Tragic But It's True—If Nuclear War Starts The Death Rate Would Be Terrific

If 200 nuclear weapons should burst over the major cities of the United States one October morning...

Fifty million Americans would die and 20 million more would be seriously injured.

Half the population would be homeless.

Radiation would cause millions of agonizing deaths and contaminate food and water supplies.

But— Nearly 100 million would be unharmed and casualties would be reduced enormously if an effective Civil Defense system were in operation.

Advanced fields would recover their fertility. The United States, in short, would survive.

Grim And Not-So-Grim

This picture, at one grim and not-so-grim, was presented this week by the Senate-House Committee on Atomic Energy after an analysis of its hearings last June on the biological and environmental effects of nuclear war.

The committee's findings were based on five days of testimony by experts dealing with a hypothetical attack on the United States.

The committee assumed that 200 weapons ranging from 1 to 10 megatons in power (a megaton equals one million tons of TNT) rained down on heavy population centers and industrial and military targets.

It found that 50 million persons would die, nearly 20 billion the first day and the rest from fatal injuries. Three-fourths of those killed would be victims of the bomb's blast and heat. A quarter would die from radiation exposure.

New York City would suffer six million dead and two million injured. Seventy-five per cent of everyone in the Boston area and 80 per cent of those around Baltimore would be killed. In Chicago, where there are fewer military targets, fatalities would amount to 18 per cent.

The committee counted 11,800,000 homes destroyed and another 10 million damaged so as to be temporarily unusable. Another 10 million homes would be so contaminated by radiation it would be months before anyone could live in them.

Fires 25 Miles Away

It was determined that brick apartment houses seven miles from the detonation of a 10 megaton bomb would fly apart. Fires would be started 25 miles away. The effect of radiation on those in the open would be swift and deadly.

Virtually all crops growing east of the Mississippi River would be either destroyed or contaminated by radiation.

Looking over this picture of a bomb-shattered country the committee found elements that, if not properly described as hoped, at least depart from the picture of unrelieved disaster.

It concluded that even widespread nuclear war would not mean an end to civilization or the human race. Stored crops can be contaminated and even fields peppered with Strontium 90, the deadly ingredient of radioactive fallout, will some day recover fully, it said.

Less Could Be Reduced

And if a serious effort is made, it added, the human loss could be strikingly reduced.

"Probably the most significant finding presented..." the committee reported, "was that Civil Defense preparedness could reduce the casualties of the assumed attack from approximately 50 per cent of the population to about 3 per cent."

By Civil Defense preparedness the committee means mainly bomb shelters for the entire population. It estimated that the cost of providing such protection would run between $5 billion dollars and 20 billion dollars, depending on the use made of existing facilities.

Dog Kills Man With 12 Gauge Gun

A dog accidentally shot and killed a man Saturday at Green will Springs, La.

J. B. Fairchild, 62, employed nearly 40 years by the Livestock Brand Commission, was rounding up some cattle at his home.

Driving slowly down the road with his two dogs following he stopped to talk to Robert Brewer, a friend, and started to drive on.

Out of sight of Brewer, he noticed his two dogs were not following and stopped to call them.

One, in the habit of riding in the back seat, jumped in as the second dog approached the car. The dog landed on Fairchild's 12-gauge shotgun, discharging it through the open door of the car and striking him below the stomach.

He screamed out to Brewer "I'm shot" and fell in a roadside ditch. Brewer called Fairchild's son, Dr. Jesse Fairchild. The son arrived but was unable to save his father who died within 30 minutes.

Good dictating equipment is one of the modern-day wonders and some firms are finally selling it at moderate cost—which is welcome.

Georgetown Game No Breather For Big, But Green Eagles

The Morehead College football team, in its second week of practice, is the best looking bunch of prospects we've seen at Jayne Stadium in 20 years.

They're big, fast, and act like football players—not scrawny lads with bits of determination and little ability which Morehead has had too much of in the past. The Eagles may hold their best chance since the death of Len Miller.

This fellow Coach Guy Penny indicates in this corner that he knows what this game is about. He started from scratch and recruited some of the day he came to Morehead.

But, don't get your hopes too high—after all they're mostly freshmen and it takes time and seasoning.

If you think the Eagles have a breather for their opening game at Georgetown Saturday, Sept. 19, you'd better take a deep breath. There are excerpts from the Lexington Herald: "The Georgetown town team has a gigantic line and pose a threat as the best small college team in the nation. Their Tiger defensive line averages 232 pounds with big veterans returning. . . . Jack, Kline, the highest scorer in the nation, is back. . . . 20 letters are returning and the only major problem is filling gaps at guard position by position, this should be the greatest football team in Georgetown's history."

We visited some friends in Georgetown the other day and pool-pooled the idea that Morehead might beat them, offering just a touchdown. The morehead man may be in for a big surprise come Saturday week if Coach Penny can get his potentially big and green Morehead team clicking on such short notice.

Politics Getting A Little Worn
Headlines this week portend some right lively political bickering, and voting in Rowan County at the Nov. 3 general election. They read like this: Republicans Name Campaign Chairman; Democratic Women Schedule; Jack Friday; . . . Six File For Gov. Set At Morehead; . . . Earle Christians and Joe Leary Make Peace, etc.

Things Look Up At College
We glanced through a Fleming-Burn paper last week and noted that Fleming High School graduates planned to attend college this fall as follows: . . . Headliners, 1; Centre 3, St. Joseph 1; Georgetown 1, Anderson 1; Highpoint 1, Transylvania 1; Millage 1, University of Kentucky 5.

He Told This Story Often
The untimely death of Alfie Sorrell this week brings to mind the sports-story from Rowan County that made the nation's headlines a few days ago. It was about "old ironheads," the muskie in Tripplet so big nobody could catch him.

Hoss told us recently this fish was still in Tripplet waters, near his farm, and he had seen it several times.

"How big is that muskie?" I asked Hoss.

His reply: "He that calf over in the field, well that calf can jump up to this little here in the pond."

Hoss was a general, small fellow who we always enjoyed dropping by to see him. A heart attack while he was sitting in the shade of the front yard put the life of the "biggest man in Rowan County."

These Dates Will Soon Be Announced
Plans are past the formative stage for a tobacco festival in Morehead next month. Look for the dates and program.

A group of local businessmen traveled to London last week observing how they staged their annual and successful flower show. The one at Morehead will be a two-day, check-off-of-events affair.

Plans are progressing for the annual Rowan County Fair Oct. 24-25, according to Manager Russell Brown. Hundreds of Rowan Countians will flock to Louisville the rest of the week and next week for the State Fair, opening tomorrow. Exposition Manager Clyde Reeves told this Editor the other day, "I can't think of a single thing we could have done to make this a bigger and better Fair than last year. It would have been a visit by Eisenhower and Khrushchev. Incidentally, the Russian dictator has been invited."

Signs Of These Changing Times
How many times have you boarded or un-boarded a CAO passenger train at Union Station in Lexington?

The old station is coming down. Stewart's Department Store purchased the building for its property and will expand. The fountain in front of the station was removed a couple years ago to make room for a parking lot.

It May Come Eventually

Here's bad news for the thousands of people in the area who dreamed Cave Run Dam would be built in their lifetime. . . . and good tidings for the handful of lucky River farmers who expressed vigorous opposition and have apparently won their case.

The Army Corps of Engineers advise this newspaper it appears improbable Cave Run reservoir will be created in the foreseeable future. They're having all kinds of trouble getting enough money for river and harbor projects underway, or approved on the drawing tables.

Cave Run may have been under construction today if opposition had been dormant.

Barkley Dam in Western Kentucky is being built even though the towns of Paducah and Kuttawa had to be relocated. And Barkley Dam planning came long after Cave Run.

Oh, well, maybe we can forget the whole damn thing while our citizens migrate elsewhere to find employment. Morehead people and franchises carry 90 per cent of the local tax burden, and potential industry turns up more at futility places of the Chamber of Commerce to locate in our midst.

The Big Were Very High

Widening and re-surfacing of 5th Street at rear of Morehead State College may have struck a snag today.

Highway engineers estimated cost at $54,000. Lowest bid, by Ad. . . . Carey of Lexington, was $20,615.

Commissioner Ward Oates said the whole thing is being re-evaluated. This project for which ground has been broken plus badly needed parking space. Should engineers decide their original estimate was too high, as expected a letting this month. If the other boys slide in their original cost figures it might be a lot of persuasion to get Oates' name on a contract.

Short Shots

In Lexington
This morning we read a report that seven Kentucky counties have been added to the nation's 5,000 population. . . . remember the time, not so long ago, when every community got set up if they one town school was consolidated. Everybody wants the consolidated system in which children have so many more advantages. It should be a lot of commotion in Rowan when small post offices were discontinued for RFD's. People on a rural route get better service, right? The director, then you can obtain at the post office.

Young will have the first of the "Avalon," their miniature boat you can see at the tobacco festival. The Rowan County News is the sponsor. We hope any boy or girl gets a chance to see this six foot model, a marvel of electronic and radio control, requiring 1,000 hours to build. . . . Morehead will live up over the week end with the arrival of students of Lexington students at the college.

The weatherman says we'll have a cloudy day with light rain, showers in the upper 80's and lower 90's.

Rubber Bands Not Advisable For Tobacco

Rubber bands are not recommended for use in tying primed leaves of burley tobacco and are not to be used under any conditions, says Russell Hunt, tobacco specialist with the University of Kentucky Co-Operative Extension Service.

Tobacco companies refer to bid on tobacco on which rubber bands are found, according to Hunt. Often the bands are concealed under the leaves and are not found until the tobacco is processed.

"Metalized rubber bands" also are not acceptable to the tobacco companies, he adds. Claims are made that processing removes all metalized bands, but this does not happen.

Last year, one major firm tested bands tied with metalized rubber bands, under "ideal test conditions for removal of such bands from the machinery," he says. They found that, in three test runs, only 4 out of 10 bands were recovered; in two, only 2 of 10; in the third, only 2 of 10.

Therefore, rubber bands of any type should not be used for tying tobacco leaves, Hunt emphasizes.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Moreheadians, And Rowan Countians Confused On Time

Editor, The News:

Past time? Slow time? What time? When time and how am I to keep tab on the time?

My husband goes to work on fast time—so does my daughter. Four others in the family go to school on slow time. I work on both times and hope I can take

This morning we didn't know if the clock was running on slow time or fast time so the Mr. left either a half hour early or a half hour late—the sun wasn't up by a couple of hours, so I couldn't tell by the one and only correct timepiece.

Mrs. Claude Fannin, Jr. Morehead, Ky.

Today I'm going to make signs for the three or four clocks, watches, etc., designating "This is slow time and this is fast time. I am a seamstress and this morning I have fittings at 10 and 11 or will it be 11 and 12—of course 9 and 10 or oh—help! Help!"

Mrs. Claude Fannin, Jr. Morehead, Ky.

State Fishing Derby Opens September 15

Sept. 15 will mark the opening of the first annual Fall Kentucky Lake Fishing Derby, called by the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. The most important event for fishermen ever announced in mid-America.

The event, extending through Nov. 1 and offering $5,000 in prize money, is being sponsored by about 100 local and boat club operators of the lake area. The State Department of Public Relations, the fish and wildlife agency and the Kentucky Tourist Commission are working with the sponsors to make the event a success.

Frank Ashley, of Benton, chairman of the Kentucky Lake Fishing Derby Assn., composed of sponsoring businessmen, said reports operators in seven counties are participating in the derby, with Marshall and Calloway Counties.

East Kentucky Needs Gets Further Study

State and federal authorities will meet Sept. 28-29 to study health and welfare needs in Eastern Kentucky, where a recent state survey showed only one doctor for 42,200 inhabitants in a seventy county area.

In one of the seven counties there is only one doctor to serve each 8,000 population, according to the survey.

The Eastern Kentucky Regional Planning Commission, an agency of the Kentucky Department of Economic Development, is sponsoring the conference as one of its series seeking solutions for depressed area problems.

Some other statistics to be considered at the meeting: About 25 cents of every unemployment benefit dollar spent in the state goes to Eastern Kentucky. Of each public assistance dollar spent by the state, 35.3 cents goes to the mountain area.

The conference will be conducted on successive days at London and Manchester. It will follow two other area conferences, one dealing with educational problems and another on spiritual and cultural affairs Sept. 21-22 at Inez and another Sept. 22-23 at Harbourside.

Educational conferees, including county school superintendents from a number of mountain regions, will seek to determine ways in which education can better serve the needs of mountain people. Some of the factors that play a dominant role in the area's way of life. Recommendations and findings

Bargaining Over Steel Strike Continues

Steel strike negotiators have agreed to enlarge their bargaining teams this week in a new push to end the 52-day old walkout.

The move raised speculation as to whether a possible break in the stalemate was in the offing. Neither side, however, reported any progress toward a settlement.

The new procedure will include bargaining between the United Steelworkers Union and the 12 major companies individually, in addition to top level talks between union and industry four-man teams.

The top level discussions will deal with overall issues such as wages and benefits. The individual company talks will deal with local problems and situations that also must be ironed out to pave the way for new contracts between the union and the companies.

Charles M. White, chairman of the 12 companies also will bring in negotiating teams to deal with the union's proposals in 12 separate meetings.

Perhaps coincidentally, the new procedure was adopted in the wake of two high level pronouncements concerning the strike.

Charles M. White, chairman of Republic Steel Corp., said in Cleveland the walkout may result in permanent loss of part of the domestic market for foreign products "at the expense of the American steel industry and American steelworkers."

Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell said Thursday night, also in Cleveland, that the negotiations had reached a critical stage.

Chandler To Leave Money In Treasury

Finance Commissioner Says New Administration Has $11 Million

The state administration taking over in December will inherit a surplus fund surplus of 11 million dollars.

Finance Commissioner Orba F. Traylor made the estimate this week in commenting on a preliminary financial report that listed a surplus of $5,127,974 for the fiscal year which ended last June 30.

In contrast, he said, the Welsh administration left only $3,806 in surplus funds for Gov. A. B. Chandler in December, 1955.

By the close of the 1955-56 fiscal year, however, the surplus had built up to 13.8 million dollars.

The surplus funds represent those that accumulate from tax receipts exceeding budgeted sums. Only the Legislature has authority to appropriate the surplus money.

At the end of the 1956-57 fiscal year, the general fund surplus rose to 19.2 million dollars, went on up to 25.6 million the next year, then dropped sharply to the 5.1 million in 1958-59.

The 17-million dollar income was the result of appropriations for capital construction, including 12 million for the new Medical Center at the University of Kentucky.

The report that Traylor submitted to Chandler is the forerunner of a complete report to be published later for fiscal 1958-59.

It showed the trust and agency funds closed June 30 with a surplus of $4,804,151, compared with $4,078,363 in 1957-58.

The road fund had a surplus of only $617,953 compared with $7,380,520 the preceding year. . . . The state's gas tax receipts receives and disburses all monies not otherwise designated for special purposes by law.

Adjournment Of Congress Big Question

Legislative Wheels At Nation's Capital Are Grinding Slowly

Hobbled by a lone member's objections, the Senate stumbled through sixth Monday in a possibly fruitless effort to pass the "grays" work week.

With seven major legislative issues still to be acted upon, Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas said reporters that a quitting date "is not in sight."

Johnson had been working for a Sept. 12 adjournment but ran into fiery and knowledgeable opposition from Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.).

Angered because he had been forced to cancel a Labor Day speaking date in Salem, Ore., Johnson's scheduling of a holiday session, Morse denounced the every parliamentary tactic at his command to slow down the Senate's operations.

When the Senate met at 11 a. m. Morse objected to Johnson's request that the Finance Committee be permitted to continue work on a bill to fund the interstate highway program.

Because the Senate's rules say that none of its regular committees can meet while it is in session, Johnson obtained a recess at 11:06 a. m. The recess was the beginning of a series of parliamentary maneuvers.

The Democratic leader announced his intention of holding the Senate in session until midnight his session plan. . . . Johnson said that since Morse was raising objections to unanimous consent requests "our work will be delayed."

"I think that the overwhelming majority of the senators, as demonstrated by a check, are in agreement with transacting the business," Johnson said. "But it is going to take us some time under these circumstances."

Morse said he is standing by his position to read a three-volume history of the labor bill into legislation to prevent action on any legislation.

Expert Advises That Friends And Family Make Mistake By Covering Up For Alcoholie

By J. Collis Ringo
Executive Director
Ky. Commission on Alcoholism
Dr. Seldin Bacon, director of the Yale Center of Alcohol Studies, speaking at a seminar on alcoholism
at the University of Miami in April, 1959, directed at attention to some glaring inconsistencies which persist in alcoholism.

Dr. Bacon characterizes "false labeling" as a peculiarity preva-

ent with physicians, family members and friends. Chronic excessive drinking, factors, obviously the cause of alcoholism, accidents, misbehavior or even death, are given, flagrantly misleading labels, heavy colds, fatigue, nerves, nervousness, are not attributed for heavy drinking, intoxication and hangover.

This false labeling is naturally adopted by the alcoholic, being the willing acceptance of others for what in other situations would be a ridiculous explanation, he resorts to all manner of excuses and actual lying to forestall a realistic appraisal of his conduct.
It is natural for an alcoholic to resort to this "cover up" but for non-alcoholics to continue to accept such patent "false labeling" is ridiculous.

Families, physicians and employers do the alcoholic a disservice in "covering up" for him.
If any alcoholic is to recover, he must be forced to accept the consequences of his deviant behavior.
"Any study of case histories of recovered alcoholics discloses that the patient, "hit bottom" before he sought help. A shock of some kind is apparently necessary before he (or she) will recognize a condition which has been plain to others for some time.

Ernest Shepherd, administrator of the Florida Rehabilitation Program, insists that alcoholics must not be coddled. The quicker they are compelled to take the consequences, the better the chance of recovery.

Pre-alcoholic symptoms are obvious to anyone who understands them. These symptoms are as plain as symptoms of chicken pox developed by the Yale Center of Alcohol Studies, points these symptoms. Copies of the "Profile"

coholism, 815 First National Bank

Premium Money At State Fair Is Increased

More premium money is being offered exhibitors at the 1959 Kentucky State Fair than in any previous year, according to Charles F. Atkinson, fair controller.

The total premium money is $170,400—an increase of more than $5,000 over last year's total.
The prize money had reached a record high last year.

Atkinson explained that much of the increase comes from special gifts from individuals and groups who are especially interested in the fair.

Known as "the showcase of Kentucky", the fair will take place Sept. 12-19 at the State Fairgrounds and Exposition Center, Louisville.

Half the truth is often far more dangerous than no truth.

4-H Council Sponsors Bus To State Fair

Saturday (Sept. 12) Rowan County's 4-H Council is sponsoring a bus to Louisville transporting 4-H Club members and leaders to the Kentucky State Fair.

The bus departs from the Rowan County Courthouse at 6 a. m., also time.

Due to lack of space, only 4-H Club members who carried an active project during 1959, and 4-H Club leaders, will be permitted to attend this 4-H Council sponsored activity.

Many other Rowan County
4-H'ers will be represented at the State Fair. Most of these are members submitting canning, clothing, foods and electric items.

Club members who will be actively participating in statewide contests at the fair include: Ronnie Bellart, representing this district in the soil judging contest;
Billy Porter, Eddie French, Johnny Fraley and Jimmie Porter, fat stock judging team; Joe Linton, Bemis Sluss, Eddie French and Jimbo Ison, dairy judging; and Billy Porter, Ronnie Porter and Jerry Curtis, open class soil judging.

Jack May, 84, Controversial Congressman, Dies

Andrew Jackson May, a power in Congress until wartime charges ruined him, died Saturday at Prestonsburg.

The 84-year-old Democrat entered the hospital last Wednesday with a kidney infection and complications.

May, a backwoods lawyer who first went to Congress in 1920 and became chairman of the potent House Military Affairs Committee, was convicted at Washington in 1947 with munitions makers Murray and Henry Garsson of conspiracy to defraud the government.

He was accused of accepting $25,000 in bribes from the Gar-ssons. It was charged by the government he used his influence to obtain contracts and other favors for the brothers in World War II.
May and the Garssons were sentenced to from eight months to two years in federal prison. May's attorney twice carried his case to the U.S. Supreme Court but was unsuccessful and May in 1949 went to the federal correctional institution near Ashland, Ky. He was paroled after nine months and 15 days.

In refusing to reduce May's sentence, U. S. Dist Judge Henry A. Scheinhaut said sternly: "The integrity of the national Congress is at stake."

The Garsson brothers were confined at Danbury, Conn. They were released in 1951. Murray died March 29, 1957; penniless and homeless. Henry lives in New York and is a consulting engineer.

MONEY BEE STATIC

The honey bee is doing little more this year than holding its own. The Agriculture Department reports that the number of colonies on hand July 1 was 5,437,000, or about the same as a year earlier.

TODAY...10 P.M. THE NEW-SIZE FORD STARTS ON ITS WAY TO YOU!

The Falcon, the New-Size Ford, already is the most thoroughly tested and proven new car in history. Today this new Ford Falcon starts EXPERIENCE RUN, U.S.A., over every mile of numbered U.S. highway

This is not a test run in the ordinary sense of the word. For in its 3 years of development and over 3 million miles of proving, the Falcon has already passed and repassed every kind of test that could be devised.

It's been dust-tested, heat-tested, and endurance-tested on the test track at Kugelman, Arizona. Wind-tested and rain-tested in the 300 mph wind tunnel at the University of Maryland. Shock-tested, curve-tested, brake-tested, inde-tested, paint-tested, stability-tested, service-tested... everything tested on Ford's own proving grounds. The Falcon has already proved to engineers that it takes anything they can dish out.

Now, Experience Run, U.S.A. will show you what the Falcon can do over your kind of roads.
How many miles to the gallon? Records will be kept of every drop of gas used.
Better gas mileage? The Falcon will average up to 30 miles per gallon!

On October 8, the New-Size Ford will be at your Ford Dealer's... for you to experience. See your Ford Dealer today

Long Distance Calls Made By Electronics

Only a few years ago, a long distance telephone call required an average of five minutes to put through after you dialed. Today, it takes about 30 seconds. Tomorrow—it will probably take five to ten seconds to call anyone anywhere in the world.

General Telephone Company of Kentucky, which serves this area, is a member of the General Telephone and Electronics Corporation, strengthened with a heritage of the finest technological advances, said Jack R. Wilson, District Manager for General Telephone Company.

Our research engineers promise even greater things to come in the telephone future, he said. Our heritage includes many significant developments—the dial telephone, toll dialing, automatic toll ticketing, and the modern hand-set telephone. They introduced color telephones as early as 1929, and have made scores of other major contributions over the past six or seven decades.

Pointing to the future, Wilson said that the time is not far off when no one will be beyond the reach of telephone communication. Pay stations are presently being installed on street corners and along highways throughout the land, but this is only the beginning. Telephone extensions are bound to be as common as light fixtures in the homes of America and Mobile Dial Telephones will become standard equipment in trucks and autos. The day is close when we will be able to carry miniature telephones in our pockets. In fact, we now have breast pocket paging units which will inform a user that someone is trying to reach him by telephone, then he can go to the nearest phone, dial a special number and receive the call.

The latest and newest practical applications of progress in communications will be ours because of General Telephone's ability to improve and develop new services so rapidly, concluded Wilson.
