Morehead Approved For U. S. Housing

Crutcher Says That Preliminary Loan Is Necessary Step

The Public Housing Administration announced in Washington this morning that Morehead had been approved for 30 low-rent, dwelling units.

However, no preliminary loan was made to the local housing authority, created by the City Commission.

This means, in substance, that Morehead is qualified to share this year in funds appropriated by Congress, but the order does not give the green signal for acquisition of the site or employment of an architect.

W. F. Crutcher, Chairman of the Morehead Municipal Housing Commission, said that the program appeared to him to be in status quo until a preliminary loan is forthcoming.

"I do not know the next step beyond the information that the national office at Atlanta," Crutcher said.

It has been estimated that five to six acres of land will be required for the one and two and three bedroom units probably to be built on the duplex plan.

Rents are based on family income rather than on the amount of space occupied. Families earning over $3,500 annually will probably be ineligible, Crutcher said.

On the Morehead Municipal Housing Commission, besides Crutcher are: Mayor William H. Layne, Mrs. V. H. Wolford, Hubert Allen, W. H. Rice and George I. Cline.

Buddy Myers Victim Of Auto Accident

A Rowan County native son, Elmer E. (Buddy) Myers, 38, was killed last Wednesday night in a fatal automobile accident while en route to his home in Morehead.

Florida police are investigating the crash. Myers, a Chief Petty Officer in the U. S. Navy Air Force, met his death near Bunnell, Fla.

Florida police advised this newspaper today that Myers was probably changing a tire when a truck crashed into the rear of his automobile.

Two persons in the truck, loaded with lumber, were also killed. The heavy timber in the truck was strewn for about 200 yards, indicating the driver was traveling at high speed and did not see Myers car.

Myers was on his way from Palatka River Naval Air Base Station in Maryland to visit his mother and relatives in Florida. His mother lives at Farmers.

The remains were sent to Lane Funeral Home in Morehead and funeral services were conducted Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock at Farmers Christian Church, with Rev. B. W. Moore officiating.

The Regency Command of Lexington conducted military services at graveside in Jones cemetery.

Myers was the son of the late Clara Myers and Elmer Myers, who was born July 12, 1920 at Farmers, and served 21 years in the U. S. Navy.

Besides his mother he leaves two brothers and three sisters: James E. Myers and Clarence Myers, Jr., Tampa, Fla.; Betty Fern and Gladys Myers, La.; and Mrs. Ferrell Hill, Muncie, Ind.

Myers was a member of the U. S. Navy Reserve and was a member of the U. S. Navy Reserve.

Morehead State College Stocks Farms With Sheep, Hogs As New Experiment

Morehead State College reported it has stocked several farms with sheep and hogs in an experimental program sponsored by the Kentucky Department of Economic Development to find new sources of income for Eastern Kentucky farmers.

With $2,500 in funds provided by the development agency, the college is conducting a "sheep and hogs" program to demonstrate how good wool and meat animals probably can be raised on small farms.

A second farm improvement program financed by the Department of Economic Development will get under way soon at Hazel Green Academy in Wolfe County. Backed by a $2,000 grant, the academy will conduct a feeder pig and timber research project on 100 acres of land.

The assistant grants are made from the department's agricultural research fund appropriated by the legislature. Since 1956 the Department's Agricultural Development Division has allocated $75,000 for research projects designed to bolster farm income.

Henry C. Hagan, head of the Morehead College Agricultural Department, reported that 62 ewe lambs of the thick-fleeced Rambouillet strain had been purchased and placed on the Rowan County farms of Cheneaux James and Miller Perkins. The registered Hampshire girls were turned out on the farm of Burt Moore, he added.

Hagan said it was too late this year to buy bred ewes in time for the spring lamb crop, which means that no revenue can be expected from the sheep until the spring of 1960. Two rams will be purchased this June, he said.

The lambs are being fed penicillin in a bid at the ratio of one part penicillin to nine parts salt, and also rough pasture and good quality legume hay.

Agriculture students at Morehead drenched the sheep with liquid penicillin shortly after they were purchased. Another drenching with a mixture of copper sulphate and nicotine sulphate is scheduled around the first of May.

Sheep Raising Stressed Hagan said the sheep farm operators would be asked to attend a sheep-shearing school at West Liberty so that they can

Some Veterans May Benefit On Their Insurance

Savings of up to two-thirds in the cost of their GI insurance are being made by mail to all veterans whose insurance policy number is preceded by the letters "R."

All of these veterans, who for the most part fall in the Korean and post-Korean era, now have a chance to exchange their present five-year term policies for five-year term policies at a lower premium cost, due to the improved mortality tables, resulting from modern medical advances.

The new policy, however, must eventually be converted to a permanent plan of insurance, since it cannot be renewed by the insured past age 50, VA pointed out.

Clean-Up Days Set In Morehead Next Week; Trucks Will Haul Refuse

Urge Residents To Clean Out Their Attics

Morehead Mayor William H. Layne has officially proclaimed next week, starting Monday, as "Clean-Up Week."

Layne said that garbage trucks will run every day picking up all refuse placed at curbside.

Ordinarily the trucks gather only garbage and will not collect such things as grass, tree tops, rubbish, etc. But they will perform this added service next week.

Layne said the trucks will haul away everything that residents put at their curbs during Clean-up week.

Fire Chief C. W. McCallough urged all citizens to clean out their attics and outbuildings. He said these are major fire hazards and people have a chance next week to have everything hauled free to the city dump.

Morehead annually has a clean-up week in the spring. Layne said results in the past had been excellent and the garbage trucks, on extra duty, had hauled hundreds of tons of refuse at this time.

He said that home owners and business men should place refuse in boxes or receptacles to make it more convenient for the garbage trucks.

Chamber To Visit Morehead

Louisville Businessmen Schedule Visit Friday, May 22

For four days next month, every waking moment in the lives of about 75 Louisville-area businessmen will be regulated by a special schedule of departures and arrivals. The men will be traveling over a 72-mile loop through Eastern Kentucky that will include 20 communities.

Those busy four days comprise the 12th annual Get-Acquainted Tour sponsored by the Louisville Chamber of Commerce. This year it is scheduled for May 19-22, with the stop in Morehead on the morning of May 22.

The 1959 trip will cover the same general area as the 1954 tour, but the visitors are expecting to see many changes in the region since '54. The itinerary was chosen to give residents a chance to see Eastern Kentuckians that Louisville business realizes the importance of.

Everyone has an opportunity to participate. Stamped the goal is $2,640, the minimum to assure the blood bank, home service, first aid and water safety programs.

He said that 58 per cent of the money remains in Rowan County and the portion forwarded to the national organization covers cost of disasters, service to the armed forces, nursing activities and other departmental functions.

Mail contributions may be made to Mr. Stamper, care of the District State Police office at Morehead, or Glenn W. Lane, Citizens Bank.

Morehead Is Confused About Time

Some Operate On Eastern Standard, Others Hour Slower

Citizens of Morehead and Rowan County are confused this week about the time.

It's nothing unusual, a thing that everybody hereabouts has gone through before.

Morehead's Commissioners officially placed everything within the unit time on Eastern Standard Time at 12:01 Sunday morning.

Most people set their clocks up one hour. Some refused to do so on the basis of the fact that the city hall operates on fast time—the courthouse on slow time.

The post office is on Eastern Standard Time—Morehead State College clocks are an hour slower. Rowan High and all schools in the county remained on Central Standard.

Morehead merchants set their clocks up one hour, including the banks. Others said they refused to rural trade and ignored the Commission's ordinance.

The same situation prevailed three years ago.

Biggest objection to fast time has come from the Farm Bureau. They claim that chickens and cows operate by sun-up and sun-down and folks ought to quit fooling with the clock.

The controversy is amplified since Rowan County is near the division line of the Eastern and Central belts.

Reports continue that the Interstate Commerce Commission will shortly issue a directive placing all of Kentucky, east of Lexington—the Eastern belt.

Red Cross Campaign Is Extended

Chairman Says That $2,640 Needed To Maintain Programs

Rowan Red Cross fund chairman Robert Stamper said this morning that "contributions in the annual drive are disappointing and the campaign would be extended so everyone has an opportunity to participate."

Stamper said the goal is $2,640, the minimum to assure the blood bank, home service, first aid and water safety programs.

He said that 58 per cent of the money remains in Rowan County and the portion forwarded to the national organization covers cost of disasters, service to the armed forces, nursing activities and other departmental functions.

Famed Potomac Filling With Silt

They say that neither George Washington nor Walter Johnson could have thrown a silver dollar across the Potomac.

Fifty years from now a silted arm five-year-old boy may be able to do it.

It's not that the Potomac will be better. It's just that the famous Potomac may be reduced to a trickle.

The problem is that the once picturesque river is filling up with silt. About 60 million cubic feet of silt is dumped into the river each year. And man-made wastes add to the ugliness.

Most of it is clogging up within sniffing distance of the White House.

Pine Mountain Park Waits For Biggest Event

Pine Mountain State Park is being readied for "the great number of visitors" expected to attend the special productions there.

The first event will be the Mountain Laurel Festival at Laurel Cove in the Park May 28-30. May 28 will also be the opening date for the drama, "Job," to be presented nightly this summer at the park's natural amphitheater by the Maskers of Georgetown College.

Campbell said park improvements include: Redecoration of all cottages, new paneling, installation of tiled floors. Renovation of the park dining room and repainting of the boat dock at Chenoweth Lake.

Campbell said plans have been completed for building a swimming pool at the park and construction of a new road to Chain Rock, one of the park's main attractions.

Hermon Lodge at Natural Bridge State Park was opened Sunday, April 12, Campbell said.

Aid Is Urged For Mentally Retarded

A citizens commission has recommended that Kentucky establish two new homes for the mentally retarded.

One should be in west and one in east Kentucky, said the Citizens Commission on Needs of the Mentally Retarded, and each should be capable of housing 1,500 persons.

The commission, authorized by the 1958 Legislature, was appointed by Gov. Albert B. Chandler to recommend a program to meet the needs of the mentally retarded to the next Legislature. It also recommended:

Establishment of a diagnostic and evaluation clinic at a college or university center.

An increased budget to provide the Kentucky Training Home, Frankfort, with adequate facilities, services and personnel to care properly for its present 1,113 patients. The Commission said the home is 44 per cent "overcrowded, understaffed and under-serviced."

Lowering of the age limit for admission to the home to 6 to 3 years.

Increased financial help to train more teachers for a larger number of classrooms for mentally retarded children and to provide them transportation.

Increased trained supervisory personnel in the State Education Department to administer this program.

Financial support to the State Department of Health, Division of Maternal Child Health, for an intensive program of services for the mentally retarded, including in-service training for public health personnel.

A comprehensive study and revision of all state laws applying to the mentally retarded.

A continuing commission to study this problem and formulate an adequate program.

Commission members are Leroy B. Stevens, Louisville, chairman; J. W. Castlen, Jr., Owensboro, president of the Kentucky Association for Retarded Children; Dr. A. M. Lyon, superintendent of Kentucky Training Home; B. M. Coffman, Miss Stella A. Edwards, Department of Education; Dr. Helen Binkap Fraser, Department of Health and Mark Tucker, University of Kentucky.

Libraries Receive Maps Of Kentucky

A wide selection of Kentucky maps has been presented to each of the six state regional libraries in Kentucky by the Maps and Minerals Division of the Department of Economic Development.

The libraries are in Columbia, Eminence, Princeton, Prestonsburg, Glasgow and London. Map types distributed to the libraries include topographic, stream, land use, retail market areas, county data, physiographic, minerals, geologic, and pictorial. The libraries also received explanatory material on topographic mapping.

During the past two years, more than 12,000 map items have been distributed free by the division to public, high school and college libraries.

The state agency libraries also arranges educational exhibits of maps and map-making methods for public display.

The libraries receive more than 150,000 copies of map items and related publications in stock. In addition to the types sent to regional libraries, they include ground water, highway, coal, mine, oil and gas maps, aerial photographs covering every section of the state, and other varieties of specialized maps.

A catalog and price list of items sold by the map library is now available and will be sent to interested firms and individuals on request.

Family Doctor Week Proclaimed

Family Doctor Week, April 19-25, has been proclaimed by Gov. Albert B. Chandler in recognition of the work of family physicians in bringing the best of medical care to the people of Kentucky. The proclamation also cites the Kentucky chapter of the American Academy of General Practice for providing the "best and latest in medical knowledge to the doctors of Kentucky's people."

The proclamation states that "The medical history of the Commonwealth of Kentucky is illustrative with the names of many dedicated family physicians."

"Throughout the width and breadth of our state, the family physicians are working constantly to bring the best of medical care to our people."

"The American Academy of General Practice and the Kentucky Chapter were founded for the very purpose of providing the best medical care to our people through their family physician."

"This group of dedicated physicians does require 50 hours of approved post-graduate study annually to maintain membership."

"Every family should have a family doctor," Russell E. Trague, M.D., Commissioner of Health, commented. "He can take care of most medical needs, and when specialized medical care is called for, he is the best person to guide the family to the right specialist, thereby saving the patient time, worry, and possibly even additional expense."

The Kentucky Academy's annual Scientific Assembly will be held at Louisville April 22, 23, and 24.

Plans Made For 11 New Industries

Announcement Also Calls For Considerable Expansion

Since Jan. 1, plans have been announced to build 11 new manufacturing plants in Kentucky with anticipated employment of 1,850 persons and estimated capital investment of $8,400,000, the State Department of Economic Development reports.

The department said during the same period, plans to expand nine existing plants have been announced at a cost of $2,200,000 which are expected to "provide jobs for 628 additional workers."

These announcements bring to 272 the total of new and expanded plants in which industry during the past 40 months has invested or made commitments to invest almost $254,000,000, the agency said.

When all are in production, the department said, these facilities will provide employment for 20,000 persons and generate payrolls of about $9 million dollars a year.

Thus, added the agency, during this period Kentucky every year has been adding industrial weight at the weekly average of more than 1.5 million dollars of plant investment, 130 new jobs and $36,000 in annual wages. This rate of growth is not quarter higher than that enjoyed by the state during the prosperous decade following World War II, the department said.

The agency has cooperated with business in this industrial growth by pointing out Kentucky's industrial advantages and by assisting firms to find profitable plant locations. The department's overall objective is to facilitate expansion and diversification of Kentucky's economy.

Through varied research, promotional and planning activities, the agency aids communities in development efforts and serves as a clearing house of data on Kentucky's natural and human resources.

The 1956 Legislature, on recommendation of Governor Chandler, elevated the agency to full departmental status and provided for separate non-partisan boards of leading citizens—one for industry and one for agriculture—to counsel on policies and objectives.

Appropriations were boosted up to $1 million-plus for the four fiscal years ending June 30, 1969, compared with a previous total of $200,000 to permit employment of additional plant location specialists, economists, geologists and other professional personnel. New divisions were established to give greater emphasis to agricultural development and stimulate interest in the use of nuclear energy.

City-planning assistance was stepped up and a regional planning commission established in Eastern Kentucky, the first such planning body in the state's history.

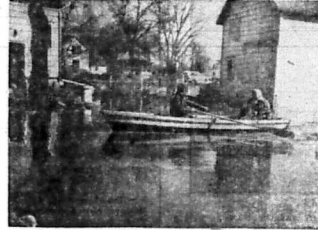

Frankly, we are now all caught up in cold weather.

"I REMEMBER" BY THE OLD TIMES

From Hattie Thomas, Luther, Oklahoma: I remember Christmas time in the early days in Oklahoma Territory. We lived on a farm and we kids looked forward to the Christmas tree and program on our little schoolhouse on the hill.

There was no cedar tree or anything similar available, so the menfolk of the small community provided a well-shaped little blackjack tree from the timber lot. My mother and the other ladies entwined and wrapped every branch of the blackjack tree with strips of colored wrapping paper saved from the weekly trips to the country store. Mother was especially handy at making lovely things from crepe paper, so she devised the idea of "snow balls" to trim the tree. She fashioned them from rounds of white crepe paper, puffed and stuffed with snowy cotton from our own cotton patch, and dangling from the branches those snowballs looked dazzling real, among the strings of popcorn and cranberries.

Never was there such a beautiful tree.

Man-made fibers may overtake and pass raw cotton competitively in five years. A top industry executive reports 35 synthetic fibers now exist with two or three more making an appearance every year.

So far as the legal records disclose there has never been a trial, since the advent of law, that has resulted in a thoroughly satisfied plaintiff and an equally satisfied defendant.

Businesses Need A Health Check-Up, Too!

Businesses are a lot like people. They can get hardening of the arteries. They can grow old, decline and die. But in one important respect a business differs from a human being: With proper care it can stay young a long time . . . perhaps even forever.

There's no one magic cure that will mend ALL sick businesses, of course. But there is a simple formula that will help tremendously to KEEP them healthy. The life blood of any business is sales. No business has ever failed from selling more goods than its competitors. And one of the easiest ways to SELL more people more goods is to REACH more people and tell them what it is you have to sell AND WHY THEY WILL BENEFIT BY BUYING IT.

That's where we come in. Our newspaper reaches more people at less cost to you than any other advertising medium. People read our paper THOROUGHLY . . . they read and act on the advertisements in it. They have a huge amount of money to spend on goods and services that might just as well be yours. We can help you plan your advertising for faster, better results, too. We'll be glad to work with you or your advertising manager; and remember, this extra service costs you nothing.

Sheep Production Increases In Rowan; Agent Warns On Purchases Of Fertilizer

By Adrian M. Razer
(County Agent)

Five from Rowan County attended the sheep shearing school held on the farm of Hager Ray and John Cundiff in Morgan County last week. Purpose was to teach local people how to shear sheep for themselves and others.

The school was conducted by Ed Warner of the Sunbeam Corporation in cooperation with the Kentucky Extension Service. Those attending from this county were Chenaux James, Dorsey Gregory, Millie Perkins, Charles White and Woodford Black.

Feeder Pig Show And Sale Scheduled

The third feeder pig show and sale will be held by the Northeast Kentucky Feeder Pig Association at Flemingsburg on May 6.

Everyone having pigs weighing between 30 and 100 pounds are invited to sell them through the association or anyone looking for pigs can find them that day. They should contact H. L. Grannis, President of the Cooperative, Flemingsburg, or Curt Evans, Secretary, Farmers. An estimated 1,000 pigs will be sold.

Fertilizer-Insecticide Mixture Not Recommended

Fertilizers containing insecticides are not recommended for use on Kentucky tobacco land by the Experiment Station. There are several reasons for this, one being that the insecticide application should be based on kind and number of destructive insects actually present in the soil.

A second reason is that such a mixture makes it difficult to apply the needed amount of insecticide. A mixture that amounted to 300 pounds per acre might not have the proper amount of insecticide for a particular field. A field calling for 2,000 pounds of fertilizer could have several times as much insecticide as the field needs.

Excessive amounts might damage the growing plants. Insecticides should be used according to needs and fertilizer used according to soil tests and cropping history.

How To Kill Your Critter DEAD

When Sam'l was a youngish man In the hills of Arkansas, He'd shoot grub for the frying pan And bring it to his Ma.

His game was always cleanly shot, Plugged squarely through the eye, And folks who had an empty pot Would often ask Sam why.

How come you never miss — or drill your critter in the tail? How come you always make a kill Where other hunters fail?

I'm short on powder, Sam'l said, Can spare one load each day, I GOT to shoot my critter dead — Or I'd be eating hay.

Advertising dollars are a form of ammunition. Sometimes you haven't got too many and you have to make every shot count. At such times, like Sam'l, you MUST get results; you just can't afford to fool around with "maybe media."

That's when it's reassuring to know you have a sure-shot winner in this newspaper. For this newspaper is no scatter-shot blunderbuss. It's a high power rifle that bullets your message straight and fast to the folks who have money to spend on the things you have to sell.

So... next time YOU want to get more sales at lowest cost... aim for the bull's eye marked "Advertising Results." Pull the trigger to bigger sales by running your ad in your local newspaper.

Eagle Baseballers, Fair, Fannin, Caudill Are Long Time T'mates

By Bob Lowe

The infield of the Morehead State College baseball squad is familiar to down town sports fans. Since they were in the fifth grade, three Morehead seniors, Charles Caudill, Dale Fair, and Johnny Fannin have played ball together. Shirts and skins, junior high and high school basketball found these three boys playing together at Breckinridge Training School. When Breckinridge revived baseball in 1952, these three high school freshmen made the starting team. The paradox is that Fair and Fannin started at their present positions of first and second, but Caudill, Morehead's ace catcher played left field that year.

The next year John "Sonny" Allen took over Brock's helm and moved Caudill into the catching slot.

In baseball they led Breck to the finals of the regional tournament in 1954, a Morehead Junior American Legion team to the finals of their state tournament, and played together for West Liberty's Bluegrass League team. They also played Junior League baseball their last three summers of high school.

For four years these three have been starting on the college baseball team, including the 1957 OVC championship team.

Dale Fair has grown up in Morehead; his father being college regent.

Dale is a most versatile boy. This year he played football, where he was the tallest man on the team, and started on the basketball team. He is also a right good tennis player, and can be seen in late summer playing Charles Caudill on the college courts.

Dale moved in from the outfield this year to take over his old high school position, first base. Dale has been getting his share of hits this year, but hasn't equalled the same run form he showed in the final game last year.

Johnny Fannin, also a native of Morehead, has been playing second base since his freshman year in high school. Last year he hit .275 for the Eagles. This year he has also been hitting the ball including a clutch single that helped win the Alma Mich game. John is noted for two things: for his ability to lose baseballs, fouling two or three over the third base fence every time he bats, and for his ability to get on base in the Hilldale game this year he was hit by a pitch two times. John is the only one of the three that wears glasses.

Charles Caudill came to Morehead from Frankfort in the fifth grade. He played little league ball in Frankfort. If you ever ride through there with him he will undoubtedly point out the field where "I used to knock it over the fence into the river."

Caudill batted .488 last year for Morehead as he led the nation's college hitters.

Morehead State College's baseball team includes two other Breckinridge products, Danny Pierce, the short stop, and Jack Carter, who is assisting Coach Allen.

Antibiotic May Increase Egg Production

Terramycin (an antibiotic) added to poultry feed at the rate of 250 grams a ton apparently helped egg production in a test conducted last season by the poultry section of the Kentucky Experiment Station.

The researchers divided 72 White Leghorn pullets into two groups and put them in separate rooms, one kept at a temperature of 70 degrees F. or lower, the other at 70 degrees F. or higher. Diets of the groups in each room were divided into three types: one a cage-laying ration; second, a control diet high in salt; and the third, the control diet with the terramycin supplement.

The birds in the cooler environment produced the largest number of eggs, the researchers said; and the highest production in warm or cool room was by pullets on the antibiotic diet. Birds on the high salt diet or the standard (control) ration showed little difference in egg production.

Egg weights were largest from hens maintained in the cool room, the researchers found; and the antibiotic feeding produced the Taylor and Redmond are both tackles. Taylor weighing 228 and Redmond 215. Hicks is a 260-pound guard and Anthony a 180-pound fullback.

"We feel that all four of these boys are top-notch prospects and will help us next year," said Penny, who was named head coach at Morehead after the resignation of Paul Adams at the end of the 1958 season.

Williams, a 6-4 center, paced the fourth-place Camels in rebounding and averaged 13.5 points per game.

Dr. Doran Awarded Lincoln Key At KEA

Dr. Adron Doran, president of Morehead State College, last Friday was awarded the 1959 Lincoln Key award by the Kentucky Education Association.

Dr. Doran was cited at the closing session of the K. E. A. convention at Jefferson County Armory for having accomplished "full-scale integration in his college without fanfare."

The Lincoln Key is awarded annually to a person in Kentucky who has rendered outstanding service to the education of Negroes. It is presented by K. E. A. in conjunction with the Lincoln Foundation.

An educator in Kentucky schools more than a quarter of a century, Dr. Doran is a past president of K. E. A. He served in the State Legislature from 1944 through 1953 and was Speaker of the Kentucky House of Representatives in 1951. He has been president of Morehead five years.

Under his guidance, integration proceeded without incident in the 1957-58 school year when four Negro girls entered Morehead for nursing courses.

One moved into a dormitory, making Morehead probably Kentucky's first State college with a Negro living on the campus. Ten Negroes now are enrolled, all staying in dormitories.

"The year before we integrated I talked to the faculty on how to approach it," Dr. Doran said. "Then two days before the term began I called in 50 student leaders and talked to them."

"Integration," he said, "came not through the efforts of one individual, but through the faith, confidence and belief of many."

Miss Sara Rives, who presented the award, said in naming Dr. Doran, "The Lincoln Key is given each year to a person in this state who has rendered outstanding service in the education of Negroes. The Lincoln Key takes its name from Kentucky's illustrious son who gave his life that all men might be free and equal."

She added, "Another of Kentucky's sons has attained many of the traits of the 'Tall American' and has demonstrated his belief that he is indeed his brother's keeper."

"I shall not eulogize this man tonight," Miss Rives continued. "I shall only say that he accomplished full scale integration in his college without fanfare. He is seeking to publicize as he went about his work with diligence and foresight."

She said, "The selection this year was made without argument. One man stood out against the crowd to such an extent that he received the unquestioned, unanimous vote of the committee."

Love, Marriage Are Incompatible

"Love," said the professor, "is a passion."

"And the literal definition of passion," he continued, "is suffering. It is the tension between desire and fulfillment. As love becomes fulfilled, it ceases to exist."

That is why, the professor told newsmen, love and marriage are just plain incompatible.

Americans, he went on, believe that love and marriage are essential to each other. That, says the professor, is why there are so many divorces.

Before you decide he is talking through his hat, take a look at precedents. He is Dr. Ernst Van den Haag. He was born in the Netherlands, lived in France and Italy before coming to the United States in 1940.

He is a psychoanalyst. He is also a sociologist, whose specialty is cultural anthropology. He lectures at New York University. He is co-author of an outsize book, "The Fabric of Society," which sells for $10.

Love, he explains, calls for complete abandon. Marriage, on the other hand, is a sober state. Each has its place, but the couple who tries to mix the two is asking for trouble, he believes.

He describes love as "necessary, temporary, irrational, unpredictable and frustrated." It may, he says, make one happy or unhappy. "Just like many irrational things, such as mountain climbing."

"Marriages, on the other hand," he contends, "is a very serious matter. It is rational, very legal and quite public. It is, in fact, based on the temporary nature of love, and was designed by nature to compel people to spend time to live together long after their ardor had cooled."

"When everyone drums it into your head that you should be in love with your wife, instead of realizing that love and marriage are incompatible, a man is likely to conclude that his wife is at fault. He then divorces her and starts all over again, with the same results."

Dr. Van de Haag is a scholarly looking man, not yet middle aged. He smokes cigars and wears tortoise-shell glasses. He lives in a comfortable office apartment in Greenwich Village.

He is, not surprisingly, a bachelor.

What Is the Lord's Supper?

One of a series of papers about the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ), the largest religious body in America.

ONE OF the most famous of all religious paintings shows Jesus with his disciples at supper. It was the last time they were all together.

Today the Lord's Supper, which Jesus instituted that night, is observed every Sunday in the Christian Church—by one of our two ordinances. The other is baptism.

The Lord's Supper, which symbolized Christ's willing sacrifice of His life for those who would follow Him, became a weekly memorial to the early Church, which was established soon after His death. Now, as then, it is a deepened of worship, when Christians re-examine their lives, dedicating themselves to Him, and strengthen their faith and fellowship with both God and man.

Because we believe sincerely in the need for unity of all Christian groups, we do not limit the Lord's Supper to our members, but practice "open communion." We are glad to share this warm spiritual experience with other Christians.

The door of every Christian Church is open to you.

Watts Optimistic On Tobacco Bill

Rep. John C. Watts (D-Ky.) said this week there is a chance the bill favorably last week on a 21-10 vote, reportedly along party lines. Watts said he had a key GOP member of the committee.

Watts, who represents the nation's biggest burley district, said he and the Republican agreed on minor revisions that would not change the effect of the new bill. He said the member is checking with other GOP committee members to see if they will agree.
