.

Opposition to moves to abandon the use of memorandum was voted by directors of the Burley Tobacco Growers Co-operative Association and the Burley and Dark Leaf Tobacco Export Association.

Watts said the assurance he received came in response to a letter he wrote to the department last week.

In his letter, Watts pointed out that "to abandon the record of actual tobacco marketings would increase the possibility of hidden fields" and inaccurate measurements and would tend to undermine the confidence of growers in the enforcement of the program."

Hogs: Receipts 156—Packers $15.55; sows, $12.20 to $16.30; stock hogs, $15.50 to $18; sows and pigs, $9; shoats, $5 to $12.20.

Shortage of forwards has been Morehead's big problem all year, and Laughlin has used every possible combination.

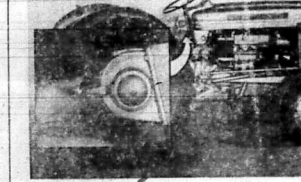

The Hilltoppers led by margins of from 10 to 14 points during most of the last half, until with 2:50 minutes left in the game Jim Harrison led a Morehead rally that cut the score to 69-64.

After the regulation game had ended 39-39, the score was tied at 41 and again at 42 before Alexander's foul shots put the Thornburghs out front to stay.
