Social Security Facts

Social Security Administration Keeps Accurate Records Of Earnings For Employees

Are you doing your part to insure yourself and your employees under social security? While the Social Security Administration carefully preserves the records of your earnings as reported to the Internal Revenue Service, it is up to you to see that you are receiving proper credit for your wages and self-employment earnings.

Those of you who speak for others should know whether your wages are being properly reported by your employer. If you are self-employed in a business or profession or as a farm operator or farm tenant, you are responsible for properly reporting your income to Internal Revenue for any year in which you have net earnings of $400 or more. Farmers, if they wish, may report as earnings two-thirds of their gross farm income, within certain limits regardless of whether they make an actual profit.

If you employ others, you should be sure the wages of your employees are accurately reported to Internal Revenue. Accurate and timely reporting will protect the Social Security benefits of your employees and will eliminate the possibility of your having to pay penalty and interest on delinquent taxes due on the wages of your employees.

STARTED LOTS OF NOISE

John Adams Ordered That 4th Of July Be Colorfully Observed

Who put the fireworks in the Fourth of July?

Much of the credit goes to John Adams, according to The World Book Encyclopedia. The Founding Father declared that Independence Day "ought to be solemnized with pomp and parade, with shows, games, sports, guns, bells, bonfires, and illuminations, from one end of this continent to the other, from this time forward for evermore."

So, from that time forward, the birthday of the U. S. has been marked by brilliant explosions of color and noise—and the deaths and accidents that invariably accompany them.

Americans, however, got the idea for fireworks from Europeans, who got the idea from the Arabs, who merely copied the Chinese.

In 1222 A.D., when a Chinese city was besieged by Mongols, the defenders cooked up a batch of saltpeter, sulfur and charcoal and frightened their attackers with "arrows of flying fire."

Arabs were quick to copy these weapons, which probably were rockets. The Crusaders brought them back to Europe, where the Italians discovered that they made fancy exhibits as well as formidable weapons.

By the time fireworks spread to England and France, figures and structures of wood and plaster had been added.

In 1520, when Henry VIII met Francis I on the Field of the Mirrors, the king of France had the atomic energy plant which has been declared surplus by the Atomic Energy Commission and put up for sale by the General Services Administration.

Cooper's bill would give the state one of the four parcels. It was thought if bids asked for the rest of the land were not high enough the entire area might be turned over to the state which has been wanting to develop a field trial area there. Kentucky already owns about 400 adjoining acres which would serve as a part of the field trial project.

Someone has suggested that the outer garments of patriotism often cover the underwear of self-interest.

There are times when placing trust in others is the only answer, and it works out in a surprising number of cases.

Cloth of Gold in northern France the historic moment was celebrated by the appearance of a huge dragon that shimmered across the sky breathing fire.

By the 1600's, fireworks had developed into such an art that two schools of thought had arisen to argue over methods of display.

The Southern school, centered in Italy, concentrated on building elaborate structures such as castles and temples, from which the fireworks were exploded. The technique of setting off the fireworks was shrouded in mystery.

The Northern school, influenced by the Protestant movement in Germany, thought the Italian procedure smacked of popery. The Northerners exhibited their fireworks before the show, for all to admire, and then made them the important part of the display.

While the two schools fought over their firecrackers, fireworkers crossed the Atlantic and became an American institution.

Cooper Offers Bill To Give 666 Acres To State

A bill to give the state of Kentucky 666 acres of land for conservation of recreation has been introduced in Washington by Sen. John Sherman Cooper (R-Ky.).

The land is part of a total of 2,300 acres next to the Paducah atomic energy plant which has been declared surplus by the Atomic Energy Commission and put up for sale by the General Services Administration.

Cooper's bill would give the state one of the four parcels. It was thought if bids asked for the rest of the land were not high enough the entire area might be turned over to the state which has been wanting to develop a field trial area there. Burley Bill Appears Out This Year

Experts Believe That Legislation To Be Sidetracked

Word being passed on Capitol Hill this week was that there probably won't be any new tobacco price support legislation passed in this session of Congress. Rep. John C. Watts (D-Ky.), a representative of a big burley section, said conversations he has had with tobacco men indicate they "won't buy" a bill introduced by Sen. Thurston B. Morton (R-Ky.).

Morton's measure was offered as a substitute to the industry-sponsored tobacco price support bill that was killed by President Eisenhower's veto last week.

Morton's bill would freeze tobacco price supports for two years and guarantee no acreage cuts to tobacco growers in the 1960 crop. The objective is to stabilize the price at that end of the two year freeze.

Congress would be confronted with two alternatives:

1. A sudden jump in support prices that would be undesirable.

2. A rewritten tobacco program which would result in prices going too low, also undesirable.

Another fear, Watts said, is that the tobacco companies might institute "hold-the-month" purchasing during the freeze to see whether they might profit from lowered prices when it next off.

In Morton's office, there was more optimism. An aide said: "We simply want to do what people in the tobacco industry want to have done."

Republican sources said the President might well have signed the bill—aimed at stabilizing tobacco price supports—had he been asked to consider tobacco alone.

The difficulty, these sources said, was that the President also had the wheat bill, and Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson was determined that one should be vetoed.

It was felt, they added, that it would be inconsistent for the President to sign the tobacco and reject the wheat bill, since both contain price supports the administration considers too high.

TV Must Be Kept Morally Clean

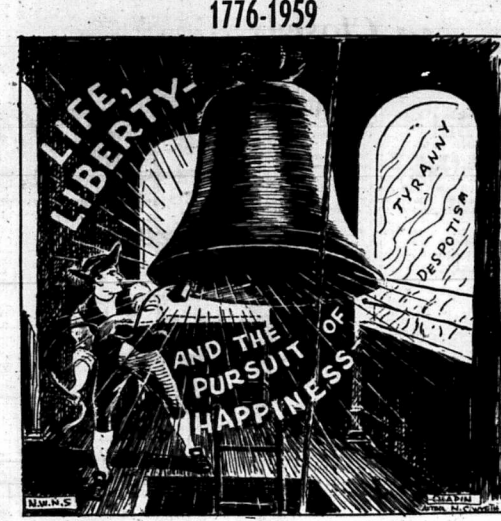

Because television is a medium now accepted and adored by the general public, judges and other officials have the obligation to keep the industry spotlessly clean.

One other word of caution is the suggestion that we try one of several floating techniques when next in the water. Many people can float indefinitely without any effort if they will hold their head back so that only the nose is above water.

Six Pound Bass Caught Near Willibar; Says Fish Fry Tickets May Be Too High

By Clemmie Mellon

Willibar Henderson, a fisherman, netted a mighty big fish over to Mark Cann's pond. It was a six pound bass. He took home with him and then he called Cann to see if it would be alright to keep the fish. He said he would see about keeping the fish of course Mr. Cann lets everybody keep all they catch.

Several have been wanting Willibar to let them fellows have that fish for one of them fish fries but he won't do it. Several fellows have been a talking like they would like to go to them fish fries but seems like most everyone thinks maybe they are just a little grain too high on them tickets. They say Waterfield is a mighty good hand to cook up fish for them fish fries.

Preacher Duane Raye went off on one of them vacations that some people get and he had my youngun Jackie to feed his dog. Jackie can't never find the dog house with my three dogs. Still Jackie has been putting the feed in a pan for this dog and he reckoned the dog had been eating and eating it because it were all gone the next morning.

George Leo Deaton went down to Williba and he said seemed like the dog Tippy had never plumb got eating. If that man says so, I guess Tippy won't eat any more. Mrs. Deaton can't hardly get him to eat anything. Still he got something to eat. Then he won't eat what she gives him. Lee is that Tippy has stayed in awful good shape physically while seemingly on this diet.

Well, Tippy ain't hungry. He's been coming down to preacher Raye's house and eating all that good dog food put out for the preacher's dog. Now Jackie has took the feed down to Pap's house so the dog can be fed down there. Tippy is now listening for the kitchen door to slam.

Mrs. Matt Bowman pointed to a big hole of water in Bear Creek which is just below her house in Caney. "Law, Law," she says. "I've drowned 500 or a 1000 cats right in that big hole of water and I'm going to drown them other five kittens over in the hole if I can ever catch them."

Herbert Lutes has got him a invite to go to one of them big Kentucky lakes with them Ashland oil working fellows and have him a big time. They're a going to swim, dance, eat, and have them a big time. Herbert has already tried his bathing suit on and his woman Jesse told him that maybe he ought not to swim none while he were over to that lake. She might be a man just don't have the form to his body to fit in no bathing suit and since they're a going to do some horseback riding over there, she has suggested that Herbert just take his mule back over there to that lake. He guess Herbert will take his mule instead of his bathing suit.

As soon as Clyde Rogers moved out on Millmore Ridge in Beattyville, him and his woman took off for Florida for a week. He said he had a fairly good time

Morehead STATE COLLEGE

By RAY HORNBACK
(Public Relations Director)

People from all parts of the nation will be arriving in Morehead on July 27 for the eighth annual Writer's Workshop.

The Workshop, which is geared toward people interested in the writing of fiction, non-fiction and poetry, has developed into one of the leading two-week-writers' conferences in the nation.

Such a statement is not an idle boast as Workshop Director Al Stewart has already received enrollments from over a dozen states and has an outstanding staff including veteran writers from Kentucky, Tennessee, Wyoming and Massachusetts.

The Workshop is Kentucky's only such writers' gathering. And where else could one find a better setting for such creative endeavors than on the beautiful Morehead State College campus?

The Morehead region literally abounds with rich folklore material and has long been the setting for some of the best writing to come out of Kentucky.

Coupled with the informal academic atmosphere found during the summer school, all of the aforementioned factors have made the Morehead Writer's Workshop a nationally recognized meeting of writing minds.

Director Stewart has managed to bring together some of the top names in the writing field to serve on the staff.

Hollis Summers, Lexington, Harvey Curtis Webster, Louisville, James Still, Hindman and Robert Hazel of Lexington are all recognized novelists and poets who have achieved nationwide acclaim for their work.

Robert Francis, from Amherst, Mass., is possibly the dean of writers' workshops, having conducted the time-tested Chautauque

Workshop, Harry Harrison Kroll, Martin, Tenn., directed the Beer-sheba Writer's Conference and his book, "Cabin in the Cotton" was made into a movie, starring Bette Davis.

John Napier, Oak Ridge, Tenn., is one of the South's leading authorities on poetry and drama and Peggy Simon Curry, Casper, Wyoming, is a prolific writer who adds the feminine touch to the workshop.

You probably are saying now that we're quite enthusiastic about our Writer's Workshop. Well, we are, because we feel we have something really unique to offer the people of Kentucky.

If you're the least bit interested in creative writing, we suggest that if you can't enroll for the entire two-week workshop, you plan to visit with us, even if we be for only a single evening lecture, conference or informal gathering.

For those persons who desire more detailed information, Al Stewart will be most happy to hear from you.

Only Wanted A Place To Rest For A While

Abraham Dykes, 25, Philadelphia, Pa., told Benham, Ky. police last week he "was tired and wanted a place to rest" when he threw his suitcase through the glass door of a building.

Police said they arrested the man at 5 a. m. Thursday, 15 minutes after the front door of the Benham Lodge Hall had been smashed.

Nothing was taken but police granted his wish. Dykes is resting in Harlan County jail under $2,000 bond on a breaking and entering charge.

Everybody got right excited down to the county seat. Three of them big old Army hellfoes got up and started talking on the ground like big birds.

Shelby Creech told me that John Roberts got pretty poorly last week according to Shelby John had the cholera mobs and it nearly got the best of him. But John is out working again but he cholera mobs certainly cut him down a right smart.

That man what wanted to rub some of that medicine on my knee to cure my my lint pains found some of that medicine in a store in St. Helens and he practically give Jasper a bath in his pain killing medicine. The man wanted to demonstrate the curing effects of his medicine and Jasper were a hurting a right smart and he stepped up for the treatment. The man asked, "Where do you hurt all over?" exclaimed Jasper. "Good gosh a mighty man, I hurt all over," exclaimed Jasper. "We heard it took two bottles to cure Jasper his pain but he claims it done him a mighty lot of good."

Study Effects Of Filter Tip Cigarettes

UK Gets $4,000 For Research From State Agency

Kentucky's Department of Economic Development has earmarked $4,000 to further a University of Kentucky study of the effects of filter tip cigarettes and reconstituted tobacco on the market.

The sum was among $2,000 in agricultural research grants approved by the department's Agricultural Development Board recently for the 1959-1960 fiscal year beginning July 1.

Dr. William A. Seay, vice-director of the U. of K. College of Agriculture and Home Economics and a member of the development board, said the tobacco market today is in the "throes of a revolution."

Citing the need for continued research to keep tobacco growers abreast of constantly changing market requirements, Dr. Seay reported the increased use of filters and homogenized tobacco has enabled cigarette manufacturers to greatly alter and vary their tobacco blends.

"The situation is so dynamic and fluid, it is hard to tell which way the market is going to move," he said.

A surplus of 282 million pounds of burley stored in warehouses, of which 185 million pounds is five years old, is another major problem facing burley growers, said Dr. Robert Rudd, of the university's agricultural economics staff.

Still another problem, Dr. Rudd said, is the need for developing new foreign outlets for blue-cured tobacco. Price competition abroad has reduced the overseas consumption of blue-cured, raising the threat that it will increasingly compete with burley in the domestic markets, he said.

The $4,000 grant is the second approved by the development board for tobacco research. In cooperation with the Burley Tobacco Growers' Association, the board allocated $5,000 to the university for this purpose in mid-1956.

52-Year-Old Ticket Is Still Good At L&N

Fifty-two years ago Dr. Austin W. Smith of Cookeville, Tenn., bought a 15-cent ticket from the Louisville & Nashville Railroad. Recently he found it among his papers and noticed it had no expiration date. L&N assured him the ticket still was valid.

This week Smith boarded the passenger train at L&N's new station at Estill Springs, Tenn., for an eight-minute ride to Decherd, Tenn.

Rowan Needy To Receive Dried Eggs

Dried eggs will be distributed by the USDA in Rowan County, announced Bruce Botts. The eggs will be distributed following demonstrations of how to use them. Dried eggs can be used easily in many recipes that call for fresh eggs. Miss Elizabeth Helton, University of Kentucky Extension specialist in foods and nutrition points out three rules to follow for best results: 1. sift and measure the dried eggs accurately; 2. cook thoroughly; 3. store carefully. Some of the recipes that turn out well when dried eggs are substituted for shell eggs are cakes, breads, custards, meat loaves, cookies, casseroles, and scrambled eggs. Miss Helton says that since eggs have a lot of protein, they are good substitutes for meat.

Tobacco Group Will Meet July 6 To Discuss Veto

Tobacco men will meet next week to decide whether to ask Congress to override President Eisenhower's veto of legislation which would have held tobacco price supports at 1958 levels for the next four or five years. Fred S. Royter of Henderson, N. C., chairman of an industry-wide committee which sponsored the legislation, said the meeting will be held in Richmond, Va., July 6. The committee is composed of representatives of 35 organizations.

Meanwhile, opposition showed swiftly to a new bill introduced Friday by Sen. Thurston B. Morton (R. Ky.) which would freeze tobacco supports for the 1959 and 1960 crop years and would also prevent a reduction in acreage allotments for the 1960 crop.

Royter termed the Morton bill "a cleverly baited trap." He said he had found no support for the measure among members of the industry committee. Under present legislation, supports on burley tobacco, which averaged 33.4 cents a pound last year, are expected to increase to 37.6 cents or higher for the 1959 crop. The burley rate will not be announced until this fall.

Tobacco leaders fear that a continuing rise in support rates will hurt foreign sales. The industry-backed bill vetoed by Eisenhower would have set supports at 90 percent of either "old" or "modern" parity, whichever was lower, except that in no case would supports fall below 1958 levels unless farmers' production costs show a substantial decline.

Trio To Appear At Church Of God

The Melodaires Trio from Anderson, Ind., College will appear Sunday evening at 6:45 at the First Church of God in Morehead. A pastor, Tote said a "well-acquainted" four for the trio to meet young people of the church is also being arranged.

Civil Defense Pilot Program May Be Carried Out In State

A pilot program designed to teach the principles of civil defense to adults may be carried out in Kentucky—one of five states in the nation selected for the test. The proposal was approved this week by the State Board of Education. Under the plan, the federal government would underwrite a $75,000 program designed to teach 10,000 adult Kentuckians the vital techniques of survival.

But before it becomes final, the plan also must be approved by the U. S. Office of Education. The test program would work this way: The State Department of Education names a civil defense coordinator and two traveling teachers.

These three would go to the Civil Defense Mobilization Staff College at Battle Creek, Mich.

for two weeks special instruction. After returning to Kentucky, they would organize and teach 15 adult classes, with the hope that 103 would complete the course.

These 103, in turn, would be qualified as civil defense instructors. They each would organize and teach three classes a year, at a salary of $60 per class.

At the end of one year, around 10,000 Kentuckians would have a working knowledge of what to do in the case of sudden enemy attack.

If the plan works out well in Kentucky and the other pilot states, it might be expanded to a national program.

Annual

Meeting - Farm Show

THURSDAY, JULY 9

Fleming-Mason R. E. C. C.

The Fleming-Mason R. E. C. C. annual meeting and Farm Show will be held on the cooperative's property about one mile southwest of Flemingsburg on Highway 32, according to the cooperative's manager C. J. Ross.

This will be an evening meeting opening at 6 P. M. and closing about 10 P. M. The meeting will operate on Eastern Standard Time.

The Kentucky Association of Rural Electric Cooperatives will again provide the entertainment, the large tent, food trailer, and other facilities.

Highlights of the program will be an hour long "1959 Farm Show", music, a beauty contest, election of directors, and many interesting demonstrations of appliances and farm machinery. The 4-H tractor driving contest will be held at 4:30 P. M. in the annual meeting.

Many attractive attendance prizes will be awarded including an electric portable mixer, electric fry pan, corn poppers, electric clock, lawn lights, percolator, and as a grand prize the winner may select one of the following appliances: electric range, clothes dryer, home freezer, refrigerator, or water heater and water pump combination.

Members are asked to clip the official registration ticket from the June issue of Rural Kentuckian in order to speed up registration and to be eligible for prizes.

Barney Arnold of WHAS-TV in Louisville will be a special guest at the meeting.

Sandwiches, soft drinks, and ice water will be available on the grounds.

The cooperative's directors, manager, and employees extend a cordial invitation to members and friends of Fleming-Mason R. E. C. C.

Sell Lambs Now For Top Price, Expert Advises

Sell lambs with good killer weights/2nd finish soon, says R. Miller, sheep specialist.

Prices are expected to be higher than when receipts are greater later in the season," Miller said. "There is also a need to get off as many of the lambs as possible before hot weather; as lambs make little gain during the hot part of the summer."

He noted that unless parasite control is good, lambs can get a setback that would make the farmer carry the lambs into fall or winter for finishing, as was the case in 1958.

Miller thinks lambs of about 90 to 95 pounds weight are the best. The markets will take heavier lambs, he said, but those weighing more than 100 pounds may be penalized. Thus, lambs which have reached good killer weights and condition should go to market and those which, at weaning time, have reached 80 pounds should go to market, too, rather than being carried over for heavier weights.

Good parasite control is a must, Miller says. Flecks should be dosed every 21 days and given good mature rotation to avoid trouble. This more frequent dosing is necessary because of the heavy buildup from last year of parasites, particularly a piperazine-resistant strain of the common stomach worm.

Light lambs on hand by weaning time in early July should be dosed and put on the cleanest pasture available. A corn field which is in tassel stage would be an ideal place for these lambs, Miller said.

MARRIED ALMOST THREE SCORE YEARS

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie E. Hogge Observe 59th Anniversary

How does it feel to be married all this century—59 years? Mr. and Mrs. Charlie E. Hogge, West Main Street, Morehead, think it's wonderful and "we learned to love each other more every year."

They observed their 59th wedding anniversary June 22, Mrs. Hogge, at usual, cooked a wonderful meal, including her home baked bread.

They met at a Newfoundland school social almost 60 years ago and were soon married. The wedding was performed in a buggy on the little Sandy Hook wooden bridge near Sandy Hook by Rev. Robert Parsons, Mrs. Hogge recalls that he was a hard-shell Baptist preacher while her husband said the old bridge had long since washed out and been replaced by a modern structure.

They lived three places. An outdoor wedding in a spick and span buggy, or survey, was fashionable in those days. Of course, they wore their finest for the ceremony followed by a brief honeymoon and setting up house-keeping on a North Fork of Trip-let farm in Rowan County.

The Hogges have lived only three places during their almost three score years of married life—in North Fork, at Gates and in Morehead.

This is one of the best known pioneer families of the area and number their friends and acquaintances by thousands.

Mr. Hogge has done a little farming, but mostly he has been engaged in the timber business all the way from woods logging to management of a lumber plant.

He presently operates Highburn Lumber Company about a mile east of Morehead on U. S. 50 which produces excellent trees grown in this section. He sold perhaps a million crosses during the last 15 days in the woods.

Perhaps Mrs. Hogge's proudest achievement is in the kitchen. All the family say she is the best "cook ever" and she modestly admits "I guess I do make pretty good biscuits, cornbread, pies and cakes."

Had 11 Children
Mr. and Mrs. Hogge became the parents of 11 children, of whom 10 are living and in good health.

They are: Ivan Hogge, Morehead, born 1901; Kenneth Hogge, Morehead, born 1902; Mrs. Iva Evans, Morehead, born 1904; Mrs. Lillie Johnson, Grayson, born 1906; Mrs. Opal Anderson, Hammond, born 1908; Mrs. Imogene Adams, Daytona Beach, Fla., born on their wedding anniversary in 1910; Chester Hogge, Greenup, born 1915; Roy Hogge, Morehead, born 1920; Robert, born 1920, died in infancy; and Mrs. Audrey Plank, RFD 2, Morehead, born 1922.

There are 27 grandchildren and 28 great grandchildren. When first married Mr. and Mrs. Hogge taught school briefly. She resigned "to take care of the children" and he quit that profession because "it didn't pay enough to support my family." Teachers paid about $25 a month for five months school term in those days.

Mr. Hogge has been a life-long Democrat and takes an active part in primary and general election campaigns, although he never held public office.

They keep a family Bible, dating back to the middle of the last century, with a complete family tree. It shows that Mr. Hogge was born at New Hope in Rowan County on Sept. 19, 1878, son of the late George and Bessie (Burton) Hogge. He was one of five children—four boys and one girl. Two brothers, Tilden Hogge and Willie Hogge reside on North Fork.

Mrs. Hogge was the former Sarah Johnson. She was born Nov. 6, 1880, in Elliott County, daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. W. W. Johnson. She has a sister, Florence Holbrook, who lives near Doesn't seem so long ago—Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Hogge hold a Rowan County News reporter that "it just doesn't seem we've been married 59 years." They were wed in a buggy at Sandy Hook June 22, 1900 after they met at a Newfoundland school social. Both are in excellent health, Mrs. Hogge said. "Charlie is such a fine man," Mr. Hogge, who has been in the timber and lumber business all his life, commented. "I have the finest wife in the world."

Fronton, O., and a brother George Johnson, Elliott County. All the other members of the family have passed on.

Mr. and Mrs. Hogge are in almost perfect health and he spends 10 or 12 hours a day operating the lumber company.

They said on their 59th anniversary, "The Lord has been kind to us."

State GOP Plans Dinner For Morton

Will Honor National Chairman In Louisville July 18

The Republican State Central Committee made plans this week for a $100 a plate dinner honoring U. S. Sen. Thurston Morton. Funds raised will help finance the fall state election campaign.

The committee met and July 18 at "Morton Day" and will hold the dinner in Louisville that night. Morton will be honored for his work as GOP National Chair-man.

Chairman Dewey Daniel of Hazard called a report that the Republi-can National Committee would not give much support to the Kentucky fall election "hog-wash."

He said he was sure the national group would help all it could.

The GOP finance committee did not meet Saturday although a fi-nance session had been scheduled, because several members didn't get there, Daniel said.

Gubernatorial candidate John M. Robison Jr. and other state GOP members spoke briefly at the meeting, which was closed to the press.

An Old, Long Established, Morehead Business Changes Ownership & Management

Curt Hutchinson Retiring From Curt's Motor Sales

I have disposed of my interest in Curt's Motor Sales, and as of July 1, Mr. U. W. Waltz is the new owner and manager. Most of you know Mr. Waltz and I cannot recommend him too highly. I leave the business with the conviction that Mr. Waltz will carry on with the same quality service and courtesy we have rendered in the past.

I appreciate from the bottom of my heart all the wonderful "real" customers who have patronized us and been my personal friends through the years. I know that you will stand by Mr. Waltz the same as you have me and my fine staff. Again, I thank all of you.

CURT HUTCHINSON

U. W. Waltz New Owner, Manager, Curt's Motor Sales

It is seldom that an old established and one hundred percent reliable business like Curt's Motor Sales changes hands. I consider it a privilege, as well as an obligation to the public, to assume the ownership and management of this company. You will find the same high quality service as in the past.

I believe that we offer the finest repair service in Eastern Kentucky—and, of course, the reputation of Curt's Motor Sales on new and used cars is recognized by hundreds of customers.

It is a privilege to announce that the same mechanics, office personnel, etc. will remain with me, and your continued good will and patronage constitutes the basis of our business.

U. W. WALTZ

Accounts Receivable Handled As In Past

All accounts receivable and outstanding notes or other obligations due Curt Hutchinson up to July 1 will be paid to Mrs. Lenna Coleman at Curt's Motor Sales as in the past.

Under terms of the sales contract Mr. Waltz will assume all obligations, etc. of the company on and after July 1, 1959.
