

Lake Kelly Is Coach At Fort Chaffee

A group of former Kentucky college basketball players, now on active duty at Fort Chaffee, Ark. with the 100th Division, is demonstrating to Arkansas the Blue Grass State brand of basketball and in the process, adding weight to the state's claim as the nation's cage capital.

In its first 32 contests, the undefeated Chaffee team, made up mostly of former Ohio Valley Conference stars, has breezed through the opposition without working up a good sweat, so to speak.

Sporting an average of 99.9 points a game, the Chaffee club has gone over the century mark in seven of its 12 outings. It seems only fitting that the club should make such a habit of cracking the century mark, since all the team players are members of Kentucky's 100th or Century Division.

Guided by 1st Lt. Lake Kelly, assistant coach at Morehead State College before the call-up, and led by ex-Murray State College player and AAI all-American 1st Lt. Howard Centendon, Fort Chaffee has completely over-powered its opposition in the first dozen contests. Along the way, the team picked up the winner's trophy in the Little Rock (Ark.) Air Force Base invitational held recently. In that tournament, a double-elimination affair, Chaffee annexed the title by winning four straight games and maintaining better than a 40-point-a-game average against good competition. In eight regular season games, the club has hit a 100-point-a-game mean.

Other former OVC stars on the team are 2nd Lt. Bruce Springate and 2nd Lt. Harry Gabsford of Eastern Kentucky; 1st Lt. Ronnie Clark of Western Kentucky; 1st Lt. Bobbie Wall and Sgt. Henry McCarley of Tennessee Tech.

Kelly, Kiser Are Critical Of Administration

Two senators fired verbal salvos at the state administration Monday night. One was directed at Gov. Bert Combs, the other at his highway commissioner.

Sen. Ed J. Kelly took issue with Combs' recent remark, made in jest, that he hoped the legislature would wind up its work ahead of the 60 days allotted it for a regular session.

"I'm not going home ahead of time," asserted Kelly, a Flemingsburg Democrat who usually takes the middle of the road on legislation.

He also accused the governor's office of trying to sabotage his bill to wipe out auto graveyards in Kentucky.

Before Kelly spoke, Sen. Nick Johnson, (R-Harlan) accused Highway Commissioner Henry Ward of infringing upon the rights of the Senate "by questioning the integrity and honesty of one of our members."

He referred to Sen. Bert Kiser, (D-Olive Hill) a former highway commissioner who has been critical of the department in recent weeks.

Asked for comment, Ward said any information "the Senate wants I'll be glad to furnish. All they have to do is notify me."

Johnson followed up his assertion with a request that Ward be invited to appear before the Senate to "justify his actions and expenditures of taxpayers' money."

The request was sent to the Committee on Committees for action.

Last week Kiser charged that the Highway Department would be bankrupt in two years—a statement challenged by Ward in a letter to Sen. James Ware, (D-Covington) who read the letter on the floor of the Senate.

Earthquake Is Felt In Kentucky

An earth tremor in Southeastern Missouri last week was felt in sections of four states and as far away as 100 miles or more. There was no damage reported. A seismologist at St. Louis University said the tremor occurred about 100 miles south of St. Louis in the area of Poplar Bluff. Its magnitude was 4.2 or light to moderate compared with a maximum magnitude of 8.6.

At Mayfield one resident said it felt as if "about 15 big trucks were coming down a highway behind the other."

The Rev. William Stauder, seismologist at St. Louis, said the tremor lasted about two minutes. Richard Smith said the tremor "was strong enough to shake the concrete floor of this building."

The tremor was timed by the school's instruments at 12:41 a.m. Beside St. Louis and Mayfield, it was felt at Paducah, Cosport and Ithylville, Ark., Chester, Ill., and smaller cities throughout Southern Missouri.

Father Stauder said quakes of that size hit the St. Louis area about every three to four years. The St. Louis area, he said, is the third most active quake area in the United States, but most of the tremors are slight and some are hardly noticeable.

It was in this area in 1811-12 a major quake hit, dropping the earth in places as much as eight to 12 feet and forming what is now Reelfoot Lake in Tennessee.

Commission Rules In Favor Of Cooperative

C. J. Ross, manager of the Fleming-Mason Rural Electric Cooperative Corporation, has been notified by the Public Service Commission that the RECC can continue to furnish electrical power for the new Fleming County hospital. The Public Service Commission in an opinion dated January 31, 1952, dismissed a complaint which had been filed by the Kentucky Utilities Company and ordered that the Fleming-Mason RECC to furnish service to the hospital. The Kentucky Utilities Company, on February 24, 1952, filed a complaint with the commission where-in the company alleged that Fleming-Mason RECC was rendering service to the hospital now under construction which would require 3 phase service when completed which service could more feasibly be provided by KU and that Fleming-Mason RECC was also acting in violation of statutory purposes and contractual provisions.

Eagles Romp East Tenn. 96-67 In OVC Contest

By Lee Mueller

With four of Morehead's starting five hitting in double figures, the Eagles surprisingly rolled to a easy 96-67 win over East Tennessee's Buccaneers in an Ohio Valley Conference tilt at Johnson City last Saturday night.

The shuffling came as a surprise to just about everyone, including the Eagles. ETSC had battled MSC on even terms in England only to lose on the last second tip to Ed Nee. This time, however, with the fabulous Morehead point-machine piping hot, it was almost as if the win should have been made.

The only time the Bucs were in serious contention was early in first half. With the score tied at 18-18 at the 12:01 mark, the Eagles overtook the lead to stay at the Laughlinmen and hot and the Buccaneers got cold. Nee made it 56-33 at the end of the first half as he hooked one in after taking a beautiful pass from All-American candidate Granville Williams.

Outstanding in the initial frame was the play of Norman Pokley. Breaking out of a current slump, Pokley netted 15 big markers throughout the game, garnering 34 stars shots for the night. Williams collected 14 in the half. William Thompson collected 12 for the half and held East Tennessee's high-scoring guard, Willie Malone, to four points in the half. He did as well in the second stanza, giving up the same amount to hold the all-OVC candidate to a season low of eight points. Nee had ten markers for his efforts in the half.

The second half was a review of the first. The Bucs never got within 20 points of MSC. Coach Bob Laughlin's men had leads of 31 points on three occasions, once on a basket by Roy Ware, another on a score by Cecil Clair and still another on a goal by Sandy Hook's Bobby Rice.

Williams led all scorers, with 20 points. Morehead's rebounding duo of Pokley and Nee had 19 points apiece and Thompson canned 14

Foreign Burley Markets Eyed By State Growers

By Larry May (Kentucky Farm Bureau Fed.)

Kentucky farmers have a growing stake in the maintenance of foreign markets for agricultural products. The stark tobacco growers in the western part of the state have long looked to markets in foreign countries, and burley growers are increasingly becoming aware of foreign sale potentials.

The common market in Europe will throw up barriers against U.S. farm exports, and are increasingly being told by farm leaders and government officials. If this is to be avoided, we must work out regulations and laws that will permit us to participate in the controlled market plans of the European nations.

Reception Honoring Morehead Poet Al Stewart Scheduled Thursday

President And Mrs. Doran Are Host And Hostess

A reception honoring Albert Stewart whose first book of poetry has been published by the Morehead State College Press, will be given by Morehead State College President Adron Doran and Mrs. Doran this Thursday afternoon.

Friends from throughout Kentucky have been invited for the 3:30 to 5:00 reception in the Doran Student House. Stewart will autograph his books at the reception which is open to the public.

The 25-page book, "The Hometown Hills," is the second published by the Morehead State College Press and contains 44 poems, some of which have appeared in Ladies Home Journal, Georgia Review, Contemporary Review, Mountain Life and Work, Kentucky Writing and Shiloh.

Stewart, who has been director of the outstanding Morehead Writers' Workshop since 1947, is an associate professor of English and holds degrees from Berea College and the University of Kentucky.

Stewart was born in Knott County and still maintains a hillside farm on Ball's Park of Troublesome Creek. The book of poems is arranged in sections meant to show a movement about two lines, the journey from home in the mountains into the larger world of experience and returned and Eastern's Maroons, playing under a stress-free coach, shifted cold water on Morehead's title hopes by downing the Eagles 80-0 in a foot-matted Ohio Valley Conference tilt at Richmond's Weaver Gym last Thursday night.

MSC lost five men—Norm Pokley, Ed Nee, Bob Hoover, William Thompson and reserve Tom Hamilton—via the foul route. The Maroons cashed in on 31 of 36 shots true to McGowan's 44 of 49 and 29 fouls were called. 33 against the Eagles and 22 against EASC. Eastern got surprise performance from center Ronnie Dickert and Larry Parks to spark the Maroon victory. Park's hot hand averaged around eight points per game until he gathered 27 against the Eagles on several key hooks and driving layups. Parks, who had the Eagles last year, last year broke out in a slump as of late but broke out in a rash of scoring pins at Montgomery. Jim Work had 18 for the Maroons.

Williams led all MSC scorers with 24 markers and was fouled by Nee who cannot be 17 of them in the second half. Hoover added 17 to the issue cause.

Morehead, held by a narrow 12-9 margin at half time, fought back to tie the score three times before Eastern finally went ahead to 80-0 at 47:21 of 48:00.

MSC lost five men—Norm Pokley, Ed Nee, Bob Hoover, William Thompson and reserve Tom Hamilton—via the foul route. The Maroons cashed in on 31 of 36 shots true to McGowan's 44 of 49 and 29 fouls were called. 33 against the Eagles and 22 against EASC. Eastern got surprise performance from center Ronnie Dickert and Larry Parks to spark the Maroon victory. Park's hot hand averaged around eight points per game until he gathered 27 against the Eagles on several key hooks and driving layups. Parks, who had the Eagles last year, last year broke out in a slump as of late but broke out in a rash of scoring pins

BASE RIGHTS IN AZORES

There may be some conflict in the United States undertakes negotiations with Portugal on renewal of military base rights in the Azores. Relations between the two NATO allies have been strained since the United States voted in the United Nations early last year in favor of an inquiry into conditions in Africa.

Speech Clearance

In a recent news conference, President Kennedy said the Pentagon should continue its "very valuable policy" of requiring military men to get advance clearance of their public speeches. At the same time, Kennedy gave his blessing to an investigation by a special Senate subcommittee "into the Pentagon's policy of requiring 'I am sure it will be useful,' the President said.

Bill Would Raise Pay For Judges

A bill to raise the pay of all 58 Kentucky circuit judges from $8,400 to $10,800 annually has been passed by the House 92-0.

A companion measure which would partly finance the salary increases also was approved. There was no debate on either bill and both went to the Senate.

The statutory salary limit for a circuit judge now is $8,400 yearly.

By making all circuit judges special commissioners of the Court of Appeals, the House bill adds $2,400 yearly to their pay without violating the law directly.

The same bill will reduce from 25 to 10 the normal retirement age for circuit and appellate judges.

The companion measure would raise from $3 to $5 the tax on each original action in a circuit court and increase the tax from $5 to $25 on each appeal to the Court of Appeals.

An estimated $159,260 would be needed every year to finance the judges' pay increase.

Rep. John Swainford, Lexington, who spoke for the bill, said figures based on the past two years indicate the tax increases would finance the pay increase of the judges' pay.

He said the extra money would go into the general fund, counting as revenue in the budget for the next biennium.

The bills, if passed by the General Assembly, would go into effect July 1.

Plans 'Sex' To Eliminate Horseshy

Using sex as a weapon, Rep. Luther Patrick has a plan to wipe out the horseshy which plagues the dairy and cattle industries.

The Irvine Republican introduced a bill at Frankfort under which the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture would set up a battery to produce sterile male horseshies.

During the normal breeding season the sterile male would be released in infected areas. Patrick hopes the eventual result will be no more horseshies of either sex.

Bloodmobile

Visit Set Next Tuesday

Red Cross Blood Program Chairman Russell Brown today issued a renewed request for volunteers when the Bloodmobile visits Morehead next Tuesday, Feb. 13.

The visit will be at the Christian Church from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m.

The last visit of the Bloodmobile, sponsored by the Student Council of Morehead State College, was 120 units were donated by college students.

Brown said the drain on the blood bank had been extremely heavy since that time and replacement is needed. He thought Morehead citizens should be as responsive to the need as college students, since almost all the blood is used by local residents.

Those who have not volunteered can assist by showing up at the Christian Church from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. Tuesday. Brown pointed out.

"are men long on experience, wise in judgment, and dedicated to the principles of their party."

"Eddie is awarded the fact that there must be unanimity in the party if its voice is to be heard," he said. "I would doubt that any candidate for public office in Kentucky ever had better support or wise counsel."

Alignment Unusual.
At Standard Hotel, Room 118 and 119, a business conference room, No. 131, were engaged Saturday night by a James Ramsey, who checked out early Sunday.

He was succeeded by a John Gardner of Lexington, who took over the rooms and paid the bill for the meeting crowd with a credit card. Present at the motel stand they recognized Clements, Chandler and Mrs. Stovall among the conferees. The meeting broke up around 4:30 p.m.

The political alignment of Clements and Chandler behind the 48-year-old Lowman is "an unusual one."

Landlide Severe Blow
It is believed by some in Democratic circles that Wyatt's chances of winning the Senate seat were affected last November by the Republican victory, sweep of Louisville and Jefferson County offices.

The Third District GOP land slide and a severe blow to the regular Democratic organization led by Mrs. Lennie McLaughlin, Markay Reed and John W. Trammis.

At the same time, it would seem to have dulled the prospects of Queenan—who almost defeated organization-backed W. S. Millburn for the party nomination for mayor—to put together a new Third District party organization.

Two Long Opposed
The last time Clements and Chandler were together politically in a state contest was when Chandler backed Clements in his successful race for the governorship against former Lieutenant Governor Harry Lee Waterfield.

Almost since boyhood, Clements and Chandler have opposed each other's ambitions, in the arena of sports as well as in politics.

A Lowman-Wyatt contest would put the presiding officers of each chamber of the 1962 General Assembly against each other in the primary.

In fact, from the speaker's chair in the House of Representatives Lowman can see the opposition end of the Capitol Wyatt presiding over the State Senate when doors of both chambers are open.

undertrack are used merely for display and advertising purposes, according to a railroad official.

The railroad's largest customers are the sprawling Lee Clay Production Company and Morehead Limestone Company, although there is some coal business along the line.

Railroad "buffs" from all over the nation have visited the M&N "by the thousands" annually, a clerk in the office stated. The locomotives have been photographed so many times that railroad officials now keep a supply of pictures ready for visitors who don't happen to have a camera with them.

Sound Often Recorded
Stereo records and tapes by the hundreds have been made, too, trying to preserve the fast-disappearing sound of the steam locomotives, the engineer, the engine back and forth for the benefit of these recordings.

Railroad romantics, everywhere are hoping that the M&N will return to its former "glory" and once again have at least a 25-mile line or more.
