Well, two oldtimers were hunting one day and came face to face with a big grizzly. One of the hunters had a big knife, and the other one didn't. The bear attacked the one who didn't have the knife and the man began hollering 'Run, Bill', meaning for Bill to run up and stab the bear with the big knife. Instead of Bill coming to the rescue, he was running to beat the band around the hill. When the man realized what his pal was doing he yelled,
'Bill, throw me the knife or I'll kill you if I ever get loose from this bear.' Well, the poor man finally pulled, tusseled, and dragged the bear until he reached the knife where Bill threw it. He stabbed and slashed until he killed the grizzly, which was so fat that the grease ran down to the creek making the water so greasy that folks began calling the section, Greasy Creek. And as for the friendship of the two hunters, it did not exist ever again." (Angie Ward, Johnson Co., to Leonard Roberts, MSU. She was his folklore student) GREASY CREEK (Johnson Co., Ky): In early years "the area was very thickly forested...the trees were so close together that the wild animals couldn't get around without rubbing up against the trees. This caused large amounts of oil from the animals fur to collect on the trees; and when it rained the oil would wash from the trees into the creek. This gave the creek a greasy appearance and it is now called Greasy Creek. The community is known as Greasy." (Collected from Lorraine Fannin). "When Daniel Boone captured and killed wild game, he would often wash their hides in the creek. The oil from the hides washed into the water and gave it a greasy appearance. Since then the community has been called Greasy Creek, or just Greasy." (collected from Ruth Salyer). ("Place Names...\)
GREASY CREEK (Johnson Co., Ky.) "The Auxiers state, in their family history, that he (Daniel Boone) spent the winter of 1796-7 at the Blockhouse (Harman's Station), joining on many hunting trips. Nathaniel Auxier is said to have gone with Boone and the older members on several occasions to hunt bear, deer, wolf, etc. on Greasy Creek, when he was just sixteen years of age. They killed so much fat game that, carrying sacks full of the meat on horses, it grease the timber along the way, and they in turn called it Greasy, which creek still bears the name."
GREASY CREEK (Johnson Co.): Boone and a group of soldiers est. a camp at (what is now Boons Camp) and hunted this area for deer, bear, etc. G.C. was named "because it was in the late winter and early spring when they (Boone, et al.) were here. And that, to preserve the meat before packing it back into the settlements, they tied it and weighted it down in the cold waters of Greasy Creek, which are partly spring-fed up there, and kept in the grease going down the creek caused the animals and things to come and caused it to become noticeably greasy, that is, the land off the bears especially, and so on." (Arthur Pope, 1/10/71)

GUNSWELL Hollow (Johnson Co.): Off Hammond Creek, nr. Whitehouse. "...and they said because of— they was the timber that grew up in there; they made gunswells for the boat (sic)— and it gave it the name of Gunswell Hollow. Then when we moved there (c1916) it changed to Happy Hollow. But on the old land grant it's Gunswell Hollow. (Pron. "Ghuhnz/wehl Hahl'er or Hahl'z"). (Who named it that?) Oh well, I suppose the land company that went in there that made the boats—the steamboats and things that came out of there— that did it. Because when we bought—the land grant goes back and it's called Gunswell Hollow. (Why did the name change to Happy Hollow?) Because of the happy family that lived there. (That was your family?) That was my family (the family of Jerry Adkins)....And it's still Happy Hollow today and Mom and Dad are still resting there." (Golda Swain, Paintsville, Ky., interview, 5/21/1971)

OFFUTT (Johnson Co.): ("Ahf/ət") Mr. Offutt was the pres. of the Greasy Creek Cannel Coal & Tramway Co. that had a little narrow gauge that had a --up on Two Mile Hill--that had a great big cannel coal mine. Thinks his 1st name was George--but that's a guess. He could find it for me. He thinks there was a real estate dev. approximately where Offutt is now once called Ward City ("Wahrd Sih/tee") about the time the C&O came in there, c.1903. That's what the C&O employees called it, and that name was even applied to it in the 1920s. The two names may have been used interchangeably for a while. Thinks the Lower Greasy p.o.
was at the same site as what became Offutt. Before 1903 the dinky cars didn't stop here but went on down to Whitehouse. Betw. 1880 and 1903, several persons who worked at Whitehouse built homes at the Offutt site. It really didn't become a vil. until the C&O came up the river in 1903. At that time they built a big long mound of dirt at the Offutt site and made a tipple of it, and they built a bunch of grey houses—company houses. It's always been at the mouth of Greasy Creek. The Wards owned the land there then. DK which Ward in particular; there were ½ doz. of them. Offutt declined when cannel coal & timber were exhausted. There were several coal mine operations on Greasy Creek, e.g. Meadows Creek Mineral Dev. Co. (check). They used the narrow gauge to bring their coal down to Offutt. So it declined when rail traffic did. c.1930. Some revival in WWII. The present tipple was built then. Now: 1 large tipple. (J.K. Wells, interview, 8/30/1980); OFFUTT (Johnson Co., Ky): Acc. to Thos. B. (Kozee, P. 815); Named for a Mr. Offutt who headed the Rockcastle Lumber Co. that timbered in that area. The company and Offutt located at this place. Also a coal mining commu. A Wellston, O.-based firm ran local mine, large. Commu. once had several stores, movie theater, several chu's. Now just a few homes. Probably had a pop. of 800-900 at its peak c. late 1910s and early 20s. (Arthur Pope, interview, 1/10/1971);
OFFUTT (Johnson Co.): Est./and named for the pres. & gen. mgr. of the Rockcastle Lumber Co. "who marketed vast tracts of timber on the heads of Greasy and Rockcastle creeks; (sic) with Offutt as the central shipping pt A Narrow gauge rd. connected his mills with the rr at this town. The town was also the destination of a narrow gauge rd. from the cannel coal mines on Two-Mile Creek, and afforded homes for the laborers on these works...." (Mitchell Hall, HIST. It was first called Ward City for several local families. A po with this name from 1876 to 1897 was re-est. in 1908 as Lower Greasy. About this time the commu. was renamed for Jas. Offutt, the pres. and gen. mgr. of the Rockcastle Lumber Co., and came to serve as the term. of narrow gauge rr's from the co's. mills on Greasy and the cannel coal mines on nearby Two Mile Creek. The po was renamed Offutt in 1914." (Book-P. 218);
OIL SPRINGS (Johnson Co.): ("Awl Spriyyz")

"When white men first came to this section there were oil springs and oil sumps all over Paint Creek....The Indians drank the oil for a laxative, I think. They called them 'oil springs' and a group of them were on one of the upper forks of Paint Creek...and that fork is called Oil Springs Fork...(How old is the O.S. name as applied to that place?) It was Medina [Ma/dah/na]...and I'm not sure where it got the name. I think I know. I had a grandfather, John Riggs Long, who taught in Rio Grande Col. up in Ohio. And he came down here and founded a seminary, a boarding school, and he called it Medina Seminary, and I believe the vil. was named after the sch., tho' it could be backwards. What the significance of Medina is, I d.k." Informant assumes Long brought the name was him, that it had some importance to him. (When?) In the 1870s. The stream has always been called Oil Springs Fork (implying that it was so before 1868 when the po was est.) He assumes that the po was named for the creel. Acc. to Will Collins who died a couple of months ago and who was born and raised in that section, the vil. was known as Medina before it was changed to O.S. (When was the oil exploited there?) "Oil has always had some commercial value—they used to call it rock oil—both medicinal and lubricative—and most of the oil originally was mined from these sumps, these little holes that you'd excavate where there was an oil springs and let it ooze into it. You didn't get much that way but .... And right after the C.W., in the late 18 and 60s, there was an oil boom in J.Co. There were 7 or 8 co's. formed to take up oil leases... all over the county. There was (sic), oh, 5 or 6 wells drilled down to a very shallow sand called the Big Injun Sand. And they didn't produce much oil. So the oil boom died out.... The next boom was in the WWI period... down along the western edge of the county, next to Law. Co., and produced a high grade oil that was as good as the Pennsylv. oil. Production wasn't tremendous but the wells were durable. Some of them are producing today altho' secondary recovery has drained most of them.
And that 18 and 60 boom just—the oil was there but they didn't have the equipment deep enough to get it...." (J.K. Wells, interview, 8/30/1980);
OIL SPRINGS (Johnson Co., Ky): Acc. to Sam'l. Williams, 9/22/1885, this po was 1 mi e of Little Paint Creek, 3 mi w of Barnetts Creek po, 2½ mi from the Mag. OIL SPRINGS (Johnson Co.): On the Little Paint Creek and the Garrett Highway (US460). (Mitchell Hall, HIST. OF JOHNSON CO., KY, 1928, Vol. 1, P. 270); Medina Sem. was est. in the 1870s at Oil Springs by Rev. John E. Long. (A SHORT HIST. OF PAINTSV. & JOHNSON CO by J.K. Wells, 1962, P. 29); po est. 1/29/1868, Hamilton Littoral...Disc. 9/12/72; Re-est. 9/19/73, Sam'l. Williams...(NA); ("Awoil Oil Springs") "is the result of oil seepage that 1st caused them to notice the oil in this country, a spring brought up blobs of black oil and was useless for other purposes. They started drilling nr. Oil Springs and that's where they 1st drilled oil in that partic. part of the country." (Arthur Pope, 3/28/51).
OIL SPRINGS (Johnson Co.): Named for its proximity to the 1st recorded natural oil spring in the county, discovered by the Indians. "They built sumps to catch water, and the oil from the ground would seep into the water-filled hole. They would then filter the oil and use it for medicinal purposes. When the settlers came and discovered the oil, it started a small oil boom and brought many people to that part of the county." (acc. to J.K. Wells, to Jenny Wells in her tp "PN of Johnson Co., Ky." 4/25/1972 for Jean Thomason, in the Folklore Arch., Margie Helm Libr., WKU);
OIL SPRINGS (Johnson Co.): The Medina Sem. was est. in the 1870s by the Rev. John R. Long at O.S. (J.K. Wells in the JOHNSON CO. JOURN. 1/31/1978, cited in Hall, III, P.132)

Early settlers located oil springs and seepages that Indians had casually attempted to develop for medicinal and lubricating purposes and as fuel. In 1864 a company of Jas. & F.M. Stafford, John Stambaugh, and Squire Hall began leasing rock oil land up Paint Creel which they sold to the Penn Rock Oil Co. for dev't. But the few wells drilled didn't produce much and the oil boom fizzled before 1880. (Wells, 1962, Pp. 22-3)
OIL SPRINGS (Johnson Co., Ky): "This hamlet with po extends nearly 1½ mi along Ky 40 (old US 460) ca. 7 (air) mi w of Paintsv. It was named for its prox. to the first recorded natural oil spring in the county, said to have been discovered by the Indians who used it for medicinal purposes. The po was est. on 1/29/1868 with Hamilton Litteral, pm. The commu. may also have been known for a while as Medina for the Medina Seminar a boarding sch. est. there in the 1870s by John Riggs Long, an inst. at Ohio's Rio Grande Coll." (Book-Pp. 218-19);
OIL SPRINGS (Johnson Co.): Spelled as one word by Grahn. "...the natural oil wells which at Oilsprings seem to spring out of the bottom of several creeks. Wells were bored here during the oil excitement by Lyons of Cincinnati and others, but due to bad luck they were all abandoned, and nothing now remains to indicate the hard toil of those explorers." (Acc. to K.B. Grahn's report of trip thru E. Ky. in Supplement, Greenup Independent, 5/7/1875, ar. repro. in LICKING VALLEY COURIER, 1/10/1963 & SELECTIONS FROM MORGAN CO. HIST. Sesquicent. vol. by Helen Price Stacy and Wm. Lynn Nickell, vol. 1, Pp. 85-6);
OLD HOUSE BRANCH (Johnson Co., Ky): Named for one of the oldest log buildings in the co. Built c. 1805 by James Ward. He was near Augusta Co., Va. 1755. Arr. in what's now Johnson Co. in 1800. He rec'd a patent to land in 1805 and likely erected the bldg. a short time later. "The area was referred to as 'Old House Branch' in deed descriptions for land transfers by the mid 19th cent."

PAINT CREEK (Johnson Co., Ky.) "In the vicinity of main Paint Creek early settlers found many of the large trees skinned of their bark with drawings of birds and animals done in red and black on the smooth undertrunk of the tree (Connelley, HARMAN'S STATION, 1910, Pp. 53, 4). One of these, a giant elm, that once stood in what is now known as the Huff Cemetery near Bridgeford Addition, had been peeled of its bark for some twenty feet from the ground, and on it was painted, in black, a huge snake. These paintings were to be found up and down the creek, which caused it to be named Paint Creek." (Hall, HIST. OF JOHNSON CO., Vol. 1, Pp. 37-8) PAINTSVILLE (Johnson Co.): Named for the Indian paintings noted by early explorers around the mouth of Big Paint Creek. Painted on the trunks of large trees in either black or red. Trees "denuded of their bark...on one side...and upon the exposed surface of the trunks were painted figures of birds and animals." Attributed to some aspect of Indians religious ceremony. (Scalf, KLF, P. 26); The town of Paintsville was est. at the site of Paint Lick Sta. Briney springs at the mouth of Big Paint Creek attracted animals "to lick the salty water." Buffalo, deer, bear attracted Indian hunters to whom the place may also have had relig. or magical significance. The Paint Lick Sta. was not established as a trading post by John Preston in 1790 as Wm. E. Connelley suggested. Nor is there any evidence that this name was given by Mathias Harman. Paintsville was probably first settled in the 1st decade of the 19th cent. by Whom. Rev. Henry Dickson (or Dixon) who came to that site (c. 1800) from N.C. "acquired the lands at the mouth of Big Paint Creek. He may have named the settlement Paintsville. The name certainly was in use on records after 1820."
Rev. Dixon was the founder of Paintsv. Ne 3/22/177? Died 12/21/1854. He laid out the town acc. to the ACTS of 1834 of the Ky. Govt. in that year but it had been a settlement long before this date. In 1843, P'ville became the seat of the newly est. Johnson Co. The origins of P'ville were "obscured by tradition and the absence of written records." (P. 125) (Scalf, KLF, Pp. 123-5);
PAINTSVILLE (Johnson Co.): Had been known as Paint Creek in Floyd Co. Est. as Paintsville Ct. Hse. 6/21/1843, Jesse Wheeler....(NA);

("Pants/val") Named for the creek which was originally Paint Lick Creek "which was named for the fact that Indians had placed hieroglyphics on trees and cliffs all around the mouth of Paint Creek with paint--it wasn't carved into bark; it was actually painted on. There was a spring down close to where the municipal recreational bldg. is and the trees around it all had painted hieroglyphic on them. The creek was near the Paint Lick; therefore Paint Lick Creek...." (J.K. Wells, Paintsv., Ky. interview, 8/30/1980);
PAINTSVILLE (Johnson Co.): 1st called Paint Lick Sta. Est. 1790 by Col. John Preston, the 2nd oldest settlement in E. Ky. Dr. Thos. Walker may have camped at the mouth of Paint Creek in 1750. Town laid out by Rev. Henry Dixon who built 1st house in 1826. Inc. 1872. (Highway marker, acc. to GUIDE, No. 1126, P. 233); On a broad level creek bottom for c. 1 mi. up Paint Creek... po est. as Paint Creek in Floyd Co. in 1824. N.ch. to Paintsville when J. Co. was est. 6/21/1843, with Jesse Wheeler, pm....; Vic's. 1st settlers (1815): Henry Dickson (or Dixon), John Auxier, Jas. Stafford, Hitchcock, Evans, Remy, Liff. Joined by 1850 by Wm. Barnett, Moses Preston, Andrew Rule, W.P. Hager (storekeeper), etc. (Wells, 1962, Pp. 13-4); PAINTSVILLE (Johnson Co.): From the mouth of Mudlick Creek to the mouth of Big Paint Creek along what's believed to have been an Indian trail, early settlers discovered "occasional trees" to have been stripped of their bark on one side to a ht. of as high as 30 ft. and therein the Indians had painted figures of birds and animals in red and black. These were located mostly in the vic. of salt licks frequently visited by the Indians. White hunters thus called the licks "painted licks" and the stream called Paint Lick Creek by which name it appears on early maps. Paint Lick St., est. 1790, the forerunner of P'ville, was named for this. ("Paint Lick's Hist." LCJ, 6/16/1927):
PAINTSVILLE (Johnson Co.): By 1875, it had become "the shipping point for the country stores of several counties" and was a major shipping point for the products of lumbering industry in that region... (Acc. to K.B. Grahn's report of trip thru E. Ky. in Supplement, Greenup Indep. 5/7/1875, repro. in LICKING VALLEY COURIER, 1/10/1963 and SELECTIONS FROM MORGAN CO. HIST. Sesquicent. vol. by Helen Price Stacy & Wm. Lynn Nickell, vol. 1, Pp. 85-6); Est: 2/24/1834 (ACTS, 1834, P. 788); Inc. 2/5/1848 and amended 2/22/1860 (ACTS, 1859/60, Vol. 2, P. 125);
PAINTSVILLE (Johnson Co., Ky): Where Paint Creek joins the Levisa. Now bypassed by the main route of US23/46C. Its pop. stayed fairly level for most of the 19 cent. By 1900 it had begun to attract nat'l. prominence as a center for new coal mining. Pop.=3900 (1970), 3800 (1980), and 4,350 (1990). (Thos. Matijasic, Ky. Ency. 1992, P. 708); The p.o. was est. 4/10/1824 as Paint Creek with Chas. Rumsey, pm. He was succeeded by John Auxier in 1825 and Jas. Hayden in 1831. On 6/21/1843 its name was ch. to Paintsville. (Robert L. Marsh, And That's A Fact, Balti: Gateway, 1988, Pp. 104-05); The rr arr. in Paintsv. in 1904. Became a 4th cl. cit in 1926. Grabnickle was annexed in 1914. (Ibid., P. 168); Winston Mayo succeeded Hayden as pm but dk when. (Ibid., P. 203) Green Meek was pm 1893-7 and ther.
PAINTSVILLE (Johnson Co., Ky): "This 4th cl. city and seat of J. Co. extends for over a mi. along the broad bottoms of Paint Creek from its jct. with the Levisa Fk of the BSR, 151 mi ese of downtown Lou. In 1826 Rev. Henry Dickson or Dixon, a N.C.-born preacher and farmer laid out the town on the site of Paint Lick Station, a trading post of uncertain origin, which he and others purchased by auction in 1812 from part of the 19,050-acre Geo. Lewis Tract. It was not until 1834, however, that the town was officially est. by the Ky. leg. The po may have been called Paint Creek by 1831 when James Hayden became pm, but was Paintsville by 1843. In the same yr. the town became the seat of newly est. J. Co. The name Paintsville, which may have been derived by Dixon from the station or the creek as early as 1826, refers to the red and black painted figures of animals and birds found by early hunters on the denuded trunks of many large trees along the creek. Painted trees found in the vic. of briny springs which attracted gam animals led to the licks being designated by the hunt- ers as 'painted licks', and the stream as Paint Lick Creek, by which name it appears on early maps." (Book-P. 225); The po has been at the corner of 2nd and College Streets since at least 1939;
PAINTSVILLE (Johnson Co.): Est. 1810 and named for Paint Creek on which it is located. Early settlers found many large trees along the creek stripped of their bark and embellished with drawings of birds and animals, painted in red and black on the smooth undertrunks. They also found odd figures of buffalo and deer painted on the clifflike sandstones along the stream. Town settled by families from nearby East Point (q.v.) looking for fertile lands... The 1st home on the site was built in 1814 by Rev. Henry Dixon, a No. Carolinian. He laid out town and named it. Recorded in this name by Acts of GA 1834, Ch. 554. Became seat of new Johnson Co. in 1844. (sic) Busines

RED BUSH (sic) (Johnson Co.): Located on Upper (or Big) Laurel Creek in the extreme nw section of the co. By the mid 1920s, tho' rich in timber and coal, was as yet comparatively undeveloped due to lack of transp. Prox. to oil fields which, when developed, about that time, "brought about" the area's dev. Not a new community.... (Mitchell Hall, HIST. OF JOHNSON CO., KY. 1928, Vol. 1, P. 270); Named for a beautiful red bush there (Rufus Reed, interview, 6/20/1971); po est. 5/22/1890, Wm. A. Williams....(NA); disc 1986
REDBUSH (Johnson Co., Ky): "This hamlet with po lies on Upper Laurel Creek, at the jct. of Ky 172 and 469, 10½ (air) mi nw of Paintsv. The po was est. on 5/2/1890 with Wm. A. Williams, pm, âd named for the profusion there of small pin oak trees whose leaves turn red in the fall." (Book-P. 248);
REDBUSH (Johnson Co.): "named for the fact that these small red oak (trees) whose leaves turn very red in the fall--pinoak, they call 'em, or red oak--were very plentiful on those hills around Redbush, and I guess whoever come ('sic) in there at that particular season of the year may have arrived there just called it Redbush (sic) to identify it." (Arthur Pope, 1/10/1971)

Acc. to 1895 Gaz., it had 3 gen. stores: (1) J.D. Bond, (2) Hamilton & Smith, (3) H.T. Wallen;
REDBUSH (Johnson Co.): "Red pin oak was very much in evidence... the hills there are... quite low, and the farms were quite progressive, and they were forever fighting pin oak, you know, to keep the pastures open and, in the fall, pinoak just turns blood red. So that's where it got its Redbush...." (Arthur Pope, interview, 1/10/1971); ("Rehd/boosh") "Named for the fact that these small red oak trees whose leaves turn very red in the fall--pinoak, they call 'e or red oak--were very plentiful on those hills around Redbush...." (Ibid. 3/28/1971);
REDBUSH (Johnson Co.): ("Rehd/boösh") Informant has been told that it was named for a red bush observed in the area but that's all he knows of the antecedent. "A little forks of the road place that never amounted to much". Never more than 4-5 houses and a store. Was not a coal town and only they are stripping in the vic. The nearest thing to an agri. area we have in the county; orchards, tobacco, cattle. On the fringe of the oil field. O.T. Dorton's father, Dave, and his mother came from here. (J.K. Wells, interview, 8/30/1980);
RICEVILLE (Johnson Co.): John Rice, a farmer, ne Va. 1786. To Ky. with his family and 2 bros. & sister, settled 3/1815 1st on Middle Creek in Floyd Co. and later at the head of Jennie's Creek in the present John. Co. A bro., Sam'l. Rice, a farmer...(P. 598) Martin R. Rice, sor of John Rice, was ne 2/16/1810 and died 1897. Martin's son, Sherman Rice, was a farmer and storekeeper, ne 6/28/1867, lived on part of Martin's estate on the main fork of Jennie's. Among his children were Sherman Rice, Jr., ne 5/26/1910...(Pp. 599, 607). (Kozee, 1961);
RICEVILLE (Johnson Co., Ky): The Rice family prog. was Sam'l. Rice, Sr. (1791-ca.1870), ne Va. who owned as many as 2000 acres of J. Co. land. In the Jennies Creek area. (John Haden Rice, Aukers, etc., Pp. 57-8);
RICEVILLE (Johnson Co.): Strung along the C&O RR tracks for about 3 miles from Rt. 825, and up Narrows Fk. and Long Fk. Begun c. 1917 as timber & coal town. By then Riceville was the term. of rr. Probably 1st bldg. there was hotel for rr people. At that time the rr was owned by the Dawkins Lumber Co. which had a lumber mill there. Large town then when the coal & timber brought to this pt. for rail shipment. Even reg'l. pass. service. When the Dawkins Lumber Co. obtained new timber stand in Breathitt Co. it moved its sawmill there & extended rr thru the mts. Many people followed co. to the new site. Thus town declined.
Pop. (c1972)= c. 90. Focused around one local store but most homes are strung out along the rr. Had 2 l-rm. schools: the one at Long Fork closed in 1964 and the one at Ricev. closed in '66. Two churches still... (TP for Soc. 220, PCC; Gary E. Blair, sprir 1972): "This hamlet with po at the forks of Jennys Cr., 7 (air) mi sw of Paints., is strung out for 1 1/2 mi along Ky 1867 and the C&O RR tracks from Ky 825. Q. "How did the (steamboat) Thealka get its name?"

A. "The Thealka was built by Cap'n. Green Meek and he wanted to name it for his daughter Alka Meek, and later Alka Mayo ("ael/kee") and he told the painter what he wanted on it, and he misunderstood him. He told him he wanted The Alka and the painter run the sign altogether so it spelled Thealka instead of 'The Alka.'" (Interview with Dan Wheeler, the capt. of The Thealka, by Harry D. McKenzie, Paintsville, Ky., PCC student, 11/30/1971)
THEALKA (Johnson Co.): ("Thee/(ae)l/kee" or "Thee/(ae)l/k3") Boat built by Capt. Green Meek and he wanted to name it for his daughter Alky Meek who later married Mayo. He told the painter what he wanted on it but he misunderstood him. He told him he wanted "The Alky" and the painter ran the words together. So it was spelled "Thealky" instead of "The Alky." VAN LEAR (Johnson Co., Ky): Named for Van Lear Black, son of Balti. financier Harry Crawford Black. His family invested in what had become the Consolidation Coal Co. in 1864. Crawford was a shareholder and director as was Van Lear. In 1910, Consol., the Fidelity Trust Co. (Balti.), and the Millers Creek RR Co. arranged for the granting of a 4 mi. right-of-way from Consol. to Millers Creek to build a rr up that stream. Tho' the rr had already been built, the deed merely ratified it. Van Lear was Fidelity's veep then. His bank financed rail construction. (Caudill's Theirs be the Power, u. of Ill. Press, 1943).
VAN. LEAR (Johnson Co.): ("Vaen Leer") Means clear or bright light. Not named for a person. Referred to the fact that the coal there was a good burning coal and gave off a clear light. Originally called Millers Creek ("Mihl/erz Kreek") on which it is located. (Arthur Pope interview, 3/28/1971);
VAN LEAR (Johnson Co., Ky): "This vil. and former coal town with po extends for several miles along Miller Creek, a trib. of the Levisa Fk. of the BSR, 1 1/2 (air) n of Paintsville's present city limits. WHITEHOUSE (Johnson Co.): First called Myrtle. Don't know that it was named for a person. "On the hill where the cem. is today--it was straight up from the p.o.--it ran down into the po yard--and it was completely covered with myrtle, or per(i)winkle, it is called; but it's myrtle. It's a mass. And if that wasn't why--at the Myrtle Hill, you see, because this hill would have been called the Myrtle Hill because it was so covered with that and the po was just put right back in the bank there, right under that hill, and I've wondered if that wasn't why it was called Myrtle. Then later it was changed to Whitehouse because of a building. (sic) When the steamboats used to come up the river, and travel to a point—you know they'll seek a point, and out on this river point, where they would come in for this run, there was a white house, and at the white house point—and they navigated up that river by this and later she (sic) changed names and Whitehouse was the railhead; Whitehouse was also—it went to Whitehouse. So it was changed from Myrtle to Whitehouse. (sic)...I d.k. who lived in the white house." (Golda Swain, interview, 5/21/1971);
WHITEHOUSE (Johnson Co.): "A cheap and hastily constructed aggregation of houses wherein men were expected to live for a few years and then drift away when the coal was exhausted." (P. 328) Named for creek nr. the Martin Co: line. The area first had a po called Myrtle but n.ch. to Whitehouse which was also the name of the rr sta. (Pp. 328-9) Ohio, Ky. & Va. RR Co. was inc. 1886 to reach the site of the cannel coal deposits. This was later acquired by the C&O... Whitehouse Cannel Coal Co. cheaply built homes; these soon became dilapidated and weather beaten because they were seldom repaired... (P. 329). "Crowded into narrow hollows, along the bluff, river bank, and upon the steep hillside... (P. 330). Dust and smoke covered. Grimy. Name most inapt. (cf Chapman, P. 14). For a while, this was the southern terminus of the rr and point of transhipment... (Pp. 330-1) With extension of the rr upriver, this function of the commu. ceased. Coal mining ops. ceased in 1931. Some houses torn down, the others were sold; Now an attractive rural town. WHITEHOUSE (Johnson Co.): ("Weyet⇌wahth/" hows") Was known as Mount Carbon and Myrtle. ("Mownt Kahr/bən" "Mət/əl") Named for Myrtle Broford (sic), wife of an early coal operator in that area. Changed from Mt. Carbon to Myrtle by and for the satisfaction of that coal operator. When the operation ended, the Myrtle name lost its local appeal and became Whitehouse for the huge white mansion there on the site now owned by Bob Whitaker. Neither the woman nor her name any longer meant anything to local people when the mine closed Myrtle lived there before 1900. Thinks the n.ch. to Whitehouse (exxxex) resulted from the rr coming through (Arthur Pope, 3/28/1971)
WHITEHOUSE (Johnson County, Ky.) "It was given this name because one of the earliest residences was a white house." (M. Ladd, 4/41, "Towns" in Ky. Place Names file-WPA data, UK Library.); "So called because all the houses were originally painted white....There was a time when living conditions were very unsatisfactory here....Since the Ne Coal Co. took over the mine operations there, wonderful improvements have been made, and this situation is practically remedied....There are several pvt. stores run there, in competition with the co's commissary...." (Mitchell Hall, HIST. OF JOHNSON CO., KY. 1928, Vol. 1, Pp. 265-6); WHITEHOUSE (Johnson Co.): Whitehouse Coal Min was named for the creek, an e. bank trib. of the Levisa Fk. The po of Myrtle was changed to Whitehouse "because of the reput. attained by the Whitehouse Cannel Coal." (Mary Lucile Chapman, THE INFLUENCE OF COAL IN THE BSV, UK Diss. PhD, Hist., 1945, P. 76); It is located at the mouth of Whitehouse Creek. (Beechley, HIST. OF THE CONSOLIDATION COAL C (P. 54, cited by Ibid., P. 10); No Rittenhouse listed in 1880 Census; Acc. to 1895 Gaz., Myrtle was on the BSR, 9 mi ne of Paints. J.N. Meek was pm. Three gen. stores: (1) E. Preston, (2) H.H. Tygart, (3) Whitehouse Cannel Coal Co. Other services; xor-Broford.
WHITEHOUSE (Johnson Co.): ("Waht<->Weyet/hows") was named for a large white house there when the rr arr. Was called Mt. Carbon, a "fanciful name for coal...a mountain full of coal." Developed when this was the s. term. of the C&O RR (sic). Prosperous steamboat landing. This was the name that a couple of real estate developers had thought up for it. DK the po had been Myrtle. Always thought it was Whitehouse. As far as he knows, the community has always been Whitehouse (thus while the po was Myrtle, the commu. was Whitehouse) (J.K. Wells, interview, 8/30/1980);
WHITEHOUSE (Johnson Co.): The Chatteroi RR started (1881) by John Carlisle and Col. Geo. S., Richardson reached this point in 1887. (Chas. E. Beachley, HIST. OF THE CONSOLIDATION COAL CO. 1864-1934, privately printed, 1934, P. 54); po est. as Myrtle, 4/23/1887, John S. Rittenhouse...12/11/97, Laura Harris n.ch. to Whitehouse, 11/26/1901, ibid. .... WHITEHOUSE (Johnson Co., Ky): "This is now a hamlet with po strung out for about a mile along the Levisa Fk of the BSR, 6 (air) mi ne of Paintsv. It was 1st aptly called Mt. Carbon, a commu. housing the workers of 2 rival coal co's. When the C&O RR was completed to this pt. in late 1887, the sta. was called Whitehouse, for a large white bldg. nr. the landing that served as a land mark for river craft. The po was est. on 4/23/1887 by John S. Rittenhouse and first called Myrtle for either the wife of one of the local coal operators or the abundance of myrtle or periwinkle on a nearby hill. By 1901 both po and commu. had been renamed for the rr sta." (Book-Pp. 315-16);
